RANGER DISCUSSES REFUND OF BONDS

EASTLAND AROUSED OVER DEVELOPMENT OF PARSONS POOL

ELEVATED LINES WILL JOIN THE SUBWAY

WAR TO FINISH IS BATTLE CRY OF TRANSIT CO.

Alarm Is Felt Over The Outlook In The Indianapolis Affair

By United Press.
NEW YORK, July 7.—The second day of the New York subway strike opened with the announcement of the strikers that the employees of the elevated lines will join their ranks, and would leave their trains today. Simultaneously, the Interborough Rapid Transit company proclaimed a "war to a finish."
The public in the meanwhile joined in another unhappy scramble to work, getting downtown by a round-about way, or by the Interborough Rapid Transit services which the company said was functioning at about 50 per cent normal.
It is reported that 650 men have qualified for the posts left vacant by motormen and switchmen. The company is training more non-union men, 125 of whom arrived from the western cities last night.

INDIANAPOLIS POLICE PREPARE FOR TROUBLE

By United Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 7.—Nearly one-third of the entire Indianapolis police force today was assigned to strike duty for tonight to prevent further violence in the walk-out of union street car men.
Alarmed by outbreaks last night, Chief of Police Johnson strengthened his strike detail to combat new attempts to stop operations of cars that were expected to come with nightfall.
Twenty men were arrested during the night and early today in connection with the outbreaks.

EXPLOSION IS CAUSE OF TREMORS

By United Press.
FREDERICK, Okla., July 7.—An explosion of 300 quarts of nitroglycerin at Buckhorn, Texas, fifty miles away caused the earth tremors yesterday, which at first were diagnosed as "seismic" disturbances, it was learned today.
The explosives were stored in the farm of A. L. Sullivan, four miles from Buckhorn, where it was to be used in blasting oil wells.
Earth tremors resulting from the blast of nitro were distinctly felt in a radius of fifty miles of Buckhorn.
Apparently the blast took no victims.

HERRIN SITS ON VIOLENCE

By United Press.
HERRIN, Ill., July 7.—A possibility of further armed violence was seen here today with the arrest of two members of a gang, which according to authorities, has terrorized Herrin for the past few months.
Following a series of attacks on citizens who were afraid to make complaints, Gray Walker and "Blackie" Arms are under arrest and more arrests are promised by the sheriff's office and police of Herrin in the next few hours.

SWEETWATER SECTION GETS HEAVY RAIN

Sweetwater, July 7.—A heavy rain ranging from two and one-half to one inch has been falling here today. The rain was accompanied by some electricity.

WHOLE WORLD & CO. SIGN IN PEKING

PEKING—"Whole World & Co." is the comprehensive title emblazoned on the signboard of a newly opened cleaning establishment on Wangfuching Ta Chieh (Morrison street), Peking.

Deny Vote Buying in Illinois

These two men will be examined by the senate primary investigating committee in connection with Senator Caraway's charges that too much money was spent in the Illinois Republican Senatorial primary. Allen F. Moore (left) campaign manager for the nominee, Colonel Frank Smith, says reports of a $2,000,000 fund are ridiculous, while Dan J. Schuyler (right), Chicago attorney, who, Caraway says, distributed a $500,000 gift from Samuel Insull, remarks, "I'll make a most uninteresting witness."

DAVIDSON MEN IN RANGER HOLD OPEN AIR RALLY

That Dan Moody is not trained sufficiently in statesmanship to cure Texas of its political "Heebie Jeebies" that the Ferguson's cry for vindication has no end in sight, that the public press is partial to another candidate and that "Lynch is a Zimel" were the high points in a speech made to several hundred people at Main and Marston streets, Ranger, last night, by Judge H. E. Crowley of Fort Worth.
Mayor Bob Hodges, in introducing the speaker, presented him to the assembled crowd as "a representative of our next governor, Lynch Davidson."
Mr. Crowley said at once that he was "no stranger in Ranger" as he had killed bears enough in our canyons to produce oil in Eastland county and that he had punched cat's and ridden broncs through this vicinity when he was a rancher himself, between Ranger and Strawn.
He said that he was here as a volunteer in interest of Mr. Davidson and that he had not participated in any gubernatorial campaign since the famous one of Hogg and Clarke, which was similar in many respects to the present campaign, especially as regards to the public press, which is now as it was then championing the cause of another.
Nauseating
"Has the state dropped so low in its morale that any man should assume that what the people want is a plunge into political mud? Two candidates seem to think such depths have their lure and such assumption is so repulsive to the better people of Texas that on July 24, they will rise up in their righteous indignation to such an insult to their intellect."
In speaking of Lynch Davidson, he said he was a man in whose life there is no guile. That the slogan "Lynch (Continued on Page Two)

SCOUTS PLACE PRODUCTION AT 100 BBL. DAY

Prospects Are Bright For Extensive Work In Developing Sector

The Parsons pool, near Eastland, was proved yesterday afternoon when Gulf Petroleum No. 1 J. D. Parsons came in flowing 100 barrels, according to estimates of scouts on the ground. This well is an off-set to the discovery well which came in a few weeks ago opening up this field.
The new well flowed according to the gauge about 27 barrels for the first twenty minutes flowing, with the prospects of a much larger flow later on. Sand was found at 1,543 feet.

Rumors

These operations which are four miles southeast of Eastland caused a rare flutter among oil men in Eastland last night and persistent rumors were about the town that the well was flowing 1,000 barrels a day but company officials said that this was not so.
Prospects for a big drilling campaign was heard on all sides and it was stated that there are about twelve locations already made for drilling here. Gulf Petroleum have three other locations made close to the original well.

Scouts Busy

The development of the Parsons pool is not only attracting considerable attention of the talent in the Ranger district, but also is causing a large number of the scouts of the big companies to advocate a general drilling campaign.
It is expected that the Cheney area, where they know gas is found in abundance to get a big play. The Cheney area and the Webb place are expected to be the next big-oils. Considerable progress is being made in th drilling on the Webb place, about two miles from the famous Barney Carter pool. Should that well and the one on the Wells ranch prove up, another big rush is expected here, with the big companies in control.

Falls Road Case Comes Up Monday

By United Press.
AUSTIN, July 7.—A conference was held Wednesday of the lawyers interested in the Falls county in agreeing on a statement of facts to be offered to the United States court of three judges which will convene at Waco next Monday to try the case of L. O. Criner versus Falls county. The court will consist of United States Circuit Judge Walker, and District Judges Charles A. Boynton and Duval West.

PROBERS ADJOURN, JULY 26

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—The senatorial primary investigating committee closed its four weeks inquiry into the three million dollar Pennsylvania primary, and adjourned to meet in Chicago on July 26 to begin an inquiry into the Illinois senatorial race in which the committee has heard a similar amount was spent.
The committee closed its sensational investigation with the testimony of John M. Morin, western state campaign manager for W. S. Vare, wet, who won the Pennsylvania republican senatorial nomination.
Morin, long sought as a witness, told hof he handled approximately $26,500 in cash for paying off Vare workers in 17 counties in the state.

EARTHQUAKE DEATH LIST IS GROWING

By United Press.
SAMARANG, Java, July 7.—Earthquake, death and damage totalled today amounted to two villages, bordering on Lake Sangeria. These villages were smashed by a wave yesterday and 42 persons were drowned. Conditions are said to be alarming.
Reports from the Padang islands indicate that the casualties and damages of last week's shock will exceed the estimates already made.
News from isolated points is slowly filtering in.
A message received at Amsterdam at 1 o'clock yesterday morning estimated the dead at 400 per sons.

Amundsen's Victory Smile

Roald Amundsen was given a tempestuous greeting when he arrived in Seattle after flying over the north pole. This picture shows the smile with which he greeted the waiting crowds as his steamer came up to the pier.

To Fly Atlantic

Lieut. Commander Noel Davis of the U. S. Naval Reserves, plans to fly across the Atlantic in the Detroit monoplane which. Capt. G. H. Wilkins took to Alaska. He is competing against Capt. Rene Fonck for a $25,000 prize.

