SPURGIN HELD IN CHIHUAHUA, IS REPORTED

Mexican Officials Willing to Return Fugitive to Border

EL PASO, Aug. 10.—Warren C. Spurgin, fleeing Chicago bank president, was arrested yesterday on a ranch near Chihuahua City, Mexico, according to word received here.

A telegram from the chief of police in the Mexican town to officials at Juarez informed them that Spurgin was being held there and would be returned to the border if the expenses of the trip were guaranteed.

El Paso officials declared today that they had learned that Spurgin carried a suit case full of American bank notes when he crossed the border.

OFFERS SMALL CHANGE VENUE AFTER ARREST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 10.—States Attorney Fred Mortimer today offered Len Small, Illinois indicted governor a change of venue.

In a statement today the states attorney reviewed each step of the case, a renewal of charges that Len Small, when state treasurer, embezzled $500,000 of state funds, and offered to agree with the governor's counsel for change of venue to some other county.

GOVERNOR SUBMITS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 10.—Governor Len Small of Illinois was arrested here late Tuesday.

The chief executive of the State, after successfully evading Sheriff Henry Mester of Sangamon County for three weeks, quietly submitted to having three warrants, charging conspiracy to misuse public funds, to be read to him in the executive mansion and he then accompanied the Sheriff to the county courthouse to arrange for bail, which was set at $50,000.

The arrest of the Governor was an anticlimax to the excitement expected. Governor Small had warned the Sheriff that if he attempted to serve the warrants he "would not be responsible for any untoward consequences." He threatened to declare martial law. Monday he reiterated his determination not to submit to the arrest.

Bond Already Drawn.

Late Tuesday Sheriff Mester went to the executive mansion armed with the warrants. He was readily admitted and the warrants were read to the Governor.

When the Sheriff and the Governor arrived at the courthouse his bond had already been drawn up. The signing process required but a few minutes.

Governor Small signed first. His signature was followed by those of Roy and Harry Ide, both of Springfield, and of Judge C. R. Jenkins, director of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare.

Before signing the Governor insisted on inserting a paragraph in the bond declaring that he was accepting arrest under protest.

The paragraph read: "The above bond is given by Len Small, Governor of the State of Illinois, under protest that he is not subject to arrest during his continuance in office as Governor of the said State."

No objection was made to this clause by Sheriff Mester. The Governor then returned to the executive mansion. He would make no statement.

MIKE GIBBONS WINNER AFTER BEING FLOORED

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Old Jeff Smith stopped Mike Gibbons with a left on the jaw in the early stages of their twelve round no-decision fight at the Army Athletic association near the city, and sprawled the St. Paul bantam on the rug for just an instant.

Gibbons, much surprised, was up before a count could get in the way, and picked Smith to pieces for the rest of the fight. Gibbons clearly outpointed Smith all the way, except for the knockdown.

CITY PUTS PRICE ON HEADS OF FIRE BUGS AND AUTO THIEVES

Commission Member Threatens to Bolt Meeting When Question of Appointing Police Chief is Brought Up—Matter is Passed to Meeting Today.

M. R. Newnham, street commissioner, threatened to bolt the city commission meeting of yesterday afternoon, without voting, when the question of appointing a chief of police came up. After his stand the matter was passed over to an adjourned meeting to be held this afternoon. The commission, during its session, went on record as agreeing to stand sponsor for the paying a reward of $1,000 for the conviction of any person charged with attempting to burn or destroy a building in the city by explosives. It also agreed to sponsor a reward of $250 for the conviction of an automobile thief.

Ordinances to Reading.

Two ordinances were passed to their first reading, one of which will prevent any money of the city from being garnished and will prevent the city in answering in the event the attempt is made. This power to the city is given under the city charter and the state laws. The ordinance was drafted by the city's attorneys, Levy & Evans. The second ordinance has to do with the impounding of stock and only simplifies the one now existing. Under its terms gear are not allowed to run at large and may be impounded.

The question of a chief of police was brought before the meeting by Mayor Gholson who said it had been pending for some time and should be settled. Previous to bringing up the question, and while the sanitary contract, which has been pending for some time, was under discussion, the mayor stated that unless some of the matters which were being carried over were settled he was going to exercise the power vested in him as acting city manager. As city manager, it is his prerogative to appoint a chief of police, let the sanitary contract or attend to other such duties. Such appointments if made would have to be ratified by the commission.

Two Applicants.

A. Davenport stated that he was ready to settle the question of a chief of police and added that there were two applicants, Luther Davenport and Eugene Reynolds. He said because no policemen had commissions under the new administration the question should be settled. Mr. Newnham stated he was not ready to pass on the choice of a chief of police and would not be until other commissioners were present. Commissioners Hodges and Dean were absent from the meeting. In justice to them he said he thought it should be held over. He mentioned the fact he had asked that the question be brought up at previous meetings when more commissioners were in attendance. "If you men insist on a vote," he said, "I am going to leave the meeting."

It was the opinion of the commission that if a reward was offered for fire bugs and automobile thieves it might have a tendency to stop the wave of fires which have happened in the past ten days and the many automobile thefts.

With a total of $56.30 from the jars the Texas Drug store has the honor of producing almost half the amount. Its jar was found to contain $23.37. Joe Harness, its manager, instituted a scheme whereby many pennies dropped through the slot of the jar. Instead of selling matches for two pennies a box he has set an open box on the counter with the instruction to the patrons to help themselves and drop their pennies in the jar for the Milk and Ice fund.

The house by a vote of 63 to 54 tabled a resolution offered by seventeen members extending to Dr. Caleb R. Ridley of the Central Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., the use of the house hall on next Friday night. According to information here, it is to make an address telling why the Ku Klux Klan was organized and why it is opposed by some people.

Representative Patman led the fight against the motion and offered the motion to table.

According to press dispatches, Dr. Ridley is to speak in Austin Aug. 17, the day after the expiration of the period for the special session.

SOLUTION FOR TAX PROBLEMS G. O. P. CLAIM

House Leaders Accept Harding's Proposal For Cut in Revenues.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The difficult problem of reducing federal taxes in the face of huge future demands on the treasury, appeared solved today.

A tax bill to yield $3,075,000,000 or $600,000,000 a year less than the present war revenue act, was the aim of the house ways and means committee, as the result of prompt intervention of President Harding in the tax tangle. The president, in a two-hour conference with house leaders last night, proposed a program which was promptly accepted by house leaders.

