COMPLETE CITY TICKET IN RACE

Charter Change Election Must Be Postponed; Law Requires 50 Days' Notice

Transfer of Depot Site to Texas & Pacific Railway Will Be Delayed at Least Three Weeks Longer Than Planned.

The election to amend the city charter to donate fifteen feet of Commerce street to the railroad company...

The law requires fifty days in which to post the proper notices. This fact came to light yesterday after a meeting in the mayor's office...

Two Amendments.

At the meeting it was decided to submit to the people for amendment that section of the charter which now denies the city power to vacate streets and alleys...

It was suggested in the meeting that the amendment dispense with the office altogether and the mayor be allowed a regular salary...

When Mr. Levy, counsel for the city, and George Hemmington, city secretary, prepared to draw the amendments...

The law sets out that the city commission must notify the people for twenty days in advance that it is going to pass an ordinance permitting such an election...

Under this ruling the earliest date upon which the election can be held would be April 21...

The Harding special pulled in from Florida in the early hours of the morning and was parked on a siding until daylight. Because of the frostiness of the air, and the early hour, there were few people at the station...

DON'T NEED MONEY.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The senate today struck from the legislative appropriation bill its amendment providing $200,000,000 for the farm loan banks.

The Supreme court decision, upholding the farm loan act's constitutionality, handed down yesterday, made the appropriation unnecessary.

SENATORS DEMAND FOREIGN LOAN DATA

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The senate judiciary committee today decided to make it "mandatory" upon Secretary of the Treasury David F. Houston to produce all official documents and other papers bearing upon foreign loans.

A motion offered by Senator Reed of Missouri, Democrat, "directing" instead of "requesting" the secretary to produce the papers in question, was adopted unanimously by the committee in executive session.

NOLAN COUNTY COTTON FARMERS SAVE BY POOLING

Special to the Times.

DALLAS, March 1.—Cotton growers of Nolan county, who are pooling their production in lots of as many as 500 bales through the farm bureau organization in the county, are realizing a benefit of from $5 to $10 on each bale, according to G. A. Lackey, secretary of the Nolan County farm bureau.

Wallace, of Iowa; Secretary of Commerce, Herbert Hoover, of California, and Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania.

ALLIES REJECT GERMAN'S PLAN ON INDEMNITY

First Conference Ends Abruptly When Lloyd George Breaks Into Speech.

LONDON, March 1.—The first session of the great indemnity conference today ended abruptly. The German proposals that were advanced in answer to the allies' indemnity decision evidently proved "unsatisfactory." After Dr. Walter Simons, German foreign minister, had spoken and read for nearly two hours, Premier Lloyd George broke into the delegate's speech, exclaiming: "You are doing no more than you did in previous statements. If you are going to continue thus, it is useless to go any further."

The conference opened at 11:40 in the Lancaster house, and ended at 1:15 this afternoon. Following the initial session, the allied statesmen decided to meet at 4 o'clock at Premier Lloyd George's residence to consider their future course of action. The German delegates retired to their hotel, where they spent the afternoon conferring among themselves. Germany's counter indemnity proposals, as outlined by Dr. Simons, called for the payment of $50,000,000 gold marks, the German contending that 20,000,000,000 gold marks of this amount already have been paid. He proposed that payment of a sum not to exceed 20,000,000,000 gold marks be made within the next thirty years. The German foreign minister suggested that Germany get money for indemnity payment through the flotation of international loans. Dr. Simons suggested that the first loan should be for 8,000,000,000 gold marks, tax exempt in all countries.

INVITE U. S. TO LEAGUE MEET.

PARIS, March 1.—The league council today invited the United States to send a representative to the meeting of the council in April, in reply to the American note on mandates. The reply says the council is obliged to accept the decision of the allied supreme council concerning the island of Yap.

PITTSBURG, Kan., March 1.

Complete idleness prevails in the Kansas coal fields today. Miners are training from work because of the preliminary hearing of Alexander Howat, president, and August Dornoch, vice president of the Kansas Miners' union, who are facing criminal charges in connection with the calling of a strike.

INCOME TAX MEN AT F. & M. BANK THIS WEEK

Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue B. G. Ralston and T. C. Webb are in Ranger this week, assisting income tax payers. Their offices are at the F. & M. bank, where they may be found from 9 to 3 o'clock each day. They will give advice on partnership returns and assist in making out individual returns. They also have blanks for any one desiring them.

CAPT. HICKMAN AT AUSTIN FOR CONFERENCE

Ranger Captain Tom Hickman is probably conferring with Adjutant General Barton and Governor Neff today on the recent trouble that has been the subject of so much controversy between Joe Burkett and the adjutant's department.

Captain Hickman left Ranger Monday night for Austin for that purpose. Just what his attitude will be in the matter is not known, but it is believed he will defend the action of the men under him, who are accused of willfully and without cause beating up two Ranger citizens, the Burgess brothers, several nights ago.

In spite of the action of the grand jury in indicting four of the rangers in connection with that affair, it is believed that Captain Hickman, in his own mind at least, can justify their actions.

It is pointed out that in the crossfire now raging between Burkett and the adjutant general regarding that episode that the real reason of the rangers being stationed in this city is the fact that they are here in no taken generally as evidence that their presence is needed in Ranger. This city was chosen as headquarters for the company because from this point all parts of the oil fields are easily accessible, and their real business for being here is to patrol the oil country from the Red river to Sipe Springs. This statement Captain Hickman made himself upon coming here. Local citizens consider the fact unfortunate that Burkett found it necessary to defend the morals of Eastland county, since the widespread publicity given such defense reacts and leaves Ranger in the limelight as a modern Sodom.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The house judiciary committee met to consider the impeachment charges made against Federal Judge K. M. Landis by Representative Welby of Ohio.

BURKETT CALLS ON GOV. NEFF TO REMOVE BARTON

Wants "More Responsible Man" to Hold Down Adjutant General's Post.

