EASTLAND ROTARIANS ENDORSE RANGER JUNIOR COLLEGE

EVANS SPEAKS ON EDUCATION AT LUNCHEON

District Governor Is Expected To Be Visitor Very Soon

Dr. Charles Evans, director of educational extension work in the Oklahoma A. & M. college, who is in Eastland conducting the Eastland county teachers' institute which is in session for the week, delivered an entertaining and instructive address before the Eastland Rotary club at its meeting at noon today. Other speakers were Supt. R. F. Holloway of the Ranger schools, and Prof. Mosley of the Ranger Junior college.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Prof. R. F. Holloway of Ranger and other teachers who were present from Ranger, for their efforts in putting the Junior college over and expressed their appreciation of this new educational movement, which could not help Ranger without helping its sister city, Eastland.

Rotary President H. P. Brelsford told the club members that the district governor would visit the Eastland club next Monday, Sept. 13, and appointed a committee composed of Rotarians Whisenant, McCullough and Briggs, to arrange special music and other features on a program for that occasion.

Attention of the club was also called to the fact that on Sept. 14 and 15 the city of Corpus Christi will celebrate the opening of the new port there and that the Corpus Christi Rotary club was taking a great part in the celebration and extended the Eastland club an invitation to attend.

To Entertain Medics.
Dr. Cato brought up the matter of entertaining the visitors expected in Eastland on next Tuesday week when the Northwest Texas Medical association meets in Eastland. A committee of Rotarians were appointed to assist other civic clubs of the city in arranging entertainment for the physicians.

President Brelsford urged all standing committees to get busy and do the work for which they were appointed. He called special attention to the "back-to-school" campaign which is being put on in Eastland, and urged the Rotarians to cooperate in the movement.

4 MEXICANS ARE GRILLED FOR MURDER

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas, Sept. 6. While the feeling among the citizens today four Mexicans were being grilled by officers in connection with the assassination early Sunday of Deputy Sheriff Bill Shaw, 30, and Louis Mays, 21.

Murder charges will be filed against the quartet, Roy Collins, special investigator for the district attorney's office, said.

Peace officers hear include Texas rangers who have worked on the case incessantly since the slaying, and were firm in the belief that officers were murdered because active against the bootleggers and other rlaw violators here. The investigators were also convinced that the men were lured by shooting to a place in Little Mexico, and slain from ambush.

As the officers rounded a corner a rifle bullet pierced Mays' heart, and another hit Shaw between the eyes. Both died instantly.

Eastland County Teachers Institute Well Attended

The Eastland County Teachers Institute, with more than 250 teachers in attendance, convened in annual session at the high school building in Eastland this morning at 8 o'clock. Devotional services led by Dr. P. W. Walthall, pastor of the First Christian Church of Eastland, and followed by a splendid program by the music pupils of Mrs. L. R. Hogan, opened the session.

Judge Virgil T. Seaberry welcomed the teachers and other visitors to Eastland in a short address which was responded to by R. F. Holloway, superintendent of the Ranger schools. Miss Beulah Speer, county school superintendent, introduced Dr. Charles Evans of Oklahoma City, who in charge of the institute work in Eastland, and who delivered an interesting address making a brief educational survey.

Rex Has Lifelong Home Now!

The money that would buy Rex, stalwart police dog, from the Kleckner family at Clark's Lake, Mich., hasn't been minted yet. When 18-month-old Millicent Kleckner fell into the lake a few days ago, Rex plunged in after her and swam ashore with her dress clamped in his teeth. "She's my pal," Rex seems to say in this picture of the pair.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS OPENS MOST CRITICAL MEETING IN HISTORY

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—The League of Nations annual meeting opening here today is the most critical since the league was formed.

If it survives the complex currents and crosscurrents of rival interests which have now emerged to the surface, and which today's gathering will attempt to still, the friends of the league feel that its future is assured.

Spain's insistence on being given a permanent council seat has the approval of the smaller nationalities as symbolizing their own desire for recognition as adults instead of children. But, in most cases, the smaller powers have great nations as their neighbors or are under heavy obligations to them for protection in case of need and though favoring Spain, they may be unable to show their hand for fear of the resentment of the great powers.

