E. A. Clayton et al. of Eastland will begin soon the drilling of a deep test well on the Ed Kimbro tract, about two miles west of Eastland and between the R. L. Rust shallow wells and the Texas Development company's Rushing well, which is producing from the Lake Eastland sand and found a much greater depth than the Rust pay.

ANTHRACITE COAL MINERS BEGIN STRIKE

Upwards of 150,000 Men Quit Work in 828 Mines in Hard Coal Territory.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 1.—Save for a handful of maintenance workers, 828 mines in the 500 square miles of anthracite territory upon which the hard coal supply of the United States largely depends, were deserted today following completion of the walkout of 150,000 workers at midnight last night.

Coal Operators at Hartshorne, Okla., Ask Miners to Return

HARTSHORNE, Okla., Sept. 1.—Although the strike of district 21 was on theoretically since midnight, miners in this section were open today and miners were invited to go to work. How effective the strike will be cannot be determined until two or three days have elapsed, both miners and operators have asserted.

Income Taxes Being Paid By Every Citizen Are Being Made Public Today

By PAUL R. MALLON, revenue bureau ordered the lists open for inspection last year and when newspapers began to print them, the bureau issued a statement that the law did not permit publication of the lists which would be a violation of an old statute. A divergence of opinions arose among government officials and finally indictments were found against the Baltimore Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper and the Kansas City Journal-Post to test the validity of publication. The supreme court in a decision several months ago ruled that the papers were fully within their legal rights in publishing the tax payments.

TWO PRODUCING WELLS DRILLED NEAR FRANKEL

Both in Livingston Pool, One in Shallow Sand; Other Drills Working.

Two producing wells were drilled yesterday by major companies operating about 10 miles northwest of Ranger and about three and one-half miles west of the Carter pool. The States Oil corporation drilled in its Cooper No. 1 at a depth of 2,000 feet for a shallow well producing about 60 barrels of oil daily and making about 1,000,000 feet of gas. The Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company drilled in its Hand No. 1 at a depth of 3,750 feet in the Ranger pay for an estimated flow of 500 barrels and about 4,000,000 feet of gas.

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 1.—Dropping his plea of insanity, Lieut. John S. Thompson, U. S. A., of Far Rockaway, Long Island, today pleaded guilty before a court-martial to a charge of manslaughter for killing 16-year-old Audrey Buehlig, beautiful society girl he loved.

PAYMENTS ON INCOMES MADE BY LEADERS

Collectors Books Open For Public Inspection With Right of Publication.

By United Press. Income tax figures were open for public inspection today and newsgatherers in every city having an internal revenue collector were noting amounts paid by leading corporations and citizens and assembling the figures of many for publication. Here are a few of the early reports: BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 1.—President Coolidge paid a federal income tax of $14,601.86 for the year 1924, according to figures made public here today.

"BABE" RUTH SEEKS CHEER FROM RUPPERT

Suspended Yankee "Home-Run King" in New York to See Club Owner

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—"Babe" Ruth, suspended "home run king," is due in New York on the Twentieth Century limited today and is planning to see Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, in an effort to open peace negotiations. Ruppert has already indicated a feeling of concord with Huggins in the quarrel and is not expected to sympathize with the "Babe." Huggins arrived in New York last night, but left the train outside the city to evade newspaper men. Reached by telephone, he said he was through talking about the case. "Anything further will have to be done from Colonel Ruppert," he said.

RUTH REPENTANT, WILL EXPLAIN TO HUGGINS

By United Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Babe Ruth, suspended from the New York Yankees for "unbecoming conduct" repented his sins in the office of Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and left to "explain to Miller Huggins, Yankee manager." Ruth was lectured by Ruppert in the presence of newspapermen and then was told he would have to settle it with Huggins. Ruth answered that he was always hotheaded and left the office to see the manager, who disciplined him. Asked if he would apologize to Huggins, Ruth answered that he would talk it over and explain to Huggins.

RAISE MORE HOGS ADVISES COUNTY AGENT

Urges High Grade, Registered Livestock Ranking as Prize Winners.