FALLSROAD CASE COMES UP MONDAY

By United Press.
AUSTIN, July 7.—A conference was held Wednesday of the lawyers interested in the Falls county in agreeing on a statement of facts to be offered to the United States court of three judges which will convene at Waco next Monday to try the case of L. O. Criner versus Falls county. The court will consist of United States Circuit Judge Walker, and District Judges Charles A. Boynton and Duval West.

Mrs. Phillip Pettit Resigns As Member Of Hospital Board

Mrs. Phillip Pettit, one of the original members of the City-County Hospital board, has resigned. Her resignation was presented to the City Commission of Ranger, yesterday afternoon at its regular meeting and accepted.
This leaves two vacancies on the board and the City Commission yesterday recommended to the county commission that Dr. M. L. Holland be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Lee Stubblefield of Gorman and that the County Commission recommend a lady to fill the vacancy made by Mrs. Pettit's resignation.
The three members of the board at present are Drs. Hodges and Palmer of Ranger and Clyde Garrett of Eastland.

COMMISSION AND CITIZENS MEET WITH BOND CO.

$382,000 Worth May Be Changed To Forty Year Debentures

A meeting of the Ranger city commission with 10 or 12 of the most influential and successful business men of the city, and with M. H. Smith, a representative of Brown-Crummer company of Dallas, yesterday afternoon, may result in $382,000 of the city's present bonds being refunded and renewed with 40-year bonds, instead of 30 years as they now stand.
This meeting will be of far reaching benefit, not only to the present generation, but will follow, as it will not only cut down the yearly payments, stretching them over a 10-year longer period, but will enable the city to do some improvements in the way of street paving and water and sewer extensions.
It also was agreed that a charter amendment election will be called for some time in the near future.

Raise Valuations

It was further agreed that tax valuations would necessarily have to be raised to about six or seven millions valuations, but if this was done, it would be possible to reduce the tax rate. In this connection it was pointed out that Cisco has valuations assessed at 13 million dollars, Eastland about six million while at present Ranger's assessed values are around four and one-half million dollars.

Payments Kept Up

Up to the present time all bonds and interest payments have been made but it was thought best by the business men of Ranger, and the men who are in charge of its financial affairs, to re-fund these bonds and replace them with bonds that will stretch out over a period of 40 years, beginning with February first, 1927.
The first bond issue was made in the hectic days of 1919. There was plenty of money here and it looked as though the golden shower of dollars and oil would continue forever. It was deemed best then to make the bonds of shorter duration and to pay them off quickly while money was plentiful. Then the bonding companies were leary of oil field towns. They knew their history and did not wish to be tied up in long contracts, so that was another reason for the shorted lived bonds.
During the seven years since the first bonds were made, a great deal has been paid on them, as the interest and principal were heavy. Conditions are now more stable, although big money is less plentiful, but the bonding companies now offer a market for 40-year bonds in towns like Ranger. They recognize that Ranger is on a stable basis, and that its mushroom growth has gone forever, and are now contemplating coming back into Ranger on an entirely different basis, which will enable Ranger to expand as her growth and citizenry demand.

Strangulation By Medieval Garrote Used

By United Press.
HAVANA, July 7.—Strangulation by the iron collar of the medieval garrote has been fixed as the penalty to be paid by Salvador Aguilera for the murder of his aunt.
Aguilera protested innocence of the crime, which was committed in August, 1924. Despite his pleas, the strangling post has been set up in the Santiago, Cuba, jail and San Francisco De Paulo Romero, a long term convict, has been selected for the job of twisting the collar screw.
It is not a pleasant job, but someone must do it and Romero will remove several years from his prison sentence by doing the work.
Execution probably will take place today or Thursday and the convict executioner and the garrote will remain in Santiago for some time thereafter, for the supreme court has just confirmed the death sentence on Hermon Cortez, another murderer.

FARM REVENUE INCREASES

By United Press.
EDMONTON, Alberta.—A 25 per cent gain in the farm revenue of Alberta last year, as compared with the previous year, was the record made by this province.

EASTLAND WATER CO. ORGANIZED

The organization of the Eastland Mineral Water company was completed at a meeting of shareholders in the office of Dr. R. C. Ferguson, Eastland, last night. Dr. Ferguson was appointed temporary chairman of the meeting.
Dr. Ferguson in opening the meeting which was well attended, said that the water had received a good deal of publicity and that during the past few weeks persons from all over the state had been to the wells for the water. Some of them were from Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene and south as far as San Antonio, while county people had taken the water away by the gallon. From all these people there had not been one unfavorable report, he said.

TAXES, SCHOOLS AND POLITICS. Governments are supported by taxes paid by its citizens and property owners. It is absolutely necessary that they be paid and paid promptly to insure efficiency in government.

Where business methods have been tried in the affairs of government they have proved efficient. This has been demonstrated to a great degree in the nation. Under the business administration of Mellon and the adoption of the budget system, a balance is shown on the ledger of the nation.

For some people tax-paying is a hard proposition. To make them pay taxes is like pulling eye teeth, and some by underhand methods are tax dodgers. These tax dodgers should be taken care of and made to pay. The value of efficiency and the use of business methods in handling the affairs of a city have been demonstrated in Fort Worth, where back taxes are being collected. The result already has been shown.

The same methods could be used in state affairs. Public institutions should be placed on a business basis. Government is big business and should be run as such instead of as an institution for the grafter to line his pockets.

Right here, we wish to remark, that this editorial is written for the purpose of making folks realize the necessity for paying taxes in order that the schools may be supported. We have been informed that vast sums are due the schools of Ranger. Ranger needs and should have the best schools in the state. Ranger has good schools, but to maintain those schools it is necessary for citizens to pay their school taxes. If the back school taxes of Ranger were paid, we venture the assertion there will be plenty of money to run the schools and probably a balance left in the treasury.

Steps should be taken by the school board to collect these back taxes, if necessary suit should be brought to collect them. Sentiment should be laid aside and those who are in arrears made to pay up. Without taxes, Ranger can't have good schools. Schools should be taken out of politics. The free schools and the state institutions of higher education in Texas are suffering from too much politics. They are being used as a handball by the wily politician to play with and as a result Texas stands way down in the column of states in literacy and school advantages, although Texas is one of the richest states in the union and the public schools and higher institutions have large funds.

Payment of taxes are necessary to insure good government, good schools and good citizenship, so pay them and have all three, and select business talent where possible to office.

Submarine S-51 Nears Brooklyn With Its Dead

By United Press. NEW YORK, July 7.—The submarine S-51, raised Monday after nine months on the bottom of the ocean, was reported drawing near Hell Gate at daybreak today, having spent the night in steady progress down Long Island sound.

Towed by tugs, it was making about four knots an hour. At about 10 o'clock this morning, it was planned to bring it through Hall Gate and thence to the Brooklyn navy yard where it should arrive during the afternoon.

SUBMARINE AGAIN HAS HARD LUCK

NEW YORK, July 7.—At what seemed a triumphant end of one of the greatest salvage operations ever undertaken in these waters, the Submarine S-51 in tow for the Brooklyn navy yards went aground today on a Man-of-War rock within the confines of greater New York City. Naval authorities immediately rushed tugs to the scene and officers stated they expected to float the craft shortly.

Eastland Water Company Organized

(Continued from page one.) company, the doctor said the time was ripe to get on with the job, money must be spent for the bottling plant and the shipment of the water throughout the state after an intensive campaign of advertising.

Unlimited Supply

The flow of water and volume of water was discussed. A test of the supply during which two men pumped at one of the wells for two hours, from which 250 gallons of water was taken and the water did not lower at all.

It was further stated that the promoters had obtained a lease on 26 acres of beautiful land which was to be used for the hotel. This would be converted in a rustic garden while the city had promised to grade the streets leading to the water and bridge a creek close by. Further offers of land were also announced.

$2500 Raised for Stock

C. D. Knight then called for the list of shareholders and it was found that without any canvassing $2500 had been subscribed, all in fifty dollar shares, and that this amount would be doubled in the next few days. It was also stated by Dr. Ferguson that not a cent of the money had been subscribed by the supposed money men of Eastland county, but that it came from the ordinary working people.

