COMMITTEE ADVISES A QUICK EXPULSION

VERDICT IS JUSTIFIED BY PROOF REPORT

Speaker Bobbitt Says Calender Is Glutted With Legislation

AUSTIN, Feb. 7.—Recommendation that Representatives F. A. Dale of Bonham and H. H. Moore of Cooper be expelled from membership of the house was made by the house investigating committee at noon today.

The committee found that the charges against Dale and Moore of accepting a $1,000 bribe from W. W. Chamberlain, Houston optometrist, were justified and sufficient to meting out to the accused "the highest punishment by the house," which is expulsion.

The report was signed by all the members of the committee. It was set out in the report that its adoption would have the effect of expelling Dale and Moore.

The report declared that the "charges against Dale and Moore were sufficient grounds to show conduct unbecoming members of the house."

Chairman Reports.
Representative Sinks, chairman of the committee, in submitting the report, said that "this is the judgment of the committee and it is now for the house to hand down its judgment."

Representative Loflin of Clay printed in the Journal. Loflin also sought to have the house vote separately on the cases of Dale and Moore, but the speaker overruled him on the latter proposition, announcing that the house would have to consider the report as a whole.

Representative Petch stated it would cost $2,500 to print the evidence in the Journal.

The motion to print in the Journal was still under debate when the house recessed until 1:30 this afternoon.

Calendar Glutted.
Speaker Bobbitt advised the house this morning that the calendar was glutted with bills at the opening of the fifth week of the session and declared that even if the committee filled a large number of the measures, the legislature had more business now than it could transact before sine die adjournment.

The speaker made the announcement after the house had ordered printed on minority report by vote of 70 to 40 the bill of Representative Hornaday requiring animal drawn vehicles to have a sort of warning light on them at night when driven on highways.

Representative Tillotson introduced a bill exempting automobiles of non-residents from payment of automobile registration and license for 30 days.

Judicial Pants-Warming Party

Men, don't threaten the wife! This picture illustrates what happened to John Caves, of Akron, O., to whom Judge E. E. Zesiger administered such a pants-warming. Caves threatened to thrash his wife the latter testified, and the judge decided twenty lashes would be an excellent corrective. An innocent bystander posed with the judge for this picture.

RANGER BUSY, NEW BUILDINGS ON MAIN STREET

In four blocks on Main street, Ranger, extensive improvements are under way. The latest improvement is the remodeling of the Ellis building at Main and South Marston streets for the housing of Kinberg studio.

Hardwood floors, a new front, display windows and other improvements are being rushed at this location and probably will be ready for the new occupants by February 15.

In the three hundred block Tharpe Furniture company has moved into one of the new Brin buildings while the one on the corner is being rapidly completed for the Street Motor company.

In the two hundred block Woolworth company is remodeling inside and out the brick building formerly occupied by Tharpe Furniture company in anticipation of their opening up here in the near future.

In the one hundred block the Joe Harness brick building is under rapid construction. On account of the good weather there has been little delay in the construction of this building and its early completion is almost assured.

On South Rusk street the Tony George store is having a new plate glass and red brick front while on Pine street just in the rear of the Central Baptist Church, the White-Hampton Motor company's new home is almost ready for occupancy.

With other conditions picking up and the first forty-eight days of 1927 presaging prosperity, the city of Ranger is keeping pace with the times. It has met its bonds and interest on time. This is the regular semi-annual payment.

"American vessels may be forced to abandon this 'regular commercial' service since transportation on the Yangtze river is very difficult at present," Consul Lockhart said. The firing incident occurred Sunday.

PREMIER BALDWIN CONFERS WITH KING OVER AFFAIRS

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Premier Baldwin and the cabinet today discussed Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg's proposal that the Shanghai area in China be neutralized to guarantee safety of foreigners and their property there.

Baldwin also had an audience with King George who afterwards held a privy council. Baldwin and his colleagues were preparing for tomorrow's opening of parliament when the labor and liberal opposition to the conservative government's Chinese policy will have full vent.

Because of the events in China, British relations with soviet Russia seemed likely today to become the issue of the new parliament. Differences of opinion apparently existed within the cabinet and an increasing portion of the press was demanding rupture of diplomatic relations and abrogation of the trade agreement between Russia and Britain.

HOME EXPERT HELPS SOLVE GREAT HOST PROBLEMS

Preparations Complete in Legion Hall, Ranger For the Week's Course

Mrs. Ida Chitwood, noted cooking school expert, arrived in Ranger today to preside over the five-day course in cooking and serving, which is to be given in Ranger this week under the auspices of the Times Publishing company.

Prior to her arrival workmen were busy as bees at the American Legion Hall setting up her modern and model kitchen. Bill McDonald's force put in the plumbing, for of course good plumbing is the basis of all model kitchens, for what housewife can meet the problems that confront her each day if she has to contend with stopped up drains or leaky pipes, or stoves that do not function correctly.

