DEATH TAKES HEAVY TOLL BY BIG FIRES

New Taxation Amendment To Be Voted Upon Soon

GAS AND AUTO LICENSE UP IN SENATE RIGHT NOW

Election Will Be Held On the First Monday In August For Law

By United Press.
AUSTIN, March 10.—The house today by a vote of 118 to 2 concurred in the senate amendment to the Stevenson house joint resolution, purposing an amendment to the constitution, authorizing the legislature to adopt a new method of state taxation. The question is to be submitted to the Texas voters, on the first Monday in August of this year.

Senate and house adopted free conference committee reports on the senate bill, increasing the salaries of the judges of the supreme court, court of criminal appeals, courts of civil appeals, commission of appeals, and district courts.

Accept Trophies.
The house adopted the senate concurrent resolution accepting the war department's Sherman war trophies, urging Herbert Hoover to attend the annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, to be held at Tyler, April 20 and 21.

The house finally passed the house bill by Representative Holder of Dallas, authorizing cities of 12,000 population or over to make benefit assessment against surrounding property owners of lands condemned for parks and pleasure grounds.

The senate has set for special order at 3 p. m. today the house gasoline tax and automobile registration license bills.

The house bill provides for a three-cent gasoline tax, but the senate is to consider an amendment by its state affairs committee reducing the tax to two cents, the present tax is one cent.

Tax Remission.
The house this morning began consideration of the senate bill by Senator R. H. Ford for tax remission for flood control work in the Trinity river district. This bill and two other senate bills, providing for tax remission in Dallas county and Starr county have been held by Attorney General Claude Polard to be unconstitutional.

EASTLAND COUNTY ROTARIANS AND ROTARY ANNS HEAR GREAT ADDRESS ON SPIRIT OF ROTARY

By RENA B. CAMPBELL.
Ranger Rotarians gave Cisco and Eastland Rotarians and their Rotary Anns the glad hand last night at an inter-city meet of Eastland county Rotary clubs, held at the Gholson Hotel, Ranger, welcoming some one hundred and twenty-five guests.

President John "Baldy" Thurman of the Ranger Rotary club was toastmaster and paid a tribute to the Rotary Anns as the "opening gun" in his address of welcome. Murphy and Blanchard's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion and "The Bunch" sang some Rotary songs. Rev. W. H. Johnson, pronounced the invocation and then the toastmaster insisted that everyone be introduced. The Rotary Anns present introduced their husbands, giving their names, classification and Rotary nicknames.

Andy Anderson, called "Windy," assured those present that he was not a windjammer, but just an ordinary casing puller, and then started in to answer some questions that had been turned in to him by the Rotary Anns, took a rap at Rabbi Merfeld, by telling a joke on how to treat babies, and told the why of two Rotarians running for mayor of Ranger, then he got down to real serious business and explained the workings of Rotary, the emblem, the obligations and the club's motto. "He profits most who serves best."

Rev. Bruce Boney.
The John Doe of Cisco whose name appeared on the program in that style turned out to be Rev. Bruce Boney, who said that he felt that Mr.

DEATH VICTOR STRUGGLE WITH LOYAL FRIENDS

By United Press.
EVANSTON, Ill., March 11.—Death won its struggle against loyal loving hands that for more than 108 hours "pumped" borrowed life into the body of Albert Frick, the twenty-two years old salesman, who would have died last Sunday but for the constant rhythmic pressure on his lungs applied by 57 of his co-workers and friends working day and night in fifteen minute shifts. Frick succumbed at 10:20 o'clock last night.

During the time his friends were working on him, Frick gasped out jokes with them. He gasped out answers to questions propounded to him. Landry's paralysis of which Frick was a victim is a peculiar disease and attacks young folks exclusively.

BANDITS BLOW UP TWO AUTOS GET $102,000

Five Men Are Injured Two Fatally in Bold Pennsylvania Robbery

By United Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 11.—Five men were injured, two probably fatally this afternoon when nine bandits dynamited two armored pay cars of the Brink's Express company, carrying the payroll of the Pittsburgh Terminal company, and escaped with $102,000.

Two charges of dynamite had been buried in the roadway over which the pay cars passed and were discharged from a battery situated about 100 yards from the road.

The charges placed 60 feet apart in the road, dug holes of sufficient depth to bury the armored cars.

Seizing the sacks containing the money the bandits entered a touring car bearing a Pennsylvania license and disappeared in the direction of Liberty, Pa.

The money was a 15-day payroll for mines numbers 4, 7 and 8, of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company.

The trucks which originally carried in the neighborhood of $400,000, had completed part of the payroll rounds when they were dynamited.

The bandits apparently familiar with the operation of the armored car, had placed the charges in strategic points and had concealed their battery behind a fallen tree hidden from view of the road.

EARTHQUAKE CASUALTIES REACH 9000

By United Press.
TOKIO, March 11.—The casualty list in the southern Japan earthquake took a jump when communication was restored to the isolated interior points.

In the entire district rocked by the quake, there were more than 9,000 known casualties, and the number probably will exceed 10,000.

