COUNTY COMMISSIONERS "SHOW A HEART"

NEGRO KILLED BY WOMAN HE LEFT BEHIND

Robert L. Fakes Shot Through Brain and Girl He Was With Wounded.

Robert Lee Fakes, colored, was shot and almost instantly killed at a dance in Eastland's "niggertown" last night. A negro girl named Nancy, who lives at Cisco, was shot through the left shoulder, but it is stated that her wound will not prove fatal.

Bertha Isham, a negro woman with whom Fakes is said to have been living, is being held by the officers on a charge of murder growing out of the shooting. The weapon used was a .38-calibre pistol. The shot that killed Fakes took effect just over the left eye.

Fakes and the Isham girl, according to some of the colored folks in Eastland, recently went to Breckenridge to live. The woman decided to come back to Eastland and at one time was in a car ready to start when Fakes forced her to get out of the car and go back home. He is said to have beat her unmercifully. Last night Fakes told the woman that he was going out for a while, but is said to have denied that he was coming to Eastland to the dance. After he left, however, the woman learned that he had gone to Eastland. She got a car and followed him. When she walked in at the dance she saw Fakes and the girl from Cisco standing talking together and immediately drew the gun and began shooting from close range. The killing took place just before 12 o'clock, the shots being plainly heard over town.

The Isham girl is said by other negroes to have been afraid of Fakes, as it is stated that about four years ago he shot and killed another negro at a dance in Eastland.

DRUGGISTS SHOW OPPOSITION TO LIQUOR SALES

State Convention Delegates Discuss Duty Pharmacists And Novelty Stunts.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.
FORT WORTH, June 10.—Novelty stunts for increasing the trade of drug stores, which have advanced far beyond the stage when medicines alone were sold, were discussed at the opening session of the Texas Pharmaceutical association, opening here yesterday. It was pointed out that in one drug store there were 32 booths, each devoted to certain lines, and in only two of them were medicines handled.

President W. H. Whisenant of San Antonio expressed his opposition to the handling of whiskey by druggists and said the organization had gone on record repeatedly as opposed to it. "We feel that our government left upon our doorstep a founding that has become a source of embarrassment since the day he became a nuisance to our family," he declared. "Experience has vindicated our contentions when we implored the Texas legislature and congress to find other means of furnishing whiskey to those in need of it."

Duty of Pharmacist
Continuing his argument, Mr. Whisenant said:

"The pharmacist should not be called upon to furnish whiskey and then held responsible for the entire transaction when it is a well known fact that he can not fill a whiskey prescription before it has been properly written, signed and certified by a licensed physician. His only obligation is to supply the therapeutic agents ordered by the physician whether it be calomel, whiskey or quinine."

In discussing the sale of "jake" and "booze substitutes," Whisenant declared, "The legitimate wholesale and retail trade refuse to handle these products, and yet they come into Texas in carload lots. Wake up, Mr. Commissioner, tie into a real culprit, thereby demonstrating your earnest desire to stop the illegal traffic in alcohol."

Remarks of President Whisenant regarding "jake" and "booze substitutes" were seconded by J. W. Gaham, Austin, who declared that the ethical druggist should watch more carefully the "drug store" which makes its profit in such traffic.

Invitation for the druggists' meeting next year have been received from San Antonio, Galveston, Dallas and Waco.

Ladies' Auxiliary
The Ladies' Auxiliary to the pharmacists holds a two-day gathering each year. The opening session of the 1925 convention was held at the Texas hotel this morning when the meeting was called to order by Mrs. King Hopkins, Fort Worth.

Entertainment features included a barbecue at Forest park and a dance at the Texas Tuesday. There will be a banquet today.

Wilford Harrison, Wichita Falls, president of the State Board of Pharmacy, is scheduled to address the convention this afternoon during the program conducted by the Texas Qualified Druggists league. John A. Weeks, Ballinger, is president of the league and is here.

The revival at the Eastland Baptist church is growing in interest with each service. The crowds are increasing, especially at the evening service. Rev. Mr. Pond brought a message Tuesday morning on "How to Be a Happy Christian." He will preach tonight on "How to Have a Good Revival," and his subject Thursday evening will be "A Wide-Gauged Train on a Narrow-Gauged Track." A junior choir will be organized at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

How to Fish.

"If you can't catch something alive it is hard for you to win men to Christ," said the preacher. The thought was brought that in fishing one should be prepared, have the right sort of bait, etc., and just so, when you undertake to catch men for God, you should find out who they are running with, what are their habits and what will interest them. The Lord called these disciples because he found them busy at their task; He can't use a lazy man in His work.

