

HIGHWAY DEPT. TELLS HOW TO KEEP ROADS UP

AUSTIN, March 4.—Instructions for the drainage and dragging of earth roads, the mileage of which in Texas is far in excess of the total mileage of all other types of roads and must necessarily bear the burden of the traffic, have been sent out by the state highway department.

It is very important that no water be allowed to stand either on the surface of an earth road or in the side ditches, said the department's article.

Frequent Dragging. The surface of the road should be kept smooth, free from ruts and holes, by frequently dragging or blading. This can be done by use of steel road drags, road planers, or graders, numerous types of which are on the market, if properly handled.

Center Dries First. As the center of the road dries out more rapidly than the sides the dragging should begin along the center line.

After the center of the road has been properly smoothed up the patrolman should then start on the edges of the traveled way and work towards the center of the road.

12-Year-Old Girls Arrested on Charge of Horse Stealing

GOLDEN, Colo., March 4.—Two young Edgewater girls languish behind the bars at Golden on a charge of horse-stealing. May Wilson and Julia Stobbe, both 12 years old, were arrested by Sheriff Gary Kerr as they were climbing Floyd hill atop two horses which they took from Golden several hours before.

The girls took the horses from in front of a picture show here, said Sheriff Kerr, Monday.

AGED THORNDALE MAN FREEZES TO DEATH

THORNDALE, Texas, March 4.—J. B. Brandon, 70, was found frozen to death about four miles west of Thorndale and within a mile of the home of his son, John Brandon, of the Kennedy ranch, which he was trying to reach.

Brandon left Thorndale about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to walk to the home of his son. The heavy rains of the past ten days had made the roads almost impassable, and the cold norther that came up just before he left was too great a tax upon his slight strength.

Besides the son here, he leaves a son in Austin and three married daughters.

HEAVY VAGRANCY FINE ASSESSED AT EASTLAND

EASTLAND, March 4.—One of the heaviest fines on record in the city court was assessed today when Jim Atchley of this city was fined $150 and costs for vagrancy.

MEXIA, Texas, March 4.—Two chorus girls, said to have won prizes in a "shimmy contest" in a local theater Thursday night, were fined $10 each yesterday before Deputy County Attorney Kennedy, and an officer has been detailed to censor all vaudeville performances staged here.

NOTED WARSHIP TO BE M A D E INTO COFFINS

NEW YORK, March 4.—The charred hulk of the historic frigate Granite State, whose keel was laid for the debutante American navy more than a century ago, was towed toward the junk pile today from the spot in the Hudson at Ninety-sixth street, where she went up in flames and down in the mud ten days ago.

A bugler of the naval militia, which used the frigate as a training ship during the recent years, sounded taps as tugs pulled her across the river. On the opposite bank, the 200 tons of copper in the ship will be salvaged and her hardwood removed and sold to coffin manufacturers.

TEACHERS SEE EAGLE BATTLE MOUNTAIN LION

COLORADO SPRINGS, March 4.—A battle between two bald eagles and a mountain lion, in which the big birds swooped down and slashed at the beast with their beaks and talons and the angry lion struck vainly with his large forefeet, was reported by two Colorado Springs high school teachers, Misses Ella Taylor and Pearl Turner, upon their return from a hiking trip. The unusual battle occurred in North Cheyenne canon, a mile above Laveley camp, and the three participants could be clearly seen on a high ridge near there.

MEXICO WANTS REBEL

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The reported request for extradition of Nicolas Rodriguez had not been received at the state department today. It was said that it would be necessary for the Mexican government to present its claims for extradition before a Federal judge in El Paso, who would conduct hearings in the case and submit the result of his findings to Washington.

STOREKEEPER AND WIFE HIJACKED

low as loud as we could, and I shoved the man away who was holding the gun on me. As I did so the little man who had been holding the gun on my wife ran over and struck at my head. I threw up my hand and took the blow across my wrist.

The storekeeper declared that he was carrying a box when set upon by the robbers and was at a disadvantage. "If I had had anything handy I would have given them a scrap," Mr. Dill, who is a husky specimen himself, said.

