AUSTIN, July 27.—Many of the county democratic conventions to be held next Saturday to canvass county primary election returns and verify them to the state democratic executive committee, which is to meet in Dallas Aug. 9, are expected to adopt resolutions demanding that Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson resign in accordance with the terms of her pre-election agreement she made with attorney General Dan Moody.
It was said that such a resolution would be offered at the Travis county meeting to be held here.

State Calm Again.
Texas today was apparently on her way back to political calm facing the promise of business readjustment as a result of last week's end.
Overwhelmingly buried beneath the popular vote for Attorney General Dan Moody, Miriam A. Ferguson capitulated late yesterday; she announced she would withdraw from the subsequent political activities, called a special session of the legislature for Sept. 13, and prepared to retire to private life at the termination of the extra session.
Miller to Act.
Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller of Dallas will succeed her in the governor's chair when Mrs. Ferguson steps out, and he will hold the office until Dan Moody is formally seated early in January.

While Governor Ferguson in announcing her withdrawal from the Texas political field did not live up to the strict sense of her election wager with Moody, as to immediate resignation, Moody held he is powerless to force compliance from the executive, and passed its enforcement on to popular opinion.
Commenting on the governor's qualified withdrawal, Mr. Moody said in effect: "The people expressed their will at the ballot box, and it is for them to say how and when the governor shall vacate her office."
In the announcement of her capitulation, the governor strove to regain some of her lost ground by convening the legislature for the double fact of validating $80,000,000 worth of state road bonds and for the investigation of any state department desired.

GREEN FACES INDICTMENTS FOR FELONIES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Indicted by a federal grand jury on eleven counts of felonious embezzlement of government liquor, Colonel Ned Green, suspended prohibition administrator for Northern California and Nevada, today awaited arraignment on the charges.
He will appear before United States Commissioner Kruell, August 6, at which time, the date for his arraignment will be set. In the meantime, he is at liberty under $5,000 bond.

MRS. MOODY CALLED TO ABILENE, ILLNESS

AUSTIN, July 27.—Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of the attorney general, was called to Abilene by the serious illness of her father, George Paxton, today.

SANDERSON—Sanderson Wool Commission company sold 300,000 pounds wool during week ending July 3.

Canton's Underworld Lords

BOND DEALERS IN TEXAS FEEL GENERAL RELIEF

DALLAS, July 27.—Bond dealers were generally jubilant today over the developments of the last 24 hours in which legislative panacea has been promised to relieve the stagnation of state securities on the national market.
A poll of representative brokerage houses here showed the bond exchange looking up with the belief that the special legislative session called by Governor Ferguson to restore the road bonds would remove the current ban on southwestern paper, while out of town investors and holders of Texas securities have been confident that Texas issues would ultimately be certified, to hesitancy of investors to take on added questionably paper has worked disadvantageously, brokers generally agreed.
The refusal of Governor Ferguson to convene a special session of the legislature to establish the status of Texas highway bonds held in Dallas by the United States supreme court decision several months ago, was one of the outstanding issues in the last primary, and is generally credited with contributing heavily toward the adverse vote given the woman executive.
Mrs. Ferguson sought to postpone the special session until after the summer primary.

Dempsey And Tunney Fight Gets Approval

NEW YORK, July 27.—The New York Boxing Commission today by a vote of 2 to 1 approved a fight in New York, Sept. 16, between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship. Chairman James Farley voted against approving the fight, but was overruled by the other two commissioners, William Muldoon and George S. Brewer.
The way for the fight in this city has not been cleared entirely, however, the license committee must grant a permit and Farley who insisted stubbornly that Dempsey must fight Wills, if he fights at all, has an ace in the hole there.

NEGRO HELD ASSAULT CHARGE

TEXARKANA, Texas, July 27.—Tom Harris, negro, was held in jail here today for safe keeping, while officers investigated reports of an assault on Mrs. Jewell Sloan, 20, near Ashton, Ark., yesterday.
Harris was captured early today after a posse of 300 men sought him through the night.

Questioned

"Warren Jimmie" Lamonte of Cleveland was questioned by Cleveland police following their discovery that he had been friendly with "George the Greek" Psilias, suspect in the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton (O.) publisher. Lamonte said he was in Cleveland on the night of the murder.

POINCARE CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

PARIS, July 27.—Premier Raymond Poincare today obtained an overwhelming mandate from the Chamber of Deputies to proceed with the application of his remedies for the financial ills that have stricken the nation.
The chamber voted confidence in Poincare and his coalition cabinet after hearing the government's ministerial declaration. In putting the question of confidence, Poincare demanded the adjournment of the interpellation, which means for the first time in recent French history something is likely to be accomplished without prolonged discussion.
Poincare said France was anxious to pay her debts and announced that the cabinet was convinced of the possibility of rapid improvement in the financial situation.
Communist upsurge marred Poincare's first appearance as the head of the new government. Rapid improvement in the financial situation, the premier said, "depends entirely on immediate resolutions of collaboration of the government and parliament."

FISHING

LIHUE—The common American brook trout has adapted itself to Hawaii.
During the past few years, introduction of trout into Kauai streams has been undertaken by fish and game wardens. At present, trout fishing is becoming a favorite outdoor pastime among local sportsmen. Several trout have been caught recently measuring 12 inches and over.

ONE LIFE LOST, CLYDE LINER IN PATH OF STORM

Dynamite Loaded Boat Break Moorings Loose And Cause A Panic.

