LARGE AND SMALL CITIES ON EQUAL FOOTING IN UTILITIES COMMISSION BILL SUGGESTED

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, May 21.—A bill proposing to place gas pipe lines under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission will be introduced in the house today by Representative Cox of Taylor county. He said Governor Hobby assured him he would submit it.

Where a public utility derives at least three-fourths of its revenue from a municipality it should be considered a "local utility," and that municipality should have the sole power to regulate it within its corporate limits and there should be no appeal to the public utilities commission. Any other municipality served by such a utility should have the same status as a municipality served by a "general utility," and should have the rights and powers set forth in the following paragraph. Any municipality should have the right to refer the regulation of any utility, or the decision of any matter referring to a utility, to the public utilities commission should it so desire.

Where a corporation, directly or indirectly, serves several municipalities it should be considered a "general utility," and should be regulated by the public utilities commission, provided, however, that the property located within the corporate limits of each municipality should be dealt with as a separate utility, and the service and rates within its limits should be subject to regulation by the municipality as in the case of a "local utility" except that either the municipality or the utility should have the right to appeal to the public utilities commission. When an appeal to the courts is taken by any party from the decision of the public utilities commission, the venue should lie in the district court where the municipality is situated.

Natural gas companies should be recognized as public utilities and be subject to regulation by the public utilities commission or by municipalities as the case may be.

Utilities which serve municipalities indirectly, by supplying any commodity or service to local utilities, which, in turn, distribute it to the public, should be completely under the control and regulation of the public utilities commission.

A public utility should be required to secure permission from the public utilities commission, or from the municipality regulating it, as the case may be, before any increase in rate may be made.

Instances now exist where it is impossible for any governmental body, state or municipal, to protect the interests of the public by properly regulating public utilities. When regulation is attempted deplorable confusion may result under existing conditions. Only a comprehensive law can remedy the situation.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, That the League of Texas Municipalities earnestly requests that at the earliest practical moment the governor of Texas and the members of the state legislature bring about the enactment of suitable legislation on this subject in general conformity with the recommendation contained in this resolution.

The house committee on agriculture today recommended the investigation of the pink boll worm situation by a joint session of the house and senate agricultural committees, composed of twenty-one from the house and nine from the senate. The Louisiana department of agriculture wired that seed from infested parishes had been shipped to the following Texas points: Houston, Beaumont, Snyder, New Braunfels, San Augustine, Fort Worth and San Marcos. Educational bills approximating $6,500,000 are expected to be introduced today.

AUSTIN, May 21.—Concurrent resolutions proposing investigation of the pink boll worm situation by a joint session of the Senate and House Agricultural committees were adopted today in the House. Opponents of the non-cotton zone are said to favor the investigation. No boll worm legislation is expected until the investigation is completed. The Senate adopted the House resolution urging the Louisiana legislature to ratify federal suffrage.

Resolutions which will be submitted to the special session of the legislature with the purpose of securing the creation of a public utilities commission were drafted by the League of Texas Municipalities at its recent meeting in Dallas. Mayor Frank W. Wozencraft of Dallas was instrumental in securing the cooperation of large and small cities without friction.

Points embodied in the resolution which the legislature will consider are: No distinction should be made between large and small municipalities in the enactment of legislation affecting the regulation of public utilities. The same principles of law are applicable to municipalities of all sizes and no special favors should be granted.

WHEAT OFF THIRD AND PORK FOURTH, EXPERT ESTIMATE

CHICAGO, May 21.—J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, estimated today that the wheat production of the nation would be 35 per cent below normal this year and that pork production in the Middle West would be 25 per cent below grade.

Wet weather, shortage of labor and lack of transportation facilities are the chief causes for this condition, President Howard said.

Cotton is the only commodity which promises to hold its own this year, according to the review of crops made by the farm bureau chief. Every important food crop, he said, would show a falling off from last year.

It is too late now to do anything to remedy these conditions, he said. While efforts are now being made to get men out on the farms, he did not think they would be of much benefit this year, as farmers had their plans laid. Help in handling this season's crops, however, with the prospect of getting sufficient labor next year, would encourage farmers to larger production next season, he observed.

In parts of Kansas President Howard said wheat was very good, but outside of that he found nothing favorable in wheat to report.

Great losses in hogs have resulted from the cold, wet weather, he added. The number of brood sows, anyway, he said, was less than normal.

Wheat held on Kansas farms at the present time because of inability to get transportation, President Howard estimated amounted to $100,000,000 worth.

The Farm Bureau federation chief has just returned from an extended trip through the South and Middle West.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Heavy buying of Liberty and Victory bonds early today resulted in substantial recoveries from recent low records. The strongest gain was in the fourth series of 4 1/2's, which rose $2.30 to $84.30.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSE INVESTIGATION IS TO COMMENCE MONDAY

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Investigation of pre-election campaign expenditures of Republican and Democratic presidential candidates ordered by the senate will begin Monday. A sub-committee was appointed to do the work with all possible dispatch and hold open hearings. Managers of the campaign of various candidates will be asked to attend the session Monday.

OLD HISTORY OF AUSTIN CONTAINS VALUED FACTS

AUSTIN, May 21.—A valuable unpublished manuscript giving the history of Austin and the surrounding Colorado valley has just come into possession of the faculty of members of the faculty of the University of Texas school of history. It is the work of Frank Brown, who was for fifty-five years a resident of this city, and covers the period from the earliest explorations of the Colorado valley down through records of this section of the state to 1875. The university faculty say the work is the only one in existence with a connected and continuous record of this section of the state.

Much of the material in the history was collected from old settlers, according to Mrs. Henry Hutchings, daughter of Mr. Brown, and wife of Brigadier General Hutchings of Austin. Other sources of information were state records and the early newspapers of Texas.

Perhaps the most interesting parts of the manuscript are in quaint, old-time illustrations and realistic accounts of encounters with Indians. The latter are said to contain valuable information regarding the life of the Indian, their government, religion and attitude toward the intrusion of the white race.

MADRID WILL HOLD FAN EXPOSITION, MAY

MADRID, May 21.—Spanish cities are intensely interested in an exposition of fans to be held here this month. More than 400 beautiful specimens showing the development of the art of fan making in the last three centuries have been entered in the exposition.

Queen Victoria was among the first to offer her support to the exposition and to participate in it. Others of the royal house, including the queen mother, the Infantas Isabel and Luisa, the Duchess of Talavera and nearly every titled woman in Spain followed her example.

BULLET KILLS WOMAN

Mrs. Ida Powell, 22 years old, wife of J. L. Powell, a grocery merchant living three miles west of Ranger, was found dead on a bed in a tent in which the Powells lived, at 9 o'clock this morning. A pistol lay near her right hand.

A note addressed to her cousin, Ida Williams, stated that she was tired of living. A box of keepsakes was with the note.

The dead woman had been shot through, or in the immediate vicinity of the heart. The bullet emerged two inches below the point of entrance and a little to the right of the spinal cord.

The husband of the woman runs a grocery store and cold drink stand at the point on the Eastland road where the tragedy occurred. He and his wife lived in the tent a few feet in the rear of the store.

Powell also delivers groceries through the oil fields. He left home about 7 a. m. on this errand. He had not been located at noon today, but a messenger was sent to notify him.

Mrs. Martha Davis, who lives a short distance from the store, said she was talking with the dead woman at 10 o'clock last night and she was in good spirits. It was Mrs. Davis who found the body. She came to the store at 9 o'clock and found it locked. She then went to the tent and found the dead woman.

She called to a man who had stopped to make a purchase, and through him the officers were notified.

Officers Notified.
Justice of the Peace McFatter and Deputy Sheriff John Barnes answered the summons. Later H. C. Gambill also made an investigation.

The pistol was found with an empty shell in the chamber. A bullet hole was in the board wall of the tent, and a bullet of the same caliber as the gun was picked up in the yard. Beneath the dead woman canvas was found, which appeared to have been spread over the bed. A lamp chimney lay shattered over the floor, where it had fallen from a table near the foot of the bed.

Her Farewell Message.
A neatly done-up package was discovered in the small grocery store run by the Powells. A sheet of paper on the package bore the following words, written in a feminine hand: "This box of things is for Iva Williams. I want her to have them, for I love her, and I wish this to be sent to her."

In the box was a long note addressed to Iva Williams, who neighbors said, is a cousin of the deceased and lives in the east part of Ranger. The note mentioned trouble Mrs. Powell said she had with her husband. "I am long gone for another world," it said. "I am not mad at anybody but am tired of living."

The note covered the back of an old circular. It mentioned the gifts which were included in the box. One of them was a chromo of soldiers in battle. According to a neighbor, it was sent to Mrs. Powell by her brother while he was in France and was prized very highly by her. Some other little trinkets and some silverware were in the box.

The tent where Mrs. Powell lived had been carefully cleaned up and household utensils put in place and dishes covered up. All the evidence pointed to the fact that she had carefully planned the details of her act.

Told of Intent.
A neighboring woman who was on intimate terms with Mrs. Powell said that she saw her and talked with her yesterday and that Mrs. Powell told her then that she intended to commit suicide. Several neighbors said she had made this threat a number of times.

Friends of the Powell family said that Mr. Powell thought a great deal of his wife and so far as they had ever seen, treated her with the utmost consideration. They said she had been in bad health for some time and they held the opinion that she became mentally deranged.

Justice of the Peace McFatter held an inquest over the body at 4 p. m. The Milford Undertaking company has charge of funeral arrangements.

ENGLAND INTERESTED IN AMERICAN PRICE SLUMPS; HAS HOPES

LONDON, May 21.—Cabled reports today said that United States price slumps have an enormous interest in England. They excite the hope that they may be reflected here. Some writers say there is little hope of American conditions affecting England.