Eastland Church Of God Starts Revival Service

A big revival meeting which will indefinitely be announced this morning to take place at the Eastland Church of God by W. S. Hancock, pastor.

Mr. Hancock said that the services will be conducted by the Rev. H. M. Coker of Gorman, and services will be held daily at 10 o'clock in the morning, and at 8 o'clock in the evening. The first service in connection with the revival is on Sunday next.

E. H. Davis and family of Corsicana and Abe Davis and family of Fort Worth were over the Fourth guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Davis, at their home at 501 Elm street. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hayden and family motored to Fort Worth for the week-end and were accompanied home by Miss Lillian Collup of that city who will visit for a while with Miss Hayden.

Wholesome Advice On Cultivation of Cut Flowers

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The task of pioneering and bringing the land under the plow has virtually been accomplished and people now demand that their homes be surrounded by trees, shrubs and flowers.

The rose, chrysanthemum and dahlia are closely identified with the progress of western civilization and decorative plants have no equal, according to the agriculture department. “Roses may be divided into three classes according to the purposes for which they are used. As for lawns and borders, for arbors or trellises, for cut flowers and for other ornamental purposes,” Uncle Sam says.

“Native species and those last modified by man's crossing and selection are most suitable for lawn and border planting. Climbing roses used for arbors and trellises may be handled either to produce abundance of bloom or to produce shade; they cannot do both satisfactorily.

“Cut flower roses need clean culture, severe pruning and special care, therefore they should be planted by themselves in secluded beds and should not be used to beautify the grounds in place of roses appropriate for lawns and hedges.”

Chrysanthemums are hardly perennials and stand out above most other flowers so that they form the backbone of any scheme of herbaceous planting. They can be grown with success almost anywhere except in the extreme north.

Although chrysanthemums may be grown from seed, they are usually raised from cuttings or divisions of established plants. These like the seedlings come to full maturity and flower profusely in a single season, in turn they furnish material for propagation the following year.

The plants require for the best development a rich, well drained soil, an abundance of light and air, sufficient room to develop into good bushes and annual division and replanting in newly fertilized soil.

Dahlias are important in the garden during the late summer and fall. The forms and color variations of the flowers furnish so great a range that almost any personal taste or fancy can be gratified, Uncle Sam believes. Dahlias are obtained from nurseries as dormant roots or as growing plants which have been raised from cuttings.

After a season's growth the plants are dug, the tops cut off and the roots dried off and stored in a dark, dry frost-proof cellar until the following spring. They are then ready to be started into growth and divided into as many pieces as desired or as there are new shoots starting.

Denison Busy In A Building And Improving

DENISON, Texas, July 5.—New buildings are going up rapidly in Denison. The Southwestern Bell Telephone company is making plans now for a new two-story telephone exchange that will be ready for occupancy in August.

The Daily Herald will move into its new two-story office building in September. The Galbreath-Pox Motor company is constructing a new plant which, it is said, will be modern in every detail. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars is being spent on an addition to the high school and one of the ward schools. The Southern Utilities Ice company has purchased a plot of land on which they will soon start erection of a storage and service plant in addition to their present factory and cold storage plant.

Guess No. 644

Spanish newspapers report that King Alfonso's present trip to England is being made in an attempt to arrange the marriage of his eldest daughter, the Infanta Beatrice, to the Prince of Wales. Anyhow, one guess seems as good as another. Above is a recent photograph of the princess; Wales is shown in the inset.

Superintendents Of Hospitals Are In A Conference

AUSTIN, July 7.—Superintendents of all state hospitals are here conferring with the state board of control in making budget recommendations for the biennial appropriations to be requested of the next legislature.

It is agreed that at least four new buildings will be required in the next two years to cost $800,000 to take care of the normal increase in the insane in this state.

Mrs. J. P. Reese, Mrs. Georgie Reese and Miss Oline Reese of Brownwood was in Eastland yesterday at the county superintendent's office. Mr. C. E. Sprill, school patron of Bedford was in Eastland at the county superintendent's office, where he conducted business on behalf of the school.

Early Treatment Of Children Will Avoid Insanity

By E. BOSWORTH McCREADY, M. D., member Gorgas Memorial Institute. (Written for the United Press) CHICAGO, July 7.—Of every 1,000 children who survive the dangers of birth, infancy and early childhood, 10 are definitely feeble-minded, 40 will become insane, 80 will enter prisons and other correctional institutions, and an incalculable number of others are destined to become nervous invalids, cranks, eccentrics, dependents and misfits of various kinds.

Upon the more normal remainder depends the preservation of civilization and the support of the less fortunate. The Gorgas Memorial realizes that much of this burden of misery is avoidable through early recognition of the signs of abnormality and the institution of proper prevention and remedial measures.

The abnormal child can sometimes be recognized by his physical appearance alone. Thus his head may be out of proportion with the rest of his body, overlarge or too small. A protruding, swollen tongue, dry wrinkled skin and unusual distribution of fat characterizes a condition of defective mental and physical development due to absence or deficiency of the thyroid gland. In these children cure may follow proper treatment.

Extreme and persistent irritability and fretfulness even in babyhood indicate an unstable nervous system, often including mental defect. On the other hand, the extremely good baby who lies quietly all day long without interest in his surroundings may by this inertia, slow his deficiency.

Every year, 50,000 individuals enter our state hospitals for the insane. Fifty thousand in one year; one million in twenty years while an untold number remain outside who, while perhaps not actually insane, are a burden and a vexation to themselves, a worry and a source of sorrow to their families and friends.

Of this multitude of people, in one generation, destined to lose so much of the fullness of life, many can be saved through early recognition of their tendencies followed by proper preventative measures. Habitual perversity, the tendency to do always the opposite thing, and to resist simple and sensible directions is significant. Bullying and its opposite of self-depreciation and self-consciousness both have their origin in a sense of inferiority, a mental state which presents serious dangers to mental equilibrium.

Tantrums are of serious import. Violent likes and dislikes, strange fears, a constant craving for excitement, disregard for the rights and feelings of others, lack of proper affections, sleep-walking, night-terrors, piffing, persistent and useless lying and cruelty, are all conditions which require attention. A lively imagination is a valuable asset, but when the child loses its sense of reality in his imaginings and occupies himself either in seclusive day-dreaming or in useless and fantastic fabrication, the problem is a serious one.

Torrential Rain Falls In Ranger In The Forenoon

The rain that fell in torrents just before noon today seemed to be of narrow extent, as it was reported as not extending as far as Olden. It evidently concentrated its fury in this vicinity and enacted its favorite role, that of tumbling down the main streets of the city, filling the streets brimful and then rushing to a trusting place in the dip on South Commerce street. As usual the Big West Texas Coaches were the only vehicles able to stem the tide at that point, when it was at the peak.

Chief Murphy was on the scene, with some of his men and other volunteers aiding those who ventured in and were not able to get out.

Boys in bathing suits were enjoying the quickly improvised bathing pool and little children were wading in the streams on the streets and down by the station while traffic was tied up at the same old stand.

The rain was of great benefit to the crops, coming too late to hurt much of the grain, as practically all of it has been cut, stacked and much of it threshed.

Andy Anderson Sets Forth Six Rotary Objects

The six objects of Rotary, as clearly set forth by Andy Anderson, at the noon luncheon of Ranger Rotary Club today, was followed by a general round table discussion of the subject, which revealed a deep and abiding knowledge of the various objects on the part of the club members. So far reaching is each object of Rotary, so many points of interest are brought out, that before they club realized it, all the time allotted to the program, which was in charge of S. P. Boon, had slipped by.

A goodly lunch was enjoyed by practically every Ranger Rotarian, with only one visitor, a Rotarian from Mineral Wells.

3 Hi-jackers Rob Two Men In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, July 7.—Two hold-ups netted three hi-jackers in Fort Worth $75, last night. W. B. Warner, a laundry wagon driver was attacked in his back yard, rendered unconscious and robbed of $60. J. L. Abbott, manager of a machine shop was the second victim. He was robbed of $14.75 in his office.

