STANDARD HEAD MISSING

Colonel Stewart Mysteriously Gone 'Somewhere in Country'

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 9.—The government's attempt to break the lease of Harry S. Sinclair on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve started here today before Federal Judge Blake Kennedy.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 9.—Execution of the Teapot Dome oil lease to the Sinclair oil interests by former secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall was unknown to E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, the latter testified today.

In his opening statement Mr. Pomerene, former United States senator and leading counsel for the government, declared the government would attempt to show that fraud and conspiracy entered into the leasing of Teapot Dome to Harry S. Sinclair.

The former senator made his statement soon after the court had been called to order in the government's suit to break Sinclair's lease on the 9,000 acres in the rich Wyoming oil field.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, is away on an inspection trip "somewhere in this country," Stewart's secretary said today.

Colonel Stewart left here about one month ago and his present whereabouts are unknown, the secretary said. Officials of the company denied reports that Colonel Stewart was dodging process servers who want to serve him with a summons to appear as a government witness at Cheyenne.

Likens Mitchell's Opponents to "Quoits Players, Bow-and-Arrow Warriors"

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Development of the national defense air policy similar to the one advocated by Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, was recommended today by Representative O'Sullivan, democrat, of Connecticut, who represented the house aircraft committee at the anti-aircraft demonstration last week at Fortess Monroe, Virginia, in an official report on the result of the tests.

Capital Correspondent Recognized Authority

Harry B. Hunt is writing Washington news for the Ranger Daily Times and the Eastland Daily Telegram. His acquaintance with leading men in the government of the country and members of congress, extending over many years; his knowledge of political conditions both in this country and nations of the eastern hemisphere, and his long experience in searching out real news stories from the mass of rumors, irrelevant happenings and events of importance have won him recognition as one of the most capable writers in the national capital.

Mr. Hunt writes without bias. He has political convictions, of course, but his news stories are never colored or warped. His readers are democrats and republicans and others, among them of the one-time American party faith, and he tells all just what is happening in the political world, sometimes how and why.

He writes without prejudice. Many news readers have come to look for his stories because they know he writes without prejudice.

Readers of this newspaper will appreciate the stories from Washington about people and events in the nation's capital. The introduction is all that will be necessary. Once begin reading his stories and they will become first among those which the watchful eye awaits and which are most frequently quoted.

Our Air Standing

Table with 3 columns: Country, Active Reserve Planes, Total Planes. France, Italy, England, Japan, United States.

Best statistical table available on fighting planes, and excluding both training and convertible commercial planes, shows the U. S. fourth or fifth, depending upon Japan's unknown reserve.

All of the powers are rapidly replacing their planes, with France leading at the rate of 300 a year under an 80,000,000 franc appropriation.

Under the present appropriation bill, which is expected to pass, the United States will spend $6,500,000 for 268 new planes this year.

shall play the most important part" and said the tests demonstrated Mitchell was correct in his statement that the only defense against enemy airplanes is a "substantial air force."

"The demonstrations were conclusive," O'Sullivan reported, "in that they showed, first, that warfare today is a different thing from the series of heroic episodes which made possible this republic, and, second, the necessity to meet this changed condition.

Discussing the failure of anti-aircraft guns to hit a target towed on a straight line at practically a known altitude and speed by the most cumbersome planes available O'Sullivan said it was apparent the enemy planes would have nothing to fear from that or any other battery.

"I am not concerned," O'Sullivan continues in his report, "with the jealous rivalry which exists between one faction in the army and another, as if they were engaged in a game of quoits. What concerns me is that the people of the United States must be protected against all kinds of foreign military aggression.

"Bow and Arrow Fighters." "My only regret is that this country is without an adequate fleet of airplanes to meet possible attacks. To General Mitchell belongs all the credit for arousing the public mind to a knowledge of the true state of the national defense. His recent attempts to prove the truth of his position will not be challenged except, perhaps, by those in high military circles who still cling to the bow and arrow method of warfare."

'RAH' FOR THE VICTOR.

Seventeen months before the next state election, aspirants for the office of governor of Texas are beginning their campaigns. Seven men and one woman sought the democratic nomination last year and seven men already are waving their hats preparatory to throwing them into the ring in the primaries of July, 1926. No woman has yet been mentioned as a possible candidate, for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson announced some time ago she would not seek re-election.