A Hoosier Kitchen cabinet, furnished by Killingsworth-Cox Hardware company, a Frigidaire furnished by the Texas Electric Service company, and a Favorite Gas Range, furnished by Tharpe Furniture company, are the outstanding articles of furniture in Mrs. Chitwood's model kitchen.

Dressed in a Nelly-Don Frock furnished through the courtesy of the S & H Store, Mrs. Chitwood appeared before a good sized audience this afternoon and received a hearty welcome from those who had attended other of her schools as well as from the new comers who are to take her courses for the first time.

Right Time.
Mrs. Chitwood's coming to Ranger each spring are looked forward to now as an annual event and she comes just at the right time, when appetites are jaded and housewives are eager to learn some new wrinkles in cookery to bridge over the time between now and spring vegetable time, as well as to learn the latest and best methods of serving and many other helpful things.

Each day Mrs. Chitwood will lecture on as wide a number of related subjects as possible. "Bring your notebooks, please," Mrs. Chitwood urged, and that is very good advice as one cannot carry all they learn during the five days in their heads and since no lecture will be repeated those who are really and truly interested should put it down in black and white.

All Free.
These lectures are entirely free. Mrs. Chitwood appears here at the request of the Times Publishing company and all lectures will be free to the women of Eastland county and adjoining counties who are invited to attend these daily lectures. They will begin at 2 p. m. each day and are held at the American Legion Hall, Ranger.

Among the articles that Mrs. Chitwood will use throughout the week in the preparation of various foods will be Crisco, Proctor-Gamble company product; Light Crust Flour, by Walker-Smith Wholesale Grocery company; Calumet Baking Powder; Knox Gelatine; Gebhart's Chili, Nigger in Cane Patch Syrup, while Gates Cleanser will be used for keeping the model kitchen spic and span.

Adams and Company will furnish the groceries that are to be used. Jameson's fresh fruits and vegetables, Walker-Smith company's Bean Valley Coffee and Sunkist Fruits, Ranger Creamery, "Texas Ranger Butter," Banner Ice Cream company ice cream, and Oakwood Jersey Dairy, Cream Kist milk and cream.

President Duggan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce believes that Moody has outlined measures of economy, statesmanship, reform and political advancement of the very highest order. Many of the opinions of the new governor are directly in line with plans and activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Housewives should arrange to attend each lecture for its value to them and their families is not to be reckoned in dollars or cents.

The conservatives were well entrenched with the 1500 men there under General Viquez reinforced by 1500 more under General Gomez who arrived last night bringing sixteen machine guns.

Duggan Endorses Moody's Program Of Legislation

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 7.—"If Dan Moody is successful in carrying out the major portion of his ideas, I bespeak for him a most successful term of office, and for the people of the state greater unity, prosperity and general satisfaction than for many years past," President Arthur P. Duggan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has said.

According to the head of the great regional organization of the west, "No one ever entering the office of the governor of the state of Texas has ever outlined such a comprehensive plan of wise and efficient administration as has Dan Moody, and if he can continue to carry the legislature with him, there is no doubt that his administration will prove to be one of the most valuable and constructive in the entire history of the state."

President Duggan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce believes that Moody has outlined measures of economy, statesmanship, reform and political advancement of the very highest order. Many of the opinions of the new governor are directly in line with plans and activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Moody is in favor of the tax survey of the state as is advocated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and it is believed that important work will be done along this and other lines during the new governor's incumbency.

THOUGHT FROM BIBLE.
 The Brevity of Life: Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continu-eth not.—Job 14:1, 2.

Prayer: Dear Lord, let our lives
 be hid with Thee in Christ Jesus.

LET'S HOPE IT'S ENDED
 For the past year or more the political pot of Texas has been boiling over and sending forth a stench in the nostrils of decency. When the Ferguson administration made its adieu from Austin we had high hopes that the contents of the pot would be emptied in a sewer. We had high hopes that we would enjoy an era of good will and instead of stench the political pot would be sending forth an aroma such as issues from kitchens where good cooks predominate. However, our hopes have vanished and instead the political pot at Austin has been sending forth another stench. Whether guilty or not guilty, that is not the question, the charge of bribery itself is a stench.

Moody, in his inaugural address, mapped out a campaign of constructive legislation that should be followed out and if followed out will give the bodies of lawmakers all they can do. All freak bills such as the flask bill, and all measures that are not absolutely germane to the program should be eliminated. We do not know anything of the merits or demerits of the optometry bill that caused all the latest stink in Austin.
 The optometrists seem to be getting along all right and, so far as we know, did not need any more legislation.

We have been told that the best governed people have the fewest laws. Too many regulations beget just such things as is alleged to have occurred.

We want to see the bribery case acted upon and when the verdict is rendered let it be final and have an end to it. Let's hope it's ended, also let's hope that the legislature will carry out the program and adjourn and pass up special and freak legislation.

If the two legislators are guilty
 they should be punished, if innocent they should be exonerated by the house of representatives.

Lobbyists are regarded as necessary evils. But for the work of lobbyists organized labor would never have secured certain laws now on the statute books that give the working man protection such industrial accident insurance and the like.

