1 DEAD, THREE BURNED IN GAS FIRE

RANGER FIRM MAKES LOWEST BID ON COUNTY-CITY HOSPITAL

Quisile & Andrews Several Thousand Dollars Under Nearest Competitors; Three Lowest Firms to Submit Bids Covering Changes; Contract Awarded Saturday.

A Ranger firm, Quisile & Andrews, with competition from several points in the state, was the lowest bidder on the contract to erect the County and City hospital. Five bids were submitted. They were opened yesterday in the presence of Mayor John M. Ghobson and County Judge C. R. Starnes, who took the authority of their respective bodies to eliminate all but the three bids.

Firms bidding and their offers for reinforced concrete construction, are:

Quisile & Andrews, for building complete, $51,960; for building without plumbing, heating and lighting, $43,805.

Walker Construction company of San Antonio, building, without heating, plumbing and lighting, $45,987.

Walsh & Burney of San Antonio, building complete, $56,300; without heating, lighting and plumbing, $46,490.

These three bids were retained. Those eliminated were submitted by Wattinger Brothers of Austin and K. Shelton of Olden. Shelton's bid on dressed steel construction was $55,489 complete. Wattinger Brothers' bid for the building complete was $56,655.

Several local contractors and also several from out of town submitted bids for the plumbing, heating and lighting.

It was asked that contractors make a separate bid on the building in order that local people might have an opportunity of bidding on the mechanical devices.

Award Contract Saturday. The city commission could not pass on the bids yesterday because of several members being out of town. It plans to meet Friday and make a final acceptance and on Saturday the commissioners' court will meet and make its final selection. The two bodies will have to agree on a contractor.

After other offers had been eliminated, Judge Starnes and Mayor Ghobson asked the three contractors whose bids had been retained to offer such suggestions as would tend to economy in the lowest figures of the hospital but at the same time leave it as substantial as the plans of the architect, G. H. T. Washburn, set out. Mr. Washburn was present and agreed to several such suggestions. These changes will be submitted to the three men and new bids will be asked on them. It is believed that quite a sum in building costs will be saved in this manner.

Citizens Present. About forty citizens were present to witness the opening of the bids, and there was considerable gratification over the fact that a local firm had submitted the lowest figures, with a margin of several thousand dollars. It was pointed out that if they were finally selected as the successful bidders it would mean that the work would be done by Ranger people, and the subcontracts also would go to home workers, whereas, if the contract were let to an out-of-town firm, workmen will be sent in for the job while local people are idle. This is said to be especially true of the larger firms, which maintain their own organization.

DRILLING COMPANY WANTS TO BUILD DAM ACROSS BIG SANDY

BRECKENRIDGE, June 22.—The state board of water engineers sat in judicial session here yesterday and took testimony bearing on the application of the Silwood Drilling company to build a dam across Big Sandy. S. C. Clark and John A. Morris of Austin, represented the board, and W. W. Cave was here for the attorney general's department.

J. M. Guest, owner of the site of the proposed dam, Joe Taylor, H. J. Fodd, A. Sanders and L. D. Ledbetter were present at the hearing. Stockmen claimed that damming the creek would spoil water holes and ruin stock water. The board reserved its decision and has returned to Austin.

TWO WOMEN CHARGED WITH KILLING JUDGE

TULSA, Okla., June 22.—Goldie Gordon, beautiful artists' model, and Mrs. Jessie James, divorced wife of a wealthy Osage Indian, will go to trial in the district court here July 5 for the murder of Judge John J. Devereux, 70, former justice of the state supreme court, who died under mysterious circumstances several weeks ago.

The original information, which charged the women with killing the jurist "by undetermined methods," was changed today to read "with a blunt instrument, and poisonous and hypnotic drugs."

FIRST TRIP OF BOOSTERS TO BE THURSDAY

Baseball, Elks' Carnival and Other Attractions to Be Advertised.

Ranger baseball boosters will make their first trip to neighboring towns tomorrow, leaving here at 8 o'clock, it was decided this afternoon following a luncheon meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

About thirty business men were present and A. Joseph, Ab Pitcock, T. E. Henshaw, Irving Schwartz, J. B. Owens and M. Alexander were named as a committee to make all arrangements for the expedition. The committee selected the "southern route" for the first trip, and this afternoon are lining up business men, having badges printed and otherwise arranging details. It is expected to have a minimum of twelve cars and fifty persons and the committee hopes to exceed these numbers.

Primarily, it will be a baseball booster trip, pointing out to the towns visited that Ranger is the only member of the West Texas league in the oil belt, and inviting visitors to come over and witness the games.

Other amusements features to be found here will not be slighted, however. The big Elks' carnival to be held at Shamrock park on Friday night will be well advertised, and the Gun club, the theaters and other attractions here will be brought to the attention of the towns visited. It is felt that there are many features here which make Ranger well worth visiting, if residents for fifty miles around are informed of them, and the purpose of these trips is to pass out the information.

Other trips will be taken to other towns within the next few weeks. It is probable that a party will go to Strawn, Thurbov and Minges within the next few weeks, and another to Breckenridge and Caddo and the intervening towns, with the purpose of promoting acquaintance and mutual friendliness which will be beneficial to both places.

'ASSISTANT PRESIDENT' IS NEW JOB PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Proposals to create a virtual assistant to the president of the United States are under serious consideration on the part of the United States reorganization committee, it was learned today.

This officer would probably be called an executive secretary. He would make thousands of decisions of lesser importance which now overburden the president, leaving the chief executive free to devote himself to the big affairs of the government.

The president would still have his private secretary, the position now held by George Christian Jr., who would act as present make engagements, meet visitors and be at the president's right hand at all times. The executive secretary will be delegated to keep in touch with the twenty-eight executive bodies of the federal government and supervise their work on behalf of the president.

BRITAIN'S KING AND QUEEN LEAVE BELFAST

LONDON, June 22.—King George and Queen Mary departed from Belfast for London in perfect safety today after presiding at the state opening of parliament here. It was the first time in nearly twenty years that Ulster had received the sovereign of the empire.

AMERICA WINNER IN INTERNATIONAL POLO

HURLINGHAM, England, June 22.—America won back the international polo cup by defeating the English team in the second game of the international tournament here this afternoon. The score was 10 to 6.

By winning the first game with a record score of eleven to four, and defeating the cup holders in the second battle, the series is ended, with a third game not being necessary, under the cup rules.

Crippled Ship Helpless in Airplanes May Help Solve Gulf Storm Flashes S. O. S. "Vanished Fleet" Mystery

BIG GRAFT PLOT

United Press. NEW YORK, June 22.—Evidence, involving twenty corporations and 1,500 men of the building trades industries throughout the United States in a "gigantic graft plot" was placed in the hands of government officials today, when federal authorities joined hands with state investigators.