CHINA NEEDS THREE SAVIORS OF COUNTRY

Political, Financial and Military Leaders Needed, Declares Editor.

By United Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—China needs three strong men to correct things that are behind present chaotic conditions there, declared Dr. Ng Poon Chew, editor of the local Chinese language newspaper, Chung Sai Y at Po, in an interview with the United Press.

High cost of living, frightful labor conditions, and foreign aggression have brought on the present situation, he said.

"What China needs is a political organizer, a military genius and a financier," Dr. Chew declared. "I have every faith that these will arise and save China. I am just as certain China can not be helped by intervention."

"The foreigners who have brought capitalism and commercialism are not popular. The Japanese and English are especially disliked. Any move from these quarters would only add to the confusion."

Dr. Chew said living costs have gone up twice as fast as wages in China since the world war. Rice, which was $2.50 a sack, is now $7 and many working families can not afford to eat it.

"The Chinese are not starving," said Dr. Chew, "but they are eating just enough to keep body and soul together."

"The present situation arose from the strike in the Japanese spinning mills in Shanghai and Chang Tso that followed repeated demands for better conditions."

There was recently a strike in which workers demanded that they no longer be beaten. Conditions of work are reported intolerable, with monthly wages of $2.50 to $5.00. "What we want now is American's sympathetic moral support. The situation is critical only in that our integrity as a nation is threatened by fear of invasion."

RANGER TO DO HER PART IN ROAD BUILDING

City Commission Authorizes Improvement of Portion Pleasant Grove Road.

After a committee of citizens, yesterday afternoon, had presented to the Ranger city commission, the matter of providing for the permanent improvement of the Pleasant Grove road within the city limits between the Leveille-Maher Motor company plant and the corporate line, the estimated cost being about $7,000, the commission entered an order authorizing the issuance of warrants to meet the obligation when the time comes.

State Highway Commissioner Joe Burkett, in a conference with M. J. Stigaman several days ago, said the highway commission would allow $70,000 of the state money to complete the highway to the Breckenridge-Eastland junction, the county having already expended considerable more than that sum on the road. Commissioner Burkett was informed Monday night that the citizens of Ranger would provide for the improvement of the portion of the road within the city limits, this being a requirement before the state would undertake to build the other portion of the road.

The highway commission was expected to enter the order appropriating $70,000 for the Pleasant Grove road before it adjourned yesterday for the summer.

Wheat Crop of U. S. Very Short This Year

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The United States will be the breadbasket of the world this year. With the smallest production of wheat since 1917 in prospect, economic experts of the department of agriculture today said that 661,000,000 bushels, expected on the basis of June 1 conditions, would just meet the needs of domestic consumption. The terrific heat wave of last May and early June was only the "last straw" in a series of circumstances unfavorable to the crop.

THREE WET CONSPIRATORS IN OHIO FOUND GUILTY

Barnett, Columbus attorney and politician, were found guilty in federal court today of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. ## TOOTHLESS MAN AT POOR FARM TO GET TEETH

Commissioners' Court Begins Immediately on Reforms at County Charity Home.

The Eastland county commissioners are busy men and can hardly be expected to be advised of everything that goes on in the county, but when citizens are willing to assist and are able to point out to them work the commissioners' court should attend to they seem ready to do their part. So it has happened that certain reforms needed at the county poor farm, upon being called to their attention, have received prompt attention.

With County Judge Pritchard spokesman for the court, the county commissioners this morning gave instructions for the blind and toothless man at the poor farm to be taken to a dentist to have his mouth fitted for teeth so that he may be able to eat solid food. Eating liquids, day in and day out, with no hope of ever being able to eat anything else, is likely to become tiresome, but this inmate of the poor farm soon may be able to enjoy beefsteak once more.

The man was also taken to an oculist to have his eyes examined and it was said there is a possibility that the sight of one eye may be restored. It seems he was hit in the eye while playing baseball when a young lad, and never had money with which to pay for the services of an oculist.

Other reforms at the county poor farm are to be looked after at once. A creek that runs through the property not far from the buildings may be dammed, it is said, and afford an ample supply of water both for the farm use and for irrigation. Some of the land is said to be very fertile and splendidly adapted for fruit trees. Of course it will be necessary to have a survey made before a dam is constructed, so that it may be known no land will be overflowed or harmed by backwater.

Once started on the way to improvements at the poor farm, the county commissioners are likely to accomplish work that will redound much to their credit.

Wife of Young Scott Still Pursues Him

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.
FORT WORTH, June 10.—Mrs. Josephine Scott of Kansas City Tuesday afternoon in Seventeenth district court filed an application to make Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, Winfield Scott's mother, a party to the original divorce and alimony suit against Scott, the petition alleging the son's coverture of his property is void.

