BUREAU SENDS FLIERS TO THEIR DEATH

THREE DAYS OF ENTERTAINMENT PROMISE MUCH

Gates Will Be Opened Thursday Morning, Following Parade, R. Q. Lee To Speak.

The Central West Texas fair will formally open at Eastland tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock with a band concert at fair park entrance, followed by an address by Hon. R. Q. Lee of Cisco, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

A big street parade, which will form at 10:30 Thursday morning at the corner of West Moss and North Lamar streets, will pass through the business section of the city and on to the fair grounds.

All agricultural, stock and other exhibits, of which there are to be a considerable number, are being placed as rapidly as possible and will all be ready for the opening.

Interest in the fair has been growing rapidly during the past week, especially in the rural communities and other towns in this section of the country.

Contractors having the contract to decorate the city have had a large number of men at work for three days and already have the majority of the buildings in the downtown district decorated.

Secretary Briggs of the fair association as well as the other officials of the associations, are very anxious that as many Eastland people as have cars that can be used in the parade, bring them downtown and either drive them themselves or get someone to drive them in the parade.

Chief of Police Elmer Lawrence stated this morning that Eastland would be given full and complete police protection during the three-day fair, which opens tomorrow morning.

J. B. Long, another Ranger farmer who is making Angora goats pay large dividends, has just shipped his fall clip of 505 pounds of mohair and 73 pounds of kid hair to market.

This herd has a remarkable history. It was started on Mr. Long's 320-acre farm of what is commonly known as $10 an acre land, lying 12 miles northwest of Ranger, three years ago.

The goats net the owner around $4 a head annually. It is figured to keep a goat on each acre of rough land. The entire farm is enclosed by a five-foot fence.

In addition to this fine herd of goats, Mr. Long has a flock of 37 sheep, kept on the same farm, the clip of which netted 37 1/2 cents a pound.

"There are many things about the air service the country needs enlightenment on," Mitchell said. "I have plenty to say, but arrangements have been made for me to tell it in an official board. There has been comparatively little said to date, but there will be enough to set people to thinking after I get to Washington."

Kingdom is Within: Neither shall they say, 'Lo here! or, lo there! for, heid the kingdom of God is within you.—Luke 17:21.
 Prayer: May we this day enthrone Thee, O God, most Merciful and Mighty, supreme in our lives that the Kingdom of God may be in us and abound.

JEWIS IN RUSSIA.

The Russian government by administrative action has created a state department for facilitating a definite plan for encouraging a continuing Jewish settlement on the land. Under the jurisdiction of this bureau, called the Comzet, the Russian government has set aside 57,000 acres of land in the Odessa region, 87,000 acres in the other sections of the Ukraine, 27,000 acres in White Russia, to which 40,000 more are being added by the White Russian government this year, and 50,000 acres in the Crimea. Most of these are lands expropriated from the former regime. A government appropriation of 500,000 rubles ($250,000) has been set aside to aid the colonists in establishing themselves on their holdings.

More than 25,000 new Jewish farmers, comprising 4,000 families, have already established themselves in pioneer colonies in the Russian farming interior. They have now more than 400,000 acres under cultivation. Thousands more are following their trail in a headlong exodus, enacting an epic, a new version of the "covered wagon" on the Russian steppes, and other thousands have applied for assistance. It is stated that with American aid 25,000 more families, roughly 100,000 people, can be settled on the land offered in Russia by the end of 1927. To this end a campaign is to be launched to raise a fund of $15,000,000.

TERRAPIN RACE TO BE RUN AT EASTLAND FAIR

All Entries Must Be at Grounds By 11 Tomorrow Morning. More Than 100 Entered.

One of the most interesting features of the program of the Central West Texas fair, which opens in Eastland for a three-day run Thursday morning, is the terrapin derby. At least this contest seems to be attracting much interest as more than 100 terrapins have already been entered, according to Joseph M. Weaver, master of terrapins.

Mr. Weaver announced yesterday that those wishing to enter terrapins for the race must have them at the fair grounds not later than 11 o'clock Thursday morning in order that they may be properly entered and numbered. The entrance fee will be $2 for each terrapin and any person may make as many entries as he desires. Those not having terrapins may get them from the Eastland Chamber of Commerce or Luther Bean at 25 cents each.

