Another Wing of Red Army Within Cannon Shot of Warsaw.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 14.—The force commanded by General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, have defeated the Thirteenth Russian Soviet army, according to dispatches received here. Four thousand prisoners were captured. Four armoured trains and 350 machine guns also were taken.

WARSAW, Aug. 14.—The roar of artillery on the front is plainly heard in Warsaw. The Russians brought up artillery in the region of Radoszyn, just south of the River Bug. Observers say, however, that the enemy is not yet in a position to reach the city with gun fire. One wing of the Russian force is now within 21 miles of the city, it is reported.

NOCTURNAL CORNET SOLOS BY HUSBAND LEAD TO COMPLAINT

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Playing the cornet all night long to his wife in bed, announcing the performance by stating that he was going to give her "Hell's Delight," was one of the allegations of persistent enmity made by a wife against her husband in a separation case in a local police court.

"He also would throw the tea cups at me while I lay in bed," added the wife, "and sometimes he would kick me out of bed and say the mat was good enough for me to sleep on." "All day Sunday he would spend the day cursing me, and sometimes he would pray to God to send down sufficient rain to drown me and the family," she added. After gravely considering the case the magistrate said that while the woman had obviously suffered a great deal by moral cruelty there was insufficient evidence on which to grant a separation, and the case would be adjourned in the hope that in the meantime the husband and wife could be reconciled.

ENGLISH EXPECT U. S. VICTORY IN OLYMPIC CONTESTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—America is practically conceded a sweeping victory in the Olympic track and field games by England, according to reports from London. An English writer, whose words it is said reflect nationwide opinion in England, says British athletes are going to Antwerp certain that they are hopelessly behind the Americans in every branch of the games, and that they are not even sure that they can score more points than the French. The success of the Americans in sports is attributed to intensive scientific training.

Ninety-three per cent. of the revenue received by the United States government will be spent this year on past and possible future wars.

OLYMPIC STADIUM AT ANTWERP OPENS TODAY WITH ATHLETES FROM THIRTY NATIONS ENTERED

ANTWERP, Aug. 14.—The Olympic stadium was opened today. It was a formal ceremony, staged with a setting of flags, banners and fluttering pennants against a background of white stone, cement and wood, with royalty, officialdom, diplomacy, fame and fashion participating in the program or represented in the boxes. But the thousands of spectators packed about the huge oval entered their interest in the actual contestants—athletes from thirty nations—who paraded the arena and tomorrow will begin their tests of strength and skill.

Two flags, the German and Austrian, which flew over the stadium in the sixth Olympiad at Stockholm, were missing and these countries, barred from participating in the meet, as were all enemies of the Entente powers in the war, had no representation either in the arena or in the diplomatic boxes. The Russian flag was also missing. In their places, however, were the athletes and flags of nations newborn of the war, Poland and Czechoslovakia, the latter replacing Bohemia, whose athletes, though then listed separately, had to march behind the Austrians at Stockholm. The Jugo-Slavs today replaced the Serbians of 1912.

IF HE MAKES AWAY WITH YOUR WIFE, WHY GIVE HIM A SMOKE

International News Service. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 14.—The "infernal triangle?" C. P. Potts, who hails from down "Little Egypt" way, is the original "triangular" solver. His scheme is let the other fellow have your wife, William Evans made off with Potts' wife. The two came here. Evans was arrested. Potts saw him at the jail and said: "No, I don't want my wife back. You can have her. Just be good to her, that's all. And by the way, here are a few cigars."

PLAN BUREAU FOR FARM CROP REPORTS

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—American consuls in foreign countries may become crop reporters. Frank Meyers, secretary of the National Grain Dealers' association, is behind a movement to have the federal government instruct consuls to report immediately by cable any changes in political or economic conditions that might affect prices in the world market where trading is governed by the law of supply and demand and prices stabilized by dealing in grain for future delivery. "These reports could be distributed to all farmers' organizations from a central office in America," said Mr. Meyers in outlining his plan to a meeting of executives of farmers' leagues. "The domestic news could be promptly obtained through county agents. Thus the farmers would have more complete information each day regarding the world supply and demand. I also recommend that farmers' cooperative organizations organize their own brokerage companies with membership in the Chicago Board of Trade and other big grain exchanges, handling their trading there in the open market."

NEW MAIL SERVICE FROM RANGER OFFICE STARTS ON MONDAY

On Monday, Aug. 16, the postal department will institute mail service over the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad from Ranger to Breckenridge, Jakesham and Dublin. Each scheduled passenger train will carry mail to those towns. Postmaster J. F. O'Connell said yesterday. The other towns along the new railroad will receive mail service, he stated, as soon as they have duly appointed postmasters. At present, all Breckenridge mail is transported through the Eastland post office and that for Jakesham by the way of Dublin. The Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad has two passenger trains daily each way from Ranger.

SINN FEIN TO BAR JUDGES FROM IRISH BENCHES BY FORCE

DUBLIN, Aug. 14.—Intensity of public sentiment in Ireland against British rule is evidenced by the actions of the recently elected Sinn Fein local councils. Westmeath county council has deputed that all the court houses in the officials resident in them evicted. The Irish volunteers have been ordered to see that no judges are allowed to enter the buildings for the purpose of holding any courts not recognized by the Dail Eireann, or Republican parliament. Some councils have passed resolutions to raise contributions for the maintenance of the Republican army.

To Train Soldiers. At Claremorris, County Mayo, the local council has adopted a resolution appealing to all Irishmen of military age to undergo a course of training in the Republican army, and will not give any position in the service of the council to men who have not undergone such training. In other places the local councils have decided to cut off the water supply from the police and military barracks. At Enniscorthy, County Wexford, where this was done, the authorities promptly hit back and the council room was raided by police and soldiers.

Judges Are Barred. Meetings have just been held throughout Ireland for the purpose of selecting the judges who are to preside over the Sinn Fein parish courts. These courts have jurisdiction in all cases under ten pounds in value, and it is intended that their judges shall eventually be elected by the votes of the people in whose districts they operate. Pending the organization of electoral machinery for the purpose they have been selected by a conference composed of the members of the Dail Eireann for the constituency, the members of the county councils, one clergyman of each denomination from each parish, the members of the urban and rural councils, one representative of each Sinn Fein club, one member of each company of volunteers, and one representative of each trades union body. The judges so selected are to act till December when there will be a regular election by ballot of the voters.

At Limerick the police invaded a Sinn Fein court and seized the papers, but scores of courts are held every day and interference is not attempted because their time and place of meeting are usually kept secret except to the parties concerned. In some places, however, courts are held as openly as the king's courts.

ANOTHER BOSTON BANK FAILS, DUE TO PONZI PROBE

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Bank Commissioner Allen today took charge of the affairs of the Polish National Industrial association conducting a private banking institution here. Henry H. Chmielinski, president of the Hanover Trust company, which was the chief depository of Charles Ponzi, closed on Wednesday, is the president of the association. Allen said that the association's loans were either bad or of doubtful status and that there was virtually no cash left. Its affairs, he said, were hopelessly interwoven with those of the Hanover Trust company.

