Fleeing Officials Slain

President Carranza and George F. Weeks, his confidential adviser, and publisher of a Mexico City daily. This picture was taken recently and was used to counteract a premature report of Carranza's death before his flight to the hills, with its tragic conclusion.

CARRANZA WON OVER GRAVE OF KILLER, HUERTA

Leaped From Obscurity by Defiance of the Usurper. Venustiano Carranza, elected president of Mexico, March 11, 1917, by the largest vote ever cast in a presidential election in his country, stepped from political obscurity to national and international prominence on the graves of the bones of General Victoriano Huerta, the usurper, and his followers.

Then came Villa's victory at Torreon, the first real success of the war. Carranza was pressing Huerta hard when the A. B. C. conference, to discuss the differences between the United States and Huerta, was called in Buffalo. General Carranza refused to suspend hostilities and declined to abide by the result of those diplomatic negotiations.

Shortly afterward independent revolutionists led by Zapata, General Pascual Orozco and others commenced. Dissonance between Villa and Carranza which began at the Torreon conference, reached a climax September 23, 1914, when Villa declared war on Carranza. General Alvaro Obregon became Carranza's leading general.

The Villa generals met at Aguascalientes in November, 1914, and in alliance with the Zapata faction, formed a constitutional government. The capital changed hands several times and was not finally taken by General Obregon until the summer of 1915.

Villa's Power Wanes. The beginning of the end of the Villa-Zapata party as a military power followed the heavy defeats of Villa by General Obregon. Villa was forced to give up Torreon and concentrate his dwindling forces in northern Chihuahua and eastern Sonora, making occasional forays and raids which culminated in the attack on Columbus, N. M., that resulted in the invasion of Mexican territory by General Pershing.

Efficient Housekeeping BY Laura A Kirkman

WHEN EGGS REPLACE MEAT.

At this season of the year, before the system has adjusted itself to the warmer weather, the wise housekeeper guards against overtaxing the digestion in every way. One way, she has found, is to substitute fresh fish, baked vegetable dishes containing cheese, and delicate egg dishes, for meat.

Eggs are perhaps the most popular of these three protein meat substitutes, at least in the average family. The two following dinner menus will be found satisfying to the appetite although meatless.

Cream of Spinach Soup Scrambled Eggs with Onions Baked Potatoes Asparagus Lettuce, French Dressing White Cake

Cream of Spinach Soup—One quart of uncooked spinach or 1 cup of cooked, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, a few grains of nutmeg. Rub the spinach through a sieve if the spinach is cold. Let over spinach instead of freshly cooked, add 1 cup of water before putting it through sieve. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and seasoning and add the spinach to this, letting the mixture boil up well before serving.

Scrambled Eggs with Onions—To 6 scrambled eggs (omit butter in scrambling them) allow six medium sized onion. Peel and slice the onion. Fry them until soft and yellow in 3 tablespoons of butter; they are then ready to be added to the 6 lightly beaten eggs (which should be waiting in the frying pan with 1-2 cup of milk and seasonings, ready to be scrambled.

New Link Bridge Ties South Side to North, Chicago

CHICAGO, May 22.—Ten thousand tons of steel, Chicago's new boulevard link bridge, settled into place recently with a whirring of gears, and for the ninth time in 117 years north and south Chicago were connected by a direct lake front route.

The north pier of the new bridge rests almost on the spot where John Kinzie moored his canoe beneath a willow tree. Three hundred feet away, across the river, the south pier rises from the place where the other terminus of Kinzie's first river link was located beneath the log stockade of Fort Dearborn.

The new bridge, a double bascule, or "Jack-knife" type, is a triumph of engineering skill. When the draw was opened for passing ships the two immense "leaves" tower 150 feet into the air. A broad boulevard viaduct leads to the upper level, reserved for pleasure vehicles only, while trucks and drays travel over the lower passageway. The bridge cost $16,000,000 and more than twenty years were spent in its planning and construction.

