MOVIE NOTES

LAMB
ALICE LAKE BEGAN CAREER AS DANCER

Beautiful Young Star of "Shore Acres" Had No Stage Training

Strange though it may seem, Alice Lake, the beautiful young star of the world famous drama by James A. Herne, which will be the feature attraction at the Lamb today had no stage training prior to her screen debut. Outside of motion pictures, Miss Lake's only dramatic work was her dancing at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York. Here she did society dinner dances with a partner when the after show crowds came in.

"Where did I learn to dance?" Miss Lake repeated in answer to a question. "Well, I never took any lessons. I guess I'm a natural born dancer, for I just went to the Waldorf-Astoria and applied for a position."

Alice Lake flashed like a meteor across the silver sheet, in a manner so extraordinary, as to stamp her as one of the great "finds" of the screen. A few short years ago she was attending Erasmus Hall High School in Brooklyn, wearing long curls and openly worshipping the heroes and heroines of the silent among whom she has now taken rank as one of the most talented and brilliant of all.

 Prior to her first appearance for Metro in "Blackie's Redemption" as leading drama, among whom she has now taken rank recognition had been her work in comedies with Roscoe Arbuckle and Mack Sennett. It was a little more than a year ago that Maxwell Karger, Metro Director General, attending a motion picture theatre in Los Angeles, saw Miss Lake doing a travesty on a melodrama. She burlesqued it with such skill that Mr. Karger came to the conclusion that she should be able to enact drama seriously with the best actresses on the screen.

LONE STAR

Brilliant Cast in Graphic Film—"When Men Betray" Wins Favor Among Connoisseurs of Picture Plays

"When Men Betray" wins favor among connoisseurs of picture plays. As great as the demand for Ivan Abramson's pictures has always been "When Men Betray," which is now playing at the Lone Star Theatre, seems to have made an even stronger appeal than some of his earlier successes, in the manner in which the patrons of this house have complimented the management for running this picture, is any criterion.

"When Men Betray" is a forceful preaching against the double standard of morals and dwells strongly on the consequence of immorality. The author has evolved a gripping drama with a strong climax and has injected into it situations that make you hold your breath with suspense until the denouement comes.

Both the interiors and exteriors are beautiful and the photography is the work of an artist.

Heading the excellently balanced cast is beautiful Gail Kane, who plays the part of the wife. Robert Elliott appears as the husband with Stuart Holmes as the disloyal friend, and Sally Crute is the other woman.

Others in the cast who are doing splendid work are Jack McLean, Dora Mills Adams, Gertrude Braun, Hazel Washburn, Lillian Borse, and others.

Riders of the Dawn

Another Zane Grey story has reached the screen and it bids fair to prove more popular than the late production of "Desert Gold" which experienced a sensational run. "The Desert of Wheat" has just recently been done in pictures and released through the Holkinson corporation under the title, "Riders of the Dawn." It is the attraction to be shown at the Liberty Theatre beginning today.

Ray Stewart in the leading male role radiates vigor and energy while up against such accomplished villains at Robert McKim, arch conspirator of the screen, and the cave man Frederick Starr. Clair Adams as the heroine plays her part with gentile grace.

Upon his homecoming to country town in the heart of the wheat land of the north, after a brilliant army career in France, Kurt Dorn finds himself very shortly in the midst of more villainy and conspiracy than he has experienced in all his dealings with the Huns. The town is filled with rumors of attempts to destroy the great wheat crops, the harvesting of which is just beginning, and of the mysterious activity of the "reds" which daily becomes more sinister.

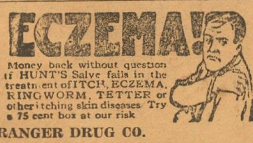

The vigilantes are organized to protect the people and their wealth and Kurt is chosen as their leader. His sudden interest in the affairs is met with disapproval by Henry Neuman, prominent attorney of the town, who until this time has been attempting to handle the situation. Troublesome as are the times, there is one brilliant spot in Kurt's life, the love of a beautiful girl, Lenore, who before his return, had accepted the attentions of the lawyer.

Even that happiness is suddenly shattered, when a little French girl arrives in town and announces herself as Kurt's wife whom he married while overseas. Kurt is horrified and denies having ever seen the girl, but she carries what seem to be genuine credentials, and as Kurt consistently refuses to recognize every one turns against him but his father.