MILK AND ICE FUND REACHES SUM OF $91

J. H. Beasley ..... $5.00
James Smith ..... 50
The total amount in the milk and ice fund is now $91. From the returns of today it is to be hoped that the release into which Ranger slipped for two days is at an end and the above $5.50 is the beginning of the fund's new life. May this new life continue until every need is filled. Surely this is not a deceiving spurt of generosity!

The present sum in the milk and ice fund will not fill all needs. And the present rate of the growth of the fund will not be able to meet all needs during these hot days. Assistance will come sometime, of course, but how much better it is to help when it does the most good.

'STAR WITNESS' MARRIES ACCUSED, BALKS LAW

LUBBOCK, June 22.—The law has balked here today by the heart of a woman. Miss Mary Steffins, star witness for the state in the first trial of Sam Cates, charged with killing Judge Burton at Crosbyton, last March, married him fifteen minutes before she was called to give her testimony at the second trial.

Miss Steffins' testimony at the first trial resulted in a 99-year sentence for Cates. The sentence was reversed by the court of criminal appeals and a new trial ordered.

The state had notified the young woman that she was to appear on the witness stand at 9:30 today. At 9:15 she gained admission to the consulting room adjoining the district court and was there married to Cates by Justice Smith.

The trial was continued without her testimony as the law reads that a wife cannot testify against her husband.

LEWIS SEEKS SUPPORT.

DENVER, June 22.—John L. Lewis made a bid here today for support of his candidacy for the presidency of the American Federation of Labor on the floor of the convention.

He spoke in favor of a resolution demanding that definite steps be taken to obtain government ownership of railroads and all other basic industries. His address favored the stand of the railroad unions whose support he is attempting to obtain in his campaign.

GALE COMING!

HOUSTON, June 22.—A tornado gale 200 miles wide with the center due to strike the gulf coast somewhere between Corpus Christi and Port Arthur, was reported bearing down out on the gulf at 12:30 o'clock today.

A weather bureau bulletin said the gale was due to hit near Galveston about 2 o'clock. The wind will have a velocity of 90 miles an hour, the weather bureau predicted. Barometers along the coast from Point Isabel to Port Arthur have been falling since 8 o'clock indicating an approaching storm.

A report from Morgan City, La., said the barometer had fallen 22 points there with a 42-mile an hour wind blowing.

S. O. S. GALVESTON, Texas, June 22.—With her propeller lost ninety miles at sea, the Mexican Petroleum corporation's oil tanker, William H. Doehny, was reported in distress early today.

A radio message from the captain of the ship was picked up at the naval radio station here. The message read: "Blowing east-erly gale. High sea running from east. Have lost propeller ninety-four miles from Galveston. Driving west. Heavy winds and sea. Need help. Signed, Lock."

The ship is a 10,200-ton vessel. She left Galveston for Tampico yesterday.

BAROMETER FALLING.

HOUSTON, Texas, June 22.—Barometer readings at 11 o'clock were falling, according to reports to the telephone company here.

This would indicate that a storm is about to break along the coast. The local weather bureau reported a 200-mile-wide gale is coming towards Galveston from the gulf, and will strike some place between Corpus Christi and Orange.

The storm was expected to break some time late this afternoon or tonight.

STORM DIMINISHES.

HOUSTON, June 22.—Reports of the telephone company here from gulf coast points indicate the wind and rain storm which has been raging with great fury along the entire gulf coast is moving northeastward, with diminished fury.

Corpus Christi reported a 26-mile wind was blowing at 8:45 a. m., with the barometer rising. Highest winds at Corpus Christi reached a velocity of 66 miles an hour at 6:15 this morning.

Rain was falling here harder at 8 a. m. than when the first squall hit at 6 o'clock.

Gales were shifting northeastward and northward according to reports from south Texas. The wind was first said to be blowing north-eastward from Corpus Christi, and later reports said it had shifted to the northwest. An unconfirmed report from Galveston said warnings had been issued of the crisis of the storm near noon today. A phone call to Houston said many residents were preparing to go to Houston.

BOYCOTT BLOCKED!

DENVER, June 22.—Irish sympathizers supporting the resolution calling for a boycott of British goods were overwhelmingly defeated today in their attempt to have the convention of the American Federation of Labor overthrow the ruling made by President Gompers which prevented a reconsideration of their proposal.

STEPHENS CO. MAN GRANTED INJUNCTION

EASTLAND, June 22.—S. J. Taylor of Stephens county has applied for an injunction in the Ninety-first district court against the Kentucky River Oil Co., of Eastland. The petition alleges that the plaintiff gave the company a lease on a piece of acreage out of the River tract in the Pleasant Grove section, on which they were to drill two wells. These wells both produced oil, but it is alleged that the plaintiff did not receive the royalty to which he was entitled. It is claimed that one of these wells produced 500 barrels and the other 300. The petition sets up the allegation that Taylor and the Kentucky River Oil Co. entered into what was known as a 50-50 agreement, Taylor to receive one-half the production after the cost of drilling had been paid. The petition alleges that Taylor never received anything, and that they are now preparing to salvage the casing, move the rig and plug the hole, and that if they are not restrained he will be injured.

Judge Geo. A. Davenport of the Ninety-first district court, before whom the motion was argued, granted a temporary injunction, and placed the plaintiff's bond at $1,000.

AMERICAN PLANES ARE DELIVERED TO MEXICO

NOGALES, Arizona, June 22.—Eight American-made airplanes have been delivered at Nueva Laredo, Mexico, for the border patrol of the Mexican government, and are to be put into that service as soon as they can be assembled. All the planes are painted blue, which has been adopted as the distinctive color for Mexican border patrol planes.

The United States government already maintains an air patrol along the border.

SHEEP AND GOAT MEN BEGIN CONVENTION

DEL RIO, Texas, June 22.—Texas sheep and goat men settled down to business here today at the sixth annual convention of the association, which opened here yesterday.

STORM WARNINGS.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. June 22.—Warnings of tropical storm danger from Matagorda bay to Port Arthur were sent out at 9:30 a. m. by the weather bureau. The storm is reported off the Texas coast east of Corpus Christi, apparently moving northward.

SPRAY OVER SEAWALL.

HOUSTON, June 22.—Spray was breaking over the seawall at Galveston, but weather observers did not expect any further rise. The seawall, seventeen feet high, runs along the entire gulf side of Galveston Island.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Efforts to solve the mystery of the "vanishing ships" were centered on efforts to find the sea mariners who are believed to have boarded the schooner Carroll A. Deering and made prisoners of her crew.

MAY USE AIRPLANES.

By RUSSELL BROWNING United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, June 22.—Airplanes may be called upon to solve the mystery of the "vanishing fleet." Officials of the department of commerce today were considering asking the army or navy for planes to patrol the little-frequented stretches near Cape Hatteras for some trace of the merchant vessels which have mysteriously vanished there. Coast guards vessels were slipping in and out of coves and inlets near the cape in view of picking up some clue, a bit of wreckage or a note which might have been left by some of the crews of the vanished ships.

