ANOTHER TEN YEARS GIVEN CHARLIE MIMS

R. F. Thompson Facing Third Trial for Participation in Robberies.

EASTLAND, Oct. 15.—The jury in the second robbery case against Charlie Mims returned a verdict this morning assessing his penalty at ten years in the penitentiary. Mims was charged in this case with assault to murder John Barnes deputy sheriff while Barnes was attempting to arrest Mims on the way from the Oklahoma cabaret to the Moore hotel, in Ranger.

Last Wednesday a jury gave Mims ten years in the penitentiary for the robbery of Leon Wilson. Motions for new trials have been filed and each case will likely be appealed.

Thompson on Trial Again. The jury was completed this morning in the third case against R. F. Thompson. He is now being tried for participation in the daylight hold-up at the cabaret in Ranger on Sept. 9. The case will probably be concluded tonight.

The opening event of the Mims trial was the application of the defendant to have the sheriff summoned as jurors in the case. It was necessary for the court to order the sheriff to go out and summon some extra men to make out the jury. At this point the defense made a motion that the court instruct the sheriff not to discriminate against women in selecting his talesmen because they are now qualified to vote and consequently qualified to do jury service and the defendant is entitled to have women summoned on the jury the same as men. Judge Hill overruled the motion and stated that he was not going to have women brought into court at this time. When the sheriff returned his list of additional jurors the defense asked him if he had intentionally left off women from his list. He said he never thought anything about it, and didn't know anybody wanted the women brought up. That he would not have summoned any women unless the judge had instructed him to.

Before closing his testimony the state introduced in evidence the confession made by the defendant to the county attorney, the whole of which has never before been given to the public. It follows:

"My name is Charlie Mims. I live in Fort Worth, Texas. I was in Ranger on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1920. I was in Hamman's place in Ranger that day with Tom Lowrey (Laird), Nig Prince, Tom (R. F.) Thompson and we planned to rob a poker game there in Ranger. I do not know who first proposed the robbery. We were all drinking. It was along about (late in the afternoon) that this happened and I went back to the Moore hotel and slept the fore part of the night. Dan Hamilton was also with us when we laid our plans for the robbery. We were all rather drunk in the early part of the night. Some one woke me up about 1 o'clock and we all went to the game except Dan Hamilton. We all went in about the same time, and covered the men with pistols and lined them up with their faces to the walls. I got the money out of the cash register. I don't know how much but quite a little. I got two diamond rings. I took one off Bill Edwards and I don't know who I got the other one from. We then backed out of the house keeping the men covered with pistols.

"We all went to the Moore hotel and the next morning we divided the money. Dan Hamilton was too drunk to go with us but we all gave him about $500. We had a squabble about a big diamond and no one there would admit getting it. We did not give any of the money to any of the laws—we were not supposed to split with any of them. None knew anything about it. I do not even know Mike Bosley. Mrs. Moore knew nothing about the robbery until the next morning. She did not get any of the money—was not supposed to get any of it. We had two quart-corn whiskey in our room when we divided our money.

"We all continued to drink during the day after the robbery of the game and late in the afternoon, about five o'clock I went to a cabaret with Tom Thompson and continued to drink. We were drinking corn whiskey, buying in there from some one whose name I do not know. I had my gun in my hand and was making people in there drink, and

MRS. MIMS FAINTS WHEN BANDIT SON IS CONVICTED

By M. McCULLOUGH

EASTLAND, Oct. 15.—There was a pathetic scene in the court room when the jury returned a verdict of ten years in the penitentiary against Charlie Mims for a daylight robbery. His mother was sitting by his side inside the bar of the court room when Judge Hill read the verdict. Just as he finished reading the verdict the mother swooned and fainted in the court room, and had to be assisted to a table before the judge's stand, where medical aid was administered.

She is still unable to be up. She had sat for two days before the court listening intently to every step in the trial of the case. The verdict was too much for her and she had to give way under the nervous strain.

CHARGE PLOT TO OUST HONEST PROHI AGENTS

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The arrest of three men in connection with the federal grand jury's investigation of the alleged whisky "ring," brought out information, the police say, which indicates that $100,000 had been raised in Chicago to force the ousting of certain federal prohibition agents and replace them with men more susceptible to influence by the alleged whisky "ring."

A government official attached to the prohibition enforcement organization told the grand jury that a bribe of $10,000 had been offered him to stop prosecution in connection with recent liquor traffic disclosures. The bribe was said to have been offered by a New York woman, whose identity has not been disclosed.

was paying for the drinks myself. We had been drinking for some time. I remember searching people and got money off several people and took some diamonds from some one. I had my gun in my hand. Some officer came in and I covered him with my pistol and took his gun.

"After searching all the people and getting all the money and diamonds we could find we left the place through the front entrance. We went down Pine to Rusk street and there began firing at the officers. I do not know how many times I shot. I shot first from the inside of the garage. I do not know whether I hit anybody or not. We then ran to the Moore hotel and I was in my room when arrested. I do not know what Tom went in, but he was arrested too. I saw Dan Hamilton and Tom Lowrey at the hotel when we went in. I did not see Mrs. Moore or Mrs. Hamilton.

"This happened in Eastland county, Texas, on or about the 9th day of September, 1920.

C. C. MIMS.

John Barnes on the stand stated that two girls, Florence Pippin and another, came to him on the street and told him that some men were in the cabaret making everybody drink and had pistols in their hands.

"When I got there they were gone and I ran after them," he testified. "I turned down Rusk street and then they saw me and began to fire at me. I was hit and dazed a little. I then went to the front of the garage and they continued to shoot. I suppose there were twenty-five or thirty shots fired. No, I did not shoot, because I saw other people in the back of the garage and I did not want to shoot in there. Yes, I saw Charlie Mims shoot me. He had two guns in his hands, an automatic and a forty-five. He shot me in the foot. Another man at the same time shot me in the calf of my leg. When they left I could not follow them."

Barnes appeared on the witness stand on Oct. 14. He was the cashier at the cabaret, also testified to the facts substantially as stated by Barnes.

Federal Agents Take Hand In Wiping Out Lawlessness In Farflung Oil Field Towns

By RICHARD DONAHUE

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 15.—Within the next two weeks revenue men, prohibition officers, and narcotic men will clean out the lawlessness that has been rampant in Breckenridge, Qaddo, Lecray, Breckwalker, Strawn, Eastland and other towns in this district. This information is given by government men that have been working in this territory.

These men say that the entire oil field from beginning to end is rotten with lawlessness, such as whiskey selling, dope peddling, gambling and passing of worthless checks.

It is estimated that more than half a million dollars in this district alone has been lost by bad checks. Much of this can be gotten at by government men and will be according to those who are investigating conditions in Breckenridge.

Quick Action. A general shake-up has been made in the government enforcement officers' department and it is said that men are now investigating matters in all the towns of the oil fields who will clean them out and bring the malefactors to justice.

Every violation of the law that can be handled by the government men will be removed and the violators prosecuted, according to the men who are now working in the Breckenridge district.

It is their opinion that the arrests of gamblers and dope peddlers that have been made recently by local officers in Wichita Falls and other oil towns was a move staged to anticipate government men.

Gambling does not come under the scope of work which revenue men and other federal officers can handle, but they believe that if those elements they can prosecute are wiped out, gambling will go with the rest. However, they can in many cases arrest and convict givers of worthless checks and this phase of lawlessness will have their particular attention.

RANGERS FOR BRECKENRIDGE UP TO SHERIFF

Adjutant General Refuses to Interfere With Present Law Enforcement.

By Staff Correspondent.

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 15.—D. W. Cope, adjutant general of Texas, has been in Breckenridge investigating conditions following a request of prominent citizens that the governor send rangers into this city to stop the lawlessness that has the city and surrounding community in its grip.

According to Sheriff Sears, the adjutant general said that rangers would not be sent to Breckenridge unless they were requested by the sheriff's department. At the same time the sheriff's department was commended for its work in handling the situation as efficiently as has been done.

Breckenridge has attracted every class of criminal known. Highway robbers, dope peddlers and casing thieves have made the town headquarters since the oil boom struck. By their numbers and organization they have placed a burden upon law enforcement officers that has been almost impossible for them to handle.

It is this condition that the governor's department was asked to investigate as well as the gambling and liquor selling that is going on in the oil towns of the county.

