

Beer and Wine Are Asked for by State GOP.

SAN ANTONIO, May 26.—Two Republican state conventions were held here when a number of negro delegates accompanied by several white delegates withdrew from the regular convention.

Through the usual methods each convention elected its officers. J. J. Dickerson of Paris was temporary chairman and Sam L. Gross of Dallas temporary secretary of the regular, and F. Marion Wright of Fort Worth temporary chairman and Prof. W. M. Anderson of Smithville, the latter a negro, temporary secretary of the black and tans.

At first the police stationed at all entrances would not admit delegates with cards, and most of the negroes were kept out, but just before the convention started they were admitted.

After McDonald had read his minority report and before the convention could vote on motions in behalf of the majority and minority reports, a chunky black negro sitting on the first tier of seats jumped to his feet and put the question on the adoption of the minority report.

Turks Rally to Aid Mustapha Rebel Dictator

International News Service. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30 (By Mail).—While keeping an eye anxiously on San Remo, Damad Ferid Pasha's professedly anti-Nationalist government is showing fresh energy in arresting and promoting the sternest repressive measures to stamp out the movement led by Mustapha Kemal.

They have not, however, prevented the flight of more than two hundred officers of all ranks from Constantinople to Anatolia, including General Freid Pasha, who was recently a high official of the war office.

There has been a regular procession of military and civil volunteers for Mustapha's forces passing the Bosphorus and taking up the Anatolian trail in ox carts.

Mustapha's forces north of Smyrna are trying to sweep westward toward the country occupied by Anzavur's peasant volunteers. They have already captured Gunan. Their progress is marked by the sharpest reprisals against the local authorities who assisted the rising against the Anzavur forces.

The grand vizier promises that a summary court-martial shall be organized within three days to try the arrested Nationalists, and will inflict severe punishment in order to "remove the bad impression created in Europe" by the ineffectiveness of the present measures.

(Note—Mustapha Kemal, Al Fud Pasha, Alfred Rusten Bey, Dr. Adnan Bey, and several others, were recently condemned to death by an extraordinary court-martial. Mustapha and his aides failed to appear before the court, and were found guilty of default on charges that the agitation of default on charges caused the Allies to impose severe peace terms on Turkey.

HIGH SCHOOL ASKS HIGHER RATING IN TEXAS UNIVERSITY

The Ranger High school will probably be accredited with the State university on fourteen units this year.

A state inspector visited the school during the winter and graded it on the basis of actual performance, and final examination papers will be forwarded to the state soon.

P. E. McDonald, superintendent of schools, said this morning that he is confident affiliation will be granted on the fourteen units this year.

Fourteen units affiliation will mean a great deal to the local high school. It will mean that graduates from the Ranger school this year will be admitted to the freshman class of the state university on but two conditions.

The only way that Mrs. Charles can account for the gold dust was that it was contained in a gravel pile in her chicken yard.

Germany Asked to Have House As Ambassador

BERLIN, May 26.—E. M. House of Texas, was recommended to the German foreign office by von Bernstorff, German ambassador in Washington when the former made his second trip to Europe early in 1916 as Wilson's personal representative.

These letters were published here with other documents presented before the committee investigating Wilson's peace proposals during the war.

Bernstorff wrote: "The mission of Colonel House appears to me to be desirable, especially as the United States is so poorly represented in Berlin. Colonel House is wholly neutral and very discreet and deserving. His confidences should contribute much to the betterment of mutual relations."

A letter from von der Lancken, German Belgian governor who was then in charge of the American division of the foreign office, reported a conversation in which he said Brand Whitlock, American Belgian minister, in January, 1916, said President Wilson had assured him in a confidential talk that he was "no sworn foe of Germany."

Whitlock is quoted as having told von der Lancken that he was offering $500,000 in the United States to retire from the Brussels post and devote himself to lecturing in behalf of German rule in Belgium.

COMPLAIN BRIBES ARE USED TO GET SUPPLIES THROUGH

AUSTIN, May 26.—Denouncing the practice that has arisen in certain congested districts of the oil field of giving bribes to railroad employees in order to expedite freight shipments, the Texas Railroad commission in its twenty-eighth annual report just issued recommended that legislation be enacted immediately making the giving or taking of a bribe for such a purpose a criminal offense.

The commission also recommended the passage of a law to prevent railroads from establishing embargoes against certain points or railroads without first applying to the commission and securing its approval.

During the year the report showed the commission has handled approximately a thousand complaints ranging from requests for aid in tracing small packages to interpretation of complex rate matters.

THREE WOMEN WILL ATTEND DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IN JUNE, NAMED AT STATE MEETING

DALLAS, May 26.—Thirty-six delegates with one vote each, including three women, and sixteen delegates at large, with one-fourth vote each, including four women, were elected by the Democratic convention.

The convention endorsed the Wilson and Hobby administrations, the "unimpaired league of nations" and declared against light wines and beers. In a speech Dwight Lewelling announced that he withdraws from the governor's race in favor of Pat Neff of Waco.

The convention adopted a resolution highly commending McAdoo as a presidential possibility. It condemned the senate failure to ratify the peace treaty as submitted by the President.

Women delegates were conspicuous. A convention leader said they acted like old-time politicians.

A resolution adopted recommended that the legislature enact a law to permit women to vote in the coming primaries, whether they have paid poll taxes or not, if the thirty-sixth state ratifies the suffrage amendment, or the enactment of a statute to reopen the polls before the primaries so women can pay poll taxes was urged.

The convention adopted another resolution favoring a state tribunal which hereafter shall investigate and report to each succeeding legislature contributions and disbursements in all state campaigns.

Other resolutions adopted were: Condemning hoarding and speculation in foodstuffs; approving the right of collective bargaining; demanding frugal expenditure of government money; condemning the Republican congress for lack of economy and for not revising the tax laws; commending the Texas legislature for ratifying woman's suffrage, asking the Louisiana legislature to ratify woman suffrage (the Bailey meeting in Dallas recently wired the Louisiana legislature a request not to ratify the amendment); in favor of aid for crippled soldiers; and for assistance in opportunity to secure homes for abandoned former soldiers; favoring adequate appropriations for waterways and harbors; urging increased appropriations to aid counties and districts in building permanent highways; telegraphing the United States attorney general asking to investigate the Red river boundary situation under federal receivership and protect Texas interests.

This last was adopted after a question of its propriety had been raised by Railroad Commissioner Clarence Gilmore and after J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls replied that no impropriety was involved and that Texas interests would probably be greatly benefited.

The following delegates at large were elected on the first ballot, received the vote indicated:

Cone Johnson, Negro, Tyler, 1,223; Governor W. P. Hobby of Austin, 1,212; Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas, 1,187; M. M. Crane of Dallas, 1,169; Marshall Hicks of San Antonio, 1,156; T. M. Campbell of Palestine, 1,140; Thomas H. Ball of Houston, 1,066; Clyde A. Sacketon of Greenville, 1,044; Hugh Nigren, Fitzgerald of Fort Worth, 839; J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, 819; Barry Miller of Dallas, 801; I. W. Stephens of Fort Worth, 708; Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham of Galveston, 1,147; Miss Margie E. Neal of Carthage, 1,078; Mrs. W. E. Spill of Waco, 1,035; and Jessie Daniel Ames of Georgetown, 664.

The total vote cast was 1,247 out of a possible 1,409. Counties not reporting had a voting strength of 162 votes.

Many other concerns are reaching out into the new territory surrounding Ranger.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Declaring a "steam roller" is being used on him, Secretary Daniels told the senate naval investigation committee he would appeal to a full committee if Chairman Hale insisted upon putting into the record "unfair and unfounded" statements as to the condition of the American warships when the war began.

Before the secretary's announcement was made Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, warned Chairman Hale he would protest on the senate floor against the character of questions the chairman is asking Daniels.

LONE STAR

Wallace Reid Jazz Artist in Comedy "The Dancin' Fool."

When Wallace Reid, the screen star, was yet a little lad, as the poets say, his parents decided that he had in him the soul of a musical genius. So they turned him over to a teacher of the pianoforte and had the professor do his worst with the boy. After three lessons, it was discovered that young Wallace was practicing ten minutes, shoving the clock ahead fifty, then reporting to his mother that his daily attack on the ivories was over and departing for the baseball field. One day Father Reid stayed home from toil. He discovered Wallie's subterfuge, and the music lessons were abruptly terminated.

Today Wallace Reid can't play music the way it is written. But oh, boy! he can certainly jazz it off by ear, as anybody in the Lasky studio who has ever heard him operating on his saxophone can testify. Wallace Reid is the champion saxophonist of the West Coast. He has a jazz band all his own, which has played at several affairs in Los Angeles and vicinity. The band appears in the newest Reid comedy, "The Dancin' Fool," which will be on view at the Lone Star theatre on Friday next.

