R. A. Sharp, postmaster at Parks Camp, and M. A. Clark, postmaster is charged with falsifying office records and embezzlement of government funds, and Clark is charged with embezzlement of government funds in the sum of $6,207.

Federal Judge James C. Wilson set $20,000 as bond for C. B. Hedrick, formerly vice-president of the First National bank of Ranger.

Police investigation can reveal no evidence that will corroborate the hair clipping story told by Ocella Rouse, 14-year-old school girl.

It does not seem possible that any man could carry a 135-pound girl, with her feet and hands drawn close together by a rope, over the half mile intervening between the school grounds and the park.

Workmen were at the park and around the bath house at the time the offense is alleged to have been committed, and they laugh at the idea that any such thing could have transpired without them seeing it.

FRANCE READY

By WEBB MILLER (United Press Correspondent.)

PARIS, May 6.—France today began mobilizing a half million soldiers to invade Germany at the slightest evasion of the allied terms.

gazing in something like consternation at three huge sacks of mail containing about 2,000 letters and packages. We were literally besieged by geniuses of every variety, enthusiastic, persistent, and each of them convinced that the adoption of his plan or device would bring the war to a victorious end within a few weeks.

More than 60,000 persons attended the funeral of ex-Kaiserin Augusta Victoria of Prussia. Twenty-five special trains brought crowds from Berlin.

NO TESTIMONY FOUND TO BACK GIRL'S STORY

Witnesses to Alleged Abduction and Hair Cutting Fail to Appear.

Police investigation can reveal no evidence that will corroborate the hair clipping story told by Ocella Rouse, 14-year-old school girl.

It has been ascertained that school children were playing about the spot where Ocella says she was seized and at the time she says she was seized.

What a Load! It does not seem possible that any man could carry a 135-pound girl, with her feet and hands drawn close together by a rope, over the half mile intervening between the school grounds and the park.

Admitting that this is possible, it does not seem that he could have done so without being seen, and no one's curiosity was excited by any such spectacle as this would have been.

By United Press

By the judge's ruling the court dispossessed more than 260 property owners of land that in face of prevailing property values is worth at least $1,500,000. There are 39 acres in the addition, upon which some of the city's largest homes have been erected.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Mrs. James A. Stillman, for the first time since her divorce case became public was fighting on the defensive today.

Stillman maintaining a brave front she conferred with her lawyers hurriedly, marshaling evidence to offset the sensational attacks launched by attorneys for Stillman, former president of the National City Bank.

The alleged letter is said to have contained the following statements: "I hope you get the little parcels with the beaded handbag and two pairs of moccasins and a tent for baby."

Raid on Winery at Thurber Nets 400 Gallons of Grape

The wine cellars of three Italians were raided this morning near Thurber by the sheriff's department and nearly 400 gallons of sour wine confiscated.

The raid was personally conducted by Sheriff Sam Nolley, who was assisted by Deputies John Barnes, Barry Nalls and George Knight. A three-ton truck was sent out from Eastland this morning to carry the goods back to that city.

At 4 a. m. the party formed and moved on to the stone houses. At no point was resistance met. The Italians seemed to take the whole affair as something to be borne.

One of the men told Sheriff Nolley that he "bought the grape and made the wine," as if that explained everything. The wives and children of the men also took the action of the officers in carrying away their stock of beverages and the men of the homes as something that they could not understand yet which had to be done.

Only at one place were tears shed and it was the man then who did the crying. He seemed to think that he would not come home again.

Had One Press. The three cellars raided were within a radius of a half mile of each other. Only one house had a grape press and the officers supposed that it passed back and forth between them as needed.

One remarkable feature was the fact that no effort was made to hide the wine. Beyond a padlock on the cellar doors no apparent effort had been made for secrecy. In the cellars themselves the barrels sat in orderly rows as one could imagine wine barrels sat in many cellars before the eighteenth amendment became effective.

On the dirt walls were tally sheets thought to have been placed there to tell the age of various barrels of wine. Sheriff Nolley said that within that small area which was raided, many gallons of the drink were sold weekly at an average price of $8 a gallon. He was going to break the traffic up, he said, or know the reason why.

A short distance beyond where the raid was made this morning is the Erath county line and beyond that the Eastland county sheriff's department has no jurisdiction.

SCHOOL BOARD HEAD LEAVES TO SELL BONDS

$250,000 Worth Printed and Secretary Hagaman Affixes His Signature.

The recent issue of Ranger school bonds for $250,000 will be offered to the state for sale probably Saturday, by M. H. Smith, president of the school board who left Friday for Austin, for that purpose. The bonds have been printed and signed by the secretary, M. H. Hagaman. His signature was attached yesterday and the securities delivered to Mr. Smith who will take them to Austin with him. The task of printing the bonds was concluded sooner than was expected.