Fund Started For Homeless Tots, Albany

A hundred and twenty-five children, orphans before the disaster robbed them of their home, are sleeping in the public school building at Albany, Texas. Fire Tuesday destroyed the Albany orphanage dormitories, where they lived. The only building left on the orphan's farm was the brick school. Ranger folks are asked to help the homeless children there. The funds raised here will be turned over to the Rev. and Mrs. J. Gilmore Smith, who are in charge of the orphanage, for the erection of new dormitories. The Rev. Charles M. Collins, pastor of the Presbyterian church, or F. W. Melvin, of the First National bank, will take care of any contributions.

The Matson stevedores, directing the operations of their own club on Pier 32, have demonstrated that they want the better things of life to replace the hospitality of the waterfront saloons. Not only have they decided in favor of fancy dishes, but they have also ordered a billiard table for their cardroom above the cafeteria. And they have subscribed for some of the reputed "highbrow" magazines.

DUNNAM FLAYS RECORD; HAZEL DEFENDS SELF

CISCO, Aug. 13.—Irregularities in the issuance of forfeit bonds and gross delinquencies in investigating sureties for such bonds, were charged to the political tenure of G. G. Hazel, county attorney of Eastland county, last night by W. V. Dunnam, candidate for that office, when he met Hazel in joint debate in the auditorium of the city hall at Cisco. Hazel defended himself with the statement that the county attorney could not constantly watch every branch of the county policing machinery, asserting that if any irregularities did exist they were in departments other than his. Hazel opened the debate. He assailed the record of his opponent in the state legislature and made a plea for re-election based on his capabilities for the post. "It will amount to disgrace if I am defeated for this office now," he said at one point. He denied that defective bonds had been issued through any fault of his though he conceded that other departments of the county government may have been lax.

Dunnam charged that it was the duty of the county attorney to see that sufficient security was advanced for every bond. The sheriff's department was not presumed to know all details of the law, he said, it being the duty of the county attorney to appraise him of his violations thereof, whether intentional or otherwise. This, he said, Hazel had failed to do. At one point in the debate Dunnam whirled and confronted Hazel across the stage of the auditorium and interrogated him on certain matters. Despite the fact that the encounter was heralded as a formal joint debate, Hazel replied to questions put by Dunnam. Nearly 200 persons attended the debate.

RICH FARE FOR AFFLUENT DOCK WORKERS TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 14.—"Plain, wholesome food for stevedores? Sure, but a fellow wants some of the fancy trimmings when he has a bank account." "Thus did the stevedores comprising the board of directors of the Matson club and cafeteria rule when they found themselves in a position to dictate "chow" which was to be placed before them. So the first experiment of this kind among longshoremen banished one of the popular suppositions concerning the food which hard working men demand.

The Matson stevedores, directing the operations of their own club on Pier 32, have demonstrated that they want the better things of life to replace the hospitality of the waterfront saloons. Not only have they decided in favor of fancy dishes, but they have also ordered a billiard table for their cardroom above the cafeteria. And they have subscribed for some of the reputed "highbrow" magazines.

The cafeteria opened with an offering of solid, substantial meat and the best quality of food offered at cost. The menus were based upon the theory that the men desired only plain foods, cleanly served. That has always been the accepted idea of a workman's meal.

But the board of directors got busy at the first meeting. If a man wants some chicken salad or a cream puff, and has the money to pay for it, he should get it," the stevedore director said.

Being the bosses, their edict went, and Chief Fred Weiss, formerly of the Pacific Union Club, was directed to lay out fancy side dishes for those who wished to buy. Now all the club lacks to compete with downtown clubs is a spread of linen and dress-suited waiters.

ONE ARMED MAN IS WIZARD AT BASEBALL

International News Service. CARLINVILLE, Ill., Aug. 14.—This city has a one-armed wonder. He is Robert H. Allison, Blackburn college student and athlete.

Allison, who lost his arm in a mine explosion, does tricks with his single arm that has startled baseball fandom. He is an outfielder and played all last season without an error. This year he was elected captain of the Blackburn college baseball team. As a batter Allison is second to none on the team. He holds the club well up toward the heavy end, smashes hits all over the field. Last year he scored a home run. In catching Allison flips the ball up in the air after he stops it, jerking off his glove, and then hurls it all speed toward the basemen. Boys who play against him say hitting a ball into his territory is like dropping it into a well. Of the 2,230 champions who were on duty with the United States army, five were killed in battle, 21 died of disease or accident and many more were gassed.

DOOMED

LONDON, Aug. 14.—An indignant young wife asked the Tottenham magistrates for a separation because her husband swore at the cat. She was told that bad language was no ground for separation. Applicant—But what am I to do? He said he would murder me if I came here. Magistrate—If he strikes you, come again next Tuesday. The Woman—I cannot. I shall be a corpse by then.

FLIGHT FROM WIFE OF MAN IS FAILURE

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 14.—When Bobby Thomas left his home the other evening he promised his wife he would be home early. But Bobby didn't keep his word. Then his better half started on the hunt for him. He was trying to escape her, he said, when he fell through a plate glass window in a grocery store. Charged with malicious destruction of property, he was fined $50 and costs in police court, and was severely reprimanded by his wife besides.

BIG GUN TO SHOOT EIGHTY MILES BUILDING

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The fact that a super "Big Bertha" is being built at Vickers' Sheffield works is made known. Its length is eighty feet (writes a Daily Chronicle correspondent), and it can throw an eight-inch shell between seventy and eighty miles. In consequence of the extraordinarily high velocity of the projectiles the gun will need relining at frequent intervals. An earlier gun of this type was delivered to the government after the signing of the armistice.

GAMBLING CRAZE GRIPS WOMEN OF FRANCE; WILD WOMEN FLOCK TO LAY MONEY ON THE RACES

forearm, wild women will do their best to push, elbow, jostle, thrust and use hatpins within the meaning of the act. Then, standing on both your feet, they smile and say: "So sorry." Are they? I doubt it. I think the only sorrow I heard expressed by this new race of women gamblers was when one of them was unable to hack her way through the crowd and get her money on the race before it started. Then she said—but I couldn't repeat it.

Flock to Races. Women certainly have caught the gambling craze very badly. Not only do they crowd the race course, but they are the heaviest speculators on the Bourse—the Paris stock exchange.

One hears two dear young things talking in an omnibus: "Oh, yes, dearest, he told me to buy unpteen hundred Royal Petroleum, and what do you think?" "Romance is dying; dress is a back number—unless the dressmaker has a tape machine and good Bourse tips. And the men are just as bad. An old newspaper seller is found on a bench, drunk, but with several hundred thousand francs on him; he is taken to the police station, where he says he won the money racing—and the next week a bank messenger who has been a faithful servant for years, goes off with thousands of francs in his possession. When you see a man come into a bar looking as if the world is his oyster and every month has an R in place in the sun and the cue to put your money on your fancy in the next race you will find that, although you may serve it if it has a hefty Paris, Aug. 14.—Albert Guillaume, the Frenchman who draws fluffy as it flies, has been having several sly digs lately at the current craze of gambling. Before me is the latest number of Fantasio. Therein is a picture of a young man kneeling before a woman. At her feet are a big bunch of roses and a beautiful diamond necklace. The young man clasps a revolver in his left hand, and it points toward his temple. He is begging the woman to marry him. "Be mine, or I will shoot myself here at your feet," he seems to be saying. And the woman, reading a financial newspaper, replies: "What do you think of Royal Dutch?" "The other day Guillaume had another picture in the Journal. A young man is making love to a woman. "Come and see me tomorrow," he says, "and you shall have petits fours, even though it is a cakeless day." The woman answers: "Monsieur, I am an honest girl."