Jazz is Wallie's middle name. His feet are even full of it. He proves it in this new picture, which casts him as rube who comes to New York to make his fortune in the jug business and startles Broadway as a cabaret dancer. Bebe Daniels is the leading woman and Wallie's dancing partner. The story was originally a magazine serial.

LIBERTY.

Mary Miles Minter, Realartist, As Jenny. Gives Excellent Performance.

"Jenny Be Good," the principal feature photodrama at Liberty theater today deserves to be classed with the best screen subjects of the year. It is not always possible to blend a series of life's complexities, contrasting the views of the rich with the virtues of the poor, the social climber with the upper set, legal justice and moral wickedness, without giving offense or at least leaving an unpleasant impression.

The melodramatic scene of the automobile and its occupants plunging over the cliff, 1,000 feet to the beach, is spectacular, but is so seemingly fitting and in the natural sequence of the incidents in the story that it is robbed of the 10-20-30 "thunder" of days gone by.

Miss Minter as Jenny deserves much praise. Her pictures in the past year show how the art of this young actress is maturing. The supporting cast gives a creditable account of itself. William Desmond Taylor's directorial touches embellish the story and give it much charm. The photography is exceptionally pleasing.

LAMB.

Keep Man Guessing, Says Old Mammy. "Old Mammy" is one of the quaint characters in "The Inferior Sex," a picture starring Mildred Harris Chaplin and released by First National, which will be shown at the Lamb theatre today.

The old negress had been off married, and as she expressed it, "Four ob dem having promised to lub and obey me." As the cook in the home of the young married couple, she gives some wholesome advice to the wife, who spends all her time trying to please an indifferent husband.

"Keen him guessin'," said Old Mammy. "De onliest way to get along with men is to keep 'em happy. An de onliest way to make 'em happy is to make 'em unhappy. Keep 'em guessin' and dey will be onhappy and den dey'll lub so and be happy."

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT IS SHOWN TO BE SUCCESS

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, May 26.—Deaths from tuberculosis in this country, according to a statement by the Texas Public Health association, have been reduced from 200,000 to 150,000 through anti-tuberculosis work during the past fifteen years. In 1905, the statement added, the amount spent for this work in five states was $100,000 and during 1920 the National Tuberculosis association and its 1,000 affiliated organizations will spend more than $4,000,000, it is estimated.

Says Gas Company Must Soon Drill to Keep From Moving

The time is not far away when the gas company will have to drill for gas production themselves or go farther from Ranger to get a supply of gas, is the opinion of H. B. Houghton, president of the Sammie's Oil corporation of Texas, who was in the city on an inspection tour. The reason for this view, he said, has come about because of the practice of letting gas go to waste. Enough gas has been wasted, he said, to supply Ranger for a number of years.

However, Mr. Houghton stated that he and his company had great faith in the future of this city, demonstrated by the money invested here, and the company will supply gas regardless of the expense involved.

According to Houghton's statement, Ranger's gas system will rank with any in the country.

Freight shipments north and south continue to increase in volume and an extra freight train may be put on soon to care for extra business. Passenger traffic shows a gain also.

PECOS RANGE IS EXTENDED WHEN NEW CONCERN TAKES LOCATION ON SECTION 86

PECOS, May 26.—A further extension of the drilling field along the Pecos river east of Pecos is to result from the location made by the Pecos Valley Oil company on section 86, block 3, H. & G. N. Ry. survey, located thirty miles east of here. This location was made by F. P. Fuller, vice-president and general manager of the company, which has headquarters in Los Angeles, and by J. R. Nash of Pecos. Timbers are now being hauled to the ground where the camp will be constructed. Mr. Fuller plans to build the derrick and superintend the drilling. A standard rig will be used with a heavy gasoline engine.

This location is two miles south of the river, and it is in line with plans of development of the Dominion Oil company, which concern is to drill three wells on the north side of the river, as the first of an extensive drilling program.

The Texoil and Jack Wells companies drills have started to operate in the Bell pool area. The latter drill is in section 30, block 2, R. & G. N. Ry. survey and the former is in the river flats east of the Bell and east of the Abner Davis No. 1, which is now down 580 feet and proceeding rapidly.

Much interest attaches to the flat country east of the Bell. Four drills are operating there, and they expect to strike pay oil at a lesser depth than the Bell, due to the lower surface land. These wells are the Tex-Plains, Abner Davis, Harry Day and Texoil.

Jess Williams has taken the contract for the Hawkeye Texas Oil company in section 9, block 54, township 4, one-half mile south of the Citizens well. He will put a small spudding machine on the site to drill the first 200 feet, as the drill must be started by June 1 to hold the leases, and a larger rig will be placed on the site later.

The Bell-Reeves is following the under-reamer with 6.5-inch casing, due to several strata of water that were struck in the hole when the higher strata were shut off. This well is down over 700 feet and has had several favorable showings.

The Finley and Anderson well has just completed what is one of the quickest jobs of fishing on record. Dropping the bit in the hole, they lowered a cable with a loop, and the first try landed it over the bit and brought it to the top. This hole is down 630 feet.

A wait for supplies has delayed drilling in the Pecos-Reeves hole fifteen miles north of Pecos. This hole is down 186 feet. A short distance to the west the Bryan-Bozeman No. 1 is down 285 feet and drilling.

N. Dow Chapman of the internal revenue service has been in Pecos for several days advising with brokers in regard to their license requirements. The federal government does not require a license to sell leases, although they tax brokers who handle stocks and bonds. The state and county have an occupational tax on lease brokers.

The Gulf Refining company is reported to have purchased large acreage in the eastern part of Culbertson county in the vicinity of the Owens & Scoville, the Gosard and the Duquesne Co. interests.

Bourland Well in South Section Is Standing in Fluid

The Bourland well is reported this morning, at a depth of 3,200 feet, to be standing 3,000 feet of oil in the hole.

The well is about one mile south of Olden and is in new territory.

The nearest producing well is that of the Costen Oil & Gas company's Dawson's No. 1 on the Olden township. This well came several months ago for 1,200 barrels flush production. Later it settled down and lately has been making 100 barrels on the pump.

The Bourland well will be drilled in as soon as storage and pipe line facilities can be built.

REX COMPANY TO COMPLETE WELL BEFORE JUNE 15

Special to The Times. BRECKENRIDGE, May 26.—The Rex Oil & Gas company which is drilling on the tract west of the public school, the F. W. Brown lease, spudded in on April 7, and is now down 2,000 feet after a twenty-seven days run. They are now waiting for eight-inch casing and hope to leave the well completed by June 15. At a depth of 1,040 a gas flow was struck. This company will start another well on their ten-acre lease just east of the Dickie tract on which is located the Galvez well, a very good producer.

STOKER NO. 2

Special to The Times. BRECKENRIDGE, May 26.—The latest report of the pipe line runs of the famous Staked No. 2, by the Gulf Production Co., is 10,800 barrels daily.

EXPECT GALVEZ WELL

FELT FAGED, NO ACCOUNT

Result of Indigestion, Headache and Other Troubles.—This Tennessee Lady Took Black-Draught and Found Relief.

Flintville, Tenn.—Mrs. Addie Sanders, of this place, says: "I suffered from constipation a long time. This, of course, brought on sour stomach, indigestion and headaches. I felt fagged and no account.

"I started in taking Black-Draught. I found it was helping me. I continue to use it, and have for years. I don't know how to start to praise Theford's Black-Draught.

"Today I am regular, no more constipation, headaches or indigestion. In fact, all I eat tastes sweet and good to me. . . . since my liver is cleansed by the use of Black-Draught.

"I am well and proud to make this statement of what Black-Draught has done for me."

Constipation often leads to serious disorders among those who do not understand its dangers, or who neglect to treat it without delay.

Theford's Black-Draught is a medicine that every person should keep in the house, and use at the least sign of constipation, or torpid liver.

Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine is right.

OHIO STATE WILL SEND TRACK TEAM TO ANNUAL MEET

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 26.—Ohio State university will enter the Western Conference track and field championships at Ann Arbor, Mich., June 4 and 5, with one of the best balanced track teams in years. While a trike week in certain field events the Buckeyes more than make up their strength in the dashes and the distance runs.

In the century dash Ohio state has three men, Moorehead, Hane and Locke, each capable of negotiating the distance in 10 seconds flat. Louis Moorehead, formerly of Scott high, Toledo, is the individual star and the most reliable performer. He is also credited with 22 second flat in the 220-yard run and over six feet in the high jump.