In refusing to send rangers without a first request from him, Sheriff Sears feels that Adjutant Cope understands the conditions under which he has been working and believes that the situation is being handled as well as it could be if rangers were sent.

MINISTER ASKS LIFE SENTENCE TO RELIEVE MIND OF GUILT BURDEN

GOSHEN, IND., Oct. 15.—Rev. Albert S. Menough, 60 years old, ordained minister in the Brethren church, assessor of Elkhart township and prominent democratic politician, walked into the office of Aldo J. Simpson, deputy prosecuting attorney, and confessed that he had embezzled $12,200 belonging to the Emma M. Miller-Henry A. Miller partition suit, in which he was commissioner; the Oscar Gillett guardianship, in which he was guardian; and the Stephen J. Miller estate, of which he was executor.

"I desire to be sentenced for life imprisonment," Menough told the Prosecutor.

Half an hour later Judge Drake, of Circuit court, sentenced him to Michigan City penitentiary for from one to five years. Menough explained he lost the money in operations on the Denver Board of Trade, and that he was unable to replace it. Rather than carry the mental burden until his shortage was exposed he said, he preferred to relieve his mind of the strain.

The Worst is Yet to Come in B. B. Scandal

Ban Johnson Says New Report Will Reveal Facts "as Yet Undreamed of."

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Starting developments next week in connection with the reconvened special grand jury's investigation of baseball gambling were indicated today by President Ban B. Johnson of the American League in discussing his reasons for sending a telegram to President Heydler of the National League opposing as "premature" a conference of club owners next Monday, at which it is planned to frame a new governing tribunal for professional baseball.

"I do not care to attend any conference to discuss a new baseball tribunal until the report of the special grand jury which reconvenes Tuesday is made and I know whom it indicts," the telegram said.

Johnson said it is reported clues new in hand may lead to disclosures of more facts "than have yet been dreamed of."

HUGH JENNINGS QUILTS AS DETROIT MANAGER

DETROIT, Oct. 15.—Hugh Jennings today tendered his resignation as manager of the Detroit baseball club, to be effective immediately. Jennings has been manager of the Tigers since the early days of the American league. They won pennants under his direction in 1907, 1908, and 1909, but were beaten by the Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the world series. Since that time the club has been a chronic second division outfit, with but few places in the first flight. Last year the club finished fourth, after the league had voted not to throw out the games affected by the Carl Mays jump to New York.

SANTA FE SEEKS TO LESSEN DAMAGES TO FREIGHT

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 15.—Bette packing of freight, more care in handling by train crews and station helpers, and closer co-operation on the part of the public, were urged here by speakers at the semi-annual loss and damage conference of the Santa Fe railroad system as a means of reducing claim losses to a minimum. More than 200 railroad men representing twenty-two divisions in thirteen states, were present.

According to speakers the loss and damage cost to the Santa Fe for the six months ending June 30, 1920, amounted to 2.27 per cent of the total freight revenue.

WOMAN SUES METHODISTS FOR CHURCH LOTS

Deed Given Thirty Years Ago Contested by Mrs. Vincenheller.

The old Methodist church lots at Pine and Marston streets, which were dedicated to the church thirty-four years ago, are being sued for by the wife of the original grantor, Mrs. Virginia Vincenheller.

The husband is dead. The plaintiff sets out in her petition that the lots were dedicated for the purpose and convenience of divine worship and that they were a part of the original homestead and the deeds were not signed by her. She also sets forth that at the time of her marriage to her husband she had separate property and that it was used for the purpose of buying these lots, and she intended to hold them as separate property. The answer of the trustees of the property is that the church holds a valid deed to the property.

L. H. Flewollen of Ranger is representing the trustees. Pratt and Milwee of Eastland are attorneys for the plaintiff. The case comes up for trial in October.

The lots in question are the site of the old Methodist church and have been used for religious purposes since the time of their gift, until the Methodist members moved into their new church several weeks ago.

AGRICULTURISTS STILL HAVE HOPES OF CREDIT EXTENSION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Although the agricultural conference held here for the purpose of obtaining more liberal credits for farmers has concluded its sessions, a committee remained in Washington today awaiting an announcement of the future credit policy of the federal reserve banks.

There is no indication that the reserve system will recede from its position that the reserve banks cannot extend special credits to any particular line of industry.

COAST LEAGUE PLAYERS WILL BE INVESTIGATED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Subpoenas for five Pacific Coast league baseball players have been issued in preparation for an investigation started today on charges of corruption in connection with Pacific Coast league games. Representatives of the Los Angeles club, which lost the 1919 pennant race to Vernon, have declared that the race last year was "fixed." The Los Angeles county grand jury will hear the witnesses.

MORE GIN WARNINGS.

TRUMAN, Ark., Oct. 15.—Anonymous warnings posted in cotton gins here threatened their destruction unless operations ceased immediately. Thus far the gin owners have given no heed to the threat.

NEW STEEL PLANT MEANS ANOTHER BIG RANGER PAYROLL

Addition to Ranger Boiler Works Means Big Step Toward City's Manufacturing Goal; Location Out-Balances High Bids.

A steel plant that with its buildings will cost $100,000 has been secured for Ranger through the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The plant when in operation, will employ a minimum of eighty men, and will add $16,000 a month to the already tremendous payroll of Ranger.

The new plant is being shipped from Fort Worth and is being installed by L. C. McFall, of the Ranger Boiler Works. To secure the new industry it was necessary for the Chamber of Commerce to provide a site and trackage. This will cost the organization $7,000.

MINERS CHARGE PEONAGE USED, ALABAMA FIELD

Cite Armed Guards and Blacklist Letters of Big Coal Company.

By Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 15.—The United States government will be asked by the United Mine Workers of America to make an investigation to ascertain whether peonage is practiced among Alabama coal miners, it was said at the headquarters of the organization here today.

Developments in the strike of Alabama coal miners indicate such is the case, officials said.

The United Mine Workers' Journal in an article published today says a number of mines in Alabama are surrounded by high board fences with small guard-house openings. At other mines there are guard houses, although there are no fences. The article points out that armed guards are stationed to prevent anyone entering or leaving the camps without permission.

The journal also produces copies of what it says are original black list letters sent out by the head employment office of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company to employment clerks at various mines and plants in Alabama.

Some letters say: "Under no circumstances must the following men be employed," with a list of the workers barred.

President Asks Allen for Evidence of Crop Price Plot

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Wilson has requested Governor Allen of Kansas to forward to the federal trade commission any information he may have tending to indicate that the recent decline in wheat prices has been due to unfair practices in competition, or other artificial causes.

A letter to this effect was sent today by Secretary Tamm, in answer to many appeals for government action looking toward an embargo on Canadian wheat.

These were referred some time ago to the commission's department of agriculture.

WHEAT JUMPS WHEN PIT HEARS OF WILSON'S REQUEST

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Wheat made a big advance in price today after the news became public that the President had asked Governor Allen of Kansas for information which might indicate that the recent drop in values was due to artificial causes.

December delivery ran up to $2.21 but closed unsettled at $2.17 1/2 to $2.18 1/2.

COUPLE FOUND GUILTY IN ILLINOIS DIVORCE LAW TEST

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 15.—A test case of the Illinois divorce laws prohibiting marriage within a year after award of a divorce decree resulted in a Circuit court jury here today finding Frank W. Pittman Jr., and Carolyn Smith, alias Pittman, guilty. Sentence has not been passed. Mrs. Smith was married to Pittman within a year after obtaining a divorce from her first husband. They have two children. The defense probably will move for a new trial.

Would YOU Be Warm While Little Children Shiver? Kick In

Three little girls at Olden are suffering from cold for the want of clothing and blankets.

The father of the children has been confined to his bed for more than a year with tuberculosis. During that year savings have melted away, but kind people have kept the hunger of her babies from searing the soul of a suffering mother.

A weary worker who has seen much suffering and misery visited the family yesterday and in telling of this story she said she came here last night and cried—cried because others have so much of wealth and comfort and this mother has nothing but sickness and sorrow and want, and because she herself was powerless to help her to any great extent.

But the mother can be helped, she continued, and helped immeasurably, if she can obtain warm clothing for the babies and a few more quilts and blankets to keep out the chill of the frosty night.

Mrs. Grace Harrington, Red Cross nurse, will take any article of clothing to the suffering family that anyone in Ranger will give her.

TOWERING FLAMES OF GAS WELL FIRE.

