

RANGER'S COOLING CONFECTION FOUNDRY MOST MODERN IN WEST

Armed with a search warrant issued by O. D. Dillingham, a citizens' committee of two yesterday afternoon raided the hardening room of the Banner Ice Cream company at Cypress and Commerce streets; seized a large stock of plain and fancy ice cream and destroyed it without assistance of police, county officers or grand jury. Although hampered by a temperature of ten degrees below zero and offered a hard resistance by the Zero pies, the committee continued the destruction until exhausted and retired planning other raids.

The hardening stock was uncovered by the committee on trailing the Zero Pie, successful competitor throughout this district over the horde of foreign made "pies," to its lair. The trail was plain on reaching the large plant of the Banner Ice Cream company, which was established here the first of the year by O. D. Dillingham, with a capacity of 1,000 gallons daily, and is rated as the most modern and complete plant of its kind west of Fort Worth, supplying the district from Abilene to Weatherford and south to Dublin.

Flavors injected in it before it is removed, partially frozen, to the hardening room, and either frozen into large or small bricks or in cylinder containers. Expensive flavoring is kept in a special temperature by itself until ready for use.

Each time the freezer is emptied, the cream is tested for uniformity. This, it was explained, is one of the most important factors in the manufacture of ice cream, as the maker after once selling the consumer must keep his output uniform and continue to maintain the quality. To make this test, uniform samples are obtained and weighed on a specially designed scale. The result is indicated by electric signals.

How "Pies" Are Made.

The bricks destined to be made into pies, after they are hardened properly, are moved to the pie foundry, where they are sliced into regulation pie sizes and placed in readiness for the chocolate coating. There are different kinds of Zero pies, or rather Zero pies have different kinds of interiors. Some have vanilla interiors, others have fruit cream, and still others have combination-bodies. The temperature in the pie room is kept low by ammonia pipes and after the hardening cream has been dipped into sweet chocolate, kept warm on a hot water table, the bars are hooked on an endless chain and shot to the other end of the table, where they are wrapped and removed again to the hardening room. Pie making is a delicate operation and requires not only exact temperature, but skill.

Besides the ice cream department the plant of the Banner Ice Cream company also has 20,000 cubic feet of cold storage, including a meat room and a room for fruits and beverages. Special banana vaults are to be placed at the disposal of Goldman Bros., wholesale fruit and produce dealers, who will open up a branch at the plant Monday. In addition to the cold storage, a large dry storage for household goods, etc., is provided in the building. The Banner Ice Cream company is likewise the distributor for the Southern Ice & Utilities company, and is at present retailing about thirty tons of ice daily in this city. O. D. Dillingham, the owner, is a partner in the Dillingham-Alexander Ice Cream company of Breckenridge. He purchased the Ranger plant from the Hub Ice Cream & Cold Storage company, which formerly operated here.

Present Day Adam And Eve Emerge From Woods to Tell of Hard Life

HOWE BROOK, Me., May 27.—Carl A. Sutter and his wife, the modern Adam and Eve, who entered the Maine wilderness on Saturday to live for one month as close to nature as human beings can get, emerged for a few minutes Tuesday to tell their adventures.

Both wore birch bark suits, lashed together with vines, but they failed to protect the flesh and their bodies were lacerated by thorns. They were pale, haggard and somewhat exhausted, but said they were "game" and would continue their adventure.

"When we entered the woods it began to rain and my wife was soon chilled through," said Sutter. "I knew that shelter was the first requisite, so I built a lean-to with branches and spruce boughs. When it was done it was not exactly the kind of love nest one reads about in the novels, but it was comfortable."

Sutter said the ground was covered with deer tracks. Both Sutter and his wife wore nothing when they entered the wilderness, nor did they carry weapons or utensils of any kind. They wanted a taste of real primitive life and they are getting it.

Sutter started a fire by rubbing a dry stick rapidly against a wet one. It required only half an hour's time to start it.

"I made snares with tough fibers from the inside of cedar bark and waited patiently for some wild animal to come along and stick his head into one of them, but none was caught," continued Adam. "Night fell rapidly and we had nothing to eat but roots and bits of green stuff and our stomachs were pretty empty."