President Harding called leaders from both houses of congress into conference again today, in the hope of bringing an agreement to end the legislative delay, and to arrange for congress to take a brief vacation.

LOYD GEORGE CHARGED WITH STEAM ROLLING SILESIAN DELEGATES

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, was charged today with using "strong arm" tactics in forcing the allied agreement of the partition of Upper Silesia.

Typical comment on the supreme council session, in which the premier swung the gathering to the British view of the situation was the complaint of "Pertinax" in the Echo Day, Paris. "Britain has forced us to accept a Downing street settlement under penalty of being abandoned by the entente. That is going too far."

The council met again today at 11 o'clock.

BRECK THEATRES TO FIGHT SUNDAY CLOSING

BRECKENRIDGE, Aug. 10.—For the first time in a year all of the seven theatres of this city remained closed on Sunday. Only one theatre attempted opening, following the strict orders of the police department as to closing on the Sabbath. It is understood the matter will be contested by the theatre men.

During a former administration the theatres operated on Sunday. Only motion pictures were shown, vaudeville being prohibited on that day. The operators stood a fine and submitted to it gratefully.

Two weeks ago the proprietors were told by the city police not to run their houses on Sundays at all. All opened the following Sabbath and were fined. A second time they were told and with specific instructions as to the coming Sunday. Only one of the seven opened the last Sunday. He was arrested, but immediately placed $1,000 cash bond and was released by the sheriff.

"Sunday closing is to be contested in Breckenridge," Manager Zimmerman of the National Theatre stated yesterday.

Charges Based on Malice Says Dunnam — To Demand Immediate Trial.

EASTLAND, Aug. 10.—Civil action was filed yesterday in the Eighty-eighth district court by C. R. Starnes and the commissioners' court against County Attorney W. V. Dunnam, seeking to recover $1,000, which it is alleged Dunnam collected in fines from J. W. Humphries, Abe and Earnest Enloe.

DUNNAM'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Dunnam, in referring to the matter, said the action was based on malice and for the purpose of intimidating him because of his activities in the proposed road investigation matter; that if the commissioners' court had any action against him in the matter and that if their allegations were true he was guilty of a criminal offense and should be prosecuted for same but that his traducers were cognizant of the facts in the case and knew that if they put such allegations in a criminal complaint that they would be amenable to damages for malicious persecution.

Mr. Dunnam stated further that he would waive time and demand immediate trial; that he had collected no monies belonging to Eastland county and that the action taken at the time was taken upon the advice of the attorney general of the state, Judge E. A. Hill of the Eighty-eighth district court and Allen D. Dabney of this city, and that the money paid in connection with this matter was paid directly to the justice of the peace of precinct No. 1, Eastland county and by said justice reported to the commissioners' court in due course of business.

CANNED HORSE MEAT SUBJECT SENATE ROW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The senate turns the ear of ennuui to talk of "pork barrel" bills, but it showed a lively interest when "canned horse meat" was injected into the debate on the soldier bonus bill by Senator Watson of Georgia.

In taking a fling at Senator Myers for his four-hour speech in opposition to the Georgia firebrand referred to Montana as the "canned horse meat state."

"Montana," declared the Georgian, "kills wild horses and packs the meat and sells it to the effete East to eat as beef."

Myers leaped to his feet bristling with wrath. "I am always ready to stand up for Montana, at any time and at any place," shouted Myers. "And at any length," interposed Watson, harking back to the four-hour speech.

"Perhaps the effete state of Georgia, too, may sell canned horse meat," suggested Myers.

"Oh, no," replied Watson, "of all the effete states, the effete is the state of Georgia."

"I do not know where the senator gets his information that we can horse meat in Montana," said Myers. "It may be that he has been eating some of our canned meat, and it is so good that he cannot tell canned horse meat from canned beef."

"Quite likely," assented Watson. "I am almost sure of it. You never can tell what you eat in some of these restaurants. You go by the bill of fare, and when the words are French you do not know what you are eating until after you have eaten it."

FORD TO GET SQUARE DEAL ON NITRATE BID DECLARES SEC. WEEKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Henry Ford will get a square deal from the government in the negotiations for the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant. Secretary Weeks declared today in denying rumors that he is personally opposed to seeing the automobile manufacturer secure the property.

Weeks denied knowledge of the report that powerful interests were at work in Washington in an effort to sidetrack Ford's purchase of the plant.

BILLION LOAN TO RAILROADS IS PROPOSED

Would Advance Second Half Billion From Sale of Road Securities Held.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The administration relief plan, amounts to a loan of $500,000,000 to the roads by the government, Eugene Meyer, chairman of the war finance corporation admitted today under sharp questioning by members of the senate interstate commerce committee. Committee members, by their questions, drew from Meyer a series of statements, which, summarized, amounted to this:

That the government has already loaned the railroads $500,000,000 for which securities have been taken, and now proposes to provide $500,000,000 more by the selling of these same securities. Thus there will be, therefore, no net liquidation of the railroad's obligations.

TAKING OUT WEATHER INSURANCE BECOMES POPULAR IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The British custom of taking out weather insurance has acquired a strong foothold in the United States.

Five major league baseball clubs this season have thus safeguarded themselves on all of their Saturday, Sunday and holiday playing dates while many minor league magnates are similarly protecting their exchequers.

More than $1,500,000 was underwritten in rain insurance for the last Fourth of July, it is estimated. Fair weather was general, and less than $100,000 was paid policy holders. Labor Day is expected to break the July Fourth record.

A British company underwrote a $750,000 rain insurance policy for Tex Rickard as protection against financial setbacks which the elements might have caused on July 2, the day of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout. The premium of this policy was reported to have been $75,000.

Colleges also have begun to insure against rainy Saturdays during the football season, and state and county fairs are likewise taking up the practice. Underwriters report that horse racing promoters and owners of boats used for holiday excursions are their bigger clients. In the winter they insure ice skating rinks on the temperature remaining below freezing.

Summer resort hotels insure themselves against bad weather over week-ends and department stores do the same thing for days on which they have advertised sales expected to attract particularly large numbers of purchasers.

The insurance companies charge premiums ranging from 2 1-2 to 25 per cent of the policy and even higher in rare instances. Rates are based on the average rainfall in any locality over a ten-year period and on the month in which the event insured is to take place.