In northern Tango province alone, 3,000 are known to be dead. Many persons were found dead on isolated farms in the rural districts. Scores apparently had died of exposure.

LONDON, March 11.—Any temporary hospitals in which earthquake victims were being sheltered, were smashed and scattered by a gale last night, the Evening News Tokio correspondent reported today and the official death list, he said, had risen approximately to 4,000.

It was estimated, according to the dispatch, that 6,000 people had been injured.

Cleveland is known to be looking hopefully to having the republican national convention there again in 1928. The 1924 convention was run smoothly in Cleveland and various moves are under way, it is understood, to have the convention return there next year.

Chicago is always a possibility. Facilities are sufficient here to care for the conventions and it is pointed out that neither party has a sufficiently strong control of the city to make it classified as either a republican or democratic city.

The coliseum in Chicago has had several national conventions, the last of which nominated the late President Harding. No concerted moves have been started to bring the convention here this year but Chicago always has been receptive to the conventions.

St. Louis.
St. Louis has been mentioned as a possibility for the democratic national convention. It has been a number of years since a national convention was held in St. Louis despite the fact that facilities are plentiful there for the convention. The coliseum in St. Louis is of sufficient size to house the delegates and hotel facilities are plentiful.

Another city often mentioned of late is Kansas City as the scene of the democratic national convention for 1928. This is probably motivated by Reed backers as the Missouri senator's home is in Kansas City and it has always been considered a democratic city. Convention hall in Kansas City is of sufficient size to house either of the conventions, and hotel facilities have been built up within the past three years.

In neither of the latter two cities has there been any concrete mention of the 1928 conventions.

The sentiment in the middle-west is more or less crystallized against an eastern convention in 1928. Through the corn belt area the sentiment has turned against the east through failure of farm relief.

Many middle western democrats are against having the democratic convention in the east, fearing a repetition of the 1924 convention at Madison Square Garden in New York. Middle western democrats, however, have not been active save in Missouri where several small Reed booms have started.

14 PERSONS ARE VICTIMS OF HOLOCAUSTS; KEROSENE EXPLOSION WIPES OUT SIX

Several Are Injured In An Attempt to Escape The Flames by Leaping

By United Press.
BROWNS MILLS, N. J., Mar. 11.—A laborer and five of his seven children were burned to death in his home today.

William Stevenson poured kerosene in the kitchen range, an explosion followed and the house went up in flames.

Three members of the family, Mrs. Stevenson and two of the children escaped. Clara, 20 years old, who jumped from the second story, broke both hips and was expected to die. Most of the Stevenson household were asleep when the eldest daughter, Clara, went downstairs to heat a nursing bottle for the infant, Lillian, about 1 o'clock in the morning.

Clara had a difficult time in heating the bottle on the coal range. She poured kerosene in the stove and the explosion followed.

Stevenson and his daughter were enveloped in flames, but they thought only of each other and the father tried to save the daughter while she trying to help him. Stevenson then ran for the stairs to rescue his family but collapsed.

Clara succeeded in getting up stairs but was overcome by smoke and struggled to the window for air. She leaned out, screaming for aid and then jumped. She was taken to a hospital, but was not expected to live.

Only One Escapes And Saves Himself

SALTSBURG, Pa., March 11.—An entire family of seven persons, and another mother and one child, were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of Clarence Marsh, in Tunnelton.

Only one occupant of the house, Harry Montgomery, escaped with his life. He leaped from a window to save himself.

The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marsh and five children; Mrs. Harry Montgomery and one child.

The fire followed the funeral yesterday of a sister to Mrs. Marsh. It started about 1 a. m., and had gained such headway when discovered, that it was impossible to rescue any of the victims trapped in the home.

VARE CLAIMS REED PROBE BODY DEAD

By United Press.
PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Senator-elect William S. Vare, Pennsylvania, today wrote Senator James A. Reed, democrat, Missouri, that he considered the speech made by Reed in the Missouri senate a communique to investigate the senate primary elections as extinct.

Vare pointed out in his letter that failure of congress to extend the life and authority of the committee automatically causes its abolition, and therefore such a group is no longer to continue its investigation. Vare said he would later demand that the regular committee on privileges and elections make a recount of the last Pennsylvania senatorial election in November, 1926.

DURING the rain and electrical storm in Ranger last night, the home of W. L. Keith, at 2107 Desdemona boulevard, Ranger, was struck by lightning. The bolt came through the southwest corner of the house, knocked a hole in the wall, and also knocked out a window casing, blew the electric fuses, and threw splintered wood all over the room it entered.

Mr. Keith said that he did not know that the house had been hit until sometime after it happened. He smelled an odor like a burning candle and went into that room, to find out what was burning. It was then that he discovered that the house had been struck by lightning.

BIBLE THOUGHTS
 The Words of God—The words of the Lord are pure words; As silver tried in a furnace on the earth, Purified seven times, Psalm 12:6.
 Prayer—May Thy Word, O Lord, ever be a lamp to our feet and a light to our path.