"And," continues the man, "you shall know the fluctuations of the stock exchange hour by hour." "I'll see you tomorrow, serpent," replies the woman. Ladies First! Place aux dames—ladies first. I have put them first in this little story of gambling in Paris, because, bless 'em, they would be first anyway. When you go racing and take your place in the sun and the cue to put your money on your fancy in the next race you will find that, although you may serve it if it has a hefty

REPUBLICANS SEEK TO BUY U. S. CONTROL

Millions Being Raised to Gain Power over People, Cox Charges.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 14.—Governor Cox opened fire on the Republican opposition today, charging its leadership with "attempted trickery" of American people in its opposition to the League of Nations, of conducting a campaign behind a "smoke screen" to secure partisan spoils. "That powerful combinations of interests are now attempting to buy the government of Duingo," also was charged by Cox. "Millions and millions," he said, were being raised for the Republican campaign fund. Governor Cox loosed his first attack on the Republican opposition in an address before the Virginia Democratic convention. He will follow tonight with an address to the general public here.

VILLA DETERMINED TO KEEP AWAY FROM MEXICAN POLITICS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14.—Francisco Villa and his command reached Tlahualilo, state of Durango today, according to a message from General Eugenio Martinez. That city is the mustering out place for the followers of the ex-bandit. It is reported that on one place a priest boarded the Villa train and talked with him relative to the Catholic party, but Villa replied that he would not meddle in politics any longer.

SIMPLE RULES ARE GIVEN FOR TESTING OF DIAMONDS

By International News Service. CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Can you tell a genuine diamond? Ninety-nine out of a hundred persons can't. Most persons are at the mercy of a dealer in buying a diamond. A reliable jeweler lives up to the trade's traditions of honesty. But there are other dealers not so reliable. Since diamonds are the most frequently bought of all gems nowadays, it may be well for anyone who contemplates buying a diamond to study these rules given by the Electrical Experimenter: Mark the diamond with an aluminum pencil. If it is a real diamond the mark may be removed easily with a moistened cloth. If it is glass, the mark cannot be removed even with acids. A nail file if drawn along the edges will not cut the diamond while it will nick the glass. Diamond facets have sharp edges. Facets on glass have much duller edges. A drop of water spreads on glass and remains globular on a diamond, even if moved about with a pin. If a genuine top has been cemented on a glass foundation it may be detected if the spurious gem is placed in oil. The best test of all is the specific gravity test. All genuine diamonds show a specific gravity of 3.52. Seena Owen is spending all her spare time reading western scenarios. Having asked writers of the country to submit plots for a western picture she has received more than 100 stories to which she is giving her personal attention.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Greenwich Village by Night
The Woman and her out-of-town friend were "doing" the Village. They had started in the late afternoon and they had stopped at one of the many little atmospheric places that adorn Bohemia.

The Out-of-Town Friend was sadly disappointed, but the Woman consoled her by saying that it was only in the evening that unusual things happened. "Very well, then. We'll stay around the neighborhood until evening comes. I simply won't go back home without being able to tell them what I saw in the Village."

It was nine when they rose to leave "Polly's." By this time the lights in the various shops were lit and queer lanterns and lamps hung from many of the doors. Suddenly a party of eight—two women and six men—emerged from a doorway. The former strumming on sweet toned stringed instruments. All the eight were patently Villagers—the women wearing bobbed hair, smocks, low flat-heeled shoes; the men with longish hair flowing, ties open, coats and hats.

The subway is a little world of itself. The Woman seldom rides therein that she does not see something worth watching, often worth thinking about afterward. A little incident the other day set her wondering if there might not well be started a crusade for "Men's Rights."

The subway car was crowded, of course; the aisle was full of strap hangers, of course; an elderly woman and a young one, her daughter or grand daughter, perhaps, boarded the train. With prompt courtesy which, in spite of all said to the contrary, one invariably sees when it comes to the aged, a man sprang up and offered the elderly one his place.

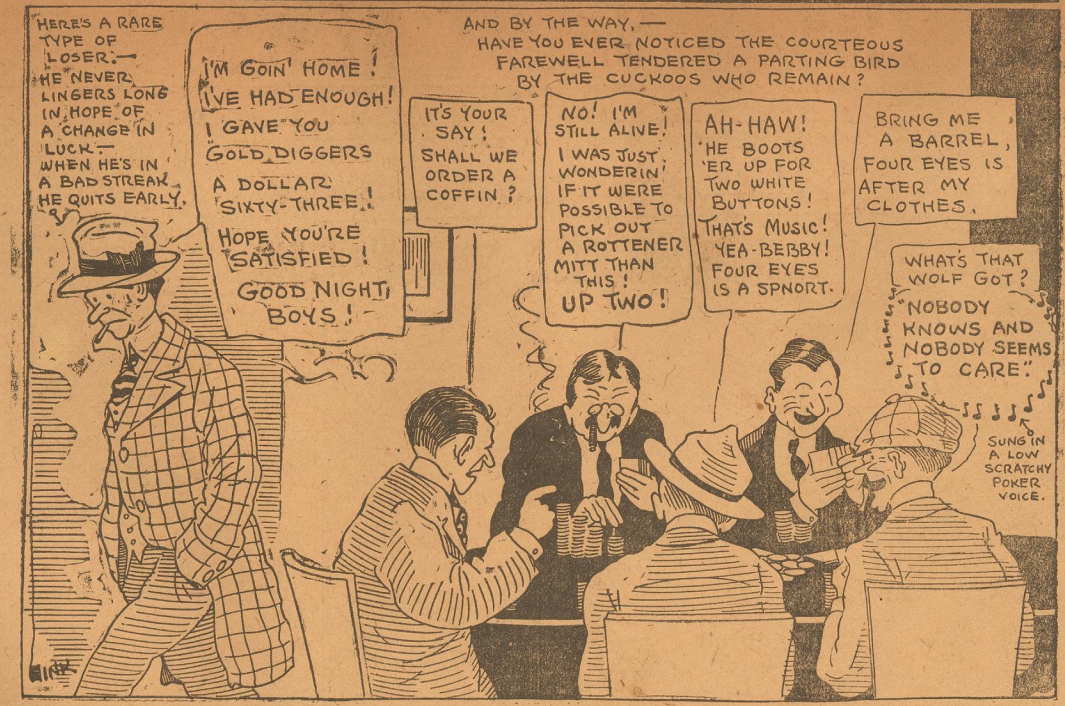

Look Pleasant, Please.
All around the reservoir in Central Park the Woman had walked, enjoying the sunshiny Sunday morning. She stopped by the lake at last, aimlessly contemplating the snub-nosed rowboats paddled badly by city-bred hands, when she was startled by a question—"Do you understand how to take pictures?"

She turned suddenly. A little blond girl held out a pocket camera while her young man stood protectively behind. She had on a big floppy straw hat, and her blue eyes looked so appealingly that the Woman smiled reassuringly.

