RANGER DEALERS FEARING FOOD SCARCITY IN STRIKE TIE-UP, PLAN TRUCK TRAIN

Meat and produce dealers predict a famine in perishable products here if the railroad strike situation at Fort Worth is not settled at once. A number of trucks were sent to Fort Worth yesterday to bring supplies here, and if the strike continues a truck train service will be established on a large scale, dealers predict.

Enough meat and perishable produce was routed out of Fort Worth before the strike to last some time and the railroad company will deliver this. As long as train service in Waco and other cities to the south is not interrupted, it will be possible to receive shipments of produce over the Texas Central, it was pointed out.

If the strike continues in Fort Worth the great packing centers will completely close down. Fort Worth advises say, Armour & Company has already closed. Since the greater portion of meat consumed throughout West Texas is secured from Fort Worth, the closing of the packing houses there may necessitate the adoption of the "meatless days" of war-time.

James Valentine, local freight and passenger agent for the Texas & Pacific railroad company, believes that enough loyal union men will be brought into Fort Worth from outside points to permit a complete resumption of service in the yards there in a day or two. Passenger service here is normal and several freight trains carrying shipments of perishables arrived Sunday.

An express embargo has been declared on all points east from Fort Worth. Shipments to points west of here and to stations between here and Fort Worth will be received as usual.

Meat and produce dealers predict a famine in perishable products here if the railroad strike situation at Fort Worth is not settled at once. A number of trucks were sent to Fort Worth yesterday to bring supplies here, and if the strike continues a truck train service will be established on a large scale, dealers predict.

NO CHANGE AT KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12.—The railroad situation in Kansas City resulting from the walkout of switchmen remains unchanged. Several railroads report that they are moving some freight, while five lines report complete tie-up.

CLEVELAND, April 12.—Interest in the switchmen's strike here centered today on the outcome of the closed meeting of five local lodges of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to be held this afternoon at which President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Trainmen and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will speak.

FORT WORTH, April 12.—Conditions resulting from the switchmen's strike at the Fort Worth yards are unchanged today. An occasional freight train is moved by efforts of the superintendent's assistants and other officials.

All Business Men Urged to Attend Dallas Conference

DALLAS, April 12.—A blanket invitation to every business man and woman in the state to attend the annual conference of the Texas Chamber of Commerce at San Antonio on April 15 and 16 was issued last night by J. S. Cullinan of Houston, president of the organization.

Mr. Cullinan called attention to the present prosperity of Texas. "This prosperity," he declared, "will continue if all the business interests cooperate in solving our problems of production, distribution, conservation, markets, finance, labor, foreign trade and credits. This conference is arranged to search carefully for the solution of these problems. Every business man in Texas should share the responsibility of solving these problems. No one business or group can isolate itself from the business of this state as a whole and expand. In co-operation there is growth and strength."

Texas Teachers Fewer Because of Low Salaries

AUSTIN, April 12.—Because of the low salaries paid to school teachers in Texas, there has been a decrease of approximately fifteen per cent in the attendance at the state normal this year as compared to two years ago, according to N. A. Turner, secretary of the board of regents of the state normal schools.

Mr. Turner said the attendance is about five per cent greater this year than last because many of the students, both women and men, have returned from service in the army and resumed their duties.

The attendance at present, however, is way below normal as compared to pre-war conditions. "The teaching profession is fast losing its attractions," said Mr. Turner, "and those who would naturally take a course in the normals in order to qualify them to teach are engaging in other employment."

While the secretary of the board is unable to give the official figures as to attendance, approximately it is: Southwest Texas Normal, San Marcos, 600; West Texas Normal, Canyon, 800; San Houston normal, Huntsville, 700; North Texas State Normal, Denton, 1500; East Texas State Normal, 500.

"There never existed in the history of the state a greater demand for teachers than at present," said Prof. E. L. Dehoney, first assistant state superintendent of public instruction. "Last year we had applications for holding of sixty summer normal schools throughout the state and, so far this year there are less than twenty. Young men and women do not care to prepare for the teaching profession on account of the small salary received."

WASHINGTON, April 12.—There will be no investigation into the railroad strike for the Senate by the interstate commerce commission, Chairman Cummins announced today, after receiving assurance from the White House that the railroad labor board would be appointed within twenty-four hours.

Attorney General Palmer returned to Washington today and immediately conferred with officers of the department of justice, who have been keeping in close touch with the railroad strike situation. No information was given out concerning the recommendations they made to Mr. Palmer, but they said that the strike situation was serious.

SERIOUS IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 12.—New York, with its back against the wall, struggled today to free itself from unauthorized railway strikes. Out of the maze of conflicting reports, railroad officials professed to see a ray of hope because some passenger service has been maintained because food and milk trains need not creep into the city. Railroad officials admit, however, that the situation is still grave, but they assume an optimistic attitude. They say that if they weather today's storm the situation would soon approach normal.

QUIET AT FORT WORTH

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.
FORT WORTH, April 12.—Between fifty and sixty workmen employed at the Cameron planing mill here went out on strike this morning.

PRESENT SITUATION ALONG THE RHINE

General Degoutet, in command of the French forces occupying Frankfurt and other nearby German cities, recently issued a proclamation in which he stated that he would withdraw his troops as soon as the German government troops in the Ruhr district were dispersed. Other allied governments are not taking part in the occupation of Frankfurt, but are said to be in sympathy with the French move.

Ranger's Immediate Future Subject at Dallas Conference

Everybody in Ranger who is interested in a better city and one that will have all the elements of permanence, is planning to attend the civic conference in the Summer Garden Tuesday night. For in addition to the chance to get better acquainted with our neighbors, this affair is going to mark the discussion and adoption of plans for making Ranger so good a town that it will not need to fear competition.

The event has been arranged by the Chamber of Commerce, members of the campaign committee for a bigger organization say, because it is felt that there are many men in the community who have definite ideas of some of the things they think would be good for Ranger. That is why the gathering has been named a "civic conference."

It will be just what its title implies—an opportunity for the citizens to begin thinking constructively about the immediate future of their city. There is recognition of the fact that Ranger has grown enormously; there is hardly another city in the country which has equalled it in this respect. Now the time has come when men will plan a great civic-commercial organization say, when the people of Ranger must decide what the city is to be three and five years from now.

"It is right up to us to make this decision, and we have to do it at once," is the way the promoters of the undertaking feel, and they believe that the citizens generally share this opinion.

Therefore, the invitation to attend the conference is general. Notices of the event have been sent to many but because of the limited time and the impossibility of getting everybody's name on the mailing lists, some have not received the letters. This should not deter any from attending. There will be absolutely no solicitation of memberships in the new Chamber of Commerce at the meeting. No citizen of Ranger will be asked to become a member of the new organization until he has had time to think the matter over and decide freely whether it is worth while.