The race between the terrapins will start at 1:30 o'clock and there will only be one race. A 100-foot circle, in the center of which will be a small circle, will be the race track. All terrapins entered in the derby, will be released at a given signal inside the small circle and the one reaching the outer circle line first will be declared the winner of the race, the second one the second best, etc.

At all of the fairs where a terrapin derby has been held, it is said to have attracted more attention than any other part of the program as it is very new and unique, and Eastland is to be no exception to the rule, those promoting the derby assert.

Those who work are asked to come direct to the luncheon from their place of business.

ATTEND WORKERS' COUNCIL.

EASTLAND HAS VERY ACTIVE LIONS CLUB
 Programs Entertaining and Members Earnest in Efforts to Serve.

That there is a growing interest in the Eastland Lions' club is evidenced by the ever increasing attendance at the meetings and luncheons, held each Tuesday at noon. The programs for the last several meetings have been unusually entertaining and instructive, and the plans for the coming months include many things that will be of great help to Eastland and Eastland county as a whole. It was stated at the meeting last Tuesday there was only one member of the club absent.

The club is wholeheartedly behind the Eastland football team and each member has pledged himself to be present at as many of the games played by the team as he possibly can. Members of the club have also pledged themselves to sell not less than 100 tickets to each of the next three games in which the local team plays. One of these will be the game between the Eastland Mavericks and the DeLeon team at Eastland next Friday. The second game will be with Breckenridge.

 At the meeting last Tuesday, R. H. Bush, Eastland county demonstration agent, was present by invitation to outline to the club plans he has under consideration to have the Lions and Rotary clubs become more active in behalf of the boys' club work in the county. At the conclusion of his talk, which was very brief, President Owen appointed a committee composed of B. A. Butler, N. N. Rosenquist and H. E. DeLanc to assist Mr. Bush in formulating the plans that he is working on and the club gave assurance of its co-operation in the work.

It was decided at the Tuesday meeting that the Lions' club, jointly with the Eastland Rotary club, would entertain United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield with a dinner at the Eastland Golf & Country club at 1 o'clock Monday evening, Sept. 28, at which time Senator Mayfield will deliver an address. A limited number of guests will be invited by each club, as only 100 can be accommodated at the Country club, it is stated.

Mrs. Ida Chitwood, who is in Eastland conducting a cooking school being put on by the Eastland Daily

Telegram, made a brief talk before the club in which she discussed foods, their values and the preparation of them for eating. "The kitchen is the woman's workshop just as your office or shop is your workshop and you should see to it that it is properly equipped just as you see that your office and your shop is equipped," she told the men. "No woman can do good cooking when she does not have the proper foods, to cook and the proper utensils to cook them in," she said.

Ernest H. Jones was appointed by President Owen to assist the Parent-Teacher associations of Eastland in managing its affairs. This appointment was made at the request of the Parent-Teacher associations, since the membership of that organization in Eastland is composed only of women and it was found that there was frequently work to be done that could best be attended to by a man.

An invitation sent out by the Lions' club of Dallas to the Eastland Lions' club to be their guests on Lions' day at the Dallas fair, which is Friday, Oct. 23, was accepted by the Eastland Lions, who expect to attend in a body, taking with them a quartet which will sing "Dear Old Texas," a song written by two Eastland women, Mrs. Taggart and Mrs. Leonard, and entered in the contest for the adoption by the legislature as the state song.

 Senator W. J. Rodgers, a member of the club for the last year or more, announced his intention of leaving

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:
Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries, Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, but no work or children.

She refuses to do her own housework and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go. Gloria has swamped him with debts.

She becomes infatuated with an actor, Stanley Wayburn. When he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. But he spurns her. Then she tries to get a job as a chorus girl and fails. Finally she comes home to Dick. He takes her back but not as his wife.

Gloria begins to suspect he is in love with his secretary, Susan Briggs. Dick stays out late one night, and Gloria is sure he spent the evening with Miss Briggs. But next day she learns that he was at the home of Dr. John Seymour, who had killed himself because of the love affair between his wife, May, and Jim Carewe.

The breach between Gloria and Dick widens. Gloria packs up and leaves him, finally. One afternoon, filled with homesickness, she breaks into their house and puts fresh flowers in the vases. She realizes at last that she loves Dick. When she goes back to her parents' home, her mother gives her a letter from Dick.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

Gloria's heart beat fast. A telegram coming in the dead of night couldn't have startled her more than this letter from Dick. What was in it? What did he have to say to her?

Her fingers pressed the envelope. There seemed to be several folds of paper within it.