There is a shortage of hogs in Eastland county, but they are largely of good stock, according to County Agent R. H. Bush, who has been waging a campaign for more and better hogs since he came to the county some three or four years ago. This fact is revealed in Mr. Bush's recent report to the state agricultural department. He urges high-grade, registered live stock. Mr. Bush's report also reveals the fact that while there are many good cattle in the county, there are very few that would be considered anything like prize cattle. Tom Shepherd of Cisco and Dr. R. H. Hodges of Ranger, Mr. Bush stated, have bulls that would stand a good chance to win prizes if entered at the State fair at Dallas.

Mrs. A. D. Johnson, Mother of Eastland Postmaster, Dies

Mrs. A. D. Johnson, aged mother of Postmaster A. H. Johnson of Eastland, died at the family home in Cisco at 11 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Johnson came to Cisco from Ohio and was most highly thought of. For the past years she has been a helpless cripple. During the last few weeks, Mrs. A. H. Johnson has been with her, and was there when the end came. All social affairs scheduled for today have been called off on account of the membership of either Mr. or Mrs. Johnson in the various organizations. Funeral services will be announced later.

'Young' Stribling Knocks Out Warren, East Texas Slugger

DALLAS, Sept. 1.—W. L. "Young" Stribling, famous Georgia boxer, who has stood over 48 opponents as they took the count and has yet to be knocked out, added another victory to his string last night when he dealt a knock-out blow to Peck Warren, hard hitting East Texas, in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout. SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 1.—The summer white horse today issued another denial of reports that Secretary of War John W. Weeks would be compelled to resign from the cabinet because of ill health.

One Seaplane Keeps Hopping on Toward Hawaii, But One Falls Into the Sea

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The seaplane PN-9, No. 3, commanded by Lieutenant Snoddy, has been forced out of the San Francisco-Hawaii flight. The PN-9 No. 1, the other giant eight plane passed over the destroyer Dozan at 4:45 a. m. Pacific standard time, according to a radio-receiver at naval headquarters at 5:30 a. m. "No. 1 passed over at 4:45," the message read. "Evidently close, but did not sight it." At that time, 1,000 miles of the voyage had been completed. Later the U. S. steamship Manoa radioed that the PN-9 No. 1 had passed over the 1,200-mile mark and was maintaining a speed of more than 80 miles per hour. Cheering messages during the night from the plane told of its success.

New Federal Organization to Enforce Prohibition Beginning Its Work Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—A new era in prohibition enforcement dawned over the nation today. The system by which the government has attempted to enforce the dry law for the last five years gave way to the "Andrews plan." Forty-eight state directorships and all of the complicated machinery of

Negro Severs Head Of His Common Law Wife From Her Body

DALLAS, Sept. 1.—Wrapping his left arm around his common law wife's head, early today, James Portland, 25, negro, completely severed her head from her body with a razor. The murder occurred on a prominent residence street while many workers on their way to the city looked on in the tragedy. Portland and the woman, Johnna Shelton, had quarreled at their home, and when the battle waxed too warm, she ran to a nearby corner. Overtaking her, the negro applied the razor with effect and manner of a guillotine.

Half Million Persons Depending on Mining Affected By Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 1.—A population of 500,000 depending directly on mining will be affected by the strike. About 10,000 railway men handling coal and employed in repair shops are included in this number. Their losses will be more than $1,000,000 a day in wages. Operators estimate the cost of maintaining the mines in condition during the strike will be about $200,000 a day. This may be handed on to the consumer when the strike is over. As the suspension order went into effect, John L. Lewis issued a statement reiterating the charges that the anthracite operators "set up at the Atlantic conference an impossible barrier to successful negotiations when all of the mine workers' demands were rejected." Lewis also charged "the responsibility must lie with the operators for their refusal to negotiate a new wage scale. Operators today gave no indication of making concessions to the workers and both state and national governments were silent.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 1.—Crazed by liquor after a week's drinking party, Harry U. Boyd, 43, shot and killed his wife here today and then killed himself while their three small children looked on.