List of Checks. The stolen checks included one for $84 made out to George Cletcher; one for $58 made out to F. M. Chance; two checks totaling $23 and made out to Walker & Williams and drawn on the First National bank of Breckenridge; one $5 and one $10 made out to Mr. Dill; one for $10 made out to Mrs. Knott and signed by Dr. Wilson and a number of others on which the storekeeper was unable to remember the names at the time.

The officers had found no trace of the hijackers at an early hour this morning.

The robbery of the Dill store is the second hijacking of its kind in the last month. Charley's Place, a soft drink stand on Hunt street, having been held up by thieves on the night of Feb. 11. Two men were later captured in Fort Worth, following the battle between officers and hijackers there, and according to the officers boasted of having stuck up a place in Ranger but declined to say who the victim was.

MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY!

Lynx-Eyed Customs Officials Keep Him Paddling All Day in Beer-Laden Detroit River Launch.

DETROIT, Mich., March 4.—A man in a motor launch, with twenty cases of beer aboard, last night shoved off from Peche island, north of Belle Isle, and was midstream in the Detroit river, apparently not knowing in what port to risk his contraband.

The man at the time of his embarkation had his mind set upon dropping into a quiet nook along the American shore, where others would be waiting to greet the twenty cases. He made no secret of his departure, for in his pocket was folded a clearance paper from the Canadian government, giving permission for him to export his cargo to the United States.

Engine Balked. With no misgivings in his heart this man sat back in his boat as it spluttered away into the river. Half way across the engine began to cough slightly, then to gasp. Followed a gurgle or two and then considerable silence.

The sailor expostulated with his balky engine. With tongue, monkey wrench and oil can he argued. The engine remained obdurate. The boat drifted along with no visible interest in the altercation. Past the shady shores of Belle Isle it floated, with the argument between the man and the motor still undecided.

There was in the boat, in addition to the cases of amber, a paddle. The gentleman finally embraced it as an old acquaintance. He used it spiritedly and in approved manner. The effect was nonapparent. He kept at it with good will until daylight came.

With the aid of the illumination he found that the boat was off the foot of Woodward avenue and that for several hours past he had been attempting to row through a solid ice floe. He had been partly successful and had got into the floe which obligingly had closed up again aft.

Sought No Rescue. Then came a ferryboat hard by. The skipper hailed from the bridge. A rope was cast over the side which landed in the vicinity of the nautical hermit. He did not attempt to pick it up. By signs he intimated to the ferryboat that rescue was one of the things farthest from his heart.

The explanation was simple. The hermit boatman could not betake himself to the American shore with a boatload of beer, for obvious reasons, chief among which was a group of customs officials peering at him from the Woodward avenue dock.

Canada likewise was out of the question. True, he had papers to export beer from Canada. But he had no papers to import beer into Canada.

Another ferry approached and another line. He likewise spurned this. The boat, however, succeeded in breaking up the ice floe. The shy man paddled over near the Canadian shore, where he was treated to persiflage by the immigration officials on the dock.

Tiring, he picked up his paddle and again ascended the river. Later he took another cruise down past the dock. Lynx eyes watched him from both sides of the river.

At last report his paddle was still dipping into the frigid waters at long intervals. The shy man was casting a calculative eye upon the sun as it slowly descended toward the horizon.

BIBLE IN ONE HAND, PARSON RAIDS STILLS

WASHINGTON, March 4.—With a Bible in one hand, and an automatic in the other, the Rev. M. M. Day is putting the fear of the Lord into the hearts of West Virginia's moonshiners.

Reporting on enforcement conditions, in that state, Director Charles H. Ahrens told Federal Commissioner Haynes Monday: "There is no state where enforcement meets with more hazards. It is necessary for agents to penetrate into remote regions where they are repeatedly shot at with smokeless powder from ambush.

"But I have a fearless lot of agents and the most fearless is the Rev. M. M. Day, a retired Methodist minister worth about $35,000, who volunteered from purely patriotic motives. He walks a dozen miles every day, always carries his Bible with his revolver and makes more arrests and seizes more stills than any other agent. Recently he was attacked by three moonshiners, but, single-handed, overpowered all, killing one."

ALCOHOLIC CIGAR GETS MAKER FINED

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 4.—The "anti-Volstead kerm," or alcoholic cigar, has made its appearance here.