The great trouble is that every man who is sent to the legislature thinks he has to introduce a bill to make a showing with his people. He can make a much better showing by going back after a session of the legislature and showing them how he kept the statute books from being filled with a lot of special and freak legislation.

Let's hope that this bribery investigation will be the last thing of its kind in Texas.

PLANT THAT TREE AND SHRUB
 Now is the time for the home owner in town to begin setting out shrubs and flowers and trees. Now is the time for the progressive farmer to set out a few fruit and pecan trees. The town man can add much to the civic attractiveness of his place, increase its value and aid the city. The town man ought to remember that pecan trees make good shade trees. Dr. W. C. Palmer on Pine street, has set a precedent for others to follow, also has Sam Golden in the Young addition, Ranger. Dr.
 Palmer has several pecan trees set out in front of his home for shade trees. The boys and others in the neighborhood in time, will reap the benefit of them. Besides he has a wonderful lawn and flowers.

Mr. Golden has a veritable park place around his home. It is one of the beauty spots in the town of Ranger.

There are several beautiful homes in Eastland. All these help attract the visitor who is a prospective citizen. Well kept lawns and shaded streets in the residential sections along with good sidewalks and paved streets help build the town.

The school authorities in Ranger are doing some work in setting out shade trees on the campus and around it. Superintendent Holloway is to be congratulated.

On Seaman street in Eastland are several homes where the hand of the beautifier has been at work. Seaman street is one of the prettiest residential streets in Texas. Several Eastland families are to be congratulated.

Another thing in favor of setting out trees, they form a good protection against fire. Keep up the work of setting out trees and planting shrubs and flowers.

MODERNIZING THE 1907
 CHASSIS INTO A 1927 MODEL.
 By HEDDA HOYT
 United Press Fashion Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Most matrons of 50 believe that bobbed hair and short skirts take ten years off their appearance but you can't shortchange Father Time by merely whacking off the hair and donning a kid's skirt. One must have a remnant of youth in face and figure to get away with modern styles.

It requires more than new paint and abbreviated lines to modernize the 1907 chassis into a 1927 model.
 Even Venus de Milo would have to go on a diet to get away with knee-length hem lines. Not that this lady's limbs are not well proportioned, but short of her psyche-knot and dressed in short skirts her figure would prove too well developed for childish frocks and her face too strongly featured for five-year-old haircuts.

Women who fail to achieve the coveted 14-year-old figure through diet, daily dozens, pills and rowing machines should content themselves by being what nature made them and by dressing the figure in accordance.
 Unless one is hipless, bustling, slender, straight-limbed and youthful in appearance, short skirts and haircuts should be taboo. The short skirted vogue has made monkeys out of many women. Ten inches off Grandma's hem and she wants to kick up her heels and frolic.

Very often when the legs are sufficiently well formed for short skirts
 the figure is too tall, too short, too plump or the face is beyond the age of youthfulness. Time usually alters the face much sooner than it alters the figure and a short skirt with an old face is ridiculous. The same rules applying to skirts apply to hair.
 Fat-necked women in boyish bobs prove an eye sore at the theatres where one must set and gaze upon

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—The last of their type, wild horses of the once "wild" west are becoming victims of a campaign of extermination, because of their encroachments on civilization.
Thousands of these wild mustangs, descendants of those used by Indians before the advent of the white man in the west, have roamed in small bands from their mountain wilderness into sparsely settled country to prey upon the grass of cattle and sheep ranges.
Stockmen, co-operating with forest rangers, have formed wild horse hunting parties, with the result that in Utah recently more than 1,000 were eliminated and in Nevada a campaign netted 1,238.
In the north coast section of California the wild horse problem has be-

Inasmuch as the shouldering of responsibilities develops character, parents should see that their children are given duties that advance with age. A duty most often neglected is instruction in banking. Bring your son or daughter here—open a savings account for them and show them how to handle it. # Regardless of Years Keep Youth in Your Figure With

MODART Boneless GIRDLÉ

Everything you can do with your lingerie you can do with your Modart.

Some Modarts are absolutely boneless; others are only very lightly boned.

You cannot control age but you can control your figure. Exercise will help keep your body strong and supple... Diet will keep your weight down where it should be. But this is not sufficient. You must keep your proportions youthful. You can do this in one way and only one way—through "Figure-Grooming."

The ideal means to "Figure-Grooming" is the Modart Boneless Girdle. Without detracting in any way from absolute comfort Modart makes permanent the greater grace and beauty that you earn with your dieting and exercise. It makes figures look young, feel young and stay young.

Let our corsetier fit you to the Modart that fits you best in purse and personality.

All Modarts are soft and light. They can be rolled up in a ball; washed quite easily.

Methodists Begin Campaign For Beautification

The day of a more beautiful Ranger is dawning if others follow the lead laid down by the Methodist church, which is launching a campaign to improve its property and make it the prettiest spot in town.

At the morning service Sunday, Rev. George Shearer preached on Beauty and told of the plans that he and others had for the improvement of this hitherto unsightly lawn.

