

JAZZ GIRL TOSSES HEAD WHEN SENTENCED

REAL ESTATE IN RANGER IS VERY ACTIVE

"Own Your Own Home" Campaign in Ranger Getting Definite Results

That there is an increasing desire on the part of tenants and others to purchase homes of their own is evidenced by the number of dwellings sold by Maddocks and Son, during the past week. There has never been, since the boom days of Ranger, such a scarcity of houses for rent, nor such a demand for modern homes as there is at this time. The day of the shack is passed. There was a time when one was glad to get a shack at any price, but those days have gone forever, as far as the Ranger locality is concerned, and those who have been used to putting up with make-shifts during the boom time now feel that they should come into their own, so far as comfortable modern homes are concerned.

Ranger folks are tired of moving and, in order to feel that they have a roof over their heads, they are buying homes. However, a number of sales are to newcomers. The list below shows that Maddocks & Son have been active, as the list represents one week's sales:

W. S. Scruggs to S. B. Baker. This is one of the Mid-Kansas houses, in which Mr. Baker lived and on which Mr. Baker has paid over $700 rent during the past two years, with nothing to show but rent receipts.

J. L. Thompson to F. A. Maddocks, a six-room house at the corner of Mesquite and South Marston, which was bought recently by Mr. Thompson from O. A. Yancy Camp. This house was resold by Mr. Maddocks to W. M. Myers, all parties making a neat little profit, and they sold Mr. Van Camp one of the Mid-Kansas houses, thus again beating the rent collector.

Lee Ames to R. L. Faircloth, a five-room house at 322 McCleskey avenue, bought as an investment.

Barney Carter sold two houses to J. S. McDowell. They are in the Sun camp and are to be moved on some lots owned by Mr. McDowell. Both were bought as an investment.

T. E. Moran to J. H. Hamilton, 611 Pershing street, a five-room modern house, bought as an investment.

B. B. Ratliff to Mrs. Sallie Ed-two houses at Byers avenue and Blundell, bought for a home and investment.

Engineer Killed When W. F. & S. Ry. Train is Wrecked Near Olney

OLNEY, Aug. 26.—Passenger train No. 24, Wichita Falls & Southern railroad, was wrecked about a mile and a half north of Olney and immediately north of the Olney refinery at 10:30 Tuesday morning, killing Engineer J. W. Fine, instantly, and injuring Fireman E. L. Durham, slightly.

Conductor W. J. Burt stated that the cause of the wreck was from the accumulation of earth onto the track by passing trucks burying the rails which caused the pony trucks of the engine to leave the track. The engine, the tender and the mail and baggage car were badly wrecked.

The engineer stayed with his engine to the last and is said to have been working in an effort to stop the train to the minute the engine pinned him beneath the debris where he was mutilated and scalded to death.

Airplane Hunt for Two Alleged Slayers In Western Nebraska

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., August 26.—Two airplanes, each carrying several heavily armed men, today flew over Western Nebraska and were preparing to cross into Colorado in the hunt for two youth who killed two officers in North Platte last Monday. A posse of 500 men gave up the hunt last night and the chief hope of capturing the slayers was placed on the airplanes.

CHARGES PILE UP INVOLVING DENTON GANG

Arson May Be Added to Other Alleged Crimes; Search of Ranch Goes on.

DENTON, August 25.—Additional charges were expected to be filed today in connection with the cleanup raid in South Denton county by state rangers and Denton county officers. More charges of robbery were filed against Yancey Storey and Shelby Stiff, following discovery of a watchman's pouch-loot on the Storey ranch, believed stolen at the Krum bank robbery.

Charges of arson may be filed against at least three men based on the discovery of household loot believed stolen from a home recently burned at Frisco, near here.

Bob Storey and his foreman, Shelby Stiff, were taken Monday afternoon to Dallas county jail, where both are being held. No effort has yet been made to secure bond for them.

