In speaking of the affairs of the city and the almost clean slate that was being turned over to the incommissioner.

109 miners weer imprisoned Saturday by explosion and fire.

Rescuers reached the seven bodies before noon increasing to a total of 24 the known dead in the mine accident.

The squads of rescuers planned to immediately re-enter the mine in search of 70 men who were in the shaft when the explosion came, and who have not been accounted for.

Little hope was held that any of the 70 entombed men would be alive. Gas and fire have swept through the underground tunnels, mine experts said in giving their opinion that none would be found alive.

FORCING THE ISSUE.

For the past several years a large PRETTY HOME WEDDING number of people, led very probably UNITES YOUTHFUL COUPLE. number of people, led very probably by crafty politicians eager to grasp any issue that will make votes, has been clamoring for government regulation of the oil industry. So far the leaders of the industry have been possessed of sufficient wisdom to ward off the one thing the industry does not want and does not need.

But recent developments within the oil industry have once more given rise to the talk of government regulation, the recent developments referred to being the drastic reductions in the price of crude oil. We do not undertake to say whether the price reductions are justified by conditions in the industry or not. But

UNITES YOUTHFUL COUPLE.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cash, north of town, last evening at 6:30 o'clock, Mrs. Cash's only sister, Miss Thelma Jamison was married to Winston Arthur Timbes, of Breckenridge. Rev. G. D. Robison, pastor of the Presbyterian church, met the young couple at the archway between the living room and the dining room of the home, and officiated using the beautiful ring ceremony.

The bride, whom one always thinks of in terms of petiteness, never looked using the beautiful ring ceremony.

price reductions are justified by conditions in the industry or not. But that is not the point under discussion. The point is that these reductions have caused much dissatisfaction and a recurrence of the cry for government regulation.

And it might be said that the attitude of some of the major oil concerns of the country are not calculated to quiet the cry, but on the contrary are aggravating the situa-

But as it stands now the situation Mrs. Helen Brady Ogle, who has been seriously ill at the city-county hospital in Ranger for the past few is decidedly abnormal and the contention is made that at least some of the larger or so-called major companies are very largely responsible for this abnormal situation.

In this connection it occurs that it might be well for the leaders of the oil industry to busy themselves in an effort to protect the industry, at least from internal strife. While it may be agreed that the major companies do control the industry, it must not be forgotten that the independent producer is still a very vital part of the oil business. This independent element in the industry is not so utterly insignificant that it can be treated with defiance, as some of them contend they have been.

Q. Why does Web Cord add to the mileage of United States Tires?

A. Consider first what happens in a balloon tire-the extent to which the side-wall structure must constantly bend and recover. Combined flexibility and strength are demanded far beyond the needs of high pressure tires.

Web Cord is the completely satisfying answer to these requirements. By soaking the cord in pure, liquid latex, each tiny fibre of the cotton is insulated with rubber. And this more intimate union between cord and rubber is accomplished without the use of weakening chemical solvents.

THIS HAS HAPPENED Billy Wells, head of the glove department of the big Curtis store, wins a prize for her answers to a questionnaire prepared by T. Q. Curtis himself. Billy is suspicious of old T. Q.'s motives, when she ob-serves that Nyda Lomax, Winnie Shelton and the other twenty-two winners of prizes are the very prettiest girls in the store.

When the old man announces a second and amazing contest, Billy feels her suspicions are substantiated, and she resolves to uncover his plans. When she tells Clay Curtis, son of the millionaire owner, about the second contest Clay is instantly suspicious and warns Billy to let the contest alone. Clay has disinherited himself and is now living in the home of the Wells family in a poorer part of the town working in a factory and writing music at night.

He has been thrown down by an actress who refused him when she learned their marriage meant his dis-inheritance. He determines to make his own way, though the life of a working man grates harshly on his sensitive soul—a soul that loves beauty and music above all else. Billy's ambition to be a great concert violinist is the strongest bond between the two friends.

"What is old T. Q. up to?" Billy asks herself the day after the big celebration while she pores over the rules for the second contest. When she sits down to write her essay on

As her exultation died down and reality pressed in upon her—the kitchen was getting bleakly cold—she did remember. All the cynicism which life had forced upon her came rushing back. She seized her pen again and wrote rapidly—eight again and wrote rapidly-eight names.

morale that first week of February registered a drop of at least ten decrees. Tired middle-aged women who had tried and failed to win prizes in the questionnaire contest or who had been too sure of failure or who had been too sire of faintee to try, said cutting, lip-twisting words to the pretty girls who had won, and suspicion and speculation raged about bobbed and shingled and mar-

Billy rather dreaded to go to work on Monday morning, for fear she would find herself besieged with pleas for help by girls who had no gift fer composition. But she found that nearly all of the twenty-five winners of the first contest were strangely reticent as to their hopes and plans for winning the second. People Avoid You If You Are Pimply

A boy or girl may have ever so perfect a face, neck and poise, but if even one little pimple, blotch, bump or red spot shows, it ruins their whole appearance. You know how true this is, because you just naturally avoid people whose appearance is not pleasing.

These things are no longer to be endured, however, because thousands of people are getting rid of the worst and most stubborn cases of such skin diseases easily and quickly by using Black and White Ointment, and Skin Soap. It acts like magic on eczenia, ring-worm, itch, "breaking out," etc.

Dealers everywhere are recommending Black and White Ointment, and skin soap, now. They are economically priced in liberal size packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the liberal 25a size. eral 25c size.

WE know tires—how to select the best—how to help you take care of them, and get the most out of them. We sell Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and Tubes—also Oldfield Tires and Tubes. Both Firestone and Oldfield Tires are scientifically designed and manufactured by The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. Mr. Harvey S. Firestone is President and active head of the Company and under his management many outstanding developments and improvements for economy, safety and comfort in tires have been made. He is the acknowledged leader in lowering tire costs and fought almost a lone battle to secure lower crude rubber prices from a foreign monopoly. He has saved, and is saving, millions of dollars every year for car owners. Through the Firestone policy of selling and distributing direct to dealers through 148 Factory Branches and Warehouses, we receive fresh, clean stocks of tires of the highest quality at prices which are the lowest in the history of the industry, and we pass these advantages in quality and low price on to our customers.

Many housewives are surprised to find rice so low in price, for there are few foods that can compare with it in economy, and practically no other dish holds as much nutriment per unit of food value.

Attention of a wealth and handsome young man and—if she be as good as she is charming—ultimately win his love and a wedding ring.

That is the story, in a nutshell, of "Orchids and Ermine" in which Colleen Moore stars for First National, and which will be the attraction at the Lamb theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mothers Can Get

It is necesmother to have the confidence of her children if she is to have a guiding and helpful influence over them. To get this confidence it is almost essential that the heavy the sent at least one boy and one girl to College Station this summer. The members voted unanimously for the plan. It was decided that the officers of the club should form the committee for raising the necessary funds.

The Comet Rice company has compiled a little booklet which gives many tempting ways of using this one-cent dish as a cereal, vegetable and dessert.

It is love in springtime, with the lilt of laughter and the pathos of heart pangs that at last are healed. In all her brilliant career, Colleen Moore has never done finer or more smeere acting than in this picture with its arresting portrait of life in a great hotel where wealth and luxury mingle with hopes and fears and laughter and love in one grand melange of romance. lange of romance.