"I could hear wild animals prowling around and was afraid to go to sleep, but finally I dozed off and was awakened by an unearthly scream. It was my wife, who had awakened out of a nightmare during which she thought she was being eaten by a wild animal."

ing around and was afraid to go to sleep, but finally I dozed off and was awakened by an unearthly scream. It was my wife, who had awakened out of a nightmare during which she thought she was being eaten by a wild animal."

THE RED BALL LINE

ELLIS ISLAND TRIO PUZZLES U. S. OFFICIALS

English Mother Has Canadian Children; Father Under Arrest in This Country.

NEW YORK, May 27.—After waiting on Ellis Island forty-five days for three countries to establish her status under their various immigration laws, Mrs. Kathleen Sneyd, an Englishwoman of social standing, despairs of an early release for herself and her two attractive children.

Mrs. Sneyd came here on the Cunard-Anchor liner Albania on March 27. She brought with her a son, Ralph, 11 years, and a pretty and accomplished daughter, Kathleen, 12. They intended joining Mrs. Sneyd's husband, Ralph Edmond Sneyd, father of the children, and gave their destination as Yonkers, N. Y.

When the husband and father arrived at the pier to meet his family he was arrested, charged by the Washington police with forgery of a check for $2,650 on the Standard bank of Washington, in the name of Thomas Caruthers.

He was prevented from claiming his wife and children and since that time they have occupied first cabin quarters in the detention halls of Ellis Island. They were excluded from the United States by a board of special inquiry as likely to become public charges. They appealed the case to Washington and influential persons argued that they be admitted under bond, but the secretary of labor refused to interfere and Mrs. Sneyd and her children were ordered deported to England.

Then she sought admittance to Canada. Her husband had been a resident of Ottawa, where her children were born, and his brother is manager for the Bank of Montreal at Preston, Canada. The Canadian government was willing to admit the children as they were born in Canada, but required further particulars concerning the status of their mother.

If Mr. Sneyd can prove that she is a Canadian subject she may be admitted to that country. Communication with the British authorities to ascertain whether she is a subject of Great Britain or not is in progress.

BELGIAN GIRL SPY WINS FIGHT TO ENTER U. S.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Mlle. Laure Galle, 23-year-old Belgian girl spy and fiancée of Camille Asp, whom she met while she was a nurse in a French hospital, has won her fight against deportation by having the Belgian quota revised. She left Ellis Island yesterday morning in the company of her fiancée and went directly to the Municipal building, where a marriage license was taken out.

Pressure upon immigration officials in Washington by members of the diplomatic corps and friends of the bridegroom resulted in a telegram from Commissioner Husband yesterday morning, saying there had been an error in computing the yearly quota of immigrants allotted to Belgium. Three per cent of the total number of Belgians living in America in 1910 had been computed without counting those who live in Alaska and Porto Rico. Three per cent of these additional Belgians is six. The port has been closed to natives of Belgium for several months. Now it will have to be reopened for five more immigrants besides Mlle. Galle.

The girl was decorated by King Albert for bravery in concealing a Belgian officer in the attic of the hotel owned by her mother in Lille. He remained undiscovered throughout the German occupation and in spite of repeated search. She also is known to have thrown a bottle in the face of a German officer who attempted to insult her. She spent two years in German prisons, and only escaped execution through the coming of the armistice.

Mr. Asp, whose occupation appears on the marriage license as "exporter," gave his address as Huguenot Park, Staten Island. They declared their intention of being married at once.

They came to this country from South Africa on the Santa Teresa about a week ago. Asp was admitted at once and has been working night and day for the release of his fiancée. They were not married in Buenos Aires because of red tape.

The motor accident record indicates that there are too many speed trials on the highways and not enough in the courts.—New York Tribune.

BIG DEMAND FOR ALL CLASSES OF LABOR COMING FROM MIDDLE WEST

CHICAGO, May 27.—Men wanted. From all over the great middle west a sudden and unexpected cry for labor is being raised. The farmers are appealing for men; so are the lumber industry, the steel mills and the state road builders, the railroads, the lake boats and the summer resorts.