Nevertheless, at last year's annual meeting, pessimistic predictions were made that the major issue before the league, the Mosul dispute between Great Britain and Turkey, would not be settled. The Mosul quarrel is now ancient history and amity prevails. So, the problems arising today may no longer exist when the next annual meeting is held.

JUDGE RULES EVIDENCE DANGEROUS

AMARILLO, Sept. 6.—Sheriff Poliard or order of District Judge Henry Bishop, poured out 40 gallons of whisky which was "exploding in such a manner as to endanger lives of the prisoners of the county jail."

The sheriff declared the liquid was so high powered it would place the waters of the Gulf of Mexico in turmoil if it should get that far.

RECEIVES TELEGRAM CONTAINING SAD NEWS

A telegram from Winter Haven, Fla., Saturday night, advised C. B. Hutchison of Ranger that his father, T. R. Hutchison, of that place was not expected to live, following a paralytic stroke on Wednesday. Mr. Hutchison has not decided whether he will go to Winter Haven or not.

DEMOCRATS TO FAVOR MOODY OFFICERS SLATE

Many Selections To Be Feature Convention; Opposition For Ball

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6.—Making up the temporary roll of the state democratic convention and the official declaration of the results of the recent primary is the pre-convention work of the meeting being held today.

The state executive committee, Ferguson controlled, with Arthur Edison, presiding is meeting to declare the primary results and consider the names submitted to act for temporary officers of the convention which will begin its work Tuesday morning.

Favor Moody Slate
Dan Moody, nominee for governor, is here and has not receded from his desire to adopt an arbitrary attitude toward the selection of officers, or other business of the convention. It is believed the executive committee will consider Moody's choice of officers, as no little difficulty would be encountered should it attempt to follow out Ferguson's idea with which it sympathizes.

Twenty or more possibilities for temporary chairman have been mentioned. The outstanding work of the will be for action on the proposed election laws drawn so as to permit the convention nomination for state officers instead of by election. Mr. Ball said today he would consult with Moody in regard to the change, but that he would not necessarily be governed by Moody's opinion in his action.

Opposition to Ball
Ball said that he expected strenuous opposition to the change, with or without Moody's support. There is likely to be opposition to the plank even among Ball's own delegates. It is believed that there would be little opposition to changing the nominating so as to eliminate the judiciary from the popular primary election.

For many years, this change has been advocated in the belief that the courts would be improved by a more careful selection of a judicial candidates by a small delegation, as the public at large cannot be closely familiar with the qualifications of men offering themselves for the judgeship. The Ball plank calls for the election of precinct delegates and they in turn nominate candidates for state offices. As the scheme is now, county officers would be nominated by election as at present.

Governor Absent
None of the Fergusons are here and none are expected, however, changes might occur in the political horizon and before the session ends the governor may be represented.

23 ARE DEAD 50 INJURED, TRAIN WRECK

SALIDA, Colo., Sept. 6.—Twenty-three persons are dead and approximately 50 are injured, several seriously as the result of the wreck of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad's crack passenger train, the scenic Limited, near Granite, Colo., Sunday.

The locomotives and five coaches plunged into the canons River and the victims were pinned beneath the wreck in the icy waters. The train was eastbound and was en route from Salt Lake City to Denver, carrying 217 passengers.

While the cause of the wreck has not been definitely established, it was believed by railroad officials that a broken rail caused the engine and the first five cars of the fifteen-car train to leave the tracks.

