The grand jury was in recess following a strenuous probe of the case which failed to bring out more than the one statement from the young mother: "I have no boy friends."

Elizabeth is the step-daughter of Rev. L. W. Irwin. The baby, a boy, weighed seven pounds at birth and is apparently in the best of health. The suspended minister faces trial in the district court here on an arson charge filed by the county attorney after an investigation of an alleged incendiary fire in the Lawton Presbyterian church while Irwin was still pastor. Lefty Adkins, who was to have been big bolster to the Nitro pitching staff, has "retired," after hurling the club to one victory. That same afternoon Red Roberts, acting as scout for the Thurber team, lured Lefty over to the eastern suburb, where he signed up with the Tee Pee company for a year-round job with a summer baseball sideline. Adkins felt that it was too good an opportunity to better himself to overlook and his friends who are backing the local club,

"Here Come the Elephants!"

O you remember how you used to be on the job bright and early to see the circus parade? Remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers, and the big, lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horses, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns, and the glitter of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the big performance in the tent?

You didn't realize then, but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement.

Perhaps you don't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as attractive, just as interesting and far more valuable to you, parade daily before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of everything you want or need, here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth."

The whole purpose of any advertisement is to excite your curiosity, gain your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you don't know; to remind you of something you have forgotten; to convince you of something over which you have been hesitating.

In short, the purpose of an advertisement is, in one way or another, to make you happier.