By Associated Press

AUSTIN, March 1.—Joe Burkett, representative of Eastland, today requested Governor Neff to request Adjutant General Barton to resign and appoint "another more worthy of that high responsible office. Burkett's request was made on the floor of the house on a point of personal privilege and order printed in the journal. This action is the culmination of several days' bitter controversy between Burkett and Barton over the fact that state rangers are stationed in Eastland county, where the representative has his home. Burkett has contended that the rangers are not needed there and have raised the ire of citizens by using violence on two Ranger citizens. Barton has answered that the rangers were needed and he has the moral, physical and political courage to send fifty such officers into the representative home county if he saw fit.

RABBIT DRIVES ARE 'BUSINESS' MATTER IN WEST TEXAS TOWNS

Special to the Times.

STAMFORD, March 1.—The rabbit drive is becoming a business with many towns of West Texas. Realization of the great loss incurred each year through the ravage of this pest has aroused the agricultural and business interests of the country to put forth some concerted effort to rid their section of these pests. The weekly press shows where dozens of towns have undertaken these drives with success, killing thousands in one day. By the united efforts of all the towns and the countries of the state the monetary loss incurred each year can be greatly reduced and considerable sport secured by the participants.

ALTON, Ill., March 1.—A. W. Crawford, prominent Democratic politician of Hillsboro, Ill., and Don Barak, president of an automobile company here, were instantly killed when their automobile was demolished by a fast passenger train of the Chicago & Alton at Wood river this afternoon.

CHAMP CLARK NEAR DEATH AT WASHINGTON

International News Service. WASHINGTON, March 1.—Little hope for the recovery of Champ Clark, veteran Democratic leader, who is critically ill here, was held today by his physician, Dr. Jesse Shoup, after an examination this morning. "Mr. Clark may live the day out and he may live through tomorrow," the doctor said. Mr. Clark, although in a comatose condition, has recovered consciousness for brief intervals, the physician stated.

BLOODSHED IN PANAMA 'WAR' NOT EXCESSIVE

J. S. Troops Patrol Panama City After President Peaves Populace.

International News Service. BALPOA, Panama, March 1.—Two Costa Ricans were killed and nine wounded and two Panamians were wounded in an hour's battle at Coto, on the Pacific ocean side of the Panama-Costa Rica frontier, on Sunday night, according to dispatches received today from the front. The fighting began at 5:30 in the afternoon. The Costa Ricans sent reinforcements in a gasoline launch to try to recapture Coto, which the Panamians had taken Sunday morning. They were repulsed. The Panama forces captured one mitrailleuse, twenty-five rifles, and a supply of provisions. The Panama commander sent word that his troops would continue to hold the undisputed territory pending mediation.

News of the victory aroused great enthusiasm in Panama city. Political opponents of President Porras attempt to make capital of the situation by addressing crowds and declaring that the executive had not shown a full measure of loyalty to his country. President Porras said he considered the victory at Coto only a police matter until Costa Rica declared her intention of making this disputed territory a part of Costa Rica. Opponents of President Porras sent a delegation to demand his resignation. When the president refused to resign, a mob tried to break into his official residence and make him a prisoner. With President Porras at the time of this incident was Col. J. J. Morrow, acting governor of the Panama Canal zone. Afterwards the president asked Col. Morrow to send troops from the Panama canal zone garrison to restore order and within half an hour doughboys were patrolling the streets and guarding the presidential residence. It was said that the rangers are not needed there and would be maintained until the need for it had passed. The saloons in Panama city were closed today and the sales of arms prohibited. The city now is quiet. Following the receipt of a note from Washington the belief has come strong that the United States will intervene, even if Costa Rica should reject the proposed terms of mediation.

RIOT REPORTED.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A demonstration took place outside the presidential palace at Panama city yesterday, while American Minister Price and the governor of the canal zone were in conference with President Porras, the American legation at Panama today informed the state department. The palace guard opened fire on the mob and E. H. Turner, editor of Diario Nacional, was injured. Several other unidentified persons were injured. A reported interview by Porras, stating that he considered the present trouble capable of settlement by conciliation, is understood to have been the cause of the demonstration. American troops were sent to guard the Panama presidential palace in accordance with provisions of the treaty with Panama.

ALL-NIGHT CABARET PARTY LED SOCIETY WOMAN TO KILL LOVER

CHICAGO, March 1.—Mrs. Cora Orthwein, divorced wife of Ralph Orthwein, wealthy St. Louis oil man and former president of the St. Louis American League baseball club, in the Sheffield Avenue police station today sobbed out her story of the all-night party at a North Side cabaret, which ended early today in the killing of Herbert Zeigler, district manager of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in her apartment. "Oh God, why did I kill him!" Mrs. Orthwein sobbed over and over again. "I loved him, but he was a beast when he was drinking. I shot him twice after he broke open two bottles of my home. He was trying to get me."

MEN SUGGESTED BY COMMITTEE ASK PLACE ON APRIL BALLOT

Holston, Davenport, Newnam, Cole and Maher File Applications Today.

The men suggested several weeks ago by a citizens' committee for the offices of mayor and city commissioner this morning definitely announced themselves for the offices suggested. They are:

- John Holston, vice-president Farmers & Merchants bank, for mayor.
- A. Davenport, local merchant, for police and fire commissioner.
- M. R. Newnam, banker and extensive real estate holder, for street commissioner.
- H. S. Cole, theatre man and property owner, for finance commissioner.
- Edward R. Maher, dealer in automobiles, for sanitary commissioner.
- Davenport and Newnam are offering themselves for re-election, having filled their respective offices for the past two years. Both are well acquainted with conditions in the city's affairs.
- Almost without any funds at all, the streets of the city under Mr. Newnam's administration have taken passable form. Under Mr. Davenport, both the police and fire departments have reached their present state of efficiency.
- The other three men are new to politics, but are known for their ability as civic leaders.

Mr. Holston, President of the Farmers & Merchants Bank and one of the largest property holders in the city.

He has been identified with the business of Ranger for many years. H. S. Cole is now president of both the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club. He was voluntarily honored with these places by the organizations and his work at their heads is evidence that he would be a valuable member of the city commission. Edward Maher has been a part of Ranger since the early days of the boom. He is of the firm of Leveille-Maher Motor company, and is a city leader. He is always found in the front ranks of those who are working for the interest of the city. One Other Announcement. The only other announcement that has been made this affair is that of S. R. Black, who has offered himself for mayor on an independent ticket. However, during the past few days several political pow-wows have been held by other leaders and other candidates may enter the field. At the time the above ticket was suggested by the citizens' committee a second citizens' committee also offered a ticket. Just what action will come from that direction under present conditions is not known.