Dirt already has been hauled, flower beds laid out and a number of acres brought in from the forest. A collection was taken up to further this work and was favorably responded to by all present.

A church lawn, in Strawn on the Bankhead highway draws thousands of comments yearly from travelers and is an example of what time and attention can do in the way of transforming ugly places into spots of beauty.

Work on improving the grounds around the Methodist church will go steadily ahead and the preacher will plant a number of monuments to his service here in the trees that he and his assistants have dug up out of the woods and transplanted to the church yard.

Prof. R. F. Holloway was present and made a talk to each section furnishing a program.
All the rooms were decorated and exhibits of the work done by the children of the various grades was on display.

The Parent-Teacher association has decided to beautify the school grounds and Mmes. Mae Healer, Saunders Gregg and Miss Hortense

PLANS READY FOR FUNERAL JAP EMPEROR

By MILES W. VAUGHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
TOKYO, Japan, Feb. 7.—Plans were completed today for the state funeral Monday and Tuesday of his late majesty, Yoshihito, 122nd Emperor of Japan, died in Hayama Imperial Villa on Christmas morning. The rites will be conducted with all the strange trappings of ancient Japan. The body of the dead emperor will be laid to rest in a new imperial mausoleum just completed at Asakawa, a village, some 30 miles northwest of Tokyo. The mausoleum is on a mountain side overlooking the great plain of Kwanto on which Tokyo is located. Date of the funeral was announced early last month, after a meeting of the council board of the imperial funeral committee by Dr. Ikki, committee chairman. Preparations have been hurried since that time, and today all is in readiness for the two-day ceremony which will start in the great, moat encircled Chiyoda Castle, the Tokyo home of Japanese emperors. Functions Cease. All state functions of the court have been suspended for the two-day funeral ceremony. Singing, dancing and other frivolous amusements are prohibited on the funeral days. The nation will give itself unrestrictedly to mourning for 48 hours, until the body is placed in the imperial mausoleum. A hearse bearing the remains of the late emperor will leave the Palace at 6 o'clock Monday night for the imperial garden at Shinjuku traveling over specially sanded streets lighted only by lanterns and torches. The route selected leads over the Triumphal Road, past the Sojiradamon, the government offices and the Torino-Mon to Akasaka Mitsuke and thence to the widely known Aoyama Ichome corner and onward to the great Shinjuku garden, one of the most famous of the imperial parks in Tokyo. Shinto Rites. The solemn funeral services, in the Shinto rites, will begin in the Shinto service hall of the Shinjuku palace three hours later and will continue until midnight after which the body will start for Asakawa, the burial service taking place at dawn, Tuesday morning. A first day service after burial will be held at the Asakawa imperial mausoleum, Wednesday. The railway committee for the funeral already has erected special temporary stations at Sendagaya, where the body will be entrained in Tokyo, and at Asakawa. These stations cost $170,000 and are only a small part of the total expense of the funeral, for which near $1,500,000 has been appropriated by the Diet. Drawn By Oxen. Four oxen, selected in Hiroshima Prefecture, have been trained in Tokyo for the past fortnight for the task of drawing the immense hearse, in which the body of the late emperor will be taken from the Chiyoda palace to Shinjuku. In accordance with imperial regulations, the animals are black and Veda Bellefeuille longed to be loved like the heroines in story books are loved. white, of equal size, and with horns growing at an angle of 120 degrees.

Invitations have been sent to a limited number of persons including foreign representatives, to attend the funeral ceremonies. The streets, however, will be lined with more than a million persons who will be able to watch the cortege as it passes slowly from the Chiyoda palace, in the center of Tokyo, towards the Shinjuku garden.

Imperial Family.

All members of the imperial family will attend the funeral service but His Majesty, the emperor, will not ride in the funeral cortege, proceeding from Chiyoda to Shinjuku by a separate route.

It is understood the Dowager Empress, widow of the late ruler, plans to leave Tokyo soon after the funeral ceremony and may take up her residence permanently in the villa at Hayama, where her husband died. She will, of course, make frequent pilgrimages to the Asakawa mausoleum. Charles MacVeagh, United States ambassador to Japan, will act as official representative of the United States government at the funeral.

Scientists Take Movies of The Planet Saturn

By United Press.
WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., Feb. 5.—In a unique astronomical experiment University of Chicago astronomers at Yerkes observatory here took moving pictures of the planet Saturn as it passed behind the moon recently.

Hitherto unknown secrets about the moon are expected to be disclosed by the film, which can be shown in any theatre so that patrons may enjoy a vision of astral bodies.

Giant Telescopes were trained on the two planets by Prof. Frank E. Ross and Director Edwin B. Frost of the observatory.

Ultra-violet and infra-red rays were among the lights used for the delicate operations. The cameras used had lenses with a focal range of 20 inches instead of the conventional 2-inch radius. Four telescopes were employed, the biggest weighing 20 tons and measuring 60 feet in length with a 40-inch lens.

Because the moon is reputed to be erratic in its movements the value of the experiment was in precisely locating it in the firmament. Some authorities claim that it is the earth which wobbles in its orbit.