Mr. Smith will make an effort to induce the state to provide funds for the immediate construction of the new high school building, or least advance enough cash to begin construction and the remainder from time to time as it is needed. This money if secured will come from the fund set aside by the state for the purpose of purchasing school bonds.

If the messenger's trip is successful it is thought that work on the new high school will be pushed.

The required amount of land has been bargained for and the deed will pass as quickly as money is available. This land is composed of all ground from Pine street facing Marston and goes back for a depth of several hundred feet on Pine. The school already owns two blocks from Marston street along Elm to Hodges street.

An alley that intersects the land and which comes out on Marston street will be closed by the city commission in order that the school campus will be unbroken.

At 2 p. m. three hours after the robbery was reported at the Ferguson Lumber company Coleman Horton and Alton Moore, white, were in jail and all the goods recovered. According to the police the men have confessed to the burglary.

Chief of Police Reynolds said that a charge of theft of over $50 would be filed against them. Assistant Chief Murphy arrested one of the men near the Liberty Theatre and the other near the Majestic. The clothing and the stolen gun were found hidden near the M. and H. Garage and near Black-Sivalls and Bryson's plant.

OKLAHOMA CITY FIREMAN COULD HARDLY KEEP UP

"At the time I started on Tanlac I was down to a hundred and fifteen pounds and so weak I was fixing to give up my job, but now I tip the scales at one hundred and thirty-eight, five pounds more than I ever weighed in my life," said Thurston L. McCartney, 407 N. Harvey St., Oklahoma City, a well-known fireman on the M. K. T. ("Katy") railroad.

"I had held out just about as long as I could," he went on, "and it simply took all the grit and will power I had to manage to stay on the job. My stomach gave me no end of trouble and my kidneys were all out of order and I had pains all through my back. It was all I could do to keep my old engine steamed up for the run, and when I got back home my joints were swollen up and I felt so achey and exhausted that I was simply in misery. My sleep was broken up and I ate so little I got down to where I hardly had the strength to get around, and it looked like I was going to give out entirely.

"Well, the only thing that kept me from giving up my job was this Tanlac, it's certainly a great medicine. It straightened me right out and put me to feeling like somebody. I gained twenty-three pounds in weight and felt like I had been made all over again. I have enjoyed good health ever since, and it takes a mighty rough engine to cause the slightest pain now. There are many railroad men in just the fix I was in, and I am glad to give this statement and I hope they will see it and take my advice and try Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros. and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

BADGES FOR MOTHER'S DAY ARE ALL ALIKE

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—Every body may wear the same kind of a Mother's Day badge this year, as Anna Jarvis, founder of Mother's Day, which this year is on Sunday, May 8, has designed one to take the place of flowers worn in the past.

The new badge has a white carnation on it, and the name Mother's Day International association of Philadelphia.

President Jarvis has issued the following warning:

"Not any person or society will be authorized to solicit funds for any cause in connection with the name or celebration of Mother's Day."

"Any person or organization using the name of Mother's Day or its celebration on printed or manufactured goods, and endeavoring to obtain money for charities or anything else through them, should be discontinued by the public, and reported to the proper authorities."

RANGER'S BOYS AND GIRLS WILL BE LOOKED AFTER

Ranger will have a probation officer whose sole duty will be to watch after boys and girls if the efforts of W. H. Stowe are successful. Mr. Stowe has circulated a petition asking that the county commissioners appoint such an officer. After being circulated the petition, which contained more than 100 names, was lost and if it can not be found Mr. Stowe will ask to have another signed.

Mr. Stowe was on the eve of departing for Eastland to lay the matter before the commissioners Monday when he discovered the loss of the petition.

He said Friday that everyone he approached favored the move for a probation or juvenile officer more especially since it is known that in Ranger small boys and girls have a habit of staying much on the streets and it is also known that much petty thieving is done by small boys. The police here have on several occasions arrested boys known to have stolen

While it is not known when Mr. Drienhofer will make the annual report of his office, it is thought that it will be within the next sixty days. Already tax renditions are under way. Assessment work is being confined to the office but within a short time it will be carried over the city.

GREEKS THINK BARBER IS Highbrow DOCTOR; TREAT HIM ROYALLY

ATHENS, May 6.—Princess Anastasia, the American wife of Prince Christopher who was formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York, just before she was recently taken ill, summoned to Athens a fashionable Paris hair dresser to devise a coiffure suitable for wearing a tiara. He arrived at Saloniki on the day the Princess' illness reached its critical stage.

Greek authorities at Saloniki mistook him for a distinguished French physician and jumped to the conclusion that he had been summoned as an expert medical advisor. They tried to find a destroyer to carry him to Athens but failed and he had to go by train.

The coiffure maker's reputation as a celebrity had preceded him here and the Americans staying at the best hotel where he registered, treated him with the utmost deference. He was extensively wined and dined but the Americans were disappointed. When they solicitedly inquired about the Princess' health the hair dresser maintained a delphic reserve. His popularity was brief. Some one soon recognized him as a barber and he is no striking figure in the hotel lobbies.