RELIGIOUS TOLERATION.
 Great progress is being made these days in disseminating the doctrine of allowing one to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. A better feeling is being planted in the breasts of the people since the reaction of a few years ago when religious persecution was everywhere shown. When religious bigotry was taught by secret orders, one especially flaunting the flag of persecution and judging a man's patriotism by his religion.

The world is learning how to give and take. Progress is being made in all lines of endeavor and especially in toleration of religion. Men are beginning to realize that there is too much good in all religions for one to find fault with the other fellow. A man's religious belief is largely due to the environments of the home and other things. A man's religion is his philosophy of life.

Christians now are beginning to have a better understanding of the Jew. Its not an uncommon thing to see a Jewish rabbi in a Protestant pulpit and see a Protestant preacher in the pulpit of the temple.

The late world war had a lot to do in helping to bring about this feeling. A Jewish rabbi has been known to give spiritual ministrations to a dying Catholic on the battlefields of France during the war. The Jewish boy and Christian boy buddied together in the trenches and because of that they are now having a better understanding. More religious tolerance should be practiced because it brings about the fulfillment of the prophecy that the time will come when man shall recognize man as his brother.

Eastland County Rotarians Hear Great Address on Rotary

with the spirit manifested by the three Rotary clubs of Eastland county, and explained why Rotary clubs were different from other clubs, saying that Rotary Anns should be proud and thankful that their husbands were honored by membership in the club because admission was based on the fact of his ideal of his own profession.

"Rotaryism stands out because it is represented by business and professional men, who live up the highest ideals of Rotaryism. Rotary makes men better husbands, for a man who is fit to be a member of a Rotary club lives on the same free, frank basis with she who shares his fortune," the speaker said.

"Rotary makes us know ourselves. It makes us more reverent to our parents and draws us closer to our children. The organization deals with boys, but I can destroy the effect of every dollar spent for boys' work with the influence of one unscrupulous girl, so we must give our attention to girls as well as boys, so that each of them may feel the effect of Rotaryism."

"Service above self" or "He profits most who serves best," two of the basic principles of Rotaryism were then touched on by Dr. Merfield who said that the profits of life can only be realized by those who turn the effect away from themselves and let it flow back into society, and that there was nothing greater than to live such a philosophy. He said that back in 1905, when Paul Harris, with five men, organized the first Rotary club, and explained its basic principles, he said that one day it would be a tremendous organization and that now Rotary is in thirty-eight countries of the world.

"The world has profited from Rotary. We need to bring women and men into contact with Rotary and to bring one self into full appreciation of Rotary in order to be Rotary missionaries. The philosophy of Rotary is uplifting. It teaches brotherhood, charity and benevolence, and its teachings are not of sounding brass or tinkling cymbals."

Dr. Merfield's wonderfully muted voice and the beauty of his talk held the assembly in breathless interest and was pronounced one of the best talks ever heard at an inter-city meet.

The banquet tables were arranged on the mezzanine floor and a four-course dinner, served by the hotel caterers, formed a most pleasing and substantial part of the evening's entertainment. Following the program, a general get-acquainted half hour was held with the Rotarians and Rotary Anns from the three cities again renewing their friendships and expressing their appreciation of the inter-city meet of last evening. Each city was well represented.

The spirit is willing—but deliver us from the man who has gone in for both radio and golf.

New Minister Proves Winner in Every Way

The New Minister, produced at the Liberty theatre, Ranger, last night, by Mrs. Walter Harwell's circle of the Missionary society of the Methodist church, was a splendid success and was another feather in the caps of Mrs. Marion F. Peters and Mrs. J. M. Edwards, the directors. The New Minister was not only a success from the standpoint of presentation, but was a financial success as well, as the net proceeds will run over $150. The music committee of the church, was composed of Dr. Clyde Craig, B. A. Tunnel, and J. T. Killingsworth and the antics of "Doc" Craig and his fellow commiteemen threw the audience into paroxysms of laughter.

Mrs. J. P. Warren playing Mrs. August Wind, displayed all of the supposed qualifications of the purported "town gossip" portraying the part to perfection, telling the new minister, M. F. Peters, her choice tid-bits of gossip, and bringing round after round of laughter from the audience.

Mrs. Marion F. Peters, played "Daisy" and carried the part with her usual professional air, and her song number was beautiful, as was that by Mrs. W. R. LaPrelle, who was president of the Ladies Aid society.

The costumes of the old maids, Mmes. Walter Harwell, Dan Parcell, Roy Jameson, J. M. Edwards, J. C. Pierson and Misses Helen Howdeshell and Mary Dalmont, were interesting study in antiques some of them dating back to y-e-olden days, before corsets were marked or discarded and the Ladies Aid society, was composed of Mmes. R. W. LaPrelle, J. F. Warren, Lena High, A. R. Matthews, J. M. Edwards and Miss Mary Dalmont. J. M. Edwards was Professor Top-Note and leader of the choir; Jack Galloway was the baritone, and J. F. Warren was the vil-lare cut-up. Ed Dixon was a splendid sexton and Miss Nell Tibbels was the never weary organist or pianist in this case.