The records of the Chicago Historical society picture eight previous river links on the same site. John Kinzie's birch bark canoe, plying between his home, then the only habitation north of the river, and Fort Dearborn, was the first. The fort was established in 1803 by Thomas Jefferson to protect the new frontier of the northwest territory.

A few years later the early settlers and soldiers at the fort established a rope ferry. A flat-bottomed scow attached to a rope running from bank to bank was drawn across the river by hand. Later a floating bridge, hinged to the bank, was installed, but in 1852, while being drawn in to permit a ship to pass, it snapped and several persons were drowned.

The settlers returned to the rope ferry which functioned well for four years. On September 19, 1856, thirty persons were crossing the river in the scow when a ship sailed up and fouled the ferry line. Fifteen of the thirty were drowned. A swinging bridge of wood and iron was next built. Its 211 foot span cost $54,000. On Tuesday, November 3, 1863, an election day, the bridge tender took a vacation leaving an assistant in charge. Late in the afternoon a drover started to herd 150 head of cattle across the bridge. A teamster with two horses and a man and girl in a buggy were also on the bridge, when two tugs whittled for the draw.

The bridge tender started to swing the span, when the bridge collapsed under the weight of the cattle. The girl was drowned but the men, clinging to the horns of the cattle, were rescued.

A wooden bridge was next erected and served until the great fire of October 9, 1871. There is a story, mostly legend, of how a prominent citizen stood guard with a gun all night to keep the bridge tender from opening the draw to save his bridge before all the refugees had fled from the fire district.

A steel bridge followed—it cost $115,500—and was dedicated with a great celebration. Twelve years later the schooner Granger, the tug Charles W. Parker, and the steam barge Business all tried to pass through the south draw at one time.

The next venture in bridge building, the present Rush street bridge, still stands, but it will be torn down this summer and its piers dismantled.

UNITED STATES C-C GIVES ENDORSEMENT TO SALVATION ARMY

The "War Cry" of May 22 calls attention of the unusual action of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in giving its endorsement to the Americanization plan of the Salvation Army, the first action of that kind ever taken by the national chamber.

In part, the article says: "By unanimous action, the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce, just held at Atlantic City, adopted a resolution endorsing the Americanization plan of the Salvation Army. This was done on April 29 and was without precedent, as the chamber had never before endorsed a national organization. The resolution:

"Whereas, The Salvation Army has for years been working on a plan to make good Americans out of foreigners, and better Americans out of American citizens, by alleviating suffering and poverty; and "Whereas, The Salvation Army is proceeding with a plan of Americanization that is in keeping with the program of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to Americanize the millions of honest workers in our land, who are willing to become good citizens if they can only be shown how, with the same high ideals that the Salvation Army held out to the American troops in France; and "Whereas, The Salvation Army slogan, 'A Man May Be Down, But Never Out,' is an ideal American thought; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce of the United States endorse the Americanization plan of the Salvation Army."

Approximately 20,000 bales of cotton should be gathered from this acreage under irrigation methods tried here. Most of the cotton will be planted in the Verhalen and Balmoren regions. Much land planted to alfalfa in 1919 will this year be switched to a cotton, it was stated.

SPECTATORS GIVE FREELY TO WIDOW WHEN HOME BURNS

A two-room house and its contents, located on the Davenport lease, near the business district, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday. An adjoining house, also of two rooms, had its walls and roof badly damaged.

The house that was destroyed was owned by R. O. King and was occupied by Mrs. Lucile Arnet. The combined loss of the fire is placed at $800. No insurance was carried. The building that was damaged was owned by a man by the name of Robinson. No one was in the house when the fire started. Its origin is unknown.

The speedy work on the part of the fire department probably averted a fire, since that district is thickly built up with frame houses. After the fire Chief of Police Parrish stated that Mrs. Arnet was a widow who did cleaning and pressing to support herself and two small children, and everything they owned had been burned. He asked that a donation be made. The assembled crowd gave the widow $115.

POST-WAR SERVICE.