If pirates raided the ships and murdered or captured the crews, as some officials believe, they must have left some trace along the shore. The disappearances extend over several months, and raiding vessels would have to have some base for operations along the shore.

Twenty Vessels Lost.

A list of twenty vessels which have disappeared in the last few months was made by the commerce department today.

Five of the vessels, or possibly six, went near Cape Hatteras when they were down. While the number of vessels which have vanished is not unusual, the fact that no trace has been found of them, and that so many were last heard from near the same spot is unusual. If they had blown up, or ground, or been capsized, some bit of the wreckage would have floated ashore, which would explain their fate.

FORTY-SIX MEMBERS OF CLUB ARRESTED AT BRECKENRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, Judge 22.—Forty-six members of the Petroleum club were taken in charge last night when officers, armed with a search warrant, raided the club. No liquor was found, but one officer claims he saw something being poured into a sewer just before entrance was effected.

Two rooming houses also were raided and three women were arrested and will be turned over to the federal authorities.

Sheriff Head also arrested eleven alleged gamblers at a tent hotel.

WELL ON SMITH TRACT TO BE DRILLED DEEPER

EASTLAND, June 22.—J. Axling of the Texas-Washington Oil company, has returned from Raymond, Washington, and other cities on the Pacific slope, and announces that the well on the Smith tract, three miles southeast of Eastland, will be drilled 50 to 75 feet deeper and a liner put in, and that when this is done they expect to get a good well. This well has given quite a bit of trouble, but it has been producing intermittently for the past several months.

NO NEGRO ANTI-K. K. K. FORMED IN DALLAS

DALLAS, June 22.—The "blood brotherhood" negro organization, alleged to have been organized to combat the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, has not an organization or chapter here, it was stated officially here today.

Chief of Police Elmo Strait made the denial today, and also declared that police authorities are not investigating alleged activities of the alleged organization.

ENTIRE FAMILY ARE VICTIMS OF EXPLOSION

Katherine Laurence, One Year Old, Dies, and Father is Near Death.

A good God let a little baby girl die this morning in the clinical hospital. She with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Laurence, and her little brother, Everett Laurence, were burned at 4:30 a. m. A leaky gas line, wet weather and a lighted match tells the story. The father had arisen to note the time. He lighted a match. The explosion followed and in seeking to remove his family from the flaming tent in which he lived he probably received his death burns. The tent and all the family's belongings were consumed.

Help Comes. After striking the match the screams of Laurence and his suffering family brought others to the flaming tent. With as much speed as possible they rushed the injured to the hospital, where medical aid was rendered.

They are clothed in bandages from head to foot. The Milford Undertaking company has charge of the dead baby. It will be held until funeral arrangements are made.

Laurence was working for the Fleming & Stitzer company under the direction of R. C. Diefenderfer. Their tent was located on the Caddo road near the rock crusher. The Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company had run a gas line through the kitchen tent. Laurence has installed a line into the tent in which he and his family was living. It had a leak and during the wetness of last night the gas pocketed and clung to the ground. When he lighted a match this morning it sprang into flames.

Burns Not Fatal.

With the first flash the father thought of his wife and children. The 4-year-old boy, Everett, and Mrs. Laurence were dragged from the tent and will live. Their burns, while being serious, will not be fatal, nurses think.

More than two-thirds of the body of the father is a mass of burns. His recovery will be a miracle, attending physicians believe.

The little baby girl, Katherine, received such burns that she died a few hours after the accident.

Nurses in the hospital who have long grown callous to human suffering, this morning prayed to a good God to let the little baby die. Long experience had taught them that it could not get well. They only asked that death would still its suffering and pitiful cries.

RUNAWAY GIRLS SHY AT TRAVELERS' AID

EL PASO, June 22.—Runaway girls shy at Travelers' Aid at El Paso, Miss Kate Fink, the Travelers' Aid official said.

When she first went on duty, Miss Fink said, the traveling public and especially young girls who left home to make their own way knew little about the Travelers' Aid and often asked them for help. Now they know the Travelers' Aid stands for things they are trying to get away from. So the women avoid the Aid, Miss Fink said.

Patrolman Andy Shobe, who has been at the union station in El Paso for years, said Miss Fink is right—that girls are so wise that when they get ready to run away they don't loiter about the Travelers' aid or the Y. W. C. A. Miss Fink and Patrolman Shobe work together about ten hours daily trying to locate girls.

KING GEORGE PRAYS FOR 'PEACE IN IRELAND'

BELFAST, June 22.—King George appealed for "peace in Ireland" in opening the first home rule parliament here today. "The English-speaking world is anxious for settlement in Ireland," he declared in his opening speech. "I pray that my coming to Ireland is the first step toward peace.

"I will appeal to all Irishmen to forgive and forget. I hope there will be a ceremony similar to this in the south of Ireland."

HARDING PLANS TO STUDY RACE PROBLEM

NEW YORK, June 22.—President Harding in a letter to the National association for the advancement of colored people, made public today, said he plans to proceed as early as possible to study the race question with a view to ameliorating the treatment accorded negroes as outlined in his message to congress.

RICHBURG STOPS NITROS WITH TYING RUNS CROWDING BASES

Hitless Until Eighth Ranger Nine Drives Zaplac Out; Lefty Hit Hard.

SWEETWATER, June 22.—Sweetwater won a hard-fought and well-played game from Ranger Tuesday by a score of 6 to 4. The locals led all the way until the eighth inning, when the Nitros made a game rally, scoring four runs and throwing a big scare into the pennant aspiring Swatters.

Zaplac, recently acquired from the San Antonio Texas league team, pitched a magnificent game for the locals, holding the visitors hitless until the eighth inning, when he lost control, and four hits, two walks, a fielder's choice and a sacrifice fly by Hamilton netted four runs. With the visitors two runs behind, Pitcher Adkins opened the ninth with a single to center, Clopp was thrown out by Whitney advancing Lefty to second; Tate hit sharply to center and immediately stole second; Singleton waited for four bad ones and strolled, filling the bases. At this juncture Manager Smith jerked Zaplac and rushed in Ace Richburg, who promptly fanned both Hamilton and Lovelace.

The Swatters got to Lefty Adkins early and denied him quite regularly throughout, most of their hits coming when his meant runs. Both sides fielded well and Empire Davis showed some slight improvement over Monday's work. The score:

BRONCS BEAT EAGLES, 2 TO 1, AND HOLD LEAD

ABILENE, June 21.—Weber proved effective on the mound for the San Angelo Broncs at all stages today and his team retained the leadership of the league by defeating the Abilene Eagles, 2 to 1 in a fast, snappy affair. The Broncs hurler kept the five bingles gathered off of him well scattered.