Abbott, who had gone into the shop through the front door, heard a noise at the rear. Going around the large body of a wagon which was being built in the rear of the shop, he encountered two men.

Father and Son In Competition On Golf Course

COLUMBUS, O., July 5.—Officials of the 1926 National Open at the Scioto Country club have not advertised the tournament as a “father and son” affair, but there is a chance that it may develop into such—at least in one instance.

George Sargent, “bro” at the club, where the national tournament will be held July 8, 9 and 10, won the national open in 1909. Sargent's eldest son, Alfred, still in his teens, is considered one of the best golfers hereabouts.

Both probably will be entered for the qualifying round prior to the open proper. Young Sargent has bettered par—72—a number of times. What he chiefly needs is experience.

Davidson Men In Ranger Hold Open Air Rally

(Continued from page one.) is a Cinch” is true gospel, for when the final run off came no Ferguson votes would go to Moody and no Moody votes would go to Ferguson and that Lynch Davidson would poll the winning vote.

Mr. Davidson's experience in the legislature, in the state senate, and as lieutenant governor has trained him in statecraft, he stated, as few men are trained and that neither Dan Moody nor the Fergusons have had the temerity to offer one word derogatory to the capability of Lynch Davidson in handling the affairs of the governor's office.

“More business in government, less government in business” is a strong enough platform, to his thinking to elect Mr. Davidson to the high post of the next governor of Texas, regardless of all the other planks in his platform.

“We need a honest-to-goodness business administration. We need to get down to progressive business. Our watchword for the future should be “Onward and Upward” and Lynch Davidson is the man who stands for the betterment of our great commonwealth,” the speaker said.

In speaking of James E. Ferguson, he said that he was one of the most astute politicians and for his own purposes he had constructed a mud hole and shouted to the youthful attorney, Dan Moody, “Come on in Dan, the mud is fine and good for what ails you,” and his wiles and guiles had made Dan fall for his bait and hold for his platform “Fergusonism!” “Follow Me!”

French Deputy Raises German Debt Spectre

PARIS, France, July 7.—Deputy Franklin Bouillon, today, raised before the eyes of the French nation the spectre of a Franco-American debt settlement which might one day permit Germany to purchase the French obligations and come knocking at the gates of Paris demanding payment.

“I appeal to America that it is impossible after what we have done to see the country that saved the world crushed by the demands of the allies' creditors,” said the deputy.

Premier Briand intervened to reiterate that the government's decision that the financial situation is insolvent without a previous ratification of the debt funding agreements with England and the United States.

McCormick Line Steamer Suffers Severe Fire Loss

PORTLAND, Ore., July 7.—The McCormick line passenger steamer Newport was damaged by fire to the extent of $5,000 and a general cargo suffered a loss of approximately $1,000 at an early hour this morning. After burning four hours, the blaze was gotten under control.

They say the farm crisis will increase the cost of living. Guess it will. Everything does.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

John and Fay Milburn buy a home when their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is copy writer and partner lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are:

Noel and Vera Boyd, whose marriage is strictly "modern."

Pat and Marian Forbes, who have three children and whose domestic life is unhappy because of Pat's roving tendencies. Previous chapters told how:

John was fascinated on meeting Nell Orme, of whom Pat Forbes hints that she is having trouble with her husband.

When Fay took Judith, the baby, to visit her parents, John "ran around" a good deal, mostly with Pat Forbes.

When Fay returned, gossip had retailed some of his doings, and sharp quarrels between him and Fay followed.

lowed, one of which drove him "out on a tear." Fay, learning he had been out again with other women, threatened to leave him if it was repeated.

John becomes aware that people are talking about him, and Nathaniel Graham, his partner, charges his doings are damaging the firm's reputation. Vera Boyd invites John to tea, and there he finds Nell Orme. He resolves not to go again, as he is aware of Vera's propensity for promoting "affairs," but go he does, and this time he madly takes Nell in his arms. A little later Marian Forbes comes in on them.

Fay learns of it and announces her intention of leaving. He tries to dissuade her and a violent quarrel follows, during which Fay strikes him in the mouth, and John leaves the house. When he comes back, Fay is packing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XLV

Blindly, and without purpose, John descended the stairs, his mind a seething furnace of resentment. To be treated like this—as if he were a criminal! How could Fay do it? Well, she wouldn't, if she thought anything of him, and he wondered if, indeed, he really had killed her love for him.

He wandered into the kitchen, spotless and gleaming. Here—a thing of resplendent nickel and porcelain—was their gas range, which Fay had taken so much pleasure in buying and which had given the two of them so much joy as they prepared their little informal Sunday suppers. He wondered, dully, what was to become of it, now that Fay had made up her mind to leave it, and it did not occur to him at all as ridiculous that he should feel pity for it—inanimate though it was.

Across the room was the white enamel table with its porcelain top. He had surprised Fay with that table—had bought it one day on impulse, knowing that Fay had wanted it and knowing, also, that she was waiting until they could afford it. Cautious, economical Fay. Practical Fay. That was it—she was too darned practical. Given a little more imagination, she might have understood him better. He shrugged. Oh, well! His glance, roving idly around the room, fell on the cupboard above the table. On the second shelf, he knew, was a bottle of whiskey—and forgetfulness. Well, if Fay was going to drive him to it, all right. He opened the door to the cupboard and pulled forth the bottle. He did not bother about a glass, but drank fiercely, bent on drowning his troubles.

Fay was proceeding calmly with her plans for leaving. Breakfast the next morning was a cold, emotionless affair, and John, as he played abstractedly with Judith, was nigh to breaking Fay's heart, and she was compelled to turn her head to hide the compassion and the tears that were in her eyes. A word from either might have bridged the chasm that had yawned between them since yesterday, but "It would be better," he said, "if we were divorced, if you think those of me."

Fay had issued her ultimatum, and John now was too proud to make any more advances. If he had said, at that terrible breakfast, "Fay, I need you. I can't let you go," she would have melted, for she had cried ceaselessly throughout the sleepless night and she was a little agitated and in terror of her contemplated act. Such trifles as what she would tell her mother and father when she returned to them were trifles no longer now that they loomed as actualities, and they in themselves would have been enough to dissuade her if John only had said the proper thing.

But John, as he wiped his lips with his napkin after drink his morning glass of orange juice, said, "I suppose you're still bound and determined to go through with this silly thing," and Fay could only nod. "Well, then," he went on grimly, "I'll give you my check for $5,000 today."

"Five thousand dollars! What for?" "Have you forgotten that you've invested $1,500 in my business when we were married?" "Oh—that. But—"

"Well, it's about trebled in value—a little better, even. Five thousand ought to cover it. We won't bother about a few odd dollars."

Fay protested. "I don't want it. You're going to get it whether you want it or not." His jaw had set grimly. He knew he was punishing her.

"But you can't spare it—not right now." "That makes no difference. The minute you cease being my wife you cease being my partner. You came to me with your money when I needed it pretty badly. I don't want any debts like that hanging over me when you pull out."

"When you pull out!" The words rang in Fay's ears, pounded against her senses, seemed to tear at her heart. To put it so cruelly—pulling out!

"But I don't need it," she was saying. "Now, look here," he stated cruelly, "you don't want any sentimental ties between us when you pull out, do you? You want to make a clean break, don't you?"

She bent her head down over her plate and made no answer. "Come," he said sharply, "answer me!"

Fay was realizing the peculiarity of the situation she was finding herself in. Last night he had been the aggressor, had driven her to this step. And now this morning the situation seemed to have been reversed. It was she, it seemed, on whose shoulders rested the whole responsibility. It was decided—fair for John thus to martyrize himself.

He was saying, "I suppose it will be some time before you get your divorce"—she flinched at the word—"and get the matter of alimony straightened out."

At that she lifted her head sharply and said that she hadn't once thought of alimony, nor did she intend to accept any.

But he ignored her. "Until then, I'll send you any amount you want each week until the court fixes an amount."