A receiver for the estate also is asked. Young Scott since obtaining a divorce in the Mexican courts—which divorce was not recognized here—has failed to pay the monthly alimony ordered by Judge R. E. L. Roy, so the petition asserts. Formerly Scott was ordered to pay $400 monthly, but several weeks ago the amount was made $800 by Judge Roy. No payment has been made since April 1, it is charged.

The petition declares Scott conveyed all his property to his mother to avoid the alimony.

BIBLE THOUGHT And I will give them one heart, and one way, that they may fear me for ever, for the good of them, and of their children after them.—Jeremiah 32:39.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE WICHITA DAILY TIMES

The eighteenth anniversary edition of the Wichita Daily Times, published in Wichita Falls, issued recently, is one of the most creditable and interesting special editions seen in Texas this year. Not only is it well filled with attractive advertising displays by banking, manufacturing and mercantile interests in Wichita Falls, but it contains very enjoyable accounts of development work by which the resources of Wichita Falls, large and varied, have been brought to some measure of their fulfillment.

It is only a few years since Wichita Falls was a mere village with its Weekly Times, edited and published by Ed Howard. Mr. Howard is now president of the Times Publishing Company of Wichita Falls. On May 14, 1907, the Wichita Daily Times made its appearance, its city editor and repertorial staff being B. D. Donnell, now vice president of the company. By reason of its splendid agricultural territory, its growing manufactures and its geographical position which made it an admirable trading center, Wichita Falls grew and the Times grew with it.

Then oil was discovered in Wichita county and Wichita Falls promptly leaped from the ranks of one of many small cities in Texas to the rank of one of the large cities in Texas. The continued growth of the Times made it necessary to get in new timber, and James H. Allison, previously publisher of the Fort Worth Record, having sold his interests in the Record, joined the Times Publishing Company as vice president and directly in charge of its advertising and circulation departments.

Mr. Allison has had wide experience in newspaper work, in both north and south, and was at one time president of the Southern Publishers' association. Mr. Allison was at one time an officer of the Ranger Times Publishing Company and has many friends in Ranger. He came to Ranger when the Ranger Rotary club was organized to start it properly, having once been district governor of the Rotarians in Tennessee.

Another member of the Wichita Daily Times is Jerry W. Moffett, a brother of Mrs. Walter Burden of Ranger and once on the staff of the Ranger Daily Times. He is one of the advertising staff of the Wichita Daily Times.

On the eve of issuing its own "Booster Edition," the Ranger Times congratulates the Wichita Falls Times on its splendid anniversary number and wishes for it a continuation of the contributing factors that have made it one of the leading daily publications in the state of Texas.

PAY YOUR TAXES. It is obviously apparent that the public servants of the people cannot perform the duties for which they were elected if the people refuse to pay their taxes and thus give them the financial support to which they are entitled. Improvements that citizens demand and which the governing officials know should be made and are willing to order made, must be delayed or left entirely undone because of failure by the citizens to provide the necessary finances.

Raps Society

Dr. W. R. G. Hodgkin, rector of fashionable St. Mark's Episcopal church, Berkeley, Calif., wants to keep people from using church weddings as a bid for social prestige. He has started a movement to have civil officers perform all marriages, with a religious ceremony afterward only for those who really want the blessing of the church.

is possible to a certain extent, but exceptions cannot be made and if tax suits are ordered they will be included among those to be sued. They should have no hard feeling on that account.

Others refused to pay their taxes because they can use the money temporarily to better advantage in other channels and are willing to pay penalties and interests and even costs of suits to obtain a little longer use of the money that should go to pay taxes. These should bear in mind that the value of their property depends in part on the continued progress of the city and if the city officials lack the money to build for progress the improvements that mean added property values cannot be made.

No tax is too small to count in the aggregate. The sum owed by one may not seem large, but when it is one of one hundred similar small amounts the total is amazingly large. If each of the small taxpayers will do his utmost to meet his tax obligations, the larger taxpayers will have more cause to feel ashamed of themselves for their failure to pay, for usually they are able to obtain the money if they really wish to do so.

CANTON'S CIVIL WAR CONTINUES, NUMBERS SLAIN

LONDON, June 10.—Fighting between the Cantonese and Yunnanese forces for domination of Canton is now on in earnest, according to advice from Hong Kong today. There have been about 200 casualties thus far.

The Yunnanese, hitherto confident of victory, were reported to have appealed to foreign consuls to send a fleet to intervene in the fighting and end it. In Hanon, opposite Canton, the spirit among the foreign colony was somewhat quieter today, according to dispatches, since American marines have landed for the protection of foreigners and the Christian college on the island. Shanghai was reported quiet.