Burlison's two-bagger in the fourth scored Cronkrite, who had walked, the knock coming after two were down, and when Robinson beat close one at first in the fifth, Weber brought in the visitor's second count, having got on on a single and stole second and having been sacrificed to third.

The Eagles' lone count came in the fourth, when White walked, was sacrificed to second by Milan, went on third when Kizziar went out at first, and scored on Griesenbeck's single. Tomorrow's game is to start at 2:30 o'clock in order to allow the Broncs time to catch the Santa Fe out of Buffalo Gap for Brownwood. The score:

THIRD RALLY WINS THRILLER FOR ORPHANS

BALLINGER, June 22.—With the score 5 to 3 against them in the ninth, the Orphans scored two runs on a walk, two errors and singles by Flagg and Bratcher. In the first half of the eleventh an error, coupled with a single by Lyall and Bratcher's home run, gave them a two-run lead. In the last of the eleventh, with two down, Briscoe made first on Earnshaw's error and was scored by King's home run, placing Ballinger on even terms with them again. Baldrige replaced Edgar, who had been twirling for the Cats, and allowed a walk and three doubles, giving the Orphans a three-run lead. A desperate rally by the Cats in their half of the twelfth netted only one run, leaving the score 10 to 8 for Flagg's homeless nine.

Catcher Lyall featured with an unassisted double, catching Edgar at third in a run-in and tagging Fuller when he tried to steal past him. Every variety of baseball known to the game was uncovered in twelve exciting innings. Score by innings: R. H. E. Orphans .010 101 002 023-10 15 5; Ballinger .021 001 010 021-8 13 7. SAN ANGELO.—Masons from twelve counties of West Texas will meet here June 24 to organize a branch of the Masonic Service association. The counties are Tom Green, Sutton, Menard, Kimble, Schleicher, Crockett, Val Verde, Coke, Irion, Sterling, Concho and Runnels.

CRACK RACING CARS TO ENTER ABILENE DERBY

ABILENE, Texas, June 22.—Probably the largest aggregation of fast ever entered for a race meet in this state will be seen in action on July 4th, at the Independence Day contest to be run on the newly constructed speedway at the West Texas Fair Grounds. The heavy entry list is due to the fact that the Abilene meet will be the only strictly A. A. A. contest staged in the state on this date and virtually all licensed drivers in this section have been attracted by the $2,500 prize pot hung up for the events.

Among those who have already entered their cars are: "Red" Shafer of Fort Worth, considered the peer of any dirt track driver in this country who will pilot a gigantic eight cylinder Dusenbergs; George Melan of Dallas at the wheel of a fleet-footed Ford Special; J. P. Stewart of Dallas in a sixteen valve Gillette Special; Bill King of Cleburne in a big Mercury; A. W. Fields of San Angelo and Kirby Horton of Cleburne, both with fast Ford Specials. Two local drivers have entered Essex mounts. They are Jimmy Reeder, a veteran dirt-track pilot and E. M. Kelley.

The newly constructed track, with an oiled surface will be very fast for the meet and some real speed contests are assured the thousands who are expected to attend.

"We really see with the back part of our brain and not with our eyes," says an eye specialist.

'KICKING IN'

Several hundred dollars have been subscribed to the support of the baseball club during the last two days, although there has been no active hustling for funds. The following firms and individuals have "kicked in" since Sunday by the plan of subscribing $50, in five checks dated a month apart:

Ranger Gasoline company, Southland barber shop, Mead Bros., R. E. Sullivan, Gholsen hotel, W. D. Conway, Ove Overson and West Texas Electric company. Ralph Stockman and J. T. Gullahorn, who have the money-raising plan in charge, have been prevented from working by personal business, but they expect to have no difficulty in completing the total of $5,000 when they get started again.

BROWNWOOD TO GIVE ORPHANS THE ONCE OVER

Six Games to Be Played There; If Fans Like it, Will Take Franchise.

BROWNWOOD, June 22.—Brownwood business men have agreed to give the Ciscoese Orphans a temporary home and if baseball proves attractive to local fans, will take over the franchise for the second half of the season. President Morris of the West Texas league, made the arrangement, which is that the Orphans will come here for the six "at home" games remaining on the first half schedule. These games will be played with San Angelo and Sweetwater, leading scrappers for the first half title, and it is believed they will give a fair test of baseball enthusiasm here. If the attendance showed that Brownwood will support a team, then the franchise will be formally transferred, beginning with the games of July 4. The games here will be played on the Daniel Baker college grounds. The first San Angelo series will start Thursday, after which the club goes to Abilene for a series and returns here to take on the Swatters, on June 30, July 1 and 2. Brownwood stores have agreed to close for the games, which probably will start at 5 o'clock.

THUMBNAILED SKETCHES.

OPINION DIVIDED ON "HOW" OF JOHNSON-WILLARD BOUT

By Associated Press.

Some people think Jess Willard defeated Jack Johnson because he was the better fighter. Others feel sure that Johnson was beaten by his own method of living and by the irresistible slowing-up process that time imposes on every man after he passes the crest of physical perfection. And those who believe L'il Artha' was not so anxious to beat Willard, anyhow.

Whatever the cause, the star of Jack Johnson's ring career flicked out at Havana on April 5, 1915. That day, for the second time in his life, Johnson was knocked out. The first enforced nap had lasted only 11 minutes, taken at Galveston in 1901, at the hands of Joe Choynski and Johnson was almost unknown beyond the island where he lived. But when the big negro arose from this second slumber, he was a has been.

Willard was 27 years old, ten years the junior of the champion and both his height and reach exceeded those of Johnson. The dust of the holder apparently put forth his best effort in the early rounds but he could not be the giant to the canvas. Willard was stout in his movement, fighting on the defense and with great care, manifestly biding his time.

His time kept him waiting quite a while. Johnson was a little fatter, a little slower and some of the old wallop was gone from his arms but his ring generalship, his mastery of tactics had not forsaken him. He was still the most clever boxer of them all.

The early rounds showed him to be the same teasing scrapper he had always been. "Why don't you come ahead and fight?" he frequently blurted at the cautious Willard.

Later, the signs of leg weariness were apparent in the champion's movements. In the 18th round he suddenly seemed to become exhausted, while the Kansas was still fresh and glowing.

Plainly tired and worn out, Johnson kept up the fight for seven more rounds. Leaving his corner at the going for the 26th round, he glanced at his wife with a look of distress and despair that warned those near the ring of his impending fall.

As soon as he met Willard, almost, the cowboy's right arm shot out and struck Johnson flush on the chin. He sank down and a new champion was proclaimed.

TEMPLE—Billie Burke in "The Education of Elizabeth;" also fourteenth episode of "Fighting Fate."

LIBERTY.