Two former lieutenant governors, Lynch Davidson and T. W. Davidson, both candidates last year, may try again. The former has stated positively he will be in the race. Barry Miller, the present lieutenant governor, is looking for promotion. Dan Moody, the youthful and aggressive attorney general, remembers how Hogg and Culberson moved up and may be a candidate. Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the house, is known to have aspirations, and one of his opponents may be Eugene Blount, who managed Satterwhite's campaign for the speakership. Yet another who would be governor is T. K. Irwin of Dallas, who failed to win in the speakership contest and then turned his attention to directing a legislative investigation of the Texas penitentiary system. Doubtless there will be others before the day of the primaries. Had Governor Ferguson approved the bill to permit legislators to travel on free passes over the railroads in Texas, Miller, Irwin, Satterwhite and Blount would have had an advantage in that each could have made a personal campaign of the state at less expense than the others. Governor Ferguson's veto puts all on an equal basis in the matter of campaign expenses.

TRAFFIC LAW OBEDIENCE.

Traffic laws were made for enforcement on the state highways and within corporate limits. Additional traffic regulations are in effect in many cities and are enforced by local officers. These relate largely to a lower speed limit, parking privileges and left-hand turns.

Heretofore county traffic officers have watched the highways outside the corporate limits for traffic law infractions, now by arrangements with the several cities in Eastland county they will also enforce traffic rules within the cities, especially those made by state law. Fast and reckless driving, absence of license plates, driving a car while intoxicated, failure to heed fire alarms and draw up quickly to the curb, and every other regulation is to be enforced to the letter within and without the cities. No longer will a driver be able to feel when he passes within the corporate limits of a city in Eastland county that he is outside the reach of the county's traffic officers, for they are authorized to reach out and take in all offenders.

The state law says that no person under 16 years of age, either boy or girl, may drive an automobile on any city street or any county highway. Comparatively little observance has been given to this law in Eastland county and it is not unusual to see a child, apparently not more than 12 or 13 years of age, driving cars, especially in the cities. It is probable that many of them can drive better than older members of their family, but the law says 16 years is the limit, and traffic officers have been notified to make arrests for this violation of the law.

At the Cooking School

In order to stimulate interest and attendance in the Cooking School held this week under the auspices of this paper, the Gebhardt Company will give away each day one Gebhardt's Original Mexican Dinner Package.
This package contains a bottle of Eagle Chili Powder, one can each of Gebhardt's Chili con Carne, Husk Wrapped Tamales, Mexican Style Beans and two cans of Deviled Chili Meat.
The container is a work of art and well worth preserving as a souvenir. The Dinner Package retails for $1.
Don't fail to get the Gebhardt cookbooks distributed at the school and learn how to prepare many distinctive and wholesome Mexican dishes.

America's Finest Condiment and the GEBHARDT line of Mexican food specialties

Gebhardt's Eagle Chili Powder, the basic seasoning for all of Gebhardt's wonderfully wholesome, high-quality Mexican food products, is made from only genuine Mexican Ancho peppers, grown especially for and under the direction of Gebhardt. In addition to seasoning for typically Mexican dishes it is also a delightful condiment to be used in the preparation of all kinds of meats, fish, soups, salads and salad dressings.

Gebhardt's line of Mexican Foods, ready prepared, are a combination of good foods and pleasing flavor that once tried are always enjoyed. Gebhardt's Chili con Carne is made after the original Mexican recipe. A Gebhardt secret—long sought but never achieved by imitators. The Tamales are genuine Mexican—just mildly hot, different, wholesome and palatable. Shuck wrapped and eight good sized ones to the can.

The Mexican style Beans with Chili con Carne gravy are tender, rich and wholesome. Deviled Chili Meat is a product in a class to itself, and entirely different from anything you have ever tasted. Get a copy of "DEVILED DAINTRIES" at the cooking school and see the many delightful ways this unusual food may be served.

Spaghetti and Chili and Rice and Chili complete the line. Both are foods of delicious difference with which to vary the every day menu.

All Gebhardt foods are prepared in sun-lit, white-tiled kitchens under rigid Government supervision.

ENTHUSIASTIC WOMEN THROUG COOKING SCHOOL AS MRS. CHITWOOD PREPARES TEMPTING DISHES

The annual Cooking School of the Ranger Daily Times opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Gholson hotel, with a large attendance. The spacious auditorium, which is well adapted to this event, and conveniently located, was filled with enthusiastic women who were eager to learn all that Mrs. Ida Chitwood, the expert demonstrator for the school, had to tell them.

So successful was the school of last year, and so pleasing was the impression made at that time by Mrs. Chitwood, that those who heard her lectures then were anxious to return to the school of this year, and many new comers were also added to the audience.