Meanwhile Ranger Captain Tom Hickman, with a squad of his men, today remained in charge of the Storey ranch and continued their search of its buildings and many acres of land. Their search on the second day brought to light two finds regarded by officers as particularly significant—from beneath a rock in a pasture, they unearthed United States war saving certificates, having a face value of $2,075, and, likewise, buried on the ranch, a gas cylinder of the type used in connection with cutting and welding torches.

Ranger Commission Discusses Water and Taxes, Development

Mayor Hodges and Commissioners Brown, Teal and Brashier, meeting yesterday afternoon in an official session of the Ranger city commission, discussed matters connected with the operation of the water works, taxes and development. Mayor Hodges pointed out that within the next twelve months or so it would be necessary to put down an eight-inch water main extending between the Bankhead highway near the intersection of Pershing street, and the pumping station. He said this would soon become necessary to relieve pressure on the mains carrying water to the standpipe.

City Secretary Dean was instructed to write a letter to the Texas and Pacific railroad calling attention to protruding delays to traffic at the Main street crossing of the tracks by reason of long stops across the thoroughfare, usually by freight trains.

The commission instructed Delinquent Tax Collector Ringold to proceed with the collection of delinquent city taxes in the manner mapped out by him.

The Oklahoma is commanded by Capt. W. McDowell and left New Zealand last Monday.

NEW AREA INFECTED WITH HOOF AND MOUTH DISEASE.

HOUSTON, August 26.—A new infected hoof and mouth disease area, this one south of the ship channel, involving about 1,000 cattle, was announced by Federal authorities today. The cattle are to be slain this week making a total of about 6,500 killed this year. More than twice that number were killed for the same cause last year.

Rain on Deserts and Heat at Poles Possible Accomplishments of Radio

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Rainstorms made to order and diversion of the heat of the tropics so as to temper the climate of the polar regions are possible future accomplishments of science.

Such at least are predictions of Prof. A. N. Low whose book "The Future" created a furore in scientific circles in England a few weeks ago.

According to statements of Professor Low it is but a step from what has already been accomplished in causing patches of rain to fall by dropping electrically treated sand through clouds, to treating great cloud areas to similar electrical charges through the use of powerful radio instruments. He says, that in fact radio stations already in operation are unintentionally having an effect upon the weather.

At the same time that it will be possible to make rain fall from the clouds at will, it will also be possible to stop its falling over any given area. In this way rain can be prevented from falling in one area where it is not needed but made to fall in an area further on, where it may be needed. When this day comes, says Professor Low, drouths and washouts will be a thing of the past.

Professor Low also says that the use of radio machines yet to be developed it will be possible to broadcast heat from the tropics; say, to the north pole. This would open to habitation vast areas which are at present waste lands in the Arctic near arctic regions.

'BLUE PHANTOM,' IF AS ALLEGED, RESTS IN JAIL

Portion of Money Bank Officials Claim Was Stolen, Recovered

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Authorities today resumed the search for $2,500 of the $28,000 loot said to have been obtained by the "Blue Phantom" in a recent raid. Fred Nickol, factory president, alleged to have been the "blue phantom" who robbed the North Dayton branch of the Dayton Savings & Trust company, Aug. 12, is in jail with none willing, apparently, to sign his bond.

Police were proceeding today on the theory that Nickol had help in the robbery and new developments were expected. Nickol said he obtained only $21,500, nearly all of which was recovered in his home, but the bank officials insist that $28,000 was taken.

Headlight Testing Stations in Ranger To Be Ready Soon

Ranger is scheduled to have two headlight testing stations soon, but none was ready to begin work in Ranger today.

The Leveille-Maher Motor company will have a testing station ready for operations as soon as a screen that has been ordered arrives, but they do not expect the screen for several weeks. Mr. Leveille said he obtained his permit Monday and that he had received the necessary blanks furnished by the county commissioners' office, but cannot begin testing headlights until the screen arrives.

C. A. Love of the Central Filing station said that the clerk in county judge's office returned this week from her vacation and informed him yesterday that his bond had been approved and the permit to operate a headlight testing station mailed to him, but he had not received it early this afternoon, although other blanks sent from the county judge's office had arrived.