The extreme height to which a burning well throws flames and smoke is graphically portrayed in the above picture of the recent fire at Breckenridge, in which three men were burned to death. Note, for comparison, the tree in the foreground and the house in the right center.

Foodstuffs Vanish When Government Tries to Fix Prices

LISBON, Oct. 15.—The government is trying to find a way to relieve the serious shortage of all necessary articles of food as the discontent of the people in face of the present situation is daily becoming more manifest. The problem is a difficult one, as no sooner are the articles tabulated at a fixed price than they totally disappear from the market. Officials were appointed recently to search shops and even the shopkeepers' private houses for the vanished foodstuffs including potatoes, oil, lard, rice, coal, sugar and bacon. Many hidden stocks were seized and heavy fines inflicted on the transgressors. Lately the searches have had practically no results and the strain of living assumes alarming proportions. Decrees have been issued by the government granting free transit and commerce throughout Portugal of rice and butter, two products which have been unobtainable. Free importation of rice, maize, potatoes and vegetables also is decreed. In view of the utter lack of sugar to supply the population of Portugal, the government has forbidden, two days a week, the sale of cakes or pastry. Matches have re-appeared on the market by intervention of the government after a period in which none was obtainable.

GOVERNMENT BUREAU OF INFORMATION WILL TELL YOU ANYTHING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Information regarding any activity in which the government is interested will be furnished to the general public through the information service section of the United States bureau of efficiency here, according to announcement from the bureau. The information service is an outgrowth of the bureau's investigation into the duplication of work in government departments, undertaken at the direction of Congress. "If you are interested, for instance, in the primitive condition of prehistoric man, in present day activities in agriculture, education or commerce or desire to know where to apply for the classification and biology of the corn-leaf beetle, write the Bureau of Efficiency, Information Section," the announcement said. "The section will act as a reference index to activities and offices."

WEATHERFORD

Commission on Ranger Land Deal Settled in Court

Special to the Times. WEATHERFORD, Texas, Oct. 15.—The case of Edgar Davis vs. C. H. Ray was called in the district court here Thursday morning and the plaintiff failed to appear for the trial. The defendant was ready and his attorneys asked for a non-suit judgment, which was given by the court. This case grew out of a transaction wherein C. H. Ray disposed of the property in Ranger where the Guaranty State Bank formerly stood now occupied by the Paramount hotel for the reported sum of $100,000. Davis was suing for five per cent commission on the deal, or $5,000.

Congressman Fritz G. Lanham, congressman from this district, will conduct a speaking tour in the home state of the two candidates for president of the United States, in the interest of the Democratic party. Mr. Lanham, who is now in Fort Worth has been requested by the speakers' bureau to make the campaign in Ohio. He expects to leave for Ohio early next week.

The issuance of $25,000 of sewerage bonds for the extension of the present sewerage system, was authorized in the election held last Tuesday.

The Weatherford Canning factory is now running at full capacity on sweet potatoes. The management reports the grade extra high and the supply plentiful. The price being paid is about $1 per bushel.

Rev. M. E. Weaver, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city was recently awarded an increase in salary of $600 per year, this increase placing his salary at $3,000 per annum.

CENSUS ENUMERATION SHOULD BE MADE AGAIN

Yesterday Ranger's population was 16,205. Today it is 16,206. The new citizen is the six and a half-pound daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lester. Both mother and child are doing well. Friends of the family, however, express the fear that the father will not recover.

HIGH COST OF NURSING TO BE ABATED IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—A movement to build up an adequate body of nursing attendants to serve at moderate wages in homes where outside care is needed in cases of sickness but where means are lacking to pay trained nurses has been started in this city. The Household Nursing association is offering women from 20 to 45 years of age a carefully planned course which it describes as designed to prepare them "for the care of sickness in the home and the care of the home during sickness."

New classes are formed every seven weeks. The expense for the training is small. The course extends over a period of seven months, beginning with study of the care of the house, marketing, cooking, dietics and nursing. After this preliminary work the students are sent to cooperating hospitals for four months, receiving actual training and experience in the care of patients. After care of a mother and baby is then learned in a maternity hospital. When the course is completed the students are given case work under supervision of a resident nurse for 15 days. If their work has proved satisfactory they are given diplomas and are permitted to work independently. Through a system of constant employment for graduates of the course.

WHEAT SHORT IN RUSSIA BUT 'REDS' WILL PULL

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Russia's great pre-war cotton industry has suffered to such an extent during the revolution that it is doubtful whether many of the mills ever will be able to operate again, says Sir Charles Menara, an English authority in the world's cotton trade, in an interview in the Yorkshire Post.

Based on information obtained from an Englishman who recently returned from Russia, where for fourteen years he was manager of a large cotton factory near Moscow, Sir Charles estimates that of the 9,000,000 spindles running in Russia before the revolution not more than 200,000 or 300,000 are now operating.

The experiences of the English manager of the Moscow factory were told as an example of the methods employed by revolutionists in dealing with one of Russia's great industrial assets, the textile factories in the Moscow district. This particular mill carried on all the processes from cotton spinning to the finished product, 17,000 workers having been employed under normal operating conditions.

POSES AS A MAN, PLAYS 'HUSBAND' FOR FOUR YEARS

Jacqueline Gay, posing as a man, Jacqueline Gay, twenty-four, obtained a license four years ago to marry another girl and lived as that girl's husband in Philadelphia. She revealed this fact recently in suing a man she says sold her drugs. She avers she donned man's garb to protect herself while doing welfare work in the tenderloin.

Experts Thrown Out. When the bolsheviks assumed power the whole cotton industry was nationalized. At every mill committees were formed and finally in Oct. 1919, a decree was issued that all who had been connected with the former owners would have to leave. With the experts gone, the mill stopped. After a time attempts were made to re-start it, but it was almost impossible to obtain raw cotton. Small quantities were obtained, which after being diluted with 75 per cent waste was sent through the processes.

The machinery now is in a very bad state, in such a state, in fact, that it would be almost impossible to operate the factory again, according to the information given Sir Charles. Whenever machines are damaged, other machines are denuded of parts to repair them. Sir Charles stated that there was little possibility of English workmen going to Russia for employment in textile factories. Mills in Germany and Austria were turning out only from 25 to 30 per cent of the normal production, he said and English workers faced the almost impossible task of making up for the four and a half years' stoppage of textile manufacture owing to the war.

COLLEGE GIRLS PUT BAN ON FALSE HAIR ADORNMENTS

By International News Service. BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—Begone, ye false hair adornments! This is some other shrill war cry like it is on the lips of the girls of the college of liberal arts, Boston University, where natural curls and waves are the envy of their sister students in other colleges hereabouts. The fresher particularly are the bane of the "permanent wavers" and showed it to good advantage at their Gamma Delta initiation by the sepolomores. When the rites are over the girls will be permitted to remove their green hair ribbons and put up their curls.

EVANSTON'S COMMUNITY KITCHEN DELIVERS HOT MEALS TO HOMES; DECLARED SAVIOR OF FAMILY LIFE

By Associated Press
EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 15.—Evanston's servant problem has been partially solved and the Evanston community kitchen has become a markedly successful institution through the efforts of three women, whose latest contribution to home-making is the introduction of what they say is the most satisfactory thermal container yet perfected. The Evanston kitchen, which is now more than a year old, has become a model after which numerous similar kitchens have been patterned all over the country. It delivers hot meals to the home by motor truck.

The Evanston kitchen is an outgrowth of the war. In the summer of 1918 the Evanston Woman's club conducted a particularly successful community kitchen. The club's record for the season was 7,000 jars of fruits and vegetables most of which went to charitable institutions. When the influenza epidemic struck the country in the fall of that year, the club extended its activities and for a time served an average of 200 meals daily to those who were stricken and their families. From those activities came the idea of a permanent kitchen and its establishment was due to three members of the Woman's Club, Mrs. James A. Odell, Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, and Mrs. Homer H. Kingsley.

Makes Home Life Possible.
"Evanston has been suffering from a shortage of domestic help," said Mrs. Odell, in explaining the plan. "Everywhere women, especially young mothers are finding it impossible to do all that is required of them, to take care of the babies and the house, and have any leisure for the homecoming of the husband. An increasing number of families are frequenting the hotels and cafes, sacrificing family life and interests to necessity. We felt that by delivering dinners to such homes, a service would be rendered not to those families alone, but to society as well, by preventing the disintegration of the home and the annihilation of the family table."