J. B. AMES RESIGNS FROM SHERIFF'S FORCE

J. B. Ames, who was appointed deputy sheriff in Ranger under Sheriff Sam Nolley's administration, has tendered his resignation of that office to take effect today. The retiring officer gives as his reason that other interests require his time and for that reason he feels that he should surrender his office. The letter expresses regrets at leaving the department, where Ames says his relations have been very satisfactory and pleasant.

BOY READ TOO MANY WILD WEST NOVELS

HOUSTON, March 1.—No motive has been established today for the slaying of Herman T. Fowler, 15 years old. That the boy was of an inquisitive nature and read many books, some characters of which probably emulated, was the only son his mother could assign. He had been brooding over a scolding him several days ago, she said. The lad's body was found before late midnight hanging from the cross-tree of the family line in the back yard. He had died about four hours.

MAIL PRIVILEGE IS RESTORED

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The privilege of mail placed upon socialist leader in the prison, was removed by the Supreme Court today. Restrictive laws of Delis will be applied to the socialist movement attacking the Commerce S. R. Dickerson said.

WOULD PROTECT NATIONAL BANK AGAINST 'RUNS'

BY W. H. ATKINS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—National banks must be made absolutely immune from failure because of bank "runs" or other sudden emergencies. To this end Comptroller of the Currency Williams has urged congress to amend the banking act to allow solvent banks to meet runs with funds obtained from Federal Reserve banks upon good securities which are not now "eligible" as security under the law as it stands.

"The suspension of a large and sound national bank because of its inability to realize promptly on high-grade securities and loans in order to meet a run might precipitate a panic and financial crisis which it might be difficult to stem," Williams told congress. He said banks should be given further protection in such emergencies.

The comptroller asserted that amendment of the bank act, such as he recommends, would prove "distinctly salutary," and would largely dispel nervousness which sometimes arises in financial circles because of the possible dangers of the situation as the law is now framed. He maintains this step would also inspire increased confidence in the whole banking field.

Make Failure Impossible.

"With such an amendment as I suggest the suspension or failure of an honestly conducted national bank would be practically impossible.

Discussing his proposal, Mr. Williams said it would operate not only for greater safety for banking institutions but would provide further guarantee of the security of the funds entrusted to the banks by depositors.

Comptroller Williams reiterated that the nation's banks are safe and sound and are more secure than at any previous period in history. But he said the adoption of additional safeguards will raise banking confidence to maximum. Assurance that the public he contends, that bank failures are virtually impossible would bring out hidden wealth into useful industrial avenues.

IRISH PROSPEROUS DESPITE STATE OF 'WAR'

International News Service.

LONDON, March 1.—Through all its time of trouble Ireland has continued to increase in prosperity.

Such is the revelation made in the annual report of the Provincial Bank of Ireland.

The report shows that deposits and current accounts have increased nearly $10,000,000 in the past year, while advances to customers and bills discounted, measure of a country's commercial activity, increased from $6,800,000 to $88,400,000.

The balance of trade is shown as strongly in Ireland's favor. During the last three years exports have exceeded imports by over $200,000,000. There has been a decline in acreage farmed, but prices have remained at a level remunerative to the farmers.

Ireland almost, or perhaps quite, alone among European countries retains practically intact its pre-war quantity of cattle.

TEXAS PHYSICIAN SAYS CANCER IS CURABLE

J. M. Gilbert of Randolph declares Dr. O. A. Johnson has Proved His Mastery of Dread Disease.

Physicians know that cancer will not yield to ordinary treatment, therefore, when a bad cancer appeared on his face, Dr. J. M. Gilbert of Randolph, Tex., lost no time in consulting Dr. O. A. Johnson, eminent cancer specialist, of Kansas City, Mo. Declaring he is entirely cured, Dr. Gilbert writes:

"I recommend that every cancer sufferer consult immediately with the man, that I, as a doctor, regard foremost in his line. Dr. Johnson has proved to the world that cancer can be cured."

Johnson has published a reliable book called "Cancer," a statement of his theories and experiences in treating cancer with the use of the knife. Purely internal measures only are employed; that is, external applications to the cancer and internal medicine to purify the blood. This can be sent free to any cancer sufferer. Or, if you have a friend suffering from cancer, write to Dr. Johnson, Suite 560, 1324 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo.—Adv.

WITH MRS. HOMESLEY.

The East and West Side circles of the Presbyterian auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. T. J. Homesley yesterday afternoon with Mrs. B. B. Liles as hostess. Thirty-two members and guests were present and first part of the afternoon was spent in doing fancy work for the Woman's Exchange. Then the real reason for the meeting was made known to the honoree, Mrs. A. N. Stubblebine, wife of the Presbyterian minister, and the old Southern custom of "pounding the preacher," was carried out. A large clothes-basket piled high with goodies for Mrs. Stubblebine's pantry was placed beside her and Mrs. Outlaw recited an appropriate rhyme composed by Mrs. Liles. One had but to look at Mrs. Stubblebine's face to know the surprise was genuine and when there were cries of "speech," she declared it wasn't fair to make a person speechless and then call for a speech. Dainty refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served.

PARENT-TEACHERS MEET.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the Cooper school will be Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, at the school building. This meeting is a social meeting to be given by Miss Garber in the second grade room. All parents are cordially invited to attend.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. B. B. Liles is leaving tonight for Dallas, where she expects to spend the next ten days. Misses Doris and Geraldine Lawrence of Dallas spent the week-end with their father, H. D. Lawrence of the Times force. Mrs. R. Q. Lee and Mrs. J. J. Butts of Cisco are the guests of Mrs. J. M. White, at her home in Young addition.