OPERA HOUSE

An all comedy and slapstick vaudeville bill was witnessed by an unusually large crowd last night at the Opera House. Lawrence brothers and Thelma offered one very funny comedy talk and clever juggling with Indian clubs and hats. A boy violinist, billed "The Street Urchin" presented an entertaining musical act playing and singing classical and popular songs. The "Autumn Three" gave a rather novel act of imitations. Everything about the farm and on it they cleverly imitated. Mason and Groyne, two blackface comedians, presented an unusually funny and out of the ordinary act with comedy talk, songs, whistling and ukuleles. A comedy skit made up of songs and dances won Joscelyn and Chapman favor with the audience.

Bessie Barriscale in the Robertson-Cole Superior picture, "The Luck of Geraldine Laird," which opened yesterday has the part of a wife who refuses to accept the miserable lot of a woman deserted by her husband, and who uses her rare talent to rise above him. The story is based upon Kathleen Norris' serial, "The Luck of Geraldine Laird," and the picture was made in Miss Barriscale's own studio.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS MEET TOMORROW AT CHAMBER ROOMS

It is requested that all Knights of Pythias who are interested in organizing a lodge in Ranger will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. N. P. Roux, deputy grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias from Mexico, will be in the meeting and discuss plans for organization.

WOMEN ARE ARRESTED CHARGED WITH FIGHTING

Zena Zelois and Mamie Stewart were arrested by John Barnes, deputy sheriff, charged with fighting. Each of the women pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15.70.

Fire broke out last night at 1 a. m. in the carpenter shop belonging to G. W. Porter on Marston street. The building, a small frame affair, sustained an estimated loss of $50 with a loss of $300 on tools and equipment. No insurance was carried on either the building or fixtures. While no cause is known for the fire an accumulation of shavings were on the floor of the shop and it is thought that in some manner they became ignited. Times Want Ads Pay

Solid Backing Of Nitros Brings Win Over Buddies 2-1

DOUBLE HEADER TODAY.

Playing off the rained-out game of the last Gorman series, the Popboys and Galloways finish up the four-game match today in a bargain bill, starting at 3 p. m. Frank Huds...

Tommy Lovelace, with an infield home run, and Jimmy Galloway and Jody Tate with a double threat, with the Nitro club playing unbeatable baseball behind Smokey Boyer...

The winning tallies were the result of running the bases as they should be run. In the fourth Lovley swung out...

With the constant threatening done by the Buddies, one was not enough. So the Rangers took on another in the sixth. Stealing a Victory. Dutch Henke, the only Nitro to hit...

For in the final round Popboy sent in King to pinch for Whitney. King swung an easy one to Tate, who threw it away, giving the Buddies a hit. It was the only Nitro error. Then Popboy got a streak of confidence in himself and pinch batted for Bumpus...

None down, the tying run on second and that fence-bustin' top end of the Gorman batting order up! Chinko Taylor, who had landed three hits, all of them real, was the next man Boyer had to face...

Ham robbed Chink Taylor of his fourth hit of the day, an infield blow, in that seventh when he played a deep one and threw the Gorman slugger out in a close play.

Joe Thieves Home

Joe Thieves, who is sick in Fort Worth. That left it up to Boyer. The free-hitting Buddies got nine blows from him. In only one inning did they miss getting a hit. In five innings they got men on base in three others...

CATTLEMEN WILL PART OWNERSHIP OF STOCK YARDS

EL PASO, June 21.—A committee composed of members from the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's association and has been appointed to investigate the practicability of part ownership of stockyards, particularly those at Kansas City and Fort Worth, by cattlemen. Under a recent ruling of the United States attorney general, packers must dispose of their interests in stockyards within two years, and this will create an opportunity for the cattlemen to acquire the stock if they desire it.

CO-OPERATE FOR PROGRESS.

For Ranger to move into her place among cities there must be a better cooperation of people and interests. There can be little friction between city departments, between residents and the city officials or among residents themselves if the best advantage is to be made here. It is not the collection of many individuals within the corporate limits of a city that establishes that community, but rather the relation these individuals have toward one another and to the whole body.

Here the illustration is drawn at home, a startlingly clear picture of what a city is when composed of individuals and when peopled by a body of society. But a few months ago there was a collection of houses, stores and business places. Every man was an individual, getting all he could and returning no more than was barely called for.