MOTHER LOSES LIFE IN TRYING TO RESCUE CHILD FROM FLAMES

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 10.—Maternal devotion today cost the life of Mrs. Ida Polk, 38, mother of four children.

Mrs. Polk was burned to death in her home near here, after leading three of her children to safety. A fourth child died in the fire with its mother.

RUSK SPUR-TIFFIN PLANTS WILL BE PUT IN OPERATION SOON

The receivers in Texas for the Ranger Refinery and Pipe Line company, D. W. Girard and R. A. Stewart will meet in Ranger Sunday with W. H. Fouke who is in charge of the local property of the bankrupt company, and arrange plans to start immediate repairs of the Rusk Spur plant of the bankrupt company with a view of putting it in operation within four or five weeks. Mr. Fouke said this morning the plant would be either leased or operated under the direction of the receivers.

On Monday the Hagaman Refining company will start repairs on the Tiffin plant of the bankrupt pipe line company. The deal for the leasing of this plant was closed a few days ago. Both moves are being made at the order of the Abilene federal court according to Mr. Fouke.

It is doubted if the receivership question of the concern will be settled within a year. Two petitions for bankruptcy were filed at about the same time, one in the Texas court and one in the federal court at Kansas City. Both appointed receivers. Depositions were heard by a master in chancery as to which set of receivers were entitled to act, and while the question is being settled both are acting in their respective states. The master is expected to make a decision to Judge Wilson of Abilene in September and after that it is expected the case will be carried to the supreme court.

ELK EATS MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION THEREBY GETTING MASCOT JOB

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Aug. 10.—"Bill," the outlaw elk of Yellowstone, has been adopted by members of New York Lodge B. P. O. E.

Bill had been in disgrace. His crime lay in being too tame. Residents of Mammoth, where park headquarters are located, spoiled Bill by teaching him to eat from their hands. From a pet he became a pest. So tame was he after a season or two that he no longer joined his brothers and sisters in their wandering about Yellowstone and became an outcast.

All his tastes degenerated. They became almost goat-like. The day came when no laundry hanging from the backyard clotheslines was safe from his appetite. His special taste was for little silken dainties. So they

GERALDINE FARRAR SUED BY HUSBAND FOR SEPARATION

GERALDINE FARRAR

Geraldine Farrar, world famous American prima donna, has been sued for separation. Lou Tellegen, Dutch-Spanish-Greek actor, has taken his wife into court in Westchester county, N. Y. Tellegen charges, his lawyer says, that Miss Farrar barred him from entering their home, when the matinee idol returned from a fishing trip. Since he was locked out, seemingly as an undesirable husband, the actor-husband has rung the prima donna's doorbell in vain. What seems to rattle the actor even more than being locked out was that the servants had a way of standing behind the drawn curtains and grinning out at him during his ineffectual attempts to gain entrance to his home. Even his keys refused to fit the locks, which apparently had been changed. Tellegen says he did not even have time to remove his wearing apparel.

LOU TELLEGEN

locked Bill up in a corral and there he has remained.

Then came the crowd of New York Elks, visiting the park on their way home from their recent Los Angeles convention. A group of them visited the corral, where a number of calves are also kept.

"Hello, Bill!" cried one to an approaching group. Bill knows his name, and thinking he was being summoned, hurried up for food.

So surprised was Patrick McGrath, exalted ruler of the New York lodge, that he dropped a slip of paper he had been holding, with other mail, in his hand. It was a membership application.

Now Bill has a particular fondness for scraps of paper and many a magazine hero and telephone number have disappeared down his throat. A moment later and Bill had a membership tucked inside of him.

After that there was nothing left out to bestow some sort of honor on the outcast. Accordingly he was officially appointed Western mascot of the lodge. And they arranged a special banquet for him.

MISS FARRAR RECOILS FROM AWFUL PUBLICITY OF DOMESTIC DISCORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—It will not be necessary for Lou Tellegen to return to the home of Geraldine Farrar, his wife, to collect his sticks and pipes and fancy vests, left behind when he and love walked out of the iron grille doors more than a week ago to go fishing. Miss Farrar has been tidying up the humble cottage off Central Park West, where the carpets feel like snowdrifts underfoot and has sent all of Lou Tellegen's things to storage, where he may obtain them after enacting slight formalities with the cashier.

Henceforth, it appears, the fewer mementoes of her one romance that Miss Farrar encounters around the loveless home, the better Miss Farrar will like it, as between her and Lou Tellegen all is over but the testimony and possibly certain questions of property rights, according to the lawyers.

Miss Farrar still recoils from publicity but there was something in the manner of her attorneys Monday which indicated that when she decides to tell her story it will be a story to read in the papers.

"Wait a few days," one of the attorneys said.

Miss Farrar really would prefer privacy in the settlement of her domestic affairs, it is understood, if only because of her professional position. The Metropolitan Opera House, contrary to the custom of musical comedy firms, does not relish that sort of propaganda, though it may make a ballet girl famous overnight. That is why the press department of the Metropolitan is said to be more busily engaged in suppressing little private scandals affecting Metropolitan performers, in season and out, than in prying in press notice next to live reading matter.

Lou Tellegen has not been about his usual haunts since that afternoon when his own butler refused to extend him the courtesies of the house and the maids stood tittering behind the crimp-cut sun-cured yellow silk curtains, peering out at the master whose most imperious lines were falling flat. Tellegen, it is understood, will have a story to tell of a loveless and not altogether friendly union with one of the most beautiful women on the American stage.

Miss Daniels has the role of Pansy O'Donnell, salesgirl in a fashionable ladies' ready to wear shop. The boss, recognizing her class and her good looks gets the idea of dressing her up in all his finest togs and sending her out to an exclusive summer resort for the purpose of calling attention to his clothes.

Can you imagine anything sweeter than to be given two weeks with pay, all the beautiful clothes you could wear and all expenses at a hotel for the elite? Pansy was intoxicated with the thought. She embarked on her vacation keen for the adventure, but Pansy in all her wildest moments of fancy never pictured any adventure so great as the one she found awaiting her at the hotel. She was all set for the experience and halfway sensed romance just around the corner, and there was not a question but that she could call attention to her employer's gowns, but Fate seemed to help her.