MIAMI, Fla., July 27.—High winds, fringe of a tropical hurricane, which has swept Miami for two days, had taken a toll of at least one life this afternoon.
Discovery of an automobile, washed into the ocean at Baker's Hanlover, North of Miami, led to the belief that one or more additional lives may have met death in the accident.
The known dead was Frank Lancaster who was electrocuted while he was attempting to repair wires torn down by the gale.
A catastrophe was narrowly averted when a barge loaded with 400 casks of dynamite broke from its moorings and was swept toward the county causeway connection between Miami and Miami Beach.
Harbor workers and firemen captured the barge and re-anchored it safely in the center of the harbor.
The Clyde line steamer, Seminole, en route from Miami to New York with 151 passengers aboard, is directly in path of the hurricane sweeping the east coast of Florida, reports received at the Clyde office indicated today.
At 11 a. m. the Seminole was off (Continued on Page Two)

OUTLOOK DARK FOR SETTLEMENT OF FRENCH DEBT

WASHINGTON—The government attitude in Washington is very pessimistic as to the war debt outlook.
Nobody can see how the French situation can straighten itself out.
State department officials have been looking for a dictatorship in France for some time. They look for it still.
But how will it help?
Even under a dictator, their war indebtedness will still hang over the French.
If a dictator undertakes to settle it, the conviction is growing that he, too, will be overthrown.
If he repudiates it, French credit will be ruined, French money will be worth nothing at all, and in that event also he doubtless will be overthrown.
But in favor of whom?
It looks as if present complications were due to remain complicated, and to get worse. There appears to be no hope, even on the horizon.
Nobody suggests an attempt at war debt collection by force, but neither does anybody in official circles suggest cancellation. The French debt simply is there, and there seems to be no way of getting rid of it.
Franco-American relations are bad now—not officially but actually—and every indication is that they will stay bad indefinitely. They will continue to be bad if the Paris government agrees to a debt settlement and their badness will be aggravated if a settlement is refused.
That they will be bad in the former case is proved by Anglo-American relations, the English being actually engaged in paying up, but to the accompaniment of a chorus of references to the United States as "Uncle Shylock," by leading British newspapers and public men.
On the other hand, if France repudiates her obligations she undoubtedly will hate America even more cordially than she does now, and Americans will not have a particularly kindly feeling for the French.
Public men in Washington are careful not to say anything very strong for publication but there is no question that resentment among them is increasing, with the mobbing of Americans in Paris and denunciations of the United States in the English parliament as "a mere mercenary."

TEXARKANA, U. S. A., July 27.—G. Jess Quillen, town marshal of Foulke, Ark., 16 miles east of here was shot in the leg and another man wounded when the marshal staged a gun battle with yeggs today.
One of the men had a bullet in his leg and was carried away by his companions.

Tent Revival Opens on Caddo Road at Bullock

A revival meeting is being held in a large tent at Bullock, on the Caddo road, near Ranger. Rev. L. N. Combs, pastor of Carbon will preach and the meeting will probably go on for two weeks. J. J. Ponder is also assisting in the meeting. The tent is big, well lighted and cool and friends of the community are asked to attend these services.

They Needn't Walk Home Now

No flapper need walk home from an auto ride if she has one of the new "safety pens." The pen is really a little gun filled with tear gas, and if Mr. Driver gets fresh all the flapper has to do is squirt it in his face and he becomes very harmless. Miss Frances Cummings and Frank J. Streich of Chicago show how it works.

Carries On

Charles E. Morris of Dayton, O., has been named publisher of the Canton (O.) Daily News succeeding Don R. Mellett, who was shot to death because of his campaign to clean up the city's underworld. Morris, who is editor-in-chief of the Cox newspaper in Ohio, will carry on the work Mellett started.

LAD HANGS SELF AFTER REPROOF FROM MOTHER

Angered because his mother reproved him when he and other children with whom he was playing quarreled, Leslie Cook, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. MacCook, residing on an oil lease six miles west of Rising Star, hanged himself to a tree near the house, about 5 o'clock, Monday afternoon, and was dead when his mother found him.
According to information given by his mother to Justice of the Peace Sam J. Day of Eastland, who held an inquest over the body, Leslie and his brothers, Robert, aged 11, and Charles, aged 6, were playing at drilling oil wells, their father being a driller, and had a miniature derrick and rig up in the yard of their home. The boys were taking turns about drilling, when Leslie refused, at the end of his turn, to allow his brother to take his place. The brother appealed to their mother, who reproved Leslie and made him come in the house.
After Leslie had come into the house, Mrs. Cook went about her work. Within about thirty minutes she missed Leslie and called to him, but failed to get an answer. She then went to look for him and found him hanging to a tree that stood just behind the barn. One end of a rope was around his neck and the other end had been thrown over a limb of the tree. It is believed that the boy died from strangulation as his neck was not broken.
The tree to which the boy was found hanging stood near a fence and it is believed that he climbed upon the fence, tied the rope around his neck, threw the other end over the limb of the tree and jumped off. The rope and the tree were wet which doubtless prevented the rope from slipping with the boy's weight.
Justice of the Peace Day, who held the inquest in the absence of Justice of the Peace Deans of Rising Star, who is sick, stated in his coroner's verdict that the deceased came to his death by his own hand by hanging.

Helped To Send "Ma" Back Home To Keep House

A Wichita Falls woman writes a Ranger friend:
"Well, I went to the polls and voted this morning, and I think I voted right. Hope you did the same. I did the very best for "Ma" that I could. Tried to get her back on the farm, where she will be more at home, and much more comfortable than in the governor's chair—with her husband probing her every movement from behind her apron strings."

NEW PRODUCER MURRELL FARM NEAR CARBON

Operators Believe Connection Of New Pools Are Assured.

That a new shallow oil pool has been discovered within a few miles of Eastland is the belief of operators who are watching with much interest the well being drilled on the farm of Mrs. "Tip" Murrell, four miles south of Eastland and just west of the Carbon-Eastland highway, by Hamon and associates and in which oil was said to be standing 150 feet Monday.
The pay in this well was reached at a depth of 1,337 feet. Owing to the fact that some of the machinery had to be repaired, drilling operations were suspended yesterday to be resumed again.
The Murrell well is in wildcat territory, the nearest production of oil being in the Martin shallow pool, one mile south of Eastland. There are some gas wells, however, in the Flatwoods community which is nearer the Murrell than the Martin pool.
Many operators believe that the recently discovered shallow pool east of Eastland and known as the Parsons pool, and the Blake field near Rising Star, are to be connected by the pool which it is believed will be opened by the Murrell well and the Mike Morgan well further south between Carbon and Rising Star.