Ladies! You'll Be Surprised! at Nitros' Ball

On the night of the Nitros ball, President Fleming, president of the club, is going to do something handsome for the ladies. Just what it is Mr. Fleming is not ready to say. However, it will be forthcoming before the night of the dance, which is to be held in the Summer Garden next Monday night.

To help along, Mrs. E. N. Jonas has turned the dance hall over to the ball club for that night without charge.

Mr. Fleming's surprise is only one of the features of the occasion. Many others will be staged.

As the young men peddling stock in a liquid gold mine so often remark, if you want to get in on the ground floor you had better buy your ticket now. When the present supply is exhausted there will be no more printed.

ROADSTER STOLEN FROM ELM STREET

The Ford roadster of Lewis Parker was stolen last night from in front of Mechanics hall on Elm street, where its owner was attending a union meeting.

The police were notified. From Pine to Elm street, along Rusk seems to be the favored stamping ground of car thieves. Police records show that from this block more cars have been stolen than from any other section in the city.

ARMY'S NEW DIRIGIBLE IS BIG AS BATTLESHIP

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The army will have an airship capable of carrying 100 passengers in addition to the crew when the great Italian semi-rigid dirigible "Roma," recently purchased, arrives. An air service detachment is enroute to Italy to deliberate the big bag and bring it home on ship board.

The "Roma," driven by six twelve-cylinder engines developing an aggregate of 2,400 horsepower, has a lifting capacity of 65,000 pounds. She can carry nearly nineteen tons through the air in addition to herself and her crew at an estimated maximum speed of eighty miles an hour. The big gas bag, holding 1,200,000 cubic feet of gas, is longer than all but the most modern war craft, 410 feet, and is 82 feet wide; while bag and car tower to a height of 86 feet 6 inches.

With filled gasoline tanks the ship has a full speed radius of 350 miles and at cruising speed could go 300 miles without landing.

The "Roma" was constructed under personal supervision of Signor Ugo, whose name has been applied to the aircraft of that particular type, was designed for commercial use originally, but was sold to the United States for $200,000. It would cost $1,250,000 to duplicate here, experts figure.

DOES WILSON WANT MONTE CRISTO?

International News Service.

PARIS, March 1.—Reports received in Paris say that President Wilson has asked the King of Italy to sell him the island of Monte Cristo, situated between Corsica and the western coast of Italy. The newspaper reports further state that President Wilson chose this spot on account of its isolated position where he could quite settle down and write a book of his memoirs. King Victor Emmanuel owns the only house on the island and it was there that Dante sought the treasures of the Abbe Faria.

MEX LABORERS, HEADED HOME, FLOOD JUAREZ

EL PASO, March 1.—Disillusioned of their dreams of high wages and immediate wealth in the United States, Mexican laborers are pouring back into Mexico, more than 100 a day passing through the port of Juarez alone.

This exodus of labor back into the country has created such a national problem that the Mexican government has instructed immigration officers along the border to furnish them free transportation to their homes in the different parts of the republic. The returned workmen present a sorry spectacle at the office of Antonio Corona, Mexican immigration chief, where they stand in line for hours, waiting for their transportation orders.

Up Against It.
The majority are in rags and without money. Many have traveled for days without any food, except a piece of dry bread, sleeping as best they could in the day coaches of the trains. Their homes are in every part of the republic, some as far south as Manzanillo, Colimo. Most of the men are of the peon class and are miserably poor.

Women and children have followed the men to the United States, hoping to build homes in the promised land to the north, but on the failure of their husbands and fathers to find work, or on being thrown out of the job after it had been found, these hopes fell and they started south.

Having sold their homes and belongings in order to get the necessary pesos to make the trip to the United States, many of the peons face a desperate situation on their return. With their goats and huts in other hands, and a surplus of labor throughout the republic, many fear absolute starvation.

The government is trying to solve the unemployment question by engaging in an extensive building program.

Hide Both Ways.
Juarez also has a second group of unwelcome guests, coming up from the interior with the expectation of finding work in the border towns or in the United States. As soon as they arrive in the city they find that no jobs are available and are usually stranded until the government sends them home.

Other towns in Mexico, especially border cities, are faced with similar problems. Mayor Francisco G. Rodriguez of Juarez has recently addressed an appeal to the mayors of the Mexican cities, asking them to warn their people against coming north and expecting to find work.

Students Raise Own Free Lunch at Kentucky School

PADUCAH, Ky., March 1.—McCracken county has, in the Reidland school, located several miles from this city, what educators say is one of the most unique public school enterprises in the country. The school has seven teachers, including kindergarten and home economic instructors; 175 pupils; gives a free lunch to every pupil attending, takes an hour of free charge regardless of whether his home is in the district, and now is preparing plans for the erection of a $25,000 building. The school is maintained without any increase in the tax levy above the figure at which it stood seven years ago, according to its sponsors.

The latest enterprise of the school is the incorporation of the "Reidland School Free Lunch association," owned and operated by the pupils under the direction of three of the teachers, who for purposes of organization are listed as officials. The association has a capital stock of $1,000.

Last summer the trustees purchased ten acres of land as a site for the new school building. On this land garden tracts have been set aside and in these the boys will raise garden stuff, potatoes and other vegetables needed for the lunches. A poultry flock will be maintained and $500 of the capital is to be invested in a registered and tested dairy cow for furnishing milk. Whatever funds are available after the association gets started as a capitalized affair will be invested in breeding stock, according to W. Mike Oliver, an attorney, who is credited with being the guiding spirit in the work done in the district during the last seven years.

The vegetables raised in the school gardens are to be canned by members of the Girls' Canning club, an adjunct of the home economics course, and which last year canned several hundred quarts of vegetables. The lunches will be cooked by the class in cooking as part of their course. All present lunches are prepared from foodstuffs furnished by residents of the district.

Credit for the project and its success is given largely to W. Mike Oliver, well known in western Kentucky as an authority on drainage law.

GHOSTS OF INAUGURAL PAGEANTS SHUDDER AS HARDING TURNS BACK TO 'JEFFERSONIAN SIMPLICITY'

Artillery Salutes, Prancing Horses of Swagger Cavalry, War Worn Troops, the Beauty and Chivalry of a Nation, Have Taken Part in Ceremonies of Past.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Inauguration of President-elect Harding will mark the first swing of ceremonies toward simplicity since Thomas Jefferson toiled up Capitol Hill about 120 years ago.