West Madison street, that teeming thoroughfare known as "Labor's Gateway to the West," is undergoing a remarkable transformation as a consequence. Where three weeks ago 10,000 men, jobless and hungry, slouched aimlessly in and out of the rows of employment offices or strolled about the "street" in country town fashion, discussing "hard times," there are Monday only between 300 and 500 left, and they are "gandy dancers"—the elite of the hobo species, the men who simply will not work. The "no jobs" signs are being torn down and the curbstones are being rapidly depopulated.

Cannot Get Enough Men. "Haven't seen anything like it in years," said Alfred (Alf) A. Johnson, who has managed a labor agency in the "street" for twenty-six years. "I can't get men enough."

"Good times are coming back—double quick. Nobody need be a Bolshevik any more," he said.

The great floating army of harvesters all over the middle west are beginning to shoulder pitch forks and march into the fields, Johnson said. Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma farmers are offering $2.50 to $4 a day with board for harvest hands. The steel mills of Indiana, he said, have had representatives on the "street" the last ten days scouring the agencies for good men. The lumber industry in Wisconsin and Michigan "can use thousands of men right away;" summer resorts are calling for help and even the railroads that "haven't been doing much" in maintenance of way work, are back in the market.

Johnson Fears Labor Shortage. Actually, Johnson fears there will be a labor shortage as soon as the harvest season gets well under way. One reason for this astonishing possibility, he explained, is the enforced letup in immigration.

"Those good old hard working foreigners aren't coming across any more," he said feelingly.

And, as the veteran job provider spoke, he edged toward the front window, a vivid sign—"Men Wanted!"—in his hand.

All along the "street," in fact, now pink and green signs are going up. They are reminders of the glittering days that were; they are due notice to the haunted looking army of unemployed in their flannel shirts and slouch hats that at last "things have opened up."

SALVATION ARMY LASSIE ABDUCTED BY CAPTAIN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 27.—Two trails are being followed in the hunt for Edward E. Ballinger, captain of the Clean corps of the Salvation Army, and Blanche Foster, 16 years old, a member of the corps. One leads to a city in the West and the other to a city in the Middle West, but police withhold the names of the cities. Ballinger is sought on a charge of having abducted the girl.

Another person is sought in the hunt, Mrs. Leona Arow, young mother of three small children. In letters found by police in the Foster girls room instructions to meet "Leona" were given. The letters, to "My Darling Jane" and signed "Your Loving Hubby, Walter," were in the handwriting of Ballinger, according to Mrs. Margaret Ballinger, the deserted wife. Jane is Blanche Foster's middle name, and she was known to have called Ballinger "Walter."

Blanche told girl friends she intended to meet Ballinger in the Middle West city, police learned, and an uncle of the girl, C. M. Tanner, a Salamanca railroad man, departed Saturday night to be there today, the time mentioned for the meeting, Mrs.

Arow and the Foster girl, according to other information obtained by police, had planned a trip to the western city.

The case now is in the hands of District Attorney Archibald M. Laidlaw, who will go before the next Cattaraugus county grand jury to ask for indictments against Ballinger, on a charge of abduction, and against Mrs. Arow, for having been an alleged accessory.

"No young girl can hold him away from me and our little girl, for he loves us," declared Mrs. Ballinger. "He will come back to us."

Mrs. Ballinger is a captain in the Salvation Army.

LYONS, May 27.—Major Blake and his British companions attempting a flight around the world, landed here this afternoon at 3 o'clock after having hopped off at Le Bourget, near Paris at 10:45 this morning. On account of minor engine troubles the aviators decided to remain here over night and proceed to Italy in the morning.

BOOTLEG OUTRAGES

A lot of persons think conditions would be all right if it were not for radicals. And, if they will stop and figure it out, the man who disagrees with them on an issue is a radical. Which, taken by and large, means that both are radicals.

Thus in these United States we have some 100,000,000 radicals—radical, at least, on certain subjects, and quite a turmoil results. Ban the radicals and there would be an urgent need of another Columbus—who wasn't anything so dignified as a radical; he was just a crank.

Some day America may come to unanimity of thought and purpose, but it will not be on the strong insistence that one's views shall prevail, as we have today. Rather, it will be on the basis of mutual toleration for one another's opinions and desires and privileges, and concessions on the part of one section of the populace to the sincere opinions of another section. But that day is a long way off.