At that time this was typically a boom town. Almost everything bad was to be found here; the streets were unpaved, there was no sewer, water, or electric lighting system, rents were high, prices were almost out of sight. Everyone was grabbing, and grabbing as rapidly as he could everything in sight. The majority of those who lived here were working as individuals. They cared nothing for the other members of society; they were even afraid of other men. At that time there was nothing, the city was a camp, a curiosity spot for writers and tourists.

As it grew, this element passed on and men began to come in who were socialized. Men who realized they owed a living to society if society was to support them. They stabilized, to a marked extent, everything from city government to trade conditions. Women began to make their homes here, attractive residences were built, always slowly edging the individualist out.

The city has progressed wondrously. It is almost a miracle that it should stand where it does today, but still it is far, far from other cities of the same size. Still are there individuals here, men who believe that a gun is essential, that without a gun society will engulf them. They drag and hold down, they prevent progress and continue in vogue the houses of prostitution and the gambling halls.

They return not one thing but color to Ranger. It is true they spend what money they make here, but for every gunman and drifter in any community at least five law-abiding, socialized individuals are kept out. This gentry must be pushed slowly westward. They need not be handed railroad tickets or be forcibly ejected; it need not go that far. It is not a job for the police, but for those who see in Ranger an American city of the present day.

The course is merely this, CO-OPERATE. When the city launches upon a clean-up campaign, clean up, for the drifter hates cleanliness and evidences of culture and good taste. When a moral drive is put on, co-operate. Talk about things that are not right, protest every evil, fight for a progressive city.

Then, consider there are others here whose ideals equal your own. Get to know these people, associate with them, organize clubs and find out how the town is run and wherein there may be improvement. Help the officials to get through these difficult days of city building.

Find out what the community service is doing, get mixed up in his activities, help put on local talent shows and entertainments.

In other words, begin today to take that view of local affairs that is held in the city from which you came. Begin today to think of Ranger as a city worth living in and forget that it was once a boom town. It is coming through. Let everyone come through at the same time or just a little faster.

Tinker Bob Stories

TIM IS RESCUED BY SAMMY. Mrs. Badger was making her way to the back door of Tim the Ground Squirrel's home when Mr. Badger was looking for the front door. Tim was also making his way to the back door of his house from the inside, for he did not know that Mrs. Badger was coming. Now if either of the Badgers pieces. He had always been shy enough to write this time to keep out of their reach, and they knew it, and for this reason they planned to trap him in his own house.

When Tim came back to the door the little breeze was there and told him that Mrs. Badger was very near. This announcement frightened Tim. To think there was one at his front door and one at the back door was more than he ever expected. There was only one thing for him to do, and that was to roll a stone to the back door as he had done the front, and then begin to dig with all his might and throw the dirt against the stone and fill up the doorway. This he did and he worked harder and harder than ever before, piling up the dirt.

Mr. Badger arrived at the front door first. And while Tim, the Ground Squirrel was filling up the back door, he rolled the stone from the front of Tim's house and looked in. After sniffing about a little, Mr. Badger decided that Tim was at home so he began to dig also, because the doorway was a little small for him to enter.

Now when Mr. Badger rolled the stone away, the little breeze entered first and told Tim that Mr. Badger was entering the front door of his house without knocking. Tim was getting desperate now to think he was trapped in his own house. So he left the back door and went back again to the front, and there he saw Mr. Badger sticking his nose in the door. He was so angry that he began to throw dirt right into Mr. Badger's face.

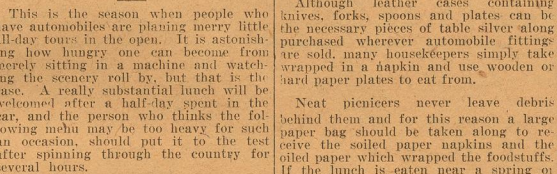

"Now," cried Mr. Badger, after shaking the dirt from his face, "I know you are at home today and I'll get you out of there."

"If you touch me I'll never speak to you again," replied Tim.

"I know you will never speak to me again, for if I ever get you out of there I'll break every bone in your body," Mr. Badger was angry.

Sammy the Tree Squirrel happened to see Mr. Badger threatening his friend Tim. So he said to himself, "I'll help Tim out of his trouble if I can." So down there he ran and while Mr. Badger's nose was thrust into Tim's house, he slipped up from behind and nipped him on the tail. Mr. Badger turned around suddenly. And seeing his enemy he made for him. But Sammy went up the tree in a hurry, and while Mr. Badger was after him, Tim came out of his house and hid himself in the rocks.