WHOLESALESAFFECTED.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Price cutting today reached the wholesalers when managers of prominent department stores announced they would refuse to buy from jobbers unless substantial reductions were made. An official of the department store with branches in six cities, said, "we are not buying our future stock now and will not until the manufacturers and wholesalers come down with their prices."

INDIA BISHOP WORKS WAY OVER ATLANTIC TO ATTEND MEETING

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 21.—Bishop Frank W. Warner, of India, had to work his way across the Atlantic ocean as a common laborer in order to get to Des Moines for the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. He arrived about a week late, but is here.

Telling of his experiences, Bishop Warner said it was a case of "putting on a pair of overalls and doing a little work, or not coming to the conference at all." From Mesopotamia to Port Said he rode on an oil boat. On the way to Port Said the captain sent a wireless message asking for passage to America. The only answer came from a tramp steamer and that conditioned on the "passenger" working his way.

"Bishop accepts job" was the answer. At Port Said Bishop Warner boarded the freighter, was given an oil can, sent to the engine room and kept busy oiling from morning until night all the way across the Atlantic.

CAR SHORTAGE IN PANHANDLE IS CHIEF RAILROAD PROBLEM

AUSTIN, May 21.—The general condition of Texas railroads was reported good by the railroad commissioners to the interstate commerce commission following a hearing with Texas railroad executives. A shortage of 3,300 cars needed to move grain spoiling in the Panhandle was the chief exception.

NO MORE GRAIN TO GALVESTON BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF SHIPS

FORT WORTH, May 21.—Railroads here were instructed today that because of the grain embargo levied at Galveston no more grain can be shipped there except on special permit. The embargo is due to accumulation of wheat because of shortage of boats. A two hundred-pound daily limit placed by the American Railway Express company in the Southwest was ordered lifted here today.

RICH TRACT IN RANGER FIELD CONTAINING 15 ACTIVE WELLS SUBJECT OF BIG DAMAGE CASE

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, May 21.—A three-million-dollar lawsuit was filed in the Eighth-eighth district court here this morning which involves one of the richest tracts of land in Eastland county—that of the famous Sue tract, located three miles north-east of Eastland.

M. Westbrook is named as plaintiff and B. S. Walker, Tom Harrell and several other local oil operators are named as defendants. One defendant, the petition recites, resides in London, England. Several joint stock associations and pipe line companies are also named as defendants.

Trespass to try title and possession of the tract, consisting of 196 acres, is asked, and a receiver is requested. The tract of land in controversy contains fifteen producing wells and damages in the sum of $3,000,000 is asked.

BIGGEST FREIGHT DAY RECORDED, RANGER, MAY 20

Twenty carloads of merchandise consigned to local business houses were received here yesterday, over the Texas & Pacific railroad. This is the largest shipment ever received at Ranger in one day, railroad officials said.

ENGLAND READY TO RESUME RELATIONS WITH MEXICO, SAID

By Associated Press
CHIHUAHUA CITY, May 21.—A telegram from Eziquiel Salido, labor representative with General Elias Callias, from the Mexico City information bureau said relations between England and Mexico will be resumed when the new provisional president assumes office. General Lucio Blanco and Francis P. Demarials have offered to surrender unconditionally. Carranza, with a small force, is fleeing across the mountains towards Barranquilla on the coast.

VILLA STILL A FACTOR.

By Associated Press
BOQUILLAS, Chihuahua, May 21.—Francisco Villa is yet a factor in Mexican affairs and as ready and willing to take the field against the newest revolutionary forces as he was against Carranza, he told an Associated Press correspondent here today. He declared the successor to Carranza must fully satisfy his ideals of government before he would retire to private life.

KANSAS WHEAT CROP STAGING A COME-BACK

By Associated Press
TOPEKA, Kans., May 21.—Kansas wheat crop is staging a phenomenal come-back, according to reports of the agricultural bureaus, both state and federal. Received by an abundance of rain after the driest winter ever recorded in the state's great central wheat belt, wheat is now declared to be in excellent condition in nearly all parts of the state. Based on conditions on May 1, the Kansas agent of the U. S. department of agriculture recently estimated the crop this year will be 32,082,000 bushels. Last year Kansas produced approximately 150,000,000 bushels.

The present prospect, in relation to the national output, is that Kansas will produce 19.2 per cent of the country's crop of winter wheat, as compared with 30.6 per cent last year. The unfavorable winter season took a heavy toll on the acreage of 9,193,000 planted last fall. The federal report says that sixteen per cent has been abandoned, leaving a present acreage of 7,725,000. In some counties, ordinarily among the most heavy wheat producers, the abandonment exceeds half the number of acres planted.

The report stated that as a rule farmers took little chance of having to harvest a thin crop, because of the scarcity and high price of labor and threshing. A convention of farmers recently set seventy cents an hour as a fair wage for harvest labor. The harvest this year probably will start late in June in the extreme southern counties.

ARKANSAS FARMERS ARE LUCKY IN LABOR PROBLEM

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 21.—According to the May report of the Kansas co-operative crop reporting service, Arkansas farmers are suffering less from industrial service than farmers in other portions of the country. They are behind in their farm work, however, the report states, due to excessive rains, and are suffering somewhat from labor shortage.

Losses in livestock, except sheep, are declared to be greater in Arkansas than in other portions of the country, the report declares. The rice acreage this year is declared to be seventy per cent of last year's acreage and its condition eighty-five per cent as compared with the eight-year average.

Gholson No. 8 Blows In For 2,000 Barrels

Texas company's J. M. Gholson No. 8, six miles northeast of Ranger, blew itself in last night unexpectedly and is now making 2,000 barrels of oil at 3,162 feet. The well is an offset to Sun company's E. Y. Jennings B. 2, which came in several weeks ago for 3,600 barrels and is still making heavy production.

A number of wells were drilled on the J. M. Gholson lease of the Texas company, east of the present well, but proved to be no good. The lease consists of 1,000 acres.

The J. M. Gholson No. 8 will make at least 3,000 barrels when completed, company officials estimate. No storage was on the ground when the well came in last night, and the six-inch casing had not been set. A dirt dam was erected to take care of the oil temporarily and pipe line connections have now been made.

The well encourages the belief expressed by many oil men that a very rich district has been tapped near Tiffin.

Compensation Bill May Come Up in House Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, May 21.—With soldier relief legislation facing the last obstacle before its consideration by the house, Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee today planned to obtain legislative preference through the rules committee for consideration of the bill which was reported yesterday. Approval of the rules committee would permit the consideration of the bill tomorrow under the provision limiting debate to four hours with only one amendment.

TOLEDO MAYOR'S PLAN FAILS; NO TENTS AT HAND

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 21.—Mayor Cornell Schreiber's move to make Toledo a city of tents to take care of the hundreds unable to find homes, has met with a reverse due to the refusal of the government to supply the tents.

The mayor received a reply recently saying that the government has no canvas that can be used in such a manner. Mayor Schreiber has appealed to owners of vacant rooms to throw them on the market.

LONE STAR.

Ethel Clayton Pictures Have Appeal That Wins Audience.

"A Lady in Love" is Example of Human Note Struck by this Popular Young Star.

Do you enjoy seeing motion pictures in which folks you know play the different roles? If you do, you are an admirer of the type of screen entertainment which Ethel Clayton has been offering lately. Here is one star who seems bent upon portraying us as we are. Her stories have that intensely human note, which somehow warms the cockles of a film audience's hearts as no lavish setting or "stunt stuff" can do.

In "The Thirteenth Commandment," the picturization of Rupert Hughes' strong story, Miss Clayton demonstrates that the wife who spends more than her husband earns and gives nothing in return is, to say the least, a very poor sport. "Young Mrs. Winthrop" was a deserved success, because Miss Clayton in a thoroughly sympathetic and appealing manner portrayed the young wife who seeks indiscreet pleasures because her husband's over-devotion to business gives frequent periods of loneliness. Surely a common enough state of affairs.

And now Miss Clayton is coming to the Lone Star theatre today in another of those attractively human dramas, "A Lady in Love." In this one, she is a sheltered convent girl, in love with love, who marries unwisely and lives to rue it. Of course, there is another man, and happiness awaits them at the end of a troublesome trail. Harrison Ford is the leading man. Walter Edwards was the director, and it is a Paramount Artercraft picture.

OPERA HOUSE.

"Lasca" Current at Local Playhouse. Universal's Screen Version of Famous Poem Features Frank Mayo.

Universal's new photodrama, "Lasca," which was shown at the Opera House last night, is an adaptation, by Percy Heath, of the famous poem of the same name written years ago by Frank Desprez, and which has since been read, memorized and recited by millions of men and boys. It tells a story of early Texas, "down by the Rio Grande," where men rode the wide range and vast herds of cattle roamed the plains; it is a story of a girl in whose veins ran the blood of old Castile and who knew no creed save her own variable moods; it tells of her love for a young American rancher—a love that is elemental in its passion, uncompromising in its jealousy and superb in its self-sacrifice.

Norman Dawn, who directed the production, undoubtedly had the advantage of a well-chosen cast. Edith Roberts, who played the title role, is seen as the wild Mexican girl, and Frank Mayo, in the role of Anthony Moreland, is the young American whom she loves. Praiseworthy work is done by Veola Hart, as

LIBERTY.

William S. Hart in "The Toll Gate" "The man who never smiles," William S. Hart, in "The Toll Gate," now showing at the Liberty is seen in his best role.

Hart is shown as Black Deering head of a bandit gang. The old tradition of "honor among thieves" is not upheld. One of his men betrays him. He kills the traitor.