"I tell you," she cried defiantly, "I don't want any. I won't accept any."

"Do you suppose," he asked with weight of the tragedy that was pressing down on him. His very life, he realized, was being torn up by the roots. What was he going to do without Fay? What were people going to say about him? What would his friends ask him? He could see Dick Menefee now—good old Dick. What would Dick think? And Margaret, and Clara—and Nat Graham. He swore bitterly at the thought of Graham. Hell with him! Very likely Nat would hold him to account for something else now, and doubtless blame him the next time something went wrong.

And Fay—why didn't she exhibit some common sense? By the Lord Harry, he wouldn't say or do a thing to hold her back now. He had gone to her, pleading, almost on his knees, and she had spurned his advances. Very well, the next move was up to her. He'd show her he had some pride.

And Judith—here he paused and almost cried out with pain at the thought of her being taken away from him. What right had Fay to take her away? He supposed, too, that Fay would never realize the sacrifice he was making in giving her up without a sign of a struggle. But naturally Fay wouldn't understand. She wouldn't see that his willingness to give Judith up to her came from the fact that any other course would be decidedly unfair to Judith. To deprive her of her father was bad enough, but to deprive her of mother and father both—and that's what it would amount to if he had kept her and had to hire a housekeeper to take care of her—would be unthinkable.

"God!" he groaned aloud, and great tears rolled out of his eyes. The little car swerved sharply, and he realized with a sense of shock that he had taken his hand off the steering wheels. Well, that's what he felt like doing—running into a wall, or over a cliff, or something. Anything to keep from facing this awful thing that loomed ahead—anything to bring pain—and regret—to Fay.

The day passed somehow, and early evening found him once more home with Fay, where he first thing he did was to give her the check for $5,000.

"I'll leave the matter of dismissing the maid to you," she told him at dinner.

"Very well," he said wearily. "I got a drawing room on the tenth-twenty-nine tomorrow morning. Haven't wired your folks yet?"

"No. I'll do it tonight."

"All right. Anything I can help you with?"

"Not a thing." Silence once more descended on them, thick, terrible silence, and Fay, to keep from screaming aloud,

He experienced the greatest pang of his life when he kissed Judith goodby.

ways get my old secretarial job back. However, I won't have to work, of course. Mother and dad will see to that."

"I don't want them to support Judith," he insisted. "I'll send you a check for $25 a week. That ought to be enough to take care of her."

"It's too much. I—"

"I insist. I'll send it every week. I'd send it even if it took my last penny." He rose. "I'll have to go down to the office. Got an appointment I can't dodge. But I'll be back early and help you if I can. When do you intend to leave?"

His matter-of-factness was exasperating. Fay thought, Well, if it didn't mean any more to him than that, she'd show him she could be indifferent, too.

"I'd like to leave tonight, but I hardly think I can get ready. Suppose I take the morning train?"

He showed a little surprise, though not much. "So soon? Well, all right, shall I get your ticket?"

"Not at all." He was maddeningly polite. He bent down to Judith, kissed her and then, bowing slightly to Fay, departed. And Fay, left alone with Judith once more, and appalled at the dread finality of the step she was taking, did the only thing that was natural for her to do; she sat down and cried, and hugged Judith to her breast and cried some more.

"John," she kept saying over and over, "if you only cared. But you don't, you don't."

And John, on his way down to the office, at last began to feel the gigantic mockery. More than once John was on the verge of pleading with Fay to change her mind, and more than once Fay, on the point of surrender, was tempted to seek comfort in his arms. But pride ruled, and at the railroad station John experienced the greatest pang of his life when he kissed Judith goodby. What would tomorrow be like with out her and Fay—and the next day, and the next, and the next?

"THE MIDNIGHT FLYER" A SPECTACULAR MELODRAMA

A roaring romance of the rails, distinctive both in setting and characterization, comes to the Lark Theatre for a one-day engagement. "The Midnight Flyer," F. B. O.'s latest spectacular melodrama, has its first showing here. The locale is the feud-infested West Virginia mountains, and the antipathy of some of the irascible old mountaineers to "the railroaders" starts the action rolling "High" wide and Landsome.

Locomotives give four puffs for every turn of the driving wheels, so they should quit smoking so much.

English Barber Shops Now Serve Real Cocktails

By United Press. LONDON.—"Will you have a cocktail, sir, while you are waiting for your shave?"

This is the latest tonsorial greeting in London's fashionable barber shops. One of the most exclusive of the Bond street barber shops has just installed a bar on the floor above the barber shop. Smoking, reading and card rooms have also been established in connection with the bar to while away the ennui of protracted waiting.

Announcement of the opening of the bar has inspired facetious Americans to suggest that perhaps the drink is designed to alleviate the tortures of an English shave.

 Bobby Jones is one of the few amateurs who have copied national open honors. Jones came through in 1923 after a thrilling play-off with Bobby Cruickshank. Last year the Atlanta artist tied Willie Macfarlane, only to lose out in extra rounds. A short time later Jones went on to win the national amateur at Oakmont. This year the hopes to grab another title in the open at Scioto.

To Meet Paul Berlenbach for Light-Heavy Crown

Jack Delaney, popular New England pugilist, will get another chance to win the light heavyweight championship when he clashes with his old rival, Paul Berlenbach, next month. Delaney, who many experts claim is the most likely-looking contender for Dempsey's laurels (a few years hence) has met the Astoria Assassin twice before. Back in 1924 he kayped Berly in four sessions just at the time the latter was hanging up a string of successive knockout victories of unusual length. Last December they met again, Berlenbach winning on points after Delaney had all but duplicated his 1924 triumph. Delaney stands a good chance of depriving Paul of his laurels this time; in fact such a feat wouldn't cause any great surprise.

Rees Is Father Of National Open Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—The honor of inaugurating the 1926 National Open Golf championship at the Scioto Country Club here, July 8, will be bestowed on Harry Rees, of the Westwood Country Club, Cleveland, and George Heron, of the Meadow Brook Club, Westbury, N. Y. They are booked to begin the gruelling medalist play at 8:45 a. m., from No. 1 tee.
 Thereafter, at five minute intervals, without any other intermissions, 151 other golfers are scheduled to tee off. And they will continue to drive off their lily-white spheres until 3:05 p. m., when John A. Junor, of the Portland Golf Club, Portland, Ore., the last man on the long list, tees off.
 Play is by two-some, and medal scores are to count in the final adjudication of the winner.
 According to the starting schedule, many of the better-known golfers will tee off during the morning hours. Some of the early-hour starters include, Leo Diegel, Bill Mehlhorn, Harry Hampton, Bobby Cruickshank, Al Watrous, Jack Hutchinson, Chick Evans, Willie MacFarlane, Mike Brady, Emmet French, Walter Hazen, Gene Sarazen and Cyril Walker.

 Afternoon pairings will find Jim Barnes, Roland MacKenzie, George von Elm, Bobby Jones, Macdonald Smith and Watts Gunn, ready to begin their play for National Open honors.

Washington University Record Great

By PAUL W. WHITE (United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK—Southern California came east and won the track and field championships, Washington University has taken the majority of crew honors in the past five years, and intercollegiate tennis titles have fallen to athletes from the Far West.
 There seems to be no sport in which the Pacific Coast colleges and universities are not the equal or better of the eastern institutions. The growth of competition in all fields of athletics west of the Rockies has been nothing short of remarkable.
 Recently at Poughkeepsie when Washington won the Varsity crew race for the third time in four years by outdaring the Navy in an thrilling finish as ever has been seen in the 29 years of the regatta has been run off on the Hudson, attention was directed at the prominent place the Seattle school occupies in intercollegiate sports.
 First, of course, there is crew. In 1922 and 1925, the oarsmen were second at Poughkeepsie; in 1923, 1924 and 1926, they were first. As if these laurels were not enough the junior Varsity has travelled east for two consecutive years and taken the "jay-vee" race.
 Last year the Huskies were the Pacific Coast leaders in football. They were chosen to meet Alabama in the Tournament of Roses game and were beaten, 20 to 19, only after a heartrending battle. Sports writers throughout the country named Washington as one of the four best eleven for 1925.
 The Washington also won the baseball championship of the Pacific Northwest this year and the team plans a two month's tour of the country next season with a trip to Japan following.
 For two straight years the women's rifle team at Washington has won the intercollegiate championship and the men's team also won this year.
 Then, to make the record complete, we have Wallace Scott who won the intercollegiate tennis championship two years ago and Jack Westland who was the runner-up in intercollegiate golf.
 There are few colleges anywhere which can compare with that record.

