TEXAS EX-RANGERS BREAK CAMP FOR HOME

STRAWN, OLDEN AND RANGER AREAS ARE NOW VERY ACTIVE

COOLIDGE APPROVES THE NEW AIRWAYS

DALLAS ROUTE SOUTHWESTERN ONE OF FIRST

Hoover Looks For Commercial Planes In a Short Period

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C. August 13.—President Calvin Coolidge today approved the first trans-continental airway planned by the newly created aviation section of the Department of Agriculture.
The first airway will be known as the "Trans-continental." The second one will be known as the "Southwestern" and will extend to Chicago to Dallas and Fort Worth.
The Trans-continental airway will serve Cleveland, Chicago, Iowa City, Des Moines, Omaha, North Platte, Neb., Cheyenne and Salt Lake City. The Southwestern route will serve Moline, Ill.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Kansas City, Wichita, Kans., Oklahoma City and Fort Worth and Dallas.
Other routes yet to be determined in detail will extend from Baton to Miami, Fla., Southwestern California to North Washington, Cleveland to Chicago through Illinois, Chicago to New Orleans through Memphis and St. Louis; and to Minneapolis and St. Paul.
Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover, who after two hours conference with the president, announced the routes. He expressed a belief that the commercial planes will be carrying passengers, mail and freight over the trans-continental routes in less than six months.
Two of the routes have been functioning for some time. The Chicago-Dallas and Fort Worth route has been carrying mail and parcels post packages since first beginning operations.

Flapper Goes Barefoot to Shrine

Going barefooted is the Mexican woman's favorite method of showing that she is penitent. Here is a barefoot Mexican mother and her bobbed-haired flapper daughter. Note that the flapper is carrying her shoes and stockings and a fur coat. This picture was taken outside the famous Mexican shrine at Villa Guadalupe, near Mexico City.

MAGNOLIA WELL IN OLDEN NOW SPOUTING GAS

Will Be Given Dose To Make It Produce Good Flow of Oil

Strawn, Olden and Ranger areas are showing important oil activities. In the town of Olden, the Magnolia's No. 12 Harris is making 1,000,000 feet of gas and will be valuable for gasoline purposes if the well fails to prove an oiler. However, it is thought that after a shot, it will produce oil. The total depth is 1,403 feet, the sand having been penetrated 12 feet.
The newest completion in the Parsons pool, three miles south of Olden, is holding up around 175 barrels a day. The well is the Gulf Production Company's N. 6 J. D. Parson, a lease, and it came in flowing several days ago. The depth is 1,485 feet.
A producer has been brought in by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company on the Butler, four miles southwest of Ranger. This well, the No. 27, is cleaning out after a shot. It will be a small well.
The wildest well on the Bankhead highway a short distance south of Strawn which has occasioned considerable excitement and quite a bit of lease activity is being deepened. This is the Strawn Coal Company well which encountered production at 3,200 feet but it has been decided to drill on to the Ranger pay in the hope of picking up a heavier flow. This well opened up considerable territory and should be followed by real activity.

Let the Black Cat Warn You

Watch your step! This is Friday the 13th, a day of ill omen by all the superstitions known to man. And this black cat, an emblem of bad luck himself, is holding up his paw to warn you not to walk under ladders, look at the moon (if any) over your left shoulder, break any mirrors or spill any salt. If you do you'll wish you hadn't.

GREEN NAMED PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION

Increase in Pension Resolution Brings On Debate; Resolutions

By RENA B. CAMPBELL.
Order to "break camp" was issued by Major William Green to his comrades this afternoon, following an old-fashioned barbecue, given at Shamrock park, Ranger, by the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, as the closing event in the seventh annual convention of the Texas Ex-Rangers.
Major William Green was for the eighth time, elected president of the association, at an election of officers this morning, with W. H. Roberts, captain; J. H. Renick, first lieutenant; L. H. Cook, second lieutenant; P. S. Carter, Adjutant; Miss Ruty Green, secretary and Treasurer; L. T. Arnold, chaplain; W. Y. Luke, color bearer and C. M. Grady, assistant color bearer.
Names of those who have crossed the Great Divide since the last meeting were announced, and a moment of reverent silence, in honor of their dead comrades, followed the calling of each name. Those who failed to answer roll call this year, because they had answered the final roll call, were T. P. Gillespie, Palo Pinto, Dug Coleson of California, and Mrs. C. L. Ware of Fort Worth.
Several resolutions were passed and tabled during the morning's session. A resolution asking Congress to advance their pensions from $30 to $30 a month, met a defeat, as it was set forth that a similar petition, but arranged on an increasing scale, was before the house. The question was widely discussed and its defeat felt keenly by those who voted for it.

Remember Friends
The Congressmen from Texas who have assisted in putting through pension bills and in other ways assisting the Ex-Rangers, were not forgotten, as a resolution thanking them for their services and interest met with an unanimous vote.
Congress was also petitioned to extend the time limit on the issuance of pensions until the last Indian fights in Texas.
Ranger came in for her mantle of glory in a sincere resolution, which all the citizens of Ranger who contributed to the entertainment of the Ex-Rangers, the Lions and Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, Miss Jennie Rucker, Chas. Snapp, bugler, American Legion, officers of the city hall, and Miss Theola Strong, were all thanked for their co-operation in their various ways. Miss Rucker and Miss Strong, the latter helping with the resolutions committee, were extended an invitation to meet with the convention next year at Menard. The resolution stated that they would all have a tender spot in their hearts for Ranger and

MOODY MEN WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN

By United Press.
DALLAS, Aug. 13.—Political followers of Dan Moody were gathered here today for the opening of his campaign tomorrow in the gubernatorial run-off primary against Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.
Preparations are being made at the State Fair grounds to handle one of the largest political crowds that has attended a rally during the year.
Moody, who led in the first primary by 125,000 votes over Mrs. Ferguson, will speak at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, following Cone Johnson of Tyler, for 40 years a noted figure in Texas politics.
An answer in detail to the recent statement given out by the governor as to why she was not resigning and with drawing from the race is expected to be made by the young attorney general.
Moody announced that his second speech of the campaign will be made at Greenville Monday night.
James E. Ferguson, who will carry the brunt of his wife's campaign, will begin stumping the state. His itinerary has not yet been announced. Political observers claim that "Jim" has before him the hardest battle he has encountered since his impeachment from the governor's office.

CISCO DAM SUBJECT OF LITIGATION

Alleging infringement on a number of patents held by them, the Ambusen Construction company of Boston, has filed suit in United States District Court at Abilene against the City of Cisco in which they ask for $50,000 damages and the profits accrued from the operation of that city's big concrete dam at Lake Cisco. An order is also sought restraining the city from further operation of the dam, according to press dispatches from Abilene.
The Cisco dam claimed to be the largest dam of its kind in the world was constructed in 1923 and 1924 at a cost said to have exceeded $1,000,000. Only recently, through the efforts of J. M. Williamson and other prominent Cisco citizens, the state highway department, it is stated, have agreed to construct a bridge across this dam, thereby connecting two links of State Highway No. 23.

TRADE BODY PROBES PRICE OF GASOLINE

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13.—The government investigation of the price of gasoline, chief grief of motorists, has been underway secretly for nearly two months, the Federal Trade commission in its monthly report, reported on the progress made divulging this information without disclosing how its inquiry was being carried forward.
The commissioners are endeavoring to discover, whether the advance in the price of gasoline is due to restraint of trade, or conditions of ownership or control, preventing effective competition, and to the profit of the principal companies in this industry.