Assurance that all of the speakers announced will be on hand was received today. The chief talk will be by Dr. Leonard J. Rothstein of Pine Bluff, Ark. In addition to being a speaker of unusual charm and ability, he will bring to the people of Ranger a definite message because of his personal experience in the creation of a live, alert Chamber of Commerce in his home city and his knowledge of the things it has accomplished.

L. S. Franklin, editor of the Texas Highway Magazine of Dallas, will also have a very practical talk. The other speakers will be D. H. McFarland, who is directing the organization of the Chamber of Commerce campaign; Mayor Hagaman, John M. Gholsen and F. D. Bostaph.

The music will be a feature. Rev. C. M. Collins of the Presbyterian church is forming a male chorus which will lead the company in the singing of some popular songs. Mr. Collins has asked the young men who are willing to join this chorus to meet him at 8 o'clock this evening in the Presbyterian church. He especially invites members of the American Legion, all of whom know the songs which have been printed in a brand new song sheet for the occasion.

The conference will open at 8 o'clock Tuesday night and the committee hopes everyone will be in a seat at that time so that the adjournment may be made as early as possible.

FRANCE TO HALT WHEN GERMAN TROOPS DEPART

PARIS, April 12.—The British ambassador today handed Premier Millerand England's reply to the French note. M. Millerand refused to discuss the contents of the note with newspaper correspondents.

Nothing yet has been decided regarding Premier Millerand's attendance at the meeting of the supreme council at San Remo. It was declared that if the conference was for the purpose of discussing the misunderstanding between France and England Mr. Millerand would not go. It was said that a personal talk with Premier Lloyd George would be welcomed by M. Millerand but that he thought the consideration of the present situation before the supreme council would be needless.

ROADS DELEGATE TO HOT SPRINGS FOR CONVENTIONS

P. Learned, who was appointed by the governor as delegate to the United States Good Roads association which holds its convention in Hot Springs, Ark., will leave for Hot Springs Tuesday night.

Mr. Learned will also be a delegate to the Bankhead Highway association which holds its convention there at the same time. At the Bankhead convention Mr. Learned will have fifty votes which represent 500 members of the Bankhead Highway association.

It is expected that an effort will be made to change the route of this highway which has been surveyed through Ranger.

Mr. Learned will protest Ranger's interest in the matter.

MRS. BISHOP ENTERTAINS
FIVE HUNDRED CLUB

Mrs. H. D. Bishop of 1103 Young street, entertained the members of the Five Hundred club Friday afternoon. After the games refreshments were served. Those present were Mrs. H. B. Abell, Mrs. C. D. Carter, Mrs. C. C. Mickle, Mrs. Harold Whitlock, Mrs. H. D. Durst, Mrs. Murray C. Grayson, Mrs. Robert Kendrick, Mrs. Parker F. Davis and Mrs. H. D. Bishop.

IRELAND CALLED TO UNITE IN BIG PROTEST STRIKE

Workers Asked to Quit Jobs
Because Dublin Prisoners Suffer.

DUBLIN, April 12.—Officials of the Irish Trades Union Congress and Labor party called upon the workers of Ireland today for a general strike throughout the country, beginning on Tuesday, in protest against the treatment of political prisoners.

ON LONG HUNGER STRIKE

PARIS, April 12.—The Sinn Fein delegates here said today that they had received a message from Ireland stating that 100 Republican prisoners are in the Dublin jail, "many being detained on suspicion, without charges." Some of the prisoners, it was said, have been on a hunger strike since April 4. Several of the men are in grave danger and crowds are reciting prayers for the dying at the gate of the jail.

Sinn Fein members of Parliament and the envoy here of the "Irish Republic" held a conference today for the purpose of calling official attention to the treatment of political prisoners in the Dublin jail.

TELEPHONES TO REDUCE CONFUSION AT CONVENTION

CHICAGO, April 12.—Delegates at the Republican national convention, opening here June 8, will be able to confer with representatives of other states without leaving their seats.

To eliminate a large part of the confusion incident to conferences between delegates on the floor, C. R. Hall, superintendent of the coliseum has arranged for the installation of telephones connecting all state, district and territorial delegations.

It is said that this will be the first time that such a system has been installed at any national convention. There will be fifty-three telephones in service, reaching the forty-eight state groups and the representatives of the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico.

The convention architects have completed plans for the coliseum, including an extra balcony, that adds approximately 1,100 to the seating capacity. Work on the balcony and the convention offices, in the coliseum annex, will start May 3. The Chicago convention committee is spending $47,000 on changes to the building to accommodate delegates and more than 10,000 spectators.

Lowden Strength Tested Tomorrow By Wood's Forces

CHICAGO, April 12.—Those Republicans of the state of Illinois who exercise a voters prerogative at the presidential primary tomorrow will decide before nightfall whether they favor Leonard Wood shall be their choice for nominee of the Republican party in the November election.

This will be the only contest of the primary that will be decided by a vote of the entire state. In seven of the twenty-five congressional districts, however, the contest for district delegates to the Chicago convention promises to be hard fought. In these seven districts, candidates for delegates who have indicated their intention of supporting Governor Lowden, are opposed by delegates who are recorded as having no preference, while in one district, the first, no avowed Lowden delegate is on the list. In the other seventeen districts, however, none but Lowden men appear on the ballot.

Contesting candidates for election as delegates are found in the second, third and fourth districts, all of which are located in the city of Chicago, and the tenth, sixteenth and twenty-second, located outside of Chicago.

There are no candidates entered for presidential endorsement honors on the Democratic ticket, Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey having withdrawn his name after it had been properly presented.

The vote is expected to be larger than would ordinarily be the case inasmuch as the attorney general of the state has ruled that women will be permitted to vote in this primary.

The ballots upon which the women will mark their votes will be separate from the regular ballots. This is being done in order to make it a simple matter to throw them out in the event of adverse rulings to the voting of women are received in this primary.

FIGHTING IN STREETS STARTS REVOLT AGAINST UNPOPULAR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The long threatened revolution in Guatemala against President Estrada Cabrera has finally started, according to reports received here today.

Information received by the state department said that the opponents of President Cabrera had gained control of Guatemala City, after some street fighting.

Marines from a cruiser and submarine tender were landed to protect the American legation.

SONORA READY TO FIGHT.

NOGALES, April 12.—President Carranza has but one channel open to bring the state of Sonora back into the Mexican federation, it was said here today. He must, it was explained, accede to the demands of Sonora and guarantee what the leaders in the Sonora rebellion claim "as state rights. He will be required to make a pledge not to send federal troops into the state of Sonora against the wishes of the state government."

Official of the new republic of Sonora, which withdrew from the republic of Mexico last Friday, are awaiting today the next move of President Carranza and the Mexican government.

In the meantime they are preparing to resist any military activity against the state.