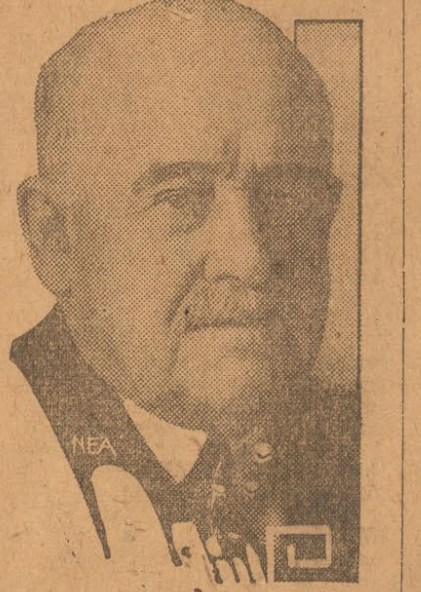

Relief trains were sent from Salida and Leadville and the injured brought to the hospital yesterday afternoon.

Traffic was resumed last night after a temporary track was laid.

Illinois Senator It Not Expected To Live Long

MARTINSVILLE, Ill., Sept. 6.—Senator W. B. McKinley of Illinois failed to rally today after the worst night since he became seriously ill at a sanitarium. It was noticed this morning by R. H. Egbert, his physician.

Solon Ill

William B. McKinley, retiring senator from Illinois, is reported critically ill in a sanitarium at Martinsville, Ind.

REPUBLICANS OF TEXAS PLAN REAL CAMPAIGN

DALLAS, Sept. 6.—Believing that the division in the Democratic party that has existed for the past few years is still there, the Republican party of Texas will conduct a vigorous campaign in behalf of Harvey Hames of Houston, candidate for governor and its other nominees for state offices, R. B. Creger of Brownsville, national committeeman announced at a meeting of the state Republican executive committee today.

The state committee decided on William West of Brownsville as the choice of the party for the temporary chairmanship of the convention which meets tomorrow.

Leonard Withington of Fort Worth was recommended as temporary secretary.

Harry M. Wurzbach of Sequin, Republican nominee for congress from the San Antonio district, did not attend the meeting and is not expected to be here tomorrow.

Twelve of the thirty-one members of the state executive committee were present when the meeting was called to order. Thirteen members sent their proxies and six were absent.

The committee then proceeded to canvas the vote of the first primary the republicans ever held in Texas.

Some of the planks which are considered likely to be adopted by the convention include: That the republican party in Texas is a Texas party led by Texans. That Texas can benefit by a republican ticket being elected by obtaining her rightful voice in national affairs. That the republican party will free the educational system from partisan politics and support it adequately. That a two-party system is needed to bring an efficient and economical government to the state.

E. R. Thurman, who was charged with theft in connection with the disappearance of a Buick car from Ranger streets Friday night, waived examining trial to wait action of the grand jury and was released on bond late Saturday afternoon from the Ranger city hall, where he and others were held for investigation. The others also were released. The other man who was in the car when it was overtaken by the Breckenridge speed cop, has not been apprehended.

Chinese Snipers Wound British Sailors on River

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Several British sailors have been wounded by Chinese snipers in the Yangtze River, according to admiralty statements given out today.

"Substitution" Sermon Draws Many Converts

There were conversions at all services in the Hogg meeting Sunday in Ranger. At the women's meeting led by Mrs. S. J. T. Williams the house was packed and three women came forward when the invitation was given. The men's meeting at 3 p. m. was well attended and an unusual response was made to the call of the Rev. Mr. Hogg for men to live for Christ.

Cloud at night did not stop an overflow crowd from attending. The subject of the sermon was "Substitution." There was a goodly number of application for church membership at the close of the Sunday night service.

Forty-one business houses in Ranger have agreed to close for the 10 a. m. service this week for five days. Rev. S. J. T. Williams left Monday for Vernon, Texas, to oversee the erection of a huge tabernacle to hold the meeting that begins there Sept. 19.

Church leaders in Ranger are loud with praise of the meeting. It is said that few times if ever has there been such a spirit of fellowship and co-operation. One man in speaking of the meeting, said, "It lacks the usual spirit of fight that most meetings have, there seems to be no ax to be ground."

The incidental offerings are all out of the way and there will be no collections taken this week except as the people give their thank offerings to Dr. Hogg next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Williams thanked many houses of business last night for kindnesses shown and especially the Ranger Times and Eastland Telegram for news items and editorials. He said, "Ranger has not had the usual lot of knockers that a meeting of this type usually has."