The new headlight law goes into effect Sept. 1 and it will be necessary for the stations in Ranger to work fast, it was said, to get all Ranger headlights tested before that time, so automobile owners may avoid being fined.

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—New clews in the murder of the Engler family, Aug. 8, were reported to have been discovered today, and were discussed at a conference between Adjutant General Mark McGee and Travis county District Attorney Moore. That the clews were regarded as important was indicated by the refusal of officers to discuss them with newspapermen.

TONG WARFARE STARTED AGAIN OVER A WOMAN

BOSTON, August 26.—Love of a celestial for the white wife of another Chinese today was revealed as one of the sparks which set Boston's Chinatown aflame with tong fighting that spread in a few hours to all parts of this country.

Yee Kin Kit, a leader in the On Leon tong, was still in a hospital here today recovering from wounds which he says, were received in a duel with H. Yeng Ung of the Hig Sing tong.

The latter, according to Yit, tried to make love to Mrs. Yit, a white woman. When he intervened, Yit told the police, Ung shot him. Although seriously wounded, he returned the fire and wounded Ung, who is also in a Boston hospital.

Chinese Restaurant Man in Buffalo Shot By Chinese Gunmen

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The bullet-riddled body of Kow Yung was found today in his restaurant. Six Chinese are under arrest and police are seeking the seventh who is believed to have done the shooting. Although the murderer has been traced to Long war, detectives were unable to discover which tong.

Chinese quarters in a number of big cities were under close guard today by detectives, as the result of the new outbreak of tong war. Gunmen from various cities are going from town to town and waging war on the various tongs.

Deportation proceedings against Chinese who cannot obtain proper credentials is promised in New York and other cities. Cleveland, St. Louis and Boston police took extra precautions to prevent further outbreaks. The forthcoming convention of tongs in Cleveland has inspired others to warfare.

Weatherford Druggist Found Dead After Two Pistol Shots Resound

WEATHERFORD, Aug. 26.—Howard Rea, 38, druggist of this city for 16 years, was found dead in the basement of his drug store at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by employees of the store. A bullet hole in the right temple was the cause of his death.

His wife, who was in the store at the time, became hysterical after employees found the body. Rea had been in the basement only a few moments when two shots were heard. Only one bullet took effect.

Nothing has been found in the way of a note or letter that would throw light upon the occurrence. Rea was manager of the Braselton-Smith Drug company for more than 15 years, recently selling that business to Glenn Johnson of Mineral Wells and purchasing another drug store.

The public is cordially invited to attend this ordination service, which is one of the most solemn and one of the most reverent honors the church can bestow on man.

Fifteen branch exchanges, through which most of the films are distributed in the state, began packing up their possessions preparatory to moving out. "This is no idle threat," said Lester S. Tobias, manager of one of the largest exchanges.

"After Saturday of this week Connecticut will be as free of films as Goldsmith's 'deserted village' was of people."

Special Examination For Teachers to Be Conducted Aug. 29

Miss Beulah Speer, superintendent of public instruction of Eastland county, has received a letter from State Superintendent S. M. Marrs in which he advises her that he is authorizing a special examination for teachers' certificates to builders under the old law only on Saturday, Aug. 29. The county superintendent is instructed to give these examinations to all such builders applying, and to waive registration requirements.

Confusion caused by announcements from the state superintendent's office concerning the dates of county examinations for August, and a general demand for an opportunity for building under the old certificate law, is given by Superintendent Marrs as his reasons for ordering the special examinations held in the various counties of the state.

Examinations should be conducted in the same manner as other authorized examinations, and the papers sent to the state superintendent's office at Austin as soon as possible after the examinations are over, the letter states. The county superintendent is also reminded of the fact that these special examinations will not be open to applicants for the elementary and high school certificates of the second class.

RAINFALL WILL HELP EASTLAND FEED CROPS

Cotton maturing fast and gins in all part of county at work

The rains that fell over Eastland county yesterday and last night were not really needed by cotton in this section, according to County Agent R. H. Bush, for it cannot do more than help mature a few unmaturing bolls.