There is now every indication that the vast semi-proven territory in the southeastern and southern parts of Eastland county is soon to experience a drilling campaign unequalled by that put on in any section of the Central West Texas field for a number of years. The fact that one is almost certain to get gas, if not oil, in any well drilled in this section, will encourage many operators to take a chance on drilling wells in this sector when they would not drill them otherwise.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR THE COLLEGE

A committee composed of representatives from Ranger's school board, Rotary club and Lions club, all intent on landing the Junior college, were to have met today at luncheon, had to postpone this meeting until a later date, possibly Wednesday noon or Thursday noon. However, no grass will be permitted to grow under their feet as they are in dead earnest and realize that the time is short.
J. T. Killingsworth, M. H. Hagaman and Dr. L. C. G. Buchanan composed the school board committee, M. K. Collier, M. R. Newnam and Ed Mahor will represent the Rotary club, while the Lions club will be represented by R. F. Holloway, Colonel Brasher and J. M. White.
With these three strong organizations plunging right in and working for the establishment of the hoped for Junior college, the ultimate realization looks very favorable.

Autrey Harkrider Seriously Ill With Blood Poisoning

Autrey Harkrider, 14-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Harkrider is seriously ill at the City-County hospital from blood poisoning, caused by a cut on his arm, which became infected.
The lad was moved to the City-County hospital Sunday night, at midnight and has been in a precarious condition since that time, but today, it was believed that his chances for recovery were slightly improved.
Mrs. Harkrider, who was en route to California, was advised of her son's illness at Ratoon, N. M., and is on the way back to his bedside.

COMMISSIONERS NOW IN SESSION

The county commissioners court, with Judge Ed S. Pritchard presiding, and all members present, met Monday and were still in session today. Only routine matters were being taken up, it was stated.

 Dances at the club in mid-summer are always looked forward to with pleasure by those who are lucky enough to be among those invited.

One Life Lost, Clyde Liner In Path Of Storm

 San Augustine and the center of the storm area was between Miami and Jupiter with the gale moving northwest.
 At Saint Petersburg, Fla., fourteen fishing boats were in danger of being swept out to the Gulf of Mexico, this afternoon, as a hard wind prevented their entry into Tampa Bay and safety.
 Fear for the fifty or more men on board the boats were entertained by their families, in that city.

WEST PALM BEACH COMPLETELY ISOLATED

By United Press.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 27.—Palm Beach and West Palm Beach have been completely isolated since the hurricane which is sweeping the east coast of Florida, struck them today with full force. Last reports received from the winter resort cities before the wires were torn down said a 70-mile gale was bearing over the district, uprooting trees, unroofing houses and threatening further damage.

NEW BUILDINGS TO ENLARGE V. F. W. NATIONAL HOME

Main building at Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home for widows and orphans of ex-service men at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. (Inset) Woodrow and Tommy Pollett, two of Home children, make friends with Billy, pet lamb mascot of the Home.

BUILDING operations are actively underway on the four new buildings to be erected during the summer at the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home for widows and orphans of ex-service men at Eaton Rapids, Michigan.
 The "family group" plan is the basic principle on which the Home functions, and the new structures now being erected are small building units designed to permit the maintenance of the family and keep mother and children together in individual homes. In cases where an ex-service man is disabled to such an extent that he cannot support his family, arrangements will also be made to care for him at the Home with his family.
 "We realize that no institution, no matter how perfectly and efficiently managed, can take the place of a mother's loving care and guidance, and for that reason the plans of our organization call for smaller units rather than for larger buildings which might suggest something of the formality and impersonal atmosphere of an institution," said Albert J. Rabin, past Commander in Chief of the V. F. W. and President of the

18 Watermelons on Vines Attract Lads and Farmer

Made reckless by waiting Saturday night for the election returns, and the late edition of The Times, a bunch of "newsies" ganged up and went on a midnight hunt for watermelons.
 A likely patch was located. The melons glistening in the moonlight and not an owner in sight.
 They piled in and quickly separated eighteen green beauties from their parent vine. Part of the boys had made their car, seeing a car coming down the road they decided that flight was the better part of discretion and beat it.
 Intuition, or mental telepathy, or just bad luck, as far as the boys were concerned, awakened the farmer and before the rest of the boys got out of the field, he swept down on them like an avenging angel and demanded his pound of flesh—which to be accurate was two bits per melon.
 The money made from Saturday night's extra, went to the farmer and the boys escaped unhurt—so did about twelve melons that had previously been cached by the boys who beat it first, and farther down the road, when the twain met again, a wmelon feast was eaten with gusto, only possessed by newsboys.

Eastland and Ranger Lions To Play Here Today

For the sixth time this season the baseball teams of the Eastland Lions and the Ranger Lions will cross bats. The game will be played at Nitro park, Ranger, at between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon. These teams are well matched, Eastland having won two of the five games played.
 Following is the probable lineup for Eastland in today's game: Numerally, pitcher; Bryant, catcher; Day, first base; Weaver, second base; Holway, third base; Kinnaird, left field; M. Collie, center field; W. B. Collie, shortstop; Jones, right field.

Work On New Ward School To Be Started Soon

At the meeting of the school board last night in the offices in the Marston building the way was cleared for the early construction of the new Central Ward school building, and committee named consisting of J. T. Killingsworth, M. H. Hagaman and L. C. G. Buchanan to co-operate with committees from the Lions and Rotary clubs for the establishment of the Junior college.

A representative of the property owner of the Paramount hotel and other holdings here appealed to the board to have the taxes adjudicated. It developed during the meeting that the payment of taxes on this as well as other properties in the city were delinquent for several years. After a full hearing, it was decided to compromise with the owners of the Paramount hotel property by their paying $1,100.

During the discussion of the subject, John M. Gholson and Dr. Buchanan said a mouthful. Mr. Gholson remarked that the school board had gone into debt for money advanced, expecting to pay it back on the basis of the present rendition and levy. Dr. Buchanan said that Ranger was the only town he knew in the state where such actions as compromises on taxes were made, that in most all the cities and towns in Texas, foreclosure proceedings were brought against the property, if the taxes were not paid.
 Contractor Whitehall attended the meeting and placed his case before the body, that the bid made when the contract was awarded was too low since the price of labor, bricklayers and plasterers had advanced, also some of the material to be used in the structure. He was allowed $300 more on his bid.