HIGH TIME TO KNOCK ON WOOD IT WOULD SEEM

New Yorker Lives With Two Wives Who Speak Different Languages.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Antoine Ruyts, a Belgian, was held in $1,000 bail yesterday in Fifth Avenue court, Brooklyn, on a charge of bigamy.

Ruyts, it is alleged, has been living for several months in a three-room apartment with a French and a Belgian wife, as well as two daughters by the latter, fifteen and thirteen years old.

Neighbors complained, it was said, and the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children sent Terence McKiernan, an agent, and Mrs. Paula Golnick, to investigate.

Used Signal Code. The Belgian wife, it was said, talks only Flemish, and the French one only French, so they communicated by a system of knocks on wood.

Ruyts, who is forty-five and an ornamental iron worker, was arrested on short affidavits sworn out by detectives. In 1916, Ruyts said, according to McKiernan, he lived in Antwerp with his Belgian wife, Charlotte, forty-five and their daughters. The Germans arrived and he fled to Paris.

He met Madame Marie Pierre-Lahar, a widow, forty-eight. They lived together until January, 1920, when they came to America. They were married at St. Raphael's Italian mission, at the Battery, it is alleged, so that they might land. Ruyts swore he was single.

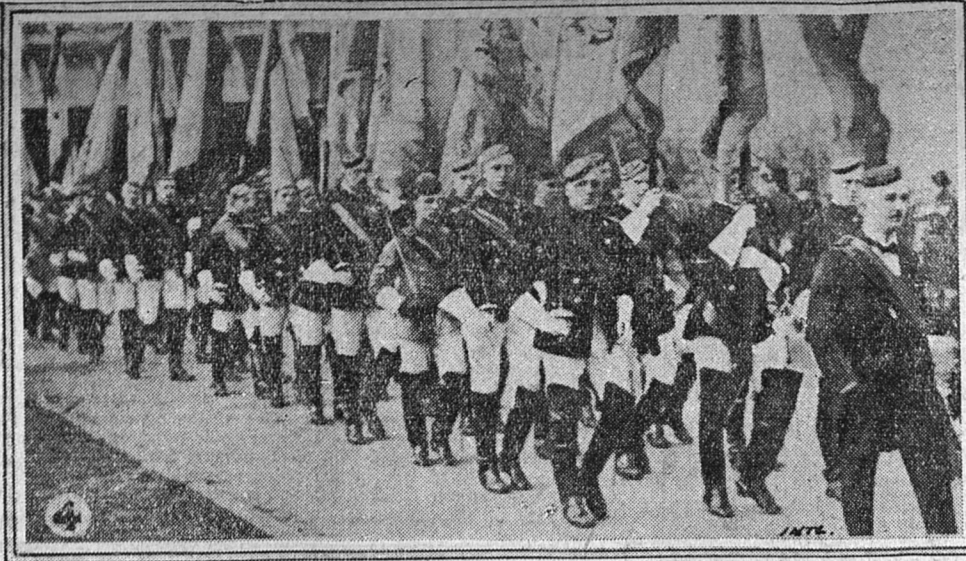

Last November Ruyts sent for his real wife and daughters. When they arrived, it is alleged, he swore on the heads of his daughters he would have nothing more to do with his French "wife."

Second Wife Is Boss.

However, he introduced the latter to the legitimate wife as the "boss" of the home, it is alleged. She apparently was, investigators reported, for she is about as large as both Ruyts and his first wife put together, and besides, seemed to have the choice of bedrooms.

Both wives have been working in a Manhattan theatrical costume estabishment, it was said, going to work together. The Belgian wife, however, was not allowed to go out alone evenings.

So devoted is the French wife to Ruyts, investigators said, that she offered to be arrested in Ruyts's place. Ruyts wept bitterly when he was taken away. It was said Ruyts and his first wife have three married daughters in Antwerp.

TO QUIT DRILLING!

By United Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 5. Oklahoma oil producers meeting here in executive session today adopted a petition calling upon the state corporation commission to take advantage of the provisions of the state conservation act and order a shut down of all drilling operations in the state.

This step was decided on, producers said, on account of the falling market.

The petition was to be presented to the corporation this afternoon.

BEAUTY SHOP PLANS OPENING TUESDAY

The Marinello shop is now ensconced in its new quarters at 109 N. Austin street, in pleasingly decorated and well arranged quarters, much larger than the old location on Main street.

Miss Jeane Nichols is receiving the compliments of friends upon the improved appearance of the shop and she plans a housewarming for Tuesday, when all the ladies of Ranger are invited to come around and inspect the new shop. Carnations will be given as favors.

IMMIGRATION BILL FAVORED.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The House immigration restriction bill was reported favorably today by the Senate Immigration Committee after elimination of certain provisions for entrance of minors and persons subject to religious persecution.