Afterwards Deering is captured by the sheriff. He knows death will be his portion for the crimes he has committed, and he begs to be allowed to go with a sheriff's posse to capture a band of outlaws, that he might die in a fair fight, as a two-gun man should. His request is granted, and he helps take the outlaws. For this he is freed with instruction to keep away from his old stamping grounds.

Tragedy has entered the story. A woman and her little child love him, for the good that his soul contains. But he is Black Deering and she a pure woman.

As the sun casts the western hills in a soft red glow, the reformed outlaw rides through the "toll gate" out into a new world—alone.

The Liberty also showed today the first episode of "The Lost City," a serial that will run in fifteen episodes.

LAMB.

Girl Overcomes Stigma of Slander in "Tarnished Reputations."

"Tarnished Reputations" is the feature booked for the Lamb theatre today. Dolores Cassinelli, the popular cameo girl of the screen, is the star. The picture is said to be a highly dramatic one offering Miss Cassinelli an opportunity to run the entire gamut of emotions and wear some striking gowns.

Mme Alice Blache, the first woman to direct motion pictures, directed "Tarnished Reputations," which is a story that particularly appeals to women. It depicts the struggles of a girl to overcome the stigma of slander. "Tarnished Reputations" is a Leonce Perret production. Mr. Perret is also responsible for the story which is enacted by, in addition to Miss Cassinelli, Albert Roscoe, George Deneubourg and Ned Barton.

New Tiny Theatre to Give Folk Plays for Foreign Born

NEW YORK, May 21.—Foreign-born Americans with a love for the drama of their native lands are to have a Folk theatre of their own, the project of Burton W. James, a local community worker who has directed Russian and Italian as well as English productions in New York.

The theatre, in which, it is said, "the plays of all nations" will be given by amateurs and professionals will be one of the finest in the city. It will seat only 200 persons but the plans contemplate that it shall be complete and modern in every way. The site selected is on the upper East Side.

Russians, Italians, Czech-Slovakians and many other former Europeans for years have presented grand opera, comedy and tragedy written by masters whose work has never been seen by Broadway theatregoers. Mr. James, who is enthusiastic about his venture, says that the primitive love for acting is very much alive in New York and that the zest for self-expression which persists among these one-time immigrants even in small dingy public halls with wretched stage accoutrements will never die.

"Night after night, all over New York," said Mr. James, "amateur actors of foreign nationalities entertain crowds of their countrymen with better plays than Broadway usually sees. Less than 5 per cent of them have ever been inside a Broadway theatre. When they do go to American shows it is necessarily to the cheapest kind. The influence of this is manifested in the taste for art which their children develop. But the parents never forget the pleasures they were used to in the 'old country.'"

"This is what I mean: A town that I know of in Bohemia, of 7,000 inhabitants, produced 'The Flying Dutchman' for their own entertainment. It must have taken every member of the community to put it on. I have sometimes offered the tiny stage at the Lenox Hill settlement where I direct dramatics, but when I say to an excellent group of Bohemian amateurs, 'come and play for us 'The Bartered Bride,' by your famous countryman, Setana,' they answer: 'Our orchestra would leave no room for the audience. And with such a small stage and no dressing rooms it would be impossible.'"

Interest in the Folk theatre has been taken by Hunter college which will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary here tomorrow with a festival including a benefit performance of "The Two Orphans," a play just a half century old itself. The box office receipts will be used as a nucleus for Mr. James' theatre enterprise. The Bohemian artists, Miletka and Mycesek, who have sympathized with the dramatic efforts of their fellow countrymen, have offered to co-operate, it is said, in the decorative arrangement and preparation of scenery.

British Suffragist Makes Appeal for Financial Support

LONDON, May 21.—"If this congress of women is to be a success we must appeal to the intelligent women of the world for financial assistance. It will be difficult for many of the delegates in view of the fall in exchange to incur the expense of attending the congress."

This is the basis of an appeal made by Viscountess Astor, Lady Botherwick and the Countess of Selborne for funds in order to defray the expenses of the eighth congress of the International Woman Suffrage alliance, to be held at Geneva from June 6 to June 12.

"Seven years have elapsed since the last congress," continues the appeal. "During this time women in Great Britain and in many other countries have gained the franchise. In thirteen nations the first stage of the struggle for woman's emancipation has been won."

"We are faced with the great problem of finance. Many of the delegates are poor—very poor. Our organization is not rich. The expenses will be particularly heavy. We must ask the help of the wealthy women of Great Britain and America."

"We will need the sum of $25,000 for the organization of the congress and for the carrying on of the international work—and we have nothing. We need the assistance of every woman who has the cause at heart, and we are sure that it will be freely given."

"We hope very much that this congress will bring strength and encouragement to the women who are still unfranchised. We have to remember that in most of the Latin countries women are voteless, and for the women of the East the work of emancipation has barely begun. Even in the countries where they have votes much work has yet to be done before women will have fully won their economic and social enfranchisement."

"The arrangements for our congress have to go forward at once, and as these arrangements will greatly depend—if not altogether—upon the means at our disposal we hope that the response will be immediate."

"If women of action and achievement, women who represent progressive thought and collective endeavor, can come from all corners of the earth and take counsel together there is reason to hope that new forces for good will be quickened and that they will bear far-reaching results."

Mrs. Emmeline Pethick Lawrence, whose London address is No. 11 Old Square, Lincoln's Inn, is acting as treasurer of the fund. It is hoped to raise, and already she is said to have received a number of favorable responses from a number of wealthy suffragettes.

RUBE GOLDBERG'S BOOBS—What Is Worse Than a Short Blanket?

Pop was smoking and thinking in the setting room, and I sed, Pop? That's me, sed pop, and I sed, Wait you think, pop, I got a grate idee, do you see this little memorandum book? And I held out a little memorandum book full of dates and spaces and pop sed, Yes, I see it, are you the author of that? No, sir; but I got a grate idee wat to do with it, every sent I get and every sent I spend Im going to put it down in this little memorandum book, so Ill always know exactly wat Ive got and exactly wat I havent, I sed.

Good, fine, grate, sed pop, Im glad to see you devlope a sents of economy after all these yeers of sewing wild oats with your money. The biogriffy of every grate bizness man shows that he started in by keeping a little account book, that's the rite spirit, a penny saved is a penny earned, keep up the good work.

Yes, sir, any theres just one trouble about it, pop, I aint got eny money to start making a note of, I sed. O, I see, lack of capital, well, that is a serious draw back in every financial undertaking. O well, sippose I give you a dime to start the ball rolling, how will that be? sed pop. Fine, I sed. And pop gave me a dime, saving. Heer you are, make a note of it wile the nensie hot. Wich I did, and pop sed, Good, wat did you rite down? and I sed, I rote, 10 cents for the movies. And I quick stuck the memorandum book in my pocket, saying, Did you see my hat around enywares, pap? Yee gods, gold bricks and frenzied fitties, sed pop. And I found my hat by myself and went around to look at the pictures outside to see ware the best movie was.

SAYS HUSBAND LEFT ON SPIRITS' ADVICE

International News Service. DETROIT, May 21.—The spirits told Charles Wilson to leave his wife and he did. Mrs. Mina Wilson told Judge Keidan all about it at Wilson's trial for desertion. The wife testified that her husband had long been interested in spiritualism and belonged to the "White Brotherhood of Truth." His religion interfered seriously with his home life, she said, and he left her. He was arrested and brought back, and thinks went well until last February.

Then Tom LaValley, a friend, went to their home and said: "I have drawn a circle and I find that you should part." Wilson had evidently anticipated the spirits' advice for he had his suitcase packed. His wife, however, became hysterical, and LaValley then offered to draw another line and "bind them together in the spirit."

The spiritual bond appeared to be weak, for a few days later he left again. The couple have a thirteen-year-old son.

REPLENISH WORLD STOCKS TO CUT HIGH PRICES

LONDON, May 21.—C. A. McCurdy, Great Britain's food controller, says high prices today are due to two main root causes.

First, there is an actual scarcity of world commodities, such as food, clothing, coal, iron and all sorts of manufactured goods, due to depletion of world surplus stocks during the war and to war wastage.

Second there has been a tremendous inflation or watering of paper money by the belligerents.

It will take years of hard work by all the nations until the first cause is remedied, he says. There has been no determined effort yet by European governments to take the water out of their currency.

McCurdy does not think European prices will fall very soon.

"At present," he says, "there are tens of millions of people in Europe lacking necessary foodstuffs, clothing, boots and all the necessities of life. When Central Europe becomes an effective purchaser in the world's markets there may be for a time a further rise in world prices."

"The world stocks of all essential commodities must be replenished and the war wastage made good before prices can come down."

Laborers in Vienna Prosper.

By! Vienna's the place. Red Cross workers there report street car conductors, tailors and laborers making from 25,000 to 50,000 crowns a year while doctors and lawyers and professional men generally only get from 10,000 to 15,000 crowns. Due to the fact that manual labor pays three times as much as executive positions, prosperity reigns throughout the homes of the artisans, the Red Cross workers say, while real misery lies in the abodes of the once salaried classes.

Pickles and Pop vs. Potatoes. Red Cross dietitians, investigating conditions among undernourished children in St. Louis public schools, found scores of youngsters who stated their preferences for dill pickles and soda pop as against baked apples, cup custard, roast beef, mashed potatoes, vegetable soup and similar nourishing foods. Hot palatable dishes are being furnished them at noon in Red Cross community kitchens.

GOOD ROADS MOVIES.

Ranger has used the movies in many ways, the last instance being that of recording the enthusiasm and teamwork of the Chamber of Commerce teams in the reorganization drive. It is suggested that Ranger have a reel in the West Texas moving pictures that will be a part of the campaign of publicity that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is organizing to cover the Middle West and East by airplanes. It is becoming quite the thing for any state or section of the country that desires a little publicity to achieve its place in the national eye by getting out motion pictures of its industries, its thriving cities and its spots of scenic beauty or historic interest. Such films show chiefly the bright and prosperous side of life in that region.