Community Services Attract One Is Converted

Public Holidays To Be Celebrated During August

The following list of bank and public holidays which will be celebrated in August, 1926, on the dates indicated, is furnished by the Guaranty Trust company of New York:

- Sunday, Aug. 1—Lithuania (Constitution day), Salvador (El Salvador's day).

JAPANESE SPORTS

TOKYO—The direction of the bureau of hygiene of the Home Office has sent instructions to the respective prefectural governments in Japan that they should do all in their power to encourage sports and gymnastics among the young men of their respective districts, while certain sports for girls are also to be encouraged. Gymnasiums are to be built in towns and the members of trades unions, both men and young women, are to be urged to make mass exercises a part of their daily routine. The governors are asked to appoint coaches and to give such assistance to factory and mill laborers, in the way of setting aside baseball fields and athletic grounds, as will induce them to be as much in the open as possible.

FORT WORTH—Magnolia Petroleum company to enlarge local refinery at cost of $500,000.

Flea Hopper Now Serious Menace To Cotton Crop

Considerable interest prevails as to why the Cotton Flea Hopper has only in recent years seemed to have become a serious cotton pest. It is pointed out that the insect has been known and widely distributed for many years, having been described as early as 1876 by Reuter. No attacks by the insect in cotton, however, were recorded prior to 1920 since which time the insect has been commonly called the Cotton Flea Hopper and the attacks have been growing in seriousness until this season when no important section of the cotton growing area has escaped. Suggestions are heard that perhaps the flea caused damage in former years that was ascribed at the time as due to some other cause. Color is lent to this suggestion when one recalls certain seasons when what is called the "bottom crop" was a practical failure and the cause was not thoroughly investigated, hence remained unknown. Furthermore, since the flea has been identified as the offender, the damage has been observed to cease about the time the middle crop is setting and the later fruiting of the plant has not been seriously interfered with. It has occasionally come about that a fair bottom crop would set when the middle crop failed and a fair top crop set. It is thought this condition could have been due to the flea.

There are other conjectures, including the idea that perhaps the flea has only in recent years developed a taste for cotton or that the new varieties of cotton possess some quality to attract the insect, not possessed by former varieties that may have repelled the flea. They are all guesses more or less, however, and in the meantime the entomologists of the College are making exhaustive studies of the insect and its habits and expect to be able to answer accurately the questions which now seem so puzzling. Bulletin 339 of the Texas Experiment Station contains a minute description of the insect, the nature of damage and the most successful means of combating the pest that have been thus far developed.

Presidential Talk Making Coolidge Peevish

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON. — If President Coolidge, up in the Adirondacks, is as thoroughly peeved with Senator Albert B. Cummins and C. Bascom Slemm as his friends here in Washington are, then he must be a very fretful President.

Coolidge-ites distinctly did not want 1928 presidential talk to start at present. With the corn belt in such a ferment of discontent as it is today, a great deal of anti-administration conversation is bound to be mixed into any discussion of candidacies. The Coolidge game obviously is to lie low for a while and hope for better times for the farmers.

Another thing, so long as everybody continued to assume that President Coolidge expected a renomination, it was impossible for any rival aspirant in his own party to announce himself.

Now Cummins and Slemm have set the presidential pot a-boiling, notwithstanding all the White House "spokesman's" capacity for keeping his mouth shut. Cummins, to be sure, has repudiated his prediction that President Coolidge will not care to be renominated two years hence, but nobody pays any attention to his repudiation. The opposition party management goes right ahead with its comment on what the Iowa senator is supposed to have said, just as if he really had said it. Besides, there is a suspicion in Coolidge circles in Washington that he did say it.

The suggestion by Slemm — the president's own former private secretary — of the availability of Speaker Nicholas Longworth was even worse. The Coolidge folk are almost admittedly very much afraid of Longworth, not so much on his own as on his wife's account. Like other candidates, the Ohioan's had to remain under a bushel, so far as any expression from either of the two Longworths was concerned, until the president declared himself out of the picture.

Texas Roads Hold Up Despite The Wet Weather

DALLAS, July 27.—Despite the intermittent rains that have fallen over the entire state during the past few weeks, Texas roads are holding up exceptionally well, according to information given out by Mrs. N. F. Tate, head of the highways department of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. With the exception of short detours in some of the sections where road building work is going on all roads in the state are passable, said Mrs. Tate. In West Texas rains were actually beneficial as they settled the dust and was travelling in this section much more comfortable, according to Mrs. Tate.

Negro Church Near Mexia In Millionaire Class

By United Press.
MEXIA, July 27.—A little negro church known as Mount Zion — in which its followers have long attended services may soon be rated in the millionaire class if present drilling operations turn out successfully.

The little building which has history dating back to Civil War times is situated on the Naysota River near the Comanche crossing. It is in line Nigger Creek trend of activity and a derrick has already been set up on the ground surrounding the fifty year old structure. Operations are going forward with hope that oil will be forthcoming.

According to the pastor, if oil is found and the church receives large rentals from such oil the money will be put into new buildings and purchase of land.

Many of the members of the church are already prosperous having been lucky enough to own land in the Nigger Creek section of activity.

If you had your way about it others wouldn't have theirs.

The VANITY CASE

© 1926 by G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY:

In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in an elaborate bungalow, lived Perry Heath and his wife, Myra.

At the time the story opens the Heaths were entertaining a house guests:

Lawrence Inman, a distant relative of Myra's, and, aside from Perry, the only heir to her considerable fortune, and Bunny Moore, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of Myra's.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She was cold, sarcastic and decidedly not in love with her husband. She never used cosmetics or dressed in colors. She had a passion for collecting rare old bottles, and her latest was an old whisky bottle which she was quite proud of but which aroused her artistic husband to scorn.

There is a growing intimacy between Inman and Myra Heath and between Bunny and Perry. Myra becomes provoked at Bunny's infatuation for her husband and declares that she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting Perry off.

It develops that Perry is a candidate for presidency of the Country Club and his chief opponent is a man named Sam Anderson. Bunny, thumbing through a portfolio of Heath's drawings, runs across a card, marked "The Work of Perry Heath."

That night, after Bunny and Inman retire, Myra Heath alludes mysteriously to her husband's "secret." When Perry goes to bed, Inman comes down stairs, and he and Myra are in each other's arms when Perry discovers them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: CHAPTER IV

It was characteristic of Myra that she showed no surprise or embarrassment.