Bandit Leader Goes To Gallows Wearing A Smile

By United Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 13.—Reese Whitmore, bandit leader and murderer, was hanged today. With his death, the last, but one, of the Whitmore gang, whose depredations netted more than a million dollars, has paid the penalty of crime. Death, disease and prisons have claimed the others.
Whitmore, who was 28 years old, went to the scaffold almost unmoved at the prospects of death.
"I wish to say good-bye; that is the best I can wish for anyone." This was all he had to say as he stepped upon the gallows in the presence of a roomful of disinterested spectators. He was alone as far as human interest was concerned, for his wife and relatives had been barred from the death cell.
Mrs. Margaret Whitmore, the condemned man's wife, bade him farewell early in the evening, entering the penitentiary through the hospital door, from which Whitmore escaped on Feb. 20, 1925, after fatally beating Robert H. Holtman, the guard.
Mrs. Whitmore was not allowed to kiss her husband. A heavy, fine-meshed screen separated them.
Rawlings V. Whitmore, the slayer's father, accompanied his daughter-in-law to the death cell for the last visit. He was not allowed by Warden Brady to witness the death of his son.

ALIEN PROPERTY PROBES FACE BUSY SEASON

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Senator William E. Borah, chairman, and his fellow members of the senate committee on investigation of the alien property custodian's office seem to be in for a busy summer.
The alien property custodian's records never have had a thorough over-hauling and their volume is tremendous.

If there has been graft, as Borah expects to show, it's quite on the cards that it was on a record scale. For the sums the custodian has handled have been comparable to the hoards in the United States treasury. "Millions" is Borah's rough estimate of the amount he believes stuck to somebody's fingers. For legal advice alone $3,000,000 appears to have been spent. This may or may not have been too much but Borah thinks it was.
Ex-Custodian Thomas W. Miller, and ex-Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty probably will have to bear the brunt of things when the investigators really get down to cases.
Both are under indictment in New York in connection with one of the custodian's turnovers, but that was just a single transaction, Borah expects to dig into thousands.
Even if the explanations are all satisfactory there will have to be a great many of them.
Borah doesn't like the idea of an alien property custodian's office, anyway.
He doesn't consider it right to seize private property even in time of war, and with billions of our own invested abroad now, he ventures the guess that, the next time we get into one, we'll wish we hadn't set such a precedent.
At any rate, he says the seized property ought to be returned, now the war's over, and he adds most emphatically that the custodian and his friends ought not to have gobbled any of it up—if they did—while it was in the government's possession.

General Motors Common Stocks Takes A Tumble

By United Press.
NEW YORK, August 13.—The market price for the common stock of the General Motors corporation dropped off somewhat at the opening of the stock exchange after the announcement of the largest stock dividend of Wall Street.
The opening transaction was 292.50 a share, one dollar lower than yesterday's close.

LAD DROWNS DAVENPORT LAKE TODAY

Sol Roberts, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, who live near Davenport Lake in the southwestern edge of Eastland was drowned at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon.
It seems as if the little chap and his brothers and sisters were out on the lake in a boat which sprung a leak.
Jay Phillips and some men who were helping him in some construction work rescued the others, but could not save the lad.
The bodies were resuscitated after she was brought from the water.

SIX BODIES RECOVERED FROM SUB

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Six bodies have been removed from the submarine T-29, which sunk last Monday in Davenport Basin, and the submarine was in dry dock today a British official wireless announced.
The bodies were removed during the night. Salvage workers were compelled to wear gas masks, owing to the chlorine gas caused by action of the sea water on the vessels batteries.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 13.—The largest check ever awarded the winner of a horse race, $89,050, sent to Colonel Edward R. Bradley, owner of "Boot-to-Boot," winner of the Chicago derby here on July 31 was today crumpled to Col. Bradley bearing the succulent notice, "Not sufficient funds."
The check was signed by R. M. Sweitzer, clerk of Cooke county, and secretary of the Illinois Jockey club which promoted the race.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS ASSAIL PLANS OF CASEYS

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 13. A statement assailing the Knights of Columbus for attempting to force American intervention in the religious dispute in Mexico was issued by the Scottish Rite Masonic news bureau here today.
The statement drew an immediate reply from J. J. Flaherty, supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus defending his organization's policy as the necessary means of protection for members in Mexico.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PLANS ARE CRITICISED.

MEXICO CITY, August 13.—Although there has not been an official declaration on the part of either the church or the state regarding the reported proposal of the Knights of Columbus to raise money in the United States to aid Catholics here, observers believe the plan would be instantly criticised.
It is expected that the higher clergy here, while grateful for outside influence which might terminate the present situation would regard such a step by the Knights of Columbus as a retrograde movement, injuring the cause of the church in the United States and intensifying the determination of the Mexican government not to yield to mediation, particularly to the outside, observers say.
In the meantime, both the church and the state are holding their own.
The church is continuing its boycotting tactics, and President Calles is keeping a close watch on the affairs looking out for seditious utterances. Just when the archbishops will be called before the tribunals to answer to the charge of sedition is not known.

COACH CHERRY CALLS OUT ALL GRIDIRON MEN

The bugle heralding the opening of the gridiron season will ring forth on the evening of August 31, according to Blair Cherry, coach of the Ranger High School, who announced today that a meeting of all candidates for the team would be held at that time.

The Bulldogs' schedule provides for seven games. The first battle will be against Stephenville on Oct. 2, at Stephenville. Last year with a practically new eleven, the Yellow Jackets defeated several strong teams including Abilene and Eastland, going through the official season without a defeat.

Next game scheduled is on October 16 when San Angelo plays in Ranger; then on October 23 the Bulldogs invade Eastland. Abilene comes to Ranger the week following; then on November 6 Ranger goes to Brownwood. The annual Armistice Day battle against the Cisco Lobos will be staged on the Ranger field, on November 11 and the district competition will end on Thanksgiving Day when the Breckenridge Buckaroos invade Ranger.

VANITY CASE
By Carolyn Wells
1926
G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEHIND HERE TODAY
Mrs. Prentiss sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear next door in the Heath household one night, and the next morning Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of Myra Heath and the disappearance of her husband, Perry.

House guests of the Heaths are Lawrence Inman and Bunny Moore. Inman might have a motive because he is heir to Myra's considerable fortune, she having cut Perry off. Suspicion also points to golden-haired vivacious Bunny, because of her refusal to answer questions at the inquest.

Myra Heath was peculiar. She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whiskey bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet, and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and dressed with gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is the fact that all windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way by the butler in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle and physicians established that the rouge was applied to Myra Heath after death.

At the Country Club, the murder is discussed by Sam Anderson, Heath's rival for the club presidency; Al Cunningham, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Others, including Anderson, disagree. Cunningham learns from Mrs. Prentiss of the mysterious lights. Todhunter Buck, her nephew, suggest that Heath also may have been murdered.

Bunny and Inman dine alone in the Heath house and the butler announces three callers.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

The three callers were Mrs. Prentiss and her nephew, Todhunter Buck; and with them was a young man, a stranger to Bunny, but an acquaintance of Inman, Alexander Cunningham.

"I'm out to find Perry Heath," Cunningham said, after they were all seated. "I'm sure you understand, Mr. Inman, the interest and anxiety felt by the Country Club members and as they can't do much as a body, they've asked me to institute a search for Heath, and, also, to do what I can toward unraveling the mystery of Mrs. Heath's tragic death."