But without opening it, Gloria slipped it into her apron pocket. She could feel the eyes of her father and mother watching her. She knew that they were waiting for her to open the letter—to tell them what Dick had written.

But somehow or other, she wanted to be all alone when she read that letter.

There was just a wild chance that Dick was asking her to come back to him, in it. "And if he wants me, I'll go home this very night!" Gloria promised herself.

She raised her eyes to the cuckoo clock that hung above the sideboard. Half past seven! In another hour or two she might be in Dick's arms, again!

With an effort she went on talking: "I saw May Seymour this afternoon, Mother. She's going away. Says she'll never come back here as long as she lives."

Gloria's mother forgot all about the letter in this exciting piece of news.

"Well, I should just think she would go away! I should think she'd be ashamed to show her face among decent people, anywhere!" she said, with spirit. "I always told you she was no good, didn't I? What was the name of that man she used to run around with, right under her poor husband's nose?"

"Here's an ad that looks pretty good to me," she said to her mother.

"Jim Carewe," Gloria answered. "And what do you think? He's going to be married to some little girl just out of school, next fall. The engagement was announced in the paper the other day."

An expression that plainly said "I told you so!" flashed across Mrs. Gordon's face. She was "Mrs. Grundy" herself, at that moment.

"I never saw it fail to happen!" she cried. "Men will run around and have a good time with women like May Seymour. But when they settle down, they marry some girl who still thinks the moon's made of green cheese!"

Gloria laughed.
"Mother, you amuse me," she said. "Nobody thinks the moon's made of green cheese, any more. Flappers of 17 know more than their grandmothers knew at 70."

Mrs. Gordon shook her head. "Of course, if you think that knowing how to shimmy or roll a cigaret is knowing anything, you're right!" she said, "but we old-fashioned women weren't so slow. When I was your age I could run a house all myself—washing, ironing, baking. Everything!"

"Yes, and she used to make all my shirts, too," Gloria's father added, mildly. "And your little dresses, Glory. Remember how cute she used to look in those pink gingham dresses, Mother?"

Mrs. Gordon nodded. Her blue eyes filled with tears as she looked across the table at Gloria. This was a terrible thing for her—this breach between Gloria and Dick. Like a death in the family, almost!

That this should have happened to her little Glory! The little daughter for whom she had worked and prayed for 20 years.

Gloria read her mother's thoughts. She carried her dishes out into the kitchen, and then ran upstairs to her tiny bedroom.

With shaking fingers she tore open the envelope.

She took out the paper that was in it—a double sheet, folded around a check. A check for $50. That was all.

There wasn't a word written on the paper—not a word! Just the money—the check. As if money were all she wanted!

"So that's the letter I've been having chills and fever about, for the last 15 minutes! Nothing but a measly check!" she said, ruefully.

She sank down on the edge of her bed, turning the slip of paper over and over in her fingers. Then she looked into the envelope once more—just to make sure that there was no letter from Dick in it. But there was none.

Gloria tore the envelope into tiny pieces, and flung the check down on her dresser. That bit of paper. It was the death blow to her hopes! For until that moment, Gloria had been telling herself that—sooner or later—Dick would want her for his wife again.

Even when he had put the house up for sale, she had comforted herself with the thought that he wouldn't sell it when it came to a show-down.

But this check—this $50—looked as if he really was through with her, forever. He had probably made up his mind to send her that much money every week for the rest of her life. It—it was alimony!

In her own mind, Dick was divorced from her. What else could that check mean?

Gloria opened the door of her stuffy little bedroom and called downstairs: "Oh, Mother! Come up here a minute. I want to show you something!"

When her mother came, Gloria held out the check to her without a word. She watched her as she looked at it—wondering if her mother had been pretty when she was young.

Lines of worry fratted her forehead now, and her hair was gray above her temples. Wrinkles dragged down the corners of her mouth.

Gloria turned suddenly and looked at her own face in the dim mirror. Her old dresser. Her own mouth was dragged down like her mother's—and tremulous at the corners. Her eyebrows were twisted with unappetizingness!

"I'll look like an old hag soon, if I don't stop worrying and fussing about Dick," she told herself angrily. She scooped up some cold cream from the jar on the dresser, and patted it around her mouth.

"Well, Mother, what do you think of my love letter from Dick?" she asked with flippant sarcasm. "I've always said," she began slowly, "that there would be fewer di-"

Mrs. Gordon stroked the check with her work-worn hands.