She remained in Inman's embrace and turned her face to her husband with a slight frown of irritation at the intrusion.

Larry, too, was apparently undismayed, and stood his ground, as he took his cue from Myra.

"Then it's now a case of the time, the place and the loved one all together," he said, lightly. "Go ahead, Perry, have your say."

"There's not much to say," Heath lighted a cigarette. "But as an interested bystander, I'd like to know what you two propose to do."

"That's only natural, I'm sure," Inman remarked, "what are we going to do, Myra?"

"You're going to do what I tell you," cried Heath, suddenly wrathful. "You, Larry, will go to your room at once, pack your things and get out of here the first thing in the morning."

"And if I refuse to obey?"

"You won't refuse. You are at my mercy. I have caught you down here holding a clandestine meeting with my wife. I find her in your arms. I have a right to shoot you!"

"Why don't you?" asked Inman, with maddening coolness.

"You're not worth it!" Heath glared at him. "Not worth the powder and shot it would take to kill you. Get out, I tell you! Go upstairs, and before I am down in the morning you are to be far away from here and never come back! Get that?"

"Yes, Heath, I get that."

"Go, then." And Inman went, and again the husband and wife were alone together.

Mrs. Prentiss always sat down to her breakfast at half past eight o'clock. If truth were told, she would have preferred an earlier hour, but Harbor Gardens' people were late risers, and 8:30 was just about the earliest one could breakfast with decency.

Most of the Gardeners liked 9 o'clock, and many were later still.

This summer, her nephew, one Todhunter Buck, was spending the month of June with her. And as he was a docile and good-tempered chap, whom she had loved from babyhood on, she ruled him with a rod of iron, at least regarding her household appointments.

So Todhunter, whose awkward ancestral name had long since been reduced to Toddy, almost always beamed at his aunt across her matutinal table.

In available weather, this table was laid on the pleasant bungalow porch, which gave on the western landscape and commanded a fairly good view of the Heath home. Beings on the north horn of the crescent shaped harbor, these houses faced south.

"Toddy," said Mrs. Prentiss, as she poured the coffee, "there were queer doings at the Heath home last night."

"So?" said the youth, with a perfunctory showing of interest. "Jazz?"

"No, they're not that sort. Oh, I forgot you don't know them, of course, you having arrived only yesterday. But there's a girl over there that you'll like."

"Pretty?" Toddy sat up.

"More than pretty—a vision of angelic beauty!"

"Gosh, Auntie, never heard you rave before!"

"And she's a nice girl, too. Oh, flapper and all that, but with some sense in her silly head. But I was telling you about last night."

"No, you weren't, you hadn't begun."

"Well, I will, if you'll be still a minute. I couldn't sleep."

"Poor old auntie, I know. It must be awful to be so wakeful."

"It's terrible, Todhunter. You've no idea what it means to lie with wide open eyes, and hear the clock strike the hours and half hours all through the night!"

"No. Why have a striking clock?"

"So I'll know what time it is, stupid. Well, last night, I was prowling about my room—I do that when I just get worn out lying in bed awake—"

"Yes, go on. When does the pretty girl come in?"

"Not at all. Be quiet, will you? The people next door all went to bed some time before 12 o'clock."

"No!"

"Hush. Don't be silly. And then, a little later, say, about midnight, there was a small light, a dim one, in the studio. That's the room at this end of the house."

CAROLYN WELLS

"H'm. I suppose the pretty girl came down to the library to get a book. They always do that."

"Well, maybe. Then after a short time, there was a big light flashed on—"

"Of course. The hero of the story comes down and finds girl, in bewitching negligee, with her hair down—"

"Will you be still! Well, then, about 1 o'clock the lights all went out except for two tiny sparks, that looked like two candles."

"And probably were. The two big sparks being the girl and the man."

"Hush, I'm serious, Tod. For after that, oh—half an hour after, the big light was flashed on again, stayed on for a short time, and then went off, leaving the two little dim lights again."

"Got you. Proceed."

"Then after another interval comes the big light again, and then, later that, goes out and the two little lights stay there all the rest of the night."

"I'll what time?"

"I don't know. I stopped watching and went back to bed about 3. The little lights were burning then, and when I awoke it was broad daylight."

"Well, Aunt Em, I don't think you've detailed such a very astounding sequence of events after all. Lights on and off in a house, are no of unprecedented occurrence."

"No. But what were the two little lights that stayed on through all the other ups and downs of the big lights?"

"Night lights, I suppose—"

"Nonsense! I've lived next door to the Heaths since the first of May, and they never burnt night lights before."

"Always has to be a first time. But what do you want me to say? I'll agree it's amazing, alarming, terrifying—anything you wish. But I don't get it."

"That's just it, Tod. I don't get it either. I think something has happened over there."

"Do you separate the letters of your words when you write, Auntie?"

"You ought to know. I often write to you. Why?"

"Yes, I know you do. I remember now. You write half a word, and then take up your pen and put it down a bit further on, to finish it."

"Well, what of it?"

"Only that it means that the writer has intuition to a marked degree. So my adored Aunt, I believe your assumption is right, and something did happen next door last night. Your

Wide Publicity Helps Women Here Learn The Truth

Women Need to Know More About Mysterious Malady Which Is Cause of Ninety Per Cent of Their Suffering and Pain From So-Called "Female Disorders."

The great sensation which the wonderful medicine known as St. Joseph's G. F. P. has been causing among the women of this country ever since it was first introduced here a few short weeks ago can be compared to the excitement caused by the discovery of gold in California, or the finding of oil in Oklahoma. Seldom has such tremendous enthusiasm been seen here.

And no wonder the demand for G. F. P. is growing by leaps and bounds. Public statements are being made every day telling the most extraordinary things about this phenomenal medicine and the marvelous changes it is making in those who formerly suffered from so-called "female disorders."

"Nothing can show more clearly the great influence which publicity has over disease and ill health than the remarkable decrease in suffering and pain from so-called "female disorders" which is following the spread of the fame of G. F. P.," says the representative of the discoverers of this great medicine.