Virginia is using the movie for another purpose. The Virginia Good Roads association is planning to make movies showing Virginia's lacks, particularly her need of good roads.

These pictures are to bear the title, "Virginia's New Hour." Their main purpose is to arouse the people of the state to the disability of a state system of roads to meet present transportation needs and to prepare for the greater needs of the future.

There will be pictures demonstrating the benefits of good roads upon commercial and industrial success. There will be others carrying the story of the value of good roads still farther, showing how they affect the social, religious and educational life of the people. Backward sections retarded in development by poor roads will be ruthlessly filmed along with the sections which have made great advancement because of their fine highways.

Here is a form of propaganda which should prove as interesting as it is helpful. The contrasts between thriving regions with networks of good roads and regions where there are no roads or very bad ones will no doubt be found sharper than the average citizen realizes. The pictures will present this contrast, and the object lesson will be driven home far more effectively than it could be by any amount of literature on the subject.

PAY OUR TEACHERS

ASTIN.—One-seventh of the teachers of Clay and Wilbarger counties resigned during the current year, according to reports of County Superintendent Hugh Moore of Clay County and J. N. Fulcher of Wilbarger county, received by the State Teachers' association. Thirteen of Clay County's ninety teachers quit; ten teachers of lower qualifications were employed in their places, three vacancies persisted till the close of school and one school remained closed to the end of the term. Superintendent Fulcher reports forty-six teachers, more than half, in Wilbarger county have second grade certificates. The average pay of teachers is $75 a month for assistants; carpenters receive $200 to $240 per month and common laborers get $125 to $150 in the same county.

Dallas.—Rusk county lost thirty of its teachers during the current year, and twenty-four in Upshur county quit since fall, according to reports of County Superintendents Elder of Glimmer and Padgett of Henderson, made to the Texas State Teachers' association. All recent applicants for certificates but one in Upshur county were without experience and were seeking the lowest grade certificate issued by the state. Twenty of Rusk county's thirty-six applicants have never taught and another ten had taught less than one year. Of Gregg county applicants Superintendent S. L. Wilson says, "We had seventeen applicants for certificates at the last examination; most of them school girls in the eighth grade. If some of them were to happen to pass and schools be turned over to these uneducated children, it might well disgust the children with schools and books."

Fort Worth.—Burleson, Fayette and Washington counties are to have untrained teachers in charge of their county school for next year if recent applicants for certificates in those counties are employed according to reports made by the county superintendents to the Texas State Teachers' association. Of the thirty-nine applicants in the three counties, thirty-one were entirely without experience and not one of the remaining nine had taught as much as seven months. Twenty-eight of the group were less than 19 years of age. "Last year we had thirty-five teachers working their first year in Fayette county," says Superintendent G. A. Stierling of LaGrange, "and eighteen of them had not taught before." Lee Hensley, superintendent of Burleson county says his county will have one-fourth of its teachers next year from among applicants without experience.

Brady.—Five schools or rooms in McCulloch and Mason counties have remained closed for the present term on account of inability to secure teachers, according to reports of Judge C. H. Garrett, ex-officio county superintendent of Mason county, and W. M. Deans, county superintendent of McCulloch county. To fill the vacancies for next year in these and Llano county, fifteen persons have applied for certificates. Ten asked for the lowest grade certificate authorized by the state, seven have never taught and five of the remaining seven have taught less than one school term. There were 145 teachers in the three counties this year with 5,057 pupils. Judge A. E. Moore, ex-officio superintendent of Llano county alone reports an increase in school taxes for next term and that in but one district.

American Missionaries Active in Korea Despite Hardships and Plan Complete Christianization

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—American missionaries in Korea, despite the hardships and dangers incident to reconstruction following the quelling by the Japanese of the recent uprising, are planning to "Christianize every district in the country," according to the annual report of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to the Presbyterian general assembly, made public here today.

Referring to the revolt, the report says: "The result proved anew that Japan will not voluntarily grant Korean independence; that the Koreans can not secure it by force and that other governments, having long ago recognized Japanese annexation of the peninsula, will not interfere. Costly too, was the movement to the Japanese, for it reinforced their critics, disheartened their friends, alienated the sympathy of the allied nations and brought upon the ruthless militarists the onerous name of 'the Huns of the Orient.'"

Regarding the attitude of the American missionaries toward the Koreans' revolt against the Japanese, the report quotes Bishop Herbert Welch of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Korea as saying: "It is no evidence of unfriendliness to the Japanese people that the missionaries became alienated in sympathy from the Japanese government, but only a testimony to the deep humanity of their feelings and to an indignation against wrong doing which was worthy of all praise."

"There is a general disposition to give the new administration in Korea a fair chance to remedy the undoubted abuses that exist," continues the report. "Americans," it says, "should distinguish between the civil and military parties among the Japanese. The former is composed of enlightened and progressive men, who feel as we do about the outrages that have been committed in Korea. The latter includes a large number of men who are thoroughly Prussian in their temper and conduct."

"Americans should bear in mind that there is a considerable element among the Japanese themselves who are greatly disturbed by the stern and iron-handed policy of the military party in dealing with the Koreans and who favor a wise and humane policy in dealing with them. It would be not only unwise but unjust to make indiscriminate condemnation of the whole Japanese nation."

Declaring that "China is in a state of chaos," the board says "it has been gratifying to read the reassuring statements of several eminent Japanese as to the intentions of their government adding, however, that "something more than words, however sincere, is required to remove misgiving and distrust." Greed and altruism, democracy and militarism, it says, are struggling for the mastery. During the year, the report says, Chinese churches connected with the Presbyterian, Congregational, United Brethren and London Missions have formed one organic Christian body. All other evangelical denominations have been invited to join.

Presbyterian foreign missionaries increased in 1919 from 1,364 to 1,428 and the native workers from 6,806 to 9,856. In order to meet the high cost of living, which in some fields like Japan, has increased over 300 per cent, the living allowances for the Presbyterian missionaries have been increased from the former standard of $1,250 a year to $1,500.

New methods of dealing with sedition in India have made mission activities in India more difficult. "All non-British subjects desiring to engage in philanthropic, educational, medical or missionary work being required to obtain a license." This was modified for the missionaries provided they declared due obedience and respect to the government and carefully abstained from political affairs. Reinforcements are called for "to check the growing power of Mohammedanism" in West Africa.

MICHIGAN SCHOOLS HAVE CONTINUATION LAW

By Associated Press

CALUMET, Mich., May 21.—Michigan school districts are preparing for the operation of a continuation school law, becoming effective September 1.

Under this measure, boys and girls up to eighteen years of age who are at work and have not graduated from a high school, must attend a continuation school for eight hours a week. The law is not retroactive, affecting only those who leave school after September 1, next.

Employers must make arrangements to permit their young people concerned to attend school the requisite number of hours each week. The law applies to all districts having a population of 5,000 or over. Elsewhere the establishment of a continuation is optional. The measure becomes operative as soon as fifty are found to come within the age limit.

REV. J. B. GAMBRELL'S SINGULARLY HONORED; ELECTED FOURTH TIME

FORT WORTH, May 21.—The Rev. Dr. James Burton Gambrell, personal scout of General Robert E. Lee, for the fourth time has been elected president of the Southern Baptist convention, the highest office to which a Southern Baptist can aspire. The honor is further enhanced by the fact that a president may serve but three terms.

Dr. Gambrell, who received his fourth election at the recent Southern Baptist convention in Washington, city, has passed his seventy-eighth birthday. For the past ten years he has resided in Dallas as editor of the Baptist Standard, while, at the same time, he has acted as theologian of the Southwestern Baptist seminary, Fort Worth.

During the war between the states he was scouted with the Confederate forces in Mississippi and Virginia and, finally, through noteworthy services was attached to the personal staff of the Southern commander-in-chief. During his 78 years he has been scholar, soldier, editor, author, teacher and preacher. Born in South Carolina, Dr. Gambrell, then a child, was taken to Mississippi where the outbreak of the war found him. Enlisting in the infantry, he attained the rank of captain early in the struggle; was transferred to service in Virginia where he soon attracted the notice of General Lee. Shortly after the close of the war he came to Texas.

REACH SATISFACTORY AGREEMENT IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 21.—Confirmation of reports that the petroleum interests have reached a satisfactory agreement with the present government of Mexico was secured today from Aureliano Mendiz, in charge of the treasury department.

Organized labor of the city of Ranger, feeling that it was their duty to express themselves as to their preference of the men now in the race for the office of sheriff of Eastland county, at our last meeting adopted the following resolution:

Be It Resolved, That the Central Labor Council of Ranger endorse the candidacy of John H. Moore for the office of sheriff of Eastland county. First, he is a fellow townsman. Second, having served as an officer in our town, we know him to be fearless and faithful in the discharge of his official duties, and last, though not least of all, he is a union man. Be It Further Resolved, That this resolution be printed in the Ranger Daily Times, also the Eastland daily paper. JOHN KELLAM, Secy. W. A. CAMPBELL, Political Adv.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

XXIV. A STRANGE DREAM AND WHAT IT MEANS.

I have a letter from a reader who reports a strangely interesting dream. I will print part of her story, as it may remind others of similar visions, and then I shall tell her what the near future holds in store for her.

"I am engaged to be married. Of late, I have been restless and have dreamed frequently; during the past month, the same dream has come to me at least half a dozen times. It seemed to me as though my fiancé and I were walking along an even, dusty road, and we noticed that it seemed to stretch miles ahead.