Weather permitting, Rev. W. H. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist church, will begin his series of community evangelistic meetings tonight. The first meeting has been scheduled to be held in the Young Addition community, which will be followed by others in the different sections of the city. It is planned to hold the open air services on the campus of the school.
 He will be assisted by Mr. Vaughan, his assistant pastor, who will lead the song services, and other notable men of the state will speak.

 Mrs. Ola Childress, guardian of the estate of Everett E. Harper, a non compos mentis, having filed in our county court-at-law her final account of the condition of the estate of said Vernon Miller, a non compos mentis numbered 1450 on the probate docket of Eastland county, together with an application to be discharged from said guardianship.

You are hereby commanded, that by publication of this writ for 20 days in a newspaper printed in the county of Eastland, Texas, you give due notice to all persons interested in the account for final settlement of said estate, to appear and contest the same if they see proper so to do, on or before the September term, 1926, of said county court-at-law, commencing and to be holden at the courthouse of said county, in the city of Eastland on the 13th day of September, A. D. 1926, when said account and application will be acted upon by said court.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at my office in the city of Eastland, this 6th day of July, A. D. 1926.
 ERNEST H. JONES, Clerk, County Court-at-Law, Eastland County.
 By E. E. LAYTON, Deputy.
 I hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of the original writ now in my hands.
 R. W. EDWARDS, Sheriff Eastland County.

Moody Will Visit Eastland For Talk July 21; He Reports

Dan Moody, attorney general and candidate for governor announced through his managers here that he will speak in Eastland on the afternoon of July 21. He will speak from the courthouse steps.
 Moody it was stated plans to cover the whole state once more before the end of the campaign covering up those spots left untouched during his previous drive through the country.

Such was the record of this youth, clad in a new suit, and wearing a jaunty straw hat, who was setting out from his native town to a world of unknown scenes. He was met at Louis by other American boys and girls and teachers who had been culled from all parts of the United States to participate in the American Independence Week program and who undoubtedly will aspire to serve the nation as men and women ranking high.

LOBBYISTS NOW THING OF PAST IN WASHINGTON

By PAUL R. MALLON,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Gone are days when lobbyists sat around the halls of congress, button-holing senators and representatives upon pending legislation.

The crudeness of those times has been replaced by high finesse of the legislative agents now in Washington to emphasize the viewpoint of their employers on bills before the congress.

In the olden days highly paid workers fraternized with senators and congressmen and reports of money exchanges were frequent and persistent. The late Senator Robert M. La Follette, Sr., has told in his book how he heard a vote bought in the cloak-room of the house of representatives one night for $500. But all that is gone now.

In these days very big group of industrialists has a public relations department and a legislative agent. The duties of these agents ostensibly are merely to keep the home office informed of the progress of legislation in congress. When hearings are held upon bills in which they are interested they appear and present the side of their employers. Their profession is highly respected.

The good legislative agents know the first name of every senator and every congressman who is interested in subjects in which they are interested. There is no hint of corruption. There are no stories of vote buying. One of the reasons may be that there is no need to try. There is at least one senator or congressman who represents the viewpoint that the agents desire to express and that senator or congressman is only too anxious to champion that viewpoint to such an extent as he may desire, without pecuniary aid.

There are stories founded or unfounded as they may be going around that when an agent wishes to reward a senator for aid given, that the stock market may sometimes be used as a channel. He may give the senator a tip on a certain stock and a small investment might net a valuable personal return.

The mere information that a certain big corporation is against or for a certain bill is however now of sufficient importance to accomplish the same results as were accomplished in the days by lavish use of funds for entertainment and interest.

Too Many Derbies To Suit English Is Cry of Sports

By United Press.
LONDON.—British racing circles are again clamoring for the extinction of all the "secondary" Derbies in the world.

There are now, according to the records here seventeen races throughout the world which call themselves "Derbies"; that, according to pundits, is exactly sixteen too many.

There is only one real, genuine "Derby" and that, it is maintained, is the one founded by the 12th Earl of Derby in 1780 on the great downs at Epsom.

But Scotland, Ireland and Wales has each its own "Derby" and even the King of England has, in the past, called one of his pet races during his own private race meeting at "Royal Ascot" by the familiar and affectionate name; he has, up to this year, called the third race in his private program on Ascot Wednesday "the Ascot Derby." Yielding gracefully to the purists, King George this year called that race the "King Edward VII Stakes."

In each of the Dominions there are two or three "Derbies" and in the United States there are the Kentucky Derby, the Latonia Derby, the Brooklyn Derby and the Chicago Derby.

Tests Reveal That Filtered Sunshine Fails

By United Press.
WOOSTER, Ohio, July 7.—Experiments conducted at the Ohio experiment station here indicate that sunshine filtering through window glass, upon infants and invalids fails to build health and vitality.

Dr. R. M. Bethke, conducting the study, is using three groups of baby chicks, a hundred to a group. Each group is housed and fed exactly alike—the only difference being in the sun porches attached to each of the three houses.

One sun porch is covered with window glass; a second with a substitute for glass, and the third with an ordinary wire screen. Results carefully kept and recorded by Dr. Bethke have revealed that the group of chicks kept under the wire screen and the glass substitute, are even in size, and all healthy and vigorous.