Sonora officials accuse President Carranza of forcing the break in the relation with the Mexican government by ordering federal troops into the state despite the states' demands that the order be recalled.

They said that Carranza planned to set up a military dictatorship and oust the present officials as part of a scheme to defeat the presidential candidacy of General Alvaro Obregon, who is a citizen of Sonora.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 12.—Whether the legal supervision of a guardian-at-law over an Indian is supposed to include the latter's matrimonial venture, must be decided by the Kansas supreme court in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Carl J. O'Hornett of Henrietta, Okla., to recover the custody of Jackson Barnett, seven-year-old Indian, of Henrietta, Okla., the "richest Indian in the world." His wealth, consisting of oil lands and interests, exceeds a million dollars, and according to O'Hornett, his annual income is more than $145,000.

Under most romantic circumstances Barnett last February eloped and was married to a young white woman, Mrs. Anna Laura Love, at Coffeyville, Kan. In his petition filed in the supreme court O'Hornett charges that the old Indian's wife is "an adventuress of the most pronounced type" and that the "kidnapped" Barnett because of his wealth. A writ to the guardian's duty, it was the court's second attempt to marry Barnett, the first attempt having been frustrated by refusal of two probate judges in Oklahoma to grant her a marriage license. In each instance, Mr. Love, accompanied by a chauffeur, drove Barnett's farm near Henrietta and "forced him" to accompany her, though the guardian's petition charges, was the court's preliminary hearing before the supreme court, A. M. Jackson of Winfield, Kan., was appointed by the court's referee to hear all evidence pertaining to the alleged "kidnapping" and to the guardian's claim to the right to have the marriage annulled and the return of his ward to Oklahoma. The court, however, stipulated that pending the hearing, Barnett shall not be interfered with.

The aged Indian is a liberate. Legal documents involving hundreds of thousands of dollars have been "signed" by him with his thumb print. His wealth figuratively was thrust upon him as the result of oil being found on an allotment of land given him by the government. On his Henrietta farm he lived in a most primitive state, dogs and horses being his only companions. But to all outward appearances, Barnett is not adverse to his new state, and opposes his guardian's plans.

Richest Indian's Elopement Goes to Higher Court

More than 300 people took advantage of the excitement of the elopement of the Indian and his young white wife, Jackson Barnett, Henrietta and Frankel. Threatening weather in the early morning probably prevented numerous others from making the trip. Passengers stated that the roadbed is in excellent condition for a new road.

A trawling gang will go to work today putting down horsetracks in front of the passenger and freight depot on Hunt street. A large force of men is at work grading and ditching ground for the local yards.

Scarcity of Cars Ties Up Shipment of Floydoda Grain

FLOYDADA, April 12.—More than a thousand tons of sorghum seeds and over twenty-five carloads of fresh grain lie in grain dealers' yards in this city because of lack of allway equipment to handle it, according to a report made to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce today. Only about fifteen cars a week are available for grain shipments from here. Dealers say twenty-one cars a week were provided before the owners took the roads out of the hands of the government. In case of continued bad weather the loss would be very heavy.

It appears at present that another crop of grain will have been harvested before all that tendered the railroads here will have been handled. Thousands of bushels of grain are under contract to be delivered at Floydada within the next thirty to sixty days. Considerable quantities of wheat are still coming in.

ANTI-FLU VACCINE A SUCCESS, SAYS DOCTOR

International News Service.
LONDON.—All previously printed expert opinions to the contrary, the anti-flu vaccine does successfully cope with the ravages of the flu epidemic, in the opinion of scores of London doctors.

"The results obtained from use of the anti-influenza vaccine will, I think, be demonstrated to be almost as good as those obtained by the anti-typhoid inoculations, which proved of such inestimable value during the war," a well known bacteriologist declared to the Evening News.

Texas Is Seeking Murder Suspect After 34 Years

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 12.—The law in Texas has a long memory. Requisition papers for a man whom officers of the Lone Star state have been seeking for thirty-four years were received at the office of Governor Brough the other day.

Will Long was named as the man wanted. He is said to have killed Frank McGill in Van Zandt county in 1886.

NEW BELL WELL TEST.

PECOS, Texas, April 12.—During a five-hour test at the Bell well there was a flow of oil at the rate of 35 barrels an hour.

LONE STAR.
 "All of a Sudden Peggy" Pleasant Little Comedy.
 A charming little comedy is "All of a Sudden Peggy" the Marguerite Clark picture, in which a delightfully interesting and entertaining romance is built around love at first sight.
 Marguerite Clark enacts the role of Peggy O'Mara, a little Irish miss, the daughter of a widow who is a noted scientist and who is helping a certain Lord Crakenhorpe write a book on spiders. Peggy is a beautiful thing who is either trying out some devilish prank or doing something all of a sudden, and besides all this, she keeps herself busy thinking of a plan to marry off her mother. It is this latter plan, in addition to her impulsiveness, that gets her into a merry mix-up and that wins for her a husband.
 The role of Peggy affords Miss Clark excellent opportunities to show her charms and she takes very good advantage of them. Jack Mulhall does well in the part of the hero, and deserves special mention for his work.
 Orval Humphrey fills the bill as the Lord Anthony Crakenhorpe whose hobby and pastime is trapping good and the very sight of him brings spiders. His make-up is exceedingly good and the very sight of him brings laughter. In fact, the entire cast is well chosen.
 Nothing out of the ordinary prevails in the photography or in the settings. However, Walter Edwards deserves to be commended for the splendid manner in which he handled the direction of this play as a whole. The story is one that will go very well with Marguerite Clark followers. It will afford very pleasant entertainment for almost any audience.

LAMB.
 Officer of the Royal Mounted Makes Strange Compact With Prisoner.
 An unusual and quaint form of plotting is one of the more intensely interesting features of Marshall Neilan's first independent production, "The River's End," from the story by James Oliver Curwood and distributed by First National, which will have its initial showing here, at the Lamb theater, today.
 The introductory scenes of the film find John Keith, haunted for years by the murder of Judge Kirkstone, captured by Derwent Conniston of the Canadian Mounted Police. A striking resemblance between the two men in build and facial characteristics leads the officer, when suddenly stricken with a fatal disease, to urge Keith to impersonate him and return to the post with an account of Keith's death.

 Shan Tung, a crafty Chinaman at the post, alone suspects Keith of the impersonation and threatens to divulge the secret unless Keith influences Miriam Kirkstone, the murdered man's daughter, to marry him. A terrific mobfight follows in which the Chinaman is killed.
 A younger sister of the dead officer arrives at the post and unaware of Keith's impersonation, shows a sisterly affection for him. Keith finally makes a clean breast of the affair, departs and journeys down the Saskatchewan. The climax of the picture is summed up in the surprise that awaits Keith—"At the River's End."
 The roles of both John Keith and Derwent Conniston are portrayed by Lewis Stone, who reaches heights seldom attained in dualrole depiction. He is supported by such popular stars as Marie Lloyd, J. J. Barry, Sherry, Jane Novak, Charles West and Togo Yamamoto.