"A short time later—I don't know what happened in between—I felt a sudden shock and then I saw my fiancé. But it seemed to me as though he had grown very much older and while he saw me he did not speak to me and seemed very preoccupied and talked to himself. I went up to him and right after I woke up."

"By every sign of alphabet of dreams, you, though engaged to be married, have not yet realized the responsibilities which thus you assumed. Though you may love your fiancé dearly, you are reckless enough to still consider yourself still flirtations with other men. Your dream, then, was a warning which you must heed, unless, in stead of happiness and bliss, you are prepared to find unhappiness and sorrow in your married life.

"The long road you saw was life's path—smooth, but dusty with the grains of care. The abyss which suddenly confronted you is of your own making—the risk of sacrificing a whole life's happiness for the heart-play with others whose foolish pranks should now be beneath you —just as they stood hundreds of feet below you in your dream picture. You have in all likelihood tried to resume your former careless ways and your fiancé has warned you, and pulled you back from the brink, and the next time your foot seeks forbidden ground he will not pull you back—he may not be able to pull you back.

The rumble and noises you heard and the strange scenes you saw were the dream reflections of your coming wedding journey. The darkness and the solitude, a funeral during your honeymoon and your fiancé's sudden appearance and seeming unwillingness to see you and the queer manner in which he spoke, betoken cares heaped upon his shoulders by you. Then you grew repellant—and fate left the rest of the dream untold, for upon you will depend its conclusion.

Beware that you do not sell the gold of happiness for the dross of pleasure. The next chapter will deal with the Arms of Birds.

STAMPA RD COUNTY COTTON CROP DOUBLE THAT OF 1919

STAMPA RD, May 21.—Leading farmers of this section estimate that at least 200 per cent more acreage will be planted to cotton in Jones county this year than was the case in 1919.

These farmers figure that in 1919 60 per cent of the tillable lands was planted to wheat. This year much of the land planted to this grain was given over to cotton during the early spring drought and the hauling out of several hundred acres a few weeks ago.

The Woman Who Saw

A Wise One.

It was such a charming day of sunshine after gray, cold skies that the woman left the subway at Seventy-second street and started to walk home by way of the Drive. There were the battalions to enliven the stroll and perhaps she would drop a pound or two on route. One cannot lose too much in these days of the slender silhouette.

She turned the corner by the Schwab house and caught the gleam of daffodil yellow in what would have been called back home the front yard of that mansion. There weren't ten thousand of the golden beauties "tossing their heads in sprightly dance," but the few did fill her heart with pleasure and make it dance to their spring piping. Just ahead of her were two other women, the one young and fairly well dressed and the other, a few steps behind, a real old lady, the sort who wears a bonnet and black shawl.

The younger one at that moment unwrapped a cake of sweet chocolate and tossed the paper cover on the strip of green grass outside the iron fence. Quick as a flash the old lady picked it up and hurried to catch the younger one. The woman hurried too, for she had sensed a situation. Before she came within earshot the old lady had evidently addressed a mild reprimand to the offender and been rebuffed by a curt word or two. The look accompanying the rebuff said plainly, "Mind your own business." And the next words confirmed the deduction.

"Mind your business, my dear," I grant," came mildly from the old lady. "But I wish you would remember when you are tempted to litter the walk with rubbish the old adage, 'If each before his own door swept the village would be clean.' It's a good proverb."

The woman approved the sentiment heartily and went her way moralizing a bit on the scope of the old saw, moralizing which she is going to spare her readers.

Faulty Memory.

The woman accompanied her earnest friend, who is "doing hospitals this season," on her Sunday visit through the men's wards on the island. Charming gown and carrying a goodly store of fruit, cigarettes and chocolate in a basket she fluttered from bedside to bedside, making a bright splash of color in the cold gray of the ward. At each bed she paused for a cheery word of greeting. The men were aroused from their usual indifference, and each strove to be especial

TURKEY GETS PEACE TREATY; CONFERENCE AT SAN REMO

The supreme council in session at San Remo.

Turkey has received the allies' peace terms. The treaty, drawn up after the supreme council's sessions at San Remo, Italy, was presented to Turkish diplomats

ly courteous to their gracious guest. Finally she reached the cot of a burly "gem" man of color. He lay flat on his back, his eyes fixed on the ceiling. "Good morning," said the visitor. A grunt was all that greeted her. "I wish you would select something from my basket," she ventured. No answer, but the rolling of eyes in the general direction of the basket. The lady glanced at the bed chart.

Samuel Johnson, appendicitis, she read, and the record showed a remarkably good case. Ah, here was common ground! The lady had had her appendix out recently, and cheerfully she said, "Well, Sam, I suppose you are glad it is out. Appendicitis is a mean thing. I know what you have been through, for I, too, have had the operation."

Sam turned his head toward her—"Seize me, ma'am, ah disremembers you. Whar's yuh evah had de pleasur of meatin' me befo'?"

Included. It was the woman's first visit to the public school in which the daughter of an old friend was teaching. The kindergarten was brightly lighted and gay with flowers and pictures, and the various activities of the children held the interest of the visitor, who saw in them the remembered delights of her own childhood.

But it was when the young kindergarten, in an excess of enthusiasm, asked one of her pupils, a particularly vital youngster, to describe a recent treat that the woman saw what is always present in the contact with young children. The boy was evidently still deeply impressed with the sights which his father had shown him the day before, and in the excitement of being allowed to share his experience with his audience was sometimes carried away from the path of pure grammatical excellence.

"An' then—an' then my father and me," but the child got no further in his recital, for the young teacher interrupted with the gentle reminder:

"No, Dan, you mean to say 'my father and I' don't you?"

The boy paused patiently until she had finished, then proceeded with the absorbing story: "An' then my father an' me"—But again the teacher interrupted him:

"No, Dan, dear. Your father and I." The child looked at her in polite wonder, and then with the very evident idea of appeasing her said:

"Well, then, my father and You and me rode the big elephant together!"

Minor Details.

The Lady-Who-Married-And-Moved-Away was back in New York on her annual visit. Among those she called upon were the Woman, the Mid-Victorian Lady and the Little Minister and his wife.

This trip she found the reverend gentleman alone and sat chatting with him about the good old days. The dear hospitable soul insisted on serving his guest with fruit that he had brought in rather hastily from the adjoining room. Appreciating deeply his thoughtfulness, the Lady disregarded his poor attempts at service and helped herself generously.

But when the Minister's wife came in a few moments later, she nearly fainted in the doorway, as she beheld the tea wagon with a bowl of fruit on it in the center of the library and sitting beside it the Lady-Who-Married-And-Moved-Away, eating an orange out of a soup plate, an embroidered bread tray spread over her lap.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS AND DISCUSSES PROGRAM MEMBERS HAVE CHOSEN

Prior to the election of officers yesterday at the luncheon given by the Chamber of Commerce to the retiring directors and those newly elected.

Dr. R. H. Hodges, retiring president of the chamber, stated the purpose of the gathering, a get-together meeting of the old and the new directors.

At the suggestion of Mr. Hodges, a round table discussion was held.

"Our Town." In the talks that followed every one was of the opinion that Ranger had reached a spirit of where it was not "my town, nor your town, but our town."

It was believed by the speakers that nearly every citizen was ready and willing at any time to drop his private interests and lend his aid to the efforts of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce to make this the metropolis of western Texas.

Mayor M. H. Hagaman touched for a moment on the past activities of the organization. He said in part, "that the Chamber of Commerce has been the god-father and the godmother of the newly born city of Ranger. It has assisted the work, he said.

It has, he continued, been a clearing house for every thing under the sun that goes to make the life of a town.

Mayor Hagaman, as did every one else, paid a tribute to the past directors of the chamber for the wonderful work they have done during the congestion of the boom.

Due to his many other duties Mayor Hagaman felt that he could not in justice to himself accept his election as a member of the new board. He said, however, that he was neither resigning or shirking, but felt that some one else who could give more time to the work the organization will do, should be elected in his stead.

A. Davenport, fire and police commissioner, also doubted his ability to find time to devote to the work and expressed the hope that some one else would be put in his place. Mr. Davenport was elected one of the new directors.

D. W. Case, field secretary, read the major, supplementary and discussion program as laid out for the future work of the Chamber of Commerce. This program may be changed at the option of the directors.

Major Program.
The major program is:
A permanent and pure water supply for the city.
A movement to be started to erect modern homes on a co-operative basis that will induce home owning.
A sanitary and clean moral city to be gained by having existing laws enforced.
Permanent street and sidewalk improvement.

An adequate telephone service.
A new passenger depot.
Plans formed to advertise truthfully Ranger as being the logical center for industrial interests of western Texas.
Locating new industries.

Supplementary Work.
The supplementary and discussion program as laid out is:
Recreational playgrounds and parks.
A city hospital.
Purchase by Ranger citizens of the city bonds.
Fostering the city school system until Ranger will be an educational center.
Advocating buying at home.
Helping to take steps toward the erecting of a municipal building.
Stimulating farming interests around the city, and making Ranger a market for all farm products within the adjoining territory.

Active work toward having a cotton gin built.
Storm sewers and protection of the downtown districts from floods.
Drainage alleys.
Advocating early closing hours for all business houses.
Having mail boxes placed at convenient places.

Requesting all oil companies and supply houses operating out of the city to establish their main offices at this point. In the matter of having fire alarm boxes Co-operating with the city commission placed over the city.
Prosecuting rivers of bad checks.
Insisting that the passenger station be kept in a sanitary condition and rest rooms be provided for women.

The items of these programs will come up from time to time for consideration, in the open forum meetings held by the Chamber of Commerce.