Mr. Bush said that in spite of the weevil and army worms, there is a good crop assured in Eastland county and that the recent rains will be very beneficial to late feed crops, which are fine. It will also be a help to the peanut crop, of which there is a large acreage in the southern portion of the county.

Cotton picking had become general over the county, but will naturally slow up to some extent on account of the general rains, which will cause cotton to open more slowly.

Cisco, Eastland, Ranger and Rising Star have all reported first bales. Cotton at present is bringing a good price and the crop now in sight in Eastland county will bring many thousands of dollars into this section.

Eastland county is well supplied with cotton gins of the most modern type and farmers will have no trouble in getting their cotton ginned. There is also said to be a small army of buyers in the field and bidding for the fleecy staple will be lively, it is stated.

Governor Ferguson Refuses Extradition of Mrs. Roscoe Canady

AUSTIN, August 26.—Governor Ferguson, late yesterday, refused the extradition asked by Governor Smith of New York for Mrs. Roscoe Canady, charged with kidnapping her five-year old son from the home of his maternal grandmother in Long Island.

The governor said she believed Mrs. Canady was entitled to her boy because the Texas courts had placed him in her custody; that the New York courts appeared to be divided on the question of kidnapping because they had refused to allow Roscoe Canady, Sr., to be brought back to Texas to stand trial for kidnapping the boy from his mother's home; that Mrs. Canady appeared to be justified in seizing her boy and bringing him back to her home, and as Canady had denied the right of Governor Smith to send him back to Texas to stand trial on a charge of kidnapping so he would be given a dose of his own medicine and be denied the right to have his wife returned to New York for trial.

MATRICIDE HAS CHANCE TO GET FREEDOM SOON

With Good Conduct, May Get Release from Jail in One Year or About Six Years

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide, today was sentenced to state's prison for from one to 10 years. Standing before Judge Harold Douderbach, Dorothy tossed back her head and looked at the court in a saucy manner as the words "for the term prescribed by law" were pronounced.

The former "jazz girl" appeared to greet the sentence with eagerness, bearing out her oft proclaimed desire to "get it over with."

Preceding the sentence, Attorney Walter McGovern, defense counsel, addressed the court, stating that no appeal or new trial was desired and intimating that the girl's attorneys and her father had been forced by the girl's insistence not to delay sentence.

Should Dorothy's conduct be satisfactory at San Quentin, she may be released after a year in prison. If she serves a full sentence she will be released after six years and two months.

Ranger Delinquent Tax Suits Ready to Be Filed Next Week

The first petitions in suits for delinquent taxes of Ranger will be filed next week. City Attorney A. A. Diehl said today after a consultation with E. A. Ringold, who has been preparing the lists preparatory to filing suits.

Over $30,000 in delinquent taxes is on the lists and many of the delinquent taxpayers are residents of Ranger today, according to Mr. Ringold. Amounts of the back taxes range from about $20 up, Attorney Diehl said. With penalty attached and the court costs persons owing taxes aggregating $20 will pay over $25 additional. Court judgment is virtually assured against all delinquent taxpayers, Attorney Diehl said. The records have been gone over carefully by Mr. Ringold and the lists compiled by him have been turned over to City Attorney Diehl for suit.

Delinquent taxpayers who wish to avoid the penalty attached to filing suit for payment of the taxes may make arrangements with the city delinquent tax collector, Mr. Ringold, and avoid the additional expense.

Poultrymen Called To Meet in Eastland Friday Afternoon

A called meeting of the members of the Bankhead Poultry Producers' association and all others interested in the poultry industry in this section, has been called for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the city hall in Eastland, at which time the affairs of the association are to be discussed.

County Agent R. H. Bush stated that some of the things to be discussed at the meeting was a proposed change in the marketing plans of the association and the proposition, which has been under consideration for some time, to ship a pool of pullets from California to Eastland county to be distributed among the poultrymen of the county.

