The bill would appropriate $4,196,075 for new buildings, equipment and livestock. A companion measure for half a million dollars emergency appropriation also won legislative approval and was sent to the governor. His approval of both is almost certain because the governor had placed prison reform high on his list of recommendations to the legislature. Besides this, he far afiled to engage a recognized penologist as head of the system when grave changes were made against conditions more than a year ago.

Certainly this is one field of state responsibility is sore need of rehabilitation and reformation. The stories which

Forget Troubles On Occasion; Consider The Case Of Grady

This column the other day cited that one of the striking post-war developments is the increased knowledge of world events possessed by the average citizen in the U.S.A. and other Democracles. I've encountered that both at home and abroad, and have been especially impressed by the way youth is taking hold of international questions.

That strikes me as being a good sign new angle to the thought. It comes from the recent strange adventure of Grady-thecow, and might be entitled "A Smile a Day Keeps the 'Hot War' Away," Of course, I realize I'm laying myself open to the retort of the old vaudeville comedian: "That don't sound like 'cow' to me; it sounds like 'bull' ". Still, Grady enters

PROBABLY NO RECENT STORY HAS attracted so much attention as that of the blue-blood Grady who lives on her master's farm in Yukon, Okla. You all know how she got herself trapped in a silo after she performed the "impossible" feat of diving head-first into it through an opening which theoretically was too small for her. Strife and war talk continued to encircle the gobe, but Grady held the stage until some smart person figured that she could be rescued by greasing her all over so she would slip through the little opening. The scheme worked. But that isn't quite the whole story. For Grady has demonstrated that it's a good thing for a man to get his mind off his troubles sometimes. Too much brooding is in these dangerous times, but I have a bad, for it is likely to produce obsessions. And obsessions can lead to disasters.

> SOMETIMES IT'S THINKING UNhealthful thoughts that produce unhealthful events. That's not a new idea, for we read in proverbs regarding man that "as he thinketh in his heart, so is he."

In this connection I was much interested in an impression gained during an audience with Pope Plus XII by Associated Press Correspondents Charles H. Guptill and John P. McKnight on the 10th anniversary of the Pontiff's reign.

The Pope gave the impression that he in no way despaired because the "peace with justice" to which he dedicated his pontificate has not yet dawned.

WASHINGTON, M-WATCH YOUR DE- your deductions were more than 10 per cent, don't use Form 1040A or the 1040 short-form. You'll lose money. Use the 1040

On that form, then, if your income was less than $5,000 but your deductions were more than 10 per cent, you'll have to itemize them but you can claim them.

If your income was $5,000 or more, the size of your deductions have nothing to do with the kind of form you use. You must use the 1040 long-form.

But Congress laid down different rules on deductions for taxpayers with $5,000 or more income who are single and for those who are married.

A SINGLE TAXPAYER IN THIS group is allowed a standard, automatic deduction of 10 per cent of his income up to a limit of $1,000 tn deductions.

He just takes that 10 per cent. He doesn't have to itemize anything unless his deductions exceed 10 per cent.

It's different with a married couple whose income is $5,000 or more.

If they file a joint return, even though the wife had no income, they get a standard deduction-just like the unmarried man-of 10 per cent up to a limit of $1,000, without itemizing.

But-if one of them files separately, or both file separately, there's a flat limit of only $500 in deductions on the return filed.

This may seem unfair to married couples, giving single people a break over them. Congress did it that way to even things up a bit:

Under the new law married couples, filing jointly, get a break un-married taxpayers don't get. For, by filing jointly, married couples can "split" their income to get a lower tax, as if each were claiming haif the total income.

Gwinn's Campaign Against Fair Deal Brings Probe Of Franking Activities

WASHINGTON - House leaders are quietly investigating one of the biggest franking grabs in congressional history. It involves jaunty GOP Representative Ralph W. Gwinn of New York, the man who, at minimum wage hearings last week, angrily told a laundry-worker witness to take in washing at home if she didn't like the wages paid by her em-

Gwinn has launched the most extensive one-man mail crusade since the days of former isolationist congressman Ham Fishaimed at undermining President Trumen's "fair deal" program. He is mailing out more than 900,000 letters containing 2,250,-000 copies of speeches against public housing, federal aid to education, rent control and other planks of the Democratic plat-

A good part of this already has been sent to the committee for constitutional government and two mailing agencies in New York City for distribution under Gwinn's free congressional frank. The rest is clogging a corridor in the basement of the House Office Building, waiting to be

However, what the people on the receiving end of this propaganda typhoon do not realize is that they-the taxpayers- are footing a good part of the bill.