The service which the soldiers of America performed during the war is not as great as the service they can perform after the war. The plan of government adopted for the American Legion is the most democratic in the world. Each local post has a great responsibility, for on the decisions of local posts depend the decisions of the state and the national organizations. The importance of good judgment and sound common sense in the Carl Barnes post and in every other legion post is paramount.

The legion should be forward looking rather than backward looking. It should remember the sense of the passage, "After ye have done all these things, still ye are unprofitable servants." Winning a war is like winning a wife—the trouble has just begun.

The problem resolves itself into one of individual good citizenship. The legion can never stand for 100 per cent Americanism until 100 per cent of its members are Americans, out and out. As community builders taking an active interest and lending a hand in all movements for the good of the city and the community, legionnaires can render this best and most valuable service. The legion should build up and never tear down, except to build on a better basis.

In supporting churches, schools, clean athletics and clean social recreation, clean government by clean officials, the legion has a wide field of activity. A broad tolerance is one of the virtues of the service man, and it is to be hoped will never find fruitful soil in the minds of the ex-soldiers. The legion has won the respect and confidence of the country by its moderate and temperate stand on numerous questions. Care should be taken to continue along lines so nobly begun.

A MINISTER FROM CANADA.

The establishment of direct diplomatic connection between Canada is soon to be realized. Announcement has been made at London, Ottawa and Washington of the forthcoming appointment of a Canadian envoy suited to the requirements of the situation.

This official will not be a mere appendage to the British embassy. He will be the direct, responsible spokesman of Canada, acting independently of the British ambassador in matters affecting Canada and the United States. More than that, he will be a sort of assistant ambassador, and will act for the ambassador when the latter is absent.

It is fitting recognition of Canada as the right arm of the empire of which Great Britain is the head, and also of Canada's right to deal as an American democracy, with the other American powers in purely American problems. It offers a prospect, too, of better and closer relations between this country and the Dominion. Our relations, though peaceful as ever, have not been so friendly of late as they should be, particularly at a time when it behoves all Anglo-Saxon nations to hang together.

MANY VISITORS ARE EXPECTED THIS YEAR AT FORT DAVIS, TEXAS

FORT WORTH, May 22.—The outlook for an unusually large number of summer visitors to the "city a mile high in Texas" is very favorable at this time. Preparations are being made for a goodly number of persons coming by auto over the recently adopted state highway.

Fort Davis is the only town of any size situated a mile above the sea level in Texas. Blue Mountain, nearby, is 7,500 feet high and gives a commanding view of gorgeous Texas scenery. The town has good schools, excellent churches, plenty of timber, and the soil is very fertile. Plenty of well water may be secured from fifteen to 125 feet for irrigation. Of recent years apple orchards are proving profitable. Some trucking is now being carried on. Dairying and poultry raising are becoming leading industries.

Fort Davis has 325 clear days a year, making it a wholesome climate for tourists. The town now lags only because it has no railroad. A hotel, a lighting plant, laundry and bakery are needed. The town recently affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"YOUR AGE, PLEASE"; JURRESS SAYS "OVER 21"

SULPRUR, Okla., May 22.—In a recent trial here the first jury in Oklahoma composed entirely of women was impanelled. When the attorney for the plaintiff took up the examination of the prospective jury, the first question he asked one of the young women concerned was her age.

"Well, I'm over 21 years old," was the instant reply, chorused in turn by other members of the venire. It was "ladies of the jury" when attorneys began their arguments.

A verdict was returned in favor of the defendant, a woman charged with having taken sixty watermelons from an old man who had worked on her farm and had rented part of the ground on shares.