COMMISSIONER BROWN PUTS OUT FIRE IN HIS HOME

A fire extinguisher is a handy thing to have around, City Commissioner F. A. Brown of Ranger will testify. The small instrument saved him considerable property loss when fire originating from a short circuit electric wire, started in the bedroom at his Pine street home. A quick run made by the fire wagon when the alarm was turned in resulted in nothing but exercise for the fire boys, as Mr. Brown had used the fire extinguisher to advantage and the fire was out.

The blaze started when an electric wire running from a fan to the light socket had been wrapped around an iron door knob to keep it from dragging the floor and had shorted out. The woodwork caught on fire but little damage was done.

SUGAR
It is freely predicted that, because President Coolidge refused to comply with the recommendation of the tariff commission, and reduce the import duty on sugar, that the cost of that commodity to the American consumer will be advanced during the coming season.

These same critics of the president's action, also point to the fact that as a result of the investigation the price of granulated sugar dropped from 8.7 to 4.27 per pound wholesale—much lower than the proposed tariff cut would have made possible. It is contended that under this showing no duty is necessary on sugar.

Future events will determine whether the president's attitude or the commission's recommendation was the correct answer.

RUSSIAN TRADE
Private trade is making remarkable progress in Russia. In 1917 the nation had 935,000 licensed trade concerns. Today the latest figures, including everything but peddlers, give 460,813. Of these the state owns 11,915, the cooperatives 27,678, and private traders 420,366. In addition, there is to be considered the trading done in the open market places, where the masses of the people do their purchasing, and from which the state has been completely eliminated. Russia, however, retains control of all natural resources, and will grant concessions on percentage basis.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK
Good crops, lifting of farm indebtedness, bank clearings at the highest totals ever recorded, great activity in home, industrial and commercial building, revival of mining in various sections where the mining industry is not hampered by strikes, employment general, and commercial energy and confidence, accompanied by large purchases for the fall sales, are some of the major outlooks of the business survey for August.

The automobile development has interfered with railroad development to some extent but as soon as the status of these two competing transportation systems are defined we may look for tremendous orders for rail development, and a decided industrial boom.

While congress hesitates to assist farmers to secure adequate prices for their products, it is not parsimonious regarding expenditures for experimental stations and farm bureau work. For these purposes appropriations for the next four years total nearly $10,000,000.

Massachusetts, Indiana and other states are protesting proposed increases in telephone rates. They charge monopoly and collusion and the interstate commerce commission will be asked to investigate not only the legality of the proposition but the necessity of adding many millions of increased revenue.

The labor time of producing a pair of shoes has been reduced to fifty-four minutes. The raw material cost is about one dollar. Some where between these items is an enormous spread before the shoes reach our feet—and it's a certainty that the retail dealer gets but little of it, but has to stand the brunt of the transportation.

FATHER IMPROVING.
Mrs. R. H. Hansford received a wire from her mother this morning stating that Col. J. C. Reynolds, Mrs. Hansford's aged father, was rapidly improving, and that almost all traces of his recent paralytic stroke had disappeared. Colonel Reynolds is 85 years old and his splendid recovery is considered remarkable. Colonel and Mrs. Reynolds visited in Ranger this spring, just after the Confederate reunion at Dallas, he being "one of the boys" who wore the gray in the years of '61 to '64, and one of the pitifully few that are now alive who fought for "the lost cause."

Mrs. George Taggart of Eastland was in the city yesterday afternoon in the interest of her song, "Dear Old Texas," which is one of the six songs in the competition for the Texas state song. The words of this song, which could only come from the heart and mind of a true Texan were composed by Mrs. Taggart, while the music, which could only find its root in the heart of one native born, was composed by Mrs. Maud Shick Leonard. The song is catchy, snappy and above all typically Texas. Mrs. Taggart presented copies of the song to Mrs. R. B. Campbell and Mrs. Charles G. Norton.

Mrs. W. W. Housewright has returned from a visit to her mother at Henrietta, Texas.
L. H. Fiewellen is expected home Thursday from El Paso where he has been on a business trip for the past week.