One on Mother
The Mid-Victorian Lady had lunch with a friend and her young son in a little uptown luncheon last Monday. William's table manners were perfect, and it was not necessary to watch lest he spill his soup on the snowy cloth so the two grownups felt free to chat without giving much thought to William. Like all things pleasant, the luncheon finally came to an end, and the M. V. L. walked to the nearest subway station with mother and son. Just as she was about to make her adieux William, who could no longer rest in his permanent, held out his hand and said: "Look at this quarter mother left on the table. I was just waiting to see how long it would be until she missed it. Only for me she'd have lost it!" "Was for the girl they left behind them!"

"And many of the teachers and scholars can tell you how different I look since I began taking Tanlac," he said. "I suffered from indigestion of the worst kind for the past year or more and was often so weak and dizzy I couldn't stand up, let alone walk. Nothing helped me. I finally had to take my bed and stay there for several weeks. Finally a friend persuaded me to try Tanlac and I have never seen or heard of anything to equal it. It relieved me entirely of indigestion and put me right back on my feet. I have not only gained twenty pounds in weight, but I feel like a new man in every way. I just think Tanlac is the finest thing ever sold in a drug store." Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros. and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

WAITRESS' FAVOR COLD DRINK STAND LED TO SHOOTING

County officers who are investigating the killing of Ezra Williams, who was shot and mortally wounded at Older and died in Ranger Sunday night, hope for the arrest of Jasper Talley, said to have done the shooting, within a few days. A reward of $100 is offered for his capture.

According to the officers, the killing had its basis in an argument over which man could outdo the other in attention to the waitress in the soft drink stand in which Williams was shot. It was not a gambling house, the officers state. Williams said something about taking the woman to supper and Talley brought out his money and stripped off a $10 bill for her. Williams hit him over the head with a bottle in the argument that followed and Talley retaliated with the pistol shots, the officers say.

Nitros Did Well On Journey In Old Array At Home Today

CISCO TODAY AND SUNDAY.

The Nitros, looking like themselves again, are back for a stay on the home lot with two of their best rivals, starting off today with Cisco. Rain has taken most of the games of the West Texas league this week and the club has enjoyed a rest of what part of it was in shape to enjoy anything. The Galloways will line up in old shape today, with Smoke Boyer in the box against Cisco.

Ranger is home after a road trip in which only one game was lost. The reason is only one was played. This is not offered in a spirit of captious criticism. As they lined up for the last two days, they would have been lucky to lose only two games more; they might have lost their batting eyes, their road unies and their reputations. They were in that shape.

To begin with, Jack York was sick when the club left here. He went to Abilene and then to the doctor's. The medicine shot him full of anti-typhoid hop and Jack is just beginning to get over it.

Pep in Hospital. Pepper Pemberton is at the hospital, with acute bowel trouble. He may be out today. Joe Tate and Tommy Lovelace put on a friendly Gatch-Hackenschmidt and Tommy got a bad shoulder out of it that kept him out of the game Wednesday.

In such condition, the club faced the jolly prospect of two games in a day, the last day at Abilene. To climax it, Manager Jim was needed at Dallas, to talk over a prospective deal concerning some boys who may be coming out here, and a trade in which some of the Nitros are involved. It had rained, on and off, for about twenty hours of the twenty-four, two days of the three, the club had been away. To make prospects better, it looked like more rain.

"Go to it," Jack York told Manager Jim. "I'll get the club away on the 9:45 tomorrow morning and not have to play this double-header at all." That was Tuesday evening. So Jim hopped the rattler and was off.

Next day, Jack went around to see President Hodges of the Abilene club.

Jack As Fixer.

"Mr. Hodges, you'll ruin your infield if you play today," he informed the Eagle prey. "I'll take two days to play a game and $500 to put the field back in shape again."

"Looks pretty bad," agreed President Dick, taking a slant at the slate colored sky and at the slippery pavements.

"Bad ain't the word," chirped Jack. "It looked no better that afternoon, so the contest was called off, to the regret of Eddie Kizzlar, new manager of the Eagles, who wanted to get back at the Nitros for making the Birds play that last double-header here."

So the club embarked for home that night, arriving on the two-something. They are now beginning to rally around the old standard again. Charlie Clapp and Red Hill, who have had a two-day's leave by grace of the rain, are back and Lefty Adkins, who got a lay-off after taking two from the Sweetwater Syrup, is back in the fold. Every pitcher is ready to go except Nick Carter, who worked Wednesday and he will be ready for his turn again Sunday, when the boys will mingle with the Cisco Scouts in a twin bill.

In case Pemberton is not back in the game again, Manager Jim has Bugs Young, who filled in at first while Jack was sick and can take the mitt and pad and work as receiver, if needed.

Harding, infielder and pitcher with the Judges, is a possible Nitro, though the deal has not been clinched yet.

The Old Line-up. Today, they will have Clapp, Mooney and Lovelace in the outfield, Jack at first, probably, Jim at second, Ezell, short; Tate, third; with Pep or Bugs behind the bat.

RED SOX SCOUT SEES JUDGES TAKE FIRST FROM ABILENE BIRDS

EASTLAND, Aug. 13.—Eastland jumped on G. Hill's shoots and knocked them to all corners of the lot and Eastland won the first game of the series from Abilene, 10 to 5. Word, pitching for Eastland, had everything and Abilene got only one hit off him until the sixth, this coming when one of the outfielders slipped and fell. After the sixth, with a lead of seven runs, he slowed down and Abilene was able to get one run in each inning. The features of the game were the terrific slugging of Gross and Berkeley and a pick-up by Berkeley. E. W. Holly, scout for the Boston Red Sox, was in the grandstand during the game. The score, first game: ABILENE.

RESORTERS MAKE IT THIRTEEN STRAIGHT AT SYRUP'S HOME

Special to The Times. SWEETWATER, Aug. 13.—Sweetwater fans who turned out to see the opening game at home of the new Sweetwater club, which took over the Gorman franchise last Saturday, saw their team massacred, 18 to 7, in the Mineral Wells Resorters' thirteenth straight victory. The Resorters got away to a four run lead and Sweetwater never was able to stop them.

Former Nitro Wins Second Game; Bats in Four Counters

Special to The Times. WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 13.—Frank Hudspeth, former Ranger Nitro, went out for the Spudders on Friday the 13th, insured his place with the Salmus crew by winning a 7 to 2 game, holding the Pirates to eight scattered hits and putting four runs over the plate for the Spudders.

Three of the runs came home in the third frame, when Frank sloughed out a long double with the bases packed. He brought another over with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Hud had the edge on Floyd Kroh, Pirate southpaw, throughout. He walked three, hit two and struck out four, while Kroh walked six and fanned none.

The Spudders played errorless ball behind him. It is his second victory in as many starts since joining the club. The box score:

TEX RICKARD'S LATEST WILL GIVES UNITED STATES MAMMOTH SPORTING CLUB IN NEW YORK

B. H. C. HAMILTON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—It now is practically certain that the United States will have a sporting club of huge proportions. Tex Rickard's announcement regarding his plans for Madison Square Garden makes it almost sure. There have been numerous efforts to establish a sporting club in this country that would parallel or surpass the famous club in London, but flat failure has met every effort but one, and it is staggering on the rocks now.