Monday morning Rev. Mr. Hogg spoke to a well filled house at 10 o'clock.

REBEL TROOPS SUBMITTING TO GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Spanish government issued through the Spanish embassy a statement saying that the rebel artillery officials in Madrid, Barcelona, and nearly all parts of Spain, had submitted to the government. This change of attitude was the result of public opinion backing the government which was not forced to use the royal troops to restore order.

The superior court of war and navy will investigate.

In the meantime all officers of the artillery have been deprived of their commands. King Alfonso will return to his summer residence at San Sebastian in the next few days.

MARTIAL LAW OBTAINS TO EMPIRE DECREES

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 6.—All of Spain was under martial law today as the result of efforts of certain military groups to prevent the enforcement of governmental decrees.

All the artillery officers have been suspended from office and two of the high ranking officers have been arrested in an effort to prevent a rebellion which disgruntled officers threaten to wage against the government of Primo De Rivera.

ENTIRE SPANISH ARMY SCHEME IS NIPPED

HENBAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 6.—According to apparently authentic news from across the border, the entire Spanish army today was ready to rebel against the dictatorship of General Primo De Rivera, who three years ago, this month, seized control of the government of Spain.

SPANISH OFFICERS YIELD

HENDAYE, Spain, Sept. 6.—An official communique issued in Madrid, said that the artillery officers in revolt against the government, had decided to yield and the conflict had been settled.

WANTS ICEMEN CALLED UP TO BE QUESTIONED

Make Them Tell What Refrigerators In The Private Homes Contain

That intoxicating beverages are being manufactured in many of the homes of the county in a concerted effort on the part of citizens to discredit the liquor laws of the land, was charged by Judge Elzo Been in empanelling the Eighty-eighth district court grand jury this morning. "So persistent have these people become in their efforts, that many ardent supporters of our liquor laws are becoming disgusted with the law," Judge Been said.

Judge Been told the members of the grand jury that he wanted them to thoroughly investigate the charges of violations of the liquor laws, and where the evidence warranted it, to return indictments regardless of whom they were against.

"If you will summon some of the icemen of this and other towns in the county and question them regarding what they see in peoples' ice chests in their homes, you may be able to get some information on which to base indictments," Judge Been said.

Penal Code.
While Judge Been gave the grand jury in charge the whole penal code of the state, he specially mentioned and placed emphasis on the laws pertaining to elections, bribery, perjury, false swearing, bigamy, banking laws, gambling, public morals, prescriptions for alcohol, medicine practice act, forgery, murder, arson, robbery, theft, etc.

The grand jury was warned by the court that it had been reported that a certain officer in the county had been collecting money and not turning it in to the proper authorities. He told them to investigate these charges and if sufficient evidence to warrant an indictment was found to not fail to return one.

White Foreman.
"You are the representatives of the people of this county and it is your duty to investigate thoroughly all violations of the law and return indictments, where you think it proper, against the violators and in doing so you should not consider your own feelings in the matter," the court said.

W. H. White was named by Judge members are: Lee Owens, Cisco, J. Been as foreman of the jury. Other T. Berry, Cisco; Clyde Garrett, Eastland; H. O. Satterwhite, Eastland; R. L. Cooner, Gorman; R. W. Nabors, Afton, Cisco, route 3; T. L. Lasater, H. S. Childress, Rising Star; E. F. Desdemona; Elbert Trimble, Carbon; Nimrod; I. C. Cash, Pioneer.

DALLAS, Sept. 6.—Rain in the tributary basin of the Trinity River will force streams out of banks at Dallas this afternoon or tonight, according to the United States weather bureau.

RANGER ENJOYS LABOR DAY AND CELEBRATES

Labor day was generally observed in Ranger today by the closing of all business places, thus giving employees and employes the benefit of a two day holiday.

The high scores prize, a Melba toilet set went to Mrs. Pat O'Donnell and the low score prize, a beautiful hand-painted night set, filled with bath salts, was awarded Miss Virginia Brooks.