HEADLIGHT LAW EFFECTIVE IN STATE TODAY

Brief Period of Leniency to Be Permitted in Eastland County

Due to insufficiency of time, a large number of automobiles in Eastland county that have failed to have their headlights tested, as required by law which is effective today, Commissioner V. V. Cooper of Eastland county, said that the county officers would be lenient with motorists for a short period. Sufficient time to have lights tested and defective lights corrected will be allowed. This is needed especially in Ranger, as the light testing stations designated by the county commissioners' court did not receive their permits until very recently and some of their equipment was delayed. "The Central Filing station will be ready to test lights tomorrow," Clarence Love said today. Although he screen has not arrived, Mr. Love stated that he would have one made and be ready for work by tomorrow. The LeVelle-Maher Motor company will be ready for work the latter part of the week, if possible, officials said, but again the screen has not come. Men in charge of the testing station said they would wait for it before starting active work. Adjoining counties of Eastland county, however, have not signified any intentions of being lenient with motorists who have failed to have their lights properly tested and in the event any Eastland county motorists who leave the county are apt to be arrested unless carrying certificate showing that their lights have passed the requirements of the law.

Naval Training Ship By Gar Goes Down

SAULT ST. MARIE, Sept. 1.—The naval reserve training ship, By Gar, sprung a leak and sank near here today, but the 28 persons aboard were removed to safety before the vessel went down. The Detroit naval training vessel, Dubuque, docked at the dock shortly before noon. An early report indicated it was the Dubuque that had sunk.

President Wants Power to Handle Strike Situation

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 1.—As the nation-wide anthracite coal strike got under way today, President Coolidge let it be known that he will ask congress for power to handle such situations in the future. The president expects the country to weather the storm without incident.

Everything goes. Every article in every department is marked down to the lowest possible cost, practically giving it away. Seeing is believing, look us over.

Thousands of people visited our store Friday, Saturday and Monday. Due to the tremendous task of accommodating customers, our clerks were confronted with a situation with which they were unable to cope and many buyers left unable to purchase articles they desired.

"To our friends and customers in this predicament, we offer our humble apologies and request that you come again, at which time our clerks will endeavor to attend to your needs."

Never before in the history of Ranger, dating back to the days when our grandmothers were bargain hunting, and Ranger was only a Ranger post in the wilderness, has an opportunity such as this, presented itself on a "silver platter" offered itself to the buying public of Ranger and our trade territory (the entire oil belt). From every town in the oil belt customers are pouring into Ranger and our store eager to take advantage of the prices we are placing on every article of merchandise in the store.

By actual count our clerks have waited on 4,686 customers in the first three days of this worthwhile money-saving sale as the thousands of thrifty and bargain-wise people thronged the store. Four more days of this "different" money-saving "End-o'-the-Season" Sale remains. Take heed before it is too late. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION. THE STATE OF TEXAS. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Eastland County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon E. F. Dodge, F. W. Parry, D. A. Rumbaugh and D. W. Rumbaugh, composing the partnership known as Rumbaugh Drilling Company, James Tierney, Henry Brown, H. S. Livingston, Bellard Oil Corporation, a private corporation whose agent is H. S. Livingston, M. M. Honan, R. M. Schmuck, M. D. Hillier, S. B. Kress and the unknown heirs of each of said defendants, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, and in the judicial district to appear at the next regular term of the 91st district court of Eastland county, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof, in Eastland, on the first Monday in October, A. D. 1925, the same being the 5th day of October, A. D. 1925, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 28th day of July, A. D. 1925, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court, No. 11695, wherein C. L. Horn is plaintiff and Joe Shaddock, E. F. Dodge, F. W. Parry, Rumbaugh Drilling Company, a partnership composed of D. A. Rumbaugh and D. W. Rumbaugh, James Tierney, Henry Brown, J. S. Grisham and wife, Mrs. J. S. Grisham, A. J. Clark, Ballard Oil Corporation, a private corporation, whose agent is H. S. Morris are defendants, and the cause of action being alleged as follows: That said Horn is joint owner and partner in the operation and ownership of an oil and gas lease covering the lands described as follows: To-wit: The east 80 acres of the N. W. quarter of the sec. 20, acres of the S. W. quarter of section Number 25 and the east 40 acres of the north half of the N. W. one-fourth of section No. 24, all in block 2, H. & T. C. Ry. That since Jan. 1, 1923, plaintiff has been employed by defendants as a laborer at an agreed wage of $4.00 per day, for such time as he was fully employed and afterwards at the rate of $25.00 per month for past 26 months, as watchman. Said defendants agreed and bound themselves to pay plaintiff for his services, at said rates. That plaintiff has since January, 1923, earned as a laborer and watchman for defendants as contracted the sum of $373.00 in wages which amount defendants refused and fail to pay plaintiff to his great damage. Long Fast