"Nine out of every ten of such distressing symptoms, as headaches, backaches pains in the sides and back, cramps, nausea, nervousness, irregularity, irritability, dizziness, loss of sleep lack of appetite and that awful run-down, tired-out, feeling of weariness, depression and melancholy have been proven beyond question, are caused by catarrh of the generative organs, the dreaded malady which attacks the mucous membrane that lines these delicate organs and, through the inflammation of this lining, rapidly spreads to other parts of the system unless something is done to check it. It never 'works itself out,' but continues to cause more misery and serious trouble as long as it is let alone."

intuition is doubtless correct. What do you suppose the happening was?"

"Toddy, you are a trial. I never know whether you're interested in what I'm saying, or just poking fun at me."

"Both, dear. That is, I'm interested in the pretty girl. Tell me more about her."

"Oh, she has yellow hair and blue eyes and a skin like peaches and cream. She's a friend of Mrs. Heath's, and I think she has bewitched Mr. Heath. She would bewitch any man not totally blind!"

"Yet you like her, Aunt?"

"Yes, she's a dear girl. Sort of home-like and gentle-mannered with older persons, like me. But I expect she's a hoyden among her own crowd."

"She's younger than the Heaths, then?"

"Yes; Bunny is 22. The Heaths are both over 30."

"Me for Bunny! Why the kittenish name?"

"Her name is Berenice. But she's always called Bunny."

"Oh, well, I'd just as lief call her that as anything. When can I see her?"

"Today, probably. They'll all be at the Gresham's this afternoon, and we'll be there, too."

"All right, but I'll have about outside this morning, and hope to catch a preliminary glimpse of the universal charmer."

Toddy, having finished his breakfast, lighted a cigarette, as he glanced over toward the Heath house.

But he saw no sign of the occupants nor even any servants about, opening doors or windows.

And then, just as aunt and nephew rose from the table, there came to their ears a loud scream from the house next door.

To Err Is Human?

These men do not make mistakes!

THE romance and glamour of news-reporting hover around the intrepid reporter.

But the UNITED PRESS telegraph operator deserves a paean of praise for his unflinching accuracy in circumstances when a tiny error might shake the world!

The layman knows that telegraphy is a matter of dots and dashes. What he may not know is that with it goes a system of automatic abbreviation or "shorthand" which reduces "decided" to "dcd" and "judge" to "jdg" and condenses other words in similar fashion.

Thus: "Mussolini decided today" might easily be erroneously sent as "Mussolini died today" and countless other mistakes could easily become possible.

The load of responsibility resting on the UNITED PRESS operator is terrific. To err may be human but the dictum does not apply to him. HE MUST NOT, CAN NOT permit himself to make mistakes.

And when you remember that he sometimes sends or receives some 15,000 words a day, you appreciate the strain under which he labors.

This newspaper is proud of the faithful, accurate UNITED PRESS operators who send and receive the news gathered by UNITED PRESS reporters equally faithful and accurate. Look for the line "BY UNITED PRESS" in this newspaper every day. News so marked is accurate, true and authoritative.

Racing Season Has Opened in Old Goodwood

By United Press.
GOODWOOD, Eng.— "Glorious Goodwood," four days of racing in the great private park of the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, opened here today with all its old-time brilliance.

Society was out in full force and although Goodwood is more informal than Ascot—much less a fashion show and much more a beautiful garden party—the green lawns of the estate rivalled those of Ascot in soft picturesqueness.

The King and Queen, with the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, and Prince Henry, were the guests of the Duke of Richmond and Gordon. As at Ascot, no guests were admitted to the royal enclosure except those who had been passed upon by the Lord Chamberlain.

In the old days Goodwood was a private race meeting held for the benefit of the "country families," and the Sussex farmers and villagers: admission was free and the ducal purse suffered steady drain. But the increasing popularity of the meeting led to its being placed upon a business basis; it is now estimated that the Duke draws an net profit from the Goodwood meet of about $100,000 a year.

It was at Goodwood that English horse first learned to race upon tank-bark, that dilatory jockeys were first fined for unpunctuality and that the starting flag was introduced to British racing. Altogether, this private track—the only one in Britain except the King's at Ascot—has made second turf history though the races themselves are not exactly of the first rank.

It was at Goodwood, too, that Queen Mary by objecting pointedly to a very daring Parisian costume worn by a lady in the royal enclosure, laid it down as the first canon of British fashion—so far as royal approval goes—that frocks may be as beautiful as they please but they must also be "nice." There is, therefore, no longchamps anywhere in the British Isles.

At the close of the meet society betakes itself to Cowes for a week of yachting and after that there will be a general scattering to Scotland for shooting.

The two principal events today were the Richmond Stakes, a 6-furlong race for two year olds, and the Stewards' Cup, a 6-furlong handicap which usually attracts some of the best sprinters in the country. The betting on the latter is invariably heavy. The main event of the meet will be the Goodwood Cup, a two- and a half mile weight for age race, to be run off on July 29.

Nine Have Entered Race to Swim the English Channel

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
 (United Press Staff Correspondent)
CAP GRIS NEZ, France—Channel swimming, heretofore a freak stunt, has become an animated race this year. The question of who can swim the channel is of little importance compared with the question of who will swim it first.

Nine starters have already appeared and at least half a dozen others are making feverish preparations to get here in time for the good weather, if any ever comes. Of the nine already on this or the English coast, four are women, including three Americans.

Frank Perks, the Birmingham, England, swimmer who has twice failed, is determined to be the first away, regardless of the weather. He has not much time to devote to the job and is planning to start from here almost any night now. He will go under a handicap because the water is still cold and the tides are not favorable, but Perks has remarkable endurance which he thinks will overcome the bad conditions.

Isak Helmi, the Egyptian who caught both Miss Lillian Harrison and Miss Gertrude Ederle when they collapsed last year and is therefore known as the life-saver, wants to be the first man to cross this season. He does not take Perks very seriously, but is out to beat Colonel Freyberg, the British war hero who made the best showing of all last year. The colonel trains secretly near Dover, and has at his disposal a British naval tug, so he is known as the mystery man of the channel.

Helmi is taking no chances with Freyberg, and is making preparations to start July 23, which is the first day of favorable tides.