Meanwhile, America today has the crime problem on its hands. In Texas, for the last few weeks, there has been instance after instance of attacks on white women. Perhaps the impulse attacks negroes much as hydrophobia attacks dogs. Then again, perhaps it is bootleg liquor that does it. It is a theory that might be considered by everyone, regardless of his stand on the prohibition question.

The days of the drinkers are partners of the bootleggers in law violation. The web retort that every bootlegger is a prohibitionist, and let the inference soak in. But present conditions are rapidly making it apparent that the high powered portions of today are something that must be suppressed, either with prohibition or without it.

Pays Tribute to Merchants as Town Builders

Editor Ranger Daily Times.—Dear Sir:

I have read the editorial in your issue of May 23 and I take this method of confirming your statement that I am not going out of business and leaving Ranger because of unsatisfactory conditions. Altogether, considering the times when business conditions were very favorable and the times when they were unfavorable, we have done fairly well and our store has grown and prospered. This was possible through the loyalty of our friends and the liberal patronage we have enjoyed from the public at large.

It is impossible to express in words my appreciation of these friendships, both business and social—they are the buoy of hope in the "flux and flow" of the tide of life. Through the columns of your paper let me say, I will ever remember the people of Ranger and will always feel I am a part of the business life of the community. In this connection, I want to say also that it is true that other and perhaps better businesses will take the places of those made vacant, or these vacant places will be filled by the expansion of some of the good and substantial business firms already here. But the retail business does not deserve to be called "a subsidiary to the life of the community." It should be in the position of first place. It is an essential. The business and commercial life of every community depends upon its retail merchants. Charity organizations, chambers of commerce, civic and improvement clubs and every other institution for the betterment, progress and development of the commercial life of a community depends upon the support and co-operation of the retailers of that community. The newspaper is an important factor of every community, but few if any newspapers have ever long survived without the co-operation and liberal patronage of the retail merchant. A merchant will seldom risk to say much, it may hurt his business and as a rule, therefore, the retail men do not claim very much in the way of honors.

Yours very truly,
A. JOSEPH.

RICH GIRL ADOPTS OWN PARENTS

Miss Myrtle Billings

Establishing a home for her own mother and father and adopting them as her parents is the unique experience of Miss Myrtle Billings, who had been legally adopted when she was an infant by Rear Admiral Billings of the U. S. navy, and who was made one of his heirs when he died in Los Angeles a year ago.

Long Earrings, Brilliant Socks and Scarfs Popular With Bathers

NEW YORK, May 27.—New York bathing girls will appear on the beaches this summer clad in long earrings, trailing colored scarfs, nifty socks, held up tightly by snappy garters, "Sally sandals" and one-piece suits with bandana caps. This is announced on the word of Miss Ethel Lobel, an authority, who has charge of the bathing suit models in her father's store, where a specialty is made of beach garments. The earrings will be long and drop oriental-like from the folds of the cap, giving the wearers a gypsy-like appearance. The earrings for the most part will be of gray enamel, edged with burnt orange to match the prevailing color of the trimmings on the suits. Where the trimming is green, the earrings will be of jade. "Earrings," said Miss Lobel Sunday, "will add a striking note to the appearance of those who wear the bandana cap. The cap consists of a long triangular piece of rubber, woven bandana-like around the head. Naturally the cap is supposed to match some part of the suit. "From the ears, which are covered by the folds, drop the earrings, relieving the plainness and severity such a headdress is apt to give the face. The earrings will be light, so they will not retard the swimmer's progress thru the water. "Socks are going to be the rage. They will be brilliant, colored to match the suit. The scarfs will be similar to those worn by flappers on the streets this spring. They will be made of rubber and the swimmer will have yards of scarf trailing behind them." The "sally sandals," in which the bathers will trip across the sand, are made of satin. They come one, two or three straps and are graced by a snappy buckle. Here is the way Miss Lobel described the attire of the 1922 bathing girl: "She will wear a one-piece jersey suit, ending just above the knees. Below will be just knees, plain and un-garmented. There will be no trouble about rolled stockings, nor will there be too great a stretch of bare knees for the socks will be extra long and garters which fit will hold them up. "When I say one-piece suit I mean the garment which has waist, skirt and trunk all attached in one. "Bathing suits will be embroidered in bright shades, either of silk or wool but usually of wool for it is more in keeping with the jersey cloth. Large figures and large designs will give the 1922 bathing girl more of an oriental touch than ever." To soften a paintbrush on which paint has been allowed to dry, heat in vinegar to boiling point and allow the brush to simmer in it for a few moments. Then wash well in strong soapuds.