In the distance runs two prominent men loom up as stiff contenders, Ferguson and Todd. Ferguson especially in the mile, is a dangerous man, having done the distance in 4 minutes and 30 seconds in one meet this season. He also runs the 880 along with Captain Steinhilber, who is always a man to be watched. The hurdles are taken care of by Hill and Pollman, both clearing the sticks around 16 and 26 seconds for the highs and lows respectively. Pittenger in the quarter mile makes it around 52 seconds.

Ohio State is weak in the pole vault and discus throw but has fairly good marks in the javelin throw and shotput. For the relay race, Ohio State has a fast aggregation of first string men.

Minnesota Plans Big Campaign at Track Conference

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 26.—The University of Minnesota will send the strongest track team in its history to the annual western conference track championships at Ann Arbor, Mich., June 4 and 5. In the field events, however, Minnesota is not a winning contender because of a lack of suitable material.

The Gophers appear strongest in the dashes and short distance events. Frank Kelly and Captain B. F. Johnson are the speediest men in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Kelly has been going under 23 seconds right along. Kelly finished second to Carl Johnson of Michigan in the 100-yard indoor event at Northwestern.

Arnold Oss, Frank McNally, and Richard Fischer will take care of the quarter and half-mile events for Minnesota. Oss ran the quarter at last year's outdoor meet in a trifle under 50 seconds, and is said to be going just as good this season. Fischer has a mark of 1:56 in the half mile.

William Hawker is expected to be a real competitor for pole vaulting honors. He is clearing the bar at better than 12 feet 6 inches right along in practice. He won the pole vault event at the indoor conference.

Easy Money Route Led to Li'l Home Behind the Bars

International News Service. ATLANTA, Ga., May 26.—Methods of quick and easy money-getting are related by Charles Y. Schaffer, held in Fulton county tower in default of $5,000 bail to answer federal charges of having sold partnerships in an alleged bogus portrait concern.

Schaffer was brought here from Garland, Texas. Indicted last fall by a federal grand jury in Atlanta, he was arrested in Charlevoix, Mich. On the way to Atlanta he escaped from the train at a desolate spot in the Tennessee mountains. Then he went to Garland, where his operations read like a story of a Wallingford.

It was an easy matter, he told federal agents here, to gain the confidence of leading citizens and to obtain, without local recommendations, the agency for a popular automobile. In one week he sold eleven cars. His "front," he explained naively, was imposing.

Schaffer, according to the narrative, became part of the community of the little Texas city. His first act in Garland was to subscribe $30 for the public schools. Then he made a liberal donation to the salary of the Methodist minister and obtained rooms for himself and his wife, who had joined him in Garland, at the home of the minister. He was looked upon as an unusually capable young business man and was received into the best homes. One of the bankers had lent him $2,000, and elsewhere he had obtained credit liberally.

On day Deputy Marshal Dave Smith walked past the garage owned by Schaffer, or R. O. Martin, as he was known in Garland. He thought he recognized him. He had in his pocket the circular sent out from Atlanta telling of Schaffer's escape and giving his picture. Mr. Smith was confident he had found the escaped man, and when he faced him with the charge that he was Schaffer, the latter confessed, and said he was glad he had been found, as he had been living in torture.

The organization of the Southern Portrait company in Atlanta last fall led to Schaffer's downfall. Downtown offices for the "company" were taken and Schaffer and his wife made their home in Druid Hills. They fabricated a set of books showing that the company was doing a large business, and showed a list of 6,400 orders. Schaffer then advertised for a partner, and induced W. A. Winn to go in with him. With several hundred dollars of Winn's money, Schaffer and his wife disappeared.

Nitros Not There Behind Fast Work of Frank Hudspeth

The Nitros have discovered another pitcher, and in a day that offered plenty of good pitching and plenty of the other sort of fielding, the fans found what little joy they got from the game in watching the work of Frank Hudspeth, late of John Tarleton college, Stephenville. The big lad pitched nine innings of real baseball—shutout variety and was backed by the kind of support that loses ball games.

Hudspeth Outpitches Harding. A glance at the score tells the story. Like Harding, whom he opposed and outpitched, he allowed but five hits. Three of these came after the Scouts should have been retired. He allowed six passes, which is four less free rides than Harding gave. He batted .353, with one two-bagger, and scored the only tally the Nitros made. The half hundred loyal Stephenvills fans who braved the rocky ride from the Erath county seat to see the boy work were rewarded, if it was pitching they came to see. If it was good baseball they wanted, well, it wasn't worth the trip.

The say story is told briefly. How It Was Done.

In the second, King rolled out to Vick, the Nitros' new first sacker, and Earnshaw whiffed. R. Johnson walked and stole. Browning's throw was good and Jim Price called Johnny out. But Jim pushed the ball away and the inning continued. Kolzenick singled and Johnson was safe at the plate, through a slow throw by Clopp, though the play was close. Johnson turned his ankle coming in and rolled ten feet. Brown putting the ball on him and claiming that he missed the rubber coming over. But Price held him made it, which was the way it looked. Harding walked and Flag singled to center, scoring Kolzenick, who had taken second when Johnson was scoring. Hudspeth, a little disheartened and nervous, cut loose a wide wild pitch and Harding counted.

Three runs were thus amassed, not a one of them earned. The bases were filled up again in the fourth. With two down, R. Johnson walked, Kolzenick fouled out to Tate. Harding singled to right and Lovelace made Johnson look foolish by throwing him out at second when he overran twenty feet. Flag walked and Tate drew Vick off with his throw on York's ground ball. But Hudspeth pulled out nicely by throwing out Wasserman on a feeble poke to the box.

In the seventh, York opened with a clean single past third. Wasserman bounced to Hudspeth, who threw high to Flash at second. Flash might have handled it, if he had gone up in the air, and there was plenty time to make a double play, which would have left the bases clean and given the rabbit an easy chance to throw out Griesenbeck at first.

Instead, York took third on the high throw, leaving none down and men on first and third. Griesenbeck rolled to short and Flash made the play to the plate, too late. York tallied. King hit into the box and Hudspeth nipped Wasserman going into third, for the first out. Earnshaw doubled and Griesenbeck scored. R. Johnson got a life on Browning's had throw and King came home. Three more runs, all more or less tainted. Errors by Galloway and Tate put men on in the first and fifth and walks were issued in the eighth and ninth, but Hudspeth was not disturbed by these. All in all, he pitched a better than winning game. He steps into the ranks of the Nitros' best and merits a whole lot better support in his next appearance.

Harding's Work Good. Harding, who flung in better luck for the Scouts, had the Nitros feeding from his hand and pulled out after the bases were filled, in the third, and with two

EASTLAND TOMORROW.

Jim Maloney's Eastland Judges, favorite opponents of the Nitros, come to Ranger for the opening series here tomorrow. If Adkins goes the route today, Red Hill will be ready for the opener against them. Honors are even, with the exception of the pre-season games, in which the Judges were uniformly successful. In the first series of the regular season, at Eastland, the clubs broke even, each winning one and the others being rained out.

Ranger Baseball Enthusiasts Meet to Form Stock Company, 10 a. m. Thurs.

Baseball workers will meet at 10 a. m. Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of organizing a stock company to take over the Ranger club, with capitalization at $10,000, of which $5,000 already has been paid in.

William Burke, Ralph Stockman, Rex Outlaw, Jack Gullahorn, L. L. Rector, R. M. Davenport and Dr. J. J. Reavis are among the men interested and the purpose of the meeting tomorrow morning is to organize committees to clean up the balance of subscriptions needed in a short campaign.

Stock will have a par value of $10, which will place 500 shares on the market.

Work on the grandstand roof and the completion of the bleachers has been arranged, and is in the hands of another committee. The work may start as early as tomorrow morning and it is sure, the workers say, that it will be completed by the time the team returns from the next road trip.

Funds for this work will not come from the capital of the new baseball company.

in the fourth and eighth, these Nitros failing when a pinch blow was needed: Lovelace, Galloway, Plaskamper, Vick and Tate. Harding pitched good baseball, of the brand which deserved to win, though, if earned runs counted, he would have lost, 1 to 0.

NITRO NOTES.

Vick put in his initial appearance at first base. He looked well in the field, but not at bat.

Harding, Scoutie flinger, has a deceptive cross fire. As Bo remarked, he works it from the center of the slab, underhand, and gets about halfway over to third base before cutting loose. When he controls it, it is hard to solve. When he doesn't, it goes very wide.

On Flagg's single in the second, on which Kolzenick scored, Moonney made a pretty throw to the plate. If there had been a chance to head off Kolzy, it would have done it.