Bryant Washburn, the genial screen comedy star, has a bone to pick with Rudyard Kipling. Here's the rub:

"Down in Gehenna or up to the throne He travels the fastest who travels alone."

So runs one of the famous poet's slaps at matrimony, and as a happily married man with two budding youngsters Mr. Washburn grew a trifle warm under the collar.

"It's not a fact," said the star earnestly. "Kipling is wrong. A young man married in nine chances out of ten has a far better chance for the throne and is less likely to get down to Gehenna."

TEMPLE.

The sprightly tale of a chorus girl's advent into a family of the four hundred, their subsequent attempts to make a lady of her and her influence on them, is told in the latest starring vehicle for Billie Burke, "The Education of Elizabeth," which will be the feature attraction at the Temple Theatre today only.

Billie Burke is always winsome and refreshing and she is afforded ample opportunity to employ her particular brand of humor to a good advantage. The role of Elizabeth Banks suits her perfectly and as such a character she has some merry adventures. She is really a little girl with a heart of gold but uncouth in her manner and slangy in her talk.

Elizabeth hesitates to make an alliance with a family of noble ancestors and heirlooms, however, and to help her over the difficulty Thomas suggests taking her into his home for a while before they are married as a sort of education. This move is looked upon with disfavor by Harry, his scholarly brother, and his old maid sister, but Elizabeth goes home with him notwithstanding. Shortly Thomas is called away to the south and Elizabeth is left to the tender mercies of his highbrow family. How the erstwhile little chorus girl finally entrenches herself in their good graces, teaches them some very good things in return for being taught, and the final outcome of her romance is an absorbing story.

TEXAS RANKS SEVENTH IN CORN RAISING

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Showing a decrease in the acreage planted in corn in 1919 as compared with that of 1909, Texas nevertheless increased its production of this crop and also increased in oats and wheat to such an extent that now it ranks seventh in the list of corn producing states, where formerly it ranked ninth, tenth in its production of wheat and fourth in its production of oats.

All of which is tantamount to saying that the Lone Star state is rapidly taking its place in the foremost rank of the country's great agricultural states.

In 1919 Texas farmers planted 4,709,806 acres in corn and a yield of 107,801,974 bushels was obtained. When this is compared with the 1909 crop in which 5,130,552 acres were productive of 75,498,695 bushels, Texas' growth can be easily seen.

But not alone does Texas base its claim to its output of corn. For in 1919 wheat grown on 2,437,081 acres amounted to 37,089,309 bushels. Ten years previous 326,176 acres yielded 2,560,891 bushels.

In 1919 oats grown in Texas amounted to 63,398,157 bushels, all of which were produced on 1,843,737 acres. This as compared with 1909 which is 440,001 acres for a production of 7,034,617 bushels shows a tremendous increase.

AUSTIN.—A visit to the Texas state health department recently found several of the employees under the direction of one of the assistants diligently swatting the few flies that unfortunately strayed into the department. It proved that they were hunting feed for the gambusia affinis, or small minnows that the department is protecting because of their destructive eating of mosquitoes. The department had run out of the supply of "wiggie-tails" that had been secured to feed the minnows.

STUPIDITY COSTS AMERICANS MUCH BUSINESS IN BALTIC STATES

RIGA, Latvia, June 21.—Millions of dollars in ready cash are going to English, German and Dutch firms from the Baltic states because of the almost unbelievable unfamiliarity of even the largest American firms with foreign trading conditions, and even geography, say Americans here.

Dozens of big orders for which cash was actually in the banks in New York, have been lost to Americans because of what American representatives in the Baltic states term absolute stupidity.

"It is time," said one of these Americans in Riga who has had to place many orders in Germany and in England when America could have had them, "that the heads of American firms realize what the subsidiaries in charge of their foreign trading departments are doing to them."

"Most of them, brought up on so-called American efficiency systems that may work well at home but are absolutely hopeless abroad, try to do business in Europe according to 'form 22' or 'form 24' of whatever form they would apply to similar deals in America."

"To illustrate, not long ago I had an urgent cash order for 40,000 suits of underclothing for a Baltic state. I telegraphed to a big American firm. 'What your price 40,000 suits heavy underwear cash against documents New York?'"

"Two or three days later, when some bright young credit man had tried to digest this telegram, I received a cable saying: 'Wire your credit rating and references.'"

"Now, I suppose his 'form 22' required him to do that, but I wired back: 'My credit references are cash in New York bank. What are your prices?'"

"Some days later I received a telegram saying: 'Price dollar twenty or something like that.'"

"More valuable time was lost in an exchange of telegrams asking what they meant, per garment or per suit. The result was that I wired an English firm. My answer from it was complete, just what I wanted. The telegram gave the price per suit, weight of shipment, probable date of delivery and everything that I wanted to know. The English firm got the order and took the cash in the New York bank."

"When I write American firms for catalogues, I get catalogues without prices. I suppose they think it is undignified to print them. Then I write for price lists and get price lists without catalogues."

"German or British firms print complete catalogues, giving just what one wants to know. They save valuable weeks of mail correspondence and get the orders."

Not Very Informing. Another American in trade in Riga showed the correspondent a cablegram from one of the biggest oil companies in America, in reply to his telegram which said: 'Quote me price refined coal oil delivered Riga.' The answer read: 'Crude oil has gone up 20 cents a barrel.' 'Now,' said this American dealer, 'I didn't want to know about crude oil and I haven't time to figure out what effect a rise in its price would have on coal oil that was badly wanted by my buyer.'"

"In many of such ridiculous cases I have telegraphed directly to the heads of firms in America explaining the situation and have received prompt satisfaction. But I haven't time to write all of them. So the Germans and English get the orders."

Incidentally, perhaps half of the letters sent by American firms to the Baltic states bear only two cent

LAKE EASTLAND WILL HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHTS INSTALLED ON BEACH

EASTLAND, June 22.—The projectors of Lake Eastland are distributing poles for the erection of an electric line to that resort, for the purpose of installing electric lights at the beach and in the club house when it is completed, and soon this will be one of the finest pleasure resorts in this section.

It is said there is some talk of establishing some form of amusement, in addition to the golf links, and boats are to be provided. The lake is to be stocked with game fish, and everything done to make of it a place of recreation and amusement.

Tentative plans are in the making to establish a free camp site somewhere in the near vicinity of the lake, for the purpose of affording auto tourist parties coming through here, and others, a place to camp, and this will be properly arranged, and wood provided, or else arranged ments made to have it piped for gas, as it is pointed out that the gas mains run near Lake Eastland, and it is said the expense of piping the proposed camp site for gas would not be much. Of course it would be necessary to establish slot meters, for the use of those wishing to use the gas, while attention is called to the fact that there is quite a bit of timber on the premises, and arrangements might be made to furnish firewood and water.