Gus Coleman, Ray Judia and Mrs. Watt gave some special musical numbers that were greatly enjoyed and there was music galore, as the choir broke into song, not harmony, quite often and Crescendo B. Plat, Hezekiah P. Sharp and Doc Hoosick, sang with all the rhythm their names imply. Then there was the sextons' chorus, the old maid' laments and the grand finale "The New Minister."

This vegetable compound contains such well-known roots and herbs as Blessed Thistle, Blue Cohosh Root, Squaw Vine, Life Root Plant, Helonias Root, Star Grass, Cramp Bark, etc., which your family physician will tell you have been recognized for years for their properties in building up and strengthening women.

Mrs. Ethel Allen, who lives at 3201 Nussfenger Ave., in Dallas, Texas, says, "I don't know what I would do without St. Joseph's G. F. P. I was terribly run-down when I started using this medicine; but now I feel dandy. I have plenty of strength to do my housework and go out with my friends, too."

Women have used St. Joseph's G.F.P. for over 50 years!

Father Foulkes Delivers Sermon Final Judgment

Another rapt audience heard a telling sermon on the general judgment at the mission service held at 8 o'clock at St. Rita's Catholic church being conducted by the Jesuit, D. J. Foulkes. His flowing language, his telling contrasts, his pointed paragraphs held his hearers ravished as he carried them along to a powerful climax—the grand finale wherein time is merged into eternity. Tonight at the same hour he will give one of his best sermons on the mercy of God under the title, "The Rift in the Clouds." The children's mission was brought to a close at the 8 o'clock mass this morning with holy communion and the renewal of baptismal vows. It was fittingly closed with the papal blessing.

The following excerpts from last night's lecture were the high lights in this powerful sermon:

"The proudest moment in the life of a soldier is the one, when after the battle, cited for extraordinary heroism, he is called before his general to receive the decoration that spells noble valor. Cross or medal or bit of ribbon, it is his most cherished treasure, and is handed down even to generations as yet unborn, as a precious heirloom. The mere sight of it, in after years, recalls all the watchful waiting, when the roaring guns, preparing the way, belched forth their fiery death and rocked the countryside. Then came the order to get ready and feeling his trusty weapon to see that all was well, how anxiously he awaited the word to "go over the top" and dash for the enemy. There was the rain of the barrage curtain shielding the advance, it ceased—and lo! the hour for which this hero had trained, the hour for which he had dreamed! He espied through the smoke of the fray, his country's flag fluttering defiantly to the breeze, he hears above the rattle of the battle the martial strains of the warrior's song, and there a vision of anxious faces, the pleading voice and the encouraging smile of the loved ones at home.

"Up boys, and at them"—Ah, that melee— Cannon to the right of them, Cannon to the left of them, Volleyed and thundered!

Now they are in the thick of the fray—bullets whistle and shriek—cold steel meets cold steel. And the yells of the warriors, the cries of the wounded, the groans of the dying, the stiffened bodies of the slain. But through their blood he wades, and falters not! On he dashes in the thickest of the fray. Not a bullet left, his bayonet broken in the body of his antagonist, he wields his empty gun fiendishly, while around him are piled the dead. And lo! the objective, the crest of the hill is won! Yonder is the flag of his country, torn and tattered it is true but floating triumphantly.

A Word Picture of Soldier on Death-Bed.

"There is another scene, the counterpart of the one we have essayed to describe. I see a soldier on his death-bed. O look! Quivering lips, eyes vivid, burning, unnatural in their steady glare, a face on which is painted an agony of loneliness, unspeakable despair. The once strong arms clutch at the vacant air, drops of sweat stand on the brow—the man is dying. He sees again his native town, there is the church in which he knelt as a child. There the green on which he played as a boy, there the flag he once loved, and here he is dying the death of a traitor. O, that cursed day, when listening to the tempting offer of a wily enemy, he had betrayed his country and sold his honor. He looks, and there is his native land, the very babes in their cradles rise. Their tiny hands and curse him. The graves in the church yard shrink from his footsteps and the flag that never knew dishonor rains a baptism of blood upon his head.

"Such was the death of an American patriot, the traitor, Benedict

Arnold, who died an outcast in a rude garret in one of the loneliest suburbs of the city of London.

"There will be a day, the day of the grand Review, when we will witness this double scene. The morning after the battle, the reveille echoes o'er the world, the roll call is heard. Arise, ye, dead, stand before your General-in-Chief, your Leader and King—Christ Jesus.

"This is a fact no Christian soldier can gainsay or deny. In numberless places of Holy Writ, the book of white and gold, we are told that we must appear before the King to give an account of our stewardship, and of our behaviour in the day of battle. It is appointed for all men once to die, and then, the Judgment." Heb. 9-27.

What are you giving up for Lent? Just look what Mr. Doherty parted with.

This Negro Has No Appetite To Consume Food?

By United Press.
WELLINGTON, Kan., March 7.—The biggest thing about John Horton, local negro, is his appetite. With the recent bringing to light of certain coffee drinking champions, Wellington puts forward old John, champion gormand.