The ceremony of administering the oath, will be as it was prescribed by George Washington. There will be no change in its utter simplicity. But Mr. Harding by his own decision will enter upon his great task without the pomp and parade that have increasingly surrounded that solemn moment as the years went by. Not even the "salvos of artillery" that heralded the dawn of Jefferson's inauguration day will wake the sleeping echoes along the Potomac next Friday.

No Inaugural Parade.
Gone too, will be the inaugural parade, time honored since regular and militia troops blazed the historic route up Pennsylvania avenue to "the President's House," when President Madison rode in state to take up duties laid down by Jefferson. Weather alone has prevented or hindered this national spectacle in the years that followed.

Gone also the decorated floats and the soldiery from many states which accompanied President William Henry Harrison as he rode his horse to the capitol to take the oath; gone the tramping ranks of cabinet officers and clergy and professors and students of Georgetown University which made the historic journey with Polk; gone the military splendor of the pageants that marked elevation to high office of soldierly Zachary Taylor and U. S. Grant.

Among things of the more recent past not to be revived for Mr. Harding will be the gray and white cad lines of West Point cadets, stepping proudly and with perfect unison up the great avenue. Inauguration has been for these future leaders of the army and for their brothers of the Midshipmen corps from Annapolis, a great public day, and the nation has lavished well deserved plaudits on their appearance.

When Polk rode to his inauguration, a "lid glove" troop of young Virginians, the Fairfax Cavalry, clattered before him as special escort. It was the first time a military organization had been specially distinguished in such fashion, but at times thereafter incoming presidents have paid and received compliments of the kind, which will be lacking at Mr. Harding's inauguration. President Benjamin Harrison rode at the head of his old regiment, the Seventeenth Indiana Volunteer Infantry, President McKinley was escorted by Troop A of Cleveland's Black Horse Cavalry.

No Tenseness.
Great with problems as may be the four years ahead of Mr. Harding as he turns with the weight of his own hand upon him to the work he has himself said will be calling, a grim tenseness that has hung over the inauguration of some of his predecessors will be lacking.

Madison was to see Washington in enemy hands and "The President's House" fired by British; the drumming tramp of troops in full war gear, called to guard the capital in the brewing storm of civil war was in Lincoln's wars as he pledged his faith, his very life, to his task. Yet Douglas, his defeated rival, stood at his side and held his hat as Lincoln bent his long figure to seal his oath with his lips upon the Bible.

Four years later, again called to high service, Lincoln saw the wreck and ruin of war spreading far to the south beyond the Potomac; war maimed men were groaning in hospitals hard by where he stood to take his oath and ahead lay bitter days of reconstruction.

President Hayes was twice sworn in. March 4 was a Sunday that year.

The election decision had left a ranking sore behind it, for one electoral vote had defeated Tilden. On March 3, privately the oath was first administered to President Hayes to be repeated in public March 5.

When Woodrow Wilson rode down Pennsylvania avenue and back again at his second inauguration in 1917, American entry into the world war was at hand. The last remnants of the court of honor before the White House erected for inauguration had not disappeared before the nation was aflame with war business.

There have been other inaugurations over which even a darker cloud hovered. Andrew Jackson took office in 1829 soon after the death of his wife which curtailed inauguration ceremonies, and five times vice presidents have been called to the presidency through death of the president, three times by assassination. In each case the vice-presidents took up his duties without formal ceremony other than private administration of his oath of office. Tyler, at his home in Washington, Fillmore at the capitol, Johnson in the office of the president, Arthur at his home in New York city and Roosevelt in Buffalo, thus took up the presidency.

Not So "Simple."
Curious tales, many now almost legendary and some of them tinged with bitterness of partisan feeling of their day, have drifted down the years from inauguration periods long gone by. Much has been written and said of the "Jefferson simplicity" of the third president, yet not all of it appears to be well founded on fact.

It has been often repeated that Jefferson rode his horse to his inauguration, hitching the animal to a fence near the capitol while he went to take the oath. Investigation by historians appears to have established, however, that it was an incident eight years later, when Jefferson surrendered office to Madison, from which this account sprang. He did ride to see his successor installed, leaving his horse at a hitching post meanwhile, then set off for his Virginia home at Monticello.

It also appears that Jefferson had planned a more elaborate inauguration ceremony than actually was held. He was escorted into the city by a troop of cavalry the day before taking lodgings at "Conrad and McNunn's"

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

"Do you know what is the very nicest thing in the world to eat?" asked the wise old turtle.

What the Wise O'd Turtle told Mary Jane

A VERY wise old turtle lived in the pond at the edge of the wood, near Mary Jane's house. This turtle's name was Dotty Dots.

One day, when Mary was minding her little brother, Bobbie, Dotty waddled up to her, cocked his head on one side, and said: "Do you know what is the very nicest thing in all the world to eat?"

Mary Jane said No, she didn't. There were so many nice things to eat.

So Dotty said, "Well, you ought to know, for it's named after you! It's Mary Jane Syrup, and it's perfectly delicious on waffles, or pancakes, or spread on bread. It is just what Bobbie and you need."

Mary Jane and Bobbie ran home and told their mother what Dotty Dots said, and their mother said, "Is that so? Well, we'll get some right away and see."

That very night they had Mary Jane Syrup for supper. It was so sweet and pure and delicately-flavored that Mary Jane's mother made up her mind that they never would be without it in the house again.

And they never were.

RATS.

Next week in Texas is clean-up week, so designated in a proclamation by the governor. It is the week when yards will be raked, rats killed, dairies and food supplies inspected and other sanitary and health factors looked into and put in shape.

Whether Ranger is badly in need of a clean-up in the primary sense of the word is doubtful. The greater part of it probably is in fair shape, since it was cleaned up a month ago or just before the West Texas convention.

There is one item of the campaign, however, that might well be pushed. That is the elimination of our rat population, or at least a beginning of a systematic offensive toward their extermination.