When the Bankhead highway shall have been completed, auto tourist parties will be numerous in this section, people passing through from the East to the West and vice versa, as the Bankhead highway will extend from Chicago on the east to Los Angeles on the west.

MALE 'SEPTEMBER MORNS' FALL AFOUL OF THE LAW

Two young men, one disporting himself in the festive garb of "September Morn," and the other representing "Phyllis at the bath," came to grief this morning when they were arrested under a charge of indecent exposure. The arrests were made by Assistant Chief of Police Murphy at the steam shovel located in the Hamon railroad yards. Complaint came from an adjacent home which is in full view of where the men were standing on the running board of the shovel. A woman in the neighborhood threatened to break up the party with the aid of a "Colt's forty-some-odd," but was restrained.

The emulor of "September Morn" told the police that he was sorry, that his action was without thought. The other declared that he had on sufficient clothing not to be indecent and the complainant would have to prove otherwise.

tan refused to cry or tell anyone that he was hurt. A few minutes afterwards he casually disappeared and went to his home two blocks away. His mother called a physician.

GETTING BACK TO A BUSINESS BASIS.

Secretary Hughes in his address at Brown university did something more than discredit George Harvey, the ambassadorial fly in our diplomatic ointment. He stated the axioms and postulates of the foreign policy of the Harding administration and from them it is easy to deduce the nature of the treaty structure now in process of formation.

As axiomatic truths he gave these statements:

"We cannot escape our relation to the economic problems of the world."

"The prosperity of this country largely depends upon the economic settlements which may be made in Europe, and the key to the future is with those who make and control these settlements."

From this it follows with certainty that when the Senate and the House have finished trifling with a peace resolution that can have no effect whatever in establishing peace, the President will present a treaty based upon the treaty of Versailles. Such a basis it must have if it is to recognize that "we cannot escape our relation to the economic problems of the world" and that "the prosperity of this country largely depends upon the economic settlements which may be made in Europe."

A separate peace with Germany is impossible for the reason that Germany is not free to make any new treaty conflicting with her present obligations to the Allies. To make a peace that shall recognize our economic interests it must be in accord with that made by the Allies.

Secretary Hughes realizes this and his speech at Brown university seems to be an advance notice that the Harding treaty will be framed accordingly. Whatever the Senate may be disposed to do the President is preparing to get back to a business basis for our foreign relations.

There might have been less trouble in the Senate had business interests actually exercised the influence they were alleged to be exercising when the treaty was first considered. It was not necessary for business men to wait until the present bitter experience to grasp the truth of the Hughes statement that "the prosperity of this country largely depends upon the economic settlements which may be made in Europe."—San Francisco Bulletin.

IT'S A CASE OF LOVE ME, LOVE MY DOG

BY MORRIS

A CANCELLED CONTRACT

On the advice of the attorney general and the secretary of war President Harding yesterday cancelled the agreement between the government and the United States Harness Company of West Virginia. This, it will be remembered, provided for the sale at amazingly low prices of an indeterminate quantity of surplus leather goods belonging to the army. Details of this were given in a series of articles appearing in the Globe last fall and winter. Evidence has now finally been gathered which has convinced Mr. Daugherty, Mr. Weeks, and the President of the existence of a criminal conspiracy on the part of ex-army officials while still in the service to profit at the expense of the government.

If the contract had never been cancelled whatever faith one has in the Department administration would have been rudely jarred. A great deal of convincing evidence was brought out in the hearings and report of the Graham sub-committee on war expenditures. Further evidence, it is known, has been collected by the Department of Justice. Yet it has been difficult work getting action, because the simple assurance of army officials. Strong pressure was brought to bear both on ex-Secretary Baker and on Secretary Weeks to prevent cancellation. Secretary Weeks has at length acted in the face of his opposition. He deserves credit, though the most credit must be given to Major Watts, who brought the facts in the case to the Globe after he had failed to get attention in the War Department; to Congressman Graham and Jeffers, who made a report denouncing the contract; to the other members of the committee on war expenditures, who have consistently supported them in a demand for justice, and to Mr. Brewer of the Department of Justice who has worked up the case for the government.

It is discouraging that so much energy was required to get what was merely honest action. Still it is hopeful that in an hour when there has been a tendency to wink at abuses, a tendency to lump good war service and bad war service together, there should be definite and vigorous action by the government for the right. The conspiracy charge gives a better opportunity for protection here than in many cases of army sales abuses. Convictions under the Lever act will be impossible. The government may find it possible, however, to make this prosecution the beginning of a campaign against a number of men who have sought wrongfully to enrich themselves at its expense.—N. Y. Globe and Com'l. Advertiser.

TINKER BOB STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB.

MR. AND MRS. SANDY.

Someone came running along the edge of the brook. At intervals he stopped and teetered back and forth. Tinker Bob had seen him before and was glad to see him again. He seemed to enjoy being in the open rather than among the thickets and in damp places. This fellow was slim and trim and ran very close to the edge of the water. His legs were long and so was his bill. His white waistcoat was marked with black spots. Tinker-Bob always called him Sandy, the Spotted Sandpiper.

Mrs. Sandy came out of the bushes near by and screamed to the top of her voice and squatted down right in front of the King.

"Peet-weet! Peet-weet!" he cried as he approached close to the Forest King. "Peet-weet! O King of the Forest, don't you take another step. You startled me so that I don't think I'll get over it all day." Tinker couldn't for the life of him understand what he had done to startle poor Sandy. If he was startled he didn't run away—he came right on. Then suddenly Mrs. Sandy came out of the bushes near by and screamed to the top of her voice and squatted down right in front of the King.

"What is all of this confusion about anyway?" asked the King. "I can't see anything to be worried about." He looked about thinking perhaps someone might be after Mrs. Sandy. But he could see no one but Mr. Sandy, and he did look scared all right even if the King didn't know what it was all about.

"My, I'm thanking my lucky stars that you didn't take another step," said Sandy. "For if you had you would have stepped right on our eggs. I surely had a dreadful scare." Sandy kept on bobbing back and forth.

Tinker was surprised enough. He showed it too as he looked down at Sandy. "I don't see any eggs," said he sort of doubtfully.

Mrs. Sandy stepped aside and what do you think he saw in the sand? Well, right in a little hollow in the sand the King saw four white that an international discussion of the possibilities of disarmament was only a practical means toward achieving universal peace in the future.

Reverend speakers against the resolution denounced it in one breath States and to attempt to embarrass the president, and in the next, said it was well known that there was an organized attempt to drive the United States into war with Great Britain. The contradiction between the first and the last arguments did not appear to occur to them.

In taking the position it did the diocesan convention went contrary to the pronouncements of the great national organizations of Protestants, Catholics and Jews. It is extremely probable that it also offends the sentiment of its own congregations.—Detroit News.

PEACE AND THE CHURCH.