The members of the retiring board are: R. H. Hodges, president; H. F. McFarland, first vice-president; L. H. Hagaman, treasurer; P. Learned, P. E. Yale, Rex C. Outlaw, H. R. Gholson, Charles S. Heffern, G. L. Davenport, Dr. A. L. Duffer, A. J. Sanderford and E. C. Moore.

The newly elected directors of the body are: Ralph G. Stockman, E. J. Barnes, H. S. Cole, E. B. Reid, R. H. Hodges, C. Chenoweth, John E. Milford, D. L. Lindsey, Dr. W. C. Palmer, G. E. Bostaph, J. B. Owens, Edward R. Maher, M. H. Hagaman, M. H. Smith, A. Davenport and W. E. Burke.

The officers elected at the luncheon yesterday were Howard S. Cole, president; Ralph G. Stockman, vice-president; C. C. Chenoweth, treasurer, and Judge J. E. T. Peters, manager.

VIENNA CROWD CENSURES MOVIES
VIENNA, May 21.—The Vienna public has been stirred to indignation by the nature of some of the moving pictures shown here and has undertaken its own censorship, since the official censorship is political only. In one instance a crowd tore down the posters and caused the destruction of a reel, while in several cases they demanded the suppression of the picture on threat of smashing the theater.

The Typographical Union Label can be furnished on printing in Ranger by the Ranger Daily Times and England Printing Company.—Adv.

Cardui Assisted Mississippi Lady Recover Her Health—Other Treatment Had Been Without Result—Read Her Story.

Erratta, Miss.—Describing results from the use of Cardui, Mrs. W. L. White of this place says: "When only a girl I suffered a great deal with ... My mother decided then for me to take Cardui. I took nine bottles in all and became ... a strong, healthy girl.

"After my marriage, I ... so began taking Cardui. I was soon stronger, and passed the danger period all right, and my boy was strong and healthy.

"First of last year ... I was in a desperate condition. I ... almost to death.

"We used medicines without results.

"I was so sore across the bottom of my stomach, and so weak.

"For three months I lay in this condition.

"I told my husband Cardui had helped me once, maybe it would again. He went and got it.

"I began to take Cardui and very shortly I began to improve and get my strength.

"The ... stopped; the soreness left me.

"My present health is good."

PARAMOUNT HOTEL OPENING MARKED BY DANCE TONIGHT

The Paramount hotel, located at the corner of Main and Austin streets, and owned and managed by Curly Harper, was opened for business yesterday. A reception and dance will be given in the lobby of the hotel tonight, in honor of the opening. The American Legion band will furnish music for the occasion and the public is invited to attend.

This new hostelry is one of the best in this section of the state. It contains seventy-five rooms and 23,000 feet of floor space. It is three stories high, on a 50x140 foot lot, and is of fireproof brick construction throughout. In addition to the hotel, several store rooms will occupy the first floor of the building.

The lobby, facing Main street, is metropolitan in appearance. All rooms open on the outside, insuring plenty of fresh air, and thirty-five of the rooms are fitted with private baths. Hot and cold water is supplied to every room.

The furniture of the hotel is walnut throughout. All floors are carpeted and all woodwork stained. Electric fan and telephone fixtures have been supplied to every room.

The lot on which the hotel is built was purchased from Reverend Ray of Weatherford for $100,000. He bought it a number of years ago for $200. The lot and building is owned by Mr. Harper.

The cost of the hotel was $10,000, and the cost of the furniture and fixtures $35,000.

WELLINGTON SENDS MAIZE TO BUCKNER ORPHANS
WELLINGTON, May 21.—West Texas people appreciate the needs of the orphans. Not only do they visit the widows and orphans in their affliction, but they send them a store against hard times. This town has shipped out a solid car of maize heads for the Buckner Orphans home at Dallas.

ODD FORMATION AND GAS STRUCK IN GRALITZ WELL

MORAN, Texas, May 21.—While drilling at a depth of ninety-four feet in the Gralitz well of the Apex Drilling company, one and one-half miles east of town, last week, a peculiar formation of petrified bones, weeds, sticks and of silver and other ore was struck. A showing of gas was also encountered at this depth. Some of the ore and other peculiar articles were brought to the city and placed on exhibition. At a depth of 122 feet another oil sand was found in this well and at 138 feet a heavy flow of gas. The well is now drilling at 160 feet.

STEPHENS COUNTY LAND SUBJECT OF JOINT SUIT

Special to The Times.
EASTLAND, May 21.—J. H. Davis and wife have filed suit in the district court against Geo. Beggs, Jr., W. P. McLain, Sr., W. P. McLain, Jr., and W. R. Scott, a Fort Worth firm of lawyers, and T. J. Earnest in trespass to try title to 444.48 acres of land in Eastland and Stephens counties. The petition alleges that the plaintiffs own the land and that the defendants unlawfully entered upon the land on January 1, 1920, and have dispossessed the plaintiffs to their damage in the sum of $1,333,440, and an annual rental of $133,344. The plaintiff is represented by Barkett, Anderson & Orr.

CISCO CHAMBER ELECTS OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

CISCO, May 21.—At the first meeting of the new directors of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, F. A. Blankenblecker, banker, was elected president and H. M. Anderson of the Texas company was elected vice-president. The new officials will remain in office until May, 1921.

ENGLISH SEEKING TWENTY MILLION TO AID HEROES

International News Service.
LONDON, May 21.—Because the government is financially unable to render sufficient help an organization, headed by the king, Earl Haig, Earl Beatty and others, has been launched to obtain $20,000,000 for relief purposes.

The plight of 33,000 disabled officers, 10,000 officers' widows, 8,000 officers' orphans, 13,000 children of disabled officers and 25,000 unemployed officers has been driven home to the public by voluminous advertising.

The Briton is told that he must "honor your bond," because "when your homes were in peril you asked these men to sacrifice their positions and abandon their careers," and "to your charge" the married officer confidently entrusted the care of his home, his wife and his family. In addition, youths left school, business was abandoned and careers sacrificed for the common good. Now they have returned, broken in health and unable to battle with the world. To maintain their homes, give their children proper schooling and help officers get into some line of work and to supplement the income of officers unable to work, the fund will be administered.

The scheme, wholly voluntary, is aimed to build a bridge over the ex-officers' difficulties.

MOORE GETS VERDICT
Special to The Times.
EASTLAND, May 21.—The verdict of the jury in the case of Win. S. Moore vs. J. V. Jenkins was returned last night in favor of the plaintiff. In this case the plaintiff was seeking to set aside a sale and deed made by the sheriff under execution to a large tract of land lying nine miles to the northwest of Eastland, which land was purchased by the defendant at the execution sale. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant and others formed a conspiracy to limit bidding at the sale, which conspiracy defrauded the plaintiff. The defendant has announced that he will prosecute an appeal of the case.

FARMER STRANGLES HIMSELF WITH WRAPPING CORD
ROCKFORD, Ill., May 21.—Oscar Edwin Carlson strangled himself to death by twisting a piece of wrapping cord about his neck and throwing the loose end over a tree on a farm near here. He made the cord as short as he could by standing on tip-toes. In order to make the strangulation process effective he lifted his feet from the ground and held them in that position until he lost consciousness and died. A farmer and his wife found the lifeless body. Ill health is believed the cause.

STOP HEADACHE AVOID DANGER

Doctors Advise Aspirinal Elixir to Remove Cause as Well as Relieve the Pain Quicker—Absolutely Safe.

The medical profession is strongly opposed to the use of headache remedies that merely relieve the pain. They are warning the public that the cause of the headache should also be removed. That is why physicians and druggists are so delighted with the new Aspirinal Elixir that is sold under the two-minute guarantee. They know Aspirinal also removes the cause of bilious and sick headaches by gently acting on the liver, correcting biliousness and constipation and preventing the return of the headache next day.

The next time you have a headache go to your nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful in a little water. With your watch in your hand count off two minutes and call for your money back, as per manufacturer's guarantee, if you can't feel your headache fading away within the time limit. Your druggist invites you to try Aspirinal, so don't be bashful. Everybody is doing it. Same guarantee applies to colds, coughs and neuralgia. Adv.

White Cannibals Found, Amazon, by Philadelphian

International News Service.
NEW YORK, May 21.—Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice and his party of Amazon explorers, including his wife, formerly Mrs. George D. Widener of Philadelphia, arrived here recently, bringing thrilling tales of the discovery of a tribe of white Indians, all cannibals, and a running battle with the savages, in which Prof. Rice nearly lost his life.

Accompanying Prof. Rice, in addition to his wife, were Chester H. Ober of Newport, R. I., of which city Prof. Rice is a resident; John C. Couzens of Yonkers, who acted as launch engineer by the sail up the charge of the launch's wireless equipment; Dr. Guy E. Byers of Roosevelt Amazon; John W. Swanson, who had hospital, and James H. Mason, who was cook and steward on the trip.

The expedition left this city last July and proceeded to Para, Brazil, from which point the members penetrated to heretofore uncharted and uncharted points along the Amazon river.

The discovery was made unexpectedly. The bleached savages found Dr. Rice about the same time he found them, and for a few days he feared they might take back to the other tribes of their nation some American scalps.

Dr. Rice had left his wife and other members of the expedition at Esmeralda, its base, and with Ober, a member of the United States coast and geodetic survey, several natives and a Venezuelan, Lio Fuentes, had started up the river to map a small island seven days from the base.

They got to the island without misadventure and finished their work. One of the Indian guides chanced to look across the river, ninety feet wide at that point, and was scared almost as white as the big white Indians to see one of them, stark naked, scuttling into the jungle.