Tomorrow—Mr. and Mrs. Badger come face to face.

The Little Breeze was there and told Him That Mrs. Badger Was Very Near

A LUNCH TO PUT IN THE TOURING CAR.

This is the season when people who have automobiles are planning merry little all-day tours in the open. It is astonishing how hungry one can become from merely sitting in a machine and watching the scenery roll by, but that is the case. A really substantial lunch will be welcomed after a half-day spent in the car, and the person who thinks the following menu may be too heavy for such an occasion, should put it to the test after spinning through the country for several hours.

- Sliced Meat Sandwiches Potato Salad Iced Coffee in a Thermos Bottle Lemon Pie

Lemon Pie—Dissolve 1 heaping tablespoon of cornstarch in a little cold water. Pour over this 1 cup of boiling water. Set back on range and cook until clear. Add one-half cup sugar and a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Beat the yolk of 3 eggs and twilite together and add one-half cup sugar, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon and add to the cornstarch. Bake. Beat the whites of 2 tablespoons of sugar for the top of the pie when it is done. Return to the oven and brown.

The automobile outing, while sometimes looked upon as a sort of picnic, nevertheless has little in common with the old-fashioned picnic where foods had to be carried in baskets by hand, and therefore consisted chiefly by eggs, sandwiches, cakes, and other dry edibles which would not "run over." Today the generously-built automobile enables one to take along any kind of foodstuffs one prefers—even to more or less "liquid" pies and salads.

The careful housekeeper, however, takes pains to pack the touring-car lunch skillfully so that it will present an attractive appearance when opened. She sees oiled paper liberally and never ties parcels of different foods together. After wrapping each kind of food separately—all the sandwiches together, all the cookies together, etcetera—she packs these parcels singly in a basket containing a napkin. A pie she wraps many times in oiled paper, then fits into a round basket, or a flat box of the exact size, which prohibits its slipping around and breaking. Salad she places in a china bowl with oiled paper wrapped around it; the bowl is then covered with

It's fellows started to form a old clothes club to bring down the high cost of living this afternoon while we was sitting on my front steps, Skinny Martin saying, I tell you lets wats do, fellows, lets all wear our coats inside out to show we're members of the club.

No, that would be a heck of a way, people nite think we belonged to a minstrel show, sed Leroy Shooter, how about if we have our mother put a patch in our pants to show how old they are, and I sed, Thats a good idee, lets all cut the same shape hole in our pants—we'll all have the same shape patch, I'll go in and get a pair of sizers.

Which I went up to ma's room, and ma was sewing and using the sizers herself, and I sed, Are you using the sizer-mutch, ma?

Yes, sed ma. Well, can I borro them for about 5 minutes, maybe only 4? I sed, and ma sed, Wat do you want to cut?

Only cloth, I want hert them, I sed, and ma sed, Well be sure to bring them rite back. And I took them and started to go out the room, and jest wen I wa almost out ma sed, Wat cloth?

Ma? I sed, and ma sed, Wat cloth you herd me.

Whats I sed, wat pants, whose pants? and I sed, Jest us fellows pants, we're going to start a old clothes club agens the high cost of living and we got to have patches in our pants to show we belong.

Give me back those sizers, sed ma, which I did, ma saying, Sippose we wait ill your pants wear out in the natura way, and I sed, Well the high cost o vinture may be down alreddy by that time and ma sed, I hope so.

As I went down to tell the fellow and they all changed their minds ager anyway on account of being afraid thei mothers mite objek.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

LIV. A DREAM-NIGHT SPENT IN INN OR TAVERN.

You will never find the word "restaurant" mentioned in any reliable book on dreams; always it is "inn" or "tavern," probably because in the days when eating places were called by these names people paid more attention to the voice of the night than they do today. So I too, shall use these expressions, but you may, without making an error, well translate them into more modern words—hotels and restaurants.

If you dream that you are entering a room in an inn, you are in danger of bodily harm—you may be held up, or attacked by an enemy. If you are in company, then the dream tells you of an impending journey which will be full of interesting, unexpected, exciting adventures, and if your companion is of the opposite sex, then the happenings thus foredoomed will be leaves out of Cupid's notebook.