LIBERTY.
 Story of a Butterfly That Touched the Flame.
 Brilliant screen artist that she is, Louise Glauum never approached, at least in histrionic impressiveness, the characterization which is showing at the Liberty theater, according to the New York critics who have seen "Sex," the new J. Parker Read Jr. production, released by Hodkinson.
 As Adrienne Renault, dazzling butterfly of the Frivolity Roof, Miss Glauum is a scintillant, entrancing picture, as volatile, as radiant as fire in the wild nocturnal vortex of Manhattan. Then, as a different Adrienne, married, devoted to her husband and her home she gives a poignant insight into the heart of the woman who is destined to pay for despoiling the happiness of others by the destruction of her own castle of dreams. The climax of "Sex" is said to be one of the most tremendous scenes ever staged for the film camera. Its finale is surprising the genius of the producer, J. Parker Read, Jr., who has personally supervised the splendid direction of Fred Niblo. In Miss Glauum's support appear fascinating Irving Cummings, William Conklin, Myrtle Stedman and Peggy Pearce.

LESS WHEAT, MORE COTTON PLANTED IN TEXAS NOW
 Special to The Times.
 CROWELL, April 12.—Acreage planted to wheat this year in comparison with 1919 is 60 per cent, according to figures furnished the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The yield this year is expected to be normal with the ten-year record. The oat crop is not looking so well. The cotton acreage this year will be largely increased.

WORLD CONFERENCE ON KINDERGARTENS TODAY IN TOPEKA
 By Associated Press.
 TOPEKA, Kan., April 12.—The International Kindergarten union will open its twenty-seventh annual convention here today. Preliminary to the opening session tonight in the city hall auditorium, the executive board and the bureau of education of the union will hold meetings and the delegates will gather in group meetings of their respective states. Following an organ recital by Harry V. Stearns, dean of Washburn college, Topeka, at the evening session, addresses of welcome will be delivered by Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas and others. Miss Caroline D. Aborn, Boston, Mass., president of the union, will respond. The principal address of the opening session will be made by James Fleming Hosie of Chicago.
 Interesting features of the four-day convention include a delegates procession on Wednesday, starting from the senate chamber of the state house. The delegates, attired in white dresses, will carry banners identifying various city and state groups. About 600 women are expected to take part. From 4 to 6 p. m. on Wednesday the visitors are to be entertained with a reception at the governor's mansion. Thursday is designated as "Propeandian Day." The program will include a moving picture exhibit, the film being loaned by the children's bureau, Washington, D. C. Methods of attaining the goal signified in the union's slogan, "A kindergarten in every school," will be discussed by former presidents of the organization.
 The annual election will be held Friday, followed by reports of various committees. The "Committee of Nineteen" will report on its survey of the entire world field. This committee is composed of experts in child study. The committee on Probel monument, which is in charge of the movement to erect a monument to the founder of kindergartens will report what progress has been attained. Miss Fannell Curtis, director of kindergartens, New York City, who recently returned from France where she was engaged in reconstruction work among children, will tell the delegates of her overseas mission. Prominent child educators and kindergarten supervisors from many cities are on the program.
 Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Moore entertained a few of their friends with a card party at their home in Hillcrest Saturday night. After the games refreshments were served.

Times Short Story

"It's your manner, Marjorie—so distant and stand-off-ish. A man needs encouragement if you expect him—well, if you expect him to get anywhere." The very new Mrs. Gordon said to her maid of honor, with the accent of supreme superiority only to supreme ignorance.

Marjorie's answer was a soft chuckle. Alicia's role of experienced matron diverted her amazingly. Stepisters, close friends notwithstanding, when Frank Gordon had come mooning after her she had engineered the transfer of his facile affections to her housemate so deftly so subtly, neither of the newly-weds suspected her agency. She had foreseen how it would be—Alicia with her liquid nature, taking form from what it fell into, would try to live up to the Gordon dignity, partly in loving obedience to her Frank, but more because of her own aspirations.

As a first fruit, she must marry off Marjorie—she would miss her of course, but a solitude of two was enticing. In the honeymoon year even the best-loved tertium quid crowds the devotee, no matter how rowdy.

"You are really pretty," Alicia went on patronizingly. "Prettier than I am," this without conviction. "But then you are older—twenty-three almost—besides," stopping there, embarrassed and looking away.

"Besides, I'm almost a pauper—with a fine feeling for the fine things money buys," Marjorie supplemented, not bitterly, but with darkening eyes. "Maybe you are right. Maybe I ought to be advertising myself in the 'object matrimony' class. But, somehow, I just can't see it. Lazy as I am, work looks better to me."

"Marjorie!" Alicia exploded, "you know that's out of the question. Frank would never allow it. People will say, oh, dreadful things. We must consider our position. But you are only joking. You must be. There is nothing you can do."

"I am a mighty competent cook," Marjorie said slowly, pulling herself together after the explosion, which had hardened her nebulous consciousness of need into something imperative. Until the moment of speaking, she had never thought of her cooking as an asset. Now by a lightning calculation she reckoned it, plus a bond or two, a few sticks of furniture, and a right good will, as a provision, wholly adequate, for independence.

The house was Alicia's. Work there was impossible. Further, the countryside already was suffering a plague of tea rooms, wayside inns and the booths of home-made dainties, aimed motorists beginning to be boot-shy. But somewhere there was a place for her. She must find it. The sooner, the better.

Next morning Alicia read tearfully a scrawl which ran: "Don't fret, honey—gone to seek my fate—not sure yet whether it will turn out to be a fortune or a husband. Tell the folks what you please—you can make them believe anything, you lie so delectably. You'll hear from me thru Judy—she knows everything, and won't tell. Be good to yourself and keep Frank in his place until I come" back, Love and all the rest of it, from the wicked Marjorie."

Very tearfully tell them their hash. Not morbid if she will be at it appointed to come to the most random Judy knew everything, having been the door of hope.

"Don't Warrens people ober to Pine Hill done come here to learn what we all doin' and was ragarin an' charging case dee couldn't git no cook to stay wid um. Not since Jimmy Judy's sister, had been wrestled from their kitchen by sudden matter. Oh, yes, um, Miss Marjie better. Most anything was asked um. But de ole lady, she was cranky as a ram's horn, even befo' she fell an' broke so many bones. Den de two trained nurses and dat dar ram-rodded man, her son, even wasser. Dee was sholy too much for any plain wokin' woman. Maybe a lady might stand 'em. Miss Marjie better run long ober dar, light an' make be'ngement pendin' on Judy to send on her suitcases—and keep her mouf shut to everybody."