The estimated first-class mailing cost to the Post Office Department of Gwinn's 900,000 political letters is $27,000. In addition, the taxpayers are paying $1,755 for the 900,000 free envelopes he is using, plus an estimated $3,000 expense of stuffing the envelopes with Gwinn's speeches - a service provided without cost to the congressman by the House folding room. In other words, Gwinn is socking the taxpayers more than $31,-000 for his political letter lobby. Under the law, Gwinn must pay the government printing office for reprinting the speeches he is sending out. This came to $7,828.97, plus an addition sum for printing speech titles on the envelopes: The New York congressman paid this by personal check, but he refuses to say where he got the money, except that it came from friends.

NOTE-Not even in the heart of an election campaign has anyone mailed out 900,000 propaganda speeches. Significantly Gwinn has only 280,000 constituents in his district.

COMMIE CLEANUP The attempted Communist housecleaning of the French armed forces is much more significant than meets the eye. It also goes to the heart of the question now under debate by the U. S. Congress as to whether European armies are worth anything under the North Atlantic Pact as a defense bulwark for the TISA.

What most people have forgotten is that Maurice Thorez, French Communist leader, was once vice premier of France. At that time. Communists also held the vitally important posts of minister of air and minister of na-

This was the equivalent of having Communists in the jobs now held by James V. Forrestal and Stuart Symington in the USA. At that time-from about 1945 through 1946-the French Communist ministers of air and defense loaded up their establishments with Communists in such key spots es ground erews, arsenals, and communications. To clean them all out now by force or loyalty tests would be almost

However, the cleansing has been made somewhat easier by the fact that many Frenchmen who once hopped on the Communist bandwagon have now voluntarily hopped off. There has been a considerable change of ment in France-away from Russia and toward the USA.

The recent French Gratitude Train, which represented a gigantic job of organization, and to which 6 million Frenchmen contributed, is a graphic illustration of how the French people are trying to show their true sentiment-even though President Truman didn't have the courtesy to welcome the Frenchmen or travel three blocks to see them present their merci boxcar to the District of Columbia.

For when you have the railroad workers of France and the backbone of the French people sending a train all the way to the American people, it's a lot more significant that internal purges. AND POLITICS

The congressmen concerned probably don't want it published, but some revealing conversation took place inside the House Banking Committee when they debated rent control this week.

"I hope you fellows write a tough bill," remarked GOP Congressman Albert Cole of Kansas. during the rather heated debate on rent control. "Go ahead and make it tough on the landlordsthe tougher the better."

Democratic colleagues couldn't believe their ears. "Does that mean you are going to vote for 'the bill?" quired Democrat Frank Buchanan of Pennsylvania.

"Certainly not." answered Cole, "but the tougher you fellows make this bill, the more votes you are going to make for us Republicans in the next election."

WALL STREET WOLVES Wall Street's investment bankers are quietly shopping around for a grade A university financial expert with a national name to dowdress a blast against competitive bidding.

Cyris Eaton, Cleveland industrialist and banker, has been fighting for competitive bidding on stock and bond issues for years, claiming that it was the only way to prevent inside deals interlocking directorates, which bilked the public, the companies and non-Wall Street underwriting firms.

Eaton's efforts made competitive bidding a SEC responsibility. But it is legally required only in the case of public-utility securities and even then all kinds of exceptions can be granted.

Recently Eaton's demands that the public interest come first in new financing caused the SEC to order the Oklahoma Gas and Electric issue and the Ohio Publie Service issues to be sold competitively. The investmentment-banking fraternity, which hates Eaton because of his longtime advocacy of competitive bidding and of regional finance, now wants to fight back-but only under cover through someone with a university name. NOTE-A. F. Whitney, sagaclous old president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. has also come out strongly in favor of competitive bidding. "A federal law requiring competitive bidding," says Whitney, "would go far in solving America's serious monoply ploblem."

Air Show Presents The Nicer Side Of Filmdom

HOLLYWOOD #-Everybody's talking about it, but George Murphy plans to do something about improving Hollywood's bad publie relations.