Pomp and Panoply featured the parade, led by the grand marshal, Wade Swift, followed by Ranger's fire department, the Ranger High school band, playing "The Gang's All Here" and other martial music.

Gathering strength in numbers as they went down Elm to Commerce, then to Main, and up Main to Nitro park, the parade fairly seethed with north and southsiders tooting their horns for their own sides, until it looked as though the police reserves would have to be called out.

Eastland Eleven Gridiron Coaches Round Up Players

While Blair cherry is beginning to round his big squad into shape in Ranger and W. B. Chapman is busy with an army of giants over at Cisco, Dave Pena, former football coach in three colleges, is confronted by the biggest task he ever faced in undertaking to develop an eleven at Eastland.

Pena, as tackle and fullback for three years on the University of Texas team, doubtless confronted many serious situations and, as coach of Austin college and John Tarleton college, he was met by knotty conditions but his job at Eastland resolves itself into starting at the very ground and building a completely new team.

Or virtually a team that is entirely new, as two letter men of last year are the only veterans back in the fold.

And as his material for constructing a new team, he has 30 boys of whom perhaps half a dozen are over 16 years of age and the biggest one weighs 180 pounds, with nearly all the others tipping the scales at 155 or less.

Harrell, the other letter man, will doubtless draw an end assignment as he was rated one of the best ends in this section last year.

Cory, the fastest lad in Eastland county, has joined the squad. This is Cory's first football experience. He won the 100 and 220-yard dashes last spring at the district meet in Stephenville and, with his great speed, may develop into an end-running half-back.

Ranger Joins In Protest On Insurance Rates

Ranger was represented by proxy at a meeting in Austin, Thursday, of Texas business-men in protest against the present state fire insurance penalizing in towns and cities for bad fire records.

Ranger has felt the penalty of 15 per cent that has been in effect ever since March 1 this year, which was based on her fire record of three past years.

It is estimated that the rescinding of the 15 per cent penalty charge will save Ranger fire insurance patrons at least $6,000 a year.

THE MARRIAGE OF DAGMAR GODOWSKI

to Frank Mayo has been voided because he took a divorce from another wife for granted.

"When is our wedding, darling?" asked Jimp. "Perhaps the readers are right. Perhaps they are wrong. As far as the shot is concerned, it really did last the specified length of time. And why not? When a man gets half shot he usually stays up all night. So why shouldn't a whole shot stay up 24 hours?"

"Wine! Whine! Whine!" whined the bullet. "Jimppie Weed, who was called 'Jimppie' for short, didn't flinch a single flinch. He only laughed at the bullet, which had been going directly for his heart, passed three feet to the left of him."

"Den you," snarled the irate parent. "You moved during the night. That's the first shot I have missed in 40 years." "Of course I moved," laughed Jimppie. "Did you think I was going to let you shoot me when we haven't even been introduced?"

"I'll get you this time," fairly screamed the old gent as he leveled his pistol again. His wrath was so great even a heavy dew during the night had failed to dampen his enthusiasm for shooting.

"You can't shoot here," said a cop, who was passing. That was because he didn't expect to find any trouble. "Why not?" shouted the man. "Don't you see that flivver by the curb?" asked the cop. "If you shoot you might scare that flivver."

"Aw shoot!" exclaimed Mr. Handle, stamping around in a great rage and a pair of shoes. "I'll get you yet, young fellow," yelled the old gent. "I'll teach you how to kiss my daughter."

"That's my father," laughed Pearl when they had turned the corner and were out of carshot and gunshot.

VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

© 1926 by G.P. PUTNAM SONS.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Mysterious lights flash one night from the Heath household and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog over the murder of Myra Heath and the disappearance of her husband, Perry.

House guests of the Heaths are Lawrence Inman, heir to Myra's fortune, and beautiful Bunny Moore, to whom suspicion points because of her queer actions.
Myra Heath never used cosmetics, yet when her body was found she was heavily rouged. A rare old bottle from her collection of glass has been used by the murderer to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed. Anderson, Heath's rival for the club presidency; Al Cunningham, who is trying to solve the crime, and others.

Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Heath, saying Inman is the murderer. Inman confides to Todhunter Buck, who is in love with Bunny, that he saw her ascending the stairs after the murder. One of the Heath servants says the same thing. Cunningham goes to Anderson's house, and there, while waiting for his host, is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who then vanishes in the darkness. Anderson arrives soon after and upbraids Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

Todhunter Buck, puzzling as to the best way to clear Bunny, is sitting in the dark when Bunny slips out of the house of his aunt, where she is now a guest, and joins a man at the edge of a wood. When Bunny leaves Buck trails the man and recognizes Perry Heath. Heath gets away and the next day Buck pleads with Bunny to tell him all she knows.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

"Such considerations, dear, must be set aside in the cause of law and order."

"H'm. I don't think a lawyer could talk any more prettily than that. But, you know, Tod, you'd be suspected of anything, rather than tell something that might involve a friend, and—might after all involve him falsely."

The girl looked so earnest, so worried, and so sincere in her arguments, that Buck, though his heart gave a bound of delight at this tacit proof of her own innocence, realized it would be a hard job to persuade her to bear witness, which, as she said, might lead to incrimination of the wrong person.

"Well," he said, a little hopelessly, "if you keep mum, you'll make more trouble all around."

"I don't care. I mean, I can't help it. I didn't kill Myra."

"But you made up her face—"

"Oh, you horrible, dreadful thing! I'll never speak to you again if you say that. How can you say such an awful thing to me!"

Her eyes grew big with horror and she looked at Tod as if at some notorious reptile, and indeed, he felt as if he were one.

"I'm no good as a detective," he thought to himself, "I'm no good as an adviser or assistant to the girl I love—in fact, I'm no good as a lover—she doesn't seem to see me in that light. But I must get one more thing off my chest. I must find out whether she really said 'putty' last night, or some other word of similar sound."

So he rose to go away, then paused, and in a tone he tried to make casual, he said:

"What about the putty?"

He was both amazed and alarmed at the effect of this speech.

Bunny turned white, and her hands gripped the chair arms.

"How did you know?" she whispered, staring at him as one might at a suddenly materialized ogre.

Now, Tod had a strong inclination to say, "Oh, I know all about it," and thus probably find out a lot.

But the girl looked so helpless and pathetic, so shorn of all her bravado and jaunty independence, that it seemed to him unfair to deceive her.

Moreover, whatever the putty was or meant, it was quite evidently an important factor in the case, and he had no right to wrest the secret from her. If she chose to tell him, well and good. If not, he felt unwilling to force her hand.

"Do you know what I'm going to do, Bunny? I'm going to get a friend of mine, who's a first-rate detective, to come here and look into things."

"All right," she responded, but she spoke listlessly, as if she had all at once lost interest in the whole matter.

"You're willing?"

"Of course. Why not?"

"And, Bunny—being, won't you smile at me—just once? At me, I mean, me, Tod Buck?"

Bunny smiled involuntarily, more at his whimsical pleading than in response to his plea.

"That's better," he said. "I suppose you wouldn't—wouldn't—er, let me kiss you?"

"Leave the room," said Bunny with the dignity of an imperial kiten, and grinning, Tod left.

The day wore on, and at luncheon time, Bunny came downstairs, fresh and sweet in her white sports gown with its narrow string belt of black.

Though not in gay spirits, she was calm and kindly, and in response to Mrs. Prentiss's solicitous urging, she ate a goodly amount of the dishes that had been prepared with special reference to her tastes.

"No," she said in answer to a question, "no, I just can't go over to the funeral this afternoon. I don't like funerals anyway, and it would kill me to see poor Myra lying there in—in—anyway, people go to funerals more out of respect for the family or the ones left living, don't they? Well, Perry Heath isn't there, and I don't see any reason I should go for Larry Inman's sake. Do you, Mrs. Prentiss?"

"No," said the lady, decidedly. "I see no call for you to go, Bunny, since you don't want to. I would be a harrowing experience, and it could do no good to anyone."