The big problem, however, proved to be an adequate container. From the experimental stage to the perfected aluminum glass-lined dish, these three women, who have now incorporated the Evanston community kitchen and serve an average of 100 meals every evening, claim the distinction of developing the best thermal containers now in use.

A complete meal is prepared in the kitchen, placed in suitable thermal dishes heated to a high temperature, and the portions enclosed in a large thermal container. The food retains its original temperature approximately six hours, so that it is still piping hot when it is delivered to the patron's home by motor truck. The empty dishes are collected the following morning and the housewife is relieved of all concern over her evening meal.

For the service, a charge of 25 cents for each meal is made plus 85 cents delivery charges. The kitchen has already proved a paying proposition and its success has been so marked that representatives from Los Angeles to Cleveland have visited the kitchen to get pointers for establishing similar institutions in their own communities.

JUSTICE COURT NO. 2 NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS

The second justice court established for Ranger will begin to function today with Roger Fenlaw presiding. Judge Fenlaw has obtained a building at 302 Pine street in which to hold court.

This additional court is the result of Ranger's population being more than 10,000. The state law provides that two courts shall be established in such cities upon a petition being submitted to the commissioners' court. Such a petition was submitted several weeks ago and Judge Fenlaw appointed to preside.

He will sit over court No. 2 until after the November election. He is Democratic nominee for court No. 1, now being presided over by Judge J. N. McFatter. A little thought is faithful and sincere.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

CLXIV. DREAMS OF HORSES (2).
The sight of a sick horse or a dead horse, foreshadows the unfortunate news of the illness or death of a dear friend, most likely of the same sex as the dreamer. And a hungry horse signifies that a friend is in dire need. Help if you can.

To be chased by a horse means that there is some one among your acquaintances who not only wants to become your intimate friend but who is just the right friend for you to have. Don't mind it if, in aspect, this is a deceptive appearance, due to dream-distortion. The meaning is the animal seems to have a frightening goal.

To not or stroke a horse betokens new friendship. You will suddenly realize that some one whom you have heretofore given little thought is faithful and sincere.

Feeding a horse means to write a letter in which you will appeal to some one's friendship to do you a great service. If the horse rejects the food, the favor will not be granted. If it eats, the response will be quick and affirmative.

To lead a horse is the sign of stubbornness. You are trying to make others go your way, and your way is not the best. The more the horse strains against being led, the greater your fault of stubbornness, and the sater it will be for you to yield a point here and there and not be too insistent.

It does not matter of what color dream horses are. The color does not change the meaning.

A very good sign is the sight of many horses gamboling on the grass. This means that you are in the minds of many people and their thoughts of you are most pleasant and friendly.

If you see a horse injure some other person, it is your duty to tell him who the person is, and then warn him or her against running into danger. For this is the only dream of horses which betokens ill.

MYSTERIOUS RAINFALL IS PUZZLE TO GEORGIA TOWN

By International News Service.
DUBLIN, Ga., Oct. 15.—A mysterious rain, which falls daily on a certain spot in this city, whether it is cloudy or fair, cold or hot, has awakened the curiosity of the people in the neighborhood and started much talk.

On the sidewalk of Columbia street between Franklin and Washington streets there is a spot near a tree where the rain can be seen falling in a light shower from about 11 a. m. to mid-afternoon. It is not a hard rain, but can be plainly seen and felt. Residents in the street say it has been going on this way for two years or more, and so far no explanation of it has been found.

STATISTICS REVEAL FARM LOSS

The extent to which the farms of Eastland county have been depopulated during the mad rush for oil is graphically set forth in the census bureau's enumeration of farms this year and ten years ago. In 1910 Eastland county is given 2,981 separate farms; in 1920, only 1,490 were enumerated. This indicates the temporary abandonment of about 1,500, or practically one-half, during the ten-year period. Most of this drop in agricultural activity probably occurred within the past three years. Likewise, since the western portion of the county has been comparatively untouched by oil development, and the farmers in that section have pursued the even tenor of their way, it stands to reason that the greater portion of this movement away from the land has occurred in the Ranger district. It would not be surprising if 80 per cent of this movement—more than 1,200 families dropping farming for other pursuits, has occurred in this vicinity. Some 6,000 persons—count 'em—6,000; less than the potential resources of this county will provide remunerative employment for.

These figures indicate more than mere words the value of the community of Ranger's move to re-populate the farms. Six thousand persons added to the present population is quite a tidy number. That really means $600,000 when the auxiliary activities necessary to farming are taken into account.

And this number are merely replacements. Conditions of farming have been changed by the great influx of people. A market is ready at the door for those who would engage in dairying, poultry raising and the production of any and all foodstuffs. This means that many more families can find remunerative employment upon the land than was the case in the pre-oil days.

But it also means that care should be taken to see that this added population is an asset to the community. This can be done by proper selection of tenants. And selection of proper tenants largely depends upon the landowners themselves. The Chamber of Commerce can furnish the prospects, but obtaining the best of these depends upon the inducements offered by the landlords. The man who is willing to undergo the additional labor of cultivating land which has lain idle for some years, and has accumulated the equipment with which to do it, is a distinct addition to the community. He is of the steady, hard-working sort who will remain and pay dividends in the future. Landlords can well afford to give the use of land for a year to such a farmer. It will cost them nothing, for it is now non-revenue-producing anyway, and it will do credit to their public spiritedness.

Get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce. List your farm. Dividends will accrue in after years not only in direct returns, but in higher land values from the care it will receive at responsible hands.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Citizens in general will greet with approbation the announcement by the Chamber of Commerce that the public forum meetings are to be resumed next week. Several very successful meetings of the chamber's members were held last spring immediately after the successful ending of the membership drive. The discussions therein gave rise to a unanimity of action which has been one of the chief factors in Ranger's continued advancement. They outlined a policy of development which the directors and chamber officials could depend upon. They crystallized sentiment in favor of Ranger's program of water supply, more homes, better passenger facilities and telephone service, factories and good roads which has given the chamber a definite goal toward which to work.

The aims of Ranger have been set. The question of methods of attainment is in some cases yet to be settled, and the directors candidly are coming to the membership for advice and suggestions along this line. They perhaps will not be backward about telling the citizens their own views as to how to conduct necessary negotiations. If there is dissent, they will hear it; if their plans are approved they can undoubtedly proceed with more confidence from knowing that they have the backing of their fellow townsmen.

In this connection, a new passenger station, as one of the major aims of the community, is a timely subject for discussion. Negotiations with the Texas & Pacific have almost reached a conclusive stage. Probably before the meeting is called Ranger will know what action the railroad proposes to take voluntarily. It is known the general manager is favorable to a new station. It is known that plans are already drawn for a suitable structure; have been for a year, in fact. It is hoped that the decision for immediate construction will be favorable. If it is not, then Ranger should not hesitate to take prompt action toward obtaining its rights.

The state laws are plain, but whether the state railroad commission has been so "debauched" by federal usurpation of authority that its mandates would be ineffective is a question that cannot be positively answered at this time. That the commission could enforce relief is problematical, in view of recent supreme court rulings, and the fact that the road is now in the hands of a federal receiver.

If this should be the case, then other lines of action should be decided upon, and the forum could very likely offer valuable suggestions, and they would be immediately approved or disapproved by the attitude of those present, thus giving the board some basis from which to work toward a satisfactory course.

Taken by and large, and without reference to any particular question, these forums will by a valuable addition to civic activities. If they do nothing else, they will bring the citizenry together, make them better acquainted, and give that feeling of mutual liking and co-operation without which no city can become great. Ranger has progressed during the last six months by virtue of the practical accord and mutual understanding and absence of strife. It will continue to progress so long as its citizens continue in harmony. And the public forums will be no inconsiderable step toward that end.

PUBLIC FORUM

LAWS ON DEPOTS.

The following excerpts from the Texas civil statutes are given the Times readers through the courtesy of Lytton R. Taylor.

Art. 1857. Comfortable Depots: Separate Apartments for Passengers—It shall be the duty of all railroad companies in this state to provide and maintain adequate, comfortable and clean depots and depot buildings at their several stations for the accommodation of passengers, and to keep said depot buildings well lighted and warmed for the comfort and accommodation of the traveling public; provided, further, that said railroad companies shall keep and maintain separate apartments in such depot buildings for the use of white passengers and negro passengers, and to keep and maintain adequate and suitable freight depots and buildings for the receiving, handling, storing and delivering of all freights handled by such roads.