Its producer, a Del Carro cigar maker, paid a fine of $250 in police court following a plea of guilty of having had liquor in his possession contrary to law.

A brass spraying device exhibited elicited the explanation that it was used to saturate the tobacco leaves with liquor before rolling and wrapping. The cigar thus treated does not contain a "kick," it was contended in defense, although it was conceded that it carried a heavy fragrance.

HUGHES IS RETURNING. HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 4.—Charles Evans Hughes, American secretary of state, and Mrs. Hughes sailed today for New York on the steamship Fort Hamilton.

LEGION SEEKS 700,000 JOBS FOR VETERANS

CHICAGO, March 4.—A campaign by the American Legion to obtain employment for 700,000 veterans of the world war, now idle and in need, has been undertaken by the legion, Colonel Hanford MacNider, national commander, announced tonight at a dinner given in his honor by the Illinois department of the legion.

National business, civic, fraternal and welfare organizations have been asked to co-operate in a survey of conditions in each locality to be completed before March 20, which will be known as American Legion day. "The legion's real influence for good," he said, "is in the individual post. The legion is not in politics, but we are going to see that the country stays the way we vote—American."

MONEY'S WORTH IN FIRST FIVE MINUTES, REST CLEAR PROFIT, AT 1920 CLUB'S ENTERTAINMENT

BY MRS. R. B. CAMPBELL

From the time the first note of the Hickville band sounded until the teacher called "Books," the "District School" and "The Bachelor's Dream," rendered last night at the Liberty theatre, was a howling success. When we say "howling," howling is meant for the emot or created by the appearance of this galaxy of stars. Long before the curtain rose, or to be truthful, long before the curtains were sub-divided by hands supposed to be unseen, the sign was out "Standing Room Only" and those who went early are congratulating themselves for their enterprise.

"The Bachelor's Dream" came first, and while "Lucille" Wakefield played "Memories," Ebon Finney, the bachelor, who on the morrow was to forsake his bachelorhood, sat in his den and smoked, and as he sorted out his photographs of the girls he used to love, they passed before him in reality. They were real dream girls, the kind of faces any man might be forgiven for carrying in his heart even into the state of matrimony. Mrs. Sandford Terrell told the story, interpreting his dreams, and he was a good dreamer and handled his discarded cards with a practiced hand. All the girls were there, the First Sweetheart, School Girls, the Football Girl, the Summer Girl, the Debutante, the Red Cross Girl, the Spanish Girl, the Divorcee, the Japanese Girl, the Merry Widow, and, of course, the Bride, who, to the ever beautiful strains of the wedding march, ended the Bachelor's Dream, and became his real dream girl.

An Accomplished School.
Mrs. C. C. Chenoweth was the schoolmarm of the "District School," one of the early fifties, and also had the air of a really, truly one. The pupils came into the room, just after singing that ever popular school melody, "We Are Marching 'Round the Levee." His honor, the mayor, alias Johnnie Gholson, and that dignified gentleman who graces our Chamber of Commerce, as its secretary, under the non-de-plume of Tempie Peters, were the bad boys of the school. Tempie made fun of Johnnie's pants, which was justifiable, since said pants were somewhat minus in the rear, and teacher had to apply a little hickory juice to both of these unruly characters before she could get them to "kiss and make up," which they didn't. Mrs. J. E. T. Peters, known as Vera Peters, read a charming little speech, "I took my dog along to keep the boys away," and it was a good thing, for she looked mighty fetching with her curls and gingham dress.

Sammie Wasaff read an original poem, or at least we think it was original as nobody but Wasaff would have the nerve to write such a silly poem, entitled "1492," which strung out over the centuries until the audience howled for mercy. Probably the most stunning apparition of the evening was "Mollie" Gholson. She said her hat came from the "Julianie" Shen. Maybe it did, about forty years ago, for it was certainly a back number, but at any rate, regardless of which shop she "traded with," he was certainly dressed, and gave a delightful and familiar reading entitled, "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight." A clever debate that called for all of Wasaff's legal ability was waged between Tempie Peters and Sam Wasaff. The subject was "Which Is the Most Useful, the Horse or the Cow." Although many fine points were brought out, neither side won. Little Ray Newnam said a speech which we have oftentimes heard before in many versions, but never rendered more fervently than tonight, called "The J'y Stood on the Burning Deck."