William A. Gavin has been trying hard to establish the International Sporting club in this city. Pretensions have been made for it, and one boxing card already has been staged under its auspices—the Fulton-Wells affair

OLYMPIC GAMES START AT ANTWERP TODAY

The American athletes, about 300 strong, were cheered frequently not only for their compatriots in the stands, but by the throngs who recognized that the group marching behind the stars and stripes were among the strong contenders for victory in the seventh Olympiad.

Thousands Cheer Yanks. It seemed that there were thousands of Americans in the stands. Every soldier from the army of occupation on the Rhine who could possibly secure leave was there in khaki. Jackies from the cruiser Frederick, sailors from the American merchant and passenger liners in the harbor and hundreds upon hundreds of tourists swelled the delegation from across the Atlantic until, in some parts of the stadium, at least, it seemed to be a regular American crowd.

The Belgians, of course, and also the French and English appeared to be out in force. A glance at the list of nations participating in this Olympiad gives an idea of the cosmopolitan character of the athletes and crowd: Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, China, Chili, Denmark, Egypt, United States, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Holland, British Indian, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Norway, New Zealand, Portugal, Poland, South Africa, Rumania, Sweden, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Of these, Brazil, China, Egypt, Spain, British India, Mexico and Poland did not participate at Stockholm in 1912. Today's ceremony, from the international viewpoint, signified not only the formal opening of the Olympic games but the completion of a task by Belgium, which, undertaken at a difficult time in her history, seemed almost impossible of consummating.

Belgium's 8th Task. When the International Olympic committee, meeting at Louvain, in 1919, decided to award the seventh Olympiad to Belgium, the nation, after four years of occupation by the enemy and in a crippled industrial condition, set out to construct a huge stadium and make other arrangements for the games in about one year's time. Other nations, scenes of previous Olympiads, had had much more time and more favorable conditions.

Nevertheless, the stadium was completed in record time, having been turned over by the contractor to the Belgium Olympic committee on May 23 last. The stadium is something more than three miles from the central business district of Antwerp and is reached by street railway and steam railway lines. It has been built of stone, concrete, steel and wood, with an impressive arched main entrance. Its total capacity for spectators is estimated at 30,000. It, like the tracks, is enclosed, is oval in shape. On two sides there are roofed "grandstands," where are located the boxes and reserved seats. At the two ends of the oval, however, there are no roofs but only a series of steps—like those of the old Greek open-air theatres—accommodating thousands of spectators standing.

The Athletic Field. The tracks are the ordinary cinder paths, while the inside arena, where will be held the field events, is of wellkept turf. The running track, oval, of course, is a fraction under 300 meters to a lap. There is a straightaway, along one side, sufficiently long for the 100-meter dash, but the 200-meter race must be run on the oval. The grass field inside is 145 by 75 meters and the football ground 100 by 68 meters. There are tennis courts back of the stadium.

There are, of course, special dressing, bathing and refreshment rooms for the athletes and rooms for the press and officials.

PACAMOUNT CIGAR STAND SOLD ON FRIDAY THE 13TH. The Ollie Collins has sold the Pacamout cigar stand to Miss Mavis Ertell, who took charge yesterday. The deal was consummated on Friday, the 13th, the amount involved carried thirteen figures, the parties to the trade believing in the luck of the alleged unlucky date.

IN WORTHY HANDS.
If a man be a drunkard, he must be made sober; if idle, he must be made industrious; if criminal, he must be made honest; if impure, he must be made clean; and if he is so deep down in vice and has been there so long that he has lost all heart and hope and power to help himself and absolutely refuses to move, he must be inspired with hope and have created within him the ambition to rise.

It is an organization that has always reached out to help those who were beyond the reach of other charitable organizations, or social service workers, or relief centers.
Before the war its work was recognized by those who knew it. Its methods, on street corner, with drum and tambourine, generally brought a deprecating smile. Men who were in the American forces overseas have brought back the story of the spirit of the Salvation Army's service. Those who served in the trenches are apt to accord the Army's men and women the regard that comes with recollection of their service and self-forgetfulness and courage.

Tambourine methods of backing devoting social service are unsatisfactory. The budget system is more business-like, more thorough.

Ranger will turn its social service worker to the Salvation Army, under that system.

THE RIGHT OF LOOSE SPEECH.
The American Federation of Labor executive council has decided to make the right of free speech and assembly a political issue with both old party presidential candidates this fall. Speech upon the right of free speech has long been as free as air, and similar to it in other ways, but all has not yet been said.

When no other subject has come to mind, the radical has constantly fallen back upon the demand for free speech. By his own perverted works he has tended to disprove his contention that speech is not free. It is more than free. It is loose. That is the chief difficulty. The expression of ideas through speech is not an exact science. Therefore it cannot be regulated by exact rules.

For instance, it is a common matter for persons who do not support either the Republican or Democratic parties to brand these parties as "reactionary." Such critics always fail to make clear whether by "reactionary" they mean the parties have fallen short of a goal in the mind of the speaker or have reacted from a stage of advancement once actually reached. It is evident that a political party or platform cannot react from a stage of progress which has never been reached. The term "reactionary" applied by persons with that in mind is therefore absurd. Study of the platforms and party declarations in the present campaign shows no sign of withdrawal from points of progress attained in past campaigns. The term "reactionary" applied with such idea is absurd. It is evident that speech in such cases is not only free, but loose. Until speakers learn to tighten up the language they will constantly—willfully or unwittingly—misuse the right of free speech.

Assuming that speakers can and will appreciate the full meaning of words before they use them, the right of free speech is unquestioned. We believe the American Federation of Labor leaders will find both presidential nominees in sympathy with it. The right of peaceful assemblage to discuss a labor problem is as clear as the right to discuss the relative merits of Cox and Harding. Sectional restrictions of such right, as has been reported common in some coal mining districts, is wrong. It is a greater potential danger than the exercise of free speech. When local authority wrongfully suppresses such freedom, federal authority should give heed to an appeal. Labor is justified in asking the attitude of federal authority in such cases.

But at the same time the free speech shouters should not confound free speech with loose speech. The one will maintain itself because it is just. The other endangers both, because it strikes wildly in all directions. The one is a lever exerting controlled pressure in any required direction. The other is dynamite, destroying itself and endangering the object which it is desired to move.—Chicago Tribune.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

That Left-Over Cup of Coffee
"I have become so frugal that I just can't bear to throw away anything edible," writes a housekeeper-reader. "So I would be grateful to you if you could tell me how to use left-over cups of coffee in dessert form."
Nothing gives me more pleasure than helping a reader beat the high cost of living by suggesting ways of using her left-overs. I receive so many letters of this nature and I always say to myself triumphantly after reading them, "Still more women joining the Sensible Army of Thrifty Housewives!"

Coffee Cabinet Pudding.—Butter a melon mould thickly and sprinkle the bottom and sides with chopped nut meats. Fill the mould loosely with small pieces of stale cake, sprinkling more of the chopped nut meats between the layers of the cake. When the mould is full, pour over the cake a raw custard made of 2 eggs and 1 cup each of strained coffee and rich milk. Make certain that the custard moistens all the cake, using a fork to lift the cake and blend the two here and there. Stand the mould in a kettle of boiling water, cover tightly and let steam for one hour. Serve with the following sauce:

Foamy Sauce for Coffee Cabinet Pudding.—1 1/2 teaspoons corn starch, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 1 egg-white, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix the corn-starch and sugar together in a saucepan. Pour over this the boiling water and let boil for 5 minutes, then pour gradually onto the egg-white which has been stiffly beaten. Add the vanilla and serve at once.