Jenkins has protested against the firing on foreigners although no one was hurt. American women and children have moved from the danger zone on Jenkins' advice. He has warned all foreigners to avoid the fighting zone.

BEREAN CLASS HAS PICNIC AND SWIM PARTY

The Berean class of the Methodist church extended their hospitality to a number of other young people of the Sunday school, when they included them as their guests to a picnic and swimming party last night. Lake Leon, at the Oil Cities power plant, was the scene of this enjoyable affair. The lunch served was all that the name "picnic" implies and as it was an ideal night for a swim, the affair from start to finish was most enjoyable. Those participating were Mrs. M. R. Staff, Mrs. H. Heatley, Argie Fehl, of Eastland, C. M. Risher, Jack Speagle, Misses Verna Patton, Helen Brady, Helen Hall, Mary Hubbard, Jewel Calloway, Christine Hubbard, Eleanor Alworth, Opal Poute, Clara Haden Fort Worth, Shirley Shook, Eva Richardson, Belya Dixon, Katherine Hall, Helen Stanford, Mary Katherine Heatley, Bernice McCullough, Clara Stahl, and Mr. Dee Little.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT HAS A GOOD TIME

The primary department of the First Baptist church certainly had a good time Tuesday afternoon, when they were entertained by their teachers and officers, in the basement of the church. Tables and chairs conveniently placed, accommodated the children whose ages ran from three to nine years old, in the various contests indulged in for their amusement. Misses Margariete Adamson and Louise Pitcock had charge of the contests, and they handled them in a most masterly manner, keeping the youngsters entertained for over one and one-half hours. Of course refreshments always play a big part in children's parties and it goes without saying that the fruit lemonade and cake, served at the end of the games, did not go begging.

1920 CLUB HAS FINAL MEETING

The 1920 club had its final meeting yesterday in the green room of the Ghoslin hotel and if the enthusiasm of this meeting can be counted as a forecast of next year's work, then one can expect some great things of the 1920 club.

The main issue at this meeting was the deciding on a course of study for the coming year. "American Art" has been the study for this closing year, and as the members were very interested in art, they decided to continue it during next year and to that end succeeded in obtaining a course called "Art Survey" from the University of Chicago, which takes up the study of art from its beginning to the Gothic period. A very attractive feature about this course is that club members who wish to, can secure college credits for their degrees and it is thought that a number of the members will work toward this end.

The "better homes" chairman reported that the film, "Home, Sweet Home," will be shown in Ranger, at the Lamb theatre some time during the month of July. This is a wonderful picture, showing housing conditions from the beginning of time, to the present period, and will be shown without cost to the people of Ranger. Coming as it does at this time when so many people are buying homes, it should be most opportune, and widely attended.

The members of the club voted to buy a membership in the prison survey, which will help financially in this work. Mrs. Herbert Stafford was elected to membership in the club. Annual reports of the officers were given, and they were all very interesting. Mrs. S. P. Boon, the retiring treasurer, gave a very extensive and comprehensive report, showing that she had handled the fund of the club very successfully.

BLESSED RAIN EXTENDS OVER WHOLE COUNTRY

Precipitation Early Today Will Prove Wonderful Aid for Growing Crops.

The splendid rains which fell over Eastland county Monday and Tuesday nights will be of great help to growing crops, which were beginning to need rain badly, especially those on tight land. Crops generally were in a clean condition and with but few exceptions were ready for the rains. Rain began falling about three o'clock this morning and continued for several hours.

Only in a few instances have insects been reported doing any damage to Eastland county crops. The cotton acreage, owing to the fact that wheat, oats and corn, in many parts of the county, were killed out by the drouth, will be about twenty-five per cent greater than last year, it is said.

'Around the World University,' First Ever Devised, Will Start Tour Next Fall

With the deck of an 18,000-ton ship for a campus, cabins for dormitories and lounges for classrooms, 450 American college boys will sail from New York, Sept. 25, for a year's course in the first "Around the World University" in the history of education. Professor James E. Lough, dean of the Extra-Mural division of New York University, will be in charge of this unique venture.

Although educational tours have become well-known features of American travel abroad, no attempt has been made before this to organize a university on board ship. Students who enroll for the "Around the World University" will enjoy not only life, but also study, on the ocean wave.