Warmer Weather Fails to Dwindle Club Enthusiasm

While a number of the clubs have wound up their business for the year and disbanded for the summer, there will be quite a few that will go on meeting, regardless of the thermometer. This number has been augmented by the organization of several new clubs during the past two weeks. The Recreation club is among the newest of these, and started off with a vim Friday morning with its 9 o'clock breakfast, given by Meses. C. D. Woods and S. P. Boon. Swimming parties are in order, as are hayrides, the latter being very popular Friday night, when Mrs. Ashford entertained the Epworth league members of the Methodist church with a hayride and picnic lunch.

Particularly prominent among the past week's social events was the annual luncheon given by the Ranger Symphony club at the Methodist church, Tuesday, and the miscellaneous shower given by the Amusu club in honor of Miss Mary Bonner Campbell at Mrs. W. J. McFarland's home Thursday afternoon.

During the coming week club activity will evolve to a great extent around the benefit picture show to be sponsored by the 1920 club for the library fund, on Tuesday. Eastern Star members will be interested in the Memorial Services Monday night and the installation of officers Wednesday night. The 1920 club annual picnic is another very much looked forward to event. There will be an evening session of the Eldeen club, a picnic by the Recreation club, a pie supper and musical by the Woodmen Circle members, and a number of other club meetings and affairs.

RECREATION CLUB HAS A BREAKFAST

The Recreation club met Friday morning with Mrs. C. D. Woods, at which time Mrs. Woods and S. P. Boon were hostesses, entertaining with a 9 o'clock breakfast, which certainly suggests recreation to the fullest. There were waffles, syrup in the little brown jug and coffee.

In the election of officers for this club, Mrs. C. C. Chenoweth was elected president; Mrs. S. P. Boone, treasurer and secretary, and Mrs. Mills Davenport, first vice president. The next meeting will be Tuesday evening and will be a picnic, including husbands. Those present at this meeting were: Meses. C. C. Chenoweth, Jones, Grull, Barney Carter, George Armer, S. P. Boon, J. M. Dodson, Rowland, Robert Chisholm, Mills Davenport, Roger Penlaw, W. W. Flewellen, C. E. May, C. D. Woods, Harry Reed, L. A. Duffer, Sneed, Ratcliff.

FRIDAY BRIDGE MEETS WITH MRS. YONKER

Mrs. Fred Yonker was hostess to the Friday Bridge club this week. In a contest for high score, Mrs. J. B. Haden was the successful one, winning a hand-embroidered collar and cuff set, while the consolation prize, a fancy lace collar, went to Mrs. Pop Endicott. The hostess served delicious refreshments of strawberry jello, topped with fresh strawberries and whipped cream, angel food and sponge cake, and grape juice.

The players were: Meses. Navakovich, F. E. Langston, J. A. Martin, Ira Nourse, John Moyer, W. J. McFarland, W. S. Adamson, Harold Whitbeck, J. B. Haden, Pop Endicott, the hostess; Meses Evelyn West, Esther Yonker, Marguerite Navakovich.

ELDEEN CLUB HAS OLD-FASHIONED PARTY

The Eldeen club met Thursday night with Mrs. Cox, at her home on Hodges street. "The Old Time Singing School" was the main feature of the evening. Each lady present was dressed in the style of a bygone day, which made the scene take on the real likeness of a singing school of years ago. J. S. Reynolds was the singing school professor and flourished his baton quite impressively. After the singing of a number of old time songs, games were played, which also belonged to another period, such as "Clap in and Clap Out" and "Spinning the Plate." A game that created quite a lot of fun was watching the men make dolls out of peanuts, which they presented to their partners.