To eat in a tavern, is an omen of loneliness. You will in all probability have to do without certain company which you value very highly, some one you may be compelled to bid him or her farewell. Where two women room together this dream always means a separation.

A crowd of people who you are in an inn is a strange ill omen. It means the loss of a limb—a hand or foot, and if there is drink on the table you will be ill for a long, long while.

If you dream that you are entering a room in an inn, you will meet stranger who may not prove sincere friends. To leave an inn is a sign of discontent to come, and if you run out of the doorway—and this applies to married women only—you will be separated or divorced from your husband.

If you enter an inn and find it completely empty, only furniture to be seen, and no living being to greet you, there will be great sorrow in your life, possibly because some one has betrayed you; and you, believing the lies, are made deeply unhappy. If you drive up in front of an inn—in a coach, say the old dream-books, but we of 1920 had better say, "in an automobile"—you will be invited to a joyous party.

An inn gaily decorated means a reconciliation, an inn hung with black, inside or out, is an omen of a funeral of some one you liked rather well. If you stumble upon entering tavern or inn, you will not get your dearest wish.

And here is a hint of a rare and strange dream, and its meaning: To dream that you try to enter an inn and find it closed, means that, when you believe that the man of your choice is about to declare himself, you will instead find out that he is engaged to another or you may even be told that he is already married.

Men who dream of inns and taverns will be tempted to riotous living. Wherever the above interpretations can apply to men, they hold good for both sexes.

GIRLS TAKE OFFERING AT METHODIST CHURCH

Two young women assisted in receiving the offering at the First Methodist church at the Sunday evening service. The innovation was an entire success and after the congregation had had its opportunity to contribute, the more than collector emptied the amount he had gathered into the young woman's collection basket.

MRS. BISHOP HOSTESS TO 500 CLUB FRIDAY

The 1920 Five Hundred club was entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. Harold D. Durst, 1204 Young street. Those present were Mesdames Gartin D. Chastain, Geo. R. Shouse, David K. Lever, Bart F. Freeman, Percy Learned, Parker F. Davis, Harry D. Bishop, Murray C. Grayson, Harold E. Whitbeck, E. E. Mickleley, Horace Able, Ira Nourse, M. F. Stewart, J. Wick, Harold D. Durst and Mrs. Ida Davis. First prize was won by Mrs. Parker F. Davis and the consolation by Mrs. Bart F. Freeman. Dainty refreshments were served. The club will meet next Friday with Mrs. Harry D. Bishop, 1101 Young street.

NEW LAWN SHOULD BE PRODUCER OF BILLIARD BALLS

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—A lawn that is not a lawn, but looks like a lawn and is said by its owner to be better than a lawn—a waterless, mowless, weedless, gopherless lawn—in short, a cement "lawn," painted grass-green, has made its appearance in front of a Los Angeles bungalow.

Mrs. A. C. Woodward, inventor and owner, says it saves time, money and worry. She never has to water it; she never has to cut it; it is always dry enough to sit on—and it needs painting only once a year.

She has circular holes cut through the lawn and in them and along the edges she has flowers planted.

"I invented the cement lawn," she said, "because of trouble I had in getting a man to take care of my old grass lawn. It cost only $67.

"You don't know what a blessing it is," she continued. "Do you know, I believe there would be much less unhappiness in married life if the husband would use a cement instead of a grass lawn, and so avoid having to come home after work and run an old lawn mower over the front yard every night."

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given that M. A. Turner, Receiver, as above said, will, on the 26th day of June, 1920, at 2 o'clock p. m., sell for cash at the site of the plant of the Odessa Oil & Refining Company near City of Ranger, Eastland County, Tex., to highest and best bidder therefor all the property and assets of the Defendant, Odessa Oil & Refining Company, which property and assets consist of the oil refining plant, machinery,

ORGANDY HAT TO MATCH THE FROCK IS FAVORITE FAD OF NEW SUMMER SEASON

Wide brimmed hats of organdy to match organdy frocks are very popular and they are also attractive accomplishments for music frocks. Finely dotted swiss is also used for hats of this type, but organdy is the favored material. Rose organdy in charming garden party effect piped with organdy in a darker tone fashions this hat. A band of ribbon to match the piping and a delicately tinted rose are the only evidence of trimming.