"Detective work?" asked Larry in a non-committal voice.
"Yes, but not professional. Some men like Arthur Black, Sam Anderson, and others of that crowd, have in a way, engaged me to do this, and I'm mighty glad to try. We are assuming that as the nearest kin of Mrs. Heath, you will sanction any and every effort to solve the mystery of the case."

"Well—I'm not sure about that," Inman said, slowly. "I want to know who killed my cousin, of course, but your blanket proposition as to 'any and every effort' seems to me a bit—er—unlimited."

"You want to limit it?" asked Cunningham, his cool grey eyes fixed on Larry's face.
"Perhaps not limit it—but, rather, assist in its direction."
"Oh, that's all right, we're glad of any assistance. Now, while I'm not a professional detective, I am acting under authority, I am endorsed by the club, and so I trust I'm not exceeding my rights in asking for the freedom of the house for purposes of investigation."

"You mean unquestioned access to all rooms?" Inman stared at him.
"I mean just that," and Cunningham stared back. "I can imagine no possible objection. The examination of Mrs. Heath's room is of utmost importance, and I'm sure Miss Moore would say no word against my entering her room."

"Indeed I would!" and Bunny drew herself up angrily. "Why should you go into my room, Mr. Cunningham?"
"It is an established custom, Miss Moore, to inspect carefully, and with an eye to helpful evidence, all parts of the house and grounds in which a crime has been committed. I am sorry to say, the police, in this case, have been lax in this respect. But I am told it is due to the absence of Mr. Heath. Well, however, is really an additional reason for haste and care in the matter of search, for Mr. Heath's disappearance is a puzzle in itself, and it is highly probable that the two mysteries are interdependent."

"Now, Mr. Cunningham," Mrs. Prentiss broke in, "you're wasting good time, thrashing out foolish questions. Of course, Mr. Inman wants you to have full swing here, and likewise of course, Miss Moore wants you to make a full search. She's new to this business and doesn't understand. So you go right ahead, full steam, and I'll bet a cooky, you unearth some clue that nobody else has noticed. You go into that studio there—that's where the awful thing happened—and you see what you can see."

Cunningham disappeared into the studio, with young Buck following, like a shadow at his heels.
"All rubbed down and polished up!" cried Cunningham, disgustfully, as he saw the spick and span room. "I did think they'd have the place guarded from that sort of thing."
"What are you out for, anyway?" asked Toddy, who was eagerly waiting to see the detective work.
"Oh, just hints—but who could get any hints here? Body gone. Weapon removed—even the broken bits of glass swept up! No chance for foot-prints on this thick carpet. No finger-prints on these carefully dusted knock-knocks and doo-dads. Even Heath's painting materials are all put away as nearly as a lady's work basket!"

"But what good would finger-prints be to you? If they were those of the family party, they would mean nothing. And if strange ones, how would you know whose?"
"Point pretty well taken, and, I'm not really keen for finger-prints. I just want something—something indicative or suggestive. Well, here are some letters." He ran over a handful he drew from a pigeonhole. "Nothing any good! They're bills or club notices, mostly. No billets doux from adoring damsels or anything like that. My, he has a lot of pipe cleaning paraphernalia! Look at all these contraptions."

THE FOLKS BACK HOME

Toddy Buck gazed without interest at the array of patent devices for cleaning pipes or cigarette holders.
"Too many," he said, contemptuously. "An old bit of wire does me. And say, how tidy he keeps his paints. Look at these water-colors boxes. All in perfect order. I thought artists were a messy lot."
"Heath isn't. He loves things orderly. His wife did, too. Look at all this glass of hers, ranged in rows set awry, and all shinning and speckles."
"Yes, and there's a row of oldbot-tles like the one she was killed with." Toddy spoke in an awe-stricken tone. This business seemed a bit gruesome to him, though he was deeply interested.
"Now, maybe, Mr. Cunningham," he went on, "maybe the murderer, whoever he was, touched up the lady's face with these paints, instead of regular cosmetics."
Al Cunningham looked up quickly. "It might be possible. I can't visualize that scene, Buck. If Heath killed his wife, I can understand his painting her face, for he was always at her to do it herself, and, too, he was an artist and forever dabbling with brushes. But I don't think he killed her. For there's no way he could get out. Whereas, if he went away, before she was killed, then clearly some one in the house is the criminal, and tried to turn suspicion to Heath by setting up the card and all that."
"Who, for choice?"
"Well, Inman is a good guess. He had motive, opportunity, and time. And he's clever enough to arrange matters to make it seem the work of Heath. I mean the cosmetics and all, as well as the card. And he's an artist, so if the facial applications were from Heath's water-color box, why, Inman could do that all right, too."
"And you think Heath really couldn't get away?"
"After committing the crime? See these windows. Small diamond panes, narrow sashes, strong inside locks—; 'But you've only the servants' word that these were all found locked this morning, as well as the rest of the house."
"Yes, and it mostly rests on Herrick's word? But why should he lie about it? Nobody suspects him; he was devoted to Mrs. Heath, and Perry, too. And he could never have put on that make-up so artistically—so perfectly. No, it was the work of an artist—or, a woman."

"The maids?" queried Buck. "For of course, you can't mean Miss Moore!"
"I mean anybody and nobody. There is no one above suspicion. I'm merely inquiring about everybody. Well, I'm going upstairs. Bedrooms often tell tales that living rooms know nothing of."
Cunningham went upstairs, and at his nod of invitation, Toddy Buck followed.
"I don't get it," Cunningham mused, as they entered Heath's bedroom. "Both Inman and the little princess seem all upset at my investigations. Are they shielding Perry? Or anybody else? For you know if this thing is the work of an outsider, those two must have let the outsider in and let him out again, and also they must have let Heath out."
"Unless he went off naturally, and unquestioned, before the tragedy occurred," Toddy said.
"Yes, that's true talk. Now you see, Buck, we must get in our minds a picture of this room of Perry Heath's. Look at this place, now. Can't you read Heath all over it? See the chiffonier—all the brushes and toilet implements laid in a straight orderly row—"
"That's the housemaid's work."
"I know it, but Perry kept them so. You can somehow see that. Look in his dresser drawers. I'll bet his socks and handkerchiefs are in neat piles." He opened one after another, and the clothing was as tidy as he had expected it to be.
"And here's an easy chair, drawn up to the window, with a smoking stand beside it, and a paper rack nearby. He is a bit of a Sybarite, is Perry, and yet a tidy sort, too. The two traits don't often go together."
"Well, what you've found out about his neatness and his love of ease doesn't get you along very fast in solving the mystery, does it?"

"Don't be impatient, son. All in good time. Now, I have this room photographed on my mind in detail; come on, we'll tackle Mrs. Heath's room."
"Oh, I don't like to," and Buck drew back with a natural instinct against invading the sanctity of the dead woman's apartments.
"All right, you stay out, or go back downstairs."
But Toddy was naturally inquisitive, and, too, he was bound to be in on this detective business, so he followed the older men across the threshold.

Scotch Grouse Season Calls Off Sportsmen

LONDON.—Today marked the opening of the "grouse season" in Scotland—the annual exodus of the fashionable and the sport loving to those 2,400 separate moors or "shootings" in Scotland where grouse abound.
All signs point to an excellent season, particularly Perthshire.
The King and Queen, it is understood, will go to Balmoral on the 17th, this marks the eclipse of the London social season with "nobody left in town."
American millionaires will be much in evidence during the grouse season. With their comfortable purses they manage to rent some of the finest shootings in the country. Many Scottish landowners make far more money from the wild furze-covered moors on their places than from their farm and sheep ranches.
The individual, it has been estimated, pays about a sovereign—roughly $5.00, for every brace of grouse he bags. This includes a stiff rental, figured by the week, and the cost of dogs, guns, beaters as well as general entertainment.