The actor has recorded auditions for an air show which would present a favorable picture of the movie town. Written by Paula Stone, it presents film news, a star interview and anwood. Sponsored by MGM, the program is intended for indeswers questions about Hollypendent stations and eventually the networks. "We'll tell the truth," Murphy assures. "Thre are bound to be some things in any business that aren't too good, buy lying about them won't help any."

Myrna Loy is having a slow recovery from her appendix operation, she reports from London. She is leaving for a rest of three or four months in Southern France, on doctor's orders. While thre, busband Gene Market will write a screen play. When Roddy McDowall was infured while trying to stop his runaway car at Universal-International, people were asking him what he was doing at the studio. He has been taking exercises in Frankie Van's gym to build himself up. "I've gained five pounds," he told me, "now I'll probably lose 10 because of the accident."

Texans Don't Appreciate Fine Quality Of Own Hamburgers

It had been suggested to me previously that fortunate citizens of Texas accept many advantages as a matter of fact, but it was not until about six years ago that the proof came my way.

At that time I learned that people in other parts of the world knew very little of some of the finer things of life that Texans enjoy, and the lowly hamburger, Texas style, played a major role in the proof.

The scene was Providence, R. I., a city with its share of history, but still a stranger to the hamburger. It was at the suggestion of a New Yorker that we sought hamburgers there.

He cautioned against over-optimism, however, explaining that it would be pure luck if any place in Providence served hamburgers, and that the quality might be below par if hamburgers were located. He explained further that the quality would concern him as much as a Texan, since he came from New York which "has everything" including Texas style hamburgers that all but surpassed anything developed within the Lone Star state's own boundaries. Consequently, he said, he could recognize a good hamburger, or point out with scorn a bad one, as readily as a Texan.

Finally a place that claimed hamburger production as a part of its routine ordered hamburgers without delay.

business was found there in Providence, and the New Yorker led us there and At length the hamburgers, Providence style, were thrust before us, and any sim llarity to the Texas style product certainly was accidental, co-incidental or completely missing. On the center of the plate was the hamburger meat, about half an inch thick and two inches in diameter. It was flanked by an open bun, a slice of onion and one small pickle. At my suggestion a jar of mustard was placed on the table, whereupon we began constructing "hamburger sandwiches" as they called them in Providence. The first bite revealed little as to the quality, since the meat was in the center and there was considerable overlapping of the hun. When I finally reached the meat I was sure that I had found a cause for the rubber shortage the country was experiencing at that

A glance at the New Yorker disclosed that his palate was not being thrilled by the Providence hamburger. The New Yorker certainly could recognize a bad one, I thought.

"This is a poor excuse for a hamburger." he declared, and I promptly agreed. Then he decided to do something about it. Calling the waitress, he requested that the Providence hamburgers be returned to the kitchen and others prepared as per his own instructions

The waitress then asked for a instructions to be relayed to the chef. 'Why, toast the buns," the New Yorker explained. "Anyone should know that hamburgers should be served with toasted buns."-WACIL McNAIR

Tragic Happenings In The Life Of Man The World Knows Well

(For Hal Boyle, Who Is Vacationing) NEW YORK-ONCE UPON A TIME there was a greedy little man who wanted the whole world for himself.

He was a sickly little man, with tiny hands and feet, and a head too large for his body. His feet were always cold. He would lie in hot water for hours, claiming the cold was locked in his bones. Not for one moment did he consider himself effeminate, though he had wide hips and narrow shoulders, like a woman, and a complexion as fair as a girl's. In fact, women adored him. A look from him and they were at his feet. He had seven mistresses.

Mitzi Green Is Getting Older. But Has Daughter To Take Place

NEW YORK-One of the major worries nights when American troops in St. Malo of this Breadway correspondent is that blasted away at Cezembre Island where Mitzi Green is getting old. She is, according to "Who's Who In The Theater." 29 years old.

The last time I saw her she was a child actress in the movie. I patted her on the head. I remember, and remarked that she was a nice little girl. She lidn't remember the incident, naturally, but her mother, Rosie, did.

Rosie, who was in the Ziegfeld "Follies" with Sophie Tucker, Nora Bayes, Eva Tanguay and other immortals of the rialto, and I talked about the old "Follies" days and, more or less, left Mitzi out of the conversation. But another generation present couldn't be swept aside. She is Mitzi's daughter, Jan. a blonde haired moppet who is hardly taking her first steps. "In one more year," Mitzi said firmly, "she can play 'Alice 'in Wonderland'."