Now there are means of reducing this pest—dangerous to health, harmful to property, nauseating to the sensibilities—to a point where they will be scarcely noticeable. Then systematic effort will keep them in subjection.

How about a war on rats next week, organized, directed, using methods which the department of health will be glad to recommend as efficacious? It will be an inexpensive and beneficial civic move.

IN PERSPECTIVE.

A professor sitting on the edge of a canal on Mars and looking at the earth through a telescope would have observed a sudden blotting out last Thursday evening of the flying surges of the northern portion of this atmosphere. Twenty-four hours later landscape of North America would have been in sight, but this the belt of luminous whiteness creeps down from the pole at a stages of our revolution.

Having dropped her fare into the box, she moved forward and secured a seat near the front exit. After a few blocks a conductor, through for the day, boarded the car and began chatting with the motorman.

The woman didn't hear Bill's answer, for it was her corner. As the

If these mysterious luminous envelopes which appear and disappear be indeed signs of an atmosphere the day is not far off when the last of that atmosphere under a somewhat greater degree of frost will freeze and precipitate itself upon the rigid remains of the Earthians.

At last the professor might take his eye from the telescope and wiggle slowly home to supper, his inwards chilled by the thought of an extinction which might, upon some dizzy point in time and space, overtake Mars itself, the Martian science and the Martian arts—yes, even the Martian God himself.—New York Globe.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

At a Loss? Not He! The man was small in stature and insignificant generally, with the air of assurance so often found in his type. But the generously built young woman, who was evidently his wife, seemed to view him through spectacles not only rosyhued but possessed of magnifying power as well.

They were on the Sixth avenue elevated and the woman had no difficulty in gathering that, although six years had elapsed since the gentleman's one visit to "this burg," he was all set and primed to enlighten his less-traveled wife as to points of interest along the route.

With the sophistication born from his one visit to New York, he called attention to "Columbia university" and its striking architecture. A perturbed stickler for facts sitting at the little man's left volunteered a remark that the building in question was the City college.

There, as nothing more interesting than apartment houses greeted roving eyes, attention turned to their fellow passengers, gradually focusing upon a brown-haired deaconess in demure black with relieving touches of snowy linen, who was seated opposite. A minute of perplexed scrutiny on the part of Mrs. Out-of-Town—then wandering eyes turned to her all-wise husband for the answer.

The woman was riding in a trolley car in Yonkers. There is nothing remarkable in this, for Yonkers really is on the map, and it does likewise boast street cars—of a sort.

Nothing Doing. The Business Woman always has to work one evening toward the end of the month, and this last time it was after eleven when she left her Wall street office, and half-past when she came out of the uptown subway.

The Business Woman assured her that she did not mind in the least. "Aren't you at all afraid?" the old lady asked, admiringly. "Well, I don't think much about it," the younger woman said, glancing indifferently at the deserted street ahead.

"Got these for the missus," he confided in stentorian tones. "Her birthday today. Knew she'd like 'em. Set me back a dollar, but say, ain't they pretty? Have a smell, Bill. They smell like home. You sort of don't mind hard work and cold when there's flowers and babies in the world, eh Bill?"

The woman didn't hear Bill's answer, for it was her corner. As the

A Sign of Spring

SILKY TAMARIN.

Lady Duck had spent many a winter in the Land of the South, but since she had had the trouble with Mr. Red Fox in the Great Forest she could not fly so easily, and therefore, had remained in the North with the King and the kind creatures of the woodland.

But, because she had spent some of her winters in the South was no sign that she knew all of the creatures of that land, and when this one appeared, as she and the King were journeying toward the Spring of Healing, she was more surprised than ever before in her life for such a peculiar looking stranger she had never seen in all of her previous travels.

"Tinker Bob was surprised, of course, but that is the thing he liked about being the King of the Forest. When a stranger came along that was the fellow the King wanted to see, for all strangers had something new to tell him, or show him, and Tinker Bob was always eager for the news. Of all the surprises this one was the greatest, for when a stranger entered the Land of the Forest where the King lived he always hid himself, for he was afraid. That was not the case with this one, he walked right toward the King fearlessly.

Mrs. Red Robin stopped her flight toward the spring when she saw that the King had met a stranger, and went to him quickly. Tinker spoke to the fellow in a glad voice. "Hello stranger, who may you chance to be? I liked you immediately, for you were not afraid to meet me on the Forest path. I shall be glad to know your name.

Just then Mrs. Red Robin came to him chirping as loud as ever she could. "Chirp, chirp, O King of the Forest, this is one of the most dangerous fellows in the Forest of the Southland. He chases the birds off their nests and steals their eggs, and then sits and laughs because they are afraid of him. O King, he is the cause of so many of us going to the Forest of the North to hatch our eggs and raise our children, because he will not let anyone alone here in the Southland. This all sounded very interesting to Tinker Bob, and he was the more anxious to know who this fellow was and where he lived. He had a long silky tail, and a face like a little child, and when he heard what Mrs. Red Robin said he laughed and laughed.

Then he put his arm around Lady Duck's neck, and stroked her silky feathers. This frightened her nearly to death, and she quaked as though she was being killed. But this very action was so funny that Tinker laughed till he nearly cried. "Tell me who you are and where you live," shouted Tinker Bob.

"O King, his name is Silky Tamarin," said Mrs. Robin, "but he's nobody but a silly monkey." And that was the first time Tinker had ever seen a Monkey.

Tomorrow—The Short Cut to the Spring.

And then she stepped into the taxi and drove away.

Both were waiting to check suitcases in the Grand Central baggage room. The woman's eye had been caught by the sumptuousness of the seal coat laid on the counter, and had traveled up the rather pronounced curves of the figure to the wholesome, pleasant face under a too-large hat. She had answered the friendly smile and drifted into chatting.

Each smiled to find that the other was on the way to spend a week-end with a cousin in one case a "she" and in the other a "he." My lady of the seal coat said her cousin was the only relative she had in the world and that it seemed only cozily to "run out for two or three days with him" before sailing from New York to be gone at least a year and a half.

"Where was he? At Johns river," the woman had never heard of the town. She is not sure she has the name right even now. She assumed it was in New Jersey. Her own prospect of a gray week-end in Philadelphia seemed more than ever festive by contrast.

