TEXAS COMEDY FOUR HEAD LAUGHFUL BILL OF REAL VAUDEVILLE

Ranger had its first Pantages vaudeville yesterday at the Hippodrome and though the actors and management had difficulties in overcoming in view of the first presentation, the class of entertainment offered was a pleasing contrast to what has been given heretofore. There were five acts on the bill, which is uniformly good.

Four Texas boys form the Texas Comedy Four and they bill their numbers as "sizzling songs." They are not wrong. Every number had a kick to it, and every one was enthusiastically received. It is no exaggeration to say that there are no quartets in this line, playing any time, who can pass them. The four voices are well balanced, and the comedy, not overplayed, gives each song a snail. They sing "They're All Sweeties," "Ballyhoo," "Rheumatiz," "Romeo and Juliet," and their own interpretation of the "Memphis Blues."

This aggregation was formed in Waco and Waco boys compose it. They are: Bill Asbury, Barney Richardson, Bob Price and Tom Jaffola.

Not do they stand alone at the head of a bill that has nothing else to divert. Winton Brothers, who open the show, are "boys with plenty of strength" and their balancing and feats of strength are smoothly done and earn merited applause. Gertrude Newman, little jazz girl from Broadway, follows and her songs went over well.

"The Woman With 1,000 Secrets" is the vehicle by which George Graves and company make fun at the expense of fake clairvoyants and the comedy leads to some dramatic moments. The climax has a good surprise. "The Woman" is pretty as can be, but doesn't manage a convincing laugh. Otherwise, she fills her role very acceptably.

Little Hipp and Napoleon, an animal act that is different, close the bill. Darwin is right, is the claim Napoleon, an ape of unusual mischief and naturally comic antics, gives basis for the theory. His pranks keep the spectators supplied with laughs. Little Hipp is a trained elephant better than ordinary, who goes through with a smooth routine while Napoleon is cavorting about.

The whole bill is entertaining and worth seeing. It will play three days more, Wednesday afternoon to a special children's matinee. The balance of the week will be filled with Interstate time, the same vaudeville showing at the Majestic at Fort Worth.

RANGER LABOR REFUTES CLAIM OF DOMINATION

A resolution denying that any individual or set of individuals controlled the labor organization was endorsed by a mass meeting of members of the various labor crafts which was held yesterday in the Cooks and Waiters hall.

Whereas it has been brought to the attention of organized labor that a certain set of individuals not associated or connected with labor have made statements in a public meeting of the Chamber of Commerce that they held and controlled organized labor, and whereas we deem such statements as injurious to the best interests of organized labor and an insult to each individual member.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we (all organized crafts of the city represented) hereby condemn such statements as being unfair, unjust, and not least untrue. Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be printed in the Ranger Daily Times and one be sent to the Chamber of Commerce and a copy filed on record for future reference.

OIL COMPANY TO ALLOW DIVIDEND OF FORTY PER C.

BRECKENRIDGE, June 14.—The Breckkenridge Oil & Gas company, with headquarters at Breckenridge, has declared a 40 per cent dividend. The company has two wells, one producing and the second on top of the line. The first well came in last February for 750 barrels and is now making a daily production of 375 barrels, but has not been cleaned out.
The Breckkenridge Gas & Oil company is a $120,000 trust agreement company, with R. A. Carter, president; George Dean, vice-president, and Chas. D. Gaddis, secretary-treasurer, all of Breckenridge.

The company began operations in September, 1919, and this is the first dividend they have declared. It is a discovery well in the territory in which it is situated, on the southwest edge of the town, and is surrounded by a large number of drilling wells and some producers the Guaranty No. 1, Virginia No. 1, Homer Chapman, and the Mook well. Several other wells close by are now ready to be drilled in. This group is about one and one-half miles north of the big Stoker No. 2 well.

Equal to Occasion.
Mr. Smith-Farman acquired great wealth by the death of a relative, and his wife immediately became anxious to get into society. Her knowledge of social customs left much to be desired.

Their nearest neighbors were a very exclusive family, who were extremely conservative regarding their friends. Mrs. Smith-Farman, desiring acquaintance with this family, sent a card as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. Smith-Farman present their compliments to Mr. and Mrs. Hart, and hope that they are well. Mr. and Mrs. Smith-Farman will be at home on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock."

The family receiving it were quite equal to the occasion, however, and Mrs. Smith-Farman received the following reply: "Mr. and Mrs. Hart return the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. Smith-Farman, and inform them that they are very well. Mr. and Mrs. Hart are glad that Mr. and Mrs. Smith-Farman will be at home on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Hart will also be at home."—The Ritz.

Efficient Housekeeping

CANNING WITH YOUR BOILER.

The "natural born" housekeeper prepares for her summer and fall canning with an inward thrill of excitement. For she knows there is nothing quite so satisfying as to survey, at the beginning of winter, a white-labeled army of glass jars standing on her storage-room shelves ready to save the pocketbook during the months when her garden is not producing and when the woman who did not can must buy canned goods from her grocer.

The day of the open-kettle method of canning with its doubtful results are over; the intermittent or three days canning method is also a thing of the past. The cold pack method, which insures fine, perfect-keeping products and entails a minimum output of time and energy, has outshone all other canning methods.

The bride or the housekeeper who has never before canned, will need the following equipment to put up her fruits and vegetables by the cold pack method: a wash boiler; sharp knives, silver tongs, wire racks on the market, which fit into a wash boiler and are made to hold from six to two dozen jars, according to size (one of these racks is necessary so that the boiling water can circulate freely beneath the jars, which process insures not only a more evenly heated product, but fewer broken jars, a large bowl for filling jars; cheese-cloth or a wire basket for blanching; sharp knives, silver tongs, spoon for packing products in jars, one teaspoon, glass jars and new rubbers.

The housekeeper who must work alone at her canning should not prepare more vegetables than her canner will hold at one time—indeed, it is best to handle only as much fruit or vegetables as can be blanched at once. In this way, the fruit or vegetables have no chance to spoil before the process is completed. Fruits and vegetables are washed, silver scraped, or shelled (according to their nature) as for cooking. They are then put in a wire basket or in a piece of cheese-cloth and plunged into boiling water and left there as long as the Time Table directs (I will print the Time Table for both fruits and vegetables next Wednesday). Do not begin to count time until the water is actually boiling again after plunging in the vegetable or fruit.