A novel apparatus consisting of an electric lighting system delicately synchronized with a clock and the mechanism of the movie camera enabled the film to register the phenomenon of the skies every fifteenth of a second. No movement of the two important cosmic bodies escaped reproduction.

"GAGMEN" ON HAROLD LLOYD LOT WORK HARD FOR LAUGHS

It wasn't so long ago when every moving picture fan thought he could write a scenario. Workers in factories, stores and offices neglected the business of the moment to follow the cinema muse until recurring rejection slips from scenario editors dimmed their enthusiasm. But now—according to advices from the Harold Lloyd studios—a new epidemic has surged upon us. Fandom has gone gag-mad.

For the benefit of the unenlightened, we must pause here to explain that, in moving picture parlance, gags are the single pieces of business and incidents that go to make up a comedy film. When the comedian naively pats a skunk thinking it to be a cat—that's a gag. When he dodges a piece of custard pie and it hits an unsuspecting man behind him—again friend gag is with us.

And now—to come back to our story—folks seem to be sitting up nights and neglecting the radio to think up side-splitting gags. As a result, Lloyd's fan mail has increased by leaps and bounds until—according to the Lloyd statistician—if the gags submitted by Lloyd's admirers were placed end to end they would extend from Adam and Eve's chestnut tree to the Life files in the Los Angeles Public Library.

Not a day passes but that a score of letters are received reading as follows: "Dear Harold: As I was walking along the street last night, I saw a man suddenly slip on a banana peel while chasing his straw hat. It struck me so funny, I thought I would write you about it so that you can use this incident in your next picture."

The general public does not seem to realize that gag concocting is a high specialized science. What seems funny in the parlor would probably not be funny on the screen. In a picture of the Lloyd type, every gag must fit into the story for a definite reason and is built and mulled over by a staff of experts in order that the biggest laugh possible may finally be gotten from it. Gagmen—these comedy specialists are called —are scarce. In fact, many professional humorists of the literary and "legitimate" field have tried their hands at moving picture "gagging" to find that they aren't fitted for the work.

The standard set by Lloyd makes gagging even more difficult. For not only must a gag be funny but it must possess absolute originality. This rule immediately relegates our innuendoes of the custard pie and banana peel to the scrap heap.

If the value of gags puzzles experts, the thousands of amateur gagmen now in evidence can take solace. Although to date Lloyd has not been able to accept any gags from fan sources, yet every letter is read carefully, for there is always that possibility that a new way to earn a laugh might be discovered. And laughs to a comedian are as necessary and welcome as honey to the bee.

"The Kid Brother," Lloyd's new Paramount release, arrives at the Lamb theatre, Ranger, and Connellee, Eastland, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kansas Game Club Sits Aside Section For Reservation

By United Press.

KANSAS CITY, Kans., Feb. 7.—Through the efforts of J. B. Doze, state game warden, and the Haven Gun Club of Haven, Kansas, a section of land in the Arkansas river valley has been set aside as a game refuge. The refuge includes the tract owned by the club, but no more hunting will be allowed on the lands. Foxes, pheasants, prairie chickens, wolves and an occasional deer are to be found on the section. The exponents of game preservation in that part of the state hope to enlarge the sanctuary.

Mistake Gave Tijuana to Old Mexico in 1847

By United Press.
BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 5.—The resort town of Tijuana, Mexico, together with a strip of Mexican territory lying 30 miles to the south, would belong to the United States today, had not a boundary adjuster in 1847 erred in guessing as to the

Improvement Is Seen in Press, Fewer Weeklies

COLUMBIA, Feb. 5.—Prof. John Casey of the school of journalism at the University of Missouri believes the decrease in the number of country weekly newspapers is a healthy sign rather than an evidence of retrogression. In a bulletin entitled "Country Newspaper Suggestions," he says in part:
"Fewer, better and more profitable newspapers are the results of the last few years of consolidations and suspensions. The reduction in numbers of country weekly newspapers is like the felling of inferior trees of the forest in order that the sunlight may reach those deemed more useful. A wider territory is served because acquaintanceship formerly limited to a township or two is now country-wide."

37 University Of Texas Co-Eds Camp Fire Course

Special Correspondence.
AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 5.—Certificates have been awarded 37 University of Texas co-eds for completing a course in campfire leadership which has been offered this term under the direction of Miss Florence Heintz, national secretary for the campfire movement. There are now a number of cities where campfire work is well organized and a paid executive is employed. These students are eligible for positions as guardians of campfire organizations, and Miss Heintz stated she would recommend any member of Camp Te-Wah-Hiss, the athletic club which is interested in such work, for such a position.

Designs Sought For Shakespeare Theatre in U. S.

By United Press.
LONDON.—American as well as British architects are invited to submit designs for the new Shakespeare Memorial theatre at Stratford-on-Avon, to replace the old theatre which was destroyed by fire early last year. A site plan and specifications for the theatre have been prepared by the Royal Institute of British Architects and will be ready shortly. They will be issued on application by the secretary of the Shakespeare Memorial theatre, Stratford.