There is to be no dearth of cotton buyers in Eastland, Ranger and Cisco this fall, according to secretary Briggs of the Eastland chamber of mean to see that the top prices are paid for cotton to farmers. Hard-surface roads leading in every direction, easily provide a convenient market to the farmers of this section.

The first bale of cotton to be marketed in Eastland this season was that brought in by M. M. Boyner, who lives on the W. T. Boyd farm in the Pleasant Grove community. It was sold to W. B. Smith, cotton buyer of Eastland, for 25 cents per pound and weighed 422 pounds.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

There is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clear blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

The country seems to be in the midst of a population shift. The south and the west are increasing by leaps and bounds.

GIRLS NEED HELP OF ST. JOSEPH'S G. F. P.

Their Health and Happiness in After-Life Depends on Successful Change from Girlhood to Womanhood.

The time when girls are developing into womanhood is one of the most important periods in their lives, because of the bearings it has on their future years. It is at this time that girls should be happiest, and the lasting friendships of life are made which so often ripen into love. Irregularity, cramping spells, headaches, backache, and that awful feeling of depression and listlessness at this time are sure signs that the delicate female organs are not coming to their functions as nature intends they should. If something is not done to restore these organs to the proper condition, the unfortunate girl will certainly suffer much unnecessary pain and embarrassment, besides the loss of much valuable time from school and other duties. In addition there is real danger that the state of weakness, bad health and pain which starts at this time will continue through many years of her after life. A condition known now as catarrh of the generative organs has fastened itself on the delicate organs of the girl and is slowly but surely dragging her into a miserable life. That is the reason for the phenomenal success G. F. P. is having in building up women and restoring them to health, with plenty of vitality, energy and youthful buoyancy. It quickly and surely overcomes and stamps out that dread enemy of women—catarrh of the generative organs—Advertisemnt.

Women Now Depend on St. Joseph's G. F. P. To Restore Their Vitality

Sneak Thieves Steal Lanterns Placed to Mark Danger Spots

Petty thievery is going far when lanterns hung up for warning signals to the traveling public regarding a dangerous place in the road are stolen. The city of Ranger, in repairing the city streets, has occasionally been compelled to place lanterns at the section being repaired, due to the dangerous condition for automobile travel. City Engineer Peacock reported this morning that the lanterns placed at the intersection of Pine street and the Pleasant Grove road were stolen last night. Lives of motorists traveling there are in danger when the warning lights are removed and city authorities hope that the persons who borrowed the lanterns will remember to restore them to their places tonight.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton ©1925 NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:

Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, and no work or children.

Dick borrows Maggie, his mother's maid, to teach Gloria to cook. But to the disgust of Mother Gregory, Gloria won't learn. Later Maggie leaves because of Gloria's wild parties.

Then Gloria hires Ranghild Swanson, although Dick tells her they can't afford a maid. And she swamps Dick with debts for new clothes and an automobile.

Dick becomes dangerously ill with pneumonia. During the days of his slow recovery Gloria sees a great deal of Stanley Wayburn, an actor, with whom she is infatuated. Her best friend, May Seymour, wife of Dr. John Seymour, warns her against being seen with Wayburn. She tells Gloria how she herself has been snubbed because of her foolish affair with Jim Carraway.

Wayburn says he has the offer of a job in New York. He needs money. Gloria gets $200 from Dick's secretary, Miss Briggs. She tells Miss Briggs the money is to be spent on improving the back yard as a surprise for Dick.

Wayburn and Gloria go riding one afternoon. Wayburn, drunk, makes violent love to Gloria. In her effort to protect herself, she forgets to steer the car, and it overturned in the road. Wayburn disappears and Gloria is found and taken to a hospital.

There she calls for Wayburn.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

Gloria was asleep when her mother arrived at the hospital.

Mrs. Gordon and the floor nurse sat at the foot of her bed talking in low tones.

"She won't wake up for a while," the nurse said. "We gave her a sleeping powder."

Gloria's mother clasped her hands tightly together.

"You're sure she's not seriously hurt?" she asked for the third time.

"Well, her collar bone's broken and she's pretty well bruised," the nurse answered, for the third time, also. "But she's not going to die, of course."