Before night someone will do the thing you're going to do tomorrow.

Queen of Spain Still Clings To Hand Kissing

LONDON.—The Queen of Spain, who is English, has asked all her friends—during her recent visit to England—scrupulously to observe the Spanish custom and to kiss her hand when they greet her and when they take their leave.
Her Spanish husband, on the other hand, has adopted English customs in England. He shakes hands with everybody, high and low, and has even been seen heartily slapping on the back some of his old polo comrades, up from the Riviera.

Heavy Taxation Causes Decrease In Drinking

LONDON.—Whisky consumption in England was only 12,074,000 gallons last year, a record low figure, excluding the two years of government control in 1918 and 1919, according to the report of William H. Ross, chairman and managing director of the Distillers' Company, Ltd. Whisky-drinking has been growing less and less each year, he said. He held the high government taxes responsible, rather than any inclination toward temperance on the part of the consumers. Government taxes, he declared, are "gradually but surely bleeding the whisky trade to death."

Kelsey Writes Of Tennis Tours—Chess

By CLARK B. KELSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—With the opening of the National Junior and Boys' tennis championships on the grass courts of the South Side Tennis Club here Monday, it is believed that champions of international ranking in future years may emerge from the hundreds of youths throughout the country who competed in local tournaments, and sent their champions to the national event.

Two outstanding stars in each division stand out as probable winners. They are Berkeley Bell, Austin, Texas, whose play this year to date has stamped him as the best player 18 years old or under, and Warren F. (or as he prefers to be called) Junior Coen, Kansas City, best of the boys under 15, who has shown in many seasons.

Neither Bell nor Coen is champion of his division. Cranston Holman, San Francisco, champion, has graduated out of the division, as has Harris Coggeshall, Des Moines, Ia., who ranked second. Henry Johnson, Waban, Mass., was third, and A. L. "Sandy" Wiener, Philadelphia, fourth, to defeat Bell, who started in Mexico last winter to develop a game that has electrified followers of the net game. He has played steadily since and is now at the peak of his game.

Coen, styled by Bill Tilden as "the most perfect tennis player in form that I have ever seen," has traversed the country with the national champion this season, and has been playing just about as pretty tennis as is possible to see a youngster about the size of a racquet.

Kuck to Tour

EMPORIA, Kans., Aug. 7.—John Kuck and Robert Greenwade, star athletes of the Kansas State Teachers' College, are soon to sail for an extended tour of Finland, Holland, and Sweden, where they are to participate in exhibition meets and demonstrate the correct form for the weight events and the dashes, if the proper arrangements can be made with the National A. A. U., and the governments of the countries named.

The consul from Finland was among the spectators in the Yankee Stadium, New York, at the recent benefit meet for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and saw Kuck break two world's records and win four events, while his team-mate breaststrokered the tape only a scant inch behind two of the nation's best known sprinters, though it was his first race in really fast company. Realizing the Finns' weakness in the weights and the shorter races, the consul suggested the proposed tour, with the request that the Kansas stars coach them in the fine points of these events.

It is planned that the Americans will make their first foreign appearances in Finland, where they will not only compete in a series of competitive meets but will also give a number of exhibitions before university students.

Chess

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Scores of nationally and internationally known chess masters, as well as hundreds of other players and fans, will be in Chicago on August 21st for the opening of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Western Chess Association at the Hotel La Salle. The gathering will last until September 2.

Secretary-treasurer Samuel D. Foster, of the association, has announced that invitations to participate in the national and sectional tournaments, in which the title of western champion and many valuable prizes are at stake, have already been accepted by numerous stars.

Among these are Frank J. Marshall, United States champion; Edward Lasker, former western champion; Samuel D. Foster, former western champion; Samuel Reshevsky, "the boy wonder"; Abraham Kapchick, present western champion; Carlos Torre, Mexican titleholder; Geza Maroczy, Hungarian champion; Jackson Schowalter, former United States champion; A. J. Fricke, Pacific Coast champion; Charles Jaffe, Lewis J. Isaacs, N. W. Banks and others.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

STANLEY BALDWIN

Stanley Baldwin, widely known as the Prime Minister of England, nurses the ambition to find out what, if anything, can be done with pigs.

In his beautiful country home near Stourport, in the Severn valley, he raises pigs for the local market. He likes pigs with a deep strain of the Chinese in them, pigs that can lay on flesh without materially increasing in offal or bone. In circles politically and personally friendly to him, he has even been accused of having a secret ambition to raise trained pigs.

Queen Mary

Queen Mary, in her hours of ease, turns to water-color painting. Her portfolio now contains, it is said, nearly 200 "studies."

A very few are somewhat hesitant marines—it should be recalled that her husband was a sailor—and there are said to be some excellent examples of "still life," but most of them are landscape scenes.

Any publisher who could persuade Her Majesty to let him publish them could easily make his fortune, and hers.

Morgantown, Ky., minister was shot while preaching by someone who should have been listening.

HELEN WILLS COMES UP BIG AS CONTENDER FOR TENNIS HONORS AT NEXT TOURNEY

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK.—Prospects of several foreign entries, including some of the flashiest players in Europe, will enrich some badly needed interest in the women's national tennis championships at Forest Hills next month. But even if Senorita Lilli d'Alvarez and Mlle. Katrinka Botman are not able to make the trip and Mrs. Kathlene McKane Godfrey is the only foreign star in the field, the interest in the fortunes of Miss Helen Wills, the national champion, will be enough to restore some of the lost interest in women's tennis.

From a commercial standpoint there would be no great inducement to attract crowds to see the pretty young California girl walk away with another championship, but the operation she was forced to undergo in Paris enters an element of doubt into the tournament.

Had she operated there are reasons to doubt now that Miss Wills will be able to defend her championship successfully even if she is not forced to play against any of the three European stars.

From all appearances she has recovered completely from the effects of the operation but it is not certain that some weakness might not develop after a week of hard championship competition.

Her mother is not certain that she will be able to play her best game and Miss Mary K. Browne, captain of the American team that invaded Europe, is frankly dubious about her chances.

Mrs. Wills told the writer when they returned from England that she would like to have Helen examined by her father, a surgeon, before she started practicing at Forest Hills. "I don't like to assume all the responsibility because I have nothing but her own assurance that she feels physically fit for the test," she said. "I suppose also that the only test of her condition is to let her try herself out."

Miss Browne said she had advised Helen not to attempt any tournament competition this season.

"It is not worth the taking of any chances," Miss Browne said. "What is a cup or a record compared to health? It would be a shame to wreck the future of a brilliant player like Helen just to keep intact a record for successive championships." Helen's confidence that she is strong enough to play through two preliminary tournaments and to enter the national championships may be the result of the encouragement given her by Dr. Thierry de Martell, one of the world's most celebrated surgeons, who performed the operation.

Dr. Martell, in his day a noted tennis player, oarsman and football player, told Mrs. Wills before the operation that the patient should be able to leave the hospital in five days and return to the courts within three weeks.

No Coddling "I don't believe in coddling patients," he told the champion's mother. "Get them out of bed as soon as possible and they will recover all the quicker."

When Miss Wills wanted to get out of bed on the fourth day after the operation, the nurses were astounded and Mrs. Wills protested, but the doctor said—"Let her up as soon as she wants to get up. It was a very minor operation."