First thing, the taxi she was riding in to the hotel collided with a classy little roadster and she came to her senses sitting in a mud hole beside a regular prince of a fellow. They laughed over their episode and Pansy went on to the hotel only to be promptly mistaken as a famous actress traveling incognito. Truly adventure was hunting her early.

A FASHION HINT. That styles this fall will be similar to those in the days of '49 is the opinion of Claire Adams, dainty Benjamin B. Hampton star, who is portraying the leading feminine role in "The Gray Dawn," Benj. B. Hampton's latest all-star production, adapted from the Stewart Edward White novel.

"The costumes I wear in 'The Gray Dawn,' which depicts the gold rush period of '49, are all my latest fall gowns, which I have just purchased. In order to give the desired hoop-skirt effect, I just had to wear three very befruffed petticoats; otherwise they remained unchanged. Dresses this fall will have the long, bouffant skirt, defined waistline, basque waists and the hoopskirt effect either at the hips or knees of the latest style dress worn in '49. But I don't believe modern women will ever adopt the foolish discomforts of wasp waists and old-fashioned hoop skirts that Paris is trying to introduce in America.

TAMPICO NOW IN MIDST OF DULL PERIOD

Flush Times Lasted Longer There Than in Most Localities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—"Americans who saw prices skyrocket at home and who saw themselves and their neighbors nearly lose their sense of money values, would have felt thoroughly at home in Tampico, the great Mexican oil town, during the last few years," says a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic society.

This was the port to which United States gunboats were sent recently, when the closing down of American oil wells and refineries because of heavy Mexican taxes threw thousands of men out of work, and disorders were feared.

"Tampico, long a port of no great importance, has had a mushroom growth in the last fifteen years," continues the bulletin, "its population increasing from less than 17,000 in 1906 to well over 100,000 today. And the explanation for this great stride forward can be given in one word—oil. The biggest 'gusher' the world has ever known was drilled near Tampico in 1908, and scores of other huge streams of oil have been opened up in the same vicinity since. Hundreds of millions of gallons of oil have passed through Tampico and the town has been the financial and business headquarters for fields many miles away.

Money Becomes Plentiful.

"Money flowed easily into the pockets of a large number of American managers and technical workers who were brought in, and into the hands of Mexican land owners, merchants and day laborers. The world war raised the demand for liquid fuel to unheard-of heights and it seemed that everyone in Tampico was becoming wealthy. Conditions closely paralleled those in the oil towns of the United States. Silk shirts were not the vogue that they were among the loungers along every American Main street, but in their way Tampicans became equally as proficient spenders. There was little inclination to 'count the change'. The cost of all articles of food and apparel rose tremendously. Rents soared until ordinary accommodations for Americans could not be obtained for much under to $200 to $300 per month.

"Because the after-the-war industries of the world required petroleum no less than did the navies of the fighting nations during the war, Tampico's prosperity continued after most other communities whose business was quickened by the war were experiencing a setback. Now, belatedly, the city is undergoing the readjustment that came to the rest of the world.

"Although Tampico owes its prosperity predominantly to oil, it has other factors that contribute to its importance. Thanks to a railroad from Monterey, connecting with the mining region of North-Central Mexico, and to excellent harbor improvements, the town is an important port of entry and export. It has surpassed Vera Cruz in the bulk of commodities handled, though the latter city probably is the port of entry for products of greater aggregate value.

Not Directly on Seacoast.

"The city of Tampico is not directly on the seacoast, but is situated a few miles up the Panuco river, which is broad and deep and affords anchorage for a large number of ocean-going ships. At the mouth of the stream at La Barra is a supplemental harbor. Near the latter place is one of the finest sea beaches to be found.

"Until Tampico found its buried treasure and shook off its lethargy it was an exceedingly unhealthy place, often being subject to epidemics of yellow fever. Drainage and the application of other modern methods of sanitation have greatly improved the health conditions. The families of numerous American and English employes of the big oil companies have moved in, and a thriving English-speaking colony exists in the higher western part of the city."

ELKHORN CAFE BILLS SETTLED AND WARRANT FOR HARPER DESTROYED

G. M. Harper, brother of Curley Harper, was in town yesterday settling bills left unpaid by Curley Harper when he closed the Elkhorn cafe several days ago. He denied his brother attempted to swindle anyone, but that he went to Eastland on account of the illness of his wife. A warrant which had been issued for Curley Harper, was destroyed by Deputy Sheriff John Barnes.

COMIC OPERA STATES FORM ALONG BALTIC

Tiny Nations Make Pretentious Efforts to Pose as Great Republics.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Comic opera states have sprung up along the Baltic shores, the result of the partitioning of the old Russian empire, according to a special correspondent of the London Observer. Each of the three baby nations—Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania—is swelling with national pride.

Having gained recognition from several big powers they are putting on all the airs of big nations, much after the manner of some central American republics.

All three are spending large sums of money developing "national" operas, because France supports one. Jeweler designers have been called in to design decorations for various military orders suddenly springing up.

Barely a dozen trains are operated daily in the three states, over a few hundred miles of track. Yet each of the new-born nations has its "railway minister," with scores of subordinates. All three have cabinets modeled along the lines of those administering the affairs of the biggest European powers, with hosts of functionaries.

Many "Diplomats" Every other person traveling the railways is a "diplomat." Even the "White Russian" government, representing Russian refugees scattered all over Europe, has its staff of diplomats, press bureaus and employees of all sorts. Their expenses are paid by contributions from wealthy adherents of the former Czar, who escaped the Bolsheviks, and by the issue of innumerable varieties of postage stamps.

None of these stamps would carry a letter or postcard a mile in any country in the world, but they are highly sought after by stamp collectors, hence the government revenue. One specimen alone is now quoted at five dollars apiece by London stamp collectors.

An American business man traveling the Baltic nations must suffer endless inconveniences from customs and passport officials at every frontier. Not so with the "diplomats."

Equipped with papers from the Lithuanian, Latvian, Estonian, or White Russian government, they pass customs officials without any questions, and it is generally understood that much of the smuggling along the Baltic goes on in this manner.

THE AUDIT WILL TELL.

Two factions in Eastland county are apparently seeking the same end and that is to clear the road muddle and let road work continue. One side, however, goes farther and demands that County Judge Starnes resign and that the contract with Fleming and Stitzer be abandoned. The other side counsels a policy of waiting until an investigation shows cause, if any, why the county officials should be removed and an attempt be made to cancel the existing contract.