SIX THOUSAND ACRES IN COTTON AT FABENS

FABENS, May 22.—Six thousand acres will be planted to cotton in this section this year. All of it will be irrigated. Fabens has just gotten a new bank and gin. The town has become a unit of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

EAGLES MAKE IT TWO IN ROW FROM EASTLAND JUDGES

Special to The Times. Eastland, May 22.—Abilene made it two straight from the Judges yesterday afternoon, 7 to 3. The Eagles put the game on ice in the third and fourth innings, two runs being scored in each. C. Johnson started the game for Eastland but was given rugged support and was relieved at the end of the fourth frame. Dorough taking his place. He held Abilene runless until the eighth when two more runs were put over. Pressly started the game for Abilene but after he had walked two men in the first inning he was relieved and Krause took his place. His pitching, coupled with good support and some careless base running by Eastland, held the home team down. The frames of the game were a catch by Hahn and the batting of Krause, Bratcher and Kizziar.

Ranger Hi Beats Eastland, 9 to 8, in Seven Frames

Ranger Hi, full of zip, took an interesting game from Eastland at Municipal park Friday, 9 to 8. Eastland gave up the struggle in the seventh inning. Williams, Hubbard, Hill and Huffman of Ranger all hit the ball hard, each hanging up a home run. The line-up: Eastland—Andrews, short; Perryman, third; Littlejohn, second; Brelsford, left; Russell, catcher; Jones, first; Connor, center; Conway, right; and Matthews, pitcher. Ranger—B. Hill, first; Huffman, pitcher; A. Williams, catcher; D. Williams, third; Deffebach, center; Paul, short; J. Hill, left; Hubbard, second; Pellern, left.

Phats Work Out Nightly at Park Leans Elsewhere

Nine ponderous players, best of their weight in this section, have been working out nightly at Municipal park and will have something to show the fans Sunday when they dash out at 4 p. m. to defend the fair names of the Phats against the attack of the shrewy aggregation of the Leans. This is today's bulletin from Joe Harness, Phat captain. Save that the flinger would be one of Ranger's plumpest and most popular clothing merchants, and an Elk in good standing, Mr. Harness would not say who was to do the chunking for his boys; but it is known that Big Boy Stein will be on the other end of the quarter-ton battery. Big Boy is a real receiver with Class A experience and will show them something, Joe promises, in cutting down Lean base-runners. The Leans are doing their rehearsing in some of the city's leading soda water bars, according to Phat reports, and will be in no shape to meet the heavy boys. The game will not be won orally, the Phats state, and that is the only practicing the Leans have been doing, they say. Ralph Stockman, Lean manager, refused to answer this allegation, but gave his interviewer a Mona Lisa smile and the enigmatic reply, "Wait and see." The fans are waiting.

OLYMPIC GAMES GOAL OF EVERY TRUE ATHLETE

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Lawson Robertson, coach of the University of Pennsylvania track team, in announcing his training rules for the present season, urges his athletes to make the Olympic games the goal of their athletic aspirations. "Every man has the highest obtainable athletic honor before him," he says. "This is to represent the United States in the Olympics. It means no little sacrifice, but the men who are willing to forego the pleasures of social life and attend strictly to the tasks imposed by the coaches have 75 per cent of success in their grasp. The other 25 per cent is athletic ability. "Every man must train himself and the 'honor system' will be used. Smoking is prohibited for athletes and for visiting friends. Every athlete must be in bed at 10:45 p. m., and there is to be no unnecessary noise after 10:15. "Eat slowly and chew your food well. A small portion of food well chewed is worth double the amount bolted. Don't drink water after exercising or before meals. Two days before and on the day of competition, the rations will be cut in half. Try to go to sleep at a definite hour and lie in bed ten minutes after awakening before rising. "Try to be cheerful. Cheerfulness is next to Godliness. A shrewd candidate never won a championship. Remember that training is regularity." The Only One That Counts. (Indianapolis Star.) Foremost among the objectives of all parties is a policy of more votes for nominees.