The other two men now in training are Omer Perrault and Georges Michel. They are willing to abide their time and wait for the best conditions. They are both veterans, and while they are in the season's race they are not bothering about the hotels who are trying to sprint ahead.

In addition to these, two German swimmers, Ernest Vierkotter, the German distance champion, and O. Kemmerich, who last August swam forty miles across the Baltic Sea, have sent word that they are coming. German swimmers have not tried for the stunt since the war.

There are reports of other men getting ready for the grind, but since five men have already swam the channel the chief interest in their race this year is among themselves.

The four women now in training are Miss Lillian Cannon of Baltimore, Miss Gertrude Ederle wife of an American naval officer, and Madame Jane Sion of Dunkirk, Mrs. Corson and Madame Sion have both endured over fourteen hours in the channel, Miss Ederle failed last year after eight hours, while Miss Cannon is a newcomer.

All these women are on edge for the stunt. Mrs. Corson, who now has two children, is full of confidence and wants to get the job over as quickly as possible. Madame Sion cannot devote all of her time to swimming, but thinks she has the best claim of women on the channel. Both Miss Ederle and Miss Cannon are young girls and are strongly backed for their attempt, so they are ready to last out the season or until some woman succeeds.

Of all channel swimmers of all time, both Miss Cannon and Miss Ederle are in a class by themselves. Trained in the best of American clubs, they are both great swimmers and much faster than the rest of the field. Miss Ederle is the faster of the two over medium distances, but Miss Cannon can sprint atop, and she swims with remarkable ease and technique.

The old channel swimmers never knew the high art of the game as these two American girls do, but were for the most part pluggers, Miss Ederle is twenty, and has powerful arms, shoulders and legs that enable her to go through the water with her crawl stroke at an astonishing speed, but many experts doubt if she has the endurance for the channel with her style. Miss Cannon is twenty-three, a very pretty blonde with a classic figure. She has for several years been swimming instructor, and she uses all useful strokes with a fine art.

Should either or both of these young girls cross the channel, their work would reflect further credit on American swimming methods, which they so capably exemplify.

Foreign Women Attack Chivalry Of the Japanese

By United Press.
TOKYO—Japan is now enjoying a correspondence debate in the press between some foreign women who have styled the Japanese men barbarous because they do not give up their tram and railway seats to women, and some defenders of the Japanese males who claim that Japanese street car courtesy is more reasonable and better than that of the West.

In Japan, it is pointed out, it is not sex but age and weakness which gets consideration, and that while no man feels called upon to give his seat up to a girl or woman as healthy as he himself is he will always give it up for aged person of either sex, to a woman with a child or even to a child alone, while a Japanese girl is expected and does give up a seat for an old person, for a man manifestly ill or for a woman with a child.

The Japanese writers say that to give a person a seat merely because she happens to be a female is illogical. Women, they say, must expect equal treatment with men when they come to Japan, as this is the very thing they are demanding in their Western homeland.

Darwinism To Be Discussed By Scientists

By C. P. WILLIAMSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON.—Possibility of a revival of the old controversy over the Darwinian theory follows the announcement that Julian Huxley, grandson of the famous Thomas Huxley, will address a section of the British Association for Advancement of Science at Oxford on Aug. 4.

Huxley's address will stress the general biological effects of inheritance upon the specific appearance of humans.

It is recalled that it was at Oxford in 1894 that Thomas Huxley renewed the old wounds over the theory. The president of the association at that time was the Marquis of Salisbury, whose address on Darwin's theory, together with Huxley's stinging reply, revealed that the old controversy, though in a modified form, was still very much alive.

In 1860, A. Vernon Harcourt, Huxley and Hooker became involved in their famous debate over the theory with Wilberforce, but it was not until the association met again at Oxford in 1894, that the controversy came seriously before the body.

Second in importance only to the Royal Institution as a scientific body, the association has long been noted for its first revelations to the world of new discoveries in all fields of science.

The first public demonstration of wireless telegraphy was made before the association by Sir Oliver Lodge.

Officers raided Sam Kelley's place in the colored section of Cisco Friday night and as a result obtained a quantity of alleged beer. Kelley was arrested and taken to Eastland and placed in jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Curly Davis of Cisco was arrested Saturday night when his place of business was raided by local officers and a number of bottles of alleged beer captured. Complaint charging Davis with the manufacture of intoxicants has been filed, officers stated.

RICH HOTEL OWNER MODERN BUILDER OF PYRAMIDS! A BIT OF EGYPT TO BE CONSTRUCTED IN OZARKS

By NEA Service
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—A huge concrete pyramid that will preserve records of present-day civilization for millions of years, if necessary, is being built among the back hills of the Arkansas Ozarks by William Hope (Coin) Harvey, wealthy resort hotel owner.

On the passageway leading to the central crypt will be a copper tablet for some archaeologist of the year 121,097, or thereabouts, to decipher. It will read:

"When this is read, go below and find a record of and the cause of the death of a former civilization."

A Friend of Bryan
Harvey, who was a close friend and co-worker of the late William Jennings Bryan, and a leader in the free silver movement that Bryan espoused in the "freebies," believes that some day our civilization must pass away—just when, he doesn't pretend to know, except that it will be a great many years hence. And he wants future generations, who poke around in our ruins, to have as full and complete an account of our customs and inventions as possible. Hence the pyramid.

"Our civilization of today is rich in intricate inventions and cultural devices, but it can leave little, if anything, in the way of lasting records for the ages to come," he says.

"This pyramid, which I regard as the greatest undertaking of my life, will preserve records of the world of the present for the greater civilizations of the future, and those nations and civilizations may have the opportunity to build up a happier world through finding out the mistakes and advantages of the life of our age."

"I have decided to erect my pyramid here because geologically the Ozarks are among the oldest mountains in the world. The process of erosion has diminished their original height of more than 14,000 feet to less than 1400 feet above sea level. The hard limestone base, which I have effectually protected from the action of ground water, is as enduring as any substance known, and the hills have already become so worn that it is impossible for the pyramid to become buried through erosion of the nearby mountains."

Work Already Begun
Work on the foundation of the big pyramid has already begun, and construction of the main body will start within a few weeks. The pyramid is to be 130 feet high, 40 feet square at its base and six feet square at the top. Its construction will require 16,000 sacks of cement, 30,000 cubic feet of sand and 58,000 cubic feet of gravel. To total cost is estimated at $50,000.