PRAIRIE NO. 5... HANKS MAKING 350 BARRELS

The Prairie Oil & Gas company's E. R. Hanks No. 5, located south of the Pleasant Grove district and north of Olden, is making about 350 barrels of oil, natural production from the line. There is one other producer on the 150-acre tracts tract. No. 1 came in on Feb. 15 with an initial production of 400 barrels. The company has seven locations on the 160 acres. Nos. 6 and 7 are rigs and Nos. 3 and 4 are drilling.

The Prairie Oil & Gas company's E. R. Hanks No. 5, located south of the Pleasant Grove district, is swabbing 150 barrels. The top of the sand was struck at 3,463 and the total depth is 3,503. The well will be started.

In the Breckinridge pool, Sun company's E. W. Stoker No. 4, a half mile west of the county seat, was drilled in yesterday and is making 250 barrels at a total depth of 3,125. The well is being lined with 3,160 feet. The line will be jarred with about sixty quarts fixtures, furniture and appurtenances, buildings, structures, edifices and improvements, and surface title to lots, tracts, pieces or parcels of land upon which the same are situated and located, and known and described as follows:

Part of the W. C. and C. Boswell 640 acre survey, abstract No. 9, and beginning on the west line of the Texas & Pacific railroad right of way and north line of said Boswell survey, thence S. 29 W. 400 varas, thence N. 70 W. 465 varas, thence N. 20 E. 200 varas, thence E. 465 varas to the beginning and containing twenty-five (25) acres of land 512. Deed Records of Eastland County, Texas.

Said sale is subject to the following terms and provisions in said Order of Sale contained:

1. All bids must be in writing, sealed and submitted to the undersigned on or before the day and hour above stated.

2. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for not less than twenty (20) per cent of the amount of the bid, with written agreement to pay over to M. A. Turner, receiver of the Odessa Oil & Refining Company, the remaining unpaid balance of such bid upon approval thereof by the Court and tender of proper conveyance by the Receiver into successful bidder.

3. All bids will remain unopened until June 26th, 1920, at which hour and place all bids will be publicly opened by the receiver.

4. All checks accompanying bids will be returned to bidders other than successful bidders immediately after opening the bids.

5. The Receiver will submit all proceedings had by him hereunder, with his recommendations to the Court for its action in accepting or rejecting such sale.

6. The right to make and enter orders rejecting any and all bids hereunder, or acceptance thereof, is reserved by the Court in itself.

Witness my hand at Ranger, Texas, this 9th day of June, 1920.

M. A. TURNER, Receiver Odessa Oil & Refining Co.

KANSAS NEEDS WORKERS WHEN HARVEST COMES

International News Service.
 KANSAS CITY, June 21.—Fifty thousand harvest hands will be needed to harvest the 7,725,000 acres of wheat grown in Kansas, which is expected to begin immediately. In fact, already in one of two isolated spots the harvest has begun, but the getting of the grain will not be general for several days, owing to the very wet weather of the spring.

The cutting is expected to be "full blast" by June 25, and the state and federal employment offices scattered over the state are busy handling men. The harvest will gradually spread northward over the state, and in the northern part the first of July will see the work actually begun.

Nebraska grain will be ripe early in July, and by the time the later part of the month is reached the hundreds and thousands of harvest hands will be working in the Dakotas.

Oklahoma is just finishing its harvest, which amounted to 2,811,000 acres were planted to wheat. Hundreds of bands will journey through the wheat belt from Oklahoma to Canada "making" the harvest.

Wages in Kansas this year will be larger than usual. At a recent meeting of wheat growers of this section, held at Hutchinson, a minimum price of $3.14 a bushel was fixed for wheat. The standard wage scale for Kansas will be 70 cents an hour for a ten-hour day. Board and lodging free are included.

No schedule for cooks, stackers or threshing engineers was announced.

In Stafford county, however, farmers agreed not to pay more than $7 a day, and to pay a $500 fine if they did pay more.

In some places last year scales of as high as $12 and $11 were paid, and it is expected the scale may reach that this year.

BOXING BOOM WINS SUPPORT OF NOBLE WOMAN OF ENGLAND

LONDON.—Britain's unprecedented boxing boom has won the support of the Lady Mayoresse of London, who has publicly given her stamp of approval to the manly art of self-defense.

Old precedents have been crumbling in England like card houses since early in the war and after the armistice they continued to crumble.