If one desires to serve the pudding cold, it should be chilled and served with sweetened whipped cream.

Baked Macaroni and Cheese
Orange-Bananna Salad
Tea
Coffee Sponge.—1 1/2 cups cold coffee, 3/4 cup milk, 1 1/4 tablespoons granulated gelatin, 2 eggs, 2 1/2 cup sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Combine the gelatin milk, 1/2 the sugar and the coffee. Heat these together in the upper part of a double boiler. Now beat together the rest of the sugar and the egg-yolks and add this mixture to the double boiler. Stir constantly until the spoon becomes coated. Beat the egg-white stiff, add to it the salt and vanilla, and gradually pour the cooked custard upon it, beating steadily. Wet small individual jelly moulds with water, turn this mixture into them, and let cool. Then chill on ice and serve.
Any good manufacturer of gelatine encloses directions for the use of his product in the box containing it; and a recipe for plain coffee jelly is invariably included on such folder—so I need not give it here. Coffee jelly topped with a bit of whipped cream is a good dessert to serve with cake for Sunday night tea. (A good substitute for whipped cream, to use in this way, is the following method: beat 1 egg-white stiff and stir into it 1 1/2 cup of confectioner's sugar. Flavor with 1/4 teaspoon of vanilla.)

An Apology
To the Lady Across the Way.
BY RICHARD DONAHUE
Oh, an Irishman's kiss
Is a thing of bliss
And a treasured thought for aye, dear;
But devil a bit will come of it
If you believe it's for more than a day, dear.
An Irishman's love
Is a pretty glove
To wear and then lay away, dear,
For the poor Irish lad
Doesn't mean to be bad,
But he couldn't help but be gay, dear.
So love him while loving is rich and rare
And kiss him with kisses true, dear,
But remember that tiere
Are others as fair
So I shouldn't lose sleep, would you, dear?

"Tinker Bob" Stories
by Carlyle H. Holcomb
THE NIGHT CALLER.
Tinker Bob was in the midst of the land of dreams, sleeping soundly. When he went to his bed he never thought of having a caller in the middle of the night. But that is the way it happens with the Forest King; he is never thru with his task of listening to the distressed Creatures of the Forest. The approaching footsteps were not heard by any one in the Forest, for they were all so tired that sleep was their master. Although Major Pole Cat aroused and turned around, he was soon asleep again, for he was nearly worn out by the Day of Frolic.

When this lone prowler of the night came close to the King's palace he sniffed the air and found that Major Pole Cat was resting on the door-step. There was no way of reaching the King without disturbing this fellow, and the approaching Forest Dweller did not want Major to know that he was about. There was only one thing to do and that was to get Major away from the door. Perhaps you don't know how to do this, but the Forest Folk know more than you think. This prowling creature went in line with the breeze about 40 feet away from the palace, and then began to whine and grunt. That did the business. Even though Major was sound asleep his ears were ready to hear any sound that might come. He lifted his head, sniffed the air and waited. The sound came again. He sniffed but could get no scent for he was out of line with the breeze. He heard the sound again. This time he arose and went to the tree where Chief Porky was sound sleeping. The Chief was not so easily awakened as Major.

Now this prowling creature followed Major by the scent for he was in line with the breeze. He knew also that it would be some time before Chief Porky would come out of his sleep. So he decided to go to the King's door and knock. He did this thing, but the King did not hear him. Jack the Wood Rat heard him and was a little bit afraid. "Tap, tap, tap," sounded on the Palace door. Jack the Wood Rat thought it was time to see if the King was going to wake up. He climbed on to his bed, and tickled the King's nose with his whiskers. Tinker Bob sneezed and turned over, for he was very tired. But Jack was determined, so this time he tickled the King's ear with his whiskers. The King at last came out of his deep sleep. "Tap, tap, tap," this was the first sound to be heard after he awoke. He hurried to the door, thinking perhaps that something terrible had happened. When he opened the door who should enter but Three Legs, the Musk Rat. He had something important to tell the King but he didn't want any one else

Rippling Rhymes

Woe in the West
A deadly blight is sweeping along the Western Slope, and men give way to weeping and say farewell to hope. And heartsick wives and daughters beneath those azure skies look out upon the waters with hard and stony eyes. The children, they are weeping, their little bosoms sore, while in the dust they're trailing the toys they use no more. There's moaning in the cabin, there's groaning in the hall; the future's bleak and drab in the eyes of one and all. The daughters of affliction are crouched beneath the stars, and the choicest diction they cuss their stranded cars. The tourist shakes his talon at heaven with a snort, for when he'd buy a gallon he only got a quart. In vain the plate is waving his wad of good long green, and futile is his raving—he can't get gasoline. "No gas!" The sign is hanging from stations everywhere, with travelers haranguing the dealers in despair. Talk not of grief or sorrow, of troubles you have seen, till you can't buy or borrow a quart of gas. Talk not of fortunes cruel, oh, vain and puffing man, till you can't buy the fuel to push your big sedan! Speak not to me of anguish, of pain or any sort, until you wait and languish two days to get a quart.

Their advertisement printed on the 20th inst. impressed me more than any other. In the first place the name _____ is suggestive of health, of purity, and of trust, and is well chosen. In the second place, the advertisement is written plainly and simply, making no impossible pretensions. There are no bold statements to the effect that their products are the only good ones on the market. JOHN-A-DREAMS
XCI. DREAMS OF SUICIDE.

When all the blandishments of life are gone,
The coward sneaks to death, the brave live on—
Just as suicide is the very lowest expression of cowardice—so do dreams of suicide—the act of taking your own life—show that there is pale fear in your heart and that you dread the morning of discovery. Or, as the case may be, you are likely to commit a deed which, after it is done, will make you hide your head in shame or in fear; something has occurred or will occur that men or women with more courage than you possess would meet face to face and brave the consequences—but you are too craven to stand up and bear them openly, and trembling will be your lot. Such are some of the meanings of self-murder.

If you dream that you are taking poison, you will play the coward because of your fear of what others may say.
If your dream that you are killing yourself with a gun, the thing you will shrink from will be a noisy, bitter quarrel.
If it is a knife you use, then you will be in dread of a secret enemy, while it would be much better were you to meet him or her openly and with defiance.

If your vision shows you in the act of drowning yourself, you will dread a letter which will accuse you.
Hanging means that you are deadly afraid of the suspense preceding some event of unpleasant importance, and to dash your head against a rock signifies that your heart will grow sick and your soul cowardly because of the obstacles in your path.

To dream that others are committing suicide is not an ill omen, either for you or for them. If it is a relative, it means that he or she is about to do something reckless or foolish and that the dream voice wants you to warn and protect.
If it is a friend, then you have been told that a guilty secret has made him or her an unfit companion for you.

If it is a stranger, everything depends upon the sex. To see a woman attempt or commit suicide proves that one you know well is in dire need of guidance and it would be a kindness on your part to look about you, discover the unfortunate one and extend a helping hand.
If it is a man, then you know that your dearest girl friend has betrayed a man who trusted her and that she is incapable of a really true and lasting affection.
To dream that you are reading of suicide is a sure sign of hearing startling news.