Some improvements in frying

BY MRS. IDA CHITWOOD

Mrs. Chitwood is in charge of the popular Cooking School Classes now being conducted in Eastland. In this article Mrs. Chitwood explains how she fries foods so deliciously, and gives four valuable recipes.

Whenever I think of the frying pan, I think of Crisco, the digestible vegetable shortening and cooking fat—for I have found Crisco as big a help in my work (especially frying) as the frying pan is.

With Crisco I can fry everything without any smoke. When I am through I can save every drop of the Crisco for the next fry, no matter what it is, because Crisco doesn't absorb the taste of foods cooked in it. You would never know it was used before.

And I have found that the foods I fry in Crisco are the tastiest I have ever eaten—the most attractive, too. They are never greasy either, as Crisco doesn't stick to the foods. It simply cooks them in a delicious way as any of my recipes below will show you. For the same reasons I always use Crisco for deep frying.

As a matter of fact, I use Crisco for all my work in my cooking classes. My Crisco pie-crusts are always light and flaky. I like Crisco for cakes, too, because they come out even and whole and never fall. Almost everyone who tastes them thinks they are made with butter.

Hashed Brown Potatoes

(With or without green peppers)

Delicious either way and you can fry them to a lovely golden brown in Crisco without smoke or scorching.

6 medium size cold boiled potatoes
3 raw green peppers
Crisco
Salt and pepper

Chop potatoes fine, season with salt and pepper. Remove seeds and stems from peppers. Wash, drain and chop fine. Mix with potatoes. Put in enough Crisco to completely cover the bottom of the frying pan. Heat slowly. When hot add potatoes and cook slowly, stirring occasionally with a fork. When partly brown fold into omelet shape in one side of the frying pan. Fry until a rich brown. Turn out on platter, keeping the omelet shape.

Fish

(3 New Hints)

- 1 Use enough Crisco to partly cover the fish
- 2 Fry slowly and do not turn until almost done
- 3 Turn only once

Fried without smoke, fried without wasting left over Crisco; fried without breaking. Don't be afraid to use plenty of Crisco. It won't be wasted even when fish is fried in it. Simply strain it back into the can and use it again.

Clean the fish, leaving it whole or cut in steaks. Wash in cold water and dry in a towel. Dust with salt and pepper, roll in flour or cornmeal, and put into the frying pan when the Crisco is hot. Use a pancake turner to turn. Garnish with parsley and lemon.

How to fry without smoke:

- 1 Put Crisco into cold frying pan. To thoroughly cook the food (for example, a fish) without smoke or scorching, fry slowly, using enough Crisco to partly cover it. It will not require the constant attention frying does when only a little fat is used. The Crisco will not be wasted. You can use it again for frying other things.
- 2 Put frying pan over low heat. As soon as Crisco is melted, put in a small piece of bread. As soon as bread starts to brown put in the fish.
- 3 Cook slowly until fish is nearly done, then turn to brown the other side. With plenty of Crisco in the pan the fish is easily turned without breaking, if you wait until it is almost done.
- 4 Strain the Crisco into an empty can and use it for the next thing you want to fry. No one will know you have fried fish in it.

Of course you do. You want a figure that you can drape your clothes on—not just hang them on! What's the use of having pretty clothes, if they just hang on you?

And what would you say if you were told you could have the figure you want? A graceful, well rounded body—firm, solid flesh—just enough—just your right weight? You'd be mighty happy, wouldn't you?

Well, then, be happy—because you can have it! Put plenty of red cells in your blood and watch your weight go up to where you want it! That's what's the matter with you! Your blood is impoverished. You need more rich, red blood. S. S. S. is the thing to put red blood in your system. S. S. S. helps Nature build red blood cells by the millions.

You just try S. S. S. and watch how quickly you begin to fill out your clothes. ## Prohibition Tom-Cat Takes to Drink; Carousing Ends in Death From Dope

By United Press.
DETROIT—Paging the Anti-Saloon League for a tom cat who has taken the pledge!
George Perrine, caretaker of the prohibition department's liquor storeroom here, is anxious for such a cat to replace his assistant Ernest, recently deceased.
Ernest, let it be said, was as industrious, as sober a tiger cat as you could find in all the country round when he went to work for Mr. Perrine some six months back. But it was a sudden, apoplectic, bleary-eyed Ernest at the end.
"Ernest was all right until he started drinking," Perrine explained. "But wine, woman and song, they've ruined far better than he." First, it was only the best beer. Then it was just liquor. And finally, he went even to dope.
The First Drink.
"Dropping a confiscated bottle of our choicest old whiskey on the cellar floor started Ernest on the downward path. He had been working hard for three months, and especially so for the two nights before when a new family of rats moved in.