No change was made in the general plan for restricting immigration to 3 per cent of the total population of alien origin in the United States at the time of the 1910 census.

COOPER-HENDERSON BRING IN NEW WELL

Special to the Times.

BRECKENRIDGE, May 6.—The Cooper-Henderson Oil company, Consolidated, secured a 150-barrel well late Thursday afternoon, when the Martin No. 9 was shot with 40 quarts of nitroglycerine at the regular depth of around 3,100 feet.

The producing formation was penetrated 52 feet and with good gas pressure, the well gives indication of being a normal producer of the usual size found in this district. The well is located on the northern edge of the city.

BASSETT PREACHES HELL AND DAMNATION; FIVE ARE CONVERTED

The gates of Hell yawned wide for the sinner last night at the First Baptist church, according to the gospel expounded by the Rev. Carl Bassett, evangelist, conducting revival services there. The picture he drew of the horrors of the city inhabited by his satanic majesty and of the blazing pit, helped pluck five brands from the burning who were united with the church at the close of his sermon.

Warning his auditors of the danger of delay he pointed out the peril of even neglecting even for a day the chance to be saved, and his message struck home to many. Taking for his subject "Whoever was not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire," he said there is only one way of escape from this awful eternal punishment and that is to turn aside from sin now before the end is reached. In his sermons he told of many who went to Hell through neglect of their opportunity and he called upon the assembled crowd to make their decision now for time and eternity. Bassett scored the unbelievers of the Hell theory by saying that the Bible was full of references concerning the reality of it. Walter Vom Bruch and his wife at the piano led the audience in singing a number of hymns of the revival kind preceding the sermon of the evangelist. It was announced that the meetings would close next Sunday night and that an offering would be taken as a gift of appreciation for the services rendered by the young evangelists.

BANKER OF NEW YORK TELLS FORT WORTH PEOPLE OUTLOOK GOOD

FORT WORTH, May 6.—Charles Cason, director of public relations of the Chemical National Bank of New York, is optimistic over the outlook over the country. He stopped Thursday in Fort Worth the guest of J. E. Thomas of the National Bank of Commerce and W. M. Murphy, vice president of the Fort Worth National bank. He was en route to San Antonio to attend the state bankers convention.

None of the modern improvements seems to make the way of the transgressor soft and smooth.—Chicago News.

LEFT BEHIND, BUT VIEWS FLEET FROM AIR AND BEATS DAD HOME.

When the Atlantic fleet was being reviewed in Hampton Roads, Va., by President Harding, George H. Moffett, 12-year-old son of Captain Moffett, director of the naval air service, was left behind in Washington. Boy like, George decided he was not going to be overlooked and made his way to the naval air station in the capital in hopes that he could "mooch" a ride to the scene in Virginia waters. Luck was with George and he was taken aboard one of the big flying boats setting out for Hampton Roads. After passing over the Mayflower and the big warships, the seaplane started for New York. There George took a train back to Washington and was in his own little bed before his dad returned that evening. In all the younger traveled 800 miles by air, and now he has decided to emulate his dad and become an aviator.

is pointed to by prohibitionists as an effort to appease the moderate temperance elements and to forestall threatened attempts of reformers to bring about a brand of prohibition as severe as in the United States.

New features of the measure would impose heavier fines for drunkenness, with imprisonment on the third offense; would permit saloons to remain open from nine to eleven hours a day, instead of the present six and a half hours, and would allow adults to take children into parts of public houses not used chiefly as open drinking bars. Other proposals would make possible "greater freedom for rational enjoyment with special reference to music, dancing and games."

Colonel Gratton, the father of the present bill, who is a brewer, introduced a similar measure at the last session of Parliament, but it was smothered in the mass of other legislation.

Premier Lloyd George has been questioned again and again in the House of Commons as to when relief from the present liquor control might be expected. He has consistently replied that the government was giving the matter its closest attention. Speakers for the liquor interests have intimated that Mr. Lloyd George because of his reputed "dry" propensities, is not in a hurry to abolish the present system of control. The bill is being attacked by temperance people because it comes from the brewery interests, because of letting children into bars where they will learn to drink and because of the longer hours.

Mrs. Albert Kern died Thursday at her home on South Austin street. The Jones-Cox Undertaking company is holding the body pending funeral arrangements.

JAIL DOORS CREAK ON IDLE HINGES; NO WRONGDOERS HERE

The doors of the city jail were swinging back Friday. The locks and bars were hanging useless. For the first time in many weeks no prisoners are in the jail. Only two arrests were made yesterday. One of these was a suspect in the Walker-Smith robbery of Wednesday night but he was released. The other was a speedster who crossed the palm of Desk Sergeant Black with much silver, $15.70, to be exact.

BRITISH HAVE BOOZE WORRIES OF THEIR OWN

LONDON, May 6.—Relaxation from the present regulation of the liquor traffic is provided in the new licensing bill before Parliament. The act, which lengthens the hours during which public houses may remain open and grants certain other concessions, is said also to represent an effort on the part of the trade itself to reform.