A basket luncheon of sandwiches, dill pickles and cake was served to the following club members and guests: Meses. and Mmes. Smith, Ashford, Gilbert, Guyton, C. R. Williams, J. L. Hayden, W. O. Tibbels, J. S. Reynolds, E. M. Huffman, C. A. Webb, D. E. Klinger; Meses. Little, A. White; Meses Octavia Trantham, Azaline Cox, Phyllis Williams, Researny Huffman; Meses. Paul Cochran, Dee Little, Austin Huffman, Hasland.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ashford and Harwell at the Parkersburg Rig & Reel company in the evening.

Taggart, has been sent to members by the hospitality committee: You are cordially invited one and all to bring your children great and small.

Your husbands also if they are willing, To partake of a feast both pleasant and filling.

There'll be candies and cakes and puddings and pies, Enough to make you pop out your eyes. Besides the feast, there'll be a foot race. And contests for beauty and contests for grace.

There'll be wonderful prizes for every bright winner And for those who get left, there is still the good dinner. Though husbands are essential to most of our fun, The temporary widows may come without one.

All those who have flivvers will take those who have not To the mysterious banqueting spot, Be at the Methodist church on Thursday eve And more information you are sure to receive.

Five-thirty is the hour that you are to start, If you will just be there, we'll do our part, Don't mind the weather for rain or shine, Somewhere or other you'll certainly dine.

MAUD GARRETT TAGGART, By request of Hospitality Committee.

Summer Frocks Are Refreshingly Dainty

Their airy loveliness is as refreshing to the eye as their breezy coolness is comfortable to the wearers.

Though the lines of these Frocks are simple, they are often attractively garnished with delicate bits of handwork, lace or ribbon.

"Exquisite" you'll say when you see them.

McCALL PATTERNS

The New "Printed" Pattern Saves on Material

You can save even on the low cost of your home-made dress by using an accurate "Printed" Pattern that will require the least amount of material for its making.

It's all in the Pattern—this saving! The new McCall Pattern is economical, because it is "printed" in order to make it accurate. This is so that garments will go together and fit perfectly without the wasteful "taking in" of seams or recutting.

For the material is cut right in the first place—in the most saving way.

BOOTLEGGER DENIED CITIZENSHIP PAPERS

DENVER, May 27.—Convicted bootleggers cannot obtain United States citizenship in Denver, so long as United States Judge John A. Riner is on the bench.

This was demonstrated when Judge Riner refused final papers to Christoph Buppman, a native of Germany, because it was shown that Buppman was convicted March 4 of this year, of dealing in intoxicating liquor.

A copy of the judgment, which was rendered by a Golden court, was presented to the court by Fred C. Emerich, naturalization examiner. Buppman was not in the courtroom.

In refusing the application for citizenship, Judge Riner made no comment. It was the first decision of its kind in the Denver division, however. Only one similar case had ever come before Judge Robert E. Lewis when he was on the district bench, and in that case citizenship was granted on a technicality.

Eighty petitions for citizenship were presented to the court Monday, thirty-six of the applicants being admitted. Thirteen were denied, seven because they claimed exemption from military service on the ground of non-citizenship. Twenty-nine cases were continued.

At least the messages Dr. Doyle transmits from the dead are as authentic as those Mr. Tumulty gets from the living.—New York Tribune.

GYPSIES START WAR ON U. S. NEGRO JAZZ BANDS

BUDAPEST, May 27.—War has broken out between the Gypsy musicians of Hungary and the negro jazz band artists, many of whom are Americans. The Gypsies, who have furnished Hungary its music, ballads and laughter for a thousand years, assert that the jazz instrumentalists are invading their precincts and have organized to drive them out.

The Gypsies have issued a manifesto condemning the "erotic and crazy music" of the jazz band performers and the municipal councils of seven Hungarian towns have decreed that jazz and the "shimmy" must go.

The Hungarian guild of jazz band artists whose leader is a southern negro, has accepted the challenge of the Gypsies and says it will fight to the last.

BALES OF AUSTRIAN MONEY HAWKED AT 25c PER 1,000

NEW YORK, May 27.—Quick change money peddlers sprung a surprise on Wall street Monday by hawking bundles of Austrian paper money at the rate of 25 cents per 1,000 kro-

nen. They became marks for so much jeering that they soon moved to the Broadway district between city hall and Fulton street.

The krone, at the present rate of exchange, is worth only a tenth of a cent. Thus 1,000 kronen sold for a quarter are worth about 10 cents.