Several shots were fired in the direction of the disappearing savage. A moment later the jungle was alive with yells, and more than 200 men, all big and some close to seven feet tall, rushed from the bushes. They were armed with bows and arrows, spears and blowguns. The doctor recognized them as the ones he had planned to discover, "cannibals of a mountain region, considered the most ferocious of all the savages in Venezuela, Colombia or Brazil."

Dr. Rice decided that if it were possible he would parley with the tribe. All the Indian dialects known to the exploring party were used mainly on them. They responded to the attempts to get them to talk by yelling and rushing into the river, holding their weapons above their heads.

The explorers were unprepared for battle, having only one revolver, one rifle and one shotgun. The savages came on impetuously, and the three modern weapons popped and popped, and after several of the giants had fallen dead in the stream and more had been wounded, the others lost their valor.

The white man's method of killing at a distance averted them. Their own arrows could not do damage at the distance. They retreated to the shore and twenty minutes later the ex-

SUB-CHASERS NOW A WHITE ELEPHANT ON UNCLE SAM'S HANDS

Now that the war is over, Uncle Sam can find no use for hundreds of submarine chasers which rendered valiant service during the war. Here are a few of the boats tied up at the Port Newark army base, New Jersey, awaiting the highest bidder.

plorers had packed their camp equipment and instruments into their canoe and started on the trip to Esmeralda.

But the cannibals would not let the explorers out of their sight and kept pace with them on the river bank. Dr. Rice said:

"For four days and nights sleep was impossible. The savages apparently had no canoes, being a mountain tribe, and they ran along the bank, shooting arrows in our direction. It seems miraculous that none of us was hurt. After the fourth day they became disheartened at their inability to capture us or even to inflict casualties, and gave up the pursuit. In three more days we were safe at Esmeralda."

Dr. Rice is confident he rediscovered the legendary white, or near white cannibals. He believes they were seen only once before and then by Ensign Bobadilla in 1763, during his explorations made under the auspices of the Spanish government. They are, Dr. Rice believes, neighbors of the Marqui Ritares tribe, who hold them in deadly terror.

Mrs. Rice, in accompanying her husband on this expedition, the seventh he has made in nineteen years, has achieved the distinction of penetrating farther into the Amazon wilderness than any other white woman, breaking the record previously made by Mrs. Louis Agassiz in 1869, when she was a member of a party headed by her husband and sent out by the Spanish government.

Presbyterians May Grant Women Right of Ordination as Elders

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Vital matters of church policy are to be decided and important reports of work accomplished or contemplated will be considered at the annual session of the Presbyterian General assembly when it convenes here tonight. Delegates from all parts of the United States assembled here today for the convention.

One of the most important matters the convention will discuss is that of whether the privilege of ordination as ruling elders will be extended to Presbyterian women. The matter will be presented in the form of a report by a commission which has been engaged in an investigation for the past year under the direction of Dr. S. Hall Young of New York.

If the recommendation of the committee is adopted the question of admission of women to the right of ordination as ruling elders will be submitted to the various presbyteries comprising the general assembly for an expression of an opinion. The committee will conclude its report by offering the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the stated clerk be directed to prepare and send to the presbyteries for their action the following overture:

"Shall the constitution of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. be so amended as to admit properly qualified and elected women to ordination as ruling elders, with all the rights and duties pertaining to this office."

The committee's investigation included a canvass of the opinion of leading ministers, elders and women of the Presbyterian church. This survey showed that a majority opinion held that the Scriptures do not forbid women preachers, but that the evidence favored women as elders but not as preachers.

Although the committee will make no recommendations as to the ordination of women as ministers, it devoted considerable time to the consideration of this phase of the question and will express the opinion that the subject is of sufficient interest to demand discussion and settlement by the church at large.

Another matter that will be presented to the convention is the question of home missions. An exhaustive report of the work of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions will be presented at tomorrow's session of the assembly. The report will discuss the scope and purpose of the work, the accomplishments of the past year, the objectives of future work and financial problems connected with the home mission field.

The subject of foreign missions also will be treated at tomorrow's session when the report of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions will be submitted with important recommendations on matters of finance, the campaign for world evangelization and similar matters. The report will deal exhaustively with conditions in the various mission fields, particularly the Orient.

A large number of leading ministers and laymen of the church will participate in the sessions of the assembly, and many noted speakers will be heard.

Oil Fever High at Stamford; Fed by Expected Gushers

STAMFORD, Texas, May 21.—The oil fever of West Texas which has displaced in many parts of West Texas after "wildcats" failed to make good has again taken on a very virulent form in Stamford, following the announcement here this week that one Stamford well is expected to come in in the next two or three weeks, and the announcement that the Texas Gushing company—pioneers of this field—are so confident of finding oil that they have let a contract for another deep test well in the extreme northeastern corner of Jones county in a section which has been pronounced very favorable by leading geologists.

The Weart-York Venture No. 1 Colbert, six miles northeast of Stamford, is getting strong backing from local oil interests. Ten and one-half inch casing is being put down at the 1300 foot level. To the 1200 foot level 12 1/2 inch casing was carried, being the greatest depth that 12 1/2 inch casing has been carried anywhere in this section. The remarkable thing about this well is that it has had two or three good gas showings and several rainbow showings. This well is being drilled on a fine structure near an abandoned well drilled about five years ago, and which would have been a splendid well, local oil men say, had not the salt water gotten into the well. This abandoned well is even now flowing some oil and making gas. Mr. Weart of the company has just arrived from Vancouver, B. C., and is stimulating drilling at the well. He declares that it looks like a splendid well and he has the utmost confidence that it will make a good producer. A mass meeting of Stamford citizens has been called for Thursday at the city hall to take such action as seems necessary to prepare Stamford to take care of any rush which might come, following the news that the Weart-York well had come in. The well is owned by the Texas Venture Company, Ltd., of Canada, practically all stockholders being Canadians. Fuel oil is being burned for fuel at this test. The recent rains have helped solve the water supply. The derrick rig has been plainly from most parts of Stamford. This is the well on which the oil fraternity is now "banking." It has been said that if oil is found here, work would immediately start in Stamford on a large refinery headed by Canadian interests.

The Texas Gushing company expects to spud in its newly contracted well in the northeastern corner of Jones county not later than August 1. It is situated about 15 miles from the Texas Company's 15,000,000 foot gasser in Throckmorton county and about an equal distance from a shallow well marking about ten barrels a day. Geologist Reynolds who made the location declares that the formation and structure here are very "violent." The new well will be drilled to 3,500 feet, if necessary, though it is believed a good paying oil sand will be encountered at a depth of 1,900 feet. This well is to be not far from the Weart-York well, expected to come in shortly.

The Colbert No. 2, of the Texas Gushing, is still lying idle waiting for special tools from Los Angeles. Its depth is 1215 feet. Some gas is escaping and a showing of oil has been found. This well is not far from the Alton place, where, at a depth of 37 feet, gas was struck, sufficient to make a blaze two feet high and used by campers and others to fry eggs and hams. A location has been made on the Alton place.

The Proctor No. 1, of the Texas Gushing company, 20 miles southeast of Stamford, is drilling day and night, having attained a depth of 4328 feet. At 4328 feet 5 1/2-16 inch casing will be set. For the last 300 feet the drill has been in blue shale. Company officials are confident gusher oil sand will be found at between 4700 and 4800 feet. It is the deepest test ever put down in Central West Texas. An oil sand was found in this well at 1900 feet.

The Harrold, of the Stamford Oil company, south of Stamford, is reported drilling at 1850 feet.

The Murphy Bolanz Conrad No. 1 is drilling at around 2250 feet. The Kouri No. 1, northeast of Stamford, is setting casing and shutting off an upper flow of water, at a depth of about 1800 feet. Mr. Kouri expects this to be a good producer. The No. 2 Kouri has been shut down waiting for water, which was brought with the rains recently.

All other wells in Haskell county are not drilling today, according to reports here. The wells near Sagerton and Old Glory are reported to be drilling.

The contractor of the Tal-King well 12 miles northwest of Stamford is now in Ardmore, Okla., making preparations to begin drilling shortly on the well.

The Texas Central company's Gulian No. 1, 12 miles northwest of Stamford, has all the machinery on the ground with the exception of the engine and will spud in as soon as it arrives and is placed.

The test of the Home Oil company northeast of Rule is reported to be fishing for tools.

That either a large gas or oil field will be found right at the door of Stamford in a short time is the belief of a number of oil operators who have recently come into this section. The presence of gas in water wells and in the present oil test situated east of Stamford is giving courage to the predictions of the operators.

GEORGIA COMPANY PREPARES TO SPUD NORTHEAST MERKEL

MERKEL, May 21.—The C. & H. Development company of Atlanta, Ga., expects to spud in their well five miles northeast of here this week. The boiler has been set up and tried out and everything is now ready.

The Bland well, after being shut down for some time because of the lack of water, has resumed drilling at 2400 feet and expects to pick up the Sears well sand about ninety feet down. Considerable gas showing has been had in this well.

Through the experience of French scientists, a new contrivance has been evolved which makes possible "movies" of the human body in operation, according to word reaching the Red Cross from Paris. The machine combines the X-ray and moving picture camera, and is known as the "radiocinematograph." It is hoped its use will clear up many of the mysteries surrounding obscure diseases.

According to statistics received by the Red Cross from embarkation records of the war department, 3,700 foreign brides of soldier members of the American expeditionary forces were cared for by the Red Cross and the Y. W. C. A. The total number of American soldier marriages abroad is computed at 5,000. Of the brides whose nationality was recorded, 2,295 were French, 1,101 British, 70 Belgian and only 31 German.