Art. 1858. Commission to Require Compliance—Power is hereby conferred upon the railroad commission of Texas to require compliance by railroad companies with the provisions of the preceding article under such regulations as said commission may deem reasonable, and all railroad companies shall be subject to the penalties prescribed by law for failure to comply with such requirements.

OPEN LETTER TO THE WOMEN OF TEXAS.

The citizenship newly conferred upon you bears with it, this year, a peculiarly precious privilege—the power to aid an amendment which will permit the public schools, in future, to make progress in proportion as the school districts of the state find themselves able to support better schools.

It is not sufficient for each family to educate its own children. The happiness, the safety to life and property of your children, in the future, depend largely upon the kind of citizens with whom they must live. The perpetuation of the democratic institutions for which our forefathers offered their lives depends upon the education of the masses. Texas is 99 per cent illiterate. Twentyfive per cent of our children do not advance beyond the fourth grade. The average time of leaving school is the sixth grade. If this continues, it means a sixth grade citizenship in the future, for the Lone Star state.

In response to your call, two years ago I sacrificed my home, spent my provision for the future, and gave up the work which I loved, to labor for better schools for Texas children. I turn to you now to plead for your special aid in carrying a measure, the failure of which will be a blow to further progress. Love love of Texas children, and for pride in our great state, I urge you to pay your poll tax by Oct. 21, and on Nov. 2, to cast a vote for the better schools amendment.

ANNIE WEBB BLANTON, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMBE

RED HEAD'S MATE.

Tinker Bob hastened to see what was the trouble on the river bank that had been reported by Jerry the Jay. But it was a great way off and it would take him a long time to get there by walking through the Forest. He wanted to visit with the Creature of his Desire anyway, so he tapped the Stone of Knowledge and instantly by his side there stood the Beautiful Creature with the basket, waiting for him to climb in.

"I've wanted to see you for a long time, but you know Old Man Experience told me never to call you unless it was necessary."

"Pray tell me what you wanted and I will grant it," said the Creature as she lifted the basket and sailed away toward the river.

"Oh," said Tinker Bob, "I wanted to know about my trip to the Land of the South. Will I go with the Birds, or can I take Lady Duck with me in this basket, or how can I go to that wonderful land?"

"Don't you remember," said the Creature, "I am the Creature of your Desire, and whatever you want that will I do."

"But surely you don't mean that any thing I want I can have," and Tinker thinking of the many things he wanted to possess.

"Old Man Experience said you could have anything you wanted if you wanted it hard enough. I am at your desire. I will do anything and everything you want me to do so long as you keep the Stone of Knowledge unbroken."

"But it's a very long journey to the land of the South and you would be very tired to carry me to that place," said Tinker.

"You don't understand," said the Creature. "I don't know what it is to be tired. All I know how to do is to take you to the ends of the earth if you desire. The more you use the Stone of Knowledge, the more things you will desire and the longer your journeys will be." They were coming close to the river.

Tinker Bob hardly knew what to say for even he had not known that the Creature of his Desire was such a wonderful being. But here he was by the side of the river and had no more chance to speak to the Creature. What do you suppose he found?

There before him was the magic that Red Head the Woodpecker had been calling. She had heard his call but just could not leave. She was perched on the side of a tree where one of Mr. Tink's brothers lived, and she was doing her best to keep Mr. Hawk from capturing the little fellow. She had even pecked that Terrible Mr. Hawk on the head. THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Get There, No Matter How.

It was at Schrafft's just at the peak of the luncheon hour rush, and the Woman slipped gracefully into the corner of the leather bench after a long and weary wait. At the table with her, three girls were finishing their dessert, and just outside the velvet rope that keeps back the hungry hordes, three people, one an elderly man and two middle aged women, were standing, waiting for this table which had been promised them. The three girls finished and went out. The pretty matron who assigns tables beckoned to the three patient ones and they started down the aisle. Before they reached the table, however, a peppy little blonde, wrapped in a blue wool scarf slid by them and preempted one of the seats.

"I beg your pardon," said the matron, "but would mind taking that single seat to your down? I want these three seats for a party of just that number."

The little blonde surveyed the single seat scornfully. It was a chair and not a soft leather bench. "I think I'll stay here," she answered indifferently. "But," the matron was apologetic but firm, "can't you see that there would be three seats here if you would move and that those people have been waiting for some time?"

Again the girl surveyed the single seat and this time included in her gaze the three elderly people who waited uncertainly beside the table. "No," came her ultimatum. "I won't move. I like it here," and she settled back comfortably, picking up the menu card. The matrons moved away, scarlet with indignation; the three elderly people moved back to another turn. Little murmurs of disapproval arose from nearby tables. But to all this the little blonde was blithely oblivious. "Bring me a club sandwich and anger tempered with resignation as her story grew. "Ain't it hell, Miss?" she concluded, "the way husbands stick?" A Dry Amendment. On one of the rainiest of the recent rainy days the Woman was walking on Ninth avenue toward Twenty-third street when she saw ahead of her in the center of the pavement a large and billowy piece of heavy wrapping paper which seemed to be in some fashion endowed with life. It moved a little one way and then another, but maintained its general position fairly well. Approaching and I do with my new purple silk, luxury being how high it stood and how thro-

GOV. COX LISTS 'UNDESIRABLES' IN G. O. P. CAMP

By Associated Press
 COLUMBUS, Oct. 15.—Vigorous array of the forces he declared were in the opposition ranks was made here last night by Gov. Cox, speaking at the capital in his home state campaign.

That Senator Harding, his Republican opponent, has behind him "the most motley array of questionable groups and influences that ever were behind a candidate—an array that to survey brings the crimson blush of humiliation to an American," was asserted by the Democratic presidential candidate.

Characterizing the various groups named as "undesirables," Gov. Cox asserted that among Senator Harding's supporters were the following:

Strange Bedfellows.

"The reactionary party."
 "The pro-German party—whose members opposed our successful prosecution of the war."
 "The Italian party, whose members place a little Italian imperialism over the interests of this nation."
 "The 'Jaw wags' party, an organization with a definite understanding that wags must come down."
 "The suppression party, whose members say or believe that every bit of progressive thought is to be choked."
 "The Greek party and the Bulgarian party, with a common purpose to punish those who considered the welfare of the world—superior to the claims of nationalistic ambition."
 "The bayonet party, which believes martial law is a solvent for all industrial disputes."
 "The national isolation party, whose object is to secure autocratic position in the world and whose creed is selfishness."
 "The Liberty Bond speculators' party now arranging a sudden coup—to the prejudice of the taxpayers."
 "The anti-federal reserve act party."
 "The profiteer party—which seeks to escape payment of tax on incomes swollen by war profits."
 "The anti-League of Nations party possessing a perfect understanding with Senator Harding that he is to scuttle every plan looking to international peace."
 "The munitions making party, an organization with a vast propaganda fund—ready and eager to embroil the world in fresh wars."
 "The Afro-American party, whose hypenated activity has attempted to stir up troubles among the negroes upon false claims that it can bring social equality."
 No Secret Causes.

"In general, the governor said, it is not merely to question the forces arrayed behind one's leading opponent, but I deem this to be an instance in which there is a right to examine them carefully, and I say this because I have had no hesitancy in granting to my opponent full and free opportunity to examine the forces of influence behind my own candidacy. My nomination came by an open convention, as the result of the free choice of delegates there assembled. I was not nominated at any 2:11 a. m. conference in a smoky back room of a hotel suite, and I am perfectly willing that the forces endorsing my candidacy be examined and compared with those behind the reactionary candidate as part of the issue of this campaign.

"With this preliminary I assert candidly, rather with sympathy and compassion, rather almost with shame for some of those who profess to be Americans, that the candidate of the senatorial ring has behind him today the most motley array of questionable groups and influences that ever were behind a candidate—an array that to survey brings the crimson blush of humiliation to an American, and an assortment of influences that he must begin immediately after the election to repudiate should the unthinkable thing of a reactionary victory darken the happy prospects of a victorious and proud America.