John lives in Wellington, a rail road center, by what he eats and bets that he can eat. Incredulous travelers are his victims.

Local records recite the following bets made and won by John, as to how much he could eat at one sitting, and his resting of the difficult feats:

Fourteen two-pound spring chickens (easy).
One dozen lemons without sugar (hard).
Eleven and one-half dozen eggs (nominal).
Two cases of soda water (easiest).
Twenty-seven custard pies (difficult).
Three gallons of water (satisfied).
Ten pounds of raw beef (no comment).

Horton doesn't stop there, and the town will vouch for the whole list. In addition he will wager he can eat two bushels of ripe apples, a stalk of bananas, a 40-pound watermelon (rind, too) or the hearts of a wagon-load of melons.

Horton's only stumbling block was an attempt to eat a quart of brick mason's cement. He became sick. The negro is six feet tall, muscular and will eat anything for a $10 bill.

LONDON.—Spring and summer fashions will see a new style in fantastic wigs to cover the deficiencies of the shingle while wearing the new wide transparent hats.

Supporters of the new style argue that women are beginning to feel the lack of distinguishing hair styles in the evening, and that the shingle, however comfortable, is incapable of much variation in dressing the hair.

Flying And Sailing Yacht Is Perfected

By United Press.
BERLIN.—A flying yacht is the latest innovation to be marketed by the Rohrbach Metal Aeroplane Co. During recent test-journeys, spectators were amazed to see a schooner-like conveyance, rigged with duralumin masts and removable duralumin masts, suddenly dismantle and transformed into a flying-machine, rising from the water and soaring beyond the horizon.

The new winged sailing craft is equipped with all necessary aviation instruments, altimeter, tachometer, clinometer and compass and in contrast to other types which are generally provided with main and reserve control, the Rohrbach flying boat supplies a fixed individual control for each of the two pilots.

Besides masts and sails, the sea equipment of the flying vessel consists of ground anchor, drift anchor, ropes and swimming jackets.

In order to avoid the big expense for large slipways commonly needed for aeroplanes, a special type of beach trolley has been designed and constructed for the Rohrbach flying yacht. This contrivance comprises a

OUT-DOOR MEN CALL FOR RICE

"Give us rice," they order the cooks at lumber camps, at cattle ranches, at almost any place where men are engaged in manual labor.

These out-door workers know that rice gives them plenty of nourishment, that it keeps their stomachs regulated.

In Comet Rice are protein, fat, carbohydrates and minerals, in proper quantities to sustain the most strenuous worker and keep his body running like clock-work. Because Comet Rice is so clean that it needs no washing, the full strength of these valuable elements is preserved.

Comet Rice, with milk and fruit, makes the desirable balanced ration. But you can prepare it in countless other ways in which you get its full food value. A new recipe booklet will be sent by Comet Rice, 57 Laight street, Dept. 219F, New York, upon receipt of a two-cent stamp.

pair of floating wheels fitted to the wings of the machine. The boat is thus capable of "taxying" under its own power on land and water.

Comfortably upholstered arm-chairs, and receptacles for baggage are fitted above the seats. All passengers face forward in the direction of flight. A wide aisle between the rows of seats ensures commodious walking along the entire cabin-length. Strap-hangers are fastened to the ceiling as a convenience for passengers leaving their seats, and safety straps are provided for each chair. A lavatory is adjoined to the stern of the cabin.

Danger from fire on the flying yacht is reduced to a minimum through the all-metal construction. The machine can easily be flown even on fifty percent of the engine output. Failure of both engines conjures up no serious peril on water, as the sailing equipment provides a substitute motive force.

Any two compartments can be flooded without causing the vessel to sink; the boat and floats are supplied with water-tight bulkheads and the doors of the bulkheads are equipped with a quickclosing device.

The senate quit busting and went to filibustering. Maybe the session of congress just closed could be appropriately called a bust. Webster says a filibuster is an attempt to delay legislation by "dilatatory motions or other artifices." The voters will be glad to know they've sent dilators to Washington instead of legislators.

One senator hid in the cloak-room so long that another who came in for his coat handed him a dime and asked for a brush. No wonder the vaudeville houses in Washington don't do well. It's too bad the senators haven't bicycles. They could stage a six-day race and make expenses.

WASHINGTON HAS HIGH HOPES FOR PENNANT

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON.—With the addition of Tris Speaker, Manager Bucky Harris believes his Washington Senators are destined for the top rung of the American League ladder this year.

Harris has fortified his pitching staff with several promising youngsters to alternate with the veterans, Walter Johnson and Stan Coveleskie, and looks to Speaker for the needed batting punch to give the Capital City another championship combination.

Harris believes the acquisition of Speaker will give the Senators the best outfield combination in the league. He will take care of the center garden, flanked in left field by "Goose" Goslin and in right by Sam Rice. All are 300 hitters and are not outmatched by any other trio in the league.