"Hot, tired and thirsty, he took one little lap of the liquid—then another, and another, until finally he licked the whole mess up. Next morning he lined up 27 rats for us."
"That's the way things start though. Just a wee tiny drop when you're tired then pretty soon you're always tired. Next Saturday night, unable to stand the monotony of no company, Ernest accidentally brushed a bottle from the shelf and started another jag.
"Then Ernest got to knocking bottles down every day. At first it was only bonded liquor, the pre-war stuff. But a little later he grew careless and knocked down anything that came handy.
Finally Took to Dope.
"Two or three times a week then we would miss Ernest. He began to participate in serenades with a no-

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—"What is Gifford Pinchot's show in the presidential race?"
This query lands on my desk from a middle northwestern editor. It's also been coming lately from other sources—quite numerously.
"Strong Pinchot sentiment is breaking out all over the country," says a progressive Minnesota paper.
Seemingly something of a White House boom in his interest has developed from the Pennsylvania governor's candidacy to succeed George Wharton Pepper in the United States Senate at the 1926 election.

His majority are "for" him at this time of writing.
At any rate they favor the status quo, in which he's included.
TIMES are pretty good now. That's the whole basis of the administration's present popularity, for popular it is. Everything indicates it.
If times stay good, and particularly if they improve, between now and 1928, President Coolidge likely will be re-nominated and re-elected. If they take a turn for the worse his chances will dwindle. He can do nothing at all or make a lot of mistakes, but if times stay good he'll get another term. He can do the best job in the world, yet if prosperity wanes he'll be blamed for it.
SAY conditions do so shape themselves as to give an outsider a look-in for the Republican presidential nomination in 1928. How about Pinchot then?
Well, he must get into the Senate first. If he loses that fight, he'll hardly have succeeded in proving up as presidential material.
Personally he'll be just as good a man, to be sure, but he won't have demonstrated political control of his own state.
He can bet he won't get any help from Andrew W. Mellon.

Special Correspondence.
CISCO, Sept. 23.—Cisco business men plan a luncheon and get-together meeting for this evening.
A vacant residence, the property of Walter Ray of Cisco, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Tuesday morning. The loss is estimated at $2,000, which is covered by insurance.
P. H. Toomey, who lived in Cisco 15 years ago, but who has lived in various parts of the country since, has returned with his family to make his home here. Mr. Toomey was formerly an employe of the Cisco postoffice under Postmaster Gomer Williams. He also taught various schools in Eastland county.

Dr. J. W. Gregory, city health officer, has just been advised that Dr. C. E. Smith, supervisor of the milk investigation of the federal public health service, will be in Cisco, Oct. 12, and will visit the creamery and milk producing plants in and near the city.

Of course it's too soon to do anything but guess on what the presidential situation will be three years hence.

Georgia Lady, Who Had Lost Too Much Weight, Was Advised to Take Cardui and Is Now Well.

Columbus, Ga.—Mrs. George S. Hunter, of this city, writes:
"After I married, thirteen months ago, I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides during ... My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house.
"I got very thin—I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve.
"My side hurt less and I began to improve in health. ... The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am so much better. I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all.

SISTER MARY

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Baked pears, cereal, thin cream, creamed fish on toast with broiled tomatoes, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Vegetable soup, croutons, celery, chocolate bread pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Fricassee of lamb, baked potatoes, toasted string beans, stuffed apple salad, pumpkin pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Keep in mind the need for heartier breakfasts for school children. An unhurried meal is also imperative. If a child swallows his breakfast whole, so to speak, and rushes off to school his school work as well as his health will suffer.

VEGETABLE SOUP

Two carrots, 1 small turnip, 1 medium sized onion, 1 sweet green pepper, 2 stalks celery, 2 cabbage leaves, 4 cups diced tomatoes, 2 whole cloves, 2 sprigs parsley, bay leaf, 1-1/2 cups corn cut from the cob, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Wash and peel onion, pare carrot and turnip and remove seeds and white pith from pepper. Put these vegetables with celery and cabbage through food chopper. Put into soup kettle, cover with boiling water and simmer ten minutes. Add tomatoes pared and cut in small pieces with cloves, parsley and bay leaf. Add 2 cups boiling water and cook about forty-five minutes, stirring frequently. Add the corn, uncooked, salt, sugar and pepper and cook ten minutes longer. Add butter and flour rubbed together and boil five minutes, stirring constantly. Put through a vegetable dicer, reheat and serve.