Sure, That's Just What Would Be, Okla., Would Be

By Associated Press

TULSA, Okla., March 1.—The town of Would Be, Okla., owes its name to a dispute between a postoffice inspector and a postmaster.

This is the story as told by Embury Kayne of Would Be. In 1917, about 400 persons, comprising an oil camp five miles south of Billings, decided they wanted a postoffice. The postoffice department granted their request and a postal inspector arrived to christen the new community.

The postmaster, leading the discussion for the citizens, wanted the town named Mid-Co. The inspector objected. "It wouldn't do at all," he said. "When the oil's gone, what would it be?"

SENATE ENDS BOXING LEGION BOXING BILL

International News Service. AUSTIN, Mar. 1.—The Senate today passed to engrossment by a vote of 16 to 10 the Baugh boxing bill as a substitute for the McNealus measure. The Baugh Bill, known as the American Legion boxing measure, provides local option for boxing contests. An amendment is carried assuring that no repeal of the Culbertson anti-prize fight law could be construed in the measure.

TRUBBLES.

Trubbles are divided into 2 kinds, big troubles and little ones. The most useful kind to have are big troubles because they make you forget your little ones. Thus if you have a little trouble such as a splinter some place you think you are suffering terse, and then if you suddenly fall off a roof or something you realize immediately that the splinter aint worth mentioning. But on the other hand if you fall off the roof first and get the splinter wen you land, it wont take your mind off the fact that you fell off the roof.

Teeth in my eye, and if they stay to you know your rite.

Other small troubles are a cinch in your eye, the main consolation being that they generally only get in one eye at a time. Sometimes you think theres something in your eye wen theres not. In that case the best thing is to wawk up to somebody and say "Excuse me, do you see anything in my eye?" and if they say "No, you know your rite."

What woman is not familiar with the smartest models of reasonable hats as they appear in this newspaper?

BRITISH FIND MYSTERY HOUSE IN DUBLIN RAID

International News Service. DUBLIN, Mar. 1.—Few of the stage properties and scenic effects of a thrilling melodrama were absent from a mystery house which has just been raided by the military forces at Dublin.

There were false walls, secret doors, a revolving wardrobe that revealed when it swung round, a place of concealment, and also evidences of hurried flight in a supper table that had been laid for several persons.

The building is Cullenswood House, Oakley road, Ranelagh, a suburb of Dublin.

Grounds of Suspicion. At one time known as St. Edna's college, it had more recently been the home of the late Professor Lecky, the famous historian and of Pease, the first president of the "Irish Republic," who was executed after the 1916 rebellion.

Amazing Discoveries. The place had been converted into a veritable rabbit warren of secret passages and hidden doors.

There were dummy walls of thin plaster, which formed secret corridors, allowing the inmates concealed movement about the house.

A revolver and ammunition were found in one of the hidden passages. Mysterious doors and cupboards, which could not be detected without the most careful search, were operated by concealed springs and other mechanical contrivances.

'LEGISLADIES' IS NOW CORRECT IN KANSAS

TOPKA, Kan., March 1.—Legisladies. It remained for Kansas with its four women members of its legislature to coin the new word. The four Kansas women are members of the Kansas house of representatives and during the first few days of the present session of the house, the newspapers were hard up to find some way to designate the oratorical efforts of the female and male members in enlightening the public as to who said this and who said that on the floor of the house during its sessions.

The word legisladies crept into the columns in quotation marks at first but it proved such a happy thought that the quotations have now been dropped and the word is considered good American in Kansas.

How Advertising Helps Make History

Sport Skirts In the Archives Shop at Home A Magic Silk Hat Good Old Gladstone

AN EDITORIAL ON SHOPPING

Gladstone used to say that he took the leading American periodicals largely for the purpose of studying the advertisements, because in no other way could he gain so clear an insight into our industrial and social systems.

When the historian of the future delves into the archives of our public libraries, one of his greatest aids in recreating our life and thought will be the advertisements contained in the newspaper files.

What woman is not familiar with the smartest models of reasonable hats as they appear in this newspaper?

What man does not know the style of collars that are Fashion's latest whim?

What woman does not know what sport skirts and coats of contrasting colors are being worn?

Advertising makes shopping simple and pleasant. It brings the merchandising world into your home—shows you what you may expect to find on the counters and shelves of our leading merchants. Every day advertising helps you make speedier and more satisfactory selections at a saving.

Advertising has made quality the unswerving standard of merchandising, and practical economy the efficient agency against the high cost of living.

There is no mystery about advertising.

It has none of the qualities of the magician's silk hat. It is the light that shines through the windows of the shop or merchandising institution, giving it character and standing with you and your neighbors. Advertising is the soul of trade—the greatest economy to both consumer and advertiser. It enables the advertiser to make more sales at a smaller margin of profit, and gives you the benefit of the resultant lower prices.

If you deal with merchants and manufacturers who advertise, you may effect economies which otherwise might be unknown to you.

Today when men and women are anxious to make their every dollar reach maximum efficiency in buying, the regular reading of advertising will prove to be as pleasurable as it is profitable.

J. PLUV. CLEARS SKIES FOR NITRO BENEFIT GAME

Nitrolets and Mickis Promise Bang-Up Contest Tomorrow Afternoon.

J. Pluvius came to town yesterday and late in the afternoon glanced over the sport page of the Daily Times...

The Rain God heaved a regretful sigh. "I had figured on sickening around here and moistening up the ground for spring gardens...

J. Pluvius sighed some more. He saw his duty to move away for a day or so. He passed a bad night. And this morning he made up his mind and hit the road.

The Mickis are ready, says Mega-phone Mack, the bull-voiced strapping fellow who has gathered the Irish nine together...

Mack is generally reliable, men, even if he is a Mick. He says he has been picked up a real ball nine. The Nitrolets are not bragging...

Tomorrow is the day. Nitro park the place. Four o'clock the time. Tickets are now on sale at all downtown cigar stands and drug stores.

SWATSMITHS OF PAST TO TRAIN GIANT ROOKIES

By JACK VEIOCK. International News Sporting Editor. NEW YORK, March 1.