Speaker's face will probably be the only new one in the Senators' lineup when the season opens. Harris plans to begin the campaign with the same infield as last year. Judge will be at first base, Harris himself at second, young Buddy Meyer at short-stop and Bluege at the far corner, with Rule and Fate alternating as backstop.

Weak at Short

The only weak spot in the infield is at short where Meyer will start his second big league campaign. Harris is optimistic over Meyer's play this year and holds high hopes that he will continue the brilliancy both at bat and afield, which marked his work at the close of last season.

Meyer came to the Senators last year after a serious case of blood poisoning and was slow getting started. Harris gambled with him in the early season and finally shunted him to the bench for the veteran Peckinpaugh, who has been traded to the White Sox. Shortly after mid-season Meyer earned a regular berth at short and began to hit his stride a few weeks before the season closed. With proper conditioning at Tampa, Harris is confident Meyer will develop into a capable and dependable short fielder.

Use of Curtains In Summer Is Advice Given

WASHINGTON, March 10—House wives are advised by the agriculture department to use curtains at windows in summer as well as in winter.

It is the custom of a good many housekeepers to take down every window curtain during spring cleaning and after laundering them, they are put away until fall cleaning, Uncle Sam said.

In the meantime the windows remain bare and unattractive, causing rooms to lose their charm. They are filled with the unobscured glare of summer sunshine which fades rugs and other furnishings.

When privacy or subdued light is desired the only course is to pull down the shades and incidentally to shut out most of the fresh air.

Modernism has replaced this old-fashioned idea, the department said. Curtains are a necessity the year around.

If curtains used during the winter seem too elaborate for spring and summer, second set of lighter, sheerer materials is suggested.

They would serve every necessary purpose of curtains, retain softness and charm in each room and add to its comfort. Side draperies, valances and unnecessary trimmings could well be omitted.

Two Youngsters

Harris expects great things from "General" Alvin Crowder and George Murray, two young hurlers who joined the club late last season. Both are right handers. In the last campaign Crowder won seven and lost four games while Murray won six and lost three.

"Tirpo" Marberry, regarded as the best relief pitcher in either league, is to be given a chance to obtain a regular berth this year. Marberry is at his best after warming up in the bull-pen for six or eight innings. This year Harris may force him to warm up for twenty minutes or a half hour before starting a game.

Other promising youngsters to whom Harris is looking to bolster his pitching staff are Hadley, Mangum, Morrell, Ogden, Lisenbee and Braxton who came to Washington from the Yankees.

Peckinpaugh

Hollis Thurston, received in a trade with Chicago for Peckinpaugh, also will be given ample opportunity to obtain a regular pitching berth. Harris has already commissioned trainer Mike Martin to begin treatment on Thurston's lame arm as soon as he reports at Tampa.

The Nationals will have a host of utility material this year. Extra outer gardeners include McNeely, Cullop and Tucker. Stewart, Reeves and McCann comprise the infield utility squad.

Behind the bat the Senators will have Muddy Rule and Benny Tate. Rule developed a weak arm last season and had to give way to Tate but hopes that Martin's liniment and rubbing will revive it this year.

When the training season began at Tampa about February 25, Harris had 41 players to look over, including 21 pitchers. An advance squad of 14 has already reported.

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message:

"I am on the down-grade in life. Never had any sickness, but of late years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was about done up. Have taken tablets, eaten fruits, etc., but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 6 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. After the "Flu" is over —you need a Tonic

Help Is Needed to Restore Your Wasted Strength and Energy.

"Flu" leaves the body weakened and rundown. In such cases, a tonic is clearly indicated. Restore the appetite and rid yourself of that let-down feeling.

"Flu" is a very enervating disease. It leaves its victims so weak and debilitated that there is as much danger from the after-effects as from the disease itself. In other words, after an attack of the "flu," you need a selective tonic to rebuild the system so that you may have your old-time strength and energy restored.

S.S.S. is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. S.S.S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Navy Distributes Movie Films To All Parts of World

WASHINGTON, March 10.—No longer need blue jackets, hundreds of miles from home, sigh for glimpses of Charlie Chaplin and Gloria Swanson in their newest films. Movies have become part of the daily routine of life aboard ships of the United States fleet and today the navy is the world's largest motion picture distributor.

To keep these ships and naval stations supplied with a continual change of feature pictures, the navy motion picture service, under direction of the training division of the bureau of navigation, has 1,200 complete eight-reel programs in duplicate, 150 in triplicate and 4,800 comedy and cartoon reels.

Feature comedies head the list in popularity among the "gobs." These are followed by strong action pictures and animated cartoons. Newsreels and short comedies are also in demand but the sailor votes "thumbs down" on scenic films, preferring to do his own sightseeing.

Three years are required for each film to travel its circuit. Simultaneous with a picture's release in first-run theatres, the navy starts two prints of the features on east and west coast circuits. Three prints of a special feature are occasionally obtained, one to be shipped to vessels in European and far east waters. The reels travel from ship to ship until every vessel of the fleet has shown the picture.