"Who is 'Stan'?" she asked, after a moment's silence. "She kept asking about 'Stan' before she went to sleep."

Gloria's mother didn't answer. She knew at once who 'Stan' was. That had been what Gloria had always called that good-for-nothing Wayburn!

Mrs. Gordon wondered if Gloria had been seeing Wayburn all during her married life. She wondered if Wayburn had been with her when the cad had been wrecked that afternoon.

She stood up and looked at Gloria's face.

A year ago Gloria, in her sleep, had looked as innocent and sweet as a baby. Mrs. Gordon had often told herself so when she had gone into her daughter's room to tuck her up for the night.

Now that look of child-like innocence had gone. There was a new and hard expression around the beautiful mouth.

What had brought it there, Mrs. Gordon wondered.

And as if in answer to her question, Gloria stirred in her sleep and murmured "Stan."

An hour later she stirred again and opened her eyes. She smiled as she saw her mother, who was sitting beside her.

"Car?" Gloria asked, after a few minutes. Her voice was drowsy.

"I guess it's pretty badly wrecked. Your dad's going to see about it in the morning," Mrs. Gordon answered. She took the fingers of Gloria's bandaged hand in hers.

The girl winced and drew them away.

"Stan?" she asked, after another long pause.

Mrs. Gordon shook her head.

"Was it Wayburn who was with you in the car this afternoon?" she asked.

Gloria closed her eyes. She pretended that she was asleep so that she would not have to answer her mother's question.

But her pale lips quivered and a tear slid down her cheek from under her shadowy lashes—then another.

"She's been seeing that Wayburn again. I'm sure of it!" Mrs. Gordon said to Gloria's father that night, as they walked home.

"The nurse says she's been calling for him ever since she came into the hospital."

"Do you think he was with her in the car when it turned over?" Mr. Gordon asked.

His little Gloria! His baby girl! Ah, no! She wasn't the kind of woman who ran around with men after she was married!

Not the little daughter that he and mother had raised so carefully! The little daughter who had learned her prayers at his knee! Not his Gloria! There couldn't be anything bad in her!

"Mother, you don't think Wayburn was with our Glory today, do you?" he asked again.

"I'm afraid I do," Mrs. Gordon answered firmly. "I'm afraid I do. She wouldn't answer me when I asked her about him."

Two weeks later Gloria was able to sit up and have visitors. The first one of them was May Seymour.

The minute Gloria laid eyes on May she saw that she was bursting with bad news.

"Well, I must hand it to you for giving the gossips the best nine-day wonder of the year, Glory!" she said, after she had kissed her on both cheeks.

Gloria started.

"What do you mean, May?" she asked. There was a queer, sinking feeling at her heart.

"Well, May went on cheerfully, "that cat, Mrs. Wing, saw you pick Wayburn up in your car the afternoon of the wreck. She said that Wayburn was three sheets to the wind. And the story's going 'round that you were too snuffy to drive."

"It's not true!" Gloria burst out angrily. "I hadn't had a thing to drink! Not a thing!"

May smiled sweetly.

"You can tell me the truth, dearie! You know I'll never breathe it to a soul," she said.

"I don't care whether you do or not! I tell you I didn't have a thing to drink! It was raining and the car skidded into the ditch, that's all," Gloria said.

"But Stan was with you, wasn't he," May asked.

"Yes, he was," Gloria answered defiantly. "But how did you know he was?"

"Oh, doctor's wives hear things, you know. Things that happen in hospitals!" May answered mysteriously.

"I'll tell you how I found out about it," she added a moment later. "Mrs. O'Hara is a friend of one of the nurses who took care of you here at the hospital the night of the wreck. And this nurse told her about your calling for someone named 'Stan' all the time."

Gloria stared at May without speaking.

"Mrs. O'Hara asked John who 'Stan' was," May went on. "And it never occurred to John who 'Stan' was. But the minute he told me about it," she added a moment later, "for Wayburn! I guess I'm not some little Sherlock Holmes!"

"I hope Dick hasn't heard about my calling 'Stan,'" Gloria said.