Red Sox Luck Is Due to Pitching Says Mr. Barrow

International News Sporting Editor. NEW YORK, May 21.—Manager Ed Barrow, of the Red Sox, attributes the success of the Bostonese largely to fine pitching. Prior to the opening of the season the Barrowites were not classed among the stronger clubs of the American league by the critics. Even the Boston writers failed to find anything in the Sox to enthuse about. Despite gloomy forecasts Manager Barrow and his players sawed wood and said nothing. Here was Barrow's chance to break in as a "miracle man." And he "busted" right in, though he isn't tooting his own horn. "I think we'll be in the race all the way," said Barrow recently. "So far the success of this club has been the result of fine pitching plus good defensive strength. I have always maintained that any club with fielding ability and the willingness to do what its manager directs is going to win games if the pitching holds up. That's what the Red Sox have been doing. "Look at Joe Bush. Last season he pitched only eight innings for us all summer—two in one game and six in another. This year he has been a whiz, and has not hoisted the distress sign yet. I'm working Bush moderately, for I have plenty of pitching material. Sam Jones, Allan Russell, Waite Hoyt, Herb Pennick and Harry Harper have all been in shape since the bell rang and all have pitched winning baseball. They comprise my regular staff and you see I can afford to work them without overstrain. With the exception of a tendency to tire in the late innings of a game on the part of several of the pitchers the work of the staff as a whole has so far been above criticism. "Before the season opened I knew that my infield was going to play good baseball. And I was pretty sure of my outfield, too. Harry Hooper has entirely recovered from the attack of influenza that hurt his playing last year. Tim Hendry who led the batters of the American association in 1919 is going good for us, and Mike Menoskey, who came to us from Washington, is living up to my fondest hopes. "Barrow is not in line with the host of so-called experts who believe that the Cleveland Indians should win the American league pennant. Speaking of the race, he said: "I don't see how the Cleveland club is going to beat out the White Sox. It looks as though Eddie Cicotte is going to keep on pitching till he is one hundred years old. "Cleveland has a mighty good club," he continued, "but I can't figure them beating Chicago, barring injuries to Glenn's men. The race may narrow down to the Indians and White Sox, for nobody will take Detroit seriously till they actually win a pennant. Every year they look good before the season opens—and then they blow up. "As I said before, I'm making no predictions as to where the Red Sox will finish."

MARATHON RUNNING DANGEROUS TO ATHLETE

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Marathon running is a dangerous practice and will shorten the life of an athlete by several years, according to Alfred Shrubb, famous coach of the Oxford-Cambridge track team which came to this country to participate in the University of Pennsylvania relay races. At a banquet in honor of his team Shrubb urged that American youths should not be encouraged to compete in long distance contests. The effect on the muscles, heart and other organs, he said, causes premature death.

The list of champions in the minor branches of sport for 1920, when compiled next winter will contain the name of one Roland Cioni, familiarly known as Cy. This youth won the world's roller skating championship for the sixth consecutive year during the winter rink season recently ended. Cioni defended his title against a field of the best stars in the country at Columbus, Ohio. He is an Akron boy, twenty-four, and while prepping to defend his title captained a team that won the industrial championship of Akron. Cioni did his bit in the World war, being wounded at Chateau Thierry by shrapnel and later being gassed in the Argonne Forest battles.

The Woman Who Saw

That Wild, Wild Village.

"I'm so worried about Peggy," Mrs. Wilson was having tea with Mrs. Wealthy from her home town, a fussy little housewife who found she had raised a duckling in her twentieth century daughter. From the ornate balcony where their table stood, the Woman could look down on the elaborate confectionery department, and while she listened with one ear to the maunders of her hostess, she watched a plump lady buy pounds and pounds of expensive sweets. And because she happened to be thinking most of this, she wondered how far the lady's candy bill for a week would go toward buying much needed food for a day nursery in which she is interested. And with what improvement to the lady's figure.