An Infant Prodigy.
Little Jerry Gullaborn, who was rolled to school in a wheelbarrow by his twin sisters, Mmes. C. O. Terrell and Rex Outlaw, after he had been sufficiently nourished by his bottle (milk) which they brought along, sang "The Bull Frog Had a Frolic," which was so sad and so pathetic from one so young that the audience wept, but not from grief. "School Days," sung by the whole school was beautifully rendered. "Lucille" Wakefield and "Bessie" Maddocks were also on the program, and sang "Sweet and Low" in real grand opera style. An essay on "A Cat" was read by "Francis" Jameson. "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" was given by "Meda"

Scott. Charlie Chenoweth sang "Way Down in Kansas" not only once but every time he got a chance. The Twins said a little speech called "Where Our Beaux Live At," which was followed by a recitation by "Esther" Terrell, "Too Big to Be Kissed." Miss Sloper, who in real life is Mrs. Fred Dreinhofer, gave a lecture on how to "catch them young." "Emma" Hagaman, with hair in curls, read "Life Is an Empty Dream," and "Lula" Riddle, a finished product of an Eastland conservatory, sang "Love Me and the World Is Mine." Reuben Galloway made a hit in his speech, "Mamma's Little Man."

Johnnie in Disgrace.
It ended in Johnnie Gholson having to sit on the dunce stool while the rest of the school sang "Goodnight, Ladies." The Hickville band which visited the school rendered some classics of the day, and were very fetching in the make-up. The school patrons in the background lent a dignified atmosphere to the school that without them would have been entirely lacking. To make a long story short, the audience got it's money's worth in the first five minutes and all the rest of the program was just clear profit.

'MEOW,' THEN 'YEOW!' SLEUTHS PLAY 'PUSSY' AND ENTER GAMING CLUB

NEW YORK, March 4.—New York detectives have hit upon a disguise that Poe, Gabouriau and Doyle missed. They become cats.

Working on a telephone tip that Henry Brownlow, who described himself as a "retired broker of New York and London," was running a little game for wealthy clubmen in his West Fifty-fifth street apartment. Detectives Burpeau, Hoek and Smith took themselves to the house.

Dropping to their hands and knees they emitted a few piteous "meows" and began scratching on the door. "Poor puss," said some one inside, and opened the door.

Then, the detectives said, they saw Brownlow and guests, all in evening clothes, standing in a luxuriously furnished room around a roulette wheel.

At the police station Brownlow asked the lieutenant in charge to telephone Lord Auckland so that he could provide bail. Lady Auckland told police her husband was out. Brownlow was held in $500 bail. He pleaded not guilty.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Earthquake tremors of moderate intensity were registered on the seismograph of Georgetown university here today.

The tremors started at 8:20 a. m. and continued intermittently until 9 a. m.

The tremors were estimated as occurring 4,600 miles from Washington.

MAN, 75, HELD FOR SLAYING 51 YEARS AGO

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 4.—The state of Georgia, through Solicitor General Taylor of Rome, began a fight yesterday to extradite George Nichols, who is alleged to be Hiram Casey Nettles and is held here in connection with the killing of Peter Mooney in Rome, Ga., more than fifty-one years ago.

Nichols, through his attorney, denied that he is Nettles, while Attorney Horace E. Alford of Birmingham, who is acting for Solicitor General Taylor, declared he would produce witnesses from Georgia to show that Nichols and Nettles were the same person.

Meanwhile, Nichols has begun a fight against extradition to Georgia and habeas corpus proceedings have been instituted.

In support of this statement that he had never gone under any other name, Nichols produced what purported to be his first marriage certificate as Nichols to Miss Margaret Williams in Florida in 1875. She died twenty-eight years ago and in 1902 he was married to Miss Orma Harding at Birmingham. The records show he maintained that his name was then Nichols. Alford, however, said he was prepared to show that the name Nichols was assumed after the Rome killing.