Loses 35 Pounds on Water Diet To Aid Health.

ALEXANDER VARGA

By NEA Service. CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 24—Fasting is the one sure road to health, says Alexander Varga, 36, who is on his second great fast in two years. Varga intends to fast until he has a ravenous desire to eat, which he refers to as "the sign."

"It may take 60 days of fasting," says Varga, "but I am going to stick it out."

Varga started his fast June 28. He understood the "treatment" for his health to remove body ailments and pains after years of study of physical culture and dieting. On the forty-seventh day of his fast he weighed but 94 pounds, having lost 35 pounds; his waist had shrunk seven inches. Varga adheres to a strict schedule.

Economics Expert Making Survey of Banking Conditions in Texas

Special Correspondence. AUSTIN, Aug. 1.—Making a comprehensive survey of banking conditions in Texas with special regard to the state incorporated banks is the work engaging the attention of Dr. H. H. Preston of the University of Washington at Seattle who is teaching economics at the University of Texas during the summer session. Dr. Preston is affiliated with a group of banking experts under the direction of H. Parker Willis, professor of banking at Columbia University and formerly secretary of the federal reserve board, making a nationwide study of state incorporated banks with particular reference to bank failures. Most of the state banking laws are comparatively recent, and a really comprehensive study of them has never been made, Dr. Preston said. National banks have reported annual statistics to congress since their establishment in 1863, however. In Texas, for instance, the first state bank now operating under the present law was established in August, 1905. In these twenty years Texas banking has developed until there are nearly 1,000 state banks. In other sections state banking laws are also of recent origin. In California the law dates from 1909, and in Oregon from 1907. Since some 2,000 banks have closed in the last five years, there has been increased interest in banking development under state laws. In Texas 150 small banks have failed in this period. As a consequence, there has been a great deal of legislation. The McFadden bill, a proposal to amend the national banking laws, which would have a great deal of influence on state banking, has been up twice, and will be introduced again when congress convenes in the fall; Branch-banking is the cause of most of the disagreements over this measure, and this is one of the questions which Dr. Preston is very carefully investigating now. When small banks have failed in Texas, the guaranty fund has provided for all guaranteed deposits in cash, but this has not been the case in many of the other states, Dr. Preston said. For example, in Washington, the guaranty fund broke down completely; in Oklahoma the guaranty fund law was repealed in 1922; and in North and South Dakota the funds were overdrawn. As the burden of the loss in Texas has fallen on the solvent bank, the result has been that a large number of state banks have either been converted to national banks or have taken advantage of the amendment passed by the recent legislature which permits them to withdraw from the guaranty fund and protect their depositors by giving personal or surety bonds, according to Dr. Preston.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:

Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, but no work or children.

She refuses to cook or keep house and hires Raehild Swanson to do it for her, although Dick says they can't afford a maid. And she swamps Dick with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

Gloria becomes infatuated with Stanley Wayburn, an out-of-work actor. Her "jazzy" friend, May Seymour, wife of Dr. John Seymour, warns her not to be seen with Wayburn. She tells Gloria how she, herself, has been snubbed because of a foolish affair with Jim Carewe. Gloria says she'll do as she pleases.

Dick becomes seriously ill with pneumonia. During the days of his slow recovery, Gloria sees Wayburn constantly. He tells her he is going to New York to get a job acting with Sonya Chotek, a Russian actress. He needs money. Gloria gets $200 for him from Dick's secretary, Miss Briggs. She tells Miss Briggs the money is to be spent improving the backyard of the Gregory house.