An attractive white kitchen was arranged on a raised platform featuring a Queen Bee, with latest thermostat device for oven control, from the Wright Furniture company; a steel King ice-box, neat and compact, from the Killingsworth-Cox Furniture Co., the same firm supplying a handsome up-to-date Hoosier kitchen cabinet. Noticeable at one side was an electric refrigerator, the "Ser-V-el" installed by the Oil Cities Electric company, which also furnished an attractive display of the newest devices for electric service.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — An important part of Democratic activity during the next two years will consist in "keeping the record straight" with respect to various and sundry claims of "Republican accomplishment."

The party of the "ins" naturally and necessarily broadens its nation the news of every move, which promises to hold old votes or get new votes at the next election.

And the party of the "outs," if it is to stand any show whatever of getting back into power must be constantly on guard to expose and puncture all claims that are not 100 per cent puncture-proof fact.

Already it is apparent that the G. O. P. bulwark in the campaigns of '26 and '28 is to be the party's record on economy.

And as this breastwork is being built, dollar by dollar, in the record of money saved or expenses reduced, Democratic acouts are scrutinizing and analyzing each inch of its construction to locate weak spots or false work that may weaken its defense when the time for the next campaign offensive arrives.

CHIEF among the Democratic statistical experts who will check Republican economy claims in the hope of finding weak spots to attack is Cordell Hull, ex-national chairman, and for 16 years member of Congress from Carthage, Tenn.

As a good Democratic Tennessee sharpshooter, Hull has drawn a bead on the recent economy claims of President Coolidge and Budget Director Lord.

He thinks these are vulnerable and already has taken a test shot or two at what he thinks are weak spots.

One item alone, of $786,711,000, or close to half of the total saving claimed by the G. O. P. for the year 1922, Hull claims is merely camouflage, not a "saving" in the real sense of the term at all.

"The big catch in the favorite Republican 'economy figures,'" says Hull, "was disclosed by President Coolidge and General Lord on Jan. 26. President Coolidge said on that occasion:

"In the fiscal year 1921 we spent $5,538,000,000. It is estimated we will spend this fiscal year $3,534,000,000. This will show a net reduction in our expenditures of $2,004,000,000."

"General Lord said on the same occasion:

"Federal expenditures in 1921 were $5,115,927,589.80."

THIS is the sort of hopelessly confusing information being broadcast over the radio by the highest government officials.

Both President Coolidge and General Lord, carefully omitting the slight reductions for 1923 and 1924, rely almost solely on the single reduction of $1,700,000,000 in 1922 as constituting a continuous three and one-half years' record of outstanding economies.

"It would have been equally sound and accurate for the Wilson administration to have claimed the reduction in war expenditures from $18,514,000,000 in 1919 to $6,408,000,000 in 1920—a reduction of $12,111,000,000—as an economy and saving.

"For one item, affording nearly one-half the claimed Republican 'saving' pertained to government operation of the railroads, now permanently returned to private ownership and operation."

Kirk et al.; First State bank vs. H. C. Levens; Simmons & Co. vs. E. Northrup et al.; in re liquidation Security State Bank & Trust company; J. M. Rockwell vs. S. E. Taylor.

ODD FELLOWS, REBEKAHS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Elmer Simpson of Desdemona was elected president of the Eastland County Odd Fellows and Rebekahs association at the semi-annual meeting in Eastland Friday night. J. E. McGlothlin of Rising Star, vice president; Mrs. R. J. Taylor of Ranger, second vice president and Mrs. Smith of Desdemona, secretary, were the other officers elected. Between 350 and 400 delegates were in attendance.

The principal part of the morning program and the work for the afternoon was put on at the city hall, with the Friday night program at the Odd Fellows hall. This was chiefly degree work consisting of contests between Desdemona and Eastland Odd Fellows teams and Desdemona and Cisco Rebekah teams, the Desdemona teams winning both contests.

At noon and in the evening luncheons, furnished by the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of Eastland, Cisco and Ranger, were served at Odd Fellow hall.

The association will meet again the last week in August at Rising Star.

Green Stamps Grow Rapidly In Favor

That the S. & H. green stamps given by Campbell & Fagg of Eastland on each 10-cents or more purchase, are proving very popular with their customers was evidenced by the increased crowds in their store Friday and Saturday at which time the new policy was inaugurated.

The stamp parlor on the second floor is in charge of Mrs. W. R. Carlisle, who gladly explains the use of the stamps and waits on those who have stamps to exchange for merchandise. A beautiful Wallace lamp, one of the premiums, was observed by many as just like one which Governor Miriam Ferguson exchanged S. & H. stamps for at Temple and which now sits on her desk in the governor's office at Austin.