Marjorie nodded. She was beyond speech. But she hugged Judy tight, and ran away, trying hard to whistle. Six hours later, on the edge of sundown, she was in the Warren kitchen, saying to herself as she glanced around: "Tuesday of creation week couldn't have been a patch on this." The ramrod-legged son had fetched her to the door, waved a helpless hand to the spectacle within, then vanished, murmuring he would make it worth her while to stay.

Faith may move mountains, but virgin ignorance can give it three in the game. If Marjorie had known half the week following tonight her she would never have ventured into the Warren household. One nurse was a kindly incapable—so was the remnant elderly maid. But the head nurse, Miss Snickers, made up for both by abuse of the permission even head nurses have to be hateful. Small wonder when he had marked down the ramrod-legged one as her special prey and saw in Marjorie a potential rival. Especially after order came out of chaos, and meals were no longer penances, but full fed delights. The tongue-tied Mr. Warren had no need to praise them orally—the smacking of his lips was sufficiently convincing. Also and further, he began almost to thrive, to an extent that moved Jim Leslie, his imported scientific farmer, to say grinning at Marjorie, "If you keep this up, you'll be able to get blood out of that turnip."

Casual contacts with this person, who did for himself, and came into the kitchen only to bring fruit and vegetables, were Marjorie's main alleviations. She knew that she was a puzzle to him; also that he found a study of it fascinating. Audaciously she had no fear that he would recognize in Joy, the Warren cook, the Marjorie Joyce Millburn he had danced with casually at the senior prom five years back. Then he had been almost bowly. Yet she fancied she would have known him without hearing his name. His manner towards her was friendly—kind yet touched with a fine respective chivalrous reserve infinitely refreshing.

Upon a sweltering late August twilight the scent of ripe grapes enticed Marjorie to a long arbor which ran down the main garden walk. She was very tired—but happy—hadn't she a hundred dollars to show for the first month's work? Grabbled old Miss Warren had mouthed angrily as she paid it—John was a fool—no girl could be so heartlessly extortionate—with sickness in the house—and so little to do. John had checked her promptly there—later in the hall he had apologized, almost timidly, for his mother—she was old, so ill—she would never be better—he knew, if she didn't, what a godsend Joy had been to them, he had looked even more—Marjorie had smiled wryly, remembering his eyes. Smilingly, the member, helped to send her out of doors, recklessly conscious that in the arbor she risked an encounter with Leslie—he had a theory that grapes should be cut while sun-warm.

"I'll let you help if you are very good," he called gaily as she came within range of his lantern light. Hanging directly overhead it hung, revealing white illumination upon her lifted brow, her round throat, the small, quizzical curl of her lips. Instantly he knew her—as instantly he dropped grape-shears and basket and leaped from the ladder and caught her hand, saying, "Want a prize idiot? Here he stands."

"Any proofs?" Marjorie asked saucily. "A whole month of it—I ought to have known you at first," he said huskily, falling back a pace. Miss Snickers was advancing majestically upon them, leading a reluctant captive—Mr. Warren—and brandishing a letter as though it were a dagger. As she came close she thrust the letter upon Marjorie, hissing: "By special messenger—Jim's waiting for the answer."

"He is—judicious," Marjorie answered, taking the missive, which addressed, "Miss Marjorie Joy-Millburn, at Pinehill Warrens," saying, ceremoniously, "excuse me." Marjorie broke the seal to read: "You come back home. uNe Dan is done Found he-self. Say of I don't find you quick he'll kill me. I'm in dEe ky-leviations. He knew that she was a puzzle to him; also that he found a study of it fascinating. Audaciously she had no fear that he would recognize in Joy, the Warren cook, the Marjorie Joyce Millburn he had danced with casually at the senior prom five years back. Then he had been almost bowly. Yet she fancied she would have known him without hearing his name. His manner towards her was friendly—kind yet touched with a fine respective chivalrous reserve infinitely refreshing.

"You are going, of course," Leslie said. He had read shamelessly over her shoulder. She nodded. Miss Snickers interposed, "Not until your bags are searched. I must ins't upon that for my own protection. A person sailing under false colors is capable of almost anything. I do not propose to jeopardize my 'soo name—"

"She is not going if I can help it," Warren almost shouted, clutching Marjorie's arm. "Stay—as my wife, I loved you the minute you came." Miss Snickers screamed and very promptly fainted. Marjorie brushed past her, saying to Mr. Warren: "Thank you—but it's no." Then ran toward the back door. Leslie reached it ahead of her, held it shut, and said in a shaken voice: "Marjorie, I've loved you for five years, without knowing it. I know all about you. Uncle Dan's finding himself will make you an heiress. So I—I—it seems I had better tell you. I've got a million in my own right—and expectations—"

"Why tell me?" Marjorie asked, primly but with dancing eyes. "Just a matter of precaution—so I won't be set down as a fortune hunter," Leslie answered, possessively himself of her hand.

NEGRO WOMEN TO OPEN NEW LAUNDRY IN DALLAS

DALLAS, April 12.—Problems of Dallas housewives seeking washwomen may be solved by the establishment of a first class hand laundry by the Home Makers Industrial and Trade School for Negro Women in the near future, it was announced today by Josie Briggs Hall, founder of the school. Family washings and other laundry work will be handled by the organization. A drive for a building and machinery will be launched early in May.

At a meeting to be held soon directors for the laundry will be elected and a place for the erection of the building will be chosen. The building will be two stories high and will be equipped with the latest machinery, according to the announcement by the founder.

Besides carrying on the laundry work, the school will give instruction to the negro girls in all lines of work to fit them to be better housekeepers in their own homes and in those of their employers.

HARD LUCK COMMON —USED TO IT NOW

By International News Service. LONE JACK, Mo., April 12.—This town has been losing all the "breaks" in luck for several weeks. According to Mayor King, the town has just faced "one dirged" disaster after another. First, the light plant blew up. Then the driver of the jitney bus quit on short notice. Next the town's only barber left for parts unknown, leaving the male inhabitants the choice between buying safety razors or growing whiskers. Finally the Lone Jack bank was robbed. That didn't create much excitement because, Mayor King said, the town was used to calamities.

CLUBHOUSE CARS.

Pedestrians on Ranger streets from nightfall on until the last theatre crowds have left the streets, and on Sunday afternoons, are assailed with calls of service car drivers drumming trips to road houses lying on county roads out from Ranger. Not only are prospective patrons of these places solicited, but respectable women are insulted by the drivers, who accompany their hails with suggestive use of their cars' electric horns. The condition existing on the roads lying out from Ranger is familiar. Raids have been made on some of the places, one has been discontinued and the case of the alleged proprietor of that place is pending in the courts. It is a condition that has attracted the notice and brought Ranger into the public eye again in a decidedly unfavorable manner. It has focused attention from places outside this immediate district and brought the representative of one national news service to Ranger, to secure first-hand information to disseminate to the country at large. If the operation of such places is beyond the control of county officers, and from the persistence of the roadhouses it seems to be, certainly the soliciting of business for them is within reach of the city officers. It has been demonstrated that conditions similar to those which obtain on the county roads can be controlled in town. The pushing of trade in an offensive way for places whose operation is palpably a violation of the law can be stopped.