"To every group and to every class it is apparent that assurance has been given. Their leaders boast such assurance, nor has there ever been denial. It is evident that the entire campaign of the senatorial oligarchy began more than eighteen months ago in hypocrisy and deceit, has been continued on that base. I am glad to feel and to know that in this campaign I am a free man and therefore under no obligations to anyone and with promises to none.

"My campaign has been made from coast to coast, upon the issue of peace and progress in America, and peace and progress in the world. This was the basic upon which I was nominated. It is the basis upon which I will take my oath of office. That is the reason I have been enabled to go to the people and permit them to question me. That is the reason no man has been denied an answer from me upon any question at any time, relevant or irrelevant."

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED BY AUTO AT MERKEL

Special Licensed Wire.
 MERKEL, Texas, Oct. 15.—Just before 8 o'clock this morning a man about 22 years old was run over by an auto and killed in the suburbs of town. Letters in the dead man's pocket indicated that his name was Elmer E. Tyler, but he also carried a card issued by the San Antonio Chauffeur's union No. 129, in the name of Slim Wilson.

Tyler, or Wilson, was driving a cotton seed truck when he stopped the vehicle and stepped down directly in the path of an automobile coming up behind him. The driver of the car, W. T. Sherrill, was unable to stop in time to prevent the accident.

900 Ex-Fighters Qualify for Place in 'Mob' Scene

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Nine hundred ex-service men answering an advertisement in a morning newspaper for participants in a "mob" scene in a motion picture production, gave a convincing demonstration of their qualifications for the job when they mobbed Nathan Lipsom, inserter of the "ad," outside the hall at 145 East 103rd street, as the word spread that the advertisement was a fake to obtain a registration fee of $2.50 from each man.

Lipsom barricaded himself in the hall, which is generally used by the Harlem Tenant's League and Socialists of the district. The mob began battering at the door, but before it could be broken down police arrived in response to a telephone call from a resident of the vicinity. Lipsom was arrested on a charge of violating the law in inserting false advertisements in a newspaper.

PILOT, BLINDFOLDED, GUIDES U. S. DESTROYER THROUGH NARROW FIFTEEN-MILE CHANNEL

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—With the glass front of the bridge completely covered with heavy canvas, rendering him blind to all intents and purposes, Commander H. H. Norton, U. S. N., piloted the destroyer Semmes thru the narrow devious ways of Ambrose channel from the Ambrose light to Fort Lafayette, a distance of fifteen miles.

The only thing he had to guide him was the monotonous click of a few dots and dashes repeating over and over again a million times the one word N-A-V-Y. But as long as he heard it he knew he was in the right course.

Past the dangerous bend in the channel just off Roamer Shoals, where many a pilot has met disaster, Commander Norton guided the Semmes as straight as a die along the center of the ship's roadbed. Then, approaching Fort Lafayette, with hundreds of ships of all descriptions on every side he continued triumphantly on his sightless way.

The occasion was the first test by the government of the radio piloting cable system, the invention of Earl C. Hanson, a boyish, 28-year-old young man from Los Angeles. The test was arranged by Commander R. F. McConnell, in charge of the government's radio system, and was witnessed by a score of other naval officers, expert electricians and engineers. During the war there was much comment as to just how the warships were able to move through the mine-infested waters. Just recently it has become known that they operate by a system of audio-frequency sound waves. Young Mr. Hanson, who is connected with the navy department, decided that the idea could be made practical for guiding ships through narrow channels when fog rendered them useless and tied up all shipping.

The navy department thought so well of the idea that a year ago they took over Hanson's idea to complete its development. For months past they have been busy laying an insulated electric cable along the entire length of Ambrose channel. It requires 87,000 feet of cable.

Describing it. "What sort of a score is the Right Place?" inquired a guest. "Well," replied the landlord of the Pennia tavern, "I'll tell you. They call 'em gulluses." Kansas City Star.

JAMES ROUGH TREATED MRS. ROUGH ROUGH

By International News Service SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—James Rough was too rough to Mrs. Rough and because of his roughness Mrs. Rough now has a divorce.

The rough treatment of Mrs. Rough began shortly after her marriage to James Rough, importer and exporter, she told a judge in the divorce court here. She said that Mr. Rough was not rough when he adored the photograph of another woman. She declared that he sent her to Scotland, where her baby died, and on her return to this country he beat her.

DOCTORS USE CALOTABS FOR COLDS AND FLU

Influenza and Grippe, Like Ordinary Colds, Require Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors are warning the public that simple colds and mild cases of influenza often lead to pneumonia and other serious complications. They say that every cold should receive immediate attention and that the first step in the treatment is to make sure that the liver is active. For this purpose Calotabs, the perfected, nausealess calomel tablets are the surest, best and most agreeable laxative.

One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all, no salts, no nausea, and no upsetting of the digestion and appetite. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

For your protection, Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. All druggists recommend and guarantee Calotabs and are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with them.—(Adv.)

New Leprosy Cure May Also Abolish Tuberculosis

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Refined chaulmoogra oil which experts of the government public health service say has arrested the progress of leprosy is soon to be used by them in the fight against tuberculosis. The experiments with tubercular patients will be conducted in Hawaii.

Dr. J. T. McDonald, superintendent physician of the leprosy investigation station at Kahi in Honolulu, with Dr. A. L. Dean, chemist and president of the University of Hawaii, will start the fight against tuberculosis, at the same time continuing their work against leprosy.

No concrete use of the use of the chaulmoogra oil in tuberculosis cases has yet been reported to the headquarters of the public health service here, but from their investigations with tubercular bacilli isolated from a patient, Drs. McDonald and Dean have hopes of successful treatment of patients themselves.

Bacilli Are Cousins.
The bacilli of leprosy and tuberculosis according to government scientists, have been found to have similar characteristics, and the fatty acids of chaulmoogra oil seemingly have proved poisonous to the leprosy bacillus. This is the basis for the scientific hope that these acids likewise will be deadly to the germ of the "white plague."

Dr. McDonald has not yet made any formal report of his work with the tubercular germs to officials here, but unofficial reports from Honolulu quote him as saying that scientists at the University of California have discovered that the fatty acids of chaulmoogra oil are bactericidal to an acid-fat bacillus, in which class are the leprosy and tuberculosis bacilli. The inference, according to the doctor, is that what has been done to end the dread of leprosy may possibly be repeated to relieve the world of tuberculosis.

The public health service maintains a tubercular hospital in Hawaii separate from its leprosy stations, and the experiments with tuberculosis are to be conducted at the former. Health officials here refrain from any prediction of results, but express hope that chaulmoogra oil will prove a specific for curing tuberculosis.

Arts. L. Cartwright, recently appointed a justice of the peace in Hertfordshire, Eng., will sit on the same bench with her oil will prove a specific for curing tuberculosis.

Underworld District Chosen as Locate of Photoplay "The Cradle of Courage."

The unforgettable underworld district of San Francisco, known specifically as the "Barbary Coast," has been the locale for many a motion picture story, but never before, it is claimed, has it offered a more striking background than in "The Cradle of Courage." William S. Hart's new Paramount Picture, which comes to Temple theatre today.

Frederick Bradbury, who wrote the story from which the picture was adapted by Lambert Hillier, who also directed, is familiar with the haunts of the underworld in the Golden Gate city and has depicted faithfully the strange by-falls where the derelicts of the Pacific coast have their habit.

These scenes have likewise been wonderfully portrayed in the picture, and some of the exteriors and interiors are far above the average in motion picture settings. Mr. Hart has a virile role, which differs from his western types and proves his unmistakable versatility. As a reformed crook who turns policeman, the part portrayed by Mr. Hart offers him abundant opportunities for the display of his mimetic skill. The usual Hart thrills abound and the action does not drag for an instant. Ann Little is his leading woman.

OPERA HOUSE.

"The Week-End," which is having first runs to crowded houses all over the country now, is a story about real people. As you enjoy the character portrayals you find yourself naming people of your own acquaintance who are exactly like those on the screen. Margarita Fisher plays the winsome, free young American girl Vera Middleton, sparkling with wit and humor—and perhaps a bit spoiled. She enjoys the life without restraint, and can't help bubbling over with enthusiasm and kicking up her heels over such trifles as a tennis game, a new and alluringly becoming bathing suit or the prospect of a week-end party. And she thinks most conventions are quite useless, though warned again and again that her happy, devil-may-care attitude is doubtless causing her forbears to turn in their graves. But the restlessness of their respected bones doesn't worry her young life.

Playing at the Opera House last time today.