No lady mayress ever acknowledged herself a "fight fan" before Lady Cowper showed her great interest in it when distributing prizes recently at the Working Lads' Institute in Whitechapel. She previously had shown her independence of tradition in nominating the elevator in the historic Mansion House when in a hurry. So far she has not been present at any of the gala boxing nights in the British metropolis, but she would have plenty of feminine company if she were to attend any of the big events.

When addressing the institute she asked the superintendent, the Rev. Thomas Johnson, if boxing was included in the physical exercises of the boys. She was visibly disappointed when the reverend gentleman gave a negative reply.

"Then I wish you did. I was at Ilford the other night and saw some boys boxing. I thought it was splendid. The boxers shook hands with one another and the other boys fanned them when they were hot. I thought it rather a fine thing. I had never seen boxing before. I must say it is a very healthy exercise. Besides that feeling of sport which I like to see among boys, the physical exercise gives to them smartness, alertness and patience."

The lady mayress's espousal of boxing has aroused interest in her possible verdict should she really see two "heavyweights" at work with "haymakers."

In former times most of the women who attended boxing contests were either connected with the stage or were relatives or friends of the contestants. Nowadays no big match is held without there being present large numbers of women, many of whom are keenly interested in boxing.

There are still many, however, who don't like a ringside seat, not so much because of the possible carnage in the ring as the unwillingness to sit in the full glare of the powerful white lights which have been introduced here to permit proper photographing of the star events. These lights, say some of the feminine enthusiasts, show up the wrinkles and "crow's feet" plainly. It is also necessary under the circumstances to continually apply downy powder puffs to their noses.

WILSON'S YACHT STANDS READY TO START ON CRUISE

International News Service.
 WASHINGTON.—Commander Rals, U. S. Navy, commanding the Mayflower, the presidential yacht, reported that the vessel will be ready for a cruise within ten days, although the president and Mrs. Wilson are not expected to take any river trips until later in the season.

The Mayflower has undergone extensive repairs and alterations during the last few weeks in preparation for the weekend cruises planned by the president and Mrs. Wilson. President Wilson much prefers an automobile trip to a cruise on the Mayflower, so it is not expected that he will take much recreation on the river.

No plans of even a tentative nature have been made for the president to leave Washington before July. It is understood that the president will remain at the White House, where there are all conveniences and facilities for his care and comfort, until the weather becomes extremely warm.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE FOR WEAR WITH SEPARATE SKIRTS

Many women have become so attached to overblouses that they have filled their summer wardrobes with pretty smocks, Russian blouses and blouses of different fabrics which they will wear over dainty skirts of silk or cotton. Here is a smart blouse made on the Russian lines. It is fashioned of a heavy quality of white gingham and is embroidered in an intricate design in a pretty shade of blue.

Britain Not to Give Up War in Favor of Peace

By FLOYD MACGRIFF.
 International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON.—The war-cut is out of the bag again.

Sir Henry Wilson, field marshal in the British army and director-general of operations at the British war office, says:

"We have been told that we went into the last war to end war. We did not; we went into it to save our skins."

"We were told that after the recent war we were to have peace, but we have not got it. There are at present between twenty and thirty wars going on."

"We were told that the war was to end war, but it was not; it did not and could not."

Addressing the officers of the various British army services at the Union Jack Club, Field Marshal Wilson said:

"I hope you men, to whatever branch of the service you belong, will do all you can to keep fit and ready for the time our country and our empire never wanted you more."

"We are living in a selfish and dangerous time, and our command on sea, on land and in the air is being challenged in various parts of the world."

"I hope you will carry this—warning if you like—away with you from a very old soldier who knows what he is talking about."

Sir Henry's statement, cool and calculated, has aroused considerable debate. The Westminster Gazette hails it as a highly courageous declaration of truth which many British politicians have sought to hide. A member of parliament who fought further enlightenment on the question, being particularly concerned as to what power Britain would fight next—Russia or the United States—got no satisfaction.

THINK OF BITTER TEARS THE POOR LEMON SHEDS

By FLOYD MACGRIFF.
 International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, June 21.—Be kind to the carrot. And pray pause to consider the asparagus suffering in melted butter.

For Sir Jagadiz Chunder Bose, noted scientist, says that twenty years of experimentation has convinced him that plants have a nervous system corresponding to that of animals.

He found that if vegetables are given alcohol they get drunk. A carrot under chloroform wrote with a staggering hand. A leaf severed from its parent stem sent an effecting dying message. Sir Jagadiz has a delicate instrument which registers all these plant life impulses.