For 240 days, the floating university will cruise, visiting five continents, thirty-five countries, and fifty foreign ports. The ports of call sound like all the dreams of undergraduates. The ship will put into Santiago first and students will spend a few days in Cuba. From there they will go through the Panama Canal on the way to Hawaii. In the Orient, the collegians will visit the Philippines, Japan, China, Korea, Borneo and Java, the Malay Peninsula, Sumatra and Burma, India, Ceylon, Arabia, and Egypt.

In Near East.
In the Near East, some time will be spent in Palestine and Turkey. The itinerary includes one week in Greece and a week in Africa. All the well-known points of Europe are included in the trip. Two weeks will be spent in Italy, England, France and Germany.

Courses of college grade, in subjects suitable for study while on a cruise, will be given by a faculty chosen from the best American colleges and universities, which are cooperating with New York University in the plan. Students will be expected to enroll for courses equivalent to a year's work and must consult authorities in their own colleges for approval of their program before they will be accepted for the tour, Dean Lough said.

The cruise will be open to undergraduates and graduate students. A group representative of all sections of the United States will be selected from among the applicants, according to present plans. In choosing students, the director will consider their literary and scholastic ability and attainments, character, qualities of leadership, and health.

Scholarship Required.
The cruise is intended for especially promising students, Dean Lough said. A year spent in the "Around the World University" will give them a background which will in some measure prepare them for leadership in foreign affairs and international relationships. Those interested in the cruise believe that it will tend to strengthen international good will and increase interest in foreign affairs.

The curriculum will include subjects which can be taught better through what might be called a field course than a college classroom, according to Dean Lough. Classes will be given in foreign languages and special tables in the saloon will be reserved for student groups interested in languages. Art, of course, will be given particular attention. History, economics, comparative government and philosophy are especially well suited for study in a university of this sort, Dean Lough believes.

Courses in science will include geology, popular astronomy, anthropology, oceanography, and commercial geography. Work in foreign trade is included for college graduates who may wish to round out their training with foreign travel. The work of the consular service will also come in for consideration.

Contacts Desired.
Physical training will not be neglected and a physical director, whose name will be announced later, will be included in the faculty. A medical and dental staff will be on the ship throughout the cruise.

Faculty and students will come in close contact, not only in the classroom, but also on shore trips. Field work and conferences will form an important part of the student course. Contacts will be established with foreign educational institutions and in many places the students will be received officially by government representatives.

Reservations should be made with Dean James E. Lough of New York University before June 1, or with the University Travel Association, Inc., 11 Broadway, New York.

Changes of Ocean Currents Alter the Climate of West Coast of South America

LIMA, Peru. (By Mail to United Press)—The drab brown coastline of Peru, barren as a dream of the Sahara, is turning green following the recent torrential rains that have fallen in greater volume than ever before since Pizarro conquered the Incas.

Local weather prophets are wondering whether the rains mean that the climate of the country is changing and that vast stretches of sandy wastes that reach several thousands of miles from Southern Ecuador to Central Chile may become watered and fertile. Sections where the oldest inhabitant has never before seen rain have recently been visited by tropical downpours.

Desert Country.
Scientifically it has been explained that a great part of the Pacific coastline of South America has been rainless and a desert because the moisture-laden breezes from the ocean crossed over cold currents that ran close to the coast before reaching the land. Because of this, excess moisture, in the form of rain was deposited in the sea. On touching land, the cooled air currents became heated as they went eastward over the burning sandy deserts until they reached the Andes mountains, sucking dryness even dryer in their passage. On rising to cross the mountains the air currents became cooled to the point that finally they turned loose their moisture contents in floods on the eastern slopes, feeding the great Amazon valley with the heaviest rainfall known anywhere in the world.

Some time ago it was noted, first by bathers on the beaches near Lima, that the surf waters had become warmer than ever before. Considerable discussion developed the theory that possibly the cold ocean current that formerly washed the shores had been replaced by a warm current that formerly passed by far out at sea. Whether this is the true situation or not, the natural results of such a change, have been brought about so that the moisture-laden currents of air no longer drop rain at sea, but now drop it on being warmed in passing over the land.

Growth Follows Moisture.
Whether the phenomenon is temporary or permanent, it has far-reaching results for Peru, where houses are not built to withstand rainfall, and most people have suffered heavy damage due to leaking roofs. If the rains continue whole cities must be reconstructed, and valuable historical relics of Inca civilization will be destroyed. On the other hand, Peru may find its capacities for development vastly increased.

One of the most interesting observations so far made has been that of the rapidity with which nature produces growth as soon as moisture is deposited. In sandy wastes that have never before shown a sprig of green, already there are plants and flowers springing up. Where the seed came from or how many ages the life has been dormant awaiting moisture no one can tell.