BRONCHOS WIN RAGGED GAME FROM SCOUTS

SAN ANGELO, May 6.—Conkrite's homer over the right field wall in the first inning, scoring Clary and Lewis ahead of him, drove Henkle from the box today. Josh Billings, Cisco manager, took up the heavy duties and was nicked for three more runs, loose support being given him.

Weber, obtained from Beaumont, pitched his first game for the Bronchos and with good support held the Scouts to five hits and two runs. He whiffed nine men. A sensational catch by Conkrite prevented three runs.

WORSE PLAYING IS EAGLE'S WAY OF TAKING GAME

Special to the Times.

ABILENE, May 6.—The Eagles made five hits and six errors here Thursday and while doing so beat the Resorters, who made thirteen safeties and played errorless ball. MAJESTIC. Mainette Duo—Two clever gymnasts, who defy the law of gravitation, presenting a comedy balancing ladder and wire act. A startling comedy surprise is occasioned near the finish by the intentional missing of a sensational trick. Redmond and Wells—In their latest success "All for Fun", some comedy songs some very nifty patter and some very clever acrobatic dancing.

Baldwin Blair & Co.—In a whiz-bang farcical playlet, "The Petticoat Man." Misunderstandings and complicated situations in a hotel that just bubble over with comedy. Doll Frolics—A novelty revue with elaborate and artistic settings and electrical effects as presented by the McKinley Sisters, Veima, Bernita and Gertrude in song, talk and dance and Miss Irene Coolahan concert pianist, ably produced and staged by that master of stagecraft, Arthur Anderson, introducing a gypsy dance. French Doll, Egyptian Dance, Cinderella's rag time ball and cakewalk eccentric.

Howard & Ross—In a novelty musical creation entitled "The Evolution of Banjo". Both are artists par excellence on this well-known instrument. The juggling of banjos by Mr. Howard while playing is very clever in manipulation and his rendition on the banjo of different operas by famous composers is remarkable in tone and melody and the accompaniment in song by Miss Ross makes this production a splendid conception of artistic effects. Four Bellhops—A very clever novelty as presented by four bellhops in a hotel lobby. Eccentric tumbling and comedy gymnastics and balancing comprise the routine of this clever acrobatic four. Playing at the Majestic today and Saturday.

PRACTICAL "STATESMANSHIP."

Statesman and would-be statesmen in the past have attempted to solve every governmental ill to which nations are heir. They probably will make the same attempt from time to time in the future. It would not be surprising if a host of panaceas for the ills of state and nation were introduced in the lawmaking bodies of 1921.

There is one simple matter, however, the practical solution of which would result in more benefit and peace of mind to the citizenry than any erudite theory that lawmakers can conceive. That matter is automobile thefts.

Never a day passes that somewhere in the oil fields a car is reported stolen. Generally if it is found at all, it is found dismantled, out in the brush.

Tuesday night and Wednesday night cars were stolen in the outskirts of Ranger. They were driven off. By this time the marks of identification have been changed, and so far as their owners can prove, even if they had the opportunity, they are different cars altogether.

This condition has become so aggravated that no property in the shape of vehicles is safe. "Money has no home" in a trap game, and a motor car has no home, either. It virtually belongs to the first comer who has no scruples at taking it.

The situation has become so serious that insurance companies are threatening to cancel all auto insurance in certain localities. It is making auto owning so risky that no man can afford it to whom the price of the car is of any moment. The officers cannot stop every man who climbs into an auto and drives off.

Some system of car registration or car identification is needed that will make it difficult if not impossible for any gasoline Jesse James to get away with his spoils unmolested and unrecognized. The man who invents it should have a cigar named after him and be given other suitable reward. Certainly the present system of registration has failed to afford any protection.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

They were standing by the show window of a store on Fourteenth street when the woman first noticed them. The mother was being dragged away by a sixteen-year-old daughter from an examination of a pair of comfortable looking shoes to look at a bright-flowered hat in the window of the shop.

In sharp contrast to the vivid color of the spring millinery they were both dull with a snabbiness only to be found in women who have worked and lived in the same cheap winter clothes for more than a year. The girl's hat was spotted from many rains; the woman's shoes were patched and mended beyond hope.

"Look, Ma, isn't that a peach of a hat? That red one with the cherries on it."

"Yes," said the mother, and looked back at the comfortable shoes.

"Say, Ma, it's awful cheap. Look at that, $6.98. Oh-h, Ma, do you suppose—do you?—do you suppose we could—"

"Hath, you've got last year's straw to fix up and seven dollars would buy a lot of other things we got to have."

She looked down at the shabby shoes she wore, but the girl only saw the glittering red lure before her.