The soup need not be strained unless children under school age are to eat it.

By THE FENCE RIDER
(Items for this department must be phoned in to the Fence Rider, by 12 o'clock daily in order to insure their insertion. Don't be haphazard. Jingle the telephone bell.)

That cows have consumption as well as people and that one baby's life is worth all the cows in every dairy and on every farm in the county, is the manifest view of the state and local sanitary enforcement officers.

Six men and six wives passed through Ranger yesterday en route from New York to California, where they spend their winters. They were people of discernment, as was evidenced by a remark made by one of the party and echoed by all: "This town looks like it had the makings of a real city," one of them said. "You see signs of industry, derricks, furnace fires and the like as you approach it from every side and way out." Verily you can't fool a new Yorker.

Our beloved little sister, Eastlan, is having a real week of it this week. What with cooking school, fair, football game, rodeo—Ranger feels a real proud of her little sister.

less time, keep charm under trying hygienic conditions this new way

OLD-TIME sanitary methods bring unhappy, fretful days. Now the insecurity of the hazardous "sanitary pad" has been ended.

You wear sheerest gowns, meet every and all social or business commitments in peace of mind... any time, any day.

It is called "KOTEX"... five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes... thus ending ALL fear of offending. Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX" at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves risky old ways a folly.

KOTEX
No laundry—discard like tissue

Ranger has no pike tails or fish wiggles. All roads leading into Ranger are ways of pleasantness and paths of peace.

Coach Cherry is said to have been heard singing in his sleep last night and the burr-in of his song was:

"There's a nice little fellow— His name is Clyde, But these Ranger bull dogs Will get his hide!"

Which reminds us it's only two days off to the skinning. And they to say those bull dogs are getting fiercer and fiercer every day out on Nitro field in the practice semimagos.

But don't get over confident, fellows. Next pays. That pretty bit of blarney given out by a coach down the 'r's always in one of the Fort Worth papers, together with the game you played last Saturday, might just have that effect. There is even the possibility that the coach aforesaid meant his interview to have that effect on you biting bulldogs. But remember, a good bulldog can't be spoiled by petting. The cold, hard facts are, you didn't really play much football last Saturday. You didn't have to play much. You just showed signs that you're going to play real football. You tackled like real bulldogs. Your interference was nil, nix, no est. Your passes didn't pass—not many of them. It was just a fine, snappy, gritty, fighting first game of the season, over which all Ranger is tickled pink. But if any coach imagines that's the sort of stiff stuff you bulldogs are going to be satisfied with all season, he's got another think coming. Thanks for the taffy just the same.

These Ranger farms are real gold mines—here, where they make money off of both sides of the soil—farm the top side and get oil off the botto inside.

If a fellow asks you "Have you got any mohair?" don't think he's reflecting on your bald spot. It only means he has waked up to the tremendous value of Angora goat raising as demonstrated by many farmers in this neck of the woods. Just his way of inquiring about your prosperity, as if he asked "Have you struck oil?"

voices in the world if there were less slimony! If a woman knew that she'd have to go to work to support herself, she wouldn't be so ready to leave her husband as most wives are, nowadays. What are you going to do with that check, Glory?"

"I don't know. Get it cashed, I suppose," Gloria answered. "I ought to give some of the money to you and Dad for my board. Why do you ask?"

"Because if I were you, I'd send it straight back to Dick," her mother said. "You've no right to his money."

Gloria's eyes opened like safflowers. "I'd like to know who has a better right to it!" she cried. "I'm his wife and if he doesn't live with me, the least he can do is support me!"

Mrs. Gordon shook her head. "No, if you had a child or two to care for, I'd tell you to take Dick's money," she said. "But you're a free, able-bodied woman who can earn her own living. And it's not fair to take money from a man when you're not being a wife to him. Can't you see that, yourself?"

"I certainly can't!" Gloria replied. "Dick's been my husband for a long time, and he's got to pay for it!" Her little chin was firm and hard.

She stood suddenly. "Come on, let's go downstairs. I'll wipe the dishes for you," she offered.