"And Mr. Mott would glare at me, and everybody would stare—oh, I simply couldn't stand it!"

"Then you shan't go," said Toddy Buck, helping himself a second time to the soufflé dessert. "You won't mind being left alone? For I think I ought to go, don't you, Aunt Em?"

"Yes, of course, Tod. As neighbors, it is our duty. But it won't be long. You can look out the side windows. Bunny. Keep behind the net curtains and you can't be seen."

"You've got the technique down fine, Aunt Em," observed her nephew, "what you don't know about neighbor-watching isn't worth worrying over."

His aunt ignored his impertinence, and the subject was dropped.

"Old Steve Truitt is coming to-night," Buck informed them. "I telephoned him and he's all for it. Now, Bunny, while you're left alone this afternoon, you think things over, like a good girl, and when Truitt comes, you be prepared to tell him everything. You needn't tell us, if you don't want to, but Steve is a nice, comfy sort, and you just babble your heart out on his breast. Will you?"

"Maybe," said Bunny, disinterestedly, it would seem. "What's he like, Tod?"

"Pygmy as to size, but a big brain. Good looking, in a way, but no Adonis. Also, he's engaged, so don't expect to flirt with him."

"No," said Bunny, so decidedly, that it was evident her thoughts were elsewhere.

That afternoon, later, she sat at the side window, behind the net curtains, as per Mrs. Prentiss's advice, and watched the people arriving at the house next door to pay their last respects to the memory of Myra Heath.

Bunny left as one in a dream. Her thoughts were chaotic, and in vain she endeavored to range them in orderly array.

The excitement of the last few days left her mind and brain in a state of ferment, and she gave herself up now to watching the people, without trying to unravel and disentangle her own conclusions or intentions.

But after a time, the people had all arrived; nothing could be seen through the curtained windows next door, and Bunny knew that the services had begun.

Then the tears came. Emotion at the thought of beautiful Myra, dead—murdered—caused a rush of sobbing grief, that while it racked poor Bunny's body, seemed to clear her mind. As she grew quieter, she found she saw things more clearly.

She realized that of all the people in the Heath home, it was only Myra whom she loved, and whose terrible death she must help to avenge if by any possibility she could help.

She forced herself to go over the events of that terrible night. She made herself remember everything that had happened, or that she had reason to think happened. She closed her eyes, and for the first time since the tragedy, she thought coherently and deeply as to what she should do.

She was not sure who had killed Myra—she could not be sure. Yet Perry Heath had insisted on seeing her to warn her of her own danger—and so—

But then, she had seen Larry—and, oh, good Heavens! Larry had said he saw her, he told Tod Buck that. Was Larry lying? Oh, had he seen her? Vanity case and all!

Perhaps after all the very best thing to do would be to tell the whole absolute and utter truth. Keep nothing back—nothing.

She opened her eyes, and at once she rubbed them hard, sitting up straight in her chair.

She blinked and winked a moment, and then decided on eyes were not playing a trick on her, but there really was a man sitting in a chair across the room, looking at her.

Lon Chaney in 'THE ROAD TO MANDALAY'

LAMB, TODAY AND TOMORROW.

"The Road to Mandalay," a bizarre mystery drama of Singapore, Mandalay and the Bay of Bengal, is Lon Chaney's new starring vehicle, at the Lamb today and Tuesday, and presenting the famous actor in one of the strangest disguises he has ever worn in the role of "Singapore Joe," sinister ruler of an Oriental underworld. Lois Moran, Owen Moore, Henry B. Walthall, and other noted players appear in the story, directed by Tod Browning at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

REAL LIFE ECHO.

An echo from real life of the Klondike and Yukon Territory gold strike days comes to the screen in "The Flame of the Yukon," Monte Katterjohn snow classic first produced in 1917.

Real names and real persons of the old Klondike and Yukon days were used by the author for all but one of the characters. "The Flame," originally portrayed by Dorothy Dalton and now by Metropolitan's featured star, Seena Owen, actually lived and earned her name during those hectic days; so did "Black Jack Hovey," "Sourdough Joe," "Scientist Jim" and "Dolly," originally called "Dance Hall Dolly."