"Yes, I know, Ma, but that hat's so old and this is such a beauty, and—and—I think—you know—Jim, he—"

The mother evidently did know, or perhaps she looked into her own past and remembered when she was sixteen, for without turning again to look at the shoes she said: "All right. Come on, Hattie, we'll go in."

Try passed through the door into the store, a radiant smile on the girl's face.

From the Heart.

They were lingering over the last of a perfectly good luncheon on their first hike of the season. The Business Girl had just told her latest experience, in which she figured as the much-to-be-envied centre of an appreciative office force.

"Speaking of tributes reminds me," and the School Teacher began digging into the numerous pockets of her skirt and sweater. Bits of chalk, rubbers, hands, paper fasteners and odds and ends of odds came tumbling out. All but one folded paper were restored to the depths.

"One of the new men in my foreign class at night school spent a whole evening last week composing this. At the close of the session he brought it up to my desk, bade me a cordial 'Good evening' and disappeared before I had completed my looking up."

"Yes she is the first girl, ho!" and in the United States, as a real human nature, she is the honor of her race. She is dark in face, but clear in mind, always straight I am proud of her."

"Yes she is so."

"You are a friend in need, also you are the human dream. I so many theater met in my life and in the United States But not they are as you are."

East Apes West.

A pair of "flappers" sat in the Broadway car. Their hair was bobbed and pulled out into the centre of cheeks drugged their rosiest eyebrows shaped to a Japanese curve, by artistically Cupidowed, tightly turbaned and closely veiled, they looked as if they had been cut out of the same dough with a cookie cutter. The car stopped.

"Oh, look!" exclaimed Miss Nearest-the-Window.

"Ain't she funny!" giggled Miss On-the-Aisle.

A tiny woman, "tight" in her clothes and arrestingly short of skirt, toddled painfully toward the opening door. Her shiny black hair was pulled over her ears and out into the centre of her cheeks, where magenta spots shrieked from their background of dead-white rice powder. Her naturally slanting eyebrows proclaimed the nationality of the little lady whose closely drawn blue veil added a purposeful overtone to the ensemble and made of her an Oriental caricature of Miss America.

From Grave to Gay.

The woman caught her breath with a choke the other day as she hurried to the Fulton Street Ferry. For an instant she was back in the heart-breaking days of 1918. For there, rattling over the cobble stones, was an army truck in full camouflage, driven by a chap in khaki. And then the woman saw that the truck was loaded with cases of lettuce instead of shells, so she waved at the driver and went on her way.

$104,600 IN BANK LOOT FOUND, SUSPECTS CAUGHT.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Trilled by bloodhounds, two men believed to be the bandits who held up the G. W. Davidson & Co., private bank at Auburn, Ky., Tuesday, were captured by a posse on the banks of Mud River in Muhlenberg County, a wild section of the State, today. The men carried $3,000 in gold and currency. Capture of the men was preceded by the discovery of $104,600 in bonds buried near the home of Vivian Thomason at Bald Knob church in Logan County. Thomason said that his brother Boyd and a man named Smith planned and executed the robbery.

TINKER BOB STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB.

JENNY IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Major Pole Cat was always excited when anything happened amongst the birds that caused them to flutter and scream and carry on. So he was very anxious to have Tinker Bob hurry to the Palace for there had been a fuss between some of the members of the feathered flock. It was not like any trouble between the four-footed creatures, for they always went away to have it out alone, and they never made so much noise about it as the birds did. So it always looked more serious to Major than it really was. "I can't always understand," he said, "Why it is these feathered creatures have to make so much fuss when they have a little argument about something. I guess I never will understand. But, O King, they scream and scream and fly at each other as though they would tear all of the feathers from each other's wings, but no one seems to get hurt."

They will sit on the top limb of a tree and call a fellow all the names they can think of.

to the feathered creatures of the forest. That is why he was ever ready to go to them when they called.

"Well look there," cried Silky. "They are sure having trouble there. My, did you ever hear such screaming in all your life? What in the world does all of this mean?" Silky could stand by no longer but leaped into a tree nearby and was soon in the midst of the scene of trouble. And when the quarrelling birds saw him they ceased their screaming.

"What does all this mean?" asked Tinker Bob as he came close to the Palace.

"Chirp, chirp," said Mrs. Robin, "that sparrow and his friends are trying to keep Jenny Wren and Mr. Wren from building their house under the roof of the palace."

Tomorrow—Mr. Sparrow Is Punished.

As means of testing the efficiency of the postoffice department under the new administration Clab Hancock today mailed a letter without any address on it.

needed a large caliber gun with sufficient power to penetrate the hull plating of the U-boat, and the Davis recoil gun was produced. This is a radical departure from previous types the barrel being open at both ends, and loaded at the center by routing half of the barrel around an offset axis.

The projectile leaves the front barrel in the usual way, while a rear charge of equal weight is projected from the rear barrel. Consequently no recoil force is transmitted to the mount. A Lewis machine gun is mounted above the Davis machine gun barrel, so that, in aiming, the machine gun's bullets are fired in approaching the target, and the Davis gun shell speeds forth as the mark is reached.