"These facts being so," concludes the Evening News, "vegetarians must reconsider their position. They can no longer continue to gorge on the carrot's corpse, or to crush between their ferocious jaws the death agonies of the nut."

No tender-hearted housewife, reading these lines, can any more steel her nerves to gouge the eyes out of a living potato, or flay an innocent onion. Flesh eaters are jubilant, remarking to vegetarians how often they have heard the hiss and sizzle of the saucers, believing it to be only the gravy boiling, when it was really the Irish stew screaming in its death agony.

Every time one eats salad, the meat eaters point out, the kitchen will resound with the plaintive cry of the dismembered lettuce, the heart-rending moan of the beets bleating to death and the shriek of the watercress and celery, being torn limb from limb.

KANSAS FARMERS HOLDING 21,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT

International News Service.
 TOPEKA, Kan.—More than 21,000,000 bushels of the 1919 wheat crop are being held by Kansas farmers, according to J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture.

This time last year there were but 6,000,000 bushels of wheat in the hands of Kansas producers. The shortage is blamed for present conditions.

Redd: This new car of yours cost more than your other one, I suppose? Greene: Oh, yes, considerably more. Redd: But the old one seemed to run freer than this one. Greene: Yes, of course. There's a mortgage on this one.—Yonkers Statesman.

LONG LIST OF SYMPTOMS

North Carolina Lady Was Nervous, Weak and Suffered Greatly, But Relief Soon Came After She Took Cardui.

Ashville, N. C.—Mrs. J. A. Sluder, of 45 Woodrow Avenue, his city, recently made the following statement:

"I was in a very run-down condition after . . . I wasn't able to go. I was nervous, weak and couldn't do my work."

"I felt like, at times, no matter what happened, I couldn't get up a spark of interest."

"I was depressed, blue and continually on the lookout for something to happen."

"I couldn't sleep to do any good, and had to force myself to eat when meal time came."

"I suffered some pain in my back and sides, but the worst trouble was weakness and depression."

"I decided to try a tonic."

"My sister had gotten such fine results from Cardui, I began using it."

"Soon I noticed I would get hungry, and sleep at night, and this, of course, was a great help."

"I grew less nervous."

"The depression left me and soon I was well and strong."

"I enjoy good health, thanks to Cardui." Ask your druggist about it.

As Good as Its Roof

No building is any better than its roof for the roof plays the most important part in protecting the contents of the building. The roof gets all the wear of the weather; the hot rays of the summer sun, the pelting rains of autumn, the driving sleet of winter, the melting snows of spring. So, make those new buildings good by covering them with Ru-ber-oid.

RU-BER-OID ROOFING

will not soften nor ooze oil under the fiercest rays of the tropic sun. It is leak-proof—in fact, you may soak it in water for months without its being in any way affected. It will not crack or become brittle in below-zero weather nor will the wet snows of early spring penetrate its tough coating of asphalt composition.

Ru-ber-oid, when properly laid, lies flat and will not "pull", it will not sweat nor corrode through from the under side (as metal will), it will wear as long as, and is far less expensive than a shingle roof.

But do not confuse Ru-ber-oid with other ready-roofings. There are many that look like it, feel like it, and seem like it in every way, but they are not like it. There is only one Ru-ber-oid, and that has been made for the last quarter century by The Standard Paint Company, the pioneer manufacturers of prepared roofings.

We would be glad to tell you more about Ru-ber-oid Roofing. We always have it in stock. Phone us today for samples and prices.

There is but one Ru-ber-oid.

DISCOVERS RICH ORE IN GREAT OIL FIELD

AUGUSTA, Kan.—C. A. Calkins has "struck it rich" in a bluff about three-quarters of a mile south of here. A vein of gold assaying $28 a ton has been uncovered.

A seventy-five-foot shaft has been sunk by Calkins, who reports the ore much richer at that depth than near the surface. The gold mine is surrounded by the rich Augusta oil fields.

A boy entered the cobbler's shop with a pair of shoes. "Father wants 'em repaired," he said, "and they must be done for Sunday." "What's he want done to them?" the cobbler inquired. "Wants 'em soled and stretched," the boy replied. "Wants 'em stretched, hey?" the man returned. "Where do they pinch him?" "Don't pinch him at all; he pinched them."—Houston Post.