"The Flame of the Yukon" will be shown at the Liberty theatre today and Tuesday. It is said to be dramatic and appealing.

Netherlands Submarine To Continue Trip

By United Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Leaving San Francisco today after a brief visit, the Netherlands submarine K XIII will continue her round the world jaunt in the interest of science.

The trip is the longest and first of its kind to be made by an undersea craft. Its purpose is the study of the celerity of the equator and of the floors of the sea.

Coming to San Francisco from Holland by way of the Panama canal, the boat will cross the Pacific to the Dutch East Indies with stops at Honolulu, Guam, Yap and Manila.

The submarine has already played an important part in scientific study of the Mediterranean and Indian ocean under the direction of Dr. Vening Meinesz who made interesting discoveries of diviation of the loss of gravity at sea.

The submarine left The Helder, Holland, May 27, and is making the voyage unattended. It is 200 feet long, 19 feet beam and 14 feet deep.

Chances are if you were in a silly person's shoes you wouldn't act as intelligent as he does.

Unblemished SKIN

Gives You confidence

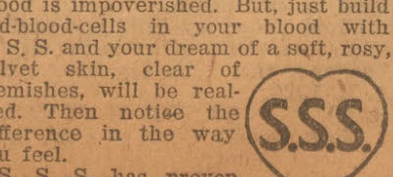

HOW conscious we are of our skin! Even one little pimple or black-head will so embarrass us that we want to hide right away. And eczema, boils, blotches and rashes! Why, these awful things simply destroy all our ambition!

But what confidence we have in ourselves if our skin is clear and unblemished—free from any eruptions or breaking out! A clear skin is one of the greatest possessions in the world—and it is so easy to have it. All that is necessary is to keep our systems full of rich, red, pure blood. S. S. S. helps Nature build this blood. And the impurities that cause these so-called skin disorders are driven right out of the system.

If you want the kind of skin that captivates men and compels the admiration of other women, just remember that you can't have it if your blood is impoverished. But, just build red-blood-cells in your blood with S. S. S. and your dream of a soft, rosy, velvet skin, clear of all blemishes, will be realized. Then notice the difference in the way you feel.

S. S. S. has proven for generations that it helps Nature build the rich, red blood that makes beautiful skin and healthy bodies. Let S. S. S. prove it for you.

Get S. S. S. from any drug store. And get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Golf and Motor Camping Popular Fads in Sweden

MALMÖE, Sweden.—Golf and motor camping are popular fads in Sweden this summer, both accelerating the already rapid "Americanization" of the country.

American moving picture films, which now supply three fourths of the programs, and American motor cars, as well as the sight of American travellers and returning relatives, have fostered an unprecedented interest in the country across the Atlantic.

New golf courses are being prepared by scores, of smaller cities while the large ones already have their links laid out by Scotch professionals. In Gothenberg golf has been endowed this summer with a donation of 100,000 kronor and in Stockholm the Royal Golf Club of which the Crown Prince is the president is about to take possession of a new course at Lidingsjö, a suburb among the islands.

For the south of Sweden the seaside resort at Falsterbo is the headquarters of the golf enthusiasts and there several tournaments, both national and international have been held this season. In Malmöe the golf players temporarily use part of the aviation field at Bulltofta for a training ground.

And the Swedes who cannot play golf, go off motor camping, a la American, and to study the latest American method. The national tourist association has just sent its secretary, Dr. Carl J. Arnick, to the United States. There he will visit the great national parks to learn how motor camping can be reconciled with the conservation of natural scenic beauty.

It's still warm enough to undress before putting on your pajamas, but it won't be long now.

LON CHANEY'S GREATEST ROLE!

LON CHANEY goes now to the throbbing Orient for his greatest film! And what a picture this one is! Never a moment without a gasp or a thrill!

You said he could never again equal the ventriloquist in "The Unholy Three," his dual role in "The Blackbird," but "Singapore Joe" is greater than these!