Wayburn and Gloria go driving, and the car overturns. Gloria, badly hurt, is rushed to a hospital. Wayburn disappears. Later Gloria has a letter from him. He is in New York. Dr. Seymour orders Dick away for a rest. His mother, who has been ill, plans to go with him. But Gloria says that if Mother Gregory goes, she won't. Dick refuses to tell his mother that Gloria doesn't want her along. A few hours after, Dick and his mother leave on their trip. Gloria sets out for New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: Gloria felt as if she were sleep-walking as she followed the redcap who carried her bag, through the great noisy railroad terminal.

Outside, she drew a deep breath of air—New York air! She shook herself. "Free at last!" she sighed. "I'm glad I came! I'll never go back! Never!"

Her heart beat high and wildly as she hailed a taxicab.

A woman on the train had told her about a clean little hotel in West Eleventh street.

Gloria made up her mind that she would go there first to freshen up. She was dirty and tired, after her journey. And then—and then, she would hunt up Stanley Wayburn!

She sat back in a corner of the taxicab and watched New York whirl by outside the windows. In the pale sunshine, the tall buildings seemed rich and wonderful. The very trucks and buses seemed marvelous to Gloria that day. She was going to see Stanley Wayburn!

And this big, careless town, this New York, would be hers to struggle with, to conquer! Perhaps she would write her name in electric lights against the night sky of Broadway yet!

At the little hotel she registered as "Miss Gloria Gordon"—a better stage name than "Gloria Gregory," she decided.

She went upstairs to the tidy, dehumanized hotel room, and unpacked her bag.

She bathed. She brushed her red-gold hair until it shone like polished copper. She "did" her nails, and rubbed perfume into the palms of her hands, and on the nape of her neck. She rouged her cheeks.

"When tulips bloom in Union Square," sang Gloria, happy for the first time in weeks.

She was happy! And wasn't she pretty, though! She put her head on one side and laughed at herself in the looking glass. Oh, she could land a job in a beauty-show all right!

If Stan couldn't help find her a job, she'd go to Kit Cameron!

Kit was a chorus girl in the "Gayeties"—the most beautiful chorus in the world! And Kit could introduce her to the great Gintie, himself.

Gloria was sure that if Gintie saw her, he would give her a place in the "Gayeties." She was sure she was beautiful. Dick had always told her she was the prettiest woman in the world.

Dick! The thought of him made Gloria's heart ache for just a minute. She put the thought of him aside. She closed her heart against him.

She threw back her head, and studied herself with eyes that were like dark stars under their white lids. She smiled into the mirror. She knew that she was better-looking than Kit Cameron had ever dared to be!

Gloria's spirits began to sink as she stood on the sidewalk and looked up at the dingy, narrow building that was Stanley Wayburn's boarding house.

"I wonder if he'll be glad to see me," she thought. She was filled with panic as she went up the stone steps, and rang the door bell.

"Is this where Mr. Wayburn lives?"

was Sonya Chotek's face!

Live bangs of jealousy stabbed Gloria like two-edged knives at the sight. She wondered if Stan was in love with that face. She wondered if he thought Sonya Chotek was beautiful.

Was she beautiful? Gloria peered up the picture of the actress and studied it closely. Then she crossed the room to a mirror that hung there against the wall, and looked at her own face. Under the deep coppery waves of her hair, it smiled back at her—wider and sparkling.

"Pooh!" she said aloud, "I make her look like 30 cents!"

She put Sonya Chotek's picture back on the table, so that it faced the wall. It was then that the telephone in Wayburn's bedroom rang.

Gloria flew to it and unhooked the receiver.

"Hello," she said. The voice that answered her had his, give her a look that was like a caress, and call her "Russet"?

"Aren't you going to ask me to sit down, or say you're glad to see me, or anything?" she asked.

She dropped into a chair, and watched Wayburn through her lashes. He took off his overcoat and hung it up. He lighted a cigaret with a steady hand. He drew up a chair and sat down.

And not until then did he answer her.

