One Guard Said to Be Dying After Men Seize Guns and Ammunition From Armory and Take to Railroad; Citizens on Search.

By United Press.

HOUSTON, May 12 .- A mutiny in the state penitentiary in Huntsville in which twenty-five to thirty-three white convicts escaped after shooting several guards was reported by telephone to local police shortly before noon today. Sheriff T. A. Binford assembled deputies to go to Huntsville. Many of the convicts obtained guns, it was said. They fled from Huntsville toward Phelps, a railroad junction a few miles distant from the prison.

One Guard Dying.

One guard, Lee Anders, was reported dying from wounds. P. H. Arnold, another guard, received a slight flesh wound.

The convicts obtained revolvers and shotgauns and ammunition from the armory. A trustee was in charge of the gate and either was overpowered or permitted the convicts to enter the armory.

Every available citizen in Huntsville was reported armed, and searching for the escaped prisoners. The men were reported to have fled to the railroad junction in a body instead of scattering.

According to telephone reports about ten men got into the armory, obtained guns and recruited more convicts under heavy fire from guards. So far as is known, no convicts were wounded. About fifty shots were exchanged.

Escape was made through the rail-way gates, guards and trustees being overpowered.

Can you "guess" what the other man is thinking? Is a man who thinks murder equally guilty with the wretch who actually commits the deed?

These and many other ethical problems made "The Witching Hour" one of the greatest stage successes of all times. The Augustus Thomas triumph has now been filmed as a William D. Taylor Realart special and will be shown at the Temple theatre for two days beginning today.

To interpret this gripping play of a strong man's will Mr. Taylor needed and secured—a really all-star cast. Elliott Dexter, famous leading man of many Cecil B. DeMille productions was considered a perfect choice for "Jack Brookfield," the gentleman gambler who came to realize that his ability to "guess" the other man's hand was cheating just as much as if he had slipped cards up his sleeve.

LAMB.

Enter Bert Lytell—this time in "A Message from Mars," the Maxwell Karger r action made for Metro, a screal adaptation from the successful stage play by Richard Ganthoney. This picture will be seen at the Lamb theatre Friday and Saturday.

It is one thing to be well-known and another to be well-liked, but Bert Lytell has the charming personality which unites both, and all who know his versatile gifts will make the pilgrimage again in the expectation—and 'tis an expectation never disappointed—of seeing this pre-eminent star in a role that permits him to do brilliant impersonation.

The story itself is brilliant and flecked with the fantastic in sufficient measure to insure the attention of the audience without a pause. The mixture of romance and reality go to make it a really exceptional picture.

drink tea, even in the dainty moderation of the afternoon social ceremony. The neurologist says many ailments now are wrongly diagnosed and charged to other causes when tea is the genes's. And since the Columbia neurologist has wised them up on the matter, progressive medical men may be expected hereafter to attribute a generous share of whatever ails everybody to the use of tea. Tonsils and teeth, which have been saddled with the blame for a heap of bodily ills, ranging from gout to baldness, will now have a respite while things are hung on to tea. It will take more than a Boston tea party to save the pleasant but insidious brew. Even if the neurologist and others were not before they gave any credits. the neurologist and others were not arrayed against it, tea drinking is a form of indulgence, of dissipation; it is agreeable: it tends to sociability—to irivolity even, or at least to cause one to forget for a time some of one's troubles and restrictive irritations, so it is not to be tolerated in an area of official repression and supervison of everything. Ten years hence those who are still slayes to the tea drug may furtively obtain it of-blind pig arrayed against it, tea drinking is a may furtively obtain it of blind piggers, who may have as much difficulty in bringing it across international borders as the illicit importers of hootch are having in keeping the country inundated.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

When Long-neck the Turtle showed his head Tinker Bob at once had a new idea. "Come out here Mr. Turtle I want to have a talk with you."

Now Billy Mink didn't like it a bit to nave the King speak to Mr. Turtle citing encounters.

This was one case in which the authorities could not throw doubt on it by any dubious credit of "slightly damaged" or "possibly sunk." There was no doubt whatever that that submarine, the U-58, had gone to Dayy Jones' locker. And the prisoners were glad enough to escape with their lives.

ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY, and when I say cured, I mean just what I say—C-U-R-E-D, and not merely patched for a while, to return worse than before. Remember, I make this broad statement after putting ter yearsof my time on this one disease and handling in the meantime a quarter of a million cases of this dreadful disease Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild soothing guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day than I or any one else could in a month's time. If you are dis-gusted and discouraged I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today you/will enjoy more real comfort than you had ever thought NOTICE—I will sell at city pound on May 16 the following: One sorrel mare mule, one sorrel horse mule, one dark bay horse, and one black horse.

MEATS Kept Right THE JAMESONS

OnFace, Arms, Hands, Feet, and Legs. Cuticura Heals.

"Eczema broke out on baby's face, arms, hands, feet, and legs in little red pimples. Then it seemed to go under the skin and in a few days began to break out in big red bumps and clearlooking pimples. It itched and worried her until she could not rest, and she would be fretful and cross.
"A friend recommended Cuticura loap and Ointment, and after I had used one cake of Soap and one box of Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Sam Gresham, Murry Cross, Ala., June 8, 1920. Use Cuticurafor all toilet purposes.