It appears to the Times that the latter side of the question has much the better grounds, because a committee of eight has been appointed to work in conjunction with the commissioners' court, which is headed by Starnes and it will appoint a fiscal agent of known ability and honesty to supervise future expenditures of the county. When this is done future expenditures will be safeguarded.

With the future cared for, if wrong doing has been done in the past it can be cared for after it has been proven a certainty wrongdoing has been done. A charge of malfeasance in office would lie six months from now the same as it would now, and it would not cause the road situation to become more muddled.

Both factions, if they might be called that, will conduct an audit, and it is certain almost that any irregularities, if such exists, will be irregular.

AFTER THE FIRE BUG.

That the city commission is viewing with alarm the continued fires in Ranger is evidenced by its action of yesterday in offering a reward of $1000 for the conviction of any one under a charge of burning or attempting to burn a building, destroying or attempting to destroy a building through the use of explosives.

The action of the commission is protective and is to be commended. When a fire bug or a dynamite vandal knows $1000 goes off his head the moment he commits the act, it is believed the thought will have a restraining influence. The thought of collecting such an amount is calculated to spur peace officers and others to greater efforts to arrest and convict such a person.

State regulation of beauty shops is proposed. But what mere man, as beauty censor, would dare say that any woman applicant was not beautiful enough? And the women would hardly tolerate a woman censor.—Chicago News.

Parisian tailors are sending out elaborate catalogues containing designs for clothing for dogs. The dogs won't appreciate it this weather.—Providence Journal.

Captain Kidd, could he know what is now going on, might regret that he did not live in prohibition days.—Boston Transcript.

TAXATION REMEDY.

It is difficult to believe that there is any hesitation between reducing expenditures and increasing taxation. The people are taxed already to the limit of their paying capacity. Business is dull not because the people are unable to buy goods at their cost of production, plus a reasonable profit, but because they have not the money for goods increased in price by abnormally heavy taxation.

Never before have the people of the United States been taxed as heavily as now.

We are taxed on everything, from the cradle to the coffin, and every tax does something to increase the cost of production.

The amount of money diverted into the national treasury for questionable expenditures constitutes a serious drain upon the national capital that should be available for business expansion.

We are complaining of hard times, but do not seem to realize that the hard times are due mainly to high taxation.

The politician, who, in most cases, is a politician because he has little aptitude for business, thinks that the more the government gets in revenue the better, and that big business could not pay big taxes unless it was doing big business. He fails to see that there is such a thing as killing the goose that lays the golden eggs, and that is precisely what high taxation is doing.

Reduce the burdens on the shoulders of commerce and commerce will increase so rapidly that even with a lesser rate the total of government revenue will be greater.

Better to sacrifice a few thousand jobholders than have millions of producers out of work. It is the favored wealth-consuming official that is keeping the producer out of employment. The money that is paid in taxes for supporting superfluous officials could be used as capital for developing new enterprises.

Capital will not embark on new enterprises when the only prospect is more taxes.

It is a business proposition to reduce governmental expenditures in times of depression. To maintain those expenditures and increase the taxes to make good the losses on declining revenue is to intensify an evil by intensifying its cause.—San Francisco Bulletin.

JAPAN'S ATTITUDE.

Though Japan's acceptance of the invitation to attend the disarmament conference is conditional, there is little doubt that her representatives will be present. Japan cannot afford to stay out. Apart from the disadvantage of absenting herself from a discussion of matters in which she is vitally interested there is another point to be considered, namely, the impression such a decision would create in the minds of other nations. Inevitably Japan would be suspected of cherishing questionable designs.

Conscious of our intentions, and friendliness of our intentions, the United States was never apprehensive as to the judgment of other peoples on our refusal to join the League of Nations. It is possible, though, that that action occasioned suspicion. Whether it did or not, it is clear that, if we had gone in, the disarmament movement, instead of still being in the future, would very likely have been a settled policy, with the result that hundreds of millions of naval appropriations would have been avoided and hoped-for reductions in taxes would now be "accomplished facts."

The Japanese are sensible folk. With out example as a warning they will not indulge the expensive blunder of staying out.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A DOUBLE CENTURY PADDLE AMONG ATTRACTIVE "THINGS TO DO" IN CANADA'S SWITZERLAND

New joy trips are added each year to Canada's roster of woods and water trails. The eastern provinces are tramped and paddled over by a great army of out-of-doors devotees each summer, but the general conception of Canada's mountain wonderland is that of magnificent scenery, great peaks to be climbed and vast ice fields and glaciers to be explored. These lights are all there in abundance, but this mountain country holds, too, many delightful trails. Riding and hiking are fairly well known, but the use of the canoe there is something of an innovation, at least in so far as visitors are concerned.

The opening of Camp Windermere in 1920, made a lovely new district accessible to mountain visitors and now guides are ready to pilot canoe parties over an interesting route. The start is made from Leachcoil where the transcontinental main line makes a deep bend southward between the Otter-tail and Beaverfoot ranges, and the first lap is down the Beaverfoot River, thence into the Kootenay, and down that beautiful stream to its confluence with the Columbia River at Canal Flat. There the prows are turned northward to float 102½ miles down the Columbia to Golden.

Lake Windermere is really a widening of Columbia River and here a stop may profitably be made at Camp Windermere which is located in a region rich in scenic beauty and interest. Individual cabins, a jolly club house, bathing in delightfully warm water, golf and excursions to canyons and glaciers are among the camp's attractions.

This trip is one that appeals to real sportsmen as there is some rough water to be negotiated. This can be safely done with a big canoe by capable boatmen. Big game, fishing and fine scenery are plentiful along the entire distance.

RUSSIAN COWGIRL MAKES REDS SING SOFT AND LOW NEAR HER

Ukrainian Joan of Arc is Sister of the Robin Hood of Those Parts and Holds Her Role by Sheer Personality.

RIGA, Aug. 10.—Down on the Lower Dnieper, the country where Mezeppa once held forth, there is a sort of Ukrainian Joan of Arc. Her name is Marusha, she is sister of Machno, the Robin Hood of those parts. She has an army of her own. She has a faithful staff of 800 around her, and Bolshevik commissaries sing soft and low when they approach the edge of the great forest to the south of Kieff in which Marusha has pitched her tent.