The Episcopal convention of the diocese of Michigan added nothing to its prestige or its reputation for far-sightedness when it defeated at its annual convention a resolution that merely asked an international conference to discuss the policy of world disarmament. The spectacle of a peace movement even attempting to bring about world peace is an incongruity.

And it is such an incongruity as to make a vital truth of the remark one of their own number, that "the shock of it will act on the mass of people with such force as to do the cause of world peace more good than if the convention had approved the resolution."

The resolution specifically said there was no purpose on the part of its sponsors to ask the United States to disarm in a world ready and eager for war except upon completion of an agreement thoroughly acceptable to the United States. It disclaimed all expectation of universal peace in this generation, but recited the horrors of war and said

GEORGIA LAW-MAKERS WILL TAKE UP TREATMENT OF NEGRO RACE

ATLANTA, June 22.—Legislation on finance and law enforcement, with the latter again bringing to the fore discussion of treatment of negroes in Georgia, is expected to occupy much of the time of the general assembly of Georgia which convenes in annual session, today.

Hugh M. Dorsey, retiring governor, has indicated that in his final message to the legislature he will propose various measures designed to prevent mob violence and to change the methods of trying persons accused of taking part in lynchings. Former United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, who takes office as governor June 25, declared in a recent address that while standing for law enforcement, he believed Governor Dorsey's recent pamphlet on "The Negro in Georgia" as a "slander on the state" and that soon after taking office as governor he would issue an official reply to it.

One member of the legislature has publicly announced that he intends to offer resolutions providing for an investigation with a view to remedying conditions if found as Governor Dorsey charges, or impeachment of the governor if not borne out.

Governor Dorsey has discussed proposals for changing the state law so that a state trial court could be convened by the governor to investigate violence and try the accused. One plan, he suggested and which he is said to have been studying, would provide for such a court to be composed of three to five superior court judges with the court's grand and petit juries drawn from the state at large so as to avoid any possible local prejudice in dealing with mob cases. It also has been indicated that in his farewell message he will propose establishment of a state constabulary.

Demands that the state pass laws covering peonage, now solely a federal offense, have been made in some of the various letters and cards published in the Georgia press during the state-wide discussion of Governor Dorsey's pamphlet on the negro, which various state officials have attacked and defended. The governor has not publicly indicated his attitude on the subject.

Legislation under consideration by the incoming governor is understood to include the raising of the deficit of the state through provisions for a state income tax or a registration tax. Numerous ways have been proposed and Governor Hardwick will select one or several for recommendation.

NEEDLE USED TO CENSOR 'CONSCIENCE' COSTUMES ON CHICAGO'S BEACHES

CHICAGO, Ill., June 21.—Seamstresses with pins, needles, thread and other requisites of the ladies' tailor, were stationed at Chicago beaches Saturday to censor the bathing suits worn by women and sew in those wearers who violated prohibitions against the display of legs and shoulders, which were made effective this year.

Last year the style of costumes worn at the beaches was left almost entirely, it was explained, to the conscience of the wearer. The result led to the adoption this year of strict regulations which are now being enforced with needles and thread.

Hundreds of women who appeared today in last year's "conscience" suits kept the beach tailor-censors busy.

'MYSTERY ORCHESTRA' IN GALVESTON HARBOR INTRIGUES SAILORS

GALVESTON, Texas, June 21.—Somewhere along this gulf coast is a "mystery" orchestra whose syncopated strains seriously threaten the morale of sailors aboard ships in Galveston harbor.

The "mystery" music comes by wireless, the jazzy strains being snatched out of the air by means of the ordinary ship's radio receiving apparatus. A steel guitar, a violin, cornet, saxophone and piano comprise it. Between 2 and 5 p. m. on week days and around 6 o'clock Sundays appears to be the favorite times for concerts.

According to wireless experts, the musicians evidently assemble at the home of some wireless telephone expert, whose transmitter broadcasts their music in a radius of about 500 miles. The strains are "picked up" on a wave length of about 2,000 meters, within the scope of most ship radio apparatus.

The "orchestra of the air" first was heard about a month ago, according to experts here, and so seducing are its strains that work of loading or discharging cargo sometimes is jeopardized when an impromptu concert begins.

GARLAND WHO SPURNED MILLION, THINKS HE SERVES BY IDLENESS

Awaiting "Inspiration" on Mother's Farm, He Argues That Production Is Too Great—He Looks for Another Way to Serve Society.

NEW BEDFORD, June 21.—A winter's reflection has not changed Charles Garland's mind. He really does not want money.
 Last November this Massachusetts man astounded the country by refusing a $1,000,000 legacy left him by his father, James A. Garland. Dozens of interviewers flocked to the Garland country place on Cape Cod to listen to the young man explain why he turned down riches.

Another newspaper man has made the journey again to learn whether time had changed young Garland's mind. Time had not. Winter on the farm, with all its dreary hardships and lack of comfort, has caused no softening of purpose. This strange youth has no intention of asking for the fortune that might be his. He is not at all interested in the possibility that his uncle who died early in June in England left him money.

Garland is waiting (on maternal bounty) until he finds out how he can best serve society.
 "I don't feel that I am doing the best possible for society at present," he said. "I do think that I am doing the best for society that I am able to now. I hope and am waiting for the thought to come by which I may do the most for the world."

Thinks Production Harmful.
 Then the man-who-turned-down-a- fortune continued in this vein: "If I went out and hustled and produced more things for a world which already has more things than it needs and are good for it, I would be injuring society. There are already enough food and clothing for everyone—if everything was equitably distributed. That is why the present system is futile. When a man who has as much as he wants is wished a fortune of a million, the system by which the situation comes to pass should be abolished."

The man who was talking so glibly of doing good was in his bare feet. His corduroy trousers were frayed and worn. His soiled khaki shirt was open at the throat and unadorned by necktie. Garland's hands were roughened and calloused. His nails were broken. They were encrusted with the grime which a mechanical requires and which no amount of washing will remove. He had come for his interview from the gardens and repair shops where he had spent the morning in varied farm work.

Charles Garland's life is at present a paradox. While he declines to accept the fortune left him by his father he is living on the bounty of his mother, now Mrs. Swinburne Hale. He frankly admitted to his interviewers that with his wife and infant daughter he had depended all winter on his mother for support. He lives in a portable house she furnishes. He eats at her table. (Mrs. Hale is at home now after her marriage and honeymoon abroad.)

Cash Piling Up For Child.
 All the while the money which Garland refused is guarded by the trustees—accumulating for the benefit of the baby daughter, who might now, but for her father's ideas, have many nurses, many toys and a rich nursery instead of a simple farm house crib.

Garland displayed no more concern for the infant's future than he did last autumn. Little Margaret is now about eight months old. The father proudly displayed her picture.