Flirting With Fame
NOTE—This is the fifth of a series of articles calculated to give more or less intimate sidelights on the personalities of the great and near-great. Each article presents the impressions and observations of a newspaper reporter in the presence of the booted, spurred and belted—likewise the booted, spurred and pelted.—Editor.

"Bangs! Bangs! Bangs!"
The page in the lobby of the Adolphus hotel at Dallas was beginning to suspect that I was a practical joker bent on guying him, when John Kendrick Bangs, author, humorist, lecturer and poet, identified himself and was shown to the corner where I lay in wait for him.
Absorbent—Like a Blotter.
He was a smaller man than I had expected to see; wiry and instinct with a high-strung vibrant sort of energy that was akin to nervousness. Bangs at that time was passing through Dallas on a lecture tour. He had just returned from France and England and had much to say concerning conditions there. Equipped with a mind that absorbed data like blotting paper and gifted with a flow of language second to none I have ever heard issue from the mouth of man, Bangs kept me enthralled. He is a most gifted conversationalist and although the substance of his words was not great, one did not notice the lack. He differed from a number of other professional writers of note whom I previously had met in that he can tell a tale as well as he can write one. It was evident to me that Mr. Bangs had been interviewed by avid newspaper men all during his lecture tour and was about out of material for news stories. This fact he later admitted.

"I could palm off a great deal of tommyrot on you if I cared to," he said, "but I won't do it. You want news, I have none. The only real news I have possessed within the last year was obtained abroad during my visit. This I have given piece-meal to dozen reporters in different parts of the country. Besides, if I knew anything of actual, compelling interest, I would write it and peddle it myself."
Works On the Fly.
He seemed inclined to talk, however, I finally shunted him into a discussion of himself and his work. He told me that much of his work was done on trains, in smoking compartments of Pullman cars and in hotel rooms.
Little fragments of verse printed under his name in a large number of newspapers throughout the country are almost always produced on the wing, he confessed.
Soon after he entered the writing game as a means of making his living, he began to systematize his work, he said. "I don't write any more than I formerly did," he said, "but I accomplish more because I have learned never to leave a manuscript or other piece of writing unfinished. This was the plague of my younger days. I would never finish an article or story. I would begin wonderfully well, flushed with enthusiasm, and write at white heat until I began to tire of the physical exertion. Then I would stop, lay the writing aside—and forget about it."

Everything Human is Grist.
It is the theory of Bangs that every bit of writing, so long as it contains matter of interest to three or four persons, is salable. He claims that no event in the daily life of man or woman is too small to form the substance of a salable article if properly and correctly written. For this reason he rarely ever goes beyond the cycle of his own life, impressions and reactions for material, Bangs declared.
"Hesitancy and awe of the readers' judgment deters more capable writers from success than any other thing," he said. "For years I was hampered in my writing by the thought that my work was not polished enough. Now I write freely and all my output with the same freedom and ease of mind that attaches to personal letters I write to intimate friends. I figure that if a thing interests me, it should interest a great many other people. Hence it may be peddled."
Old Enough to Smoke.
As I arose to leave him, Mr. Bangs said:
"If you'll come over to the cigar counter and assure the young lady that I am twenty-one years old, I'll buy a cigar—two cigars!"

LEIGHORN BIDDIES WIN IN LAYING CONTEST IN N. D.
BISMARCK, N. D., Aug. 14.—Two pullets, one a white leghorn and the other a white Plymouth Rock hooked up during June in the egg-laying derby at the North Dakota agricultural college and fought the race out to an exciting finish.
For the first eight days of the month each pullet deposited a large white egg in the nests. During the next eight days each had laid four eggs, and during the next seven days each laid seven. They rounded into the homestretch of the fourth week neck and neck, with seventeen eggs apiece. At this stage every professor and student of the college was on tiptoe with excitement. Daily bulletins were posted. The pullets themselves seemed conscious of the desperate nature of the struggle and laid eggs, as it were, under whip and spur.

The white leghorn laid an egg every day during the last week. The Plymouth Rock laid six in the first six days of the week but failed to lay at the supreme crisis on the seventh day. The final score was twenty-four against twenty-three. The white leghorn had won by an egg.
The egg laying contest began in January and will continue till the end of the year. The Jane champion white leghorn holds the record for the first six months with 137 eggs. With poultry now recognized as an important factor in the farm industry, the test at the Agricultural College is intended to enlighten farmers on the most valuable breeds to raise.

ROGERS NO. ONE AND TWO PREPARED FOR PRODUCTION

Sinclair Oil & Gas company's Rogers No. 2, in the Breckenridge district, spudded in yesterday. No. 1 on the same tract was completed this week for 275 barrels production. Several wells close by are making heavy pay. The drillers at the A. S. Veale No. 1, of the Sinclair company are claiming a record. The well has been pushed down 3,300 feet in forty-five days. It is now in the black line and should strike pay next week. The Veale tract is less than a mile south of the Tullis tract of the Mid-Kansas company, on which a 500 barrel well was recently completed. This well is still making 300 barrels.

PUMP HOUSE, WARD RICE LEASE, SAVED WHEN RIG BURNS

The rig at the Ward Rice well No. 2 of the Texas Pacific Oil & Oil company on Eastland hill, west of Shamrock park burned to the ground yesterday. The pump house which is only a short distance from the rig was saved by the fire department striking 1700 feet of hose up the hill and dropping the section hose from their engine into the waters of Shamrock lake. By this method 90 pounds water pressure was available for fighting the flames. The well is an old completion and was being cleaned out by the crew. Considerable gas was escaping from the hole and in some manner became ignited. Women are smoking choice Cuban cigars in England and some have even commenced to use pipes. The women of far off Zanzibar are learning to play tennis.

ONLY STEPHENS COUNTY HAS NEW PRODUCTION DURING WEEK; THIS FIELD QUIET BUT MANY DRILLING

New production for the week ending Aug. 7, was confined almost wholly to Stephens county, which totalled 7,955 barrels from ten producing wells and fifteen million feet of gas from one well. The Ranger-Eastland district had the quietest week in many months; no new oil production and one gas well for fifteen million feet. Desdemona registered one baby completion to the amount of twenty barrels. Ranger-Eastland now has nineteen locations and rigs, Desdemona twenty-three and Stephens county 181, with seventy-five locations and rigs sprinkled over wide territory. Stephens county has 476 drilling wells, Ranger-Eastland 158 and Desdemona twenty-nine. Wildcats now drilling number 292. Ranger-Eastland Quiet Nothing of importance has been drilled in the Ranger-Eastland district this week and Stephens county has also suffered a lull after the preceding week of heavy completions. Two promising extensions of the field have been made during the week. The first was in the Strawn shallow area where Randall and Lang picked up the Strawn shallow sand two and a half miles east of its former limit, in their Robinson well, which is estimated to be good for 100 barrels on the pump. Wild Cat Comes in The other semi-wildcat of importance is the Puett well of the New Domain company, which was drilled into 100 barrels production several days ago, at about 2,200 feet, and was shot this week. It came back with a 500 barrel flow and is now making 400 barrels. This well is located seven miles south of Carbon, Eastland county. The nearest producing well is the W. B. White of the Humble company, which picked up the same sand and came in for 100 barrels. It will probably be shot in an effort to increase production. The behavior of these two wells makes the territory around Carbon "look good" to operators and a large area of development south of Carbon is assured for the near future.