Marusha is what Cossacks call a gainza, which corresponds in a Russian way to "cowgirl," in the American west. She is one of those slender Cossack women, with the fire and recklessness of the Slav, and the hard realism of the Tartar. She knows she is good looking and that three-fourths of her power lies in her beauty. She loves to play with a toy balloon. She holds the string carelessly, but she holds it. Her eight hundred go about the country fiercely, each with his separate devotion to Marusha.

This word picture of Marusha was not easy to get. It had to be dragged out of Col. Nicholas Cozakevitch, who knows people who know Marusha.

Brother Is Leader.
 Her history begins with Machno, her brother. Machno is one of the Cossacks who settled down to farming in the big bend of the Dnieper below Ekaterinoslav. His idea was that revolution was to make people free, not to saddle them with a tyrannical idea called Bolshevism. At the same time he saw too much of the old czarism in the ideas of Denikine and Wrangel to join them. He found his fellow farming Cossacks felt the same way about it, so he became their leader in resisting all comers.

The Taurida is enormous, fame cannot travel wide, and when Marusha was separated from Machno she soon found it was her name that conjured in the villages. In time she rode further and further west, until she got to the country where Machno had never heard of.

The Said Marusha Is Vain.
 Marusha is conceited and capricious, but kind to the peasants, who resist the intrusion of Bolshevik commissaries under her direction. Vain and capricious she is, it goes without saying. That is in the character of the gainza, and she is always the actress. He told how she sulks and tyrannizes her followers, how she rides theatrically through the villages.

Cozakevitch had no enthusiasm for Marusha. She and Machno had created customs of warfare that were distressing to a bunch of fugitive Cossacks bound west.

"You see," said Cozakevitch, "they made our journey complicated. First

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Designating gowns with names as bizarre as those given racehorses is the latest trade device of fashionable New York dressmakers.

This was revealed when a large firm brought suit for $11,306 against a wealthy man for raiment purchased by his wife but alleged to be still unpaid for.

"Lady Fair," "I'll Say She Does," and "Patches" were the way three gowns were itemized. A snappy little dress went down on the list as "County Mouse," while two street suits were charged up as "Bobby" and "Reggie."

By way of paradox, an evening gown was christened "Morning Glory."

SENATE PASSES REDISTRICTING BILL FINALLY

The 24th senatorial district as provided in the redistricting bill passed in the senate is composed of Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Haskell, Shackelford, Stephens, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor, Nolan, Mitchell and Throckmorton counties.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 10.—The Senate took up and passed finally Tuesday the senatorial redistricting bill, but with an amendment that, in the opinion of Senator Bledsoe of Lubbock, chief sponsor for the bill, throws its constitutionality in doubt.

This amendment, which was adopted by Senator Wood of Williamson county, provides that the act shall not go into effect until April 1, 1924.

The Attorney General has specifically ruled that an amendment of this kind will not make the bill unconstitutional, but Senator Bledsoe disagrees with this ruling of the Attorney General.

After the passage of the Wood amendment, Mr. Bledsoe offered another amendment, which was adopted, providing that the constitutionality of the Wood amendment, if it is so declared, shall not affect the bill as a whole.

BRECKENRIDGE, Aug. 10.—The first intimation of the possible existence of a Ku Klux Klan in the Breckenridge oil fields was given when the Breckenridge Morning Democrat, the Daily American and Sheriff Lon D. To one of the papers the communication read: "The Ku Klux Klan has organized in Breckenridge. All unlawful dealers beware." The paper used was small ruled tablet paper and was written with a pencil.

How They Voted.
 The vote on the final passage of the bill was not indicative on the line-up at all. On final passage only two Senators, Doyle and Fairchild, voted no. The real test of strength came on the adoption of the Wood amendment.

The line-up was as follows:
 Ayes: Darwin, Dorrough, Doyle, Fairchild, Floyd, Hall, Lewis, Parr, Richards, Rogers, Suiter, Watts, Wood and Woods. Noes: Bailey, Baugh, Bledsoe, Buchanan, Burkett, Clark, Davidson, Dudley, Hertzberg, McMillin, Murphy, Page, Williams. Total, 15 ayes, 13 noes. Senator Willis of Dallas was paired with Senator Cousins of Jefferson, Willis voting no and Cousins aye.

During the closing minutes of the debate, Senator Dorrough, by amendment, tried to cut off the emergency clause of the bill. This would have prevented its final passage today. However, this amendment was lost.

The bill finally passed was the committee substitute for the House bill by Hill of Wheeler. Before passage, it was amended in several particulars, some counties being shifted from one district to another.

TEXAS WOMAN THOUGHT SHE'D NEVER RECOVER

"It is the most wonderful thing I ever saw the way Tanlac took hold of my troubles and restored me to health," said Mrs. Addie Bryan, 2113 Crockett St., Houston, Texas.

"I had suffered agony for fifteen long years and was told that an operation was the only thing that would save me, and none of my people thought I would ever get up again. This is the very condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac. I suffered all the time, with indigestion and my appetite left me entirely, for there was nothing I could eat that wouldn't torture my stomach and bring on an awful spell. I just dreaded to see bedtime come, for it only meant another night of restless misery to me and I grew thinner and weaker every day. The last spell I had kept me in bed for two whole weeks, and that was when they said I would have to be operated on, for there was no hope for me. I was in despair myself, for everything else had been done for me and every medicine that we had found had failed to help me.

"I tried my first bottle of Tanlac as an experiment and it improved me so much I kept on taking it. My appetite has come back and my digestion is perfect. I sleep like a child every night, my rest strengthens me and I have already gained eighteen pounds in weight. All my nervousness has disappeared and I'm happy to think what Tanlac has done for me. It certainly is the best medicine ever made."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros. and in Eastland by the Palace Drug Store.—Adv.

SHUT-OUT GAMES IN MAJORS LARGELY THING OF THE PAST

Red Faber is One of Leading Goose Egg Distributors, With Three.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Shutouts are so rare this season that an old-time pitcher, who lost most of his reputation when the box was moved to where it now is, suggests that in this year of high scores and alleged lively balls a game in which a team gets only one run be considered in the nature of a Chicago triumph for the boxman who releases it.