With such encouragement and with the good fortune to be able to leave the hospital so soon, it was quite natural that a strong, healthy girl like the young champion would feel capable of playing at Wimbledon and at Forest Hills and in spite of protest from all her friends, she would have entered the Wimbledon tournament if her father hadn't cabled orders against it.

Wants Another Match While she has not committed herself officially, Miss Wills has intimated that she isn't particularly interested in another national cup or in keeping her record intact for continuous victories. She wants to win the national championships so she can be in a position to seek another match with Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen next year without making it look like she is running around heckling the French star.

She figures if she returns to France next spring to pursue her studies she can gracefully go about a return match if she is the national champion. Otherwise she could be considered an outsider chasing the champion for a battle.

Miss Wills faces another match against Mlle. Lenglen with more confidence and with better equipment than she had last winter during the Riviera season. She ought to be better physically, she will have had more international experience, which is in valuable and she will have had the advantage of one opportunity to study first hand the game of the brilliant French girl.

One Run Games Predominate on Pacific Coast

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11.—The importance of close playing, good pitching and the threat of free hitters was never better exemplified in the Pacific Coast baseball league than this year, it is revealed by a study of the official record for the first half of the present summer.

During the first 14 weeks of this season 134 games were decided by one run, that figure representing a little more than a third of the games played. Fourteen of these contests went into extra innings and 11 were 1 to 0 shutouts.

Experts hold that this unusual number of one run victories indicates that the coast league is being favored with an improved brand of baseball, that pitching must be better and that the players are fighting harder than ever before for victories. Although the Portland Beavers failed to make a sensational showing in the general average, they took their share of these close games, winning 19 out of 30. The Missions, San Francisco's second club, on the other hand, had numerous tough breaks. It lost 25 games by a margin of one as against 13 such victories.

The record of games decided by one run is:

Club	Won	Lost
Seattle	20	11
Portland	18	11
Oakland	18	15
Sacramento	18	19
Los Angeles	14	15
San Francisco	15	16
Hollywood	17	22
Missions	25	13

What Movies Shot

Fred Bockelman of the Pathe News, and Camera Jamieson of the Fox Service, were both in on the "shoot up" of Texas Ex-Rangers yesterday. The Pathe camera man arrived a little late but in time to get in on the pictures, so Rangers and its guests, the Texas Ex-Rangers, will be doubly shown to the world by these two large movie picture companies. Here's a brief scenario of how they were shot.

Old Texas Ex-Ranger arriving in Ranger for annual convention, parading Main Street, following the flag of the Republic.

Acting Mayor Raymond Teal strips police Vol Davenport of his gun and badge, in front of the city hall, and presents it to Captain W. J. Hale, and turns the city over to the Rang-

Old cronies swap yarns. In the group are Capt. Hale, Major Green, Dr. P. H. Chilton, L. T. Arnold, S. E. Elkins. The youngest in the crowd being 72 and the oldest 82.

Japanese Beetle Menace To Be Put n Serum

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department has started a new and vigorous campaign to eliminate the Japanese beetle menace in the United States.

Motion picture films depicting the life and habits of the injurious insect have been distributed by the government over entire country. It shows farmers how to spray to prevent beetle damage, the treatment of turf so as to kill grubs and the benefits of quarantine to prevent its spread.

Beetles live in the soil ten months of the year but the other two months they attack crops savagely. One feature of the federal movie shows 300 beetles attacking one apple.

Religious Leaders Of Christian Church Meet in October

URBANA, Ill.—Six hundred delegates—among them many outstanding religious leaders throughout the United States and Canada—will attend the International Quadrennial Convention of Christian Churches at Urbana, Oct. 20-27.

The Rev. S. Parks Cadman, Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ, will deliver the opening address. Other speakers include Dr. Goodell, New York, National Secretary of Evangelism of the Federated Council; Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, Mohammedan missionary; Dr. L. E. Smith, New York, and Dr. Alva Mar-tyh Kerr, Payton, Ohio.

The Jack Dempsey's Arrive In New York

Smiling, confident, eager for battle, Jack Dempsey lands in New York to defend his heavyweight boxing title against Gene Tunney, next month. He will train at Saratoga Springs. His wife, Estelle Taylor, came with him. Tex Rickard, left, promoter of the match, and manager Gene Normie, right, were on hand to meet them.

Road Bulletin of State Department For Week Issued

State Highway No. 3, Orange to Baltimore, which traverses the southern portion of the state, from Orange near the Louisiana border to Baltimore, Reeves County in the Davis Mountains of West Texas, is one of the important truck line highways of the state.

The importance of this highway is conceded, it being the route through Texas for tourists from the east to California. While this is one point of main distinction, another ranking point in the importance of the highway, is that it passes through in its course, several of the most important cities of the state, Orange, Beaumont, Houston, San Antonio, and Del Rio, on the Mexican border. Serving thus as it does these cities of magnificent commercial import, as one of the through state highways, will naturally bring it into prominence more and more each year as development and progress advances forward.

The importance of the highway as one of the units of the system, has been given recognition by State Highway Commission through some recent contracts awarded and work completed.

Since January, contracts have been let on 123 miles of the highway at a cost of $2,205,413. This includes bridge across the Sabine River, Orange County at a cost of $215,274.54. Work is in progress at present on the highway in Lavaca, Liberty, Fort Bend, Uvalde, Medina, and Jefferson Counties. In Lavaca County the project covers 14.13 miles; Liberty, asphalt on concrete base, 36.10 miles; Fort Bend, asphalt on concrete base, 15.14 miles; Uvalde, asphalt surfacing 26.22 miles; and Medina, asphalt surfacing on 35.81 miles.

The highway traverses twenty counties of the state which include Orange, Jefferson, Liberty, Harris, Fort Bend, north corner of Wharton, Colorado, Fayette, Caldwell, Guadalupe, Bexar, Medina, Uvalde, Kinney, Val Verde, Terrell south corner Pecos Brewster, Jeff Davis and Reeves.

State Highway No. 3 was designed at the very beginning of highway designations when the State Highway Department was established in 1917. The road had, however, a beginning of earlier date, becoming a road about the same time that the G. H. & S. A. railroad was built. It was used for hauling materials used in building this railroad, one of the first to enter the state.

Today this highway is being made into a high type road over which the tourists will travel from east to west, through Texas. It is claimed that the trip through the Davis mountain country, from Alpine to Baltimore, is not exceeded for the beauty of scenery. The whole of the highway from Orange to the termination at Baltimore, is good. In the western section where as yet there has been only the work of grading, the road is natural gravel base which is good at all seasons of the year. Texas expects this to be the highway that will next year bring the Florida people into Texas.

McMillan Named Professor of Farm Management

Special Correspondence.

COLLEGE STATION—S. A. McMillan, agent of Fort Bend County for the Extension Service of the A. & M. College of Texas, has been appointed professor of farm and ranch management in the division of economics in the school of agriculture of the college. This announcement was made by Dean E. J. Kyle of the school of agriculture coincident with his announcement of the division of economics as a new department.

Mr. McMillan is an alumnus of the A. & M. College and is well known among the agricultural leaders of Texas. He received his M. S. A. degrees at Cornell University, and has had summer work in the University of Missouri, the University of Illinois and the Iowa State College of Industrial Arts and nine years at the A. & M. College of Texas. During the past three years, Mr. McMillan has been agent of Fort Bend county and it is believed that his association with the Extension Service has provided an unusual opportunity to become acquainted with the problems and viewpoints of farm people.

In making the announcement of the new department, Dean Kyle said that A. & M. College is the first land grant college to place the economic side of agriculture on equal footing with the productive side. He stated further that this institution has heretofore held high rank in the development of inspired leadership in productive agriculture, and that the time has come when the same quality of leadership is demanded in economic phases of our great basic industry.