"Smoke Boxes" By Thousand.

Decided improvements were made in range-finding and fire-control devices, increasing the efficiency of large and medium caliber guns. "Smoke boxes" were manufactured by the thousands and placed aboard merchant as well as naval vessels, so that in case of attack by submarine they could make smoke-screens of their own. There were also many improvements in wireless telegraphy, one of the most interesting of these being the radio compass, by means of which the position of ships at sea could be determined. This was so successful that submarines made little use of their location.

So many new devices were developed that it would take pages to tell of them all, and though thousands of the suggestions made were impracticable not a few were of decided value, and the result of war development as a whole was fresh proof of the never-failing inventiveness and genius of Americans.

RANGER TODAY

By WILLIAM A. HART

Article IV. INDUSTRIAL POSSIBILITIES.

This is the fourth of a series of articles by William A. Hart, of the American City Bureau. The fifth will appear Saturday.

Ranger oil fields have only been tapped. The pessimist won't listen to this fact. The doubter wants to be shown. The thinker finds on every hand evidence that this is so, and can gather support for this opinion from the action of several big oil concerns which are right now engaged in the erection of big plants here.

The men of Ranger who have most contributed to its development and growth, tell me that further development waits only for better financial conditions and a better oil market.

In the meantime, and during the "second oil period" of Ranger, and afterwards, it is good business and self-reservation to work for the development of industries in Ranger other than oil.

One Business Dangerous.

Because oil will not last forever; and because it will rescue Ranger from the periodical slumps which come to a one-business town when that one-business town is down.

Nobody ought to drop into Ranger and advise off-hand what industries Ranger can have. And I am not going to do that. We never elect to the presidency of the United States the man who has a remedy par for every national ill. He is not convincing.

But the success of other cities in pulling themselves up by the bootstraps is information worth having. Ranger must have industries. But what industries? Can anybody tell us?

Specialists Can Tell.

Yes. There are specialists who make industrial surveys of a town and say what the town is fit for. These men are the newest and most useful facilities; its available land near water or rail, its distribution area, its nearness to raw material, its nearness to market, its financial resources, etc.

There are specialists who make a study of soil as to possible crops, of minerals as to possible values, of available supplies of water for dry farming.

There are even specialists who study the morale of a city, estimating the public spirit, the enterprisingness and the calibre of the men of the community.

The reports of all these men, or any of them, will tell Ranger where to strike for industries and furnish the sales arguments to get them.

Found Something.

Sandusky, Ohio had a mineral survey made and learned that Lake Erie had provided the town with an inexhaustible supply of the best moulding sand in the country. The Sandusky Sand & Cement company is now a national organization.

Leadville, Colorado took the reports of mineralogists and is now advertising to the world that it has one of the largest supplies on earth of molibdenum, the newest and superior substitute for tungsten.

Ardmore, Oklahoma is publishing thousands of copies of a report of the Bureau of Mines, made at Ardmore's request and demonstrating the location of a great undeveloped pool nearby.

An investigation of the rushes and other wild grasses which grow along the Mississippi river, made some years ago by private capital resulted in the great box-board industry along the shores of the Father of Waters.

Investigations of soils along the Hudson river resulted in the establishment of fine brick kilns that now support several thriving towns.

Chemists took Oregon to turn its vast sawdust piles into wood alcohol, paper stock and cellulose.

The stratum of salt which underlies the state of Louisiana bores oil drillers and furnishes a great salt industry.

Market Facilities.

An industrial survey of Los Angeles resulted in the location of western branches of so many large national industries that Los Angeles has the record of more industries in one year than any other city on the globe.

And so on.

Ranger spirit will get what it goes after. Surveys will show what to go after. It may be cotton mill, a glass factory, a brick kiln, a soft wood industry, or a financial center. Be sure you're right, then go ahead.

FIRST TEST OF DEAN LAW IS OF INTEREST

AUSTIN, May 6.—The first test case of the Dean prohibition law bears an item of more than passing interest because of the unique way in which the late Judge W. L. Davidson gave his opinion of the case. Judge Davidson was then presiding judge of the court of criminal appeals, the court that held the law constitutional. Judge Davidson's opinion was not found until after his death.

The case was that of Ex-Parte Gilmore. Gilmore had been indicted on a charge of transporting liquor and was placed in jail. He sought his release through an appeal to the higher court, holding that the Dean law was unconstitutional because it conflicted with the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution and the Volstead act. He claimed through his attorneys that his confinement was illegal in that he was being held under an invalid law, because of its conflict with the federal states.

Judge Morrow, now presiding judge of the court, wrote the opinion, holding that the Dean law did not conflict with the federal statutes and that Gilmore was confined legally. Judge Lattimore, the other member of the court, concurred in the opinion, but Presiding Judge Davidson dissented. When the opinion was handed down he merely wrote a short note to the opinion, saying that he could not agree with the ruling of the other two members and that their conclusions were not in conformity with his idea of the law. He also noted that he would write his opinion of the case as soon as he had time.