Even if this was done the hurlers would not have to their credit a large flock of runless or near runless games and the kalmisning records of Grover Cleveland Alexander and Jack Coombs would be perfectly safe.

Urban Charles Faber of the White Sox might, if a near runless game of 1921 were figured as the same as a runless game of previous years, equal or surpass the master effort of either Aleck or Jack, and then again he might not.

He seems to be about the only pitcher on the major league horizon who, at the end of the year, will have to his credit a goodly number of no-run and one-run games. In the first thirteen weeks of the season Red blanked his opponents three times and came near blanking them on eight occasions.

Faber, at the close of business July 12, was tied with Sam Jones, for the honor of being the champion goose egg distributor of 1921 on the fast time circuits and he did have the honor of being the champion near goose-egg distributor of the majors, with Carl Mays of the Yanks, Fred Toney of the Giants and Rube Marquard of Cincinnati closely pursuing him for the last named distinction.

The number of runless and near runless games in the major leagues in the first thirteen weeks of the battling for the gonfalons was about the same in each organization. Of the two kinds the American had 85 and the National 80.

There were twenty-seven games in the senior organization in which a team couldn't push a runner round the circuit, twenty-four in the junior organization. Of games in which one run was one team's limit, fifty-three were reeled off John Heydler's circuit, sixty-one on Ban Johnson's.

Few fans are to be found who will claim that the best pitchers in the country at the present time are those working for John J. McGraw, yet the Little Napoleon's gunners have come through with more shutouts and rear shutouts than any other staff.

Arthur Nehf & Co. have seventeen feats to their credit, to limit a team to one run in a game this year being a sure enough feat should one ask any pitcher about the matter?

The Yankee hurlers, in their league, are setting the pace just at present in putting out run-tight or near run-tight battles, with the Chicago Sox hurlers right after them and the Philadelphia and Cleveland pitchers right on the heels of Faber & Co.

A YEAR AGO TODAY

Bill Doak failed to cover first base in a game between St. Louis and Philadelphia and deprived himself of a no-hit game. Williams got the hit.

Sisler, of the Browns, made his third homer in successive games. Boeckel and Ford doubled in the eleventh inning and the Braves beat the Reds.

SPORT SUCCESS DECLARED DUE TO PROHIBITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Running true to form is one of the most over-worked phrases in sporting terminology, and when a performer in the field of athletics fails to follow its precepts there is great hue and cry among the so-called fraternity.

But for the last three years sport itself has upset precedent and failed to run true to form. In a time when the whole world has been rocked with petty quarrels and the readjustment after the great war, when business and social life have been chaotic, sports of all sorts have forged ahead by leaps and bounds.

The gain made by golf, baseball, tennis, football and the whole list of out-of-doors pastimes has been more than normal growth—it has been almost phenomenal.

The remarkable gain in the number of participants in sports of all sorts is reflected not only in the trend of conversation among men and women in all walks of life, and in the increase in the number of healthy sun-browned skins seen, but in the business of the shops which specialize in sporting goods.

Orders Heavy.

Firms which cater exclusively to lovers of out-of-doors pastimes say they cannot keep up with orders. Bathing suits, golf clubs, tennis rackets, canoes, baseballs—all are disposed of faster than ever before, and the sales continue to increase in volume.

The strange phenomenon of one business showing marked increase while so many others experienced depression at first cause wonder and later investigation.

Careful questioning of hundreds has resulted in an overwhelming majority offering a like explanation. It is prohibition. With the closing of the bars where so many leisure hours were spent the older men took up golf and kindred sports while the younger went in for baseball and other of the more strenuous pastimes.

True, there are many who attribute gains to the reaction from the war; to the fact that athletics were compulsory in both army and navy, and scores of causes, but they are greatly in the minority.

"Other business is in a depressed

BEAT THE BALL BY A NOSE

JAMIESON SAFE AT THIRD

This thrilling action picture shows Jamieson, Cleveland outfielder, safe at third base on a hairline decision. Baker, Yank third baseman, is shown making a valiant attempt to beat Jamieson to the bag. The picture was made at the Polo grounds during the first game of the all-important series with the Cleveland champions, the outcome of which will probably decide which team will win the pennant.

SAME KINDA UMP!S!

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Amos Rusie, star pitcher for the New York Giants twenty-five years ago, has come back.

Not as a ball player, but as assistant superintendent of the Polo Grounds, Rusie put in his appearance Friday and saw his first league game in twenty years.

"Yes, things have changed considerably since then," Rusie admitted. "In the old days the Polo Grounds stands were wooden affairs, not nearly so large as the steel ones now. The 'L' trains were drawn by steam engines then and there wasn't any subway. Instead of taxicabs, the sports used hansom cabs. But—it's the same old game."

state," said the manager of one of the most widely known sporting goods houses here today. "But people are spending more than ever for amusements—principally sports. Tennis is the biggest gainer, with golf a very close second. Baseball, particularly amateur, had a very good year last season, but its increase does not compare with that in tennis and golf."

The increase had not been confined to men, he said, but was equally noticeable among women.

"We do a large business with colleges for women," he declared, "and their buying has increased notably. People are waking up to the fact that athletics add years to their lives," he continued. "Many people are also buying home apparatus for indoor exercises, showing that they realize the importance of keeping in good trim."

Few of those questioned were of the opinion that the gain in interest in sports was due to diversion of money heretofore spent for drinks to athletic accessories. The greater number of them, both men and women, agreed that prohibition, by closing so many saloons, had made necessary the substitution of some other form of recreation, and that sports were filling the want.

SENATORS ARE STUMBLERS OF SPEAKER'S MEN

BY HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Put about a half dozen new Washington clubs in the American league and the New York Yanks would have to win a pennant.

The bumping that the Cleveland Indians got in the national capital last week forced the erratic Huggins clan into first place and furnished the only feature of the major leagues.

Today Ruth & Co. have the White Sox on hand and with Cleveland sitting at Connie Mack's table, the situation doesn't offer the Yanks much solace.

Back on the old home grounds, after wobbling on the tail of their eastern jaunt, the Pittsburgh Pirates are again creeping away from the Giants and making it look like the pennant is "in" in the National league.

The Pirates won four out of their five games last week, while the Giants dropped two out of eight. The Braves split even in six starts and the Robbings and the Cards speeded up a little and nabbed five out of seven. The Reds split even in eight games while the Cubs won only two

BALLY BRITISH GETTING JOLLY WELL TOASTED

Shirt Sleeves or Light Clothing Duceedly Bad Form, You Know.