University Regents Order Investigation Of Oil Leasing Law

By United Press.
 AUSTIN, June 10.—The University of Texas board of regents has retained Charles L. Black, Austin, to make complete investigation of the legal points involved in the university oil royalty situation and if it should be his opinion that a mandamus suit can be successfully prosecuted to prove the validity of the recent law placing all oil royalty in the available or building fund, the regents said this would be the course followed.
 Black will also investigate the point raised by Regent S. C. Padelford that the law under which the leases were made is void. If the contention is sustained suits will be brought to cancel present leases and to recover the value of oil taken from the lands.

Southern States Undergoing Amazing Transformation, Traveler Reports

"From what I was able to observe," he said, "the most remarkable thing is that the old south—frequently referred to up here as the good, old, sleepy south—has developed a most surprising habit of boosting. I saw down there a man from California who was as astonished as I. 'California,' this man said to me, 'is away behind the times, compared to this country's ability to rouse the enthusiasm of its people.'
 "And the results are becoming everywhere apparent. All the people down there have suddenly got the idea that the south is undeveloped territory (which to a certain extent undoubtedly is true) and have undertaken to overcome that condition. Chambers of commerce and other civic bodies are directing movements, the results of which are showing in a new concept of civic duty and the relation of the citizen to the community."
 NEWARK, N. J., April 24.—Everywhere from North Carolina to Florida and from Texas to the northern boundary of Tennessee the south is undergoing an amazing transformation, according to Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance company of America, who has just returned from a trip

WASHINGTON.—The Humboldt, or Peruvian current, which has bathed the tropical desert coast of Peru with icy waters and so has given rise to numerous climatic paradoxes, is reported to be changing its course, working havoc to animal life.
 A steamer captain recently passing up the coast reports that he encountered thousands of dead birds and fish in the sea. Other reports state that regions rainless for years are having heavy rains and that rivers have formed almost overnight in the one-time parched desert.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

That a business should grow as the city in which it is located grows. That the opportunity to grow with a city is there for any business. That if the efforts of business men are sincere and they do their share in building their city, their business will grow. That the man who is content to let his city forge ahead of his business and who does not have faith in his city, will always remain a small business man. That men who have faith in their business and their city, become big business men. That there is much need of closer relationship among men in the same line of business. That business organizations do great work in bringing about higher standards of business methods. That if there are business men in a city who do not maintain a standard of honesty in their business, it reflects upon all the business men of that city. Honest advertising will do more to bring about a better feeling in a community than any other method that could be used.

THE HOODOO MAN
OLD MAN JINX relentlessly pursues Connie Mack. After 10 years of patient waiting, Connie appeared ready to break into the select circle of the first division and remain there. Enter the jinx.

He probably will, despite the fact that injuries to star players are making the task far more difficult than ordinarily would be.

First he lost one of his veteran pitchers, his only experienced southpaw, Fred Heimach. A dislocated shoulder put him out of the running.

This happened in spring training. He is still out and there is no telling when he will return or how effective he will be.

Just before the opening of the season Joe Hauser, Mack's hard-hitting first sacker, suffered a broken knee cap. At the time the doctors said he was out for the season.

Manager Mack was fortunate in digging up so capable a substitute as Poole for Hauser. He has helped greatly in the early success of the Mackmen.

Out in front after six weeks of play, it was apparent that the showing of the Athletics was no flash. Then came more trouble. It remains to be seen how serious it will be.

SERIOUS HANDICAP

TAKE Walter Johnson from Washington and you deal the club a knockout blow. Remove Jack Bentley from the New York Giant's lineup and his absence will be severely felt. Eliminate Alexander from the Chicago Cubs and his passing will soon tell.

The Athletics recently suffered an even greater loss in Sam Gray, the pitching sensation of the majors to date. In winning his eighth straight game, Gray suffered a fractured thumb.

It is said that Gray will be out a month. Since the accident I have talked with a number of star pitchers. All agree that if it is a bad fracture it may be two months before Gray gets back into his pitching stride.

The pitchers pointed out to me that the thumb was the index to pitching success. It is the thumb that really makes possible the purchase on the ball. It is the action of the thumb that determines the break on the ball.

The thumb is the basis of curve ball pitching. Gray is such a pitcher. A painful thumb, which will not permit of a tight grip, practically eliminates the use of the curve ball.

A few days later, Gordon Cochrane, the catching sensation of the majors, the greatest young catcher to break in the big show since Ray Schaik, according to Connie Mack, suffered an injury somewhat similar to Gray's.

Losing the pitching and catching sensations of the majors in Gray and Cochrane, is a terrific blow even to a club as good as Connie Mack's. The jinx is relentless.