When the Pay-Roll Takes Wings

DICK TURPIN rode a horse. So did Jesse James. When the modern bandit starts on the trail of a fat pay-roll, however, he uses a high-powered motor car, and in his efforts to keep pace with the fertile brains of the inventor and the business man he may soon take to armored tanks and aeroplanes. Pitting his nerve and ingenuity against business and science, the bandit apparently recognizes no limitations, and American business is watching with keen interest the effect that transportation of money by aeroplane and armored motor car will have on the rising tide of business crime.

Transportation of pay-roll funds through the air is a logical development in the progress of aviation, and an eastern contractor has recently blazed the way by making up his pay-roll and transporting it to his building operation by aeroplane, arriving just in time to pay off. The attention that has been attracted to his device may be expected to result in a more or less extensive use of this method of transporting large sums of money, and as a consequence police officials are already beginning to consider what steps can be taken to combat the air bandit.

Bandit Careless of Life
The pay-roll bandit cares little for human life, argue the police. Almost every day's news carries a story of a pay-roll robbery, with its grim accompaniment of death whenever resistance is offered. Therefore it is not without the realm of probability to contemplate a modern Dick Turpin taking to the air with machine gun mounted on the fuselage and forcing down the pay-roll plane with the same technique that he has exhibited in forcing money-carrying automobiles off the road at pistol's point.

Even as the freebooter of old lay in wait behind some headland for the richly laden treasure ship, so does the land pirate of today ferret out the pay-roll messenger and strike at a strategic time and place. It may be on a swiftly moving express train, as demonstrated recently when $40,000 intended for a Pennsylvania mine was taken from a messenger who lost his life in defense of the money. Or it may be as carefully timed as another very recent holdup, in which the weekly pay-roll of a New York manufacturing plant, was taken by three armed bandits a moment after it was delivered to the offices of the plant from an armored car.

Strategic Point Selected
Sometimes the route of the treasure is so carefully checked that the one unsuspected weak point in what was thought to be a perfect defense is discovered by the bandit to be in a passenger elevator, or some other equally unusual place. Chicago furnished the most recent case of an elevator robbery, in which the operator of the car was clubbed into insensibil-

Armored cars for the transportation of currency, equipped with machine guns, and cash boxes which can be automatically drawn back to the car by an attached chain are among the recent devices for the protection of pay-rolls from bandits.

ity when he attempted to escape the hold-up men, the car run to the street level by one of the bandits and the getaway made.

The vast majority of pay-roll robberies have one outstanding characteristic—they show knowledge of the safest place to strike. Frequently there is evidence of "inside" co-operation, but more often the success of the bandit is due merely to weeks of checking up on the specific pay-roll he intends to steal.

Few "Water Hauls"
It is indeed seldom that a bandit stages a hold-up where there is no money. The information on which he acts is almost invariably correct, and if he loses out it is because some detail in his careful plan has been overlooked, or those guarding the money exhibit more than the average nerve. For the bandit has secrecy in his favor. He knows to a certainty when and where he will strike, and takes full advantage of his assurance that his victim will be unnerved by the surprise attack.

The following extract from the newspaper account of one of the recent pay-roll robberies illustrates dramatically the strategy of the bandit: "The robbery was perfectly timed. The armored car, which only a few minutes before had brought the money, had just disappeared when the robbers entered the office. The cashier was about to put the box containing the money into the safe when it was snatched from her by one of the robbers who pointed a pistol at her. He then packed out of the office and was followed by his companions who had threatened others in the office with pistols. The whirl of a motor outside an instant later indicated that the men had made their getaway in an automobile."

Bandits are not spectacular because making his rounds of the building, paying off. At the foot of a stairway a man was standing, apparently engrossed in a newspaper. As the paymaster passed him the stranger drew his pistol and demanded the money. Two other bandits suddenly appeared with drawn revolvers, and the paymaster and two other employees were forced into a small room while the hold-up men escaped with $8,000.

And so the story goes, the fertile brain of the bandit ever active in his quest of easily won wealth. Sometimes his work has a touch of the casual as he strolls into an office, picks up a few thousands and walks leisurely out. Again he comes almost with a blare of trumpets, like the robber baron of old. But always he uses the method best calculated to result in a transfer of possession of a considerable sum of money. Every pay-roll is fair game for him, and it is indeed an optimistic prophet who would forecast his defeat by a general use of aeroplanes as treasure ships.