John McGraw, veteran manager, and his able lieutenants, Hughie Jennings and Jessie Burkett were a trio that is rich in batting lore and experience.

The batting records of these three combine represent twenty-seven years of hitting over the 300 mark in the big show...

Hence, the Giant youngster who heeds the advice of these three great tutors will have a chance in one period of spring training to learn the best of what his mentors have learned over a stretch of thirty years and more.

Put hitting is not the only department of the pastime in which McGraw and his assistants are steeped in knowledge.

Figuring that McGraw and Jennings are both graduates of the old Ned Hanlon school, it can be said that if the Giants step out and win the pennant this year their victory will be a triumph of the good old system...

SYNDICATE WELLS AT BRECKENRIDGE SHOW SLUMP

Special to the Times.
BRECKENRIDGE, March 1.—Among Breckenridge syndicates sending out dividend checks to unit holders are the Block 41, Y. M. C. A., Block 60, and Greater Breckenridge.

Block 41 paid $22 per interest and states the well is now averaging 250 barrels per day.
The Y. M. C. A. well, which was one of the sensations of the pool, paid $10. The trustees' report shows the well is down to 150 barrels daily and when conditions make it advisable, it will be shot.

Block 60 paid a dividend of $10 on 840 units, according to the trustees' report, this well is about through. It came in for 140 barrels and has been shot twice. During February it averaged only about three barrels a day and has practically ceased to flow, the statement says. It must either be put on the pump or abandoned.

The Greater Breckenridge syndicate pays a dividend of $6 per interest but gives no statement of the well's condition.

COOPER-HENDERSON EXPECTS THREE NEW WELLS IN THIS WEEK

Special to the Times.
BRECKENRIDGE, March 1.—Three important additions to the list of the Cooper-Henderson Oil company. Consolidated producers are expected this week which will substantially increase the growing production of that concern. They are the Walker-Caldwell No. 2A, Rosenquest No. 2, and the Chaney No. 3.

The Rosenquest well is being watched with interest because of its proximity to the famous Walker-Perkins gusher which came in with such a remarkable flow of 9,000 barrels last week. The Cooper-Henderson rig is within a quarter of a mile of this well and a producer of similar proportions is expected. The sand was found here at 3,106 feet.

Close to the Rosenquest, the Walker-Caldwell picked up the sand at 3,110 feet. The boiler is being moved back and pipe line connections are being made preparatory to its completion. Both wells are in the eastern part of town near the Hamon railroad tracks.

Preparations are also being made to bring in the Chaney No. 3, located on a forty-acre lease northeast of the city. If this well proves to be as good as No. 1, which was completed Feb. 3, a year ago, for 1,200 barrels and still doing 200 barrels of oil and 3,000,000 feet of gas a day, it will be an important addition to that lease. The Chaney No. 1 was the pioneer well of the Breckenridge pool.

WILDCATTERS IN PECOS FIELD FORM MUTUAL BENEFIT ORGANIZATION

Special to the Times.
PECOS, Texas, March 1.—Extension of the work of the National Petroleum developers into the Pecos county, the New Mexican and the Big Bend fields, and the organization of chapters of the association of wildcatters in Fort Stockton and Alpine, was planned at the semi-monthly meeting of the organization in Pecos this week.

The Developers, who are primarily an association of wildcatters, have organized among twenty-five companies carrying on operations in this territory for the purpose of mutual protection, the exchange of information and the interchange of tools.
A card index of all employees of the companies has been started. Here will be the history of the worker in the company, and by this means the employers hope to prevent the abuses that have resulted from the employment of strollers, and of roughnecks from other fields who have come to the Pecos territory and succeeded in getting jobs as tool dressers and drillers, only to last a short time on the job, but long enough to do considerable damage because of their lack of experience.

NEW RIGS GOING UP IN EASTLAND DISTRICT

EASTLAND, March 1.—Oil development in this section remains active despite conditions of the market and the paucity of ready money; new rigs are going up and locations made and much progress is noted. Work is progressing on the Mart Hill No. 2, of the Alice Oil company in the south part of town. Arnold & Brannon are building a rig on the Davenport lease, offsetting the well of W. A. Martin. Two rigs are going up on the Stubblefield farm, southwest of the city limits, and two locations have been made on the Chastain acreage, southeast of town. The Okeh-Ranger Oil company on the Williamson is drilling in the Caddo lime around 3,330 feet.

OCTOGENARIAN DIES AT HOME NEAR RANGER

Mrs. Henrietta Edwards, 84 years old, died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. P. Matthews, one mile south of Ranger. The body was shipped yesterday by the Milford Undertaking company to Corsicana for burial.
Mrs. Edwards was born in 1837, and was personally acquainted with many of the events that are outstanding in Texas history.

She—'I'm so afraid of you newspaper boys.
He—Why, are we so bad?
She—No; but there's no telling when you are going to press.—Boston Transcript.

GHOSTS OF INAUGURAL PAGEANTS SHUDDER

son, President Adams left the city at daybreak inauguration day.

Split the Difference.
President Monroe was the first executive to take the oath of office on the east portico of the capitol. A controversy as to whether the senate or house chamber should witness the proceedings was settled by this decision to beg the issue, and President Monroe, weather permitting, will take his oath in the same place. Otherwise he will be conducted to the senate chamber, for the house will not be in session.

Aside from Jefferson's coach and four, which failed to arrive for his inauguration, several presidents have used conveyances in riding to the capitol. Jackson rode to the ceremony in a four-horse phaeton fashioned from the timbers of the old frigate. Constitution, and with a picture of ship under full sail painted on the panels "Altogether it would be very creditable turnout for Long Ace" said one contemporary writer. The phaeton was also used at Van Buren's inauguration to succeed Jackson, though the same writer notes that during his incumbency, Jackson drove much behind. "A high-stepping, bony old iron-gray steed, attached to a mechanic" which was made entirely out of "rough-cut hickory with the bark on" and "had very much the look of 'Old Hickory himself.'"
General Harrison, though he rode his horse to the capitol, returned to the White House in a coach presented to him by "the Whigs of Baltimore."