"Do you think it's dangerous?" "Dangerous?" The woman turned with a start. "Oh, my dear Mary," and the voice was pained, "I am afraid you aren't listening and that's why I asked you to tea. To talk about Peggy. She's getting such queer ideas on what she calls capital and labor and the rights of the working people. I'm sure she never heard me talk that way, or her father. I don't know where she hears such things. But the worst is the impossible people she knows—women with their hair cut off who smoke. And she goes with them to a place they call the Village, though it seems to be right here in New York, to restaurants with the queerest names, in cellars, my dear. Most unsanitary, I should think. I've been reading the papers lately about all this deporting and sometimes I can't sleep nights. Tell me the truth. Do you think it's dangerous for her to go there? Do you think some time when she was there the police might just deport everybody in the cellar and send them all to Russia?"

A Scoury Trick.

One good turn should deserve another, but this lad was "out of luck." It was in a downtown express subway train that the Mid-Victorian lady directed her attention to the man sitting opposite her. A cheerful looking youth who sat beside her. She was interested in seeing which section of the paper so completely absorbed his attention. It was the "Help Wanted—Males" column that he seemed to be studying, and the thought occurred to her that perhaps this young man could fill the vacancy here. A Wall street man, had mentioned the evening before. With a brief apology she began chatting with him. It developed that he was one of our boys discharged from the navy and very willing to try anything.

Just as she was about to write down the Wall street address for him, a wabby old gentleman sitting opposite chose that moment to rise, preparatory to leaving the car, regardless of the fact that the approach to the Time Square station is on the curve. Quick action on the part of the youthful prevented a fall and he escorted the querulous old gentleman to the platform and started him on his way to the local trains. Turning quickly to regain the express, he was just too late. The door slammed behind his face and the train started. Lost—A Job! The Mid-Victorian lady sears every young face she meets in the hope of hearing that this young Chesterfield has found the good position he merits.

Fed Up.

The Woman wasn't one of the curious who perched on the steps of St. Thomas's to see fragmentary snatches of the Littleton-Vanderbilt wedding. Somehow the idea of intruding where she has not been invited has always seemed to her the height of bad breeding. But she met one of those who did shove in, and the storm of that occasion.

She was crossing Madison avenue at Forty-seventh street when she met a weary looking creature whose blue cape sagged listlessly from one corner and brushed the sidewalk as she plodded along. Her handbag gaped open, and the Woman, intent on playing part of Good Samaritan, stopped to call her attention to the fact.

"Thanks," said the weary one, "but it won't stay shut, and it don't matter anyway, for there's nothing left in it of any account." Then she hitched the dragging cape further on to her shoulders. "Say," she continued, "take it from me and never try to see one of them fashionable weddings. I just come from St. Thomas's, where one of them Vanderbilts got married, and look at me!"

"Yes, I seen the bride, for I got there hours ahead of time. But I'm wonderin' if it was worth it. For I lost some money, my feet is all wore out, and I bust my bag trying to keep hold of it. Did they shove and push? Them parades when the troops come home and the cops got busy wasn't half as bad. And now I got to get home and do a bit of washin' that ought to be out long ago. Never again, is my motto."

After the Lecture.

The Woman happened to take a seat in the car directly behind two of her sect who she had just seen in the audience at the lecture. Said one of them enthusiastically, "Wasn't it just wonderful the way he ripped Victorianism up the back and danced on it?"

The more thoughtful looking of the two spoke: "Do you know, my dear, I think that pastime is getting to be a bit cheap. It's been done so much that when a lecturer starts that way I always suspect that he has very little of his own to offer. It might be wholesome to reflect that our children may have just as much right to make fun of us in a few years. Besides, that professor pronounced 'turgid' with a hard 'g', so what right has he to criticize anybody?"

"But you don't want to be a back number, do you?" protested the modernist. "Everything is Russian, you know, nowadays, emancipated and pessimistic and that sort of thing. You must give yourself away by liking anything that is respectable or has a happy ending. It simply isn't done."

Army Ambulance

Get Together for

Old Time Reunion

By Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 22.—College men from over the country will gather in Allentown, Pa., June 8, 9 and 10, for a reunion of the United States army ambulance service. Milwaukee headquarters officials announce. June 8 is the third anniversary of the call for volunteers from colleges to serve as ambulance drivers with the French and Italian armies. In answer to the call, 5,000 young men dropped their studies and went to the fair grounds camp at Allentown, where they enlisted in the United States army and trained for overseas service.