The top of a rounded hill has been excavated to bed-rock limestone for the foundation, and approximately 150 holes have been drilled 25 feet into the rock, in which cement shafts will be sunk as protection against erosion.

In the center of the pyramid there will be a room 20 feet square, surrounded by a solid concrete wall eight feet thick. This chamber will contain two vaults from which the air can be exhausted by a system of pipes leading to the outside.

Samples of Machinery
In these vaults will be placed various examples of this generation's achievements—miniature airplanes, radio sets, phonographs, linotype machines, steamships, automobiles and other mechanical devices. Magazines and newspapers, their pages covered with waxed paper to prevent the ink from fading, will be placed in the vaults, as will a copy of "Common Sense," a book by Mr. Harvey.

There will be nothing to perpetuate the names of any people aside from the records in the books and magazines. No names will be engraved on the walls.

After the vaults are filled they will be hermetically sealed and the air will be exhausted by means of the pipes. Then the mouth of the shaft leading to the crypt will be sealed—and the pyramid will be left to wait for the prying eyes of some curious scientist, scores of centuries in the future.

Farmers Short Course to Draw 3,000 Attendants

By United Press.
COLLEGE STATION.—Approximately 3000 persons representing every county in Texas are expected to attend the 17th annual Farmer's short course to be held at the A. and M. College of Texas for six days, beginning on Aug. 2. The program is the most comprehensive yet offered, and includes instructions of interest to men, women, boys and girls. Prominent agricultural leaders from outside Texas as well as specialists in the state and from the extension service of the college, will address the meetings.

Special trains bearing people from the Panhandle, West Texas, and Rio Grande Valley and from other sections of the state, are being chartered according to reports received by the short-course officials. W. B. Cook, agricultural agent for the Missouri Pacific Lines has announced that his company will give free trips to the course and pay the expenses of between 40 and 50 boys and girls living in the counties through which its lines pass.

Meetings will be held in conjunction with the short course by the agricultural writers of the state, county superintendents, members of the Rural Press Association, the Texas Beekeepers' Association, the Experiment Station workers, and the County Fair Secretaries' Association. Entertainment programs of varied nature will be given every night of the short course from 8:30 until 10 o'clock. Lecture programs for adults will be given nightly from 7:30 until 8:30.

Nominal charges will be assessed for food and lodging, and all provisions will be made for the comfort and convenience of the visitors. Free camping accommodations will be provided at the south end of the campus.

Instruction for the short course has been divided into the following groups: Agronomy, horticulture, poultry, livestock, beef cattle, sheep, dairying, cotton classing, boys work and girls' work. Prominent speakers on the program include Dr. T. O. Walton, president of the college; Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the A. and M. College of Oklahoma; Miss Susan Landon, director of community organization of the North Carolina Growers' Association; Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, president of the University of Texas; and C. A. Cobb, editor of the Southern Ruralist, Atlanta, Ga.

Legislation For Forestry To Be Sought

WASHINGTON.—Publication of a forestry legislative survey by states was announced today by the American Tree Association.

This follows the suggestion adopted at the world Forestry Congress in Rome that collection of international forestry statistics be begun. The survey is for free distribution to those interested.

There are now nine states, says the survey, with effective laws on their statute books intended to favor and encourage the practice of forestry, chiefly through the exemption of taxation on young growing stands of timber of replanted. Most of the recent laws enacted to relieve taxation have adopted the yield tax principle, the survey points out. During the 1926 sessions of the Legislature greatly improved taxation laws with a yield tax provision embodied in them were enacted in New York, Mississippi, and Michigan.

Forty-one states now have forestry departments or corresponding agencies. The states which do not maintain forestry officials or departments that do not handle forestry affairs, are: Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah and South Carolina. Thirty-two states in cooperation with the United States Forest Service now maintain forest fire patrol systems.

The most important piece of federal forestry legislation within the past few years is the Clarke-McNary Forestry Act, according to the survey. The act allows federal appropriations of $2,500,000 annually in this cooperation work. More than $6,000,000 has been appropriated for the year 1926 to be used by the federal government in cooperation with states for adequate fire protection.

The survey prints the Clarke-McNary law in full, gives a list of state forestry officials and reviews briefly the legislative situation in every state.

FINE WAR SHOTS TAKEN "BEHIND THE LINES" IN PARAMOUNT PICTURE

How the folks at home who read the newspapers during the thrilling days of the great war longed to get a look at No Man's Land—to see what the war really was like!

Well, No Man's Land is now available to all movie goers. In "Behind the Front" Edward Sutherland, Paramount director, shows exactly what it is like.

It is far from a comfortable place—at least Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, who play featured roles in "Behind the Front," found it that way.

It was all a mistake. Beery and Hatton, two doughboys, belong way back in the S. O. S. They get a little too convivial in a French buvette, and reach the front through accident—instead of a hot meal which is intended for the boys in the frontline trenches.

Then they get all mixed up, wander into No Man's Land, and into the German trenches. By a lucky chance, they get some German uniforms, and start back.

And that's where the observer gets his best view of No Man's Land—with the shells of both sides bursting around the shellhole where Beery and Hatton are concealed trying to get rid of their purloined German accoutrements.

But they didn't succeed. A German tank came toward them. The German soldiers running it make the mistake of trying to rescue them. Then—well, you'd better see this comedy to really appreciate it.

"Behind the Front" features beautiful Mary Brian, in addition to Beery and Hatton. It was adapted by Monty Brice from a Hugh Wiley story, and is now showing at the Lamb.

WHO IS SMARTEST FOLKS WHO LIVE IN COUNTRY OR TOWN?

By United Press.
NEW YORK, July 24.—Is it true that the drift to town is taking the smart people from the farms, leaving the dullards, and lowering the level of rural intelligence? Of 641 members of rural communities the country over questioned by the magazine Farm and Fire-side 47 replied that the smart do leave for the city only the dumb stay on the farm but the other 594 observers insisted that it takes more brains to make a living on the farm than in the city.

Among replies to the questionnaire from many sections of the country which will appear in the August number of the magazine were the following:
