THIRD MURDER IN LAWTON IN WEEK EXPOSED

Body Found Buried in Sand;
Two Men, Two Women
Are Held.

International News Service
LAWTON, Okla., March 31.—The body of Russell Sprague was found buried in the quicksand of Armstrong creek, seventeen miles north of here early today. The discovery reveals the third murder in Lawton in a week. The find follows the arrest of Sprague's alleged murderers at Tarrytown.

The slayers directed authorities where to find the body. Two men, Will Tate and George Gobin, and two women, Mrs. Louise Bell and Eva Hewitt, are under arrest in Tarrytown.

According to their story they lured Sprague to a farm house eleven miles from Lawton, where they went in an automobile.

At the farm house Sprague was beaten unconscious and shot through the head. The body was then carried eleven miles in the car and hidden in the creek. The murder occurred Saturday night. A search was started by Sprague's parents the next day in which more than two hundred citizens joined. The murderers were apprehended in Sprague's stolen car. Sheriff Frampton was expected to bring the prisoners back here today, although five automobiles filled with citizens followed him to Tarrytown. It is feared his violence will be attempted somewhere on the return trip.

LITTLETON IS GIVEN 10 YEARS FOR MURDER

Special to the Times.
EASTLAND, March 31.—Ten years in the penitentiary was the penalty assessed against John Littleton by the jury in the Ninety-first district court here today, on a charge of murder. Littleton shot and killed his father-in-law, Cal Yancy, at the latter's home here, where he had gone to affect a reconciliation with his wife. Littleton and his wife were separated at the time of the killing.

Stories of threats which Yancy was alleged to have made against Littleton in the weeks preceding the shooting, the death of Yancy in his home were introduced, and children were excluded from the court room when the evidence being presented assumed a lurid character.

Women, however, availed themselves of permission granted by the court to remain if they so desired. The following composed the jury, selected from a venire of 150: W. C. Harris, W. E. Frost, J. J. Cranshaw, J. A. Gardner, Albert Yates, E. E. Daniels, I. R. Harper, S. A. Eison, Jack Blackwell, George Barton, J. E. Biewer and W. P. Armstrong.

MONTANA PLANS STIFF TAX ON ALL THOSE WHO DEFY CUPID'S WIVES

HELENA, Mont., March 31.—Montana's bachelor maids and men are in a dilemma. They are caught by the tax collector if they stay single and they must pay the price more for the Lohengrin march if they trot in double harness.

One bill in the state legislature proposes a tax of $10 for every man and woman who is unmarried, not supported by another and is between the ages of 21 and 50 years.

The proceeds are to be divided three ways—the state to receive 60 per cent as revenue, and the counties to get 20 per cent for widows' pension funds, and 20 per cent for the counties' poor funds.

The latter tax is to be collected by the county assessor at any time in the year, and he is to remit to the state treasurer every quarter. He is permitted to sell property to collect the tax on three hours' verbal notice and also holds all corporations liable for the tax from their employees. In addition, to make collection easy, it may be collected from the debtors of unwinning taxpayers and taken off the amount due.

CLOSED BANK'S SHAREHOLDERS ARE ASSESSED

Judge Starnes' Office Is Moved to Bank Building; Many Signing Up.

Judge Starnes' office, opened this week for the purpose of signing up depositors' agreements to the bank reopening plan, was moved this afternoon from the Gholson hotel lobby to the First National bank building. This change was made with the consent of Receiver Murphy, for the purpose of making it more convenient for the depositors. They will thus be enabled to get their statements and know just how much they have in the bank.

Since the office was opened Monday, there has been a constant stream of depositors coming around.

Notice of Assessment.
Due notice of assessment against shareholders in the First National has been sent to all stockholders. The notice is issued by D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency, and reads as follows:

"To All Whom It May Concern:
"Whereas upon a proper accounting by the receiver heretofore appointed to collect the assets of the First National bank of Ranger, Texas, and upon a valuation of the uncollected assets remaining in his hands, it appears to my satisfaction that in order to pay the debts of such association it is necessary to enforce the individual liability of the stockholders thereof to the extent hereinafter mentioned, as prescribed by sections 551 and 524 of the revised statutes of the United States; Section 1, c. 156, act of June 30, 1876, and section 23 of the act approved Dec. 23, 1913, known as the federal reserve act.

"Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by law, I do hereby make an assessment and requisition upon the shareholders of the said First National bank of Ranger for $200,000, to be paid by them retab, on or before the 27th day of April, 1921; and I hereby make demand upon each and every one of them for $100 upon each and every share of the capital stock of said association held or owned by them respectively, at the time of its failure; and I hereby direct David Murphy, the receiver heretofore appointed, to take all necessary proceedings, by suit or otherwise, to enforce to that extent the said individual liability of said shareholders.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused my seal of office to be affixed to these presents at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, this 31st day of March, 1921. D. R. CRISSINGER,
"Comptroller of the Currency."

HUNGARY GETS NOTE.

International News Service
LONDON, March 31.—The Hungarian government has received a note from the Allies stating that the return of the Hapsburg family (former King Charles) to the Hungarian throne, would be considered cause for war, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Daily Express today.

It is possible the note referred to came from the so-called "Little Entente," which was formerly Czecho-Slovakia, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, and that through an error in transmission in the dispatch from Berlin it may have been made to read "Entente" instead of "Little Entente."

JAZZ SINGIN' IN CHURCH! PASTOR CHIDES CHOIR

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 31.—The congregation of the First Baptist church is split into two camps today—all because a jazz note entered into the singing of a psalm.

The pastor, Dr. C. B. Miller, halted the choir in the middle of a song last Sunday and warned the singers to "cut out the jazz notes."

"Wait for the congregation," he admonished.
Richie R. Benson, pastor, resigned today. He denied "jazzing the psalm."

TAMMANY MACHINE HAD NOTHING ON CITIZENS' SPEAKERS DECLARE

Non-Partisans Score Methods by Which Opponents for City Offices Framed Ticket and Forced it Down People's Throats; Personalities Avoided.

The method by which the candidates on the Citizens ticket for mayor and commissioners were brought into the field was made an issue in the political campaign last night at a mass meeting of the Non-Partisan party held at the Summer Garden. It was said by several speakers that seventeen men behind closed doors framed the ticket and then tried to force it down the people's throats. One speaker said that Tammany hall in New York city in its palmiest days was a farce in comparison to the methods used in Ranger in bringing out the citizens' ticket. However, no mud slinging was indulged in. The candidates of that party were highly lauded by their opponents.

About 150 persons were present, many of whom were women. They heard speeches by Lytton R. Taylor, Raymond Teal, C. R. Fields, John Moore, Dr. Bob Hodges, Edward R. Duggan, W. R. Fleming and William McNary.

Taylor spoke first, in the interest of his candidacy for police and fire commissioner. He declared that in the police department he favored higher salaries for the officers, to obviate the possibility of their being lured to take graft money in order to make a living. He also favored more pay for the fire department.

Taylor declared that all the lawmakers in the world could write laws, but that custom would still make the law, and 'twas that reason he did not favor blue Sunday law enforcement because the people did not want blue Sunday laws. For a moment he dwelt on the system by which the Citizens' ticket was brought into the field.

Both Duggan and Fields spoke in favor of Fleming's candidacy for mayor.

Fields declared that the question of whether the candidates for the office were oldtimers or newcomers should not be injected into the campaign, since it had nothing to do with the aspirants' qualifications; but since it had been injected, Fleming should receive a majority at the polls, because the majority of the citizens of the town were newcomers.

Fleming Permanent.
Duggan stated that Mr. Fleming had come to Ranger to make it his permanent home and was here to help, and he believed that if Fleming was elected mayor he could do more to place Ranger in the 60,000 class than any other man in the city. He

"LIBERALIZING" OF DRY RULES WILL BE POLICY HEREAFTER

Dispensers Can Begin Tomorrow to Withdraw
100 Gallons Wine and Whisky Each Three Months; Larger Quantities if Needed.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Wine and whisky for the sick can now be withdrawn by retail druggists from bonded warehouses to meet all necessary demands.

Orders were issued today authorizing druggists to begin tomorrow to withdraw in such amounts as it is assumed the demands of their business will require. The new instructions modify the order of Jan. 28, limiting withdrawals by druggists to five cases of liquor on one withdrawal.

Druggists will hereafter be permitted to withdraw up to 100 gallons of whisky and 100 gallons of wine each three months. They will be allowed to withdraw in large amounts, Prohibition Commissioner Williams directed, by furnishing satisfactory proof to the prohibition director in their district that a larger quantity is necessary to meet the demands of their trade.

To "Liberalize" Rules.

Commissioner Williams said one of the first steps to be taken by the internal revenue bureau will be to "liberalize" the dry regulations since former Attorney General Palmer issued a ruling placing wine and beer officially in the status of whisky for medicinal purposes.

Brewers over the country have also signified their readiness to resume the manufacture of beer, and are awaiting the construction to be placed on the new rulings, as to what amounts can be dispensed.

CENSUS SHOWS WE'RE SMARTER 'N WE USE TER BE

Alabama Most Illiterate Makes
Big Strides Toward Erudition, Report Says.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The census bureau returns today on the first three states in the 1920 enumeration completed on the subject indicate illiteracy is decreasing in the nation. In Alabama, where the percentage of illiteracy was found to be 22.9 per cent of the total population over ten years of age in 1910, in 1920 the percentage was 16.1. The percentage dropped from 12.6 in 1910 to 9.4 in 1920 in Arkansas. In Delaware from 8.1 to 5.9. Illiterate persons include those unable to write under tabulation. In all three states the percentage of illiteracy in rural districts is greater than in cities. In Alabama 17.8 per cent of rural residents are illiterate, 10.4 per cent in cities. In Arkansas 13.6 rural and 6.5 urban. In Delaware 6.1 rural and 5.7 urban.

CITY POLL TAX IS NOT NECESSARY TO QUALIFY IN ELECTION APRIL FIFTH

A city poll tax is not necessary in order to qualify as a voter in the election of April 5, according to George Hemmingson, city secretary, who, this morning issued the following statement concerning the tax:

Persistent rumors are going around over the city that a city poll tax receipt will be necessary to vote in the city election, April 5. This is not true. The question of assessing a city poll tax the non-payment of which would disfranchise the voter was discussed but no action was ever taken on it by the city commission, and until this action is taken, every voter otherwise qualified, may vote in the city election, regardless of whether he has paid his city poll tax. This also applies to women.

GEORGE HEMMINGSON,
City Secretary.

DAWSON, SLAYER OF TOM BUSHERT AT CAMP, OUT ON TWO THOUSAND BOND

Special to the Times.
BRECKENRIDGE, March 31.—J. J. Dawson, charged with the murder of Tom Bushert of the Gulf camp on the night of March 12, is out on $2,000 bond. The jury after an all-night session Tuesday failed to agree and was discharged by Judge Hamlin yesterday at 1:30 p. m. The jury agreed on conviction but not on the degree of murder. Dawson, who is from Arizona, after writing to Bushert for an explanation of his relations with his wife and receiving an unsatisfactory reply, followed him to Breckenridge and shot Bushert when the latter raised the window to answer a call from outside.

HARDING GETS BUSY ON JOB OF RAILROADS

International News Service
WASHINGTON, March 31.—President Harding today took up the difficult task of untangling the railroad snarl. The President conferred with Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the railroad labor board, and Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission. With these two officials the President planned to make a thorough study of the present railroad situation.

One of the first questions which the President is understood to have taken up is that of reduction of wages for railroad employes and reduction of freight and passenger rates for the railroads.

Railroad executives are understood to have already laid before the President arguments showing the necessity for reduction of wages and the President desires data from Judge Barton as to the views of the board on this subject.

BRECKENRIDGE FIRES AT HIS SWEETHEART AND SUICIDES

International News Service

Mrs. Stewart was uninjured, but fell in a faint when Dalton started to shoot. She had refused to talk or walk with him when he met her at her boarding house on his way to work. They had been keeping company for fifteen months.

'IF YOUR WIFE'D PUT POISON IN YOUR TEA,' 'TD DRINK IT,' IS REPLY

LONDON, March 31.—Women took a prominent part in the recent hotly contested big election campaign in Cardiganshire, Wales, in which Captain Ernest Evans, Premier Lloyd George's secretary, finally won by 2,500 majority over Llewellyn Williams, independent liberal. Some enlightening incidents marked the canvass.

"If I were your wife I would put poison in your tea," a woman shouted at Llewellyn Williams, who was addressing a meeting.

HUGE BEAST'S BONES FOUND UNDER LONDON

LONDON, March 31.—The soil under London is constantly yielding up history, and the bones just uncovered at a depth of forty-five feet beneath Regent street form one more small link in an ever-lengthening chain.

These prove to be relics of an elephant and an ox, creatures different from any other at present existing, which grazed around the wide marshes that in those long past ages covered a great part of what is now the second city in population in the world.

Elephants, bigger than any now existing, and standing at least fifteen feet to the shoulder, must have been plentiful in England in those days.

At Chelsea a few years ago there was dug up a lump of ivory weighing no less than sixteen pounds, which, on examination, proved to be a mammoth's tooth. It was fifteen inches broad, nearly a foot deep, and in most perfect preservation.

Hippopotami of gigantic size wallowed in the shallow water of London's old lagoons, and there were also smaller animals of the same type, of which remains have been found under London. They were about the size of a retriever dog.

Under Fleet street there was found the skull of an enormous rhinoceros, which is now in the natural history museum at South Kensington.

Human relics are not lacking. In the British museum there is now a lead coffin, six feet seven inches in length, which was unearthed in North London. This contained the bones of a man who is believed to have been buried no fewer than four thousand years ago, and argues a much higher state of civilization at that epoch than we have been accustomed to consider possible.

METHODISTS' PRAYERS IMPRESSED FOCH MUCH

PARIS, March 31.—Two new stories of Marshal Foch illumine a side of his character which adds to his influence and charm.

At a crisis in the war Clemenceau went to see him at the front. When the premier arrived he was told by an officer at headquarters that the marshal was at mass, "but," he added, "if it is a matter of special importance I will call him out."

"No, no," was the quick response, "leave him alone. It has carried him through very well so far."

In March, 1918—such a month as France and Britain may well hope never to see again—a Methodist council in London adopted a resolution to send a telegram to Marshal Foch with the words:

"We are praying for you."

The telegram was sent but no reply was received. After the armistice, Foch, in conversation with an English statesman, confided to him that one of the things which had moved him most in the war was the receipt of an extraordinary telegram stating that the Methodists of England were praying for him.

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO ARE REPORTED GOOD

W. L. Gibson, superintendent of the McKenzie Construction company, returned last night from a trip of several days to Monterey, Mexico, where he has been on business for his company. Conditions in the Mexican city, Mr. Gibson said, are fairly good.

However, over in Mexico City and that section he stated that a drought was prevailing which was forcing the city to limit its electric power at night for lack of water, which will not be overcome until the wet season sets in. This season starts about June.

While away Mr. Gibson visited his family in San Antonio.

ISLAND VILLAGE BARS AUTOS BECAUSE FIRST ONE SCARED THE FOLKS

ISLESBORO, Maine, March 31.—At a recent town meeting it was voted to exclude the automobile, thus making Islesboro the distinction of being the only town in Maine where the automobile is not allowed. Only one automobile was ever brought to Islesboro by the late Captain Fields Pendleton. It scared the horses half to death, not to mention some of the people on the island, who had never seen a machine. It was run only a few times and then sold on the mainland.

There is but little pleasure in auto-mobiling on Islesboro, for the island is only thirteen miles long and so narrow in some places that the high tides wash over it.

RUSK ST. AT ELM WEISS BROS. EXCLUSIVE OUTFITTERS TO WOMEN AND MEN NEXT TO LIBERTY THEATRE

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

"Now you've fixed up a real treat" said Old Hullabaloo to Mary Jane

Mary Jane and Old Hullabaloo the Hound

MARY JANE and Old Hullabaloo had been good friends ever since Mary Jane had been big enough to toddle around and pull Hullabaloo's ears, and try to tie knots in his tail.

Well, one day Old Hullabaloo came back home all tired out, with his tongue hanging out, and the first thing he said to Mary was "Have you anything good to eat in the house?" Mary said "I'll see" and she went in and looked all around.

There were some apples, and tomatoes, and sweet cider, and eggs. But Hullabaloo said he wasn't hungry for these things. So Mary made up a nice spread of bread and some delicious Mary Jane Syrup, and took it out.

"Now you've fixed up a real treat" said Hullabaloo. "That's something I like." And he ate every bit of it.

Then he said: "If I were a smart little girl like you, instead of an old hound dog, I'd tell the world that Mary Jane Syrup was the very finest spread anybody could possibly use."

And that's why Mary Jane is telling everybody that Mary Jane Syrup is the best thing you could possibly give every little boy and girl—on waffles, pancakes or corn bread.

DETROIT TAKES MAULING MELEE FROM COLUMBUS

Though Outhit, the Tigers Walloped Apple at Prop-er Time.

Columbus and Detroit played their last ball game here yesterday, while the grandstand caught the acue from shivering bodies and the music was furnished by chattering teeth.

Detroit won, 9 to 5, by bunching their wallpops behind errors or by Columbus bunching their errors by hind wallpops.

Sherman was soundly bumped into the opening round. He made the mistake of walking Flagstead, with one down.

In the next round, Brainard went way over in front of Pechous after a slow one, then let the shortstop have it, and with the emergency thrust upon him, Pechous bobbed.

Columbus' best effort was in the ninth, when they staged a small sized attack on Sutherland, a Pacific Coast star last year.

SENATORS START HOMEWARD TRIP; FIVE GO BACK TO 'LITTLE BUSHES'

The Senators left Ranger last night on their homeward trip. They play the Tigers at Fort Worth again today.

Campbell, "the kid" shortstop, who has fielded so flashily and thumped solidly was sent to the Terre Haute club of the Three I league.

Catcher Haines goes to St. Petersburg, Fla., down in the "millionaires' league."

Outfielder Burke was sent to Rock Island of the Three I league. Lenoir was billed to remain in Ranger, but says he has hurt his back.

There were scores of hearty handshakes and good wishes expressed both ways around the hotel last night.

PUG CHAMPS SAFE AFTER WINTER'S WORK

Workout Season Was One of Biggest in History of Boxing.

By HENRY FARRELL. United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, March 31.—With the possible exception of Johnny Kilbane, all the pugilistic champions seem firmly seated on their thrones after one of the biggest winters in the history of boxing.

Wilson, the middleweight champion and one of those of whom the bugs said, "He's done for the first time he defends the title," was the first to prove himself the best in his class.

Wilson is far from what the American expects in a ring champion, but nevertheless he proved himself the best in the division by defeating Mike O'Dowd, ranked the next best, for the second time.

The Boston Italian, when O'Dowd was charging the referee who took the title away from him with "farcy" came out with a line that may follow him to the end of his career.

O'Dowd not only lost his bid for the crown he used to wear, but he demonstrated that he is not to be considered any more in middleweight matters.

Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, was the only titleholder to remain inactive during the winter. Several times it seemed he would defend his title, but the negotiations were never completed.

As was said of Johnny Wilson before he gave O'Dowd a return fight, the fans were predicting all winter that the first good featherweight to get in the ring with Kilbane would take the title away from him.

Several times it seemed he would defend his title, but the negotiations were never completed. It would not surprise close followers of the sport if the Cleveland Irishman never pulled on the gloves again.

As was said of Johnny Wilson before he gave O'Dowd a return fight, the fans were predicting all winter that the first good featherweight to get in the ring with Kilbane would take the title away from him.

Just Notes—

Big Buckeye probably will have the Columbus fans behind him this year if Ranger's feelings are any indications.

There was a ludicrous mixup in the ninth when Pitcher Middleton hit to third base.

Two men on the Detroit team found relatives or friends here. Huber, the third baseman, is a brother of the Hubers who have a paint and wall paper store on Main street.

It was just like a story old "Sis" Hopkins, who played a long time ago in the T.-O. league, used to tell, to wit:

"The funniest game I ever played in was down there in Texas. The score was pretty tight, with us a little behind, there was quite a lot on the game.

"Old Man" Britton gave evidence in trouncing Ted Lewis that he is still the best of the welterweights. Lou Bogash has been considered as worthy of a chance for the title, but he is far from ready.

Joe Lynch has had a lot of contenders following him since he took the title from Pete Herman, but he also seems safely housed with the crown.

As to Jack Dempsey, it is merely a matter of opinion. The heavyweight champion lost a lot of prestige when Bill Brennan stayed with him for twelve rounds.

Carpenter looks safe for life as the light heavyweight king, unless he decides to give Tommy Gibbons a chance at the title.

Jimmy Wilde isn't considered the marvel that he used to be since Pete Herman knocked him out, but he still looks to be better than any boy who will make the weight for him.

A lot of folks are looking at the sign out in right field and wondering how many dollars it is going to cost Mr. Summers.

With Columbus out of the way, Manager Allen commences his real slave driving tactics with the Ninos today.

The West Texas A. & M. college bill still rests before the governor. Objection that it had been passed after 12 o'clock, the time prescribed by the constitution for the legislative sessions to end, is the sole remaining straw at which its opponents are clutching.

Possibly they are correct, so far as technicalities are concerned. But it would appear that custom has made the clock a matter of no consequence in governmental functioning. No further back than March 4, the clock was turned back a couple of hours, in order that Harding might be inaugurated at 12. Up in the East, cities are adopting daylight saving on their own account, and without regard to the laws fixing the time zones of the country. Therefore, following out the theory of the bitter enders, President Harding was sworn in illegally and everything done in those cities mentioned is illegal.

It might be well for those persons who cannot stomach the West Texas A. & M. bill, to change their minds or move. West Texas is going to have its college, because it feels it needs it and is entitled to it. If it is killed this time, by technicalities or veto, West Texas will be right back bucking the line again. It is one of the things that must come to pass, and that is all there is to it. The only effect of opposition will be to arouse sectional prejudice, and aside from legislators, nobody wants that.

LETTING GEORGE DO IT.

So Hungary is to have a king again. Habits once acquired are hard to shake off, and Hungary has had the king habit for a long, long time. It really is much easier to set someone up to make all the decisions, and if you don't like them, say "Ah, well, it can't be helped, the king has spoken," or something like that. It saves a lot of thought and a lot of time that might just as well be devoted to drinking or eating or sleeping or other pleasurable habits, rather than to worry over politics and principles.

Americans, however, will wonder if Hungarians had to have a king, why they didn't look around and find some brilliant, stalwart man, with whom to found a new dynasty; why in refurbishing their house they went to the barn loft and dragged out a battered relic of none too good quality, instead of something new.

The answer is simple. When you need a carpenter, you do not send for a plumber, do you? Nor have your plumbing done by a printer? Well, needing a king, they looked around for somebody in the king business.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

The Tired Business Man withdrew his latchkey from the door and joyously hailed Friend Wife, inviting her and the Mid-Victorian Lady, who was dining with them to visit a favorite Broadway "movie" where "Doug" was performing some of his marvelous stunts.

Haste was necessary in order to secure the seats desired by the T. B. M. and the three scrambled through their excellent dinner.

Mrs. T. B. M. was just putting on her hat when the telephone rang. Did it ever fail at a critical juncture? The voice at the other end was that of Sister-in-Law, in town from the South for a few days and unfortunately anything but a favorite with the in-laws. Mr. T. B. M. frantically signalled his wife not to include Jane in the party, and Mrs. T. B. M., naturally a truthful woman, proceeded nervously to ward her off.

"Is that you, Betty?" said Jane. "What are you going to do tonight?" Excited by frantic signs from Husband, Betty replied, "Why, we are just going to the theatre."

If unkind Fate had been busy or detained at home all might have gone well, but Sister fell impelled to further inquiry. "Where are you going?" Desperately spoke Betty, "To the new Theatre Guild play."

"Where is that?" came back through the receiver. "At the Gaiety," replied the now completely demoralized Betty, while Husband groaned in anguish.

Sister Jane replied mildly that she thought "Lightnin'" was there, but let it go at that. Betty breathed a sigh of relief, but once more came Sister's well modulated tones: "I'm so sorry. You see, I was just going to ask you to go with me to see Douglas Fairbanks at the Rivoli and now I'll have to go alone."

T. B. M. divested himself of his overcoat and gloomily the Mid-Victorian Lady and Betty removed their hats. "Anybody at that house would be sure to be seen," said he. "We just can't risk it."

Unrewarded.
The avenue wore signs of spring; unmistakable signs. At Eighteenth street the Woman found two newsboys rolling marbles, at Sixteenth street a hurdy gurdy's rendition of "Mother Machree" rose on the air; at Fifteenth street two little girls were jumping rope, a third clinging desperately to her nurse's arm, while her obviously new roller skates rolled her little legs beyond her control.

A brisk breeze swept from river to river through the Fourteenth street canyon, and as the Woman paused at the crossing the brightest sign of spring yet encountered rolled by—a cart wheel of straw in blue and henna. Perilously it swept under the rear wheels of a passing taxi, a horse almost trampled it, a man reached for it, missed, and almost lost his own feet as a fresh gust swept from the east and carried the gorgeous creation into the waiting arms of a youth. He grasped it heavingly, and looked expectantly at the pretty black-eyed Italian girl who was hurrying in his direction.

"Lucky I was here," he said, holding the hat out toward her. She paused for an instant, looking surprised. "That ain't my hat," she said. "What's the idea?"

Before he could answer a huge lady of color pantingly arrived on the scene. "Say, you boy, what's you doin' with mah hat? Gimme it!" and she grabbed the treasure from the hands of the astonished youth.

"Ain't he got the noive!" exclaimed Italy's daughter, as the boy hurried away from the amused glances of the bystanders.

And the lady of color replied: "Hit's a good thing for him that I ain't got my bress!"

The Spirit of Sacrifice.
One more invitation to week-end in the enchanting bungalow. The Woman knew it would be a sedate visit, for the hostess was rigid in her observance of Lent. Bob's found spirit was proof against any repression, however time honored, so Uncle Sam delivered an acceptance.

Bob's mother and the Woman went to the playroom for half an hour with Bob before dinner. But Bob was not playing. Curled up in a chummy chair he was industriously munching candy, and note the slightest attempt was made to conceal the fact. The Woman waited developments with carefully concealed exaltation. Mrs. West, too amazed to move beyond the threshold, faltered, "Why, Bob, I thought you had given up eating candy in Lent?"

"Oh, no, mother," Bob leisurely explained, "I didn't give up candy. I gave up fish."
The mother's face indicated that for the present her son's ethics had silenced but not convinced her. To Bob, obviously, they were entirely satisfactory. The acid test to him was to give up. What he gave up was not debatable.

Exploration.
More often than we know does the spirit of adventure stir the blood of the old as well as that of youth. A little old lady, quite out of the picture of scurrying people, pouring "over the hill" to the shuttle, glanced about her in bewilderment. In haste she made her way to a passive male leaning against the gate to ask in quavering accents whether this was the "shuffle."

Ere the youth could park his gum in the rear of his mouth and make ready to answer, three gongs pealed, and as the little old lady made a mad dash to catch the train she shot back: "Never mind, I'll see where this train goes to, anyhow."

MR. ANT BEAR DECIDES TO GO NORTH.

"That's all right, Sir, I'll pull that ant-eater's nose right off the front side of your face if you let that ugly looking fellow take Susie away when you told me I could not have her. I'll show you who I am." These were the words of Silky the Monkey, when he heard Mr. Ant Bear tell Mr. Lagos that he might have his daughter Susie for a wife. "I want to tell you that fellow never did taste an Ant and the only reason he was sick was because he thought he would have to eat one before you would let him have your daughter. He made a dunce of you."

"Not me, Monkey, you are a little hasty in this matter. If you're not careful your tail will drop off and you'll turn into a Jack Rabbit, and you would make a pretty Jack Rabbit, with short ears and a big mouth. Don't be so sure I don't know what I'm doing. You know we have always been friends and it would never do for us at this time to have any trouble."

You see I was just about ready to let you have my daughter when you decided to go to the Northland with the King of the Forest. I knew it would make Susie sick if you went away from the Forest here and she had no one to travel with but me, so it was best for her to have this fellow, who can run much faster than she and who will be a great help to me here at the Wonderful Spring. Don't you see Mr. Monkey?"

There were tear drops standing in the eyes of Silky for he loved Mr. Ant Bear very much, and he hated to go away from the warm land and be separated from his friends so long. Then came the thought that he might have had Susie had he stayed in the land of the South. "I'm so sorry I said such a thing to you my friend, Mr. Ant Bear," said Silky, and he threw his arms about his friend and hugged him till he could scarcely get his breath. "Your nose is such a dear old nose if it is long and pointed. I'll miss it, I know I will. And those little eyes that see so much I will want to see them many times but

"Not me, Monkey, you are a little hasty in this matter."

I have said to the King I would go and I will have to be as good as my word, but I'll never forget you."

There they sat, Silky with his arms about the neck of Mr. Ant Bear, when Tinker Bob came up. "I see you don't want to leave Mr. Ant Bear behind. There are Ants in the North and if he will go we can take him along so you will have some old friends with you." This made Silky feel so good that he danced for joy and turned over and over, then stood on his head, a came near falling into the Wonderful Spring. "What do you say Mr. Ant Bear? Would you consider going to the Northland with us?"

Mr. Ant Bear looked into the eyes of the King and after a moment's thought answered quickly: "I will go with you to the Land of the North." Now Silky was very happy and Tinker Bob tapped the Stone of Knowledge and they were off.

DON'T EXPLOSION EXHAUST BOX

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—"Tootle your horn melodiously" is one of the first rules of the road for motorists in Japan, according to officers of the China Mail liner China, in port today from the Orient.

A party of the China's officers, out to see the sights, were arrested for violating the traffic laws. They were given a copy of the rules of the road. Here they are:

At the rise of the hand of policeman, stop rapidly. Do not pass him by or otherwise disrespect him.
When a passenger of the foot hove in sight tootle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still outstays your passage tootle him with vigor and express by word of the mouth the warning, "hi hi."
Beware of the wandering horse that he shall not take fright as you pass him. Do not explosion the exhaust

Give big space to the festive dog that make sport in the roadway. Avoid entanglement of dog with your wheel spokes.
Go soothingly on the grease-mud, as there lurk the skid demon.
Press the brake of the foot as you roll around the corners to save the collapse and tie-up.

FOOTPRINTS
IN HAWAII

By Associated Press

HILO, Island of Hawaii, T. H., March 31.—Footprints, 130 years old, of an Hawaiian army that fled from the wrath of Pele, goddess of the active volcano of Kilauea, near here are believed to have been discovered in the Kau desert, south of the great crater by Professor T. A. Jagger Jr., in charge of the volcano observatory. Dr. Jagger and his party was exploring a region far removed from any of the known, modern trails when they came upon an area thickly covered with the imprint of naked feet, and pointing in the one direction, all deep at the toes and light at the heels, indicating that the makers of the tracks had been running at top speed.

The tracks originally had been made in volcanic ash, which is strongly impregnated with a sulphurous acid and gypsum and which when wet by rain settles into a hard concrete, thus explaining the preservation of the imprints for a period believed to have stretched over more than a century and a quarter.

Hawaiian legend and history provide the other side of the story, the connection between the Kau desert tracks and the flight of the army of Keoua, king of Kau, from Pele's wrath.

Keoua led an army of three divisions against King Kamehameha, who later united all the Hawaiian islands under his sway, in the year 1790. This year also recorded the last explosive eruption of Kilauea volcano. Hawaiian legend records the fact that some of Keoua's warriors rolled stone into Kilauea crater to mark their disrespect for the goddess of the molten lake. Whatever the reason for the outbreak, Pele rose in her wrath, and with a terrific explosive eruption, totally wiped out the second division of Keoua's army.

The footprints found in the Kau desert are believed to be those of men of the first division, who, seeing the destruction of their comrades in the rear, fled from the locality. The third division coming up saw the bodies of the annihilated second and halted.

The area where the footprints were discovered is part of the new Kilauea national park, which will be dedicated this year, and steps already have been taken to enclose the tracks and preserve them.

CHEAP COLORED LABOR TO EXTERMINATE WHITE
RACE, DEAN INGE SAYS

By Associated Press

LONDON, March 31.—Dean Inge, a well-known cleric known as the gloomy dean, predicts that cheap labor may seal the doom of the white race. He declared in an address that the Japanese had tolerated a labor system no better than that of England 100 years ago. Under a regime of peace, free trade and unrestricted immigration the colored races would outwork, underlie and eventually exterminate the whites.

The abolition of war and the establishment of a league to secure justice and equality of treatment for all nations would seal the doom of the white laborer, he prophesied.

The dean was of the opinion that the British social order was on the verge of bankruptcy and as conditions became more unfavorable to enterprise capital and business ability would be transferred to the economically strong countries.

THRONE IS COMING

Prince Humbert of Savoia, 17-year-old heir to the throne of Italy, who, according to reports from Paris, is about to sail for the United States, accompanied by Generalissimo Diaz Luigi Luzatti, veteran Italian statesman. The prince's visit will be a sort of political mission. He will visit all the big cities of this country.

Me and Puds Simkins and Sid Hunt was up in my setting room Sunday afternoon and we started to tawk about wat a meen soak Lew Davis was for not reporting for spring baseball practice just because he wasent elected captin of the Invisibles, Puds saying, I tell you wat lets do, lets send him a insulting letter.

Like fun, we mite all be arrested for corrupting the mail, sed Sid Hunt.

G, I never thwt of that sed Puds, and I sed, I tell you wat, I'll get the dictionary and we'll take a lot of long words out of it and make a letter and it will sound insulting without anybody being axually able to prove it.

Which we started to do, talking us about a hour to write it and this being it.

Barometer bodkin?
We take this Byzantine opportunity to tell you we think you are a Carpathian cassowary and a dithyrambic duplication, and not only that but you are a big electro-chemical embassy of a expostulation and a fibrous flocculated fimmik of the werst fossilogy. Respectfully, Benny Potts, Puds Simkins and Sid Hunt.

Being partly insulting looking of a letter, and jest wen we was going to take it out and mail it we found out we didnt have any stamp.

I tell you lets wat, lets stick it under his door, I sed.

Which we went out to do, and on the way who did we meet, but Lew Davis himself eating candy out of a bar, and we stopped a wile to give him a chance to give us some, and he gave us each 2 hunks and we tore up the letter out of gratitude.

FARGO, N. D., March 31.—There isn't any need for the well-known slogan "back to the farm" in North Dakota, says A. J. Surratt, agricultural department field agent. He cites census figures to show that while there were only 74,360 farms under tillage in the state in 1910 the number had risen to 77,693 in 1920.

RIPLLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON

TRAINED HEADS.
I think it wise to train our domes to think of pleasant things, of works of art and high class pomes, fair brides and wedding rings. When some old gossip comes along to spring a low down tale, I think about the peaks of song, where scandal don't prevail. All thought's a habit more or less, as in our groove we trot, and if we think about distress, distress will be our lot; and if our thoughts are full of fear, instead of hope and glee, they'll make our brief existence here a painful thing to see.

When I fall sick of mumps or gout, my thoughts are dark as sin, until I force the dark ones out, and let the bright ones in; and I have found this can be done, however great the pain; when one is thinking of the sun he doesn't think of rain. When one is thinking of the hills where sunshine goes to waste, his thoughts are lifted from the pills that have a midwived taste. I try to think that life is good, however harsh it seems, that all the troubles I've withstood were merely seen in dreams; and, thinking thus, I find that life is wool and not yards wide, and I invite my aunt and wife to take a flivver ride.

DEBS' FRIENDS PUSHING PLANS FOR RELEASE

Matter of Picketing White House Will Be Held Up.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 31.—The energetic campaign of the Socialist party to secure the unconditional release of Eugene V. Debs and all other political prisoners was sealed with approval by Eugene V. Debs himself in a recent interview with Otto Branstetter, national executive secretary of the Socialist party, in a reception room of the Atlanta penitentiary. Branstetter was the first outsider to see and speak with Debs since the revocation of prison privileges by the Wilson administration. The plans for a nation-wide petition, to be presented to congress on April 13 and 14, the second anniversary of the locking up of Debs, the visit of numerous delegations from a large number of cities to Washington on those days, will seek to interview Attorney General Daugherty and President Harding, and all other means to get the attention of the American people upon the matter of amnesty were discussed by Debs, and fully approved, according to Mr. Branstetter. Upon one matter alone, that of picketing the White House immediately upon Debs' suggestion, it was decided to hold the matter of picketing in abeyance. The motto adopted for the amnesty drive is "Let's get them all out," and the determination to work for the release of all political prisoners was emphasized by an incident that Mr. Branstetter heard of in Atlanta. He said that Joseph M. Coldwell, an old-time prisoner, was twice informed that the parole board was willing to recommend him for parole. Coldwell, however, refused to permit them to recommend him for parole. "While 'Gene is in," he said, "I will not voluntarily go out."

Mr. Branstetter said that Mr. Debs looks well, and is in excellent health and good spirits. "Gene was never in the 'hole,'" said the Socialist executive, "nor did he suffer any personal mistreatment." Speaking of the matter of the campaign, Secretary Branstetter said that the other plans except the White House picketing are being vigorously pushed, and they will not be changed on account of the criticism that they are intended to intimidate the president or calculated to excite antagonism on behalf of otherwise sympathetic persons. "It must not be forgotten," Branstetter continued, "that the right of the people peaceably to assemble and petition the government for a redress of their grievances is a part of the constitution, and most sacredly cherished. The attempt on the part of our opponents and of some of our misguided friends to construe the peaceable exercise of this fundamental right as something revolutionary and lawless is not complimentary to the administration and it shows a lack of confidence that the administration intends to do the right and proper thing in the matter of political prisoners. "Since when has a petition to congress become an unpatriotic or a lawless act? Since when is it disrespectful or discourteous for American citizens to come to the seat of their government with personal requests upon their congressmen and senators for redress of grievances? To say that the proposed demonstration, with the picketing feature eliminated will excite antagonism in administration circles and cause them to hesitate or refuse to do an act of justice to which they are committed is to place them exactly in the same category as the disgraced, despised and discredited Wilson administration, whose policy was that in order to get any consideration in any matter, citizens were to debate themselves before the president. We do not believe that this spirit animates the incoming administration."

"We expect the new administration to be reactionary in many particulars," said Branstetter, speaking for himself, his committee and for Debs. "We expect that it will oppose many just demands of the organized workers, and the wishes of the people generally. "Amnesty committees are being organized in every part of the country, and it is certain that the delegations that will come to Washington will number many thousands, from scores of cities."

But we do not believe that they are going to deny the right of petitioner to consider it, as did the Wilson administration, insulting and presumptuous, on the part of any group of citizens to make their wishes known.

BAVARIAN PRINCE BECOMES A MONK; CELEBRATES FIRST MASS

Prince George of Bavaria, grandson of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, recently ordained a monk, celebrated his first mass at a Jesuit convent at Innsbruck. WORLD'S GREATEST FLYING BOAT WRECKED IN ITALY

The great Caproni flying boat, Sesta Calende, designed and constructed by Signor Caproni, the great Italian aviation expert, which was wrecked by a storm in Italy a few days ago. Reports from Rome say the great plane will be rebuilt immediately and will soon attempt a trans-Atlantic flight carrying 100 passengers. The Sesta Calende is the greatest heavier-than-air machine in the world, having a lifting capacity of 52,000 pounds. The giant flying boat has three sets of triplanes, spanning 100 feet and a boat thirty-six feet long. The Pullman cabin has ample accommodation for 100 passengers with baggage. The plane is thirty-two feet high and its estimated speed, with a full cargo, is ninety miles an hour. Eight 300-400 horse-power engines furnish the motive power.

CHURCH MONEY STOLEN; FLOCK SWEAR INNOCENCE ON BIBLE; THEN PREACHER CONFESSES

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa, March 31.—A new code of laws based on American statutes has developed in American Samoa from the disturbances of last year which culminated in the suicide of the governor, Commander Warren J. Terhune. The revised laws, drawn by Captain Walde Evans, the new governor, and Judge A. M. Noble, and submitted to the native chiefs, mark an interesting change from the early laws provided for the Samoans. When in 1900 the first secretary of native affairs, Judge Gurr, asked the native rulers of the Sanican village to submit laws to him for recommendation to the first governor, he received from various villages a copy of the ten commandments of the bible. This accompanied with the suggestion that the penalties for their violation should consist of a fine in the shape of a hog and a barrel of beef.

These recommendations were not adopted in whole, for such penalties would have resulted in every offense paving the way for a feast in the village. This, officials decided, would prove too much of a temptation for the natives. It is the custom of the Samoans, and was then, that when any offense is complained of and the offender not known, for the native pastor, or native magistrate, to compel each person in the village to declare his or her innocence by oath on the bible. On one occasion some church money was stolen from the box of a Samoan pastor, where it had been placed for safe keeping. The native pastor immediately went from house to house with a bible, swearing in every inmate, but everyone declared innocence. He however, forgot to take the oath himself, and the theft remained a mystery. Some years afterward, the pastor became seriously ill and his relatives were called together. Having made certain that they were all in a forgiving mood, he then confessed that he was the culprit. Under the circumstances his people felt they could not but forgive him. Thereupon it was astonishing how rapid was his recovery.

Easter colors of royal purple and white predominated, while a wee chick suspended from a brass ivy pot in the window of the reception hall. The center chandelier was draped in white, with touches of purple from above. The fireplace was filled with green, betokening spring, and above were flowers and growing ferns. Home-made candy was served to the guests.

Following awarding of prizes, a dainty lunch was served, consisting of a salad course, sandwiches of whipped cream and cheese, salted almonds and coffee. The prizes were a hand-embroidered lunch set, hand-made pillow slips and a hand-painted picture.

YOUNG MAN, "SLICKER" WITH CARDS, ARRESTED

Plying his occupation as a three-card artist is being found rather expensive by a young man in the city jail, who gave his name as L. Smith. Yesterday he was arrested and fined $25 under a charge of vagrancy. Last night after being accused of fleecing at least one man out of money by the three-card monte trick and also being accused of sneaking from the Gholson hotel without paying his bill his activities came to a sudden end with his arrest.

MORPHINE SHIPPED, U. S. TO JAPAN FOR RE-EXPORT TO CHINA, BARON SAYS

TOKIO, March 31.—Morphine bought from the United States every year to Japan for re-export to China, amounts roughly to 65,000 pounds, Baron Fujimura, raising the question of the opium traffic in China, asserted at a session of the budget committee of the House of Peers.

It is impossible under existing conditions, Baron Fujimura said, for China to prevent the importation of opium and morphine and the Chinese are compelled to endure terrible sacrifices in consequence.

A large quantity of morphine is brought every year to Kobe from England, said the Baron, as well as from India and other places. It is re-exported from here to Tsingtao and to Kwangtung.

The Japanese government-general of Kwangtung derives a revenue of Y.

3,000,000 (about $1,500,000) every year through opium, Baron Fujimura said. Under these circumstances, he declared, it is not surprising that the Chinese charge the Japanese government with conniving at this nefarious trade.

greeted at the door by the president, Mrs. Hyatt, and Mrs. Brasier. Potted plants and flowers arranged in artistic profusion in the reception room added to the hospitality extended by the hostesses.

Following a pleasing program was a contest in which Mrs. Hyatt won first honors and Mrs. Grant second. Each winner received a beautiful red rose.

At a business session called by the president a circle was organized to work in conjunction with the church auxiliary. Mrs. McComb gave a paper on "Christian Service," after which the following officers were elected: Mrs. Pitcock, chairman; Mrs. Brasier, co-chairman; Mrs. Adamson, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Hazzard, leader of mission study. The circle voted to meet every Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. W. H. Johnson.

MARRIAGE CLERK SIGHS FOR RENT REDUCTIONS

CHICAGO, March 31.—"This is a bad year for my business," said L. C. Legner, in charge of the marriage license bureau here. "Something is wrong. Is romance vanishing? I think not. It is the rent situation, I guess. "It's a curious thing, but more people buy marriage licenses on rainy days than on sunny days. I guess that on rainy days people dream of cozy, rain-proof flats, slippers and a fireplace, and they dash in droves to the bureau. Love is a funny thing."

Rheumatism—A remarkable home treatment given by one who had it. In the year 1893 I was attacked by muscular and sub-acute rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be that long-looked for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, One Dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, 11236 Durston Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Jackson is responsible.