NEIGHBORING PROGRESS.

The Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce, in a commendable manner, has prepared a map of operations in that district, showing Breckenridge's relations to the drilling and completed wells of the Stephens pools, and is sending it out as publicity for that growing town.

The surrounding towns of Breckenridge, Lolian, Parks Camp, Ivan and Crystal Falls are pictured as feeders to Breckenridge, and the map includes territory around Frank's, Necessity, La Casa, Wayland, Harpersville, Leray and Gunsight. The road systems projected by Stephens county, and the railroads already constructed and projected, are shown. The reader is impressed with Breckenridge's aggressive self-advertising, as well as by the importance of the pools which are indicated on the map.

On the obverse side, the map shows the statement of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of progress of the past year and projected improvements. Under thirty-two different headings the work of the year is set out. A flattering account of the town's growth, from a state newspaper, and a review of the city's preparations for the future are given, with the possibilities of the county's oil pools.

Breckenridge is displaying the proper initiative for expansion. In a favorable way and one that attracts any reader with possible interest in any of the Stephens pools, it is securing a good measure of desirable publicity.

MOVIES AID EDUCATION OF PARIS YOUNGSTERS

International News Service.
PARIS, April 10.—Moving picture films will play a very important part in the education of Paris youngsters if a project just put before the municipal council is adopted. It is proposed to make movie scenes a regular part of the school curriculum. Once a week every pupil in the Paris schools will go to the movies, the visit being preceded by an explanatory lecture. The lecture or movie program, will include films instructing in natural history, geography, history, science and industry, and fiction films designed to inculcate good morals. If the plan proves successful the movies may be used every day. A report presented by M. L. Riotor, who is pushing the project, declares that the moving picture film is an active aid in developing the young mind.

A London post of the American Legion has been organized. The total number of men serving during the world war was 4,090,735. According to recent statistics, 1,725 service men married British girls.

The American army took part in twelve major engagements in Europe. Sixteen United States generals were recently promoted to their regular rank.

There are more than 8,015 American Legion posts throughout the United States.

More than 25,000 special trains were required to move soldiers in the United States.

The world war debt is two-thirds greater than the value of all the gold in the world.

There will be no training this year for the officers' reserve corps and regular army reserve.

The official number of German soldiers who served through-out the war was 333.

Not a general gave a cash bonus of $25 for each month's service to war veterans of that state.

The American "rifle strength" on the western front at the signing of the armistice was 322,000.

It cost the United States government $11.34 to induct each man into the selective service during the war.

At the signing of the armistice the allies had three airplanes on the front to every German one.

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion has a special emblem made for the organization. It features an oval with a peace symbol.

A full attendance at the American Legion Thursday night enjoyed a program of music and boxing after the regular business meeting. Mr. Barries, representing Community Service, Inc., outlined the service's development and said that as its representative, he was here to work out recreational and community problems along the line Ranger selected. He was assured of the legion's help.

The club unanimously voted to affiliate with and support the Business and Working Men's club.

John Moore, Mr. Hiltson and Chief of Police Parrish spoke.

In the after bill, Broadway Jones' songs pleased. Willie White, whose color is a pale chronic, also entertained as singer, dancer and boxer. He and a black boy went four hilarious rounds.

The train on, between Young Arnold and Eddie Beville went three rounds and Beville stopped on account of a sprained thumb. Arnold's work was good.

HARD HIT GOLF BALL.
WINSTED, Conn.—A freak accident of the golf links that has been the cause of interest to local golfers, resulted when Eddie Fitzgerald drove a ball that decapitated a robin.

The bird was about 100 yards from the tee, and the ball which skimmed the fairway, took off the robin's head as cleanly as with a knife.

The twins have been performing in exhibition bouts here, and their father, who acts as manager and trainer, for the pair, is anxious to match either of them with some aspirant for the "midweight" title of the world.

RESOURCEFUL MERCHANT GETS HIS THRU ORDER

International News Service.
LINCOLN, Neb., April 10.—John Lutz, Jr., a resourceful merchant dealer here, had been trying for several months to secure Great From a St. Louis jobbing house. The thread market was really thread-bare, lastwise, so the jobbers said when Lutz got but seventy-five dozen spools from an order calling for 1,002 dozen. After three or four of such allotments Lutz scratched his head and sat down and penned this note to the jobber: "Customer here expecting baby next month. Unable to sew for prospective infant because of inability to buy thread. Please rush full amount of order. It brought this reply: "We have your most unusual favor and under the extenuating circumstances, and in view of the bare facts before us, we have robbed several customers of their rightful needs on old orders to give you preference over every requisition in the house." But Lutz was not satisfied. When the shipment came he sent this wire to the jobber: "It was triplets. We need more thread."

"LEGAL FACE" WORRIES WOMEN LAW STUDENTS

International News Service.
LONDON, April 10.—Will the women law students now on their way to practice at the bar of justice develop the "legal face?"

The Daily Express, which asks the question, declares that the British legal face is a distinct and discernible British institution. It is a face which is perfectly an unfathomable mask, which reveals nothing to the jury.

The answer which the Daily Express receives is short and to the point. "Why should women lawyers expect to have faces any different from any other kind of woman?" was the retort of a leader of the women at the bar movement.

"Women do not want to imitate. They prefer to retain their own individuality."

Terrible Tortures From Itching Skin Diseases

No Sure Relief Until the Cause Is Removed.
When the blood becomes infected with millions of tiny disease germs that attack the skin, then the fiery irritation and intense itching will remain with you until these germs are removed from the blood. Genuine relief therefore, can only be expected from a treatment that goes right to the seat of the trouble, and strikes at its cause. Such a remedy is S-S-S, the reliable old blood purifier, that kills the germs of disease, and sends a new supply of rich red blood coursing through the veins. S. S. S. has been used successfully in some of the worst cases of eczema and other skin disorders. For valuable literature write to Medical Adviser, 108 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

FAITH

Good Old Fashioned Faith — That's What The World Needs Most

WHAT is the cure for the world's present troubles—for unrest and envy and covetousness and fear? Legislation? Industrial compromises? Political readjustments? We've tried them all, and they do not satisfy.

We're hungry and thirsty for Faith. "The world needs a genuine religious revival," cabled the London financial editor of the New York Evening Post recently. And he added: "This is the view of hard-headed business men."

What business men are now proclaiming the churches have always proclaimed. You must touch the spirits of men if you are to change their lives; only to the extent of their faith in each other can they work together. All remedies are makeshifts except the Golden Rule.