FOUND CARDUI GREAT BENEFIT

South Carolina Lady Suffered Until She Couldn't Stay Up Or Go Anywhere. Tells How Cardui Helped Her Get Well.

Batesburg, S. C.—In telling how she found relief from troubles that had caused her much suffering, Mrs. E. E. Oswald, of this place, says: "Each month I would begin to suffer with my back and head. My limbs would ache and I would chill. I wouldn't be able to stay up, no matter what I wanted to do, or where I wanted to go. My people tried giving me different medicines and teas and tonics, yet I didn't get any better.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I began to take it. I noticed it helped me. I kept it up. After a few months I didn't have any trouble. For about six months I used it, before...

"I found it was all-right, and from that day to this have never had any trouble at this time. I have taken it since a bottle or two in the winter, especially when I have been exposed, and would take a cold, for I consider it the best thing a woman can take to tone up the system, keep off nervousness, and increase the appetite. I certainly know it has been of great benefit to me."

If you are weak, nervous, or suffer from womanly troubles such as Mrs. Oswald mentions, take Cardui, the Woman's Tonic.

All good druggists sell Cardui.—Adv.

Rubber Shoes for Old Dobbin

New Non-Skid, Noiseless, Sparkless, Stylish Sandal for Old Gray Mare Will Replace Steel Footgear.

International News Service. AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Old Dobbin is to be gumshoed.

Yes, the old bay mare is going to have rubber soles for her tired, aching feet. Instead of clattering over the cobble stones with steel plated hoofs Old Dobbin soon will be stepping along like a quiet lady.

Her hoofs will be manieured for rubber horseshoes. The idea, which is to be developed on a very wide scale by the Firestone-Rubber company, was developed and patented by Phillip Rooney. It is figured enough rubber horseshoes, which fit in a steel shoulder, will be turned out to prevent a slump in the rubber business, which is now threatened by the break in the automobile market.

There are more than 63,000,000 Dobbins in the United States, some 890,000 of them in Ohio. So upholstery for all the Dobbins' feet—each Dobbin, you remember, having four feet—will be quite an undertaking.

A lot of the jolts and jars are to be taken out of the horse's life and the rubber shoes are guaranteed to be non-skid. They will be of all shapes and sizes, with fashionably broad toes and open heels—or barred, padded and welted as fancy may dictate.

And one point about these new shoes—old Dobbin will have to be taken to the chiroprapist only twice a month, instead of bi-weekly, as at present.

Charles Goodyear, it may be remembered, many years ago, experimented with rubber horseshoes, using a chicken as a tryout model. But the old hen wasn't a success.

But Rooney had an inspiration. It was a horseshoe constructed of a thin plate of steel and covered either partially or completely with vulcanized rubber. Since it is impossible to weld steel and rubber together, Rooney and a friend used a system of tying a hand-in-glove arrangement that worked out perfectly.

So rubber horseshoes will be on the market in sixty days.

The influence of literature will be far-reaching. No more will sparks be dashed from the flying rocks by the speeding horse's hoofs. The poet will simply say the steed went so fast his rubber shoes melted. And as for dramatics. Well when the hero dashes up madly to rescue or kidnap the heroine, as the case may be, the property man will be a golfer who bounces a few golf balls against the wall to denote the pounding of the horse's hoofs.

Truly a gentler era has come. Just how this is going to benefit the New York apartment dweller whose flat is next to the elevated, is not stated.

NEW PAJAMA SUIT FOR THE BOUDOIR

By ELOISE.

Pajamas are quite the smartest thing for boudoir wear. There are some stunning new models shown in many of the novelty shops and in the oriental stores. The colors are marvelous and the materials are gorgeous in texture and weave. Here is a gorgeous suit which is "comfy" as well as fashionable. Of course you might easily guess this bit of information, a movie actress bought the original of this pajama suit.

It is made of lustrous gold-satin trimmed with royal blue-broadened ribbon in a flower design. The trousers are rather short and loose and the coat is very long, making it truly oriental in style. The actress who owns the original uses the suit instead of a negligee or lounging robe, and pajamas really are neater and more attractive than many of the loose flowing robes. The youthful figure, however, is the only one which should attempt to wear them. For even in the privacy of one's boudoir one wants to look attractive and the stout figure in pajamas is decidedly unattractive.

COWBOY CLOTHES BECOME POPULAR IN SOUTH AMERICA

By Associated Press. GALVESTON, Oct. 15.—South America has gotten acquainted with the Middle West and the gauchos of the pampas have begun to order "cowboy clothes" from Chicago mail order houses, according to Ed Lewisohn, a "business scout" of a Chicago implement concern. He has just arrived here from a tour of investigation of Brazil, the Argentine Republic, Chile and several other Latin American countries.

It was recently announced that William of Hohenzollern, former German Emperor, has written a new will.

An idea of the activities of the guardsmen here may be obtained from a bulletin issued to the troops by General Jacob F. Walters who was in command during the term of martial law. According to the bulletin the soldiers who served as police officers in Galveston made 904 arrests during their stay in the city. The provost court, established to take over the duties of the civil corporation court, tried 590 cases. Seventy-five cases were turned over to the federal authorities, 216 cases were turned over to state authorities and three cases to juvenile officials.

The governments which are not members of the League of Nations are China, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey, Russia, Mexico and the United States.

REMEMBER MEAT WAGON IN COUNTRY? HERE'S CITY SUCCESSOR

The new butcher shop on wheels.

Before jitneys and good roads made it possible for farmers to "get to town" oftener than once in a blue moon, the village butcher used to send his meat wagon into the country once a week to peddle along the road. Now we have the same idea in the city. To save the housewife time and energy an enterprising butcher in the east has put his shop on an auto truck and goes from house to house with it. He makes daily trips, however. His wagon is a very sanitary affair.

the sacred Buddhist city of Urga. Shortly afterward the regular communication by automobile was established across the desert.

To-day automobiles owned by business establishments and by the Chinese government made the trip from Kalgan to the stonogian capital in from three to five days, following the line of telegraph poles across the desert. Three small inns and numerous gasoline stations have been established along the route, and the "Living God" of Urga, highest of the Buddhist priests of Mongolia, is himself the proud owner of an American motor car.

From Urga the route to Siberia is over the low ranges of the Kentei mountains. The usual method of travel is by the Russian conveyance known as a "tarantass," a vehicle not unlike the old American stage coach. The country between Urga and Kiakhta is infested by native bandits and with Chinese brigands who have deserted from the Chinese and Cossack armies and taken to the free life of the hills.

Kiakhta and Troitzkosavsk on the Siberian side of the boundary line, with the Chinese city of Mi-ma-sen, form the once prosperous trade center of southern Siberia. In the days of great commercial activity "tea millionaires," men who made fortunes from one successful caravan trip from the south, were as numerous as the war millionaires of today.

The glory of Kiakhta, however, like that of the caravan owners of former days, has passed during the years of revolution and civil war in Siberia, and life in the border city is as it is in the other parts of Siberia, a daily struggle for the fundamental necessities of life, food and clothing.

A day's trip down the swift-flowing Selenga river takes the traveler to Verkhne-Udinsk, most westerly headquarters of American troops of the recent Siberian expedition, and where travel over the Trans-Siberian railway into Russia proper again is possible.

WANTS NATIONS LEAGUE TO PROHIBIT KILLING OF HORSES IN BULL RING

MADRID, Oct. 15.—The practice of riding horses into the bull-ring to be mutilated and tortured by maddened bulls without a chance of escape or opportunity to avoid attack, is denounced by Ramon Gomez de la Serna in La Tribuna. The writer argues that the horse suffers agony from the time he enters the ring blindfolded, for he scents the bull which he cannot see and trembles and perspires with fear.

Senor de la Serna remarks that such a method of putting a horse to death is unworthy of human dignity and self-esteem. He declares some bull-fighters feel that such a cruelty is unnecessary and one of them, Minuto, even invented armored protection for the picadors' horses, although this proved futile, as the infuriated bull always found a weak spot in the cuirass.

The author concludes that the League of Nations would have done well to have taken the matter up.

DOORKEYS UNNECESSARY IN 'RED' SCHEME OF LIFE

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Door keys are considered unnecessary in the bolshevik scheme of life in Russia. Only privileged persons are supposed to possess them.