The alleged identification of Nichols as Nettles came about through members of the man's family, according to George W. Favors, Birmingham attorney, who signed the warrant for Nichols' arrest. The attorney said that Nichols and his second wife were divorced at Tuscaloosa about a year ago. This proceeding led to the inquiry that resulted in Nichols' arrest, Favors declared. Among persons who gave information concerning the history of the Rome case was Nichols' 18-year-old son, Hiram Nichols, a student at the Alabama Boys' Industrial school at East Lake, according to the attorney.

Nichols has lived here for twenty-five years and is said to be 75 years of age.

SWALLOWS HIS TEETH WHILE WIFE IS AWAY

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., March 4.—Robt. S. Pugh's wife was away from home and when she came back Pugh missed his teeth or she noticed they were missing. They instituted a search.

Pugh got to thinking and finally came to the conclusion he must have been "wearing" them when he went to bed and swallowed them in his sleep. A physician was consulted and an X-ray photograph was made.

The photograph revealed the set of teeth in the lower intestines.

THOSE WARRANTS.

The Times has ever advocated the good roads program, to the extent that it wants to see the roads built and as much of them actually completed for as little bond issue as is possible.

However, it is not an advocate of building roads merely for the sake of pending money. And it cannot favor any step that would even have the appearance of adding to the amount the county is already obligated to pay.

Take this latest step of voting $80,000 in warrants and placing them in escrow. What is the necessity for that? Why should warrants be used in part instead of bonds? Judge Starnes said it was because the bonds were to be used for other roads, as well as he could be understood over the telephone. But that doesn't altogether answer the query. Why wouldn't it have been better to put up bonds and then see if necessity demanded warrants to complete the other roads.

He also said that there would be no tax levy to provide for the warrants; that the county funds in the defunct Security State bank would be more than ample to retire them. Then why should the tax levy be made? Was it because the commissioners had a doubt that this would come to pass? If they have no such doubt, then they are a lot more enthusiastic about the bank's prospects than are a number of the county's taxpayers.

These are criticisms of the warrant issue that come to mind. It is highly probable that the issuance is perfectly legal. But it bears the fatal defect that has marked so many of the actions of the present commissioners court. It is something out of the ordinary routine in the functioning of county financial bodies. While people expect honesty and efficiency from officials and generally get it, they also expect county business to be performed according to a routine which through many years, by common consent, have come to be considered best. And when a departure is made from this routine, especially where it does not appear necessary, suspicion and opposition is aroused.

A large part of the opposition to the present administration may be laid to the fact that the people have not been taken into the officials' confidence. They should see that all their decisions get publicity, and when they make a decision that could be cause for controversy, they should explain fully the reasons which prompted them. Thus there will be fewer misunderstandings, less opposition, and considerably more co-operation.

Now as to these warrants: Why not use bonds for the same purpose? Why the tax levy if the bank is going to pay for them? And is the bank going to pay for them?

FLOWERS FOR CHICKENS. Chickens are fine things for the community. So are gardens, and lawns bestrewn with flowers. Gardens and lawns are fine for chickens, but chickens do not seem to have a good effect on lawns and gardens.

That is a very unfortunate situation, unless some means can be found whereby these two desirable attributes of a home are to be kept apart. Otherwise there is going to be trouble, for a lot of folks are going in for chickens this spring, and others are going in for flower beds. If the flowers would give the chickens colic, or other ailment, there would be no cause for friction. The chicken owners would see to that. But as said above, flowers have no such deleterious effect. Therefore there is a situation threatening, when some flower-raiser gets all fed up on seeing his neighbors' chickens getting all fed up on his flowers. And that situation will not be well for the peace of the community.

Let us have pretty yards, to be sure, for nothing adds so much to the summertime attractiveness of a town. And let us have chickens, too, for nothing is better for an obese grocery bill. But let's keep the chickens on the premises allotted to them, and not allow any White Leghorn flappers to cut up didos in the flower bed next door. Otherwise, the chicken owners are liable to find themselves facing the police judge, and he can make his business with them profitable whether they like it or not. Besides that, there is certain to be a strained feeling that is not well for neighborhood sociability.

Keep chickens if you want to, but keep them UP.

SCRIPTURE

Joshua 1: 1-9.