Lovelace showed that wonder whip of his and used his dome in cutting down Johnson at second in the fourth, when he advanced on Harding's single and overran. Johnson was out. Loveloy to Flash and slushed all the way to the visitor's bench. Loveloy might not have been able to play Earnshaw's drive in the seventh, but he failed to judge it and get away to the ball in good shape. It went for a double and scoring York, in the Scouts' second scoring bee.

White, Carl Hill 2, Hallison; double play, Thornton to White unassisted; bases on balls, off Hill 1, off Baldrige 2, off Taylor 1; struck out, by Carl Hill 6, by Taylor 2; passed balls, Whitney 2; stolen base, Sturdy; umpire, Wakefield; time, 1:50.

JUDGES TAKE FOUR GAMES IN A ROW IN TIGHT SHUTOUT

Special to The Times. EASTLAND, May 25.—Eastland won again from Mineral Wells Tuesday 1 to 0, making it four straight victories for the Judges. Eastland's one and only run came in the seventh after Hahn had stolen second and third and Byers threw high to third trying to catch Hahn sliding in, the throw went through Young's hands and rolled to the left field fence, Hahn scoring.

Two snappy double plays, Gross to Standifer to Bratcher, one coming with one man out and the other with no one out and two men on bases, and a catch by Matthews featured the game.

Empire Dale was nearly put out of the game in the second when Roser hit a straight one to Dorrough that was too hot for him to handle and the ball hit the umpire on the arm, the game had to be called while he recovered.

Hit, pitching for Mineral Wells, pitched shut-out ball, and had it not been for the error by Byers the game would have gone into extra innings. Dorrough, pitching for Eastland, pitched a masterful game and at no time was in great danger of being scored on except in the first when Bockskoff got on when T. Johnson muffed his fly. Bockskoff going to third, Matthews struck out and Knight lifted a long fly to Payne who caught the ball and made a perfect peg to home, catching Bockskoff coming home.

TEXAS SLOWED UP
LAST MONTH SAYS
DISTRICT REPORT

By Associated Press
DALLAS, May 26.—April witnessed a general slowing up of agricultural business and financial operations in the Eleventh federal reserve district, according to the monthly review made public today by the Dallas reserve bank. In each of these three lines of activity, however, the change of pace was not without its compensation, the review added.

Agricultural processes, after being arrested by very unusual spring drouths, made rapid recovery at the close of April when heavy general rains ushered in the Month of May. A slump in trade was noticeable throughout the district, but was not strong enough to impair the general situation. The inherent soundness of trade conditions as a whole, the report said, was emphasized by the fact that business failures, measured in liabilities involved, were the smallest in April than in any month during the past three years with the exception of last September.

The tendency not to buy high-priced articles was noticeable, especially in regard to luxuries, the review said, adding that department stores emphasized the lack of demand for silks.

The nationwide tension in the money market is making itself felt in the Eleventh district, the review continued. Bankers are scrutinizing the needs of their customers more closely and a number of banks reported a healthy spirit of caution already visible in their clients' plans for the coming months. There seems, however, to be no ground for serious alarm in financial requirements of essential business.

The cold, dry, windy weather which prevailed during the greater part of the month of April adversely affected the agricultural situation throughout the district, the review said. "In New Mexico the wheat crop suffered particularly from high winds and lack of moisture. Late reports from Arizona and Oklahoma indicate that farming conditions in those states are more encouraging. The drouth in Texas, which was only partially relieved by showers during the latter part of April was detrimental to winter wheat, the condition of which was estimated at 73 per cent of normal, which forecasts a yield of 11,813,000 bushels."

Planting for spring per cent complete in Texas and 84 per cent in Oklahoma.

"Due to the low germinating power of the seed used, and the cold rainy weather of early May, early cotton has made slow growth in Texas and the stand generally is poor."

Livestock prices were on a general downward trend during April, according to the review, notwithstanding a greatly restricted marketing movement. Huth, strikes, car shortage, and unsettled market conditions, were contrib-

Laura Gardin Fraser.

One woman who is making a name for herself in art circles is Laura Gardin Fraser. Mrs. Fraser is the designer of the "Chaplain's Medal," which is to be awarded to every chaplain who served with the American forces on land or sea. She was the winner of the Shaw prize in 1919 at the exhibition of the National Academy of Design for the best work of art in painting or sculpture by a woman during that year. Mrs. Fraser is the wife of James Earl Fraser, the noted sculptor whose distinguished achievements include "Nymphs and Satyr," which is now in the American sculptor's exhibit in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Women are coming to the fore not only in business and the professions, but in art also. More and more young women are taking up pottery, jewelry making, portrait painting, interior decorating and other forms of art and they are succeeding and making enviable names for themselves. In fact it is getting to be much the same in art work as it is in business—one is no more surprised to find that the initials of the signature on a piece of art mean a woman than to discover that the president's name on the letterhead of a big machine company is a woman's.

BEGIN SERVICE
OVER NEW ROAD

The Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad will run its first train into Breckwalker next Saturday. The train will be a special running from Dublin to the new Stephens county oil field town, leaving Dublin at 7 a. m., Ranger at 10 a. m., and arriving at Breckwalker at noon. The special train of Saturday will be the beginning of regular daily train service to Breckwalker. For the coming week the service will be on the usual train that is now operating between Jakehamon and Frankell. After the coming week it is probable that a new train schedule will be started on the entire line.

The excursion to Breckwalker Saturday is to accommodate persons who were unable to make the trip on the day of the opening of the town. The sale of town lots at Breckwalker has been under way since May 10 but this sale is expected to gain impetus after the trains begin operating.

"There are 3,000 people now living and working within two miles of the town-site office," said George McQuaid, "and all the development there has been accomplished with the nearest railroad station twenty miles away."

The Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth Railroad company expect to arrange a new schedule of trains by the second week in June when it will begin the through service between Fort Worth. This service will embrace through day coaches and sleeping cars leaving Fort Worth by way of the Pecos to Dublin, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad. Sleeping cars will be set out each morning at Ranger and Breckwalker and later at Breckneridge and picked up in the evening for delivery to Fort Worth the following morning.

AIR LINE OVER
MAY BE REALITY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 26.—A dirigible airship line to engage in regular passenger service between New York and San Francisco is a project in which war department officials would like to interest capital, with a view to having an air fleet immediately available in case of war, according to Professor Harvey N. Davis of Harvard university.

Professor Davis is engaged in expert work on helium gas for the department and is designing a plant to be built at Langley Field, Va., where the expensive gas after use in the military lighter-than-air craft may be washed free of impurities and used again. Estimates by Col. William N. Hensley of the war department, indicate that it will be possible for passengers to go by airship overland at a cost of about five cents a mile, at a speed of sixty-eight to seventy miles an hour.

"The advent of the airship as a regular passenger carrier is much nearer than many persons in this country realize," said Mr. Davis. "I shall be surprised if the coming summer does not see a line of airships in operation by an English firm between the United States and the British Isles, and I have no doubt whatever that a year from now will see regular weekly sailings."

"By the use of helium all danger of disaster from explosions such as have wrecked big balloons filled with hydrogen will be averted. There will be no fear of ignition of the gas by bullets, lightning or sparks from the engine. In fact, it is pointed out, that the engines may be placed inside the outer shell of the dirigible and that except for observation purposes no car need be carried outside the big bag."

SOMETHING TO CONFESS

By R. RAY BAKER.

Clifford Niles was worried. It showed in his speech and his actions. Signs of nervousness were not lost on Meda Clemmons. She wondered what had gone wrong with Clifford, and she wished he would unburden himself so that she could console him, or try to, whatever the difficulty.

In the year and a half that they had known each other, Meda never had seen Clifford so ill at ease. He was a merry-hearted blonde young man, with eyes that laughed with dancing blue light, and a mouthful of firm, white teeth that assisted in the operation—and he had seemed to shed all trouble as oil cloth sheds water. He was assistant cashier in the bank of which Mr. Clemmons was president; and that is how it happened that he happened to meet Meda. She was anxious for Clifford to tell her his troubles, but she would not ask him. Several times he appeared on the point of unburdening himself, for he leaned forward in his chair, and his eye took on an appealing look and he uttered words that seemed preliminary to making a secret; but evidently he changed his mind, for he switched the subject before giving her an inkling as to what was the nature of the subject, and talked of plain, everyday matters, which disappointed Meda, nevertheless did not discourage her.

She knew things soon were to reach a climax, for Clifford had been acting this way for a week and each time she saw him it was evident that the nervous strain had become exaggerated. So the particular evening with which we have to deal passed uneventfully. She played and sang for him, and they tried their hand at cribbage, and he went home at 10 o'clock.