Poor abused hands!—red, roughened and coarsened! But it isn't the work that ruins them, it's hard water and ineffective soap. Savex not only does its work well as a soap, a water softener and a bleach—all in one—but it protects your hands, keeping them firm and white. And of course if Savex won't hurt your hands it won't hurt delicate fabrics.

Use Savex in washing machine without soaking and rubbing. Use it in washtub or basin and soak and rub only badly soiled things. Moreover, boiling and bluing are unnecessary with Savex, for it is a mild, safe bleach. Follow directions and yellowed and stained things become "whitely white"; colored things wash like new, and silks and woollens retain their textile beauty.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

CROP OUTLOOK FOR TEXAS IS BEST SINCE '19

Special Correspondence.

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 13.—According to present indications the producers of farm and ranch products in Texas will have one of the most prosperous years they have had in a long time. While the price of cotton is considerably lower than that of last year, the prospects are that the crop will be in the neighborhood of 1 1/2 million bales greater. The wheat, corn, oat, grain sorghum and hay crops, as a whole, are better than in any year since 1919, and cattle, sheep, goat and swine prices are at a high level. Early truck crops added many millions to the State income, but the later crops as well as melons and peaches have not been marketable at satisfactory prices. No section of the country is in a better condition than the wheat belt of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Cotton
The Texas cotton crop on August 1, had a condition of 73 per cent of normal compared with 49 per cent a year ago and 66 per cent on August 1, 1924. With a planted area of 18,948,000 acres and a condition well above the average, if insect and weather damage do not prove too great during the month a surprisingly large crop can yet be made. While the injury from the cotton hopper has subsided to a great extent, weevils, bollworms and leaf-worms have become very active in a large percentage of the counties. Picking is becoming general in the south district and will extend into Central Texas after mid-August. Very few of the other states have as high a condition as a year ago and more than average deterioration was suffered during the month. The United States condition is estimated at 69.8 per cent compared with 65.5 per cent and 15,621,000 bales are indicated against 16,104,000 produced in 1925. Ginnings prior to August 1 amounted to 47,749 running bales; 161,632 in 1925, and 21,795 in 1924. Most of these are from the Texas crop.

Corn
Over the south half of the State the corn crop is made and in other sections it is maturing rapidly. Conditions have generally been most favorable, in localities April planted corn being still green to the bottom blades. High yields are promised. The condition has risen to 92 per cent of normal during the month although it is usual for corn to show a decline in July. A production of 103,492,000 bushels is indicated, the highest since 1923 when 96,440,000 bushels were estimated. In 1919 Texas produced 195,000,000 bushels.

The United States indication is for 2,576,936,000 bushels of corn compared with 2,505,053,000 bushels in 1925 and 2,549,183,000 bushels the five-year average. Winter Wheat, 626,482,000 bushels compared with 395,610,000 in 1925; Spring Wheat, 212,719,000 bushels compared with 270,875,000 in 1925; Oats, 1,311,159,000 bushels compared with 1,511,888,000 in 1925.

Grain Sorghum
In a number of counties in the northwest, early Grain Sorghums are suffering for lack of moisture, but the late planted are still doing well. In other sections the early grain is made and it is the late planted which needs rain. With moisture soon plenty of grain and forage will be made this year with a surplus for shipment and to last until the next crop. The condition of 92 per cent indicates a probable production of 50,958,000 bushels, compared with 30,875,000 bushels last year.

Peanuts
Most of the peanut crop is in very good condition, although in places grass has secured a start owing to inability to cultivate because of the continued rains. The 88 per cent condition as of August 1 indicates a probable production of 52,108,000 pounds on the 71,000 acres planted this year. Last season at this time, the condition was 83 per cent of normal, and the final production was 35,855,000 pounds.

2 Are Injured In Plane Crash At Lawton, Okla.

By United Press.

LAWTON, Okla., Aug. 13.—A commercial airplane crashed here today after running out of gasoline, fatally injuring Robert Salmon, 23, passenger, and severely injuring A. C. Gillock, 30, pilot.

Salmon suffered a deep cut in his side and has not regained consciousness. Gillock was a pilot of three years experience. He probably will recover, doctors said. Gillock was connected with a flying field recently at Dallas where he purchased a plane for commercial purposes.

Aged Indian Woman Captures Three of Escaped Elephants

By United Press.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 13.—An aged Indian woman captured three of the five elephants which escaped from a circus in British Columbia, according to word received here.

Coming on the beach suddenly late yesterday, the squaw offered one of them an apple, which he immediately accepted and the others followed.

According to dispatches received here, one of them bolted when placed in the car and is still at liberty.

The world gets better right along now. In Columbia university, 51 law seniors flunked.

TRAINS SOON MAY AVERAGE 100 MILES AN HOUR

By ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer

DETROIT.—Modern railroadings may soon be revolutionized by construction of a new type concrete roadbed which will permit roller-bearing trains travel 100 miles an hour in safety over a smooth, dustless right-of-way.

This is the opinion of engineers now contemplating a quarter-mile test section of such a track between this city and Pontiac, Mich., on the Pere Marquette railroad, one of the lines included in the proposed Nickel Plate merger of the Van Swearingens.

Start Next Month
Frank H. Alfred, president of the road, has announced the construction of the test stretch will be started in July.

The plan for the new design calls for a slab of concrete ten feet wide by eighteen inches thick, which will make for permanent construction.

This will permit a lighter rail than the type now in use, since the rail will act only as a wearing surface and not as a beam, as on present wood tie usage.

Cut Maintenance Cost

The rail will rest on edges of two steel plates imbedded in the concrete. And the plates in turn will be crisscrossed together and to the foundation. Alfred says the new design will cut greatly the cost of maintenance on the present type of roadbeds, which are little different from the roadbeds of a century ago, despite the increased weight and speed of rolling stock.

Under present wood tie construction, no matter how there tends to be a slight wave in the track. With concrete construction, it is predicted, the track will be perfectly level and even at all times.

The new design is expected to enable trains to travel with less pull from the locomotive and the estimated total saving each year will equal 10 per cent of the cost of the track.

ARRAIGN TWO ON CHARGE OF MURDER

By United Press.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 13.—Henry Dela Bruyere Carpentier and Willie Stevens today were arraigned before County Judge Cleary on warrants charging them with murder of Rev. Edwin W. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Elinor Mills.

Carpentier, a cousin of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, was released on $15,000 bail after having been arrested on a similar warrant several weeks and Stevens, the brother of Mrs. Hall displayed little emotion as the state began to call its witnesses for its preliminary examination.

"Jackie" Coogan's Chef Found Dead, Killed Himself

By United Press.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 13.—Hunted on a charge of attempt to murder following a shooting in Los Angeles last Tuesday, Herman E. Shipley, former chef for the family of Jackie Coogan, juvenile film star, was found dead from a self-inflicted rifle wound at the Coogan ranch near Campo late yesterday.

Shipley engaged in a gun battle early last week with Joseph Block, a special watchman in front of the Coogan home in Hollywood. Block was shot and police began a search for the former chef. Reports of a plot against the life of Jackie Coogan or some member of his family were discounted.

WORK ON STATE HIGHWAY TO BROWNWOOD BEGUN

Work on the state highway between Brownwood in Brown county and Rising Star in Eastland county is being rushed to completion. A majority of the right-of-way has been cleared and much of the roadbed on the Brownwood end of the line has been completed, it is stated.