By DAVID L. BLUMFIELD, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—"By Jove, it's hot." That is what they are saying in London now. They think it's hot. It isn't really. Over here we should say, "What a glorious day," and revel in the cool breeze.

But in London, "it's a jolly hot day, by George." Of course to Londoners, what we call a cool day seems like a furnace. They never get what we are having now. Still that does not prevent thousands of perfectly good Englishmen mopping their perfectly dry brows and groaning on omnibus tops and in tube trains against the "awful" heat.

There are no such things as Palm Beach suits in England. People wear slightly thinner clothes in summer—that's all. Why, if a man were to stroll past the Ritz hotel in a white Palm Beach, or walk up Broad street at noon in a mohair suit he would have a procession in his wake in less than no time. "Good Lord," people would say; "just look at that fellow. Must be mad—what?" And they would go home and tell their wives about it.

In the evenings the people sit out in the parks. No, they do NOT take off their coats. They tilt their hats just a wee bit to the backs of their heads, and their top vest buttons, and think they are being delightfully darning.

Until I came to America I had never seen a man ride in a railway train without his coat.

If a few well known men set the example of taking off their coats in English trains, everybody would do it. As it is, such things are "not done." Probably the only offices in London today where people work in their shirt sleeves are the newspaper offices. There they do it, winter and summer alike.

No British journalist is any good unless he works in his shirt-sleeves. That's a tradition dating back some thirty odd years. I fancy Mark Twain taught it to them.

Just now it's about 4 o'clock in London, and mothers and daughters and best girls and their best boys will all be making for Selfridge's store on Oxford street to get an "American ice cream soda."

Selfridge's is the only place in London where they can make a real sundae, and going to Selfridge's in the "heat wave" is an event—things date back from the last visit to that emporium.

"Let me see," mother will say, "when did Jack come home?" Oh, yes, of course, the fifteenth. Just the day after that ice cream we had at Selfridge's.

out of seven games and the Phils two out of six. The Yanks went into first place by winning three out of five games, while the Indians hit a bad slump and landed one out of six starts. Washington played the most consistent baseball in the circuit by winning six out of their seven games. Detroit dropped two out of six. The Browns and the Red Sox won four out of seven and the White Sox and Athletics dropped three out of five.

Prior to 1910 the pink boll worm, so destructive to the cotton fields, was unknown in Egypt.

The photograph shows the much-talked-about woman, who it is said, made her fortune out of well-conducted summer boarding establishments, wearing her furs, which, it is said, no living queen could afford to buy today.

Possibility of Losing $200,000 of State and Federal Aid Stressed.

In a communication addressed to the people of Eastland county, the commissioners' court lauds the "splendid impulses and public spiritedness" that prompted the getting together of the committee which formed at the road meeting in Eastland last Saturday.

The court expresses its willingness to work in conjunction with this committee in pushing the road work, arranging for the services of a fiscal agent to supervise future expenditures and making an audit of the county books in order to determine if any county official or employee has misappropriated the funds of the county. The court also pledges its assistance in the prosecution of any whom the audit shows to be guilty of wrongdoing.

TEXT OF STATEMENT.

The commissioners' court is fully alive to the serious conditions now existing in our county, and they are not unmindful of the splendid impulses and public spiritedness that prompted the getting together of the committee of which the Honorable H. S. Cole is chairman. In addition to all the losses and hurts that we have been facing, we wish to respectfully call your attention to the appropriation of $200,000 of state and federal aid we may lose and will lose if any unreasonable delay is occasioned. In this connection we hand you a letter from the state highway engineer, dated last Saturday:

"We have read the resolutions of your meeting with care and in the light of events that have gone before and the things that were said and compromises affected at your Saturday's meeting we realize that the vast majority of this committee approached this question with bleeding for hundreds of hungry women and children, who through no fault of theirs must suffer and who must look to the sound sense and patriotism of all concerned, to live."

The commissioners' court feels that they and each of them have done everything within their power to avert this calamity and that they could not in good faith and fair dealing, fail to listen to the suggestions of the people of Eastland county as made by your committee.

The commissioners' court welcomes and will pay for the reasonable services of a "certified public accountant" to make such investigations as he or your committee may desire, and will place at his disposal all employees of Eastland county. And the commissioners' court will lend every assistance in the prosecution of any and all wrong doers this report shall show, from the county judge down to the humblest employe. Advice Welcomed.

In these terrible times when losses, poverty and jealousy make men suspicious even of their own brothers, the commissioners' court feels that its members would not be good officers or good citizens if they should not be willing to embrace the aid and judgment of a committee from throughout the county. The commissioners' court is certain that you are fully aware that harmony and good feeling between this committee and the various members of the commissioners' court will aid and facilitate the transaction of business and that discord will hamper and delay; and the court is therefore sure that in the selection of the members of this committee men will not be placed thereon who are known to be antagonistic to the court or the members thereof, and who are not in sympathy with going forward. Certainly good men will be found who will co-operate. Any committee selected to help and not to hinder—and we are certain you gentlemen would select no other—will be acceptable to the commissioners' court.

The commissioners court seriously doubts the legality of the payment from public funds of a fiscal agent, but the commissioners' court assures you gentlemen and the people of Eastland county that it will approach this and the other details and questions that arise, using their every effort to save Eastland county from this the greatest calamity that has ever befallen her, and will, with the committee, try to find out how things can be done, and not urge reasons why they cannot be done. The commissioners' court does not see how it can say or do further until you have some suggestions of the attitude of the so-called citizens' committee.

In final, the commissioners' court wishes to say that we are certain this committee and the people of Eastland county realize that the court cannot lawfully delegate any authority or duty by law granted or imposed upon them to any one, but they will go as far as they legally can do, by listening to the committee selected by you and acting upon their advice.

The commissioners' court is willing to work with you gentlemen, and they are sure that when men work together all things can be accomplished.

We await with interest the attitude of the so-called citizens' committee and the action of yourselves, and are anxious that we may all begin to build up, remembering that it takes real men and patriots to build up.

(signed) C. E. STARNES, County Judge.
E. H. Webb, J. W. Camp, M. G. Robertson, H. S. Stubblefield, commissioners.