Retired Chicago Police Chief Tells Of Old Criminals

By United Press.
QUINCY, Ill., Feb. 5.—Frederick H. Marsh, 84, chief of police of Chicago in 1890, sits in the Old Soldiers' home he helped found here and looks uncomprehendingly on the triumph of contemporary crime.
"It wasn't like this in the old days," he grumbles.
He refers proudly to the first daylight bank robbery in Chicago. All the money was recovered and the thieves were jailed within four hours.
"Crime in those days was far different from today," says the former chief who was at one time United States marshal for the northern district of Illinois and a state representative. He is a veteran of the battle of Shiloh courthouse.
"Criminals were of another stripe in my time," he muses. "Old men or men in middle years were crooks I had to deal with. The old criminals would not kill if there was any way out. They'd surrender sooner than take a chance of being hung."
"The new kind kill for the fun—or the excitement. If the courts would not let criminals go the police would do their duty. There are many brave men wearing the uniform today and I have no sympathy with people who blame them for the permanent crime wave."
"Police are handicapped these days because crooks are not concentrated in a small area and they use automobiles. In my day there were regular headquarters for criminals. We knew where to always find them and stool-pigeons told us when new ones arrived in town.

"I always treated prisoners square and they treated me square. I never lied to one."
As chief of police Marsh gave police news to two young reporters who later rose to fame. They were George Ade, the humorist, and Finley Peter Dunne, orator of Mr. Dooley and Dooley's philosophy. Representing Ogle and Lee counties in the legislature, Marsh sponsored the erection of a soldiers' home at Quincy. Now he is one of its residents.

whereabouts of a stone marker. This was revealed with the recent finding of the marker by George W. Hendry, of the University of California history department.
The huge stone, formerly a base for a wooden cross, was set by the Franciscan monk, Palou, famous mission founder, about 1770. Three years later the king of Spain designated it as marking the official boundary between the Spanish territories, Upper and Lower California. In 1847 a controversy developed between Mexico and the United States over fixing of the international border in the district. Both sides finally agreed upon the historic stone, which had once divided the two Spanish territories, as the international line.

Nicholas P. Trist, Washington emissary, claimed to have been unable to find the marker. He calculated its location 33 miles north of where it actually stood. Mexican envoys were willing to abide by his findings.
Trist, subsequently, was called back to Washington and his work discredited, but strangely enough, both countries agreed on the border line, using Trist's survey as basis for settlement.
Hendry's discovery was made positive by translation into English of Palou's diary, more than 150 years old, by the department of history at University of California.

How I make good pies every time

For a medium size pie I use 2½ cups flour, ¾ cup Crisco, 1 teaspoon salt. To measure ¾ of a cup of Crisco I take a measuring cup, put in ¾ cup of cold water, then add enough Crisco to bring the water to the top of the cup, pour it off and I have an exact ¾ cup of Crisco. Then I cut the Crisco into the flour with two knives, criss-cross fashion. (If I used my fingers the heat from them would soften the Crisco and blend it with the flour too closely to make a flaky crust.) As the Crisco is cut into small particles each one becomes covered with flour, and when enough cold water is added (4 to 6 tablespoons) the dough will then be composed of these small particles, which when rolled become layers of flour and Crisco. Then if baking is started in a very hot oven to set mixture before the Crisco has time to melt, the result will be a tender, flaky pastry.

Be careful about water
Have the water cold and use only enough to make a paste which will easily clear the bowl and is soft enough so it will not break at the edges when rolled. It is easier to tell when you have just the right amount of water if you use your fingers to mix it. Now take half the dough, dust the board with flour, using as little as possible, and roll the pastry very lightly from the center outward, each motion of the rolling pin ending in the air, not on the board. It should be about an eighth of an inch thick. Fold it over one-half, lay over a Criscoed plate, fold back over the plate, smooth into shape with the fingers and trim the edges.

To prevent the filling from soaking into the bottom crust Brush it over with melted Crisco, dust a little flour over that, then add the filling prepared according to the recipe you are using. Moisten the edge with water, then roll the other half of the dough, fold it over one-half, make slits with a knife in the center of the fold for steam to escape. Lay over the pie, with the fold in the center, turn back to cover it, press edges together with thumb and finger, trim, then press together again.

To keep the juice in
Take a strip of plain cloth about three inches wide, wet it in cold water and put around the edge of the plate, letting one half lie on top of the edge of the pie crust and the other half just under the pie plate. Have the strip long enough so that the ends will lap over each other two or three inches. For very juicy fillings, make a little funnel of paper or take pieces of macaroni and stick into two or three of the slits you have made. The juices will bubble up into these and return to the pie as it cools.

When pie is partly cool remove cloth and funnels.
When juices run out they will burn on the bottom of the oven, causing a smudge which is likely to add a smoky taste to the pie and leaving the oven hard to clean.

Chocolate Meringue Pie

Make the pastry with Crisco and your pie shell will slip off the outside of the plate into the inside without breaking, and be tender and flaky, too.