Business Has New Plan
Banditry has continued to increase with the expansion of industry and the consequent increase in opportunity for profitable hold-ups. Other types of criminals who prey on business have not had such easy sailing, however. For instance, the forger has found his formerly easy livelihood seriously menaced. Check writing machines, remarkable developments in safety paper and the activity of insurance companies and bankers' organizations have made his calling hazardous in the extreme. Taking advantage of this greater safety of

A New York construction firm is using an aeroplane to transport its pay-roll direct to distant building operations. Occupants of the plane go armed in event of possible forced landing or attempted hold-up.

Breakfast—Baked apples, cereal, thin cream, broiled bacon, corn bread, rhubarb and orange jam, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Spinach and cheese souffle, toasted corn bread, maple tapioca, milk, tea.
Dinner—Veal pot-pie, stewed celery, spring onions and radishes, kiss pudding, milk, coffee, graham bread, jam.

While radishes are not an ideal food for juniors under school age, spring onions are. They should be finely minced and put between thin slices of bread and butter.
As spring comes on onions, spinach and all the green vegetables do much to prevent "spring fever" and every mother should serve them firmly and often.

Spinach and Cheese Souffle
One cup soft bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup chopped cooked spinach, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs.
Cook crumbs and milk, stirring constantly until hot and smooth. Stir in spinach, lemon juice, cheese, salt and pepper and butter and cook a few minutes longer. Remove from the fire and add the yolks of the eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry on a platter with a wire whisk. Turn into a well-buttered baking dish and bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

With a Hat To Match

To match the hat and costume is one of fashion's whims this year, and it is most effective as you can see by this photograph. The upper part of the frock is yellow and the skirt and bandings are of yellow and brown plaid. The hat has a plaid yellow crown and a plaid brim turned up from the face.

Have you noticed the scarcity of men's tie pins? It's because the women don't like to be bald headed.
Lots of times a man thinks a girl is crazy about him because she can't get a date with anybody else.
Style hints for the future predict women may go without everything except money.

MOTOR COMPANY PLANS IDEAL DISPLAY ROOMS

Display rooms of the Oilbelt Motor company will equal any in the state of Texas, according to plans now under way calling for renovation of the display room for new cars and for the used car sales room. Cost of remodeling the interior and redecorating will be about $15,000, according to M. R. Newnham, president of the company.

Working plans call for redecorating of the interior of both show rooms as soon as possible. The business offices of the firm, now in the display room for the new cars, will be remodeled and segregated from the show room entirely. Interior decorators have been drawing plans for the work for some time and Mr. Newnham intends starting work immediately.

The front of the building will be painted to harmonize with the interior. A passage way between the display room for the new cars and the used car salesroom has already been constructed, making it much more convenient for customers who visit the plant. Already possessing the best building for an automobile concern in West Texas, the firm plans to have it also the best in appearance. "In a short time I will have the most modern automobile plant in the state," said Mr. Newnham. "We already have the best building and when we are through remodeling it, none in West Texas will approach it." In the rear of the building there is adequate space to accommodate all of the repair work done by the Oilbelt Motor company. Two large commodious rooms furnish storage space and a room for the mechanics to work on the cars. A large room between the two display rooms is occupied by the parts department, which carries a complete line of Studebaker and Chevrolet parts.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thins, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual break-down of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! We know that as blood cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema—all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

Start taking S.S.S. today and get back that power in your blood!

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

GEORGIA RELATIVES SEEK QUINTON BOOTH

Information regarding the whereabouts of Quinton Booth and his wife, Elizabeth Hopkins, or their descendants, who came to Eastland county from Campbell county, Georgia, just prior to the civil war and whose postoffice was Rising Star, in this county, is sought by relatives in Georgia in a letter addressed to the county judge of Eastland county.

The letter is written from Newman, Ga., R. F. D. No. 2, and signed by J. W. Wellborn and is as follows:

"Just after the Confederate war about three years, 1866 or 1867, I had a great aunt by the name of Elizabeth Hopkins of Campbell county, Georgia, who was the daughter of Elijah and Loyer Hopkins, who married a man by the name of Quinton Booth and moved to Eastland county, Texas, just after the war. Booth left Campbell county, Georgia in an ox wagon to go to his farm in Eastland county, Texas, so I understand from my mother, and was about three months making the trip.

"I would like to find their descendants and any information regarding them will be greatly appreciated. My mother's maiden name was Sullivan and Aunt Elizabeth was the youngest of the children, and may be living now. Quinton Booth served in the Confederate army from Texas and likely from Eastland county."