In silence they cleared away the dishes, and set to work to wash them.

They had almost finished when Gloria's father came in from the back yard, where he had been sprinkling his little garden.

"Well, what are you two so quiet about?" he asked.

Gloria laughed shakily.

"I had a windfall, Dick sent me $50," she answered, "and Mother and I don't know what to do with it."

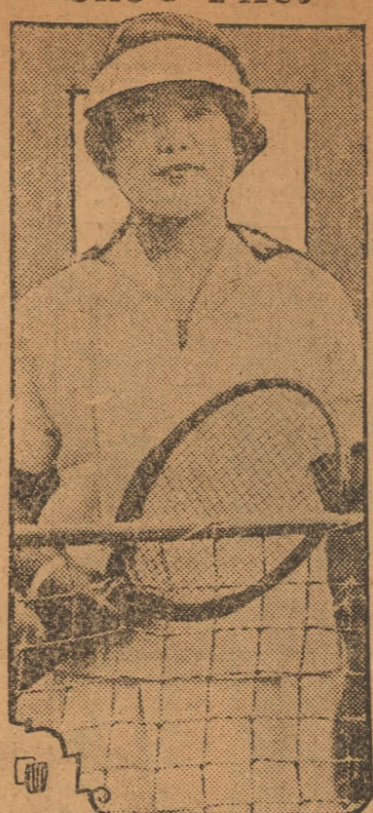

Her father came over to her and laid his hands tenderly on her shoulders. "Don't touch a nickel of his money," he said. "He felt that whatever the trouble was between Dick and Gloria, it couldn't be his 'baby girl's' fault. So in his own mind he blamed Dick for her unhappiness."

"We took care of you for 20 years, daughter," he went on. "I guess we can do it a while longer. You send his money back to him."

Gloria looked thoughtful. "Do you know, I believe I will," she said suddenly. "Tomorrow morning I'll get up early, and hunt a job. Thank goodness, I know how to earn a few dollars."

But she was filled with sadness that night, as she sat in her room, looking out into the dark street. Behind her on the dresser, the alarm clock ticked loudly. It was set for 6 o'clock in the morning.

"Back to the old grind!" Gloria said to herself miserably.

It had always been hard for Gloria Gordon to rouse herself at break of day, and go out to work long dreary hours. How much more difficult it was going to be for Mrs. Richard Gregory, who had had her breakfasts in bed for many months—who had had her own home, her own automobile!

Gloria couldn't eat the poached eggs and toast that her mother cooked for her the next morning. She looked through the "Help Wanted" columns of the paper as she sipped her coffee.

"Here's an ad that looks pretty good to me," she said to her mother. "Wanted: Experienced stenographer, with knowledge of bookkeeping. Good salary."

The address was that of a real estate firm.

"I think I'll go there," Gloria made up her mind. "It may be the very place I want."

But when she got off the street car in the downtown district, she did not turn toward the real estate office.

Instead, she went straight to Dick's office, with the eager swiftness of a homing pigeon.

She pushed open the door and stepped inside. Dick and Miss Briggs stood talking beside the desk in the inner room.

They looked up in surprise as Gloria came toward them. She did not even glance at Susan Briggs.

"Hello, Dick," she said. He did not answer.

EQUIP HIGH SCHOOL BAND.

Band Leader Underwood is back from Dallas where he stocked up his high school band with instruments. The band now numbers more than 25 and they are going into training with a vim, it is reported. It will be a uniformed band and should be able to perform within some two months, Mr. Underwood reports.

WOMEN WHO "GO ON THEIR NERVES" ARE NOW FINDING RELIEF

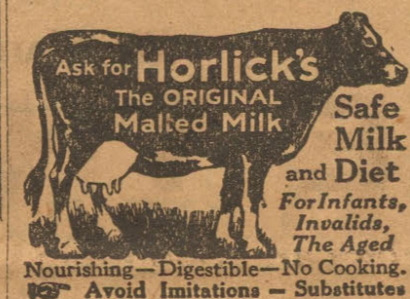

"Female Troubles," Found to Be Caused by Dreaded Malady—Catastroph—Are Being Corrected Quickly Now.

An eminent writer on medical subjects recently stated that the rate of deaths from nervous causes had increased more than 20 times in the last 60 years and that, in a number of the larger centers of population, one-fourth of all deaths were caused by nervous disorder. It's the strain of modern condition, which is too much for frail, undernourished women.

