Allies Said to Have Proof That Germany is Secretly Organizing for Revenge.

PARIS, Feb. 29.—"Blow a whistle and the skeleton of Germany immediately would recover its skin, muscles, blood and nerves, the same as in 1914," General Beorgeois, member of the Maillot commission investigating conditions in the reisch declared today in an interview with the

"To abandon allied control of Germany would be deadly imprudent," he declared. "Fortunately the allies have an understanding of the reisch," he continued. "They have undeniable proof that Germany is and the fine weather was quite to the liking of the men and women who undeniable proof that Germany is secretly organizing for revenge. Germany is instructing officers, has a reischwehr more numerous than the Versailles treaty permits and is furnishing them with the most modern and complete armaments, including rifles, machine guns, cannon and plenty of ammunition. This pouring of cattle and grain on the city markets is destined—still in the opinion of American officials—to lead to a serious collapse.

BIBLE THOUGHT

NOT MEAT AND DRINK-For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. Rom. 14:17.

THE AVERAGE MAN RULES. The experience of the world has demonstrated the truth that in the long run the welfare of the nation depends on the average man. In times of war it is the average man with the musket; in times of peace it is the average man with the ballot. Leadership is important, but one of its greatest uses is inspiring confidence in those who are led.

It may seem that the weight of each individual is small, but it is the aggregation of individuals that seem that the weight of each individual makes "we, the people," and the character of that aggregate is what makes or ruins the nation.

Each individual who stands firmly for right and justice raises the average and strengthens the fabric of national character.

The important point is that the people themselves should realize their responsibility; that each voter should appreciate the fact that he is a part of public sentiment; that his duty is not merely to humor his own prejudices, but act rationally for the general welfare. It may be urged that this is visionary; that its inmen to drop their personal bias and act with reason for the common good. There is a great deal of truth in this, and in that truth lies the greatest danger to any republic in any crisis, but on the other hand is the saving quality that the man of average intelligence will reflect that the general good is the individua good, and that he is voting for his personal welfare when he votes to promote the general welfare.

The average man has in fact no real interest except in good government and in wise political policies.

FRANCE AND GERMANY. The Franco-German situation continues to be the most serious frawback to the stabilization of Europe. What France now wants is to get some backing for her plan of an autonomous republican state separate from the reich. Behind this political aim lies an industrial one which the French industrialists steadily pursue.

The plan includes three separate devices. The first is a union, excluding iron industry. This consideration does not apply to the German iron and steel industries now greatly depressed and which they would willingly destroy. The third German enterprise is the great chain of dye works which stretches along the borders of the Rhineland. The French desire control of this by their military and political occupation.

The best that Germany can expect is to get back to a means of simple livelihood, and even that will depend on the amount of reparations that may finally be imposed.

According to government reports 2,452 men were killed by accidents in American coal mines last year. This means that for ever 250,000 tons of coal brought to the surface one man's life was forfeited. It is argued that a man has got to die sometime anyway, but, added to the cost of coal it is a pretty stiff price to pay. Some day, perhaps, coal mining will become a white man's job-but not under present conditions.

Senator Couzens of Michigan has discovered a federal law of 1789 under which he proposes to hale Mr. Mellon before the bar of the senate to answer certain questions propounded by Senator Couzens.

MARKET OPINION ISSUED TO JESS TAYLOR & COMPANY

NEW ORLEANS. Feb. 29.—H. & B. Beer wired Jess Taylor & Co., of Cisco as follows:

After ruling lower in early morning. The market recovered. Because of the lower price levels, the disposition of traders now is to buy on depressions, whereas in the past the inclination was to sell, especially on bulges. Some encouragement was obtained from private report that there is a better business in goods in Worth street and that Fall River sold 50,000 pieces of prints during the past three days. On the other hand, press reports describe the cotton goods market in New York as quiet, with prices irregular and easy in both finished and unfinished lines, yarns lower.

in both finished and unfinished lines, yarns lower.
Fall River wired that the textile situation in that city continues on about the same basis as last week, with curtailment about 80 per cent of capacity. Liverpool cabled that spinners purchase spots sparingly, but there is a fair export demand, that futures are nervous and unsettled, with sentiment mixed. Some trade calling and short covering met belated long liquidation. Thursday afternoon market bulged further owing to rumor that some of the ecotton received on March contracts in New York will be shipped abroad. Meanwhile the weather outlook is favorable, official advices fail to confirm private reports of there being a better demand for goods, and there is the possibility of spinners' takings for week being bearish again, as returns will run against 215,000 bales last year, whereas they were only 147,000 last week.

Congressman McFadden, of Penn-sylvania, has proposed a radical Behind the leader in the race are change in the national banking laws. His bill would enlarge the scope of rational bank activities by permitting them to open branch banks in any city where state banks are now operating, to buy and sell investment bonds, permit them to loan up to one-half their time deposits, to handle perpetual trusts, engage in safe deposit business and rediscount notes. If it were possible to add some additional safeguards for depositors, like a government or inpositors, like a government or insured security, so that no man would lose because of long-chance speculations, or official speculations, the banking business would naturally double.

East-Bound Ships Lighter Than Those Going West

Scientific experiments to ascertain the possible effect of the direction in which a ship is going upon its weight-carrying capacity, recently made by a prominent scientist, resulted in his conclusion that a 2,000-ton vessel traveling east offers 400 pounds less resistance to the water current than it does when west-bound. This calculation, it is said, is based upon the influence of centrifugal force, which is greater when a body is riding with the tide in the direction in which the earth revolves, than when headed the other way. * * *

Snow Scraper Attached to Rake

A serviceable snow scraper can readily be made by attaching a piece of galvanized iron to an ordinary garden rake, as shown in the drawing. The metal should be at least is in. thick and should be cut to the dimensions given in the upper detail. Short cuts are made at the points indicated and the strips between hese cuts bent out as shown in the lower drawing. The loops thus formed should be made so that the tines of the rake must be forced into them, thus preventing the scraper from falling off the rake. A scraper of this kind costs much less than a manufactured one, and, if properly made, serves the purpose just as well.

A short length of pipe, fitted with a valve, is fitted through the side near the bottom and a length of rubber hose is attached as shown. An overflow pipe is also provided. In garages where there is not enough space to permit the installation described above, a barrel may be mounted on a stand outside of the garage as shown in the lower figure. In both cases a fine sieve must be provided in the pipe leading from the gutter, to catch any foreign matter. The inside of the container should be washed out occasionally.

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 29.—
The fallacy in the argument of financial and industrial interests that and when it was 25 cents. the advancing price of cotton is demoralizing the cotton goods business has been indicated by figures compiled at the A. & M. college of Texas.

The information is given by Professor J. B. Bagley, head of the department of textile enginering, that one pound of cotton will make several verds of cingham and that middling.

Gerald Murphy systeined burns yards of gingham and that middling cotton loses by waste about 15 per cent in spinning. In December, 1922, cotton was quoted at 25 cents. Figuring 15 per cent for waste the uring 15 per cent for waste the pound of spun cotton would cost 29 cents and this would make seven yards of gingham. Or in other words the ac-tual raw cotton in a yard of gingham brought the farmer only 4.2 cents. With cotton at the peak of 35 cents and allowing 15 per cent for waste the farmer would sell 40.2 cents worth of cotton for seven yards of ging-ham or would get for the cotton in each yard 5.8 cents. Thus in the rise of cotton from 25 to 35 cents the additional cost of cotton in a yard of gingham nets the cotton grower only 1.6 cents. If we take eight yards as an average requirement for making the farmer's wife a house dress, the