Thirty denominations, knowing the need to be too great for any one denomination to meet alone, are cooperating in a nationwide campaign.

It is a campaign for deepening the spiritual forces of men; for enlisting their hearts, and their pocket-books too. And every man and woman who loves America will be glad of a chance to help.

For the hope of America is Democracy and the Founder of Democracy was the Founder of the Church. It was He who first called men sons of God, and so made all men brothers.

Not as employers and employees, not as members of parties or sects, but as sons of God and brothers all let us work out our problems together.

To strengthen the Church is our first great task; out of the Church flows Faith.

Our Boys Lose Two Ball Games 10 to 1, 17 to 9

Special Leased Wire.
WICHITA FALLS, April 12.—In a game that was marred by the poor support behind March, southside flinger for the Ranger Nitros, and made uncomfortable for the fans by a wintry wind, Wichita Falls walked away with Sunday's game, 10 to 1. The game was chopped in the fifth on account of the wind.
 Halo, a veteran Texas leaguer who is now a leading Wichita Falls banker, filled at third for the Nitros. He handled four chances and got one hit in two times on Mooney showed his usual good form.
 The team will return to Ranger today.

CHICAGO MAN BUYS ENTIRE MOUNTAIN TOWN
 International News Service.
CASCADE, Colo.—This Colorado mountain town, located in Ute Park, 7,000 odd feet above the sea level in the shadow of Pike's Peak, with a normal population of nearly 200 is now the sole property of Thomas Casack, Chicago "billboard king."

The entire town, lock, stock and barrel, has been purchased by Casack, who plans to make Cascade one of the most famous mountain resorts in the world.
 The unique deal whereby an individual purchaser secures possession of an incorporated town, was consummated by the payment of a sum said to be in excess of $100,000. It turns over Cascade homes, sidewalks, hotels, light plant, water rights, and the town "caboose."
 Cascade was incorporated in 1890. It is twelve miles west of Colorado Springs and its population ranges as high as 1,500 during the tourist season. There are approximately 500 acres in the townsite.

WIFE PITCHED PENNIES WITH BELLOP FOR KISSES
TRENTON, N. J.—That his wife and a bellboy in a hotel at Utica, N. Y., "pitched pennies for kisses" was one of the charges made by Harry Wright, of New York, in his suit for divorce from Veronica Wright of Atlantic City. Testimony was heard by Vice-Chancellor Buchanan here, and he granted the divorce without leaving the bench.
 In addition to telling about the bellboy, Wright said that for twelve years he had been taking his wife from questionable places late at night and early in the morning.

Herb Thormahlen.

Herb Thormahlen, most effective pitcher on the Yankee roster last year, with the exception of Carl Mays who joined the club in midseason, is counted on by Higgins to be worth more this season than last.
 Thormahlen, when he is right, is a very effective and dependable hurler. He gains as he handles carefully, however, as he loses his effectiveness from overwork. He isn't a very sturdy brother, either. Last year he was handicapped by illness. He participated in thirty games, however, and held the opposition to 2.62 earned runs a game. While the official dope on his won and lost record isn't at hand, he won thirteen and lost nine battles, according to unofficial figures.

The acquisition of Carl Mays and the expected return to form of Eric Shore, will give Higgins a better chance to handle Herb in the proper manner this year, with good results.
 Herb was born in Jersey City July 5, 1897, and notified his folks the next day that he wanted to pitch for the Yankees. Washington was the first big league club to notice Herb. The Nationals signed him in 1915 and let him go to Hackensack. He served time at Richmond, Baltimore and Chambersburg before the Yanks bought him from Baltimore, August 25, 1917, for $7,500. He got credit for pitching one game that year—losing it. In 1918 he won seven and lost three.

SEVENTY CHICKENS PAY HIS 1919 GROCERY BILL.
CROWELL, April 12.—The 1919 grocery bill, high as a cat's back under post-war conditions, was paid for by seventy white leghorn hens owned by J. E. Sparks of Crowell. Crowell is rapidly becoming the chicken raising section of Central West Texas, says the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

TAD'S TID-BITS

THE GREATEST FIGHTER HE EVER SAW.

New York, April 12.
 Georges Carpentier squinted at the sky for quite a few minutes the other day when we asked him who was the greatest fighter he ever saw.
 Georges has seen quite a few. He figured hitters, clever guys and tough birds over in his mind before he'd tell us the star of the gang.
 Finally, after much scratching of the skull, squinting and wondering, he told the interpreter to say that the greatest of all ringmen in his opinion was Jim Driscoll.

"I saw him years ago when he was at his best," said the French hero. "He was my ideal. What footwork, what blocking and ducking! Oh, la, la! What a nice hitter! He seemed to set his men nicely, and then punch so pretty. Things were so easy with him. I remember that I tried to box with Driscoll's case right after I saw him go the first time. My feet seemed as though they were held down. My head didn't bob in and out as his did and my hands couldn't seem to get the speed that his had. Oh, he was pretty. I never have seen anything like him since. His opponents seemed so slow."
 "My next greatest fighter? Ah, Willie Lewis. Yes, a marvel. I learned much from him because I admired him so. He was a very fast, clever boy, with a very dangerous punch. Lewis, to me, was another marvel of the ring."
 "Who was next? Oh, that Dixie Kid from America. A colored welterweight. He was as dangerous as a hand grenade. Tough? Yes, yes, very tough. I understand that year ago he beat the great Walcott. I can believe it. I boxed with him and he was a terror."

Mrs. Carpentier Couldn't Believe It.
 When Jim Corbett met Georges Carpentier the other day Mrs. Carpentier was right by her hubby's side.
 M. Corbett, who is known in movie circles as "The Child of the screen," took Carpentier's hand heartily, laughed, stepped around like a colt and kidded just as though he knew every word of French that the newcomer pulled.

 Mrs. Carpentier, standing close to the interpreter, asked Corbett's age. Corbett heard something about age and then smilingly said to the pretty madame:
 "Why, I was champion of the world before your husband was born. I beat Sullivan in 1892, and Georges wasn't born until two years later."
 When Mrs. Carpentier was told this she laughed heartily, thinking it a joke.
 It was no kid, that.

Here's a Bloke with the Sledge Out.
 Listen Tad—I was over to the East End club last night and saw Barry Norton and Tony Forman, who, I think, is the greatest fighter that ever lived. Tony is masquerading under the moniker of K. O. Andrews. He's a screamer.
 Who alive could step as fast and flop as intelligently without getting corns on his head as our own K. O. Andrews? He rounds the corners so fast that he gets dust in his pockets besides getting a woman's eye view of the attendance of the house. He's got Fred McKay looking like a selling plaster in a stake race when it comes to hitting the boards. Sometimes he's on the bottom and sometimes the other feller's on top.