"Well," he said, "as a matter of fact, I'm not exactly tickled to death to see you, Gloria. What have you done? Left your husband?"

Not exactly tickled to death to see her! Stan not glad to see her? She tried to speak but her lips would scarcely move. They were white and drawn.

"I suppose you'd call it that—" she said at last. Her voice vibrated high and thin, like a violin string that has been stretched too taut. It broke suddenly.

She wanted to tell Stan how empty life at home had been for her since he dropped out of her life—how terribly she had missed him.

But his coolness froze her. She couldn't tell him anything. Her voice was congealed in her throat.

"Does your husband know you're here with me?" Wayburn asked. He gripped the arms of his chair with both hands as he leaned forward, hanging upon her answer.

"Suppose he does know it? What difference would it make?" Gloria's voice was a dull whisper.

"Difference!" Wayburn shouted. "It would make a difference of a difference to me!" He began to dash up and down the room like a caged tiger.

He stopped suddenly before her chair, and glared down at her. "Do you suppose I want to be dragged into your troubles?" he asked violently. "Do you suppose I want that husband of yours to hunt me up and shoot me, eh? What could I do with you, anyway—"

Gloria saw in a flash how his mind was working. She shook with cold anger that was like an icy chill. And when she answered Wayburn her voice came between clenched teeth. She couldn't get them apart.

"I see what you're driving at, Stan," she said. "You think I'm asking you to take care of me—well, I may be cheap, but I'm not so cheap as that!"

Like flooding waters bursting through a dam.

"I'm not such a fool as to expect help from you," she cried. "Why, you can't take care of yourself! I'll bet you're still living on that $200 you borrowed from me!"

She could see Wayburn wince. That had got under his skin!

"Don't worry, I'll pay every cent of it back!" he said. Gloria sneered. "I'll frame it when I get it," she said. She wanted to hurt Wayburn. She hated him, suddenly, as she had never hated anyone in all her life before.

The telephone in the other room rang sharply. Wayburn slammed the door after him as he hurried in to answer it.

Gloria tiptoed to it, and laid her ear against the panels of it to listen.

"Hello, Sunshine," she heard Wayburn say. Her lip curled. That was like Stan—to call Sonya Chotek "Sunshine," as he had once called her "Russet."

Pet names were part of Stan's love-making, part of his "fine" with women! Little caressing names that were like kisses on his lips as he whispered them! And they meant exactly what his kisses meant. Nothing! Nothing at all!

Oh, she had found Stan Wayburn out at last. He was a coward and a cad. Why hadn't she seen it long ago?

Wayburn came back into the room. He sat on the arm of Gloria's chair and laid his hand on Gloria's shoulder. "Stan," she said. "You think I'm

"Now, let's talk this over quietly," he said.

At his touch, all the fury went out of Gloria. She hated him, yes, but with a kind of misery. She turned in her chair and looked up at him, pleading with her eyes.

"Don't send me back home, Stan!" she begged. "If you know how lonely I've been! If you only knew! Look here, I'll get a job on the stage. Maybe Kit Cameron can get me into the show she's in."

Wayburn got up. "No, you'd better go home," he said brutally. His voice cut like a whip. And Gloria went mad for a moment.

She crossed the room, and picked up Sonya Chotek's picture. She held it above her head, and brought it down hard on the back of the nearest chair. The glass broke in a hundred pieces. Above the crash of it, Gloria heard the sound of Wayburn's laugh.

"Well, that's about all you can do about it!" he said. "I married Sonya Chotek yesterday!"

POLICE BELIEVE SUSPICIONS OF COMPLAINT JUSTIFIED

DALLAS, Sept. 1.—W. M. King, 48, a fruit vendor, entered police headquarters with a story that was at least modest, if not reasonable.

King said that he awoke in bed with a few teeth loose and missing, his head bloody and bruised, and a brick lying in the bed with him.

He told officers that he "believed" someone had "socked" him with the brick while he slept. Officers are inclined to think that his suspicions are well-founded.

Dick groaned despairingly as he dropped into his armchair.

"Mr. Stanley Wayburn?" she asked the tall, black-haired woman who opened the door.