Now after the death of Moses the servant of the Lord it came to pass, that the Lord spake unto Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' minister, saying: Moses my servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to thee, even to the children of Israel.

Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses. From the wilderness and this Lebanon, even unto the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun, shall be your coast.

There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

Be strong and of good courage: for unto this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land which I swear unto their fathers to give them.

Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest.

This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy ways prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success.

Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.

BURIED IN SNOW, HEN STICKS TO JOB, HATCHES CHICKS

NEW YORK, March 4.—Farmer Chas. W. Stearns of Lakewood, N. J., owns what he considers the champion cold weather hatching hen of New Jersey. Yesterday he showed eight exceedingly husky and lively baby chicks to prove his claim.

The hen was almost completely buried beneath snow during most of the twenty-one days of hatching.

The leghorn disappeared twenty-one days ago and was found in a corner of a small building, through the wire front of which the snow had blown until she was covered.

Water, pure and cold is one of the best remedies for indigestion.

PARAMOUNT TO HAVE INFORMAL OPENING TODAY

The Paramount hotel on Main street will be re-opened today informally with E. L. Hursey in charge. Part of the lobby furnishings and rugs have not yet arrived, Mr. Hursey said yesterday, and the formal opening has been postponed until later. All of the seventy rooms have been completely refurbished throughout, it is stated, and no details have been overlooked for the comfort and convenience of the guests. Popular rates will be charged, the manager said.

Mr. Hursey formerly operated the Paramount hotel, having taken charge a year after its first opening. Charles Moler and J. T. Lander are associated with him in the new establishment.

RELATED TO TWO SENATORS. DES MOINES, Ia., March 4.—To be intimately related to two United States senators from the same state is the unusual experience of Hollis D. Rawson of Des Moines.

Mr. Rawson is a son-in-law of Senator Albert A. Cummins, Iowa's senior member in the upper house of congress. He also is a brother of Senator Charles A. Rawson, appointed recently to succeed William S. Kenyon.

NOW THIS IS SERIOUS. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4.—A strike of negro pallbearers, supplied here by undertakers to serve at funerals for members of their race was threatened today. A committee which asked the chief of police if they legally could organize a pallbearers' union declared they wished pay for their services and that they intended to strike if they did not get it. The police head told them they might organize.

Polish women do just as hard work as the men, even to being section workers on the railroad.

SOUTHWESTERN EXPOSITION AND FAT STOCK SHOW FORT WORTH, MARCH 11-18, 1922

EXHIBIT HALL, AGRICULTURE, AUTOMOBILE SHOW, MANUFACTURERS AND COMMERCIAL EXHIBITS

Large advertisement for the 'WANT AD SECTION' of the Ranger Daily Times, featuring a portrait of a man and the headline 'Tell It to the World Through a Want Ad!'.

SAY WHO YOU'RE FOR FIRST, MOTTO OF RANGERITES TALKING POLITICS

"Quien Vive?" "Tu Vive Primero!" Mexican factionalists from long and bitter experience have learned to counter the challenge of "Who Lives?" with the demand "You Live First." Ranger citizens as a whole have adopted similar tactics when questioned by friends of the numerous candidates for county offices on their political preferences. Not only that, but they are demanding to know who else is "viveing" for the respective candidates, on the assumption "that by their friends ye shall know them."

All candidates for county offices, including the favorite sons of this city as well as those of other towns and communities over the county, are all "strong" for law enforcement. Impartial and vigorous enforcement of the law, all agree, is what the people shall have, if they are elected to office.

Must "Carry" Friends.

The platforms being the same, the Ranger voters at least are testing the sincerity of the candidates by the reputations of their supporters as well as by their own records and reputations. Many friends are proving white elephants to some of the candidates, by "viveing" for them and alienating the support of voters who don't like the vive-e's reputation or the way he parts his hair.

For the office of county attorney, City Judge Flewellen is the only Ranger candidate asking the support of Ranger voters. The judge declares for a strict and impartial enforcement of the law and is running on his record as a municipal officer and his reputation as a citizen.

For the office of sheriff, the Ranger candidates are Eugene F. Reynolds, assistant chief of police, and P. P. Palmer, groceryman, who tried several months ago for the wreath of chief of police. Reynolds states that he is running his own race and declares that he is "Nolley's candidate." The police executive who had time and again held down the office of chief of police here, makes the unconditional promise that he can and will give the people the law enforcement they want or resign from office.