Underground Cable Laying Is Almost Ended

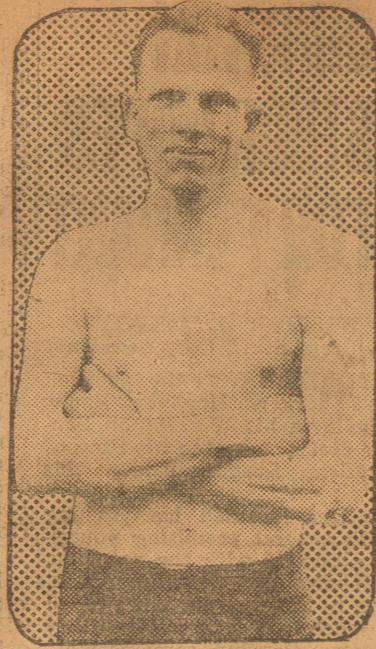

Construction work on laying underground cables in the vicinity of the Texas & Pacific station, Ranger, is about completed and the work has reached the point where it is just about ready for the casing crew.

The Southwestern Telephone company started the work of laying underground cables from the depot to the Texas filling station some three weeks ago, since that time deep excavation work has progressed past the filling station around the building occupied by Langston's barber shop, and is continuing west up the alley by the Majestic hotel. The excavations extend on the east side of the track almost to the Crescent hotel.

While the officials of the company have only authorized the statement of the first project, that is of laying underground cables from the depot to the Texas filling station, the work has gone on. Manholes have been made, and it is said that several strings of cable will be laid.

To those who are familiar with the work, it looks as though the telephone company were building for the future as the excavations will house cables enough for a much larger city than Ranger.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
 Death strikes Garret Folsom while swimming at Ocean Town, N. J. After being posthumously examined by a doctor, the body is brought to the Hotel Majusaca, where an inquiry is started.

Folsom's bathing companions had been Roger Neville, Mrs. Helen Barnaby, and Carmelita Valdón. It is established that Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to Ned Barron, known as the copper king.

Then the startling announcement is made that Folsom had been stabbed to death in the water. Ross, his valet, is questioned, as are Barron and his wife, but no light is shed on the mystery.

Anastasia Folsom, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is established that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and that it and its scabbard had been purchased on the boardwalk.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER XVI.
 "Then," said the coroner, "our little question of motive or opportunity, which are usually the first matters to be taken up. But, as you can readily see, everyone in the ocean at the time of Mr. Folsom's death may be said to have had opportunity, and so far as we have been able to learn, nobody has shown any evidence of having had a motive. This makes the affair most mysterious, for men are not murdered without motive. And so, gentlemen of the jury, I will call on those who knew Mr. Folsom personally, and you may gather what knowledge you may from their depositions.

Hubbard was naturally a little verbose and stilted in diction, but in this case he was more so, by reason of his own uncertainty how to proceed. It seemed absurd to call on the people who knew Garret Folsom, for they were the ones most interested in learning the truth, and the ones least likely to be implicated in the crime.

However, it was the only thing to be done, and Miss Folsom, as the nearest relative of the dead man, was called next.

Her testimony was, of course, only to the effect that she had been summoned to Ocean Town by the telegram announcing her brother's death. The message had been sent to her Chicago home, but as she was in New York, it had been forwarded to her there and she had immediately started for the seashore resort.

She answered readily the coroner's questions as to her brother's business and habits of life, but nothing she could tell had any bearing on the subject of his death. In addition to the information required of her, she reiterated her determination to bring the murderer to justice, and declared herself willing to spend as much of her fortune as might be necessary in order to succeed in her quest.

There was something about Anastasia Folsom that made her hearers respect her, though none of them would have cared to make any effort to become better acquainted with her. She was not attractive, she rather repelled people, yet none could say she was not sincere and determined in her effort to solve the mystery of her brother's death.

The next witness was Ross, the dead man's valet.
 But he had no more of importance to communicate than had Miss Folsom.

"You have been with Mr. Folsom some time?" Hubbard asked, a bit perfunctorily.
 "Four years, sir," replied Ross.
 "He was a good master?"
 "In every way, sir. He was kind always, though to please him everything had to be in strict accordance with his orders."

"And you came here with him when?"
 "Day before yesterday—that is to say, Thursday, sir. We arrived in the afternoon and went to the Hotel Majusaca."

"And what did Mr. Folsom do on Thursday after reaching here?"
 "As soon as we arrived, he left me to put away his clothing and belongings, and he went out for a stroll on the boardwalk. I didn't see him again until he came in to dress for dinner. After he was dressed, he told me I could have the evening to myself. He advised me to go for a stroll on the boardwalk or to take a ride in the chairs or to go to a movie show."

"Which did you do?"
 "I did all three. The gay scenes were most interesting and I had a pleasant evening."
 "You're wasting time talking to Ross," Miss Folsom put in with an annoyed shake of her head. "I've known the man for years; he was my brother's trusted assistant. Get what he can tell of Garret's doings the morning he died, and then get at some more important witnesses."

Coroner Hubbard was not accustomed to receiving advices from his audience as to how to proceed, but Miss Folsom's suggestion was sensible and he showed no resentment.
 "Tell us, then, Ross," he said, "what Mr. Folsom did the morning that he met his death. Tell the story of the day."