Apparently Garland is satisfied that he and his tribe will always be taken care of. He asserts that he hadn't heard from the trustees of his father's estate since they came to the Cape Cod farm to hear him refuse the inheritance. He said he hadn't spent a cent of money for himself in months. But he hastened to add that he didn't mean money wasn't spent on him and his family.

"My present desires are simple," he added. "I haven't any money in my pocket and don't want any."
 "Do you believe that your labor on the farm has repaid your mother for what she has spent for you?" Garland was asked.

This is his reply: "No, I don't figure anything of the kind. I feel sure my productive efforts for my mother haven't been equal to what my family and I have consumed. I have worked some of the time on a farm which a man leaves from his mother. That labor hasn't brought her anything. "I do believe, though, that my efforts toward society as a whole have equaled what I have consumed of the products of society. But that is what I object to—putting everything on a material basis of how much a man puts into and gets out of society."

Gets Countless Letters.
 Garland talked interestingly of the hundreds of letters he had received following the publicity given his action in November. Most of these letters, he said, were appeals for aid.

"I guess they wanted money from me for about every conceivable cause," he remarked. "But I have never given any. I have tried to answer all these communications and to explain why I feel I can't give away money."

A second class of letters praised or upbraided Garland for his stand with out asking favors of him. He said he should have turned the fortune over to charity.
 There were many other letters of a different stamp. These came in every mail, explaining how he could spend money. Mining stock, new inventions, steamship companies, automobiles, sure-fire betting systems and many other suggestions were temptingly held out to him. Garland said none of these letters appealed to him. Their exposition of how to spend money fell on deaf ears.

Garland, in the summer, seems to be as far from a solution of his plans for the future as he was in the autumn. He declares he is watching and hoping for his opportunity. He seems sure it will come. For the present his is a healthy, simple, rural life. His wife is living it with him and seems to like it. In contrast, his mother in the manor house is enjoying all the comfort that wealth insures. And there is the baby, Margaret Garland, who at present doesn't care, though she has much at stake in the business.

ABSENTMINDED!

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 22.—Federal authorities today began an investigation of alleged absentee-mindedness of certain Missouri brewers, which have permits to manufacture so-called 6 per cent beer, and then de-alcoholize it. Prohibitionists claim the breweries ever so often forget to de-alcoholize it.

Shradley P. Howell, federal prohibition officer for Missouri, declared he had evidence that 6 per cent beer is being sold over bars here on "certain days" known to habitués of saloons. Carloads of beer from St. Joseph are known to have been sold here, it was declared.

HONEYMOONERS HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hejl returned from Dallas last night on the Sunshine Special. Their trip had been short and no doubt sweet for it was that first little journey taken after the two had combined forces for life.

As they stepped from the train last night and the new husband was advancing toward the taxi stand, with his recently-acquired treasure by his side, he was stopped by a howling mob of former friends. These wild-haired brothers forbade the young husband ordering a taxi and while they piled into their cars, they insisted that the young couple precede them on foot through the streets of Ranger. At the Palace of Sweets Mr. Hejl had to serve the party with drinks.

Some time during the hour and a half of promenading—it has been rumored it took place in front of the Majestic Theatre—a trial occurred. The result was this happy young pair was sentenced to a life of eternal servitude.

C. R. Walsh was master of ceremonies and E. J. Bunca and J. S. Blair were two of his many assistants.

Since that time Miss Hansford has been with her grandparents at Danville, Ill.

She and Miss Freda Kerns of Danville, a niece of Mr. Hansford, arrived here Monday night. Miss Kerns will visit in Ranger during the summer.

PICNIC GIVEN BY SALVATION ARMY SUCCESS

The annual picnic given by the Salvation Army Tuesday for the Sunday school scholars, their mothers and their little friends, was a big success.

About sixty children and thirty grown-ups left Ranger at 8:30 a. m. in eight cars, donated by citizens, and a couple of trucks, for Palo Pinto creek canyon. The day was spent in paddling in the sandy bottom creek, playing games and eating.

"Principally eating," said Captain Mullins. "We served lunch and supper. And those children had so much to eat they refused offers of more."

They even had a weinie roast with strings and strings of weinies. Besides the conventional amount of picnic food, they were reinforced with ten gallons of ice cream, tubs of lemonade, crates of fruit and a keg of nickles. Most of this food was bought by Mr. Mullins with the assistance of his wife and son, who planned the entire picnic, but many donations were made by prominent firms in town.

The picnickers returned about 8:30 last night. At first they thought the rain would have a tendency to ruin the sunshine of the entire day. Instead Mr. Mullins said

By PAUL R. MALLON
 United Press Staff Correspondent.
 NEW YORK, June 22.—Admiral Wm. S. Sims came home today to the tune of "Wearin' of the Green."

As the liner Olympic swung into her pier with the admiral aboard, a little steamer slipped past her stern down the North river, with a band lustily playing that famous air.

The expected demonstration at the White Star pier by Irish sympathizers, who intended to show their disapproval of the admiral's "jackass speech" in London, failed to materialize, partly because of the presence of a thousand policemen, and partly because of the expedition with which Sims was whisked to a hotel in an automobile.

'ASSUMED NAME' LAW FILINGS CLOSE JULY 13

July 13 and not June 13 is the last day on which business men and firms may file their affidavits in compliance with the "fictitious name law," according to Earl Bender, county clerk, who calls attention of the Times to an erroneous statement appearing in these columns Tuesday. Failure to comply with the law on or before July 13 subjects the delinquents to a minimum fine of $100 a day.

HARDING CONFERS WITH BANKERS FROM THE WEST

It Took All the Grit Mason Had To Stick It Out

"Every time I go out on a run now, I feel thankful to Tanlac for I'm convinced it kept me on the job," said William W. Mason, 1924 McClellan St., Philadelphia, for the past nine years a motorman for the Rapid Transit Co.

"I had stomach trouble in a bad form for three years and was going down hill fast. Nothing I ate agreed with me and after every meal I was sure to have heartburn, dizziness and sometimes awful cramps. I got in such a nervous condition my hand shook like a man with the palsy and at nights my sleep was broken and restless. In the mornings I felt so miserable I used to dread the time to come for me to take out my car, and it took every ounce of grit I could muster to stick until quitting time. Finally I got so weak and was so discouraged I was ready to give up. This was my condition when I started taking Tanlac and I owe all my present good health to this wonderful medicine and to nothing else. The first thing it did for me was to whet my appetite and I soon found I could eat anything without fear of bad after-effects. It's a fact, four bottles made a new man out of me. My nerves are quiet, I sleep like a log and wake up in the morning feeling fine. Then I eat a big breakfast and go to work whistling like I used to long ago. If people knew Tanlac like I do the clerks in the drug stores couldn't wrap it up fast enough to supply the demand. It's great."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by Palace Drug Store. (adv.)