Palmer is now conducting an active campaign, and has delivered several addresses over the county.

Two Unopposed.

For justice of the peace in Precinct No. 2, J. N. McFatter and Roger Fenlaw are at present unopposed, although one candidate for McFatter's office is reported in the offing.

For the constables job, although no formal announcements have been made, it is understood that Wade Swift, the present city sanitary inspector, and Deputy Constable Ted Hamilton will oppose Constable Faircloth for re-election.

Efforts of friends to enter Shell McDowell in the constable's race have so far failed to bear any fruit, as have the efforts of others to groom Deputy Sheriff John Barnes for the sheriff's race. So far as is officially known, Sheriff Sam Nolley, who announced his candidacy for re-election through the Eastland papers in January, is still in the race, although his friends in this city declared that he will not attempt to poll any votes in the coming election.

are indefinite, but engineers have been making surveys of the roadbed and declare that there will be little work needed to put the famous mountain route into first-class condition. The bridges and culverts will be left intact and with a little work can be made available for motor travel. The road has a maximum grade of 6 per cent and engineers have declared it to be one of the most remarkable railroad feats from an engineering standpoint in the country. At several places it will be widened. The route passes through some of the finest scenic attractions in the country.

The railroad was built in 1892 as the first line into the Cripple Creek gold camp. The Cripple Creek district now is served by the Midland Terminal railroad.

Orange trees have been known to bear fruit until they were 150 years old.

AUTO HIGHWAY WILL REPLACE COLO. RAILWAY

COLORADO SPRINGS, March 4.—Wrecking of the Cripple Creek Short Line railroad to permit the construction of an auto road over the roadbed will start about March 15, according to announcements of the Midland Terminal railroad officials. The work of taking out the rails and ties will be done by the Midland, with Ben H. Wreath, who supervised the junking of the Midland road west from Divide, in charge. There are forty-five miles of rail to be taken out and the gangs will work from Cripple Creek to Colorado Springs, and expect to complete the job by May 15.

The actual beginning of work depends upon action of the federal court in Denver, which has had charge of the road's affairs since it was placed in the hands of a receiver five years ago. Receiver George M. Taylor is expected to enter a request for the order of public sale and a group of local capitalists will bid in the route. No minimum price has yet been set.

EMULATION.

A youthful chicken fancier had a couple of bantam hens that laid very small eggs. Finally he hit upon a plan to remedy this defect.

A day later the boy's father on visiting the chicken house saw an ostrich egg suspended from one of the beams, and above it a card with words: "Keep your eyes on this, and do your best."

EARLY ASSYRIANS HAD STRICT MARRIAGE LAW

BERLIN, March 4.—Marriage relations among the early Assyrians were subject to a strict code of laws, it is now learned from a valuable cultural document preserved in the Berlin Ethnographical Museum.

The rights and duties of married women and the punishments imposed for the infringements of these laws form the chief content of this book of laws.

Are there any mosquitos in Tasmania?
How deep is the Pacific ocean?
Should the introduction of "Mr. So-and-So meet Miss Who-is-it" or "Miss Who-is-it, may I present Mr. So-and-So"?

These and countless other little knick-knacks of the professional questioner must be satisfactorily answered if the applicant aspires to the position of private secretary to Marie Prevost. The cute little Universal star of "Don't Get Personal," now playing at the Majestic theatre, has put herself on record as in need of a private secretary. But like Thomas Edison, Miss Prevost reserves the right to interrogate her applicants in regard to their mental capacity. The former bathing beauty has submitted the following tests to be answered by all applicants for the job:

"Is it possible to differentiate between a mushroom and a toadstool before eating? After?"

"Who discovered near-beer? Why? Is it proper for a gentleman to kiss a lady when she isn't looking? When she is?"

"What was the last war in which the United States was engaged? Were there many men wounded? Does the government know it?"