Before Judge Davidson could prepare his opinion for the records his death occurred suddenly and it was thought that his idea of the law was lost. Shortly after his burial, however, a penciled memorandum of his construction of the case was found on his desk. Out of courtesy to the late jurist, the other members of the court ordered the penciled remarks and cases cited written into the record.

Judge Hawkins, who succeeded Judge Davidson, held that the Dean law was constitutional and it is now the unanimous opinion of the court of criminal appeals that the act is valid and does not conflict with the eighteenth amendment of the Volstead act.

TINY QUARTZ CRYSTAL CAN CONTROL HEAVY ELECTRICAL CURRENT

(By Science Service.) MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 6.—A tiny quartz crystal, not bigger than a short length of the graphite in an ordinary lead pencil can control and maintain the frequency of electric current in large installations such as the Arlington wireless station, as the result of a new method developed by Prof. W. G. Cady of Wesleyan University here. Dr. Cady has just returned from reporting his invention to the meeting of the American Physical society held in Washington.

In a little pill box, he carries sufficient tiny quartz crystals to produce a large range of oscillations. The smallest of them, about as large as the head of a pin, makes the current vibrate at the rate of 3,000,000 times a second, while a longer crystal is needed to obtain the 40,000 oscillations per second needed to control a long wave wireless installation.

Just by dropping the small crystal into a condenser placed in the vacuum tube regenerative system, the oscillations that control the whole of a gigantic high-frequency current system can be set up and maintained for hour after hour with less than one-tenth of one per cent variation.

"In fact, the crystals control the vibrations of current much more accurately than they can be cut or ground," Prof. Cady explains. Grinding the minute quartz fragments to the proper size usually can not be done with an accuracy of more than 10 to 20 vibrations per second.

That the use of the new method will provide a simple and inexpensive method of frequency control that will soon be used in practical high-frequency circuits, especially where frequency changes are required often, is the expectation of physicists and electrical engineers. A change of the number of oscillations per second can be made by the simple act of taking one crystal out and dropping in another, they point out. In radio work, by allowing a station to change quickly from wave length to wave length of the wireless impulses it is expected that the tiny crystals utilized in Dr. Cady's new method will prove especially useful.

Snakes are rare on the Isthmus of Panama. During the first fifteen years of American occupation of the Canal Zone the hospital records show only one case of snake-bite.

STEPHENS COUNTY HOSPITAL PLACED UNDER QUARANTINE

BRECKENRIDGE, May 6.—The Stephens County Hospital was under quarantine last night after four physicians agreed that Karl Lynch a boy of about five, probably had typhus. Later Dr. C. D. Cupp, in charge of the patient, had a blood test made at the Terrell laboratory in Ronger and according to Dr. Cupp the test showed typhoid. It is thought that if typhoid is established the quarantine will be raised this morning.

KENYON INTRODUCES PUBLIC WELFARE BILL

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Senator Kenyon, Iowa, today introduced the administration's bill creating a department of public welfare with a cabinet officer at its head.

The measure divided public welfare activities under the government into four groups, each group under an assistant secretary of the public welfare. The groups are education, public welfare, social service and veteran service.

"SLEEPING SICKNESS" IS NOW WORLD WIDE

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Encephalitis lethargica, the disease commonly known as "sleeping sickness," is prevalent all over the world, according to reports that have been received here by the Public Health Service.

This malady that causes inflammation of the brain, probably is a product of the war. Announced in Austria by von Economo at the beginning of 1917, it reached France and England in the spring of 1918, and Italy the following winter. It appeared in Portugal in February, 1919, in India in November, and in Spain in the early part of 1920. It spread to the United States toward the end of 1918, on the Atlantic coast, and on the Pacific coast in October, 1919. It has also reached Uruguay, South America, and was present in Australia in March, 1919.

In January of this year there were 220 reported cases in the United States, while in February, 463 cases were reported. As this disease is not reportable in most states, it is probable that the numbers are actually much larger. In New York city alone last year, there were 565 cases with 211 deaths.

England, during January, had 454 cases. Beginning in January of last year, encephalitis took an epidemic form in France and it is estimated that there were 10,000 cases in France, with 1,500 in Paris. Since 1918 about 4,000 cases were actually reported in Italy and the death rate was 25.6 per cent.

B.—“Not a Bena,” “Mark Well.” This is not a sale to consider profit, but to turn the merchandise into “real money,” and in as few days as possible. Just a tip from one that knows merchandise—Regardless of how low the prices may ever be, these prices will never be duplicated by any factory or wholesale house in the United States. Now one of the grandest opportunities presents itself to buy merchandise for almost nothing and knock the deuce out of the high cost of living.