A few nights before I had joined Mitzi and her mother and the No. 3 company-Jan-I had seen the permiere of Mitzi in the floor show of the Copacabana's new show where she does her extraordinary impersonations of Sophie Tucker, Maurice Chevalier, Hildegarde and other notables on the nocturnal circuits. She is good in all of them, but there is a sentimental touch of her reflection of Miss Tucker singing "Some of These Days." Perhaps because Miss Tucker and Mitzi's mother had been in the same "Follies" together.

She has all the voice intonations of Sophie, the movement of hands and eyes of Sophie, and everything else except that Miss Tucker is considerably more than pleasaingly plump while Miss Green has a lithe, svelte figure. But when her voice starts going it has all the power of that inexhaustible sweetheart. Mitzi, once the brat, has grown up to be a young Sophie Tucker-that's about as much praise as you can give a young lady. In a histro nearby Miss Green's Copacabana, the Versailles, there is a mademoiselle from Paris who calls admiring attention to berself by blasting the most harsh criticism at her own personality. Her name is Suzy Solidor, she is a pale blonde and she introduces herself thusly: "Who is this Suzy Solidor? She is the last Nazis were dug in. The Island, a tiny place, was no further away from St. Malo than Staten Island is from Manhattan. But it was tough to take.

... But, she is oh, so charming!"

Suzy is a sturdy, wholesome-looking blonde and I like to think of her being in St. Malo then. For it was only with the aid of such French underground workers that we finally took the mad German-Colonel and his last troops off the last Nazi base on Cezembre Island to threaten our cross-Channel shipments of troops and material.

NEW YORK-Almost as exciting as the Broadway opening of Cole Porter's top hit musical, "Kiss Me, Kate," was the recording of the entire score of the show for a Columbia Records album. The events were attended by many rialto celebrities, And the singers, all taken from the Broadway production, had such small leeway of time to get from the theater to the recording studio that they had to sally over quickly still in their makeup. And some in costume.

Porter was present every night, and continuously made suggestions about how his songs should be sung. This, despite the fact that he had heard the same principals-Alfred Drake, Lisa Kirk, Patricia Morison and others-sing the same songs through more than fifteen complete performances of the stage show.

Porter, who writes most tricky lyries, is extraordinarily particular about the pronunciation of the words in his songs. He has even stopped rehearsals because "he didn't hear that last word clearly."

What joy it brings to children to feel the strong March winds blowing! Soon the skies will be dotted with tiny. colored kites, and grown-ups too will recall the thrills and pleasures of this sport. Man has always had a fascination for flying. Ancient myths and stories reveal man's desire to soar into the heavens, and the art of flying kites dates back four centuries before the Christian era. The enormous interest in modern aviation is not wholly due to its economic and commercial values, for there is a strange enchantment in sailing off into the heavens, in the desire of attaining great heights. There is a kindred hope in the hearts of men. It is the fundamental desire for a higher, more exalted life hereafter. The. Christian religion promises us a heavenly home if only our lives here on earth will follow the teachings of Christ. Let us go to Church this Sunday, and every Sunday, and learn the way to an eternal life. THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church is the greatest factor on earth for The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storefigure of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilizations can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the case of his community, and pattern. sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to shurch regu-larly and sead your Bible daily.

Come in and see the new ! On display beginning Saturday March 5th

Let us show you all the new features of this great car

Here is what thoughtful people everywhere have been looking for and hoping for!

Here, at last, is a car that gives you all the best features of modern design without demanding sacrifices of your family's comfort, safety or convenience. It was designed to fit YOU ... instead of you having to fit into it.

You don't have to wriggle into the new De Soto. You walk in . . . and you keep your hat on. The steering wheel doesn't hit your knees. There's more leg room for all passengers, front and back. And not only are the windows and windshields bigger.

You can see out of them . . . because you're sitting on luxurious chair-high seats.

Yes, it's a thrill to look at. But you won't have to rebuild your garage to get it in. A dented fender doesn't mean an expensive body job. And you can still change a tire, if you have to.

Ride? The smoothest you ever had. Drive? De Soto lets you drive without shifting. New features? Come in and see them all. No matter what car you thought you were going to buy, compare it with this brilliant new De Soto. Then decide.

Tune in "HITTHE JACKPOT" every Tuesday night, all CBS stations