TAKE WARNING FROM SOLOMON---

HE SAYS: (Proverbs 18:22)

—"A merry heart doeth good like a medicine; but a broken spirit drieth the bones."

—"How can anyone keep up a merry heart in this weather? I wish I could pack up my duds and go away for the summer," says Mrs. Everybody.

—That's fine if you can afford it, but you needn't worry much if you can't.

—Just be careful of your diet; protect your food with plenty of ice; make lots of lemonade; drink ice water; eat lots of salads, frozen desserts and ice cream.

—The summer will pass before you know it and you will have learned to ENJOY THE HOT WEATHER.

—No sense in letting a "broken spirit" dry up your bones when there is plenty of ice available and "service with a smile."

Secrets of the Tower of London Made Public by Restoration Work

By United Press.

LONDON—The work of restoring parts of the Tower of London never before open to the public has led to some remarkably interesting discoveries.

Those chosen by the authorities for restoration were the Byward tower, the Salt tower, the Broad Arrow tower and the Martin tower, and as the modern construction covering these towers was knocked down, historical links with the traditions of the past—only to be learned by a study of historical books and works of reference—were revealed.

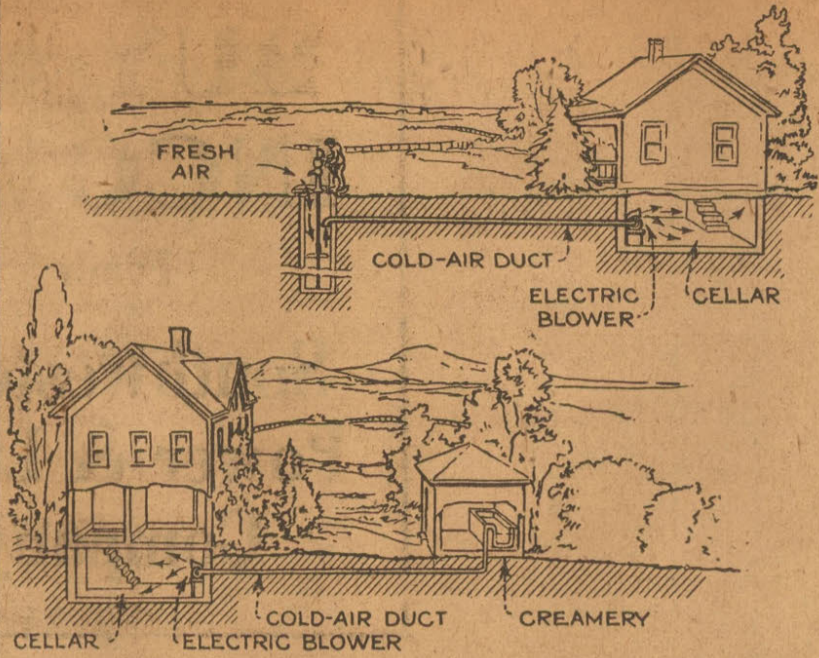

In olden days, the Byward tower, with its twin flanking turrets and portcullis—still in position to close the way—made secure the entrance to the outer ward. The Martin tower was the place of storage of the regalia. The other two were among the strongest prison-holds, and all contain many mementoes of the superstition of bygone days—incriptions, some with a skill that would do credit to a mason, carved by an hapless prisoner to while away the tedium of close confinement and as a means of maintaining some interest in life before being led forth in many cases, to die.

Salt Tower Opened.

The Salt tower is probably the most interesting of the four towers opened. Here are found many carvings upon the wall, and it will be noticed that the captives held here must have been prisoners of faith, the evidence pointing to the many incarcerations made during Queen Elizabeth's age of intolerance. A famous prisoner in this tower was Father Gerard, a Jesuit priest,

Novel Method of Cooling and Ventilating Farm Cellar with Air Cooled by Contact with Water and Drawn through an Underground Duct

Cooling and Ventilating Farm Cellar

Nearly every farm has a well or creamery near the house that can be used to advantage for cooling the cellar. A simple method of doing this, using water to cool the air, which is drawn through an underground pipe into the cellar, is shown in the illustration. In the upper figure fresh air enters the well and is cooled by the water before entering the pipe, and an electric blower sucks the air through the pipe and into the cellar. The humidity of the air is also increased by passing over the water. If this method is not possible, a similar cooling system shown in the lower detail can be made to work in connection with the water tank in the creamery, if this is not too far away from the house. The duct, through which the cold air is drawn, is run through the water tank as indicated.