When the Associated Press Correspondent who recently crossed Russia asked for a doorkey in one of the nationalized hotels at Omsk he was informed by the hotel "commissar," formerly the owner that under the red regime doors are not supposed to be bolted.

An appeal to the Omsk bolshevik commandant resulted in the American correspondent obtaining an official document granting him a key and the privilege of locking the door of his room.

Bodies of 6,000 American soldiers thus far have been sent home from England, Scotland, Italy and the interior of France.

Associated Press Correspondent Gives Glimpse Into Gobi Desert and Little Known Trade Marts of Asia

LONDON, Oct. 15.—An Old-World caravan route north from Peking, over mountains, past the ancient wall of China and across the 700-mile desert of Gobi and through the foothills of the eastern Altai mountains or down the Selenga river to Verkhne-Udinsk is the only comparatively free way into Siberia and Russia from the Far East. It is the route taken by an Associated Press correspondent in a recent trip across Russia.

Although involving great difficulties in travel, the cross-country trip is to be preferred to the Trans-Siberian railway zone through northeastern Manchuria, for there factional strife between Russian forces—Cossacks, peasant revolutionists, freebooters and bandit chiefs—has kept the country in a state of constant unrest since the comparatively orderly state of affairs which ended with Admiral Kol-chak's complete downfall during the fall of 1919.

From Peking the traveler may go by train to Kalgan, 100 miles northwest of the Chinese capital. Kalgan is the great trade mart of north China. There the camel caravans from Urga, across the Great Gobi desert, discharge their loads of wool and furs from the north, and reload with tea for the nomadic desert tribes of Mongolia and for Siberia. Before the decline of trade with Russia, camel caravans numbering thousands in each left Kalgan weekly for the month trip across the desert. Caravans numbering several hundreds of camels in each continue to make the trip. In crossing the desert the traveler passes several of these slowly moving caravans.

Autos Displace Camels. But twentieth century commercial progress and American business methods have entered into competition with the camel carriers across the desert. In 1917 an American business man in Kalgan drove a small American automobile up the steep Kalgan pass to the level of the Mongolian plateau, across the Gobi desert and into

Exquisite Tortures Planned by Moslah for Fall Ceremonial

Special to The Times.
FORT WORTH, Oct. 15.—With only one month intervening until Moslah Temple's big fall ceremonial, which will be held at Moslah's Mosque on Lake Worth, Saturday, November 13, all committees are hard at work to make this ceremonial one long to be remembered by the Nobles and Novices.

An entire new show has been provided from beginning to end and the novices are assured of more and varied tortures than ever before attempted at any Shrine ceremonial.

Special entertainment has been provided for the ladies who accompany the visiting nobles and novices, among which are the registration of the ladies at the Metropolitan hotel from 9 until noon, Saturday, Nov. 13, when they will be guests of Moslah Temple at a dinner at that hotel, after which they will also be guests at a theatre party in the afternoon. A special bill is being arranged especially for the occasion.

The ceremonial for the nobles and ladies will open Friday evening, Nov. 12, when the dance and reception at the Mosque will be held. All novices and their ladies who register will also be eligible to attend the dance. The ceremonial proper will commence with the registration of the novices from 8 until 11 a. m., Saturday, Nov. 13, when the dress suit parade will be held, heading south on Houston and returning north on Main street. Immediately thereafter autos will leave from Second and Main streets for the mosque.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspirinal, Medicated with Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While you Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Adv.

where luncheon will be served all during the afternoon. The ceremonial will open at 2 p. m. with the first section and will be followed at 3 p. m. by the second section.

An entire new array of stunts such as have never been placed on public view before have been arranged for the entertainment of the nobility and it is confidently expected that the class for the November ceremonial will number over 300.

Immediately after the ceremonial the nobility will be the guests of Moslah Temple at the Majestic theatre at the first show, which starts at 7 p. m., which will give all the nobles time to catch early trains the same evening, if they desire.

Reduced railroad rates on the certificate plan, have been granted and all nobles and novices attending the ceremonial are urged to procure a certificate from their railroad agent when purchasing the ticket, that they may be able to get the benefit of the half fare for the return trip.

Never before has any temple in Texas ever attempted to stage a ceremonial in such elaborate style and tried to furnish as much entertainment as is being furnished on this occasion by Moslah Temple.

Of the two reasons given by the many American ex-soldiers for returning to France is the excuse of "marrying French girls" is heard oftenest. The other reason is that "they want to be somewhere they can buy a drink."

SUSPENDED SENTENCES GIVEN ON GUILTY PLEAS FOR BURGLARY, FORGERY

Special to The Times.
EASTLAND, Oct. 15.—While the court was waiting for other jurors to be summoned in the second Mims' case, the state called and allowed pleas of guilty against the following defendants:

Clarence Parin, L. F. Schel and Herbert Sanders each plead guilty to the robbery of Fred Rae's house with intent to take personal property therefrom, and the jury gave them five-year suspended sentences.

 W. G. Kelly plead guilty to forgery of a check on the Farmers & Merchants State Bank of Ranger for $11.50 and the jury gave him a two-year suspended sentence.

CHARGE FAIR CO-EDS "VAMP" PROFESSORS

By Associated Press.
BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 14.—Lip sticks, mobile eyes and winning ways have supplanted the fountain pen, midnight oil lamp and text books and California girls, noted for their beauty, are winning their class marks at the University of California with these substitutes.

This charges the Daily California, the student paper at the big school. The paper declares that "certain of our un-bearably instructors are still susceptible to feminine charms," and adds that the co-eds, the sorority sisters, are aware of this fact. And because of their famed beauty the California girls are easily winning their degrees. The student paper has opened a vigorous campaign against the "vamping" of the professors.

Approved by the war department headstones of a definite type are to be erected over the graves of more than 25,000 American soldiers buried in national cemeteries in Europe. The design will be uniform, irrespective of rank, and no other kind of stone will be permitted.

POLICE PUZZLED OVER DISPOSAL OF TEXAS GIRL WHO IS DRIVEN TO CRIME BY CRAVING FOR MORPHINE

By International News Service

BILLINGS, Mont., Oct. 15.—A comparatively young woman, less than thirty years of age, and still bearing traces of the beauty of younger and happier years, is being held here by police on the charge of passing worthless checks on hotels and business houses. She gives her name as Nora Bryn. Letters and newspaper clippings which she carries indicate that at one time she was a queen of the turf at some of the famous betting rings in Texas and Mexico, as well as Eastern cities where the sport of kings is still enjoyed.

Nora Bryn is not her real name. She is evidently from a good family and has enjoyed all the environments of a luxurious home and the homage men of wealth bestow upon a favorite. From the story of her past it develops that she was educated in a convent at Corpus Christi, Texas, and that her love for the excitement of the racetrack led her from the narrow path her friends and relatives had selected for her. A hopeless victim of the drug habit, she relates the story of her downfall. She claims she was divorced from the bookmaker, whose name she bears, after frequent quarrels with him, in one of which he shot her inflicting a painful, but not serious wound. In the hospital the surgeons administered morphia to deaden the pain, and later she tried the same antidote when she was injured in a horse race. From that time she became a victim of the drug and the question before the authorities is whether she be sent to the state asylum at Warm Springs or the penitentiary for passing worthless checks. She makes no denial of either charge.

The woman has attracted considerable attention and sympathy here, and her case is considered a hopeless one. She craves drugs to such an extent that on a previous occasion when arrested she procured an indelible pencil, shaved it, and put the powder in water and then injected the solution into her arm. The composition used in indelible pencils is said to contain arsenic and from this the woman got some little satisfaction. The poison in it, however, caused a tumor on her arm which she still carries.

Efforts to break up a drug ring in this city and locality have proved partly successful and the police feel that they have driven away at least the ringleaders of a gang spread throughout the State of Montana. Many raids and investigations have been made of late in which was formerly a segregated section of the city and a considerable quantity of "hooh" and opium is said to have been discovered.

EXCESS WOOL PROFITS RETURNED TO GROWERS BY MARKET BUREAU

Special to The Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—Distribution of excess profits made by dealers who handled the wool clip in 1918 under regulations of the War Industries Board is being made by the United States Department of Agriculture to some 100,000 wool growers, many of them in West Texas. It was announced today. It is estimated by the Bureau of Markets which has charge of making the refund from the dealers to the growers that the total amount of such excess profits was more than $1,000,000, of which approximately $400,000 has been turned over to the bureau for distribution.