These men later served with valor transporting wounded from the front lines of the allied armies. Italy conferred the war cross on practically every American ambulance man who served with her armies, and France decorated hundreds of Americans who hauled her wounded.

The call for the reunion has been issued by Basil L. Walters, secretary pro tem of the Ambulance Service association, who has opened a national headquarters at 845 Cass street, Milwaukee. An ambulance service magazine is published from this headquarters. The sole purpose of the association is declared to be to perpetuate the friendships formed by the American college men while in service.

The old fair grounds at Allentown, which served as Camp Crane during the war, will be refitted as a camp for three days. The men will bunk and mess as they did while preparing for duty overseas. The association will elect its first permanent officers.

Ranger Supports Orient R.R. Well Officer Reports

J. M. Rutherford, traveling freight passenger agent for the Orient lines, with headquarters in San Angelo, was in Ranger yesterday looking after business interests of the railroad. Mr. Rutherford stated to a Times reporter that Ranger furnishes the Orient with the heaviest freight volume of any town in West Texas not on the road.

Mr. Rutherford takes a hopeful view of the financial difficulties of the road. He stated that the citizens of the rich trade territory served by the road are making a united effort to induce Congress and the railroad commission to grant the $4,000,000 loan recently requested to make extensions and repairs and purchase new rolling stock and other equipment.

He pointed out the fact that by building a few miles of track through South-west Texas the Orient will be able to connect with two trunk lines traversing Old Mexico and will then offer the shortest route from Old Mexico to the North and East.

Mr. Rutherford is an expert on Mexican affairs and keeps in close touch with the shifting political situation in the southern republic. He holds that the best men of Mexico are behind the present revolution and are determined to end the chaos which has reigned for several years and establish a stable constitutional government. Leaders of the revolution are very friendly toward America, he said, and he expects to see good will and permanent business relations established between the two countries.

MANY BILLIONS LEAVE BUDAPEST CLANDESTINELY

BUDAPEST, May 22.—It is estimated by the newspapers that money, jewels, precious metals and other valuables of small size and easy concealment, to the value of several billions of crowns have been smuggled out of the country in recent months. The government is considering a plan to organize a force of 4,000 frontier customs guards to stop this smuggling for export. A large number of men already are employed for that purpose.

RICE WAS LOUISIANA'S BEST CROP FOR YEAR 1919

NEW ORLEANS, May 22.—Rice led all Louisiana crops in value in 1919, according to the board of trade. Value of the 1919 rice crop was $53,420,000. Cotton was second with a valuation of $52,500,000, corn third and sugar cane fourth. The sugar crop was the shortest in many years, being little over half that of 1918.

SOUND ADVICE ABOUT EATING

Alabama Lady Says We Impose on Nature by Over-eating, But Thedford's Black-Draught Will Make You Feel Better.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors, Mrs. Mary Manning, of this place, says: "I never have and never expect to find a better medicine than Black-Draught. When I've had a cold and needed a laxative, I used Black-Draught. I use it for sour stomach, headache and indigestion, and it does the work."

"I believe most ills we have are caused from inactive liver. We impose on nature by over-eating, and then the liver don't act. We get lazy and no-account. It is hard for us to do our work, and we'd get real sick if we didn't take something. The best remedy I have found yet is Black-Draught. It doesn't leave you constipated, and I feel better after taking a round of it."

Made from purely vegetable ingredients, Black-Draught acts in a natural way, and is free from the bad after-effects of so many mineral drugs. Get a package today. Be sure that it bears the word "Thedford's." Thedford's is the only genuine Black-Draught liver medicine.—Adv.

DEPOSITORS ASK STATEMENT FROM BANK OF RANGER

Depositors of the Bank of Ranger met last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Marston building, and took steps toward the forming of a depositors' protective association.