Let-'er-go' Gallagher, Sadly Tells What War Has Done to the Motly Ranks of the Knights of the Road

lomb, who has ridden every part of a motive but the headlight beam, and has forged handouts in every city of the United States but Ypsilanti, Mich., and Ranger with visit yesterday.

A Dreary Message. Gallagher brought him a message of dreary import. The era of the tramp, he said, has ended. Like Lo, the poor Irish, romantic vagabonds who rode the rails for the pleasure it gave them and finally made the pilgrimage south at the first chill blast in northern climes, the tramp is doomed. Believe Gallagher, no more will holes "jungle up" on the outskirts of the city, elect a mayor and hold "kangaroo court" in moments of moments of merriment. No more will the rollicking melodies of lobo songs resound from the "jungles" as the Knights of the Blind Baggage hold high carnival after their own way. No more will picked talent from the ragged ranks of Trampdom entertain their companions with recitations of lobo poetry, Jews-harp music and clog-dances. Tramp, tramp, tramp—the bo's departing.

"Let-'er-go" Gallagher was interviewed by one of Ranger's leading bed-houses of his cot would not establish himself hanging from the ceiling so co-inhabitants where he was found scroopiously brushing his teeth. After first carefully suspending his outer clothing to a string in the seams, Gallagher gracefully accepted a puff of cigarette and gave vent to his sorrow at the passing of the tramp. "I left Los three weeks ago," he said, "and haven't swapped monikers with a real bo since I started. I met a few far-ago hands who were beating their way, but they don't count. Believe it or not, but I want to tell you that the day of the box-car tourist is behind us. I sighted what looked like a regular, honest to God "jungle" outside of Raton, N. M., the other night and gambled across the green sward to put in with some of my own kind. Disappointed. "Nothing doing. I found a bunch of Boy Scouts tickling the tummies of ukuleles and eating caviar from picnic ham-pers. They were having a regular how-cum-time roughing it just beyond the city limits with portable beds, collapsible refrigerators and thermos bottles of malted milk. Why It Is. Gallagher believes the war sounded the knell of the itinerant Willie. In the army, he declared, they learned how to work, and now that the war is ended they find it hard to make the transition back to the dear old shiftless ways of yesteryear. Men who roamed the country and even hoboed their way to South America, Europe and Oriental ports, were snatched off of hot-shot freight trains, put into uniforms and made to work. Now it is impossible for the laborer and loll for hour on hour in the cool shade of a water tank at Yuma or Creve Coeur. And with the passing of the tramp have gone many of the men whose lives were checked with romantic incident and adventurous color. Contrary to popular belief, not all of those who donned overalls and went forth to roam the world in box cars and Pullman rods were illiterate, untaught men. Many of them were gifted in different ways, some of them approaching genius. There were tramp authors, tramp troubadours, tramp poets, tramp preachers and tramp orators.

During the semi-annual hegiras of the tramps to the south or to the north in the old days, life at the "jungle" camps along the route were enlivened as these men displayed their talents for the edification of their companions of the road. Debates were held, sermons preached, orations made and songs sung. Not a few of these men would have ranked high in the life of the more conventional world had they cared to abandon their freedom and take on the yoke of custom.

Through the instrumentality of the war this transition has been made by most of them.

Goodbye, 'Bo. The bo has done his last dip and bow on the stage of American life and retired to the wings. The youth of future generations will know him only as a whimsical legend.

MARRIAGE OF COUPLE 72 AND 62 A FAILURE

International News Service. CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 13.—After two years, "failure" has been stamped upon the marriage of Christian Wais, 72, and his 62-year-old wife, Margaret.

The aged couple's wedding was due to a matrimonial advertisement. In the domestic relations court here Wais has obtained a divorce.

Wais claimed he and his wife agreed to pool their incomes from which to pay all household expenses and to use the balance in defraying out-of-town trips.

He testified that Mrs. Wais drank some of his "private stock" and then informed him she saw snakes with his face on them.

He claimed also that she excessively misrepresented the amount she actually possessed.

Denying her husband's claims, Margaret said she had no food last Christmas eve until her niece purchased some for her.

ARGENTINE BANKS SHOW INCREASED PROSPERITY

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 13.—Increased prosperity this year in comparison with 1919 is indicated by banking and railroad statistics of Argentina which have just been published. Official banking reports show that between May 31, 1919, and the same date this year deposits increased 2 1/2 per cent, loans and discounts 12 per cent and balances on hand, 40 per cent.

Of the 22,141 miles of railroad in the country only one group of 1,188 miles has failed to show increased aggregate receipts, according to a table compiled by the Review of the River Plate, showing conditions for the present year. The remaining lines have all had substantial increases. All railroads in Uruguay and Paraguay and all tram lines in Argentina have also shown increases.

AMERICAN SURGEONS PRESENTED WITH SILVER MACE AS TOKEN

By Associated Press. LONDON, Aug. 14.—A silver gilt ceremonial mace, mounted with American eagles and Canadian maple leaves, has been made for presentation to the American College of Surgeons by consulting surgeons of the British armies "in memory of mutual work and good-fellowship in the great war."

The mace is four feet long and is at present at the Industrial Art exhibition, Knightsbridge, for the names of fifty-four donors to be inscribed before it is sent to America.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan proposed the making of the mace and Sir Anthony Bowly and Sir D'Arcy Power were prominent in carrying out the plan.

$100 IN PRIZES

An ad judging contest will be held by the Times beginning Sunday, August 15th, and ending Saturday, August 28th. $100.00 in prizes will be given to the persons writing the thirteen best letters stating why they think a certain advertisement appearing in the Daily Times is the best.

First prize $25.00, second, $15.00; third, $10.00; and ten five dollar prizes will be given. Only one letter from each contestant pertaining to a certain advertisement will be entered. More than one entry may be made by one person, but different advertisements appearing on different days must be discussed.

Why do you think the advertisement of "such and such" a firm is the best in the paper? Is it because the size, wording or uniqueness sets it off from the others, or is it because you have been in the habit of reading that firm's advertisements and realize that the statements contained therein are truthful?

Send a letter to the advertising manager of this paper, stating your reasons. Only the criticisms of advertisements appearing between Sunday, Aug. 15 and Saturday, Aug. 28, are eligible. You do not have to be an advertising specialist—just a simple statement of why you read some ads and pass others by. Additional announcements will be made in another part of the paper.

STORY HOUR TODAY AT RANGER LIBRARY, MARSTON BUILDING

Do you remember when you were just a little tad, or a wee girl, and your mother took you in her arms, or let you lean on her knee as she sat and worked and told you the wonderful stories of Goldy Locks and the Three Bears, and poor little Cinderella and her haughty sisters and cruel step-mother? Do you remember?

There's going to be a story hour at the Ranger Library, starting today, at 4 o'clock and these and more elaborate stories will be told the children who come. The idea is an expansion of the Ranger public library service and is being inaugurated by Mrs. William Clegg.