"Yes, 'tis," the woman answered. "Who's wanting him?"

"I'm—I'm his sister," Gloria faltered.

"Well, he ain't home," the woman said. "He'd oughta be here in a few minutes. Wanta go up and wait for him?"

"Yes, thank you," said Gloria. She followed the boarding house keeper up the red-carpeted stairs to the second floor.

Stan's rooms were at the back of the house, overlooking a dirty back yard. Upstairs, someone was practicing on a doleful saxophone. But the rooms themselves were cheerful enough.

There were magazines scattered about. A tin box of cigarets and a cocktail shaker stood on the table. Stan's bright silk house-coat was thrown over the back of a chair.

Everywhere there were pictures of women—the photographs that Gloria first had seen in Stan's dressing room in the theatre back home.

She looked at them, again. Then she saw that there was a new one among them!

It stood all by itself in a Dutch-silver frame on a table in one corner. The pictured face in it was broad and fore-shortened. It was crowned by a swirl of blond hair. It was a foreign accent. It was a woman's voice. It was Sonya Chotek's voice, Gloria knew at once.

"Who is this speaking, please?" it asked. Gloria didn't answer. She banged the receiver back on its hook, and turned away from the phone. Then she stopped dead still.

Wayburn had come in. He was standing in the doorway between the two rooms. Of course, he must have been listening.

He stared at her as if she had been a ghost. "For the love of Mike! Where did you drop from?"

Gloria's voice was wistful when she answered. "From home, of course. Aren't you glad to see me?"

Wayburn ignored her question. "Who was that on the phone just now?" he asked harshly.

"Oh, just some Jane who wanted to talk to you," Gloria replied. She managed to ripple a laugh at him, flippantly, as she walked past him into the sitting room.

She was hurt—however. What was the matter with Stan? The Stan who used to catch her hands in

ST. JOSEPH'S G. F. P. IS REVIVING NEW HOPES FOR WOMEN

Nervousness, Pain and Depression Quickly Disappear With the Use of Medicine Now Being Introduced Here.

Suffering and pain from so-called "female disorders" has been the lot of women throughout all the ages of civilization. It is the enduring of all this which makes women look old before their time, and makes life a burden to them when nature intended it to be a pleasure.

With such women, headaches, backaches, nausea, fainting spells, loss of sleep and appetite and that morbid, whimsical, depressed and worn-out feeling become a habit.

"These unfortunate women who are victims of this distressing condition, try many things which promise relief," says the representative of the discoverers of St. Joseph's G. F. P., which is being introduced here, "only to be disappointed again and again because the remedies which they use do not possess the peculiar ingredients which are necessary to stamp out the malady—Catarrh, which we have proven to be the cause of most of this trouble among women. Finally they begin using St. Joseph's G. F. P., and the quickness and ease with which it relieves them of their pain and suffering is the cause of amazement and gratitude which is beyond expression."

Chevrolet Motor Co. Announces Its Co-operative Advertising Campaign

The Chevrolet Motor company has announced a co-operative advertising campaign in connection with its large dealer organization. This campaign is a further move by the Chevrolet Motor company in its effort to obtain the most economical distribution of its product. It is probably the most comprehensive and efficient of the great advertising campaigns in the automotive industry. Approximately 4,000 newspapers are being used.

Under this plan the Chevrolet Motor company in reality has become the advertising department of each of its dealers whom it provides with literature and the effective window display service of the company. These displays supplement the unified advertising plan.

In brief the plan is this: The Chevrolet Motor company charges a small amount for each car shipped to dealers and credits it to the Chevrolet dealers' advertising fund. To this fund the company then adds a substantial contribution from its own advertising budget.

The company plans the dealer advertising campaigns, buys newspaper space, purchases and prepares art work, sends the advertisements to the newspapers, directs the printing and display of outdoor advertising, handles invoices and pays bills. The dealers thus are relieved of a vast amount of detail.

A desirable angle of the plan is a guarantee to each dealer that every dollar which he pays into the fund will be spent in his district for newspaper or outdoor display space, all of the costs of preparing and placing the advertising matter being more than covered by the Chevrolet Motor company's contribution to the fund.