After the situation was discussed, it was decided to appoint a committee of three to get all possible information concerning the condition of the bank's affairs and report at another meeting of the depositors this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 100-107 Marston building.

Action at tonight's meeting will depend upon the report of the committee, which is composed of L. P. Kirby, chairman; L. P. Spalding of Spalding & Evans, secretary, and Patrick Guheene.

The bank officers will be asked to make a statement containing the information desired by the depositors.

HUGE VINTAGE ON CALIFORNIA VINES; GROWERS GAMBLING

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—The buds of a tremendous vintage are on the grapevines in California and the growers are taking a chance that prohibition restrictions will be modified before grape-crushing time next September and October, according to E. M. Sheehan, former secretary of the state viticultural commission.

"Last year," Sheehan said, "the wine grape yield was 300,000 tons from 170,000 acres, with an uncertain market. This year the yield, weather permitting, will be equally as great with a market that must be brought into existence. The growers have staked a fortune estimated at $12,000,000, the value of the vintage, on the hope that the prohibition statutes will be swept away or modified to the extent that they will allow vines of the moderate alcoholic content formerly manufactured here."

"If prohibition remains, two avenues, both highly uncertain, according to the growers are open for disposal of the grape yield. One is through manufacture of grape syrup and the other is the wine raisin grape market."

BICYCLE IS MARVEL TO FAR NORTH INDIANS

WINNIPEG, Man., May 22.—Indians brought to Winnipeg from the Far North to participate in the Hudson's Bay anniversary pageant, some of whom had never been in a large city before, when asked what they thought was the most wonderful thing witnessed here, declared it to be the bicycle. The reason for this, they said, was because they could see the workings of the bicycle; whereas they failed to understand the mechanism of the locomotive, the airplane, automobile or the immense structures of the city.

Texahoma Oil Gets Strong Gasser Six Miles From Strawn

STRAWN, May 22.—The Texahoma Oil company struck a 30,000,000-foot gasser in section 78, block 3, T. P. railroad company survey, about six miles north of the town of Strawn last night. Pete Jackson, contractor drilling the well, states that indications are good for oil production at a depth of 1,400 feet, where the gas pay was found. This well was started with a 24-inch hole for the purpose of drilling a deep and thorough test.

Indications are now that the usual good oil and gas pay of that vicinity will be found at a depth of around 1,500 feet and another well will be required for the deep test.

It will be remembered that the Ballard Oil corporation has recently abandoned a well in the northwest corner of section 64, same block, also of the J. H. Robinson ranch. This well had good showing of oil and gas at several different depths and oil in paying quantities was found around 3,500 feet. However, the well had to be abandoned on account of a shot exploding in the casing and jamming it until it was impossible to pull the pipe or clean out the hole.

SODA LAKE NO. 1 EXPECTED TO SPUD IN IMMEDIATELY

Special to The Times.
BARSTOW, May 22.—R. L. Moore and H. M. Keeling, representatives of the Fowler-Wickwire company, who have extensively large interests in Ward county around Barstow, were here today looking over the interests of their company. It is believed that oil activities will be started by this company in Ward county in the near future.

The Dominion Oil company has secured large holdings for future development, and their field superintendent, G. E. Ross, is located in Barstow, which is indicative of the immediate spudding in of their Dominion Soda Lake No. 1, in section 107.

The road between Barstow and Pecos is improving rapidly and will soon be a boulevard. Improvement of the city streets of Barstow is being pushed, and building is active. The Daily Oil News Bulletin, which moved from Pecos to Barstow, has located temporarily in the irrigation building but will soon occupy its permanent offices, which are under construction.

plans to be completed in the near future. A dredging machine for the irrigation irrigation interests, costing $13,000, is en route from Milwaukee, Wis., and is expected to be here within the next two days and will be used to dredge the ditches and for cleaning out the irrigation canals. This will add one more important machine to the already famous farming district of Texas, where the pioneer of the irrigation system is still being used extensively, and to the traveler who goes through Barstow, or visits there, it is the garden spot in far West Texas.