When he opened the door to leave he stood hesitatingly, with one hand on the knob, moving one foot restlessly and made believe the secret was about to be divulged.

"Meda," he said, rattling the knob, "there is something that has been preying on my mind for weeks—something serious. I have a confession to make to you, and I—but on second thought, I don't believe I can tell you tonight. Good night."

And he was gone, while she stood open-mouthed and wondering. The next evening at the dinner table Meda's father acted queerly. He upset the sugar once and spilled his coffee, and during the meal spoke scarcely a word. "What's the matter, Samuel?" said his wife, solicitously. "Has something gone wrong at the bank?"

"Oh, nothing much," he returned, but did not vouchsafe an explanation.

"Goodness! It's catching," Meda told herself as she left the table and went into the library to read. Somewhere she had mislaid her handkerchief, and she went back toward the dining room presently to look for it. Her parents remained seated at the table and her father was speaking in low tones, but his words were perfectly audible to Meda. They had not heard her approach, so she crept out of their range of vision and listened.

"You must not breathe a word of this to a soul," her father was saying. It's a very serious matter. If it got about town it might cause a critical situation—might even result in a run on the bank. It doesn't take much to start such a thing, you know."

Meda waited eagerly and anxiously for the next words. "The fact is somebody has got away with ten thousand dollars. We discovered it this morning and only the directors and myself know of it—except, of course, the person who has the ten thousand."

"Do you suspect anyone?" his wife inquired.

"Yes, although we have no evidence. We have a detective working on the case now, and hope to have the mystery straightened up without publicity. Meda except away to her room, where she threw herself on the bed and wept.

"Poor Cliff!" she sobbed. "To think that he has got into such a mess. But I'll not go back on him—not even if he goes to prison. He wouldn't deliberately steal. He must have needed money badly and intended to pay it back."

The girl slept little that night, and in the morning was up early. She could scarcely wait until evening for Clifford was to call at 8 o'clock. She was fearful that he might leave town or be arrested in the meantime, so she called him on the phone and received assurance that he would be on hand.

Eight o'clock came, and Clifford was punctual, although appearing as worried as ever, or more so. They started a cribbage game in the library, while Mr. and Mrs. Clemmons shut themselves in the living room.

"It's got to come out tonight," Meda decided, shuffling the cards.

Before either had rounded the board once they tossed their hands on the table.

"I don't feel like playing," said Meda.

"Neither do I," he agreed, and they went to the piano. However, Meda was unable to get through the first selection. She had developed a case of nerves intense as the one that gripped Clifford.

Suddenly she left the piano, stood up and confronted him. "Cliff," she said, placing her hands on his shoulders and looking him intently in the eyes, "you've got to make that confession tonight. What is it that's bothering you? Don't you believe you can trust me—with any secret, no matter what?"

Clifford smiled, something after his old manner.

"Certainly, Meda, I can trust you; and I'm going to make the confession, too. I've got to get it off my mind. It's just this—

"Meda," said her mother's voice from the living room, "can you come here a minute?"

She excused herself and left him by the piano.

"The blow's going to fall," she murmured, hurrying to the living room. "Probably they're going to take him to jail right now."

Her father was seated in his easy chair, with her mother close by.

"Meda," began her father, without any preliminary remarks, "something serious has occurred at the bank. I feel that you ought to know what it is, especially since the thing has been settled."

"The fact is ten thousand dollars was purloined if the coming summer does not confound and resign and there will be nothing more about it, although he is leaving town."

Meda breathed easier. It was some relief to know that Cliff would not be sent to prison.

"I rely on you not to mention this to Clifford," Mr. Clemmons went on. I just received a phone call that made matters clear, and the directors told me their plan and I approved it."

Meda was trembling. She gulped two or three times and managed to stammer:

"Who is the guilty one?"

"Swanson, the receiving teller. He has been playing stocks and simply borrowed the money to make good on a deal. On account of his faithful service he will not be imprisoned. Gilbert, one of the directors, has offered to make good for him and Swanson has promised to work hard in some other city and pay him back."

Meda's heart felt lighter as she hurried back to Clifford, who remained standing near the piano, mopping his brow with a handkerchief.

"Meda," he said, firm resolution in his tones, placing his hands on her shoulders: "I'm going to confess at once. It's just this—I love you. It's worried me for some time because I was afraid that the affection was not returned. It took a lot of nerve say—but, there, it's out."

"Be reassured, Cliff dear," she told him, softly, and her arms found their way about his shoulders. "I love you, you see."

DESERTED NAVY TO ENLIST IN THE ARMY, IS AWARDED MEDAL

NEWPORT, Ky., May 26.—Although the charge of being a deserter was preferred against him in the navy, John Sullivan, who lives in Newport, has been awarded posthumously, the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism.

When the United States entered the war Sullivan entered the navy. Feeling that he would not be able to get into the fighting, he deserted his ship and enlisted in Company A, Ninth machine gun battalion, under the name of John Shannon. In his first battle he met death defending his gun from a German attack. He was blown to pieces by a high explosive shell. His father is J. T. Sullivan, who will receive the medal. Congressman Rouse has tried to have the department eliminate the charge of desertion.

CLOSED SESSION FOR WOMEN IS SET FOR JULY

TOPEKA, Kan., May 25.—A number of women officials of state labor departments have called a "women only" meeting, supplementing the annual convention of the association of governmental officials of the United States and Canada, to be held in Seattle July 26, 27 and 28.

Notices of the convention date to members of the association sent out by Miss Linn Bessette, secretary, were followed by a circular letter to the women officials within the association of the meeting for women alone which is to precede the convention proper. Miss Bessette is secretary of the Kansas Industrial Welfare commission.

A conservative estimate places the women who are gainfully employed in this country at twelve million," says Miss Bessette's letter. "It is therefore of great moment that the women who have the state laws under their administration and enforcement shall gather in consultation on the subject."

The call for the "women only" session is countersigned by the following women officials of labor departments: Mary Anderson, director women's bureau, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. W. H. Udall, secretary industrial commission state of Washington; Ethel M. Johnson, assistant labor commissioner, Massachusetts; Mrs. M. M. Sample, industrial board, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson, industrial welfare commission, California; Mrs. Millie R. Trumbull, industrial welfare commission, Oregon; Lucille Cox, department of women and children, Indiana; Nellie Schwartz, chief of the bureau of women in industry, Minnesota, and Miss Bessette.

Two of the speakers thus far obtained to address the general convention are Henry Suzzallo, president of the University of Washington, and Stewart Schrimshaw, Milwaukee, former superintendent of the state industrial commission.

COAL SHORTAGE SERIOUS.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Calls on the public service commission for help in obtaining coal fairly swamped the commission as public utilities, industries and organizations used the telephone, telegraph and mail to inform the commission of their serious situations. They urged that priority orders be placed at once by the interstate commerce commission, and that it take steps also to put a supply of empty coal cars in Indiana. Many of the Indiana mines are closed.

The Woman Who Saw

Wedding Bells.

Rosie Hymowitz sang a happy little buzzing tune to herself. The soft breeze tossed her curls and her toes kept moving in a merry skipping dance. The Lady from Uptown had taken her class on the Settlement roof in the spring sunshine. Shirl calls and noisy games were in order as if the children couldn't get enough of the clean out-of-doors, the warm glad sun and the big open arch of sky and clouds.

But Rosie kept close to the Lady, for she was bubbling with talk and happiness. "Is there joy by us?" she sang, insisting that the Lady share it with her. "My sister gets married this week in a beautiful dress all over silver birds that she has never worn before. She has many dresses, but this she rents, for why should she buy a dress she should wear it once? And my mother has for the wedding a new dress all hung with beads, but high like the sun, with a gesture just below the chin, so she rents her one low her lavalliere? So she assured a startling decollete. "And my father is buying for me a pink dress with a face that cost him dear."

Rosie stopped for breath, but it wasn't all told yet. "They want for the wedding a hall in Brooklyn, but they got one on Clinton street."

"Why," said the Lady, "I thought you lived in New York."

"Oh, yes," Rosie explained, "but to Brooklyn the ride in the auto won't be longer. But this is a swell hall and they give a beautiful couple supper. The people is a couple for a wedding or for children that's not twelve yet," she explained carelessly.

But the truth will out and the Lady is afraid the reason for Rosie's joy came at the end. "I'm glad my sister's going to get married." And this was "from the heart." "She always fights me."

Her Master's Voice. It was the most flattering of blouses. The Woman could see herself in it looking like a cross between a Lux "ad" and a Vogue picture. But she had already spent all her cash, so she confided to the attentive saleswoman. "I'd love to have this, too, but I haven't the money with me, or even a check."