Cover an inverted pie plate with pastry; turn back the edges to make it firm. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes. Then fill with Chocolate Cream made as follows:

2 squares from ½ lb. cake of chocolate	3 egg yolks
¾ cup corn starch	1 tablespoon vanilla
2 cups milk	1 teaspoon Crisco

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Blend sugar, salt and corn starch. Add milk. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks, melted chocolate and Crisco. Continue cooking a minute or two. Pour into the baked shell, cover with meringue made by beating the 3 egg whites until stiff and dry, and add 6 tablespoons granulated sugar. Return to slow oven (300° F.) for 15 minutes or until brown. Serve when thoroughly cold. Makes one medium sized pie.

Deep Dish Apple Pie

(a pie without an undercrust)

Serve in dishes they are baked in. Or when they are baked, turn them upside down on plates, cover with sweetened whipped cream, sprinkle with chopped nuts and call them Apple Crow's Nest.

Prepare 3 cups of sliced apples, then mix in 1 cup of sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Divide into 4 or 5 individual baking dishes. Add ½ teaspoon salt to each. Dot with bits of Crisco. Cover with the pastry, making slits in the center for steam to escape. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) until pastry starts to brown. Then reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) until apples are done. (About one-half hour.)

Butterscotch Tartlets

Use Crisco in making the pastry for these tarts and the tender, flaky crust, blended with the delicious filling and fluffy meringue will fairly melt in your mouth.

Take bits of dough about the size of an egg. Roll; cover the bottom of inverted muffin pans which have been greased with Crisco. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes. When baked, slip shells off, turn pan over and put in a muffin tin. Fill with the following Butterscotch filling:

1 cup brown sugar	1 cup milk
3 tablespoons flour	3 tablespoons water
2 egg yolks	1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon Crisco	¼ teaspoon salt

Mix sugar, salt and flour. Add water. Cool until thick, stirring constantly. Just before removing from stove, stir in beaten egg. Add Crisco and vanilla. Cool slightly and fill the tart shells. Cover with a meringue made by beating 2 egg whites stiff and dry; add 2 tablespoons granulated sugar; cover tarts, return to slow oven (300° F.) for 15 minutes or until brown. This amount will fill 12 tarts.

An Astonishing Blindfold Test

SEE if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!

Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other fat to taste.

Now, did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of raw cooking fats? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.

To test your cooking fat, taste it.

Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

The ride that followed Mollie Elwell was to remember as the weirdest experience of her life.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL, in Candenville, Ind., one night in October, 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at the Battle of Sedan and at first is reported dead. Later he is identified at a New York hospital and his mother and father hasten to him to find that his memory is gone, that he is like a living dead man.

Specialists despair of his recovery, believing an operation might be unsuccessful and fatal as well. The day before his parents are to take him home Jim wanders away, and Mollie, Prof, NELLIE DOWNING,

UP THE PURSUIT

"An' the nie began to rain again, Sufferin' Pat how it did rain! I hope, Prof, you get the moral of what I'm tellin' you. Casey's bartender swore it was the rain that flooded the works, but when my ol' man hauled up the can an' saw what he'd caught he swore that someone had taken advantage of him. You see, it was April Fool's day, as I've been sayin'. That's why I'm always sad on April Fool's day."

He paused and looked again at Mollie Elwell, who was staring out of the window of the cab.

"Another time," Mike began, but before he could do any more of his "chirking up" the taxi slowed to a stop. They were in front of police headquarters, and Nellie Downing turned to Prof.

"You an' Mike stay here with Mollie," she said, making ready for a dash through the rain to the shelter of the building. "I'll have a general call sent out, for Jim must have been picked up by this time. He couldn't be on the street very long without attracting the attention of some traffic officer or someone who would turn him over to a policeman."

The door slammed shut behind her as she darted out and across the sidewalk. Mike Hennegan leaned forward and tapped Prof Elwell on the knee.

"I'm tellin' you, Prof," he said in a serious tone, "they don't make 'em any finer than that little girl right there. You ought to've seen the way she took care of us guys over in France when we was all gassed up an' shot up an' crazy an' everything. Sometimes she'd be on duty for 18 hours—20 hours—at a stretch. I've seen her workin' till she was ready to drop. An' never a word of complaint. She's pure gold, all right, through an' through, Nellie Downing is. Did you ever hear her complain, Prof?"

"I never did," said Prof earnestly. "She's all that you say she is. She's a mighty sweet little woman. Mollie and I certainly owe her a lot for what she's done for us. And you, too, Mike. We can never repay you. If it hadn't been for you, Mike, we might never have learned that Jim was alive."

"God grant that he's still alive!" breathed Mollie in a prayerful whisper. She had drawn apart from the two men, was listening to only half of what they said.

Prof bowed his head for a second. "Mike," he said presently, "tell me—is Nellie Downing in love with Jim?"

Mollie's eyes shut quickly. Her mouth trembled. And Mike pursed up his lips meditatively.