BUSINESS FIRMS CAN GET TIME EXTENSION FOR FILING RETURNS

Extension of time has been granted for completing income tax returns on domestic corporations and partnerships, according to a synopsis of a recent treasury ruling received here by the Karl E. Jones Accounting Service from internal revenue collector at Dallas. The communication states: "In accordance with treasury decision No. 3231, under authority of section 227 of the revenue act of 1921, a general extension of time was granted on domestic corporations (and partnerships) up to and including June 15, 1922, for completing returns of income for the calendar year 1921, conditional upon the filing of tentative returns with the proper collector of internal revenue on or before March 15, 1922, accompanied with at least one-fourth of the estimated amount of tax due, together with a statement setting forth the reason why the return cannot be completed within the prescribed time, and a formal request for the extension."

Spring Opening

First Formal Presentation The Fashions of Spring

The Beautiful and Necessary Things of Spring Await You These Show Days for the New Fashions.

It's a joyous showing of the new styles; everything is the best obtainable of its class and kind, and prices are surprisingly low!

Monday opens the Spring Exhibition, for you to select and possess during the early days of the season when possession and use are most gratifying and the new things best repay their cost. Come and see!

DRESSES

All the newest spring colorings are exhibited in these sumptuous gowns of Crepe Romaine, Crepe-Back Satin, Canton Crepe and Taffeta, many exquisitely beaded in blending colorings.

SUITS

Gorgeous suits suitable for all occasions of spring wear may be seen here. Suits of Navy, Tricotine, Twill Cord and Poiret Twill in tailored and fancy models.

Coats and Wraps

Copies of the latest Parisienne imports are included in the spring collection of outer wraps—all in the bright, new shades that suggest Springtime.

NEW MILLINERY

An extensive line of New York models, among them many copies of French spring hats, has just been unpacked.

Gay flower-trimmed hats are in great favor. Bright colors predominating.

The artistry of the making, the loveliness of the shades, the blithe touches in the trimming of these spring hats will set the heart to singing.

CAMPAIGN LIBEL SUIT DROPPED BY THOMPSON

CHICAGO, March 4.—William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, today dropped a libel suit against John E. Oglesby, former lieutenant governor of Illinois, in which he claimed $100,000 damages. The suit was based on alleged condemnation of Mayor Thompson's war record, contained in Oglesby's campaign literature when he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor against Len Small in 1920. The mayor has similar suits pending against the Tribune, the National Security league and others who charged him with lack of patriotism.

'BUDDY' HERE WITH TEAL

J. S. HILL AND SON JOIN ABILENE MAN IN COMPANY THERE

The stock of the Hill Office Supply company of Ranger is being moved to Abilene where J. S. Hill, Scott Hill and H. A. Pender have organized the Hill-Pender company and will open an office supply, printing and lithographing establishment. The new firm will open in Abilene in ten days, it is stated.

J. S. and Scott Hill have operated the Hill Office Supply company here for the last two years, coming to Ranger from Waco shortly after they had disposed of the Hill Printing & Stationery company there. A branch of the company in Ranger was included in the sale, but was purchased back later by the Hills.

Mr. Pender became associated with the Waco company as West Texas representative, shortly after it was sold and continued with it until the Hill-Pender company was organized. His home is in Abilene.

New Spring Frocks

Women's and Misses' Frocks for Innumerable-Occasion Wear in Charming New Styles

Graceful and artistic new frocks, styled as Fashion has decreed for the coming season. Each model is smarter than the other; a style to suit every woman and in colors that are a delight.

Purchased purposely for this sale, affording values that are most impressive.

Canton Crepe—Taffeta—Tricotine

Vividly colorful are the beading and embroidery on the soft, supple styles fashioned of Canton Crepe, models that accentuate long, graceful lines.

The beauty of the taffeta models is heightened by the colorful embroidery, smart tucks, artistic braiding, graceful bouffant hips and quaint bodice effects.

Silk braid ornaments the fashionable models of tricotine, so favored for Spring street wear.

Smart Millinery

Dashing lines, unusual colorings and new, artistic methods of trimming distinguish these new Spring chapeaux.

There are small hats and hats with piquant brims, tailored hats for traveling or youthful models for the younger miss, in silk, braid, straw and lovely combination materials.

Hats gayly flower-trimmed, embroidered, or with novel ornaments, in all the bright new colors that fashion has created this season. And so pleasingly priced.