"Oh," was the answer, with a Galleries Lafayette shrewd, "at one nuzzing. Senecé Madame has the account we have for all ways for one the check," and she spoke to the All-Wool, Quality-Tailored gentleman in the tall, tall collar and faultless frock coat. "Madame would write a check."

So the Woman found herself hypnotically hoveled to a small writing desk. She accepted a check and self-consciously selected a pen. And then her wits left her completely, and she just couldn't spell. "Let me see," and she looked helplessly at the saleswoman, "F-o-r-t-y?" she questioned. But it was the handsome Adonis who answered softly, with a pitying but sympathetic smile for feminine weakness, "F-o-u-r-t-y." And the Woman wrote obediently.

Once outside the cool air revived her, and she knew he was wrong—but what New York woman is not helpless in the hands of an All-Wool, Quality-Tailored Adonis.

Arthur's Reward.

A little girl of six, who, by the way, will never die of a broken heart, is one of the most convincing feminists the Woman knows. "We have a lovely new game now," she said, coming in one day quite breathless.

"And what is it?" the Woman asked with sympathetic pleasure.

"Why, it's a kissing game. Arthur helps me."

"Just—just—in what way does he help?"

"He catches the boys for me to kiss, but he gets a reward for it."

"One of your cookies?"

"Oh no! He doesn't get kissed."

A Corot Picture.

It was spring. The trees were faintly green and Our Park was a Corot picture. In a little while the sun would be setting and the night shadows would be coming down gently over Lombardy poplars. And then through the silence came the audience and took its stand under a shimmering bush. They were street urchins, whose starved souls seemed to gravitate to the shimmering bush, for they ran to it and began pulling down its branches and breaking off its tiny flowers. The mission of the shimmering bush was first to be in a Corot picture and then to bring beauty into the hands of the starved and eager.

In the foreground stood a policeman wrapped in wet rubber and leaning spread against the iron fence. His rubber coat spread against the iron fence like the wings of a bat. Suddenly he turned around. He saw the Corot picture and the little figures with their straining arms and the branches of the shimmering bush as they cracked and broke and fell. He took four steps and a very short run and caught the Smallest Key—the only one who did not hear him coming. The Woman winced lest the policeman failed to understand how the spring called to the arches. But the policeman took the smallest boy gently by the hand and led him along the spring path very far away, very deviously, so that he would forget the shimmering bush. And he talked with him as he walked and presently he came back slowly and stood again against the iron fence, his wet rubber coat spreading out like the wings of a bat and his face kind and reminiscent.

The Woman felt rewarded when her curiosity led her into a small shop on upper Broadway devoted to the sale of all sorts of household pets. At one of the counters an agitated little lady was fumbling with a small paper package, from which she finally brought forth a tiny dead goldfish. Handing it to the astonished storekeeper, she said, timidly, "I do hope you can match this. You see, I've been taking care of it for a friend who is South and it died last night. Petey's death will upset her terribly, and I thought if I could match it up perhaps she'd never know."

By means of sound waves it was possible to get within twenty-five yards of the exact location of the guns of the enemy eight or ten miles distant. The sound ranging apparatus is a French invention.

WAR RISK BUREAU COVERS ITS WORK WITH SMALL DELAY

Settlement of 127,151 insurance claims, for death and total permanent disability, and representing a total value of $1,135,552, 173.45, is announced by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones of the bureau of war risk insurance. Only 5,119 claims are pending, and in these cases the claimants are beneficiaries in many instances residing in foreign countries where disturbed conditions render communication impossible.

It now requires only five days from receipt of final evidence of death in an insurance case for the issuance of the first check, and frequently cases have been handled even more rapidly in the compensation and insurance claims division of the bureau.

BAGGAGE MAN HAS BUSY TIME WITH TEXAS BEES

BIG TIMBER, Montana, May 26.—A local bee man sent to Texas for a large consignment of the insects.

While still some miles from here, a case broke and the inhabitants sallied forth and took possession of the baggage car, holding it until the train arrived here. Luckily, the bee man was on the platform waiting for his pets and he soon rounded them up.

WICHITA FALLS JEWELER WILL HEAD ORGANIZATION

DALLAS, May 26.—B. T. Burgis of Wichita Falls, was elected president of the Texas Retail Dealers' association at the annual convention here. Forty-one applications for membership were received. The next annual convention will also be held in Dallas.

The United States went to war three times in defense of its rights as a neutral; in 1798, when naval hostilities with France broke out without formal declaration of war; with Great Britain in 1812, and with Germany in 1917.

FIND OUT JUST WHAT CAUSES YOUR RHEUMATISM

Then You Will Be Able to Treat It Intelligently.

The medical profession has not yet fully determined all of the causes of Rheumatism, though they are pretty well agreed on two points.

The first is, that the disease is more than a mere local trouble, that the pangs of pain come from a source that is far below the surface, and therefore it is not reasonable to expect any rational relief from a treatment that is locally applied and reaches only the surface.

When you realize the logic of this conclusion, you will see that you are really wasting your time and money if you are expecting any permanent relief from the use of liniments, lotions, and other locally applied treatment, which can only reach the surface, and have no effect whatever upon the origin of your trouble.

Any disease should be treated at its source, and especially one that causes as much suffering as Rheumatism. The only treatment worth while is one that will show progress toward getting at the source of the disease, and freeing the victim from its shackles.

The other point that the medical profession has agreed upon, is that some forms of Rheumatism are caused by a tiny disease germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million, and until these germs are routed from the blood, you can see how futile local treatment will be. In fact you can use liniments by the gallon and never hope to reach the cause of your trouble.

So many people have found real permanent relief from their Rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. that its use is justified in practically every case. Certainly if your Rheumatism is due to a germ in the blood, as so many thousands of cases are, you should lose no time in beginning the use of S. S. S., because you can rely upon this fine old blood remedy to do you more good than any other treatment.

S. S. S. is beneficial in Rheumatism because it is such a thorough blood medicine. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and eradicates the germs which cause Rheumatism. The wonderful results it has accomplished in other cases is proof of its great merit. S. S. S. has been on the market for more than fifty years and is sold by all druggists.

You are invited to write our medical department for full information and advice about the treatment of your own case, for which no charge is made. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 11 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

Big Value in Tires for The Smaller Cars

Back of the manufacture of Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars is the same purpose to supply high value in the product that is behind the manufacture of the Goodyear Tires that equip the most expensive automobiles built.

This purpose is expressed by the enormous resources, extraordinary skill and scrupulous care applied to the manufacture of Goodyear Tires in the largest tire factory in the world devoted solely to the 30x3-, 30x3 1/2-, and 31x4-inch sizes.

The effect of this endeavor is noted in the fact that last year more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

It is also noted in the fact that if you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car requiring one of the sizes mentioned, you can secure Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at the nearest Goodyear Service Station.

30x 3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50
30x 3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x 3 1/2 size in water..... $4.50 plus profit bag.

SECOND CLASS MAIL RATES.

The postoffice committee of the House of Representatives has on its calendar a bill proposing the repeal of the graduated increase in second class mail rates for 1920, 1921 and 1922. Recently the bill came up for discussion and the committee refused by a vote of eight to seven to act favorably. This negative action did not take the bill off the calendar entirely. It may be called up for consideration at any time.

This matter of second class mail rates is something in which the average citizen has taken very little interest. It is something in which he ought to be actively interested. For one thing, if he happens to live very far from the place in which his favorite magazine is published, he is going to find that magazine costing him more than it used to. While many persons will continue taking their usual group of magazines in spite of increased rates, there are many others who will stop their purchases at the new stand of their subscriptions to magazines which have had to raise their rates.

The better magazines have been filling a big place in public life. They have discussed not local problems, but big national and international interests. Their outlook has been broad, and their value in educating the public and in bringing widely scattered sections into closer understanding and sympathy can hardly be overestimated. If now, because of the increased costliness of sending them

REMOVES CAUSE OF HEADACHE

Doctors Condemn Remedies That Merely Relieve the Pain—Claim Aspirinal Also Removes Cause—Absolutely Safe.

Doctors and druggists are delighted with Aspirinal, the new elixir that relieves headache (and colds) within two minutes and also removes the cause and prevents the return of headache the next day by gently acting on the liver, correcting biliousness and constipation which are usually the cause of headache. The next time you have a headache go to your nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two tea spoonfuls in a little water. With you watch in your hand count off two minutes and call for your money back, as per manufacturer's guarantee, if you can't feel your headache fading away within the time limit. Your druggist in vites you and expects you to try Aspirinal. Everybody is doing it. Adv.

through the mail, they lose readers and their circulation becomes localized to the zone in which they are published, there will be a definite loss to the public itself. If magazine readers would back up with their own expressed protests the fight the publishers are making against this unfair or at least unwise zoning system, it is likely that Congress would take prompt action to undo the mischief done by hasty war legislation covering second class postage rates.