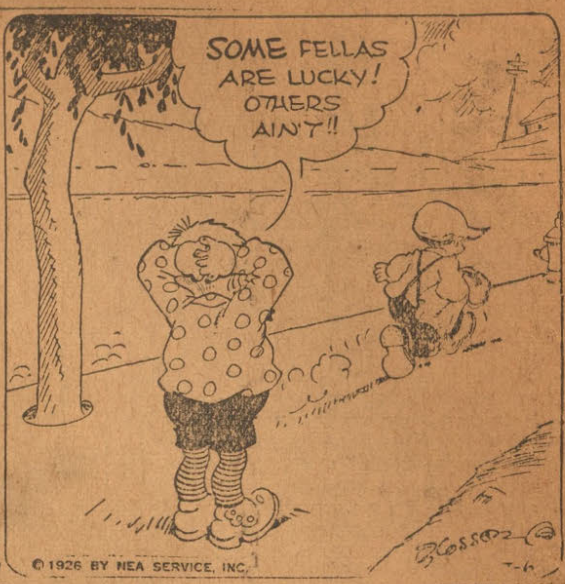

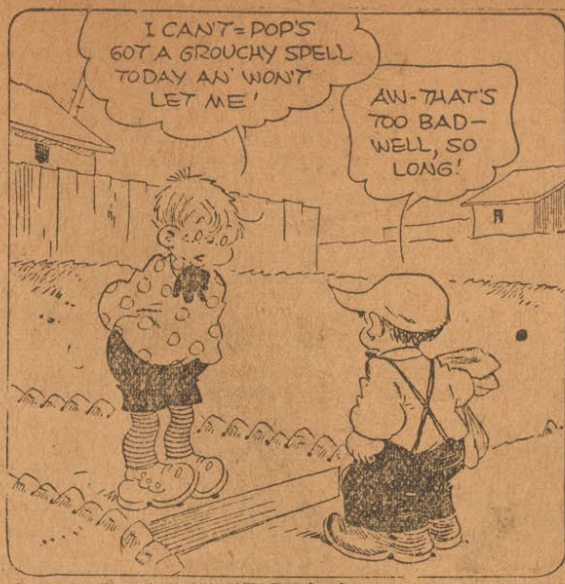

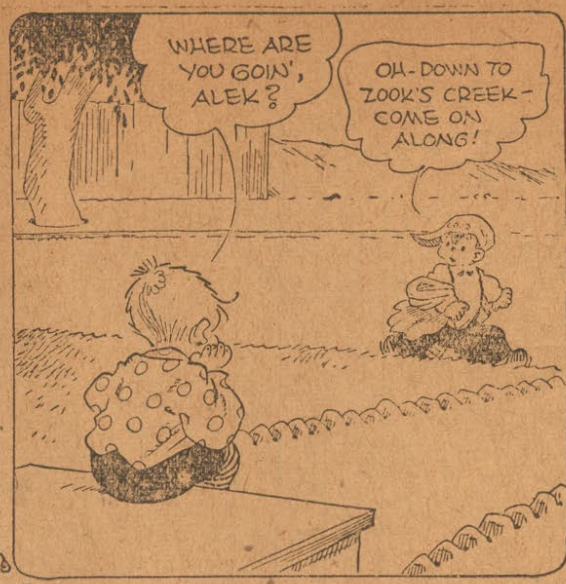

But the group securing its share of Old Sol's rays strained through the window glass, is a sore and motley crew—some, larger, some smaller than others, many of them sickly, puny weaklings, and almost all of them afflicted with "stiff-legs" or rickets, causing them to fall over themselves as they walk.

The lesson to be found from these tests, Dr. Bethke points out, is that window glass prevents the passage of the all-important ultra-violet rays, necessary to life and health.

"Sun" parlors, especially where they are to be used for babies," Dr. Bethke advises mothers, "should have one section of some other substance than glass through which the sun's rays can reach the infant direct. The crib can be moved as the sun passes westward.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM

A man was one day visiting a lunatic asylum, and while walking in the grounds he met a patient to whom he said: "Well, how did you get here?" The man replied: "Well, sir, you see I married a widow with a grown-up daughter, and then my father married my wife's daughter, and that made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law and my father became my stepson. Then my stepmother, the daughter of my wife, had a son, and that boy, of course, was my brother because he was my father's son, and then he was the son of my wife's stepdaughter and therefore my grandson, and that made my grandfather of my stepbrother. Then my wife had a son, so my mother-in-law, the stepfather of my son, is

Rabbit Raising Good Producer Of Side Line Money

WASHINGTON.—Saving and earning possibilities in rabbit raising as a side line for extra pocket money and at the same time a pleasure is easily accomplished, Uncle Sam advises.

"Rabbits are gentle and attractive. Their meat is as fine as that of poultry and a 10 pound doe can easily raise in a year 20 young, which at five months will produce not less than 50 pounds of meat," he points out in a Department of Agriculture bulletin.

"Half an hour of time a day, and some hay, roadside weeds and refuse from orchard, garden and kitchen, supplemented by a small quantity of grain, cover the entire cost of production."

Uncle Sam says one Kansas City resident raises about 400 pounds of rabbit meat a year for his own table and a large religious institute in Nebraska reports that it is raising rabbit instead of poultry as the meat is more satisfactory than chicken.

Rabbit skins have a value also. The fur from thousands of tons of dried rabbit skins is annually manufactured into felt hats. Under a variety of names the skins are also used for ladies furs, the general names being cony, near seal, electric seal, and cony leopard.

Paid Up

Fifteen years ago Samuel Hayden, business man, failed in Clay Center, Kas., and went $15,000 into debt. He vowed to pay off every cent, and did so at the rate of $1,000 a year. Now he has just paid off the last of it, at the cost of much self denial. "It's the happiest day of my life," he says. He now lives in Chicago.

MEXICAN GYROSCOPE

MEXICO CITY.—Manuel Carlos Reyes, a Mexican inventor has developed a gyroscope for airplanes which he claims will enable them to land vertically. He calls the device a "helioplano" and he left for San Antonio where he will demonstrate the machine. It is reported to differ from the La Cievra invention in Spain and not to conflict with La Cievra's patents.

One Automobile To Every 6 Persons In United States

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—One automobile to every 71 persons of the 1,750,000 that inhabit the earth; one to every six of the 115,000,000 in the United States; and one to every 1,200,000 of the 6,000,000 in Afghanistan.

These ratios were announced today by the Commerce Department, as the result of a survey of 89 nations. Ninety per cent or more of the cars in nineteen countries were of American make.

The United States led both in numbers and percentage with its 16,000,000. Hawaii, with one automobile to every eleven persons was second. Canada, third, with one to thirteen. New Zealand fourth, with one to 14; Australia fifth with one to 21, and Denmark sixth with one to 51.

PEKING TRAFFIC RULES

By United Press.
PEKING.—Peking motorists must henceforth refrain from driving their cars "at full speed" through the streets, says a police proclamation.

Two reasons are given: First, because of dry weather the streets are full of dust which is detrimental to health when inhaled. Second—apparently an after thought on the part of the police—accidents should be avoided.

Baylor College Adds Several New Teachers To Corps

By United Press.
BELTON, Texas July 6.—The faculty of Baylor college here, has added a number of new instructors who will take up their duties with the beginning of the 1926 fall term in September.

The new professors, according to college authorities, are composed of a great many who have attained the degree of Ph.D. or those who have completed the work for that degree and will give the school a faculty composed of fewer instructors with the bachelor's degree than any school in Texas.

Arthur Faguy-Cots will head the department of voice as an addition to the department of fine arts. F. Yantis Roberts from North Texas State Teachers' college and Miss Florence E. Barns from the University of Chicago will be in the English department.

Additions to the French department will be Margaret N. Breck and Jeannette M. Hayward. Mabel Smith from the University of Texas will join the Spanish department.

Prof. A. T. Bawden, formerly of the university at Ottawa, Kan., will be head of the chemistry department. Rose Lewis will be the new head of the department of home economics.

The public speaking department next year will be in charge of Dwayne Orton, formerly of Redlands university in California.

Tail Soon Will Be Wagging Elephant; Says Socialist

By CHARLES P. STEWART. NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON.—Republican insurgency—described by the socialist Congressman Berger as "the elephant's tail"—has reached such proportions in the last week or so that one of two things appears likely to happen:

- 1—Either the tail will shortly be wagging the elephant, or else
- 2—It is quite among the possibilities that the tail will detach itself from the elephant and undertake to be a party on its own account.

To appreciate how formidable the elephant's tail—insurgency—has become, it is first necessary to consider the question:

What is a political insurgent? The answer seems to be that he is a member of a political party who is out of harmony with its leadership to some extent.