Inspect Aerial and Ground

An occasional inspection of the aerial and ground should be a religious duty of the owner of the receiving set, but especially after the last snow has disappeared from the ground. Winter storms impose a heavy strain on the aerial and masts, and these should be gone over thoroughly to see that they have not been damaged, or the aerial accidentally grounded. There is also the danger that soldered connections have become corroded during the season of alternate snow, sun and rain, and these should be looked to also.

Cherokee Indians gave their children a concoction made from burs to strengthen their memory, under the impression that as a bur will stick to anything, a man lined with burs will be able to hold all useful information.

Two Hundred Inventions Daily

Reports of the patent office for 1924 show that applications were received at the rate of about 300 a day and that some 200 were granted daily, including designs and trademarks. Those issued totaled 63,062, an increase of nearly 6,000 over 1923, and the number of applications was 101,134. The office reduced the number of applications awaiting official action by nearly 12,000 and lowered the average time to four and one-half months for new work and to between three and four months for old work. All fifty-four divisions of the office were less than eight months behind at the close of the year, while on January 1, 1924, twenty divisions were more than eight months in arrears.

A Stain for Glass Windows

Window staining for privacy or other purposes, can be quickly and cheaply done at home without calling in a professional workman. The only materials required are white shellac, dye of the desired color, and waterproof varnish.

For a white window, which admits light, but which is not transparent, coat the glass carefully with white shellac, dissolved in alcohol. After the shellac is dry, apply another coat, if necessary; then, after drying again, cover with the waterproof varnish. Such a window can be washed indefinitely without removing the stain.

Colored windows are made by mixing ordinary cloth dyes into the shellac until the desired shade is attained. For instance, for photographic darkroom use, mix orange and crimson dyes into the shellac until it is very dark.

Broadcasting Power Is Inexpensive

At a recent forty-five-minute program broadcast by WHA, the University of Wisconsin, it was calculated that the cost was only three cents. This figure represented only the actual cost of the electricity consumed, no other items such as the depreciation of the apparatus being taken into consideration.

two straight walls for a window; smaller arches ruthlessly cut to make way for a stove; spiral towers in one tower cut away to make square steps, while some of the inscriptions carved by prisoners centuries ago have been partially destroyed. Nevertheless, the work done on these towers and the opening of them to the public, is by far the most liberal addition to the attractions of the Tower of London that has been given during the present age.

PROPOSED MARRIAGE OF ELLEN MACKAY DENIED

By United Press.
NEW YORK, June 10.—Irving Berlin, America's most famous song writer, today somewhat angrily denied published reports that a special dispensation had been granted by Pope Pius for marriage of Ellen Mackay, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph company, to him.

"Some one with a vivid imagination must have it in for me," Berlin told the United Press. "This report has been circulated for weeks and it is groundless."
At the Mackay offices it was said, both father and daughter had ridiculed the rumor on their return from Europe and that there was no reason to believe the strength of this denial had been dissipated.

charged with conspiring the death of Queen Elizabeth.

His refusal to speak was followed by an order "to prolong the torture from day to day as long as life lasted." Eventually, he escaped, however, and fled to the continent.

Henry Walpole was another. The inscription of his name can be read distinctly, in tapering letters. When he was captured he was handed over to the notorious persecutor Topcliffe, of whom, it was said, he kept a private rack—more terrible than the tower's own.

The Martin tower was where Buckingham lamented his fall. It is related of him that he grew to love his prison and had to be persuaded to go when released after 15 years of imprisonment. On the outside wall of the tower can be seen the sundial erected by Heriot, the astronomer royal, who was a fellow student of the Duke's. Colonel

Blood tried to steal the crown jewels from the treasure room in this tower.

Seven Bishops Confined.

Here also were confined the famous seven bishops who resisted James II in 1688, in the cause of Protestantism. An amusing carving in the upper chamber is a rough verse protesting against the cell as a place of residence:

"And doth about him looke, This place is fittest for a cooke."

The Board Arrow tower is the smallest of the four and is the very embodiment of a mediaeval strong place. Here, Everard Digby, one of the Gunpowder Plot conspirators, carved his name and 18 lines of Latin verse on the walls. John Daniel, who was charged with conspiring to incite an insurrection against the government of Queen Mary, has also left his name upon the walls.

The chief object of the Byward tower is the windlass for the portcullis, stout and iron-bound, which is raised or lowered by a hand-wheel. The covering of part of the outer wall at the back of this tower has been removed beneath one of the old oriel windows, and one can now see the lattice work of split oak lathes which the thirteenth century builders used as a foundation for the mortar, pressing it through the interstices and then laying it on to a depth of several inches.

During the work of restoration much vandalism was revealed. Fine old arches were cut away to make