ONE USE FOR BARRELS.

An Englishman seeking adventure and advertising proposes to come over and shoot Niagara in a barrel. Poor, bored Niagara! One can imagine her covering a well-bred yawn and asking, as the barrel goes by, "is this yet, or again?"

Now if Johnny Englishman really wants to create some excitement, why doesn't he climb up to Mars hand-over-hand and jump off, or something like that. Why doesn't he, if time hangs heavy on his hands, come over here and get a job as railroad switchman? He will not know an idle moment if he will do that, and he will get good pay, too.

The world is not much interested in daredevil feats nowadays. It takes so much courage and initiative to live the simplest life possible in these complex times that unnecessary bravado is received with little enthusiasm. Great deeds of daring like the initial flight across the ocean are another matter. That is venturing into danger in order that others may live in safety in some line of constructive advancement for which the world will be better off.

But after all, why pick on the poor Rip Van Winkle? Maybe there is a seed of modern practicability in his moth-eaten idea. Perchance he is a heavy stockholder in some cooperative concern and is trying to think of some way of using the barrels that are now as empty as last year's nests.

MANY ACCOUNTANTS FINISH EXAMINATION AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, May 26.—Twenty-six candidates for certificates as public accountants concluded their examinations before the state board of accountancy at the semi-annual session here. Of this number seven were making up an examination partially passed at the preceding session. Although the state board will scan papers of all applicants, they are finally passed upon by the American Institute of Accountants, which organization prepared the questions for the examination.

The state board is composed of L. B. Smith, Dallas, chairman; T. E. Allday, Wichita Falls; Frank Huey, Houston; D. Kernaghan, Fort Worth; Marion Douglas, Galveston.

TELLS WHY ENGLAND AND UNITED STATES SHOULD BE FRIENDS

LEEDS, Eng., May 26.—Sir Arthur Shirley Bena, who was head of the British mission to the International Trade conference at Atlantic City last fall, has just told the members of the Luncheon club that he believed the United States and Great Britain would continue to "pull together." If so, he said, he thought they and their allies would be able to reconstruct Europe and get back to former conditions of trade.

A great many people had said there was no chance of Great Britain and the United States pulling together, because they were too much alike—too impetuous, too aggressive. He did not believe it. He had known America since 1877 and had never known a better feeling to exist between England and America than exists today among the people who count.

There were in America, he said, pro-Germans, Sinn Feiners and others—"wild men who were trying to uproot the whole American constitution." There were people who were working, with pro-Germans and Sinn Feiners, to do all they could against England. But they would not succeed, he said. The class of people in America who were descended from Anglo-Saxon stock were not going to give up the government of the country to any "mixed cosmopolitan body of people like the Bolsheviks and their class who were making trouble in America today."

The bulk of the people of the United States, he declared, had the most absolute faith in the honesty, courage and determination of John Bull, absolute faith in the honesty, courage and determination of John Bull, Great Britain, he said, owed America a big debt, but that the Allies owed this country a larger one.

NEW YORK.—Henry P. Davidson of J. P. Morgan & Co., today was subpoenaed to testify before the joint legislative committee investigating profiteering. His opinion on the causes of discontent over the present economic situation will be sought, it was stated.

NOBLEMAN WINS DIVORCE.

LONDON.—Lord Sholto Douglas, third son of the late eighth Marquis of Queensberry, has won a divorce. His former wife was Loretta Audis Mooney of California. The case was not defended. Their marriage took place in San Jose, Calif., in 1895.

ANSWERED LETTERS.

Alma C.—"A wedding is to take place in my home very soon and I would like you to help me plan the decorations and the menu for the breakfast."

Answer.—Lilies are popular for wedding decorations at this time of year, not only because of their fragrance and beauty, but because of their bulk which enables the decorator to make a considerable showing with few branches. Another advantage in choosing lilies is that the blossoming sprays may easily be formed into an arch or canopy under which the bridal couple may stand during the ceremony.

If I were you, I would follow this plan, placing the arch (or hanging the canopy) at the farthest end of your largest room, and if you can afford it, making an aisle up to the center of the room to the arch (or canopy) by banking the lilies in two solid rows three feet apart. Otherwise, stack the branches in corners, near doorways, around mantelpieces and in other effective places.

The flowers used on the table at the wedding breakfast, however, should be smaller than lilies. Lilies of the Valley or violets would be suitable, or any of the delicate wild flowers that are available. There should be a low vase in the center of the table containing these flowers and small bunches of them at each guest's place. White ribbon streamers may run from beneath the centerpiece to each person's plate. The following menu is suitable:

- Egg-Watercress Sandwiches
- Chicken Salad
- Coffee
- Ice Cream
- Punch
- Wedding Cake

E. M. B.—"Please give me a recipe for popovers."

Answer.—Popovers.—Sift 1 cup of flour and add to it 1 cup of milk, stirring the milk in gradually. Now add 1 well-beaten egg and a pinch of salt. Pour this batter into hot gem pans and bake in a hot oven.

Mrs. A. A. A.—"Please tell me how to cook fish roe."

Answer.—On May 10th I published an article entitled "Two Fish Roe Dinners," which contained two recipes for cooking roe. If you cannot get a back copy of the newspaper of this date, write to me again, giving your address, and I will send you a reprint of the article. Here is still another way of cooking them:

DEAF MAY ATTEND CHURCH AND HEAR PASTOR'S ADDRESSES

HOUSTON, May 26.—Deaf people may "hear" the Sunday sermons at the First Presbyterian church here, as a result of an innovation which has been tried out and found to be feasible. A section of the church is set aside for those who cannot hear and Miss Fannie A. Johnson has volunteered to convey the preacher's words to them through the medium of the sign language. Miss Johnson, whose work for a number of years has been teaching deaf and dumb persons to talk and to read lips, has been authorized by Pastor William States Jacobs to delete from his sermons able to the deaf and portions that are strictly Presbyterian, as an invitation to an invitation to the deaf of all denominations to attend these services has been extended.

TAD'S TID-BITS

M. O'DOWD AND J. HAMILTON FATE.

New York, May 25. It was rather queer that Mike O'Dowd should lose his middleweight title to a man who fights with his right hand extended, wasn't it? It was rather queer, too, that Mike should win the title from a boxer who affected the same pose? Never in the history of boxing has a man won a title from a fellow who fought with his right hand extended and lost a title to another of that sort. Johnny Wilson, the new champion, is a Harlem Italian. He didn't stop Mike, but he was so far ahead at the end of the twelfth round that the Boston referee just had to raise his hand and make him champ. Of course, Mike will make a yelp. All champs do after their title is gone. O'Dowd did fairly well as a champion. He gave nearly every title hunter a chance, and handed most of them pretty good pastings. Johnny Wilson is in line to clean up himself now. We have no really good middleweights here, and his path to riches ought to be pretty soft. Johnny Wilson—kind of shocks you, doesn't it? He dropped out of the sky, just as other champions have done. No one knew Ketchel when he beat Joe Thomas. Young Corbett was an unknown when he met McGovern. Fitzsimmons was an unknown when he met Dempsey. Jack Dempsey was unheard of until he had beaten Smith, Morris and Brennan. It's the "unknown" that you have to watch.

The Greatest Fighter He Ever Saw. Dear Tad—I have been reading articles on the "Greatest Fighter," but I have not yet heard about the greatest of them all. I refer to Franke Erne, the modest Buffalo boy. When he was lightweight champion of the world he met Gans in New York, and fight followers of that day will never forget that battle. Frank Erne, if he did not outbox, did clearly outfight and outgauge Gans and made Joe quit cold in the twelfth round. Coming out of a clinch, Frank chopped a hard left to Gans' right eye. It cut Joe's eyebrow, which hung bleeding over the eye, and Joe seized that excuse to say to the referee: "I cannot go any further," and quit. Two years later Gans beat Erne in a round, but Frank had not taken good care of himself, ran into one of Joe's beautifully-timed short rights and lost his world championship. Those who remember Gans' career as a featherweight have not forgotten how Al Herford, then his manager, used to work to give Joe an ace in the hole in every match. In those day weight forfeits did not run very high. Joe could not make 188 or even 122 pounds to save his life and never tried to. Herford would post a small forfeit and Gans would come in, six or seven pounds overweight, forfeit a few dollars and generally take down the long end of the purses. Picking the greatest fighter is hard business. With such men as Jim Mace, John L. Sullivan, Charley Mitchell, Jack Dempsey (the original Nonpareil), George Dixon, Joe Walcott, Bob Fitzsimmons, Sam Langford, Frank Erne, Joe Gans, Terry McGovern and others to select from, there is room for a world of argument. However, I think every judge of boxing who ever saw him in action will agree that in his prime Young Griffo, the Australian featherweight, was the greatest boxer who ever lived, and until he broke his hands knocking out middle and heavy weights quite likely the greatest fighter we have seen.