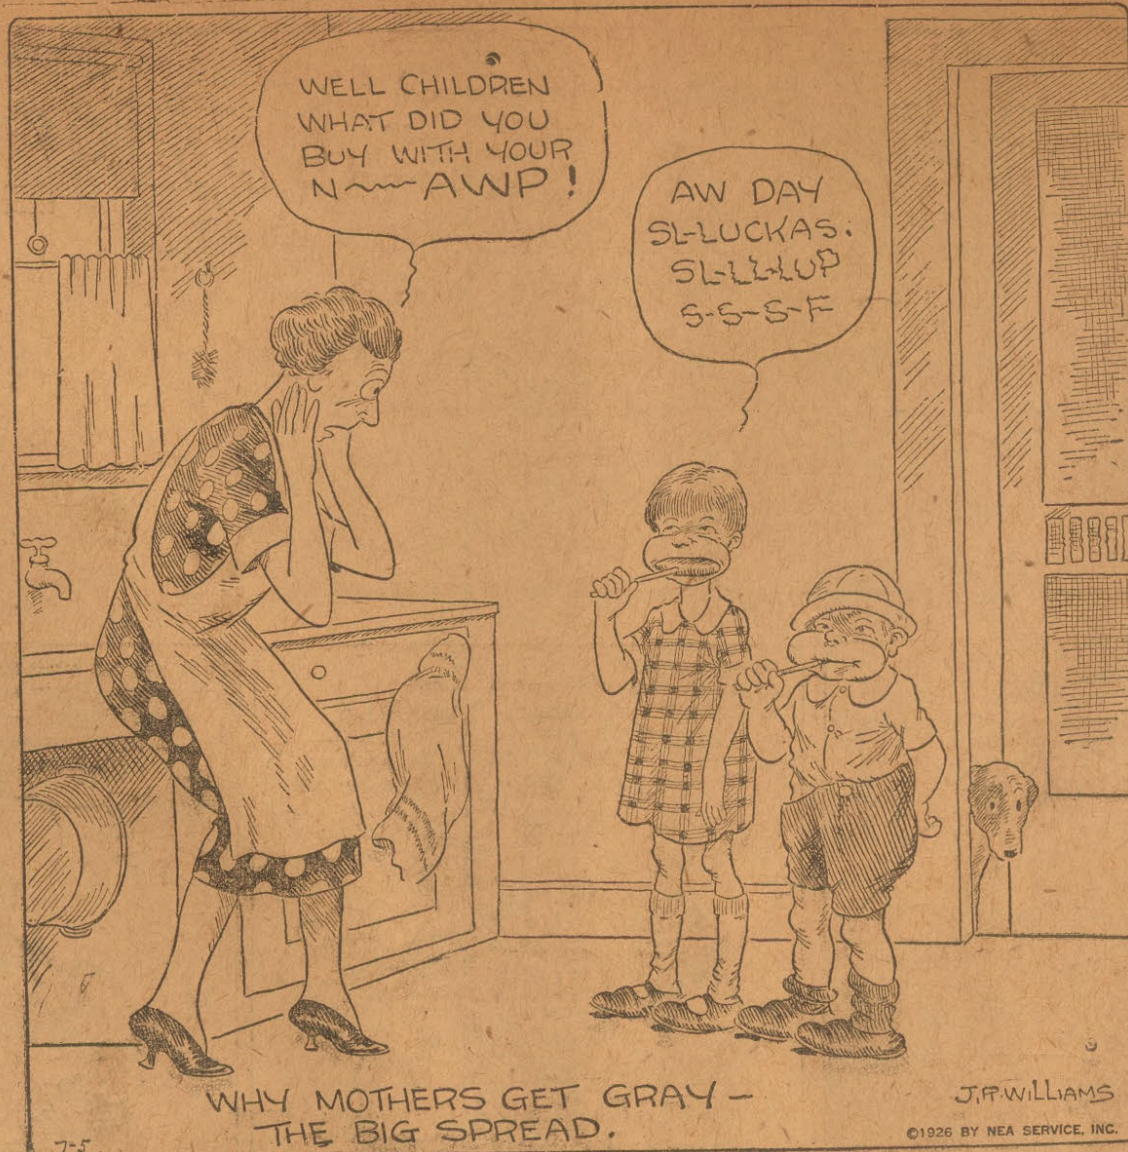

Now President Coolidge, by virtue of his office, at least theoretically is the republican at the present time. Any republican who bolts one of his essential policies becomes an insurgent automatically.

No Coolidge policy is more absolutely an essential one than his policy toward agriculture. It is to this policy that the recent startling spread of republican insurgency is due.

Just how extensive it is throughout the country remains to be seen. Even as to the house of representatives there may be a little uncertainty, the lower house is so unwieldy.

But the senate is easy to size up. If the senate is an index, the elephant and his tail are near the parting of the ways.

English Composer Decries Jazz Music Of the Present Day

By United Press. LONDON, July 7.—Jazz music is carrying the present generation back to the instincts of cavemen and savages, Dr. Henry Coward, prominent English composer and musical authority, told the United Press in an interview today.

Dr. Coward declared that modern dances such as the exaggerated fox-trot and the Charleston, which followed the introduction of jazz as a "fixed standard" of music, have "turned back pages of progress to the drunken revelry or lesser breeds."

"It is not the noise, lack of rhythm or the ugly cleverness of jazz that I object to," Dr. Coward said, "but it is the exploitation of this class of ambitious gaiety which has been injected upon all people as a 'fixed standard' of music for all occasions. 'The jerky rhythms; the hooting, out-of-tone saxophones; the pling-plong beats of the banjos and the grotesque howling and boisterous banging of toys and kitchen utensils is degrading to all artistic sense and possesses atavistic tendencies in carrying civilization back to the first stages of music."

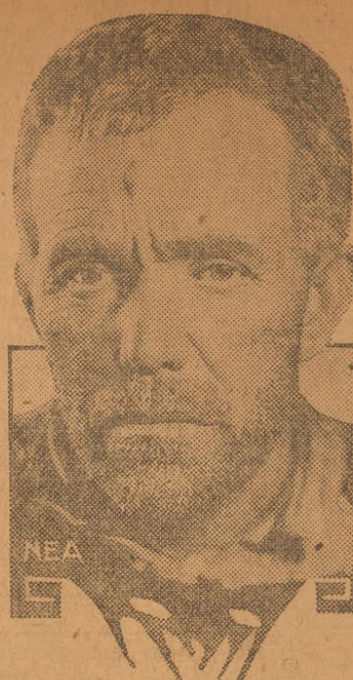

"The antics of bodily movement which have been devised to fit these lundrum sounds can only be compared with the oddity of the dances of the plantation slaves of 80 years ago. Jazz music and jazz dancing is the outgrowth of a degraded taste for art in the better class of people, with the result that the lesser classes saw the acceptance of jazz by people who should know better and felt that they should immediately accept this form of orgy to be 'proper.'"

"The effect of such wild revelries which have followed in the wake of this so-called music, upon the thought, life, action, dress, morals and speech of young people of today is difficult to conceive, especially upon a stage of civilization which should be very much above such a plane."

"The sooner we return to the music of our grandfathers, the sooner will we be able to maintain a better standard of art, of morality such as many a parent now wishes for a son or daughter."

Dr. Coward's recent criticisms of modern music has brought him to the fore as a protester against "jazz." He visited the United States with his famous Sheffield Choir of 220 persons in 1908 and again in 1911. During these tours programs were given at Chicago, Detroit, Rochester, N. Y., Columbus, O., Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Starving

John Middleton, held in Danville, Ky., for stealing chickens, says he has been in the penitentiary once and will starve before he goes again. So he's on a hunger strike, refusing to eat, wash, shave or change his clothes. This picture was taken on the 16th day of his fast.

Modern Homes Do Not Appeal To Russian Peasant

MOSCOW.—"There's no place like home," the peasants of the village Luransk, in the timber district of Northern Russia, told the state timber trust which wanted to take over the village land for its work and proposed to build the peasants new and more comfortable houses in a locality a few miles away.

The only condition on which they consented to move at all was that the new houses should be exact duplicates of the old with few and small windows and dark, smoky interiors.

They watched the architects closely at their work; and one old peasant woman raised such a disturbance when she found that the ceiling in the new house would be higher than it was in the old that the engineers had to raise the floor, at great trouble and expense, in order to still her outcries.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue—no laundry

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors so urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

Texas Melon Crop Will Exceed All Previous Marks

By United Press. FORT WORTH, July 7.—The melon crop in Texas is expected to exceed all previous marks, according to W. D. George, assistant department of agriculture with headquarters here.

Parker county, banner melon growing county of the United States is expected to lose its prestige this season, however due to the bad season last year which reduced this year's average considerably. One thousand and three hundred carloads of melons were shipped from Parker county.

SWEDISH PRIME MINISTER A FORMER STONE CUTTER

By United Press. STOCKHOLM.—A former stone cutter, Carl Gustaf Elman, is now prime minister of Sweden. The democratization of Sweden in the past hundred years is illustrated by the fact that until 1827 no commoner had ever served as member of the royal council, whereas in the present cabinet not a single nobleman is included.

Prizes Offered Smith County Pretty Homes

By United Press. TYLER, July 7.—In the interest of more beautiful homes in Smith county $200 in cash prizes has been offered for the beautification of dwellings and property in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Swann are the honors of the money to be used for the prizes. Miss Oro Huffhines, county demonstration agent will have charge of the contest and the prizes will be given not to those who have the most beautiful rural homes but to those homes where the most improvement is shown toward beautification. The contest closes in May, 1927.