"The underlying cause of most of this nervousness, pain and sickness among women," said a representative of the discoverers of St. Joseph's G. F. P., the phenomenal medicine now being introduced with such startling success to the women and girls of this country, "has now been proven to be catarrh of the female reproductive organs, a dreaded disease which is the result of colds, over-exertion or exposure on the delicate mucous lining of women's most important bodily organs. When neglected this malady spreads itself to other parts of the system, resulting in a general drain which keep women from building up nerve-force and energy fast enough to supply the demand of modern life."

Thousands of weak and nervous women are now having new hopes and ambitions aroused in their breasts by the very surprising and sudden results which are invariably coming with the use of the phenomenal medicine, known as St. Joseph's G. F. P. Woman's disease system quickly, but gently responds to the wonderful effect of this medicine and almost before they know what has happened, thin, weak and under-nourished women find themselves robust and happy again, with an abundance of energy, vitality and youthful buoyancy.

Women Now Depend on St. Joseph's G. F. P. To Restore Their Vitality

WOMAN MAY HAVE BEEN DEAD BEFORE THRUST INTO FIRE

By United Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—While George Symuk, furnace murderer, is held in the Tombs awaiting examination, police today examined evidence which they believe will controvert his story of how he had quarreled with Mrs. Sophia Poleskie, his secret sweetheart, before he poked her body into a blazing lumber yard kiln.

Finding of a bloodstained sledge hammer and cleaver caused authorities to doubt the Rumanian's confession that he had beaten her with a wine bottle before carrying her to a gruesome death.

MOTHER AND SON NARROWLY ESCAPE FROM THE FLAMES

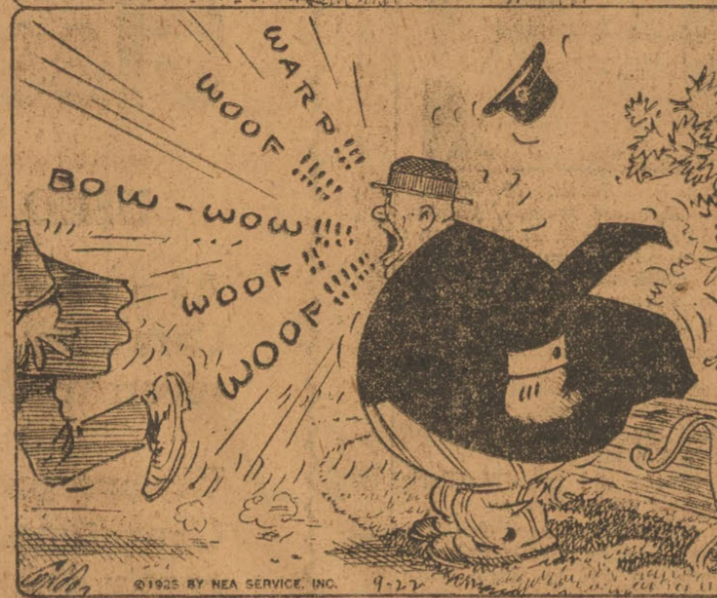

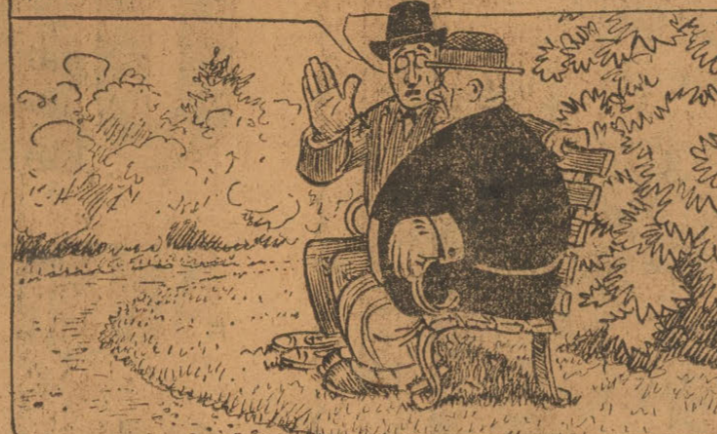

By United Press. MCKINNEY, Texas, Sept. 23.—Two persons narrowly escaped death when fire destroyed a two-story brick building here today. Mrs. J. M. Havys and her 7-year-old child trapped in their room by flames were taken out just before the roof collapsed. The loss was estimated at $15,000. Origin of the fire not determined.