"He rose early, as he always does, sir. I mean about 8 o'clock, earlier than most men on holiday. He went downstairs and breakfasted in the dining room. Mr. Folsom was never one to have meals in his room. He came back to his rooms about, maybe, 10 o'clock, and told me to get out his bathing suit and the bag of toilet things that he always carried with him to the bath house."

"I did this, and very soon he picked up the bag and started off. He turned back to tell me that I could go for an ocean dip while he was gone, but to be back by 1 o'clock, as he would return about that time."
 "And you went in the ocean, then?"
 "Yes, sir, for a short time. I didn't stay in long because I wanted to be sure to be back in Mr. Folsom's rooms by 1 o'clock."

"And were you?"
 "Oh yes, some time before 1. By half past 12 or thereabouts."
 "You saw or heard nothing of the commotion caused by Mr. Folsom's death while you were in the water or on the beach?"
 "Oh no. I was told Mr. Folsom was was hurt about half-past 12 o'clock. At that time I was in his rooms, or just going there."

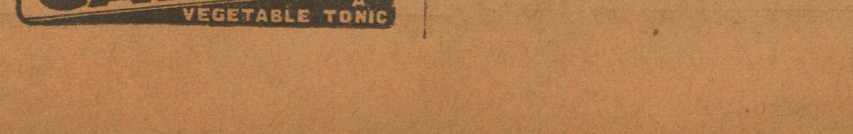

"Your own room is on the same floor with Mr. Folsom's?"
 "Yes, at the back of the house. Mr. Folsom's rooms are on the ocean front."

"Yes. Now, Ross, think carefully. Do you know of anybody who could have any reason or any intent to wish for Mr. Folsom's death?"
 "No, sir. Not anybody."
 "Who will benefit by his decease?"
 "Benefit, sir?"
 "Yes, financially, I mean."
 "I'm sure I don't know, sir."

TERRIBLE PAIN
 Alabama Lady Tells How She Obtained Relief by Taking Cardui. Feels Fine and Enjoys Life Now, She Says.

Talladega, Ala.—Mrs. Mary Hardy, 406 Henderson Avenue, this city, says that seven years ago she "got down sick" and was unable to attend to her housework.

"I have never been so weak before or since," she says. "I had a terrible pain in my side—so sore in my side and the lower part of my body."
 "Across my back ached, and I was so nervous I couldn't stand up. I had just about given up when some one who came to see me began talking about Cardui. This caused me to get it. I took about two bottles before I saw much improvement."
 "After this, though, I picked up right away. I slept better at night. I was hungry, enjoyed my food, which I hadn't done for some time. The pain and soreness gradually left my side. I regained my strength. I took about six bottles and left off for awhile, then took two or three more. . . I feel just fine, enjoy life and can work now, too."
 Cardui is purely vegetable, and contains no harmful drugs. It has helped thousands of suffering women and should help you, too. NC-168

"Don't ask those questions of Ross, Mr. Hubbard," interrupted Miss Folsom with asperity. "I will tell you of my brother's business affairs. Though I don't see what they have to do with the inquiry into his death."

"They might have a great deal to do with it, Miss Folsom. Who, then, will receive the bulk of Mr. Folsom's fortune?"
 "That I can tell you in a general way. The will of my brother leaves some minor bequests, but the main part of his estate is divided approximately into thirds, one of which will be my portion, another will go to a nephew of mine and the other to Mr. Rover Neville, my brother's friend and business associate."

"Who is this nephew? Where is he?"
 "His name is Pelton—Daniel Pelton. He is just now in New York city."

"I was with him the evening before I came down here."
 "Thursday evening, that is?"
 "Yes, night before last. Now, Mr. Hubbard, get on with your inquiry, for I want to learn all I can of these matters before I engage my own detective to ferret out the mystery."
 (To be continued.)

Neville benefits financially by Folsom's death. Does that mean that Neville—but read what is to follow.

Pennsylvanians
Make Efforts to Save Wild Game
By United Press.
STROUDSBURG, Pa., March 11.—In a movement to increase and preserve the wild game in the northeastern part of Pennsylvania, several associations of sportsmen are planning to increase the food supply of the game, by planting of wild nut trees, seed producing plants, wild grapes and other varieties of forest food.
The Easton chapter of the Isaac Walton League, interested in hunting preserves in the Poconos district of Monroe county, is arranging for extensive plantings in that district.
Two valuable sources of food both for birds and wild animals, beech nut trees and wild grape vines will be planted. The food supply of the grouse as well as the wild turkey, ringneck, and quail are receiving their particular attention.
Both deer and bear feed from the beechnut and wild grape, the bears seeming to prefer the latter.
Hunting clubs have set out hundreds of cuttings for the wild grape in favorable spots, the food being especially valuable to the game in the winter months, as the fruit clings to the vine and is available even during the deepest snows.
A British woman, authority on animals, claims the horse is the dumbest of creatures. Three cheers, men!