"Well," he said, staring out into the rain, "I don't know as I'm a judge of that. She's been mighty good to him. She's broke about every rule in the hospital the way she's attended to him. She went down to Washington to straighten out his identity, an' she paid for that out of her own pocket. You know, the morning she reported to the superintendent in Long Island she was technically on duty the minute she handed over her papers."

"It was irregular, her goin' to Washington, but the sup's was a real gentleman. He made a job for me, for instance, when I was down an' out. No, I couldn't tell you whether she was in love with him. You'll have to judge for yourself."

Prof looked troubled. "What a shame!" he breathed.

"But," said Mike, "the main thing is to find the lad."

"Oh, Prof," Mollie burst out, "do you think we'll find him?"

He patted her arm. "Of course. We're bound to find him. He can't run around loose without being picked up sooner or later by some policeman."

"But will we find him alive?"

"Now Mollie, don't worry."

"But I can't help worrying. Oh, Jim, Jim!" she turned away again to stare out the window.

Nellie Downing came racing through the rain, she climbed into the cab.

"We're going to the Planet building first to pick up Jack Nevin. Meanwhile he's having inquiries made at every hospital. He talked to the officer in charge here and they're going to work their heads off to help us. Oh, I'm sure Jack will be a bit help."

"You say," asked Prof, "that this man Nevin left a leg over in France?"

"Yes. And he's got a Congressional Medal of Honor, too. He's just a wonderful fellow and a fine newspaperman. He said he would help us all night if necessary."

A few minutes afterward the cab stopped in front of the Planet building. A man moved out from the shelter of the doorway. He was hobbling on a crutch, but he moved quickly and surely. Mike Hennegan got out of the cab and helped him in.

"This," said Nellie Downing, "is Jack Nevin."

Nevin smiled. "Glad to know you, all." To Prof he said, "Tell the driver to take us to the Metropolitan hospital."

"The hospital!" Mollie Elwell cried. "Now don't be alarmed," he hastened to reassure her. "I've been asking questions. It seems a man was brought in at the Met hospital. Brought over from Broadway and Fiftieth street an hour or so ago. Seems he fell off a street car. They say he isn't hurt to any extent but he is in a dazed state and they can't get him to speak. He was dressed in a gray suit and answers the description I got of your son from Miss Downing here."

"The fact that they can't get him to talk seems a pretty good reason for thinking it's Jim Elwell. He could have reached Fiftieth street by a car from the foot of Broadway."

"He's boarded cars with us several times down there," said Prof.

Nevin turned down his coat collar. He was a blond young man with wavy hair and pale, finely-chiseled features. One of his legs was gone from a point halfway between knee and hip.

He spoke to Nellie Downing. "Seems good to see you again," he said. "To Prof and Mollie he explained. "You see Miss Downing was very good to me."

"She's been good to a lot of us," said Mike Hennegan.

"I guess you're right, brother. Did you get a bit of it over there, too?"

"Enough," said Mike.

Nevin went on to explain something about the procedure in street accidents. "Very often the police get the reports of accidents, especially on the streets, before the injured reach the hospital. In fact, it is the police ambulance usually that gets to the scene first."

He informed Mike that, yes, he was a reporter. "I used to be what they called a leg man. I guess you'd call me only a half leg man now," ruefully looking at his amputated limb. "So I'm doing rewrite most of the time now. The city editor let me cover this, though, when I put it up to him that friends of mine were involved."

"Miss Downing," he went on, "tells me your son was shell-shocked at Sedan. I was through the Meuse-Argonne campaign myself. In fact, it was in the windup of it that I lost my leg. I was in a hospital in France when the Armistice was signed. That's where I met Miss Downing in January. She was doing post-war duty."

His words were drowned in the roar of an elevated train overhead.

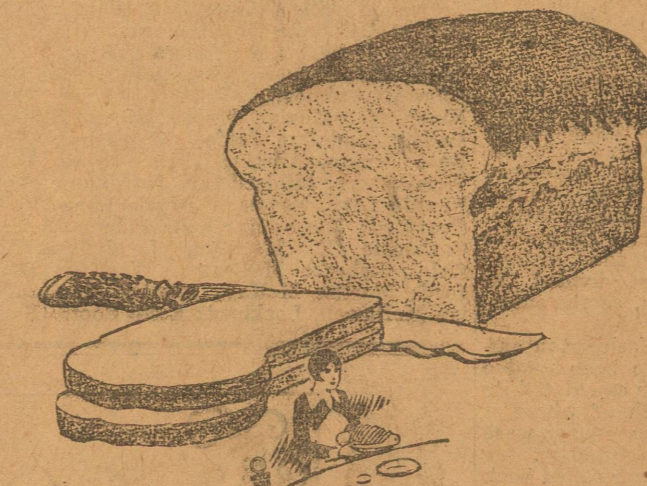

Mollie Elwell shuddered at the sound. Prof peered through the window.

Jack Nevin looked sharply at Mollie. He said to Prof: "When we reach the hospital I think it would be best if Miss Downing and I went in first."

He spoke very quietly, but Jim's mother's face went white as a sheet.