The ladies of the Eastern Star will entertain with a tea at the home of Mrs. W. Z. Outward tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, honoring Mrs. E. A. Bills.

24 BODIES ARE REMOVED FROM AREA

By United Press.

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 13.—Twenty-four bodies have been taken from the devastated Weiss munition works at Budapest, which was wrecked by four explosions and partially destroyed by fire last night, according to dispatches from that city.

The dispatches said 300 injured persons, mostly women employees, had been removed from the plant. Most of the dead are reported to have been soldiers outside of the building when the explosion occurred.

There has been considerable communist activity in Hungary recently. The dispatches indicated that communists were suspected of having set off the explosion.

REPORTS CONFUSED ABOUT EXPLOSION

Confused reports of damage and death resulting from the explosion of the Feiss munition works at Budapest were complicated today.

The official Hungarian news agency was minimizing the story, even denying some of its own dispatches of Thursday. Dispatches said that 24 watchmen who were believed killed in the explosion had been found safe although rendered temporarily deaf by the shock.

Forty were seriously injured and 200 were slightly injured, the official agency reported.

Indian Fighter Recalls Battle Of Lost Valley

W. W. Lewis, who brought the Texas Ex-Rangers to meet with invitation from Menard citizens to them next year, is one of the interesting men attending the seventh annual convention. Mr. Lewis is still quite a live wire and remembers that happened "way back yonder."

He was in four Indian battles, one of them being the battle of Lost Valley in Jack county. In that battle they had 37 men, when they began trailing the redskins, and when the battle was over and noses counted, there were left only 22.

In speaking of the famous battle, Mr. Lewis said that they followed the Indians for about 20 miles, and that if the Indians had not over-shot them after they had trapped them in the valley, they would have all been scalped.

The Indians were led by Lone Wolf, a Comanche Indian. The battle was on July 12, 1874.

One of the tactics used by the redskins was to cut them off from their water supply and they lost three companions who tried to get to the spring and fill their canteens for them. One man, Lee Corn, with his shoulder shot off, held them off for a long time. He saw one man who was trying to make it, scalped, and afterwards they found 16 arrows in his body.

Mr. Lewis is strong for Menard especially if's pecan groves, and said next year when the convention met there they would show them a great time.

ESCAPED CATTLE RUSLER ARRESTED IN SAN ANTONIO

Wild Game Supply Is Increasing And Will Be Abundant

WASHINGTON.—Wild game in the United States is increasing and by 1930 there will be the abundance of game that was available to the sportsmen of 1910, in the opinion of H. P. Sheldon, chief game warden of the United States.

"The American sportsman is winning his fight to conserve and perpetuate wild game," Sheldon said. "We are well forward in a new advance, which will be marked by a constant increase in the numbers of our valuable species, of fish, birds and animals."

"Never before have the sportsman and conservationists been so strongly and effectively organized and never before have the official agencies of conservation found such large sums of money at their disposal for advancing their work."

Sheldon said that game and fish regulations are being religiously observed in every section of the country. Destruction of game that went on a century past has now been solidly checked.

"There still remains, however, pressing need for anti-pollution laws, the training and employment of an adequate force of game protectors, provisions for expanding areas for the care and feeding of our increasing game stock, the reduction of vermin study and control of disease, and the troublesome problem of harmonizing the rights of landowners with the recreation of sportsmen who own no hunting or fishing preserve."

Beating Wife And Daughter Causes Arrest

BURAPEST.—Beating his wife and daughter one time too often the arrest of a Hungarian peasant of Csongrad for a murder committed twenty-three years ago.

One night during September, 1903, this peasant rushed home greatly excited. In reply to his wife's questioning he confided to her that he had just killed a neighbor during a quarrel. No clue was ever found concerning the perpetrator of the crime. Everyone in Csongrad forgot about the affair; and no one would ever have given another thought to it had not the murderer, now seventy-four years old, recently got into the habit of beating his wife and daughter. After one especially severe beating his wife confided the father's crime to her daughter. The daughter promptly went to the wife of the murdered man and told her about it. These two went together to the police and exposed the criminal.

Lucky Or Unlucky Day for Woodmen Or LeveilleMaher

Friday the Thirteenth is going to be a Jonah for either the Modern Woodmen or the Leveille-Maher team this afternoon—or it might jinx them both and result in a tie. The players are all going to watch their step—they are scared of the jinx, especially when it carries the double jinx of being Friday, the Thirteenth. But they are game to try it anyway, regardless of the heavy double jinx and will start in as near 5:30 as possible.

Doughboys Down Salesmen In a Fast Game, 15-5

The Doughboys downed the Salesmen under an avalanche of base hits and runs Thursday and won 15 to 5. The game, however, was protested by the Salesmen on account of the Legion using Smith for a pitcher whom they claim is not eligible to play with the Legionnaires.

The Salesmen were unable to score until the last half of the sixth inning. Then in the darkness when any kind of a hit went for a base hit they tallied their five runs. Lingle, first up singled to left field. Gholson struck out. Littlefield was safe when Renshaw juggled and dropped his pop-up in front of the plate. Renshaw claimed Littlefield interfered but Umpire Keith said no. Lingle went to third and Littlefield to second during the argument. Green laid down a pretty bunt and Lingle scored when Renshaw dropped Smith's toss. Green stole second. Cotulla singled to left, scoring Littlefield. Killough struck out as Cotulla stole second. Morgan singled to short and Taylor couldn't find the ball in the dark in time to throw him out. Green and Collum scored. Avant hit to short and was safe when darkness again interfered. Cotulla scoring. Lingle, up for the second time in the inning, hit one over first that looked fair but Keith called him back. Lingle struck out.

The Legion scored one in the first. Battles went out. Littlefield to Killough. Littlefield made a nice play on Battles' high hopper. Taylor was safe on Green's error. Peacock singled to right, Taylor going to third. Watson was safe when Green fielded his grounder but Killough for some reason was too far off first to return in time to get the throw and Taylor scored. Renshaw popped to Lingle, trying to sacrifice. Henry went out, Green to Killough.

Five runs were added in the third on singles by Battles and Brasher and a double by Watson, errors by Killough and Green and a walk to Taylor. In the fourth Taylor doubled over the right field fence and scored when Peacock singled to left field. Six more were added in the fatal fifth. Renshaw was out. Littlefield to Killough. Henry singled to left. Brasher singled to right. Lines was safe when Killough couldn't hold a low throw. Smith singled to center scoring Henry and Brasher. Battles scored Lines and Smith with a terrific triple to left. Taylor scored Battles with a single to center. Taylor stole second and went to third on Peacock's infield out. Watson singled, scoring Taylor. Renshaw, up for the second time in the inning, popped to Collum. Two were added in the sixth on two errors and Lines' double.

Manush Mauls 'Em

One of the batting sensations of the American League season is Heinie Manush, outfielder for the Detroit Tigers. Manush, who has been carrying in Ty Cobb's post for the last few weeks, has been hitting the ball at a terrific clip. Two and three bingles a game is not an unusual day's work for the big fellow. Manush came to the Tigers in 1923 from Omaha of the Western League where he turned in a mark of 376, scoring 245 hits in 167 games.

Boxing Game Takes On New Life In Chicago

By United Press.

CHICAGO—It is only a few days since Chicago staged its first major boxing show under the control of a commission since 1901, yet the Windy City is already making a real bid to become the fight capital of the country. At least many battles of major proportions are assured this city, judging by the array of champions and near-champions that have been signed by Mullen, Harmon, Coffey and other local promoters.