In furtherance of the plan, the Campbell-Ewald company, which serves the Chevrolet Motor company as advertising agents and is one of the five largest advertising companies in the United States, has sent out from its own organization 14 field men who are located at strategic points throughout the country.

These men bring the dealers into close personal contact with the main organization in working out advertising problems and assist in individualizing the dealers' advertising consistent with the program of a united appeal.

The individual requirements of each dealer are analyzed and he is consulted in the choice of media in his territory. The dealers are kept in constant touch with the advertising plans and are given advance proofs of all newspaper advertisements.

"The guarantee to the dealers that their entire contribution will be spent for advertising space in their districts is regarded as second in importance only to the feature of unified appeal," said J. E. Grimm Jr., advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor company. "It should be understood that this is not national advertising used locally; it is local advertising nationally directed."

Your Life will hold more contented days

This NEW way in solving woman's most hygienic problem warrants never a moment's charm lost

ONE-SIXTH of the average woman's life, say some authorities, is spent in self-consciousness, in fear of charm lost.

Today that is a folly. Live every day, unhandicapped. Wear your lightest frocks, dance, dine, motor in security and content.

Modern science has supplanted the old-time sanitary pad with a better way. A way that is changing women's hygienic habits universally.

The name is Kotex—a method scientifically right.

It absorbs 5 times the moisture of the ordinary cotton pad.

That means great protection. It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—that ends an old-time embarrassment.

It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.

You get it at any department store or drug store, just by saying "Kotex." And that banishes the embarrassment of asking for a "sanitary pad."

8 in. every 10 women in the better walks of life have adopted it. Which proves its benefits.

It will mean much to you in health, in daintiness and protection. It proves old ways a needless folly.

KOTEX

PROTECTS—DEODORIZES

1. Disposes of 5 times as much moisture as cotton pads. Absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture—and deodorizes.
2. No laundry. Discard as easily as a piece of tissue.
3. Easy to buy, anywhere. You ask for them by name. Many stores keep them. Paper-wrapped—help yourself, pay the clerk, that is all.

WELL IN LOVING COUNTY HAS GOOD OIL SHOWING

Special Correspondence.

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 1.—Oil reported Monday to be standing 1,500 feet deep in Wheat No. 1 of Wallace Lee and others in southwestern Loving county, apparently makes certain developments of a new field along the east bank of the Pecos river.

At the same time, two inside wells in Reagan county have been completed, adding between 6,000 and 7,000 barrels to daily production already around 39,000 barrels.

The Big Lake company's No. 39 was flowing 215 barrels hourly from 2,877 feet, six feet in the sand, and the Big Lake company's No. 20 was making 3,000 barrels daily from 2,928 feet.

The Texon Oil & Land company announced the sale of 500,000 barrels of oil in storage for delivery Aug. 23 to Dec. 1.

Texon Nos. 12 and 19 were drilling in.

Loving county's new well is in the southeast corner of section 82, W. & N. W. Ry. Co. survey, four miles east of Dixieland, 23 miles north of Pecos and two and one-half miles east of the Pecos river. Paces struck at 4,180 feet, within 20 feet of the contracted completion and the bit went in seven feet.

Fifteen-year-old boy was held for investigation here today in connection with the death last night of his companion, Tom Woods, 14.

Young Woods was fatally stabbed in an altercation over the cutting of a "bee tree," according to officers.

WHAT CAN PIMPLY FACED BOYS AND GIRLS EXPECT

Nobody knows better than the boy or girl who has been slighted time and again by their supposed "best friend," how humiliating it is to have to stand for such "cutting" things when they know they can expect nothing more as long as they don't look attractive on account of a pimply, blotchy or rough skin.

But such heartaches don't have to be put up with. Any boy or girl who is troubled with these skin blemishes can get rid of them if they will just use Black and White Ointment and the Soap. The fact that they sell at two million packages a year shows how popular they are. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. Any dealer can supply you with both the Ointment and the Soap. The 50¢ size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25¢ size.—Advertisement.