"But I suppose he has!"

May took out her vanity case and powdered her prominent nose.

"By the way, Dick's much better, John says," she remarked. "He thinks he'll be able to come here to see you in a day or two."

And the next afternoon Dick came to the hospital.

Gloria awakened from a cat-nap to find him standing beside her bed, looking down at her. She smiled up at him in welcome.

"Well, Dick Gregory!" she cried, "it certainly seems fine to see you standing on your own feet again! Do you feel really well now?"

"Not well but a lot better," Dick answered. He drew up a chair to the side of the bed and sat down.

"Your car's still in the shop," he said, without smiling. "The man I sent out to tow it back to town said it was pretty badly smashed. Tell me, Gloria, how did you happen to run off the road that day?"

Gloria swallowed hard.

"Well, it was raining, you know," she began, "and the car skidded—and that's all. The next thing I knew I was lying in the road with the car on top of me!"

"What were you doing out in the country 15 miles from home?" Dick went on.

"Oh, don't ask me any more questions!" Gloria cried impatiently. "Haven't I been through enough, lying here flat on my back for two weeks. Give me a little peace!"

"Was anybody with you?" Dick asked relentlessly.

Gloria closed her eyes.

"I'm tired," she said. "Go away."

"Not until you tell me if anyone was with you in your car that day," Dick said in a low monotone.

Gloria opened her eyes. She smiled at Dick, showing the two tiny dimples that were tucked in at the corner of her mouth.

"You haven't kissed me yet, Rikky-Tikky-Tavy," she said.

"I'm not going to kiss you," Dick answered calmly.

"Never again?"

"Perhaps—but not right now," Dick replied. "Right now I'm interested in just one thing. I want to know who was with you 'way out in the country that day of the wreck! And, by Jove, I'm going to find out, too!"

Gloria burst out laughing.

"Not if I don't choose to tell you," she said. "After all, nobody knows who was along but me! And I'm not going to tell!"

Dick whitened. Suddenly Gloria was sorry for him.

"I was all alone, Dick," she said. "There wasn't anyone with me. Cross my heart!"

Dick looked at her quietly for a minute. Then he put his hand into his coat pocket and pulled out a little mud-stained flask, covered with cheap leather.

"How did you happen to have this along with you?" he asked. "Have you taken to solitary drinking, Gloria?"

His wife widened her eyes that were the color of brown pansies.

"Where in the world did you get that thing?" she asked. "I never saw it before in my life."

She shuddered as she looked at the flask. She seemed, still, to see it in Stan's hand as he tried to make her drink from it!

"You mean to tell me, you never have seen this whisky flask before in your life?" Dick asked her.

Gloria answered him gravely. "I mean just that!" she said.

She watched him put the flask back into his pocket.

She drew a long breath of relief! Then, fascinated, she saw him draw from his coat another shining object—a silver cigaret case. It, too, was caked with yellow mud.

"Did you ever see this before, Gloria?" he asked.

Gloria shook her head.

"Never?" Dick asked. "Think before you speak."

Dick smiled scornfully.

"What kind of a woman are you, anyway?" he asked. "You know as well as I do whose cigaret case this is!"

He turned it over, so that Gloria could see the initials that were engraved upon it—"S. W."

Stanley Wayburn.

Snowed Under
No, Not Exactly Yet, But If Merchandise Was Snowed Under With Us.

You know sometimes it seems it takes a whale of a lot of goods to run a big dry goods store. Our store is absorbing new merchandise now every day by the thousands of dollars worth. One day it will be Underwear, Hosiery, Furnishings and Staples to be checked and marked, and the next day there will come almost an avalanche of Ready-to-Wear and Footwear, and so the story goes day in and day out until our complete Fall shipments are all in.

It Certainly Takes a Strong Heart
It takes a fat purse now a days to be able to be complete master of the mercantile game. It takes even more than this. One must have an abiding faith in the town and the community in which he labors. All of these attributes we are pleased to say are happily united in the "Man behind the gun" at the Boston store, Mr. John Hassen.