Chicago's first show was a real success when Sammy Mandell of Rockford, lifted the lightweight crown from Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, at the White Sox Park. This scrap really definitely decided the lightweight supremacy for the first time since the retirement of Benny Leonard from the squared arena, for Kansas was always regarded as a somewhat synthetic champion, having won his title from Jimmy Goodrich, who in some manner slipped through the elimination tournament conducted by the New York fight commission to determine Leonard's successor. Now that Mandell has taken advantage of Promoter Jim Mullen's opportunity to annex the title, he does not intend to "do a Dempsey" but has promised that local promoter to defend it against all real challengers.

Mullen, who has secured both of the local big league parks for his shows, has another championship affair arranged in the meeting of Bud

Taylor and Charley Phil Rosenberg for the world's bantamweight title. Joe Coffey will put on a fracas next month, and hope to have Pete Latzo, the new welterweight champion, on hand. Coffey himself has somewhat of a record in this game of cauliflower ears, having appeared in many a scrap before the unfortunate McGovern-Gans debacle clamped the lid on the fight game in Illinois twenty-five years ago.

Jack O'Keefe has secured an option on one of the biggest halls on the West Side of the city, and has announced his intention to put on a number of indoor affairs, while Paddy Harmon, bicycle and dance hall entrepreneur, has also entered the ranks of the promoters, even promising to build a huge sports palace to rival Madison Square Garden. Paddy is eager to bring on the heavyweights, but the newly appointed state commissioners have made it understood that they will not look with favor on such affairs until fighters, promoters, managers, officials and the fans have seen enough fights to thoroughly understand the rules and regulations that have been formulated for the control of the sport in this state.

At any rate, it is clear that a twenty-five year "verboten" period has not killed any of the interest in the sport in Illinois.

STAMFORD.—West Texas Today, the official organ of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will carry a new cover design on the next issue, which will be printed in colors, portraying the Blue Bonnet, Texas State flower. This is the only magazine known of in West Texas which gives due honor to the state flower.

Alsace Home Rule Demands Worry French Statesmen

By A. C. CUMMINGS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
MULHOUSE, Alsace.—Few parts of Europe, except perhaps German Switzerland, appear more pacific, yet Alsace is not happy. It is not even convinced that it is prosperous. At least, not as prosperous as its neighbors on the other side of the Rhine.

Alsace, when the war ended, threw in its lot enthusiastically with France. It hated the Germans, the world was told. Joyfully it became a French "Department," so it was said and believed.

Today, Alsace, so far from being joyful in its new-found freedom, is demanding the right to govern itself, to make its own laws and to collect its own taxes. It wants to be independent—not of France, perhaps, but at least in France. It wants home rule.

French Explanation.
The French have a very simple explanation for so complete a reversal of sentiment. It is that German propaganda is busy, that the tools of dupes of Germany are working to distract the mind of official France from other fields where the never-ceasing war of diplomacy is waged. If there was no propaganda there would be no discontent and no crying for the political moon, the French claim.

How firmly they believe it true was shown recently when the Paris government severely disciplined a number of state servants who dared to sign a manifesto asking for autonomy for Alsace within the frame of the French Republic.

French authorities assert that the Alsace Germans who were expelled after the war of who emigrated and would like to return are sending money in to assist in the agitation for home rule and that there are political parties in Germany who want nothing better than to embarrass France by making Alsace another Ireland.

Economic Discontent.
But, allowing for all this, one cannot escape noticing in Alsace that there is much political and some economic discontent. For one thing there is the collapse of the franc compared with the stable Swiss and German currencies just across the frontier. For another, there is the growing feeling that Alsace is neither French nor German, but a country with its own history, its own customs, something of a native culture, and even now capable of making its own laws.

"Alsace never voted to join France," it is said. "She might have done so given the opportunity. But the fact remains that she did not and so she is free."

"What she wants now, or at least what the Home Rulers want—and it is true that they are only a minority of the population—is the right to govern herself within the framework of the French Republic. It is said that the framework does not permit the grant of autonomies such as the British empire is built on. Well, in Alsace, we say that it is all the worse for the French Republic.

"We do not forget that the German Republic is a union of free states and though we would rather gain our ends within France, who can tell what may happen in the future if we find ourselves denied our desire? We are not without an alternative. The German republic would not be averse from giving us the rights and powers of a Free State within the Reich."

This is the real danger of the Alsace Home Rule movement. At present limited and perhaps only too easy to disregard, it has incalculable potentialities. Today its direction is all towards France, so far as an outsider can see. Tomorrow, the eyes of Alsacians may turn across the Rhine whence their language and most of their culture come.

Gertrude Olmsted and Milton Sills in "Puppets"

TURN FORT INTO BIG SCREEN "SET"

Uncle Sam and First National pictures joined forces for the making of First National's latest Milton Sills starring photoplay, "Puppets," which comes to the Lamb today and Saturday.

There are war scenes and prison camp scenes in "Puppets," so Uncle Sam turned Fort Schuyler, New York, over to Producer Al Rockett for the filming of some of these scenes. In this historic old fort, one of the oldest in the country, Milton Sills takes the part of a prisoner of war exchanged by the enemy for one of their own men. While the shooting was going on all the enlisted men and officers of Fort Schuyler lined the high walls and the unoccupied space on the ground to watch the movie people at work.

Sills is starred in "Puppets." Gertrude Olmsted is his leading lady. In the supporting cast are Francis McDonald, Mathilde Comont, William Recivoli, Lucien Prival, Nick Thompson and others. The picture was directed by George Archainaud.

Davis Mountains Cowboys Camp to Draw Preachers

FORT DAVIS, Texas.—The cowboys and cattlemen's encampment meeting will be held in the Davis mountains the week beginning August 17, it has been announced. It will be the thirty-seventh annual session of the organization.

The camp site is one of the most beautiful in Texas. It is situated at an altitude of 6,000 feet in the heart of the Davis mountains. Its buildings include a tabernacle, a light plant, water system and many cottages and kitchens.

The menu of the camp includes a great many barbecued beefs straight from the Texas ranges. Some of the camps have as high as 200 guests at some of the meals.

Preachers to be present for the meeting include: The Rev. J. S. Porter, Methodist, Washington, D. C.; the Rev. Clyde G. Campbell, Methodist, Roswell, N. M.; the Rev. Colby D. Hall, Church of Christ, Fort Worth; the Rev. Burma, Presbyterian, Waxahachie, Texas.

Workman Hurt At Breckenridge Falls From Roof

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.
BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Aug. 13.—Frank Riley, workman employed by the Lydick Roofing Company of Fort Worth, was seriously injured when he fell from the roof of the new courthouse here on which he was working.

Riley is still in a semiconscious condition. He sustained a fractured skull, broken collar bone, bruises over the body, lacerations and scalp wounds as a wheelbarrow tipped over on the roof of the four-story building, precipitating him into space head first.

BROWNFIELD.—Weekly trips are being staged by the Brownfield chamber of commerce for the purpose of bringing the farmer and business men together in a social way and to create a better understanding between the two, which will aid in a more rapid development of this section of the country in the near future.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS
CHARLES G. DAWES
Charles G. Dawes, notwithstanding all that has been written about his pipe, his fiddle, and his musical compositions, has only one hobby—the reading of history.

The Vice-President of the United States declares that he never plays his famous under-slung pipe, and asserts that he does not make a practice of composing music—although he admits that he once did write a musical composition.

For exercise the Vice-President plays golf, but he characterizes his feats on the greens at "just walking around with a golf club in my hand."