FRANK HOLMAN. 2ND KINGS, 1:32-37. And when Elisha was come into the house, behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed. He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the Lord. And he went up and lay upon the child, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands; and he stretched himself upon him; and the flesh of the child waxed warm. Then he returned, and walked in the house to and fro; and he went up and stretched himself upon him; and the child sneezed several times, and the child opened his eyes. And he called Gehazi, and said call this Shunammite. So he called her. And when she was come unto him, he said, Take up thy son. Then she went in, and fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son and went out. STRIKERS ARE FIRED UPON. GRANITE CITY, Ill.—Authorities are trying to establish the identity of the men who fired from a speeding automobile into a crowd of striking building craftsmen and sympathizers here, killing one man and wounding another. The man killed, according to the police, just had joined the crowd out of curiosity.

WOMAN TRAPPED BY FIRE. COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Trapped in the rest room on the second floor of the Acme laundry company, East Main street, Florence Bolebaugh, 37 years old, an employe, was burned seriously when fire destroyed the building late today. The fire caused an estimated loss of $150,000, and is said to have originated from a defective electric fan in the drying room.

WILL ESTABLISH MUSEUM FOR ALL OF TEXAS

AUSTIN, May 26.—Plans were discussed for the establishment of a state museum at a meeting of a committee appointed by the Texas Historical Association. The need for some place in which to preserve articles and relics of early Texas history was discussed. A member of the committee stated that there is a better collection of geological fossils from Texas on exhibition in Berlin, Germany, than is to be found anywhere in Texas. Many interesting and valuable relics of Indian life are being lost and broken for lack of a place in which to preserve them, stated a member of the committee. No announcement was made of any definite plan for the immediate establishment of such a museum.

LAMPASAS MOVES INTO LIMELIGHT

LAMPASAS, Texas, May 26.—The Lampasas Chamber of Commerce is one of those commercial organizations which eschew hot air and get down to business. It is composed of 101 members, representing as many business firms. Recently it spent $2,000 improving one road leading into town and gave a bonus of $5,000 for another gin. E. B. Thomas is now putting up a two-battery gin plant that gins two bales at the same time. It is estimated that 5,000 acres of cotton will be irrigated from waters near town. Lampasas claims the distinction of the second turkey-importing point in Texas, as evidenced only by Cuero. It now ships 200,000 a year. The country surrounding is largely devoted to stock raising and the streams fringed with pecan groves which produce large harvests annually.

LABOR SHORTAGE IS EXPECTED IN TEXAS

STAMFORD, May 26.—Anticipating another shortage of farm labor in West Texas this summer and fall, the United States employment service, co-operating with the West Texas C. of C., will aid farmers and laborers of the entire country. Requests are made that all interests needing men, all persons desiring employment, communicate by mail at once with the headquarters office at Stamford, Texas. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce last year was swamped with orders from counties throughout the West for laborers for the fields, and it was by dint of the hardest labor that the demand was satisfactorily.

ARGENTINE HAS LABOR TROUBLE IN HER RURAL SECTIONS

BUENOS AIRES, May 26.—Argentina, like the United States, has difficulty in keeping her people on the farms and out of the cities. To combat the tendency toward city life, the minister of the interior, Ramon Gomez, has asked all the governors of the provinces and territories to urge people to colonize the public lands. Under a new law colonists are enabled to borrow from the National Mortgage bank up to eighty per cent of the value on land they have purchased and under the homestead law the government is permitted to give to colonists small lots of land in some districts.

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT TAKES LONG STRIDE DURING PAST YEAR

AUSTIN, May 26.—Forty times as much anti-tuberculosis work is being done in the United States in 1920 as was done fifteen years ago. This is the declaration of the Texas Public Health association, basing the statement on the amount of money spent in the elimination of tuberculosis. The results show that in the past fifteen years the death toll from the white plague in this country has been reduced from 200,000 to 150,000 yearly. In 1915, when the National Tuberculosis association, the first widely organized volunteer anti-tuberculosis agency, held its first meeting at Washington, D. C., the total budgets of the organizations which fought the white plague amounted to not more than $100,000. In 1920, the amount which will be spent by the National Tuberculosis association and its 1,000 affiliated organizations is over $4,000,000 for education on prevention and cure of tuberculosis and other communicable diseases, open-air schools, clinics, preventive for children, sanatoria, summer camps, dispensaries, tuberculosis nurses, relief work, etc.

OHIO INSTRUCTOR RESIGNS. LANCASTER, Ohio.—Because of criticism directed by state inspectors at educational methods pursued at the Boy's Industrial school, Prof. C. O. Dillinger, superintendent of instruction at the institution, has tendered to Captain R. U. Hastings, head of the school, his resignation, to take effect July 1. Prof. Dillinger is said to have declined to accept responsibility for alleged inefficiencies in the system at the institution.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

XXXIV. MYSTERY LURKS IN PONDS AND POOLS. Out of the shadows of the night rises a deep pond and your slumbering eye rests wonderingly upon its still and shining surface. The water is clear, but dark-placid days are ahead of you, hours without excitement, without exaltation. Your wishes of adventure have come to naught. The water moves. Soft ripples glide across the limpid mirror. It is as though a sudden breeze had sprung up, rousing the water to life, waiting away the still weight of the night, opening the gates of morn. Ah, how the meaning of your dream has changed! Now it tells you that, in a few days, you will receive a note summoning you to a sweet clandestine meeting. Watch now! Did you peer into the depth of the pool to seek for something that lies hidden beneath the waves, or did your eye merely rest upon the surface? For, in the first case, the trust will have a lasting bearing upon your life; while in the second, it will be mere incident, just another blossom tasted by a happy butterfly.

I know a deep and silent pool. Whereon the water lilies swim: Its waters are so dark and cool, And full of blossoms is its rim, That I forget its depth so grim.

If there are lilies in the pond their green leaves shadowing the water, their white heads reaching into the light and straining away from the cold that surrounds them, like tethered birds seeking to stretch their wings, you will presently find yourself admired of many men and unable to decide in whose lands to entrust your life's happiness. Should you, however, bend down and pluck, or try to pluck, one of the blossoms, you will, before long, make your choice; but if you remain inactive, the present year will not see you a happy bride.

Should you perceive fishes in the pool, then there will be adventures in your life—pleasantly light and amusing adventure if the fishes are small, graver happenings, full of importance, if they are large. If you step into the pool you will make yourself guilty of a foolish action. If you fall into the water, you must be prepared for an illness or accident.

There was a face under the water and it smiled, And I asked, are you friend or foe? There was a face under the water and it beguiled, And I asked, why do you come to me so? And the face said, I come from beyond And bring a message from one to whom you are fond.

W. E. DAVIS
Jeweler and Optician
104 So. Rusk St.
(Building formerly occupied by First National Bank)

If the water of the pond is muddy, or if unclear things are floating on its surface, guard yourself against plots which endanger your happiness. If you see a living face under the surface someone's thoughts are always with you, but a dead face or the sight of a corpse in the water betoken misfortune to your family but none to you personally. The sight of a dead fish is a warning against theft or bankruptcy, and disappointments to boot, the old beach-rhyme come true:

When the sea casts up Its old, dead fish,

Then bid farewell To your dearest wish.

Exception—I am very sorry that I am unable to oblige you with "a private reading." Don't you see that this would lead to endless correspondence with hundreds of people and that I am too busy a man to do this? Just write me your dream and I promise you that no part of it shall be published and that I shall not conch the interpretation in such words that it will not involve a betrayal of your confidence.

Constant Reader—To dream of borrowing money means that you have many enemies.

Town—The case you refer to is that of Mrs. Harvey Hay of Cedar Rapids, your state, who had been erroneously reported as having had spirit communications with her son, Merle, who died during the war. She has declared that there was no spiritism in the apparitions, but that she sees the boy often in her dreams and that she ascribes these appearances to the workings of her subconscious mentality.

The next chapter will be on the subject of "Moving from Your Home."

John-A-Dreams will be glad to interpret dream experiences sent to the editor of the Times by its readers. No replies will, however, be given privately and no fee will at any time be asked or accepted. It is distinctly understood that there can be no guarantee when such questions will be answered, though every effort will be made to satisfy inquirers within three or four weeks.