 Hoping you will bet all your money on the other feller when he fights. Your pal
 F. & A.

Georges' Wardrobe as Violent as His Punches.
 Georges Carpentier may have a swell assortment of punches in his two hands, but if they're any more violent than his wardrobe it begins to look bad for Mr. Dempsey.
 Georges has a nice taste in clothes—From a quantity standpoint, anyway. When he and his bride arrived here several days ago their baggage consisted of thirty-five trunks. Here's what Georges brought along:
 Twenty overcoats,
 One hundred silk shirts (oh, boy,

you should see them! Seventy-five pairs of shoes, Two hundred cravats, Many et ceteras. And the first thing he did in New York was to go shopping.

QUEEN MARY KILLS BARE-BACK GOWN MOVEMENT
 International News Service.
 LONDON.—Queen Mary has killed the bareback gown movement in England.
 The bodiceless gown is not approved in the Court of St. James and dressmakers report the English women have consequently refused to adopt the style with the same abandon as the women of France.
 The power of the royal edict is far-reaching. Even for day wear, leading dressmakers report, the demand is for dresses less open than last year.

—roofing for your building?

The selection of a good material is an essential part of a building's construction or repair. A roofing is supposed to protect the interior of a building and the material contained in it.

Cheap roofing will crack, or rot and consequently leak. The leak may damage the contents of your building, and the cost to you may be many times the value of even the highest-priced roofing.

As a responsible distributor, with a reputation to maintain, we recommend

RU-BER-OID ROOFING

We know from knowledge and experience with roofing materials, that Ru-ber-oid is made of the highest grade felt, and the best saturating compound and the best coating compound. It costs a trifle more, but it lasts—some buildings covered 20 years ago are still in good condition.

Ru-ber-oid will not crack, rot, run rust or warp, and will not leak. Sparks "fall dead" on Ru-ber-oid because of its fire-resisting qualities.

We can tell you some interesting things about roofing. Come in and talk over your problem.

IF OIL BRINGS RAIN TO PECOS, FARM LAND WILL ADD NEW RICHES

Special to The Times.

PECOS, April 10.—Will the oil bring rain to Pecos as it did to the other Texas oil fields is the question asked by the many landowners of the sparsely vegetated grazing lands of the wide trans-Pecos plains.

If it does the riches to be gained from the huge pools which are believed to underlie the Pecos valley of the Toyah basin will be small in comparison with the wealth that will come from the rich soil of that territory.

Victors to other oil boom towns are accustomed to mud. They look for it, and can hardly believe that they are in a new oil territory unless they are forced to pull their feet from several inches of sticky substance every time they cross the street of venture into the fields.

Other parts of Texas seldom had excessive rainfalls until the oil was discovered. At Burkburnett and Ranger it was the same. As soon as the gases from the big wells began to escape from the deep holes bored into mother earth, clouds made their appearance and many dreary days of rain resulted. The heavy traffic kept the roads in a condition of turmoil and made traveling difficult.

In Pecos it has been different. The Pecos valley is known as the "Land of Sunshine." Rain during the summer season is very rare. In winter it rains on an average of twelve inches. This served to water the deep rooted plants of the plains that keep the cattle fat, and to send water into the creeks for the irrigation system along the Pecos river. If the land remains true to its reputation Pecos will make an ideal tent boom city. Tenting will be pleasant, the roads will remain good all summer with very little attention and drilling will not be interrupted by the storms.

But if the gas from the wells should bring storms the wealth that can be gained from the soils that need only water to make them as fertile as any in the world, will compensate for the inconveniences.

Florida Lady Would Have Aching Pains in Side, Back and Shoulders—Took Cardui and Soon Noted Great Improvement.

Odessa, Fla.—"About two years ago," writes Mrs. J. D. Powell of this place, "I took several bottles of Cardui as a tonic, for I was run-down in health. In fact, I could hardly do anything at all; I could only drag around and couldn't do my work. "Life was miserable to me, and I knew I must have some relief, as I was so very weak. I would suffer from aching pains in my right side, back and shoulders. I would have such terrible nervous spells, which would come on me and I would fall down wherever I was standing. "My friends recommended that I try Cardui. I began using it and soon saw and felt a great improvement. My appetite became good. I could rest well at night, and I got so I could do all my housework in a short time. I praise Cardui to all my friends. "If you suffer from ailments peculiar to women, it would be well for you to give Cardui a trial. For more than forty years it has proven beneficial to thousands of suffering women, and what it has done for others, it should do for you. Take Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, today. JACK COOMBS OUGHT TO STRENGTHEN TIGERS' ONE WEAK SPOT

Fandom knows that poor hitting has kept Hughie Jennings' ball club from winning the American league during several seasons. Hughie knows it.

But the acquisition of Jack Coombs, veteran Athlete hurler to coach the pitchers ought to strengthen that weak spot. Jennings has a good hurling staff and with Coombs' ability and strategy to aid him, ought to be able to count on it this year. The Tigers will be right up there in the pennant fight from the top of the bell.

EMIR FEISAL SUCCEEDS POET D'ANNUNZIO AS THE ALLIES' GREATEST TROUBLEMAKER

Emir Feisal (tall figure in center) inspecting his troops. Emir Feisal, son of the king of the Hedjaz, is now called the allies' greatest troublemaker, outdoing Gabrielle d'Annunzio, conqueror of Fiume, as the worst thorn in the allies' side. He was recently chosen king of Syria and announced the complete independence of his people. He is interfering with the allies' plans in Asia Minor, repudiating understandings reached between the big powers and other representatives interested in the Turkish situation.

the piecework system again this week. "Away with piecework!" was the cry before the revolution. The workmen intended to bring equality among the workers, no one was to receive more pay than any other, by introducing straight day wages. Practically all piecework was done away with by the revolution.

It is the workmen themselves, through the workmen's councils who are bringing the piecework back. Because of bad living conditions, the workman insists that he be paid for what he produces. Investigation shows that not only did the revolutionary attempt to do away with piecework fail, but that the piecework system has a more thorough hold on German industry than it had in 1917.

Burglars, Robbing Store, Find Box Hidden With Cash

Gaining entrance through a rear window, burglars entered the Kilgore market and grocery on North Penna street Sunday night and stole between $75 and $100.

The screen on the window was cut with a pocket knife and the window forced up. The window was found open when the store was opened this morning.

This is the second time that this place has been robbed. Last fall about $400 was left in the cash register. Burglars entered the place, carrying the register to the Pickering Lumber yard, where it was found, with the money gone.

Since that time an effort has been made to hide what money was left in the house after the day's business. In this instance, a few dollars in change was left in the cash register. The balance was placed in a tin box and hidden in a drawer in the cashier's desk. The box was found.

W. S. Scott of the Texas company, with headquarters in Dallas, is in the city on business.