J. M. WHITE & Co's STUPENDOUS STOCK REDUCING SALE

$100,000 Stock of High Grade Merchandise on Sale at Worth While Reductions

We mean to make this the greatest sale you ever saw in Ranger, and from all indications it will be. We opened this sale Saturday, May 15, on one of the rainiest days in the history of Ranger, yet the people braved the rain and mud and came just the same. We consider this an exceptional triumph for J. M. White & Co., because it shows that Ranger shoppers appreciate the low prices on the better class of merchandise, such as we handle. Every day is a record-breaker in value-giving.

We're out for new and bigger business and we're going to make it worth your while to join our list of satisfied customers. J. M. White & Co. have always held their prices as low as possible, even when any price was legitimate in Ranger. That's why our business has advanced to the wonderful proportions we now find it. But we bought too heavily, goods arrived late and all at once. So we decided to cut prices even lower and give the people the biggest merchandise sale they have witnessed since the days before the war. We must reduce our stocks—It's your opportunity. We urge you to take advantage of it.

MEN—We want you to buy that new suit here.

Our extremely low prices on high grade suits will make this sale well worth your while. We are overstocked in all men's wear. Profits have been forgotten and we are placing them all on sale at the lowest figures possible. We ask you to investigate these savings—they're worth your while.

British Suffragist Makes Appeal for Financial Support

International News Service.
LONDON.—The acting temperance seems to have skipped a generation of our women," is a reluctant conclusion of Nora A. Heald at the close of a keen analysis of the overwhelming success of Peggy O'Neil, Edith Day, and Mary Nash in London.

"We have sound actresses over the age of thirty-five; there are a few promising beginners, but between them a dearth of stage genius.

"The reason for this 'dearth of stage genius' and for the overwhelming success of the American girls," C. B. Cochran, producer, retorts, "is as follows: 'The British theatre is a hotbed of snobbery.'"

Inasmuch as, in addition to the above trio, Laurette Taylor, Ina Claire, Frances Starr and Lenora Ulric are soon to complete the American girl combination of the West End, the Daily Mail writer has aroused the keenest interest and discussion, and Cochran has started a veritable rapid fire of protest and contradiction.

Thus the battle royal started. In a letter to the Daily Express, C. B. Cochran said:

"I firmly believe that the English girls with the right temperament and natural qualifications are to be found, but they do not get the right schooling.

"The British theatre is a hotbed of snobbery."

"Our leading actors and actresses think more of a nod from a duchess or a tea party with Lady X than proficiency in their art. It is 'bad form' to be emotional upon the British stage. There is more prudery in the West End theatre than in a young ladies' boarding school at Eastbourne.

The young stage aspirant feels this atmosphere directly she enters the stage door. Instead of being taught to express her emotions she learns to keep them under.

"In a drama which I produced recently the leading lady had to play a scene in which a young man's passion overcame him and he lost all restraint. The leading lady—an English actress of distinction—positively declined to allow the young man to play the scene as I and the author wanted it played. She insisted the young man should not be too ardent, giving us her reason that she knew so many people in society who would not like to see her in a compromising position on the stage."

Cochran started something. "What twaddle!" said Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

Miss Gertrude Elliott promptly branded Cochran's letter as a "hopelessly illogical outburst," adding:

"I have no clue to the identity of the actress who insisted on playing an emotional part according to her own conception as an artist but at least she had the courage to stand her ground rather than degrade her profession."

"There are as many successful English actresses in America as successful American actresses in England," Gilbert Miller declared.

The reason for the seeming superiority of the American actress is the more efficient methods of the American producers. If producers here would work with actors and actresses as David Belasco they would find it possible to get anything from them."

"Snobishness comes not from the stage but from society," said Arthur Boucher, "and I do not think American actors can give us any points in acting."

And as Belasco is now in London, he had his word on the subject:

"Of course, I know nothing of Mr. Cochran's experience; I can only speak for my own," he said. "I, however, have never seen snobbery on the stage. Actors and actresses seem to me to be all like children—emotional, sentimental, artless, pliant, lovable. If they were not like children they would not succeed in their art."

"The discussion had to be closed somewhere, so Henry Ainley closed it with: 'I am the only snob I know on the stage.'"

PROHIBITION IS NOT POPULAR HERE, SAYS ENGLISHMAN

International News Service.

LONDON, May 21.—"They don't," said Willie Bard, British comedian just returned from an American tour, when asked how Americans like prohibition. "Some of them think it's only a passing fancy, which will disappear when they are so fed up that they can't stand water any longer.

"But I am sure of this; there is any amount of money and brains behind this prohibition stunt, and if we are not careful we on this side of the Atlantic will wake up one morning and find all the public houses shut! Don't think I got nothing but water to drink in America because I didn't—I got something much worse.

"That was a funny mixture they call 'near beer.' I tasted it and came to the conclusion that I had never drunk anything farther from beer in my life; I had to put some salt in it to give it any taste at all, and after two attempts to get on friendly terms with it I gave it up altogether."

AMERICANS IN CHINA FORCED TO BECOME "BRITONS"

SHANGHAI, May 21.—A large number of business concerns which have been operating in this city under American control have been compelled to place themselves under the management of British merchants in order to conform to a British order in council. Under this rule, which was promulgated early in the year, business houses in China already under British register must be managed and controlled by British subjects.

This has affected a vast sum of invested American capital and a considerable sum of Japanese and other foreign investments, as the majority of business houses conducted by Americans and Japanese in China were registered under the Hongkong, or British, ordinances.

In order to comply with the new requirement it has been necessary for these American institutions to displace a number of Americans from executive positions and to replace them with subjects of Great Britain.

PECOS GIVES INCREASE TO ALL ITS TEACHERS

PECOS, May 21.—Believing that only the best results can come from adequate pay, the board of school trustees here have increased all teachers of the high and ward schools from 25 to 50 per cent, and re-elected them all for another term. The schools are expected to show a heavy increase in scholastics following the ingress of a number of new families attracted to the oil fields.

Resignations of 2,490 regular officers of the U. S. army have been accepted since the armistice. During the same period 180,581 emergency officers were discharged.

BACHELOR CAN BEAT HIGH COST OF FURNITURE

LONDON, May 21.—A "Bachelor's outfit," which may help to relieve the furnishing difficulty caused by the high prices, has been designed by J. P. Ritchie of Birmingham.

It comprises all the furniture a bachelor or bachelor-girl, requires for personal needs and for entertaining three friends, yet is entirely collapsible and can be packed in a case 4 feet 6 inches long by 2 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet deep.

From the case one takes out the sections of two lounge armchairs to seat two people each, and fitted with two cushions. The backs, continued upward, support a canopy of wood struts covered with cardboard sufficiently strong to bear books, magazines and the like, of considerable weight; overhead, on each side, but under the canopy, is a shelf. The canopy connects the armchairs and the whole forms the furnishing for one end of the room. Under the canopy a small electric bulb, current for which can be obtained from an accumulator, may be fitted. The other articles are a table of convenient size and height, a stool for two which opens out concertina-like into a bedstead, and a mantelpiece with wood curb and imitation glazed tiles (paper under glass). There is a detachable book-rest and detachable refreshment trays for the armchairs.

"EMPIRE STRONGER"

LONDON, May 21.—The desire for unity in the empire is not weaker, but infinitely stronger after the common efforts and sacrifices of the last terrific years," declared Lord Milner, who has returned from a governmental mission to Egypt.

SERVED DIVORCE NOTICE, THREW INFANT TO FLOOR

International News Service.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 21.—It made Mrs. Charles H. Wilbur so mad when she was served with a notice that her husband had filed a suit for divorce she hurled her three-weeks-old infant to the floor. The child is at the point of death in a hospital. Mrs. Wilbur was immediately arrested. Taken to jail, she continued to rave for three hours, when police were able to quiet her.

With the Women of Today

The first thing one thinks of after reading Mrs. Cornelia Stratton Parker's book, "An American Girl," and after meeting the author herself is, oh, if only she were the average young American woman, and the average wife and mother instead of a wonderful exception. Mrs. Parker's book pictures the ideally happy married life she had with Carleton H. Parker up until the time he died. She gives a vivid picture of her husband, Carleton H. Parker, and a very comprehensive idea of his work.

Their lives were so full of joy and happiness and all of the pleasures of the world seemed to belong to them although they were not blessed with money. They were married when Cornelia Stratton graduated from the University of California. In less than three years this young married couple and two little baby boys were on their way to Germany where Mr. Parker was going to study to get his doctor's degree. It was four years before they returned. Then they were a year on a ranch or farm when Mr. Parker could not be with his family all of the time, later a year when Mr. Parker taught in the university for a pitifully small salary and where his worth was not recognized, and later still the terrible war year when he worked so hard to serve his country and the laboring men as a federal mediator that his strength finally gave way and he died carrying on his great work.

Mrs. Parker, being an unusual woman, did not don widow's weeds and mourn her life away, although she was almost broken in health a year after her husband's death. Instead she took up his work for the industrial situation appealed most strongly to her. She stung up on it in order to be able to go on from the place where her husband left off. During the coming summer she will work in a factory to learn first-hand labor conditions and causes of unrest. Here are some of Mrs. Parker's ideas as to the labor conditions under the new order:

"I rejoice at women coming into business, not for the women but because it will mean new blood and new ideas in industry. It will mean de-emphasizing industry and emphasizing art and the higher things.

"Do not look at 'labor' as a seething mass, but as an aggregate of individuals, each with inherited instincts and desires which must be gratified in part, at least, before industrial peace is assured.

"The 10,000 and more strikes since the armistice have not been merely for higher wages and shorter hours, but for a chance for human beings to lead a fuller life. Much of the present revolt is justifiable.

"We all need more education. We must stop industry's wheels long enough for the workers to get into classes to improve their education before fatigue overpowers them. We must teach the responsibility of the worker to his job, give him representation in the management.

"The new order will teach the importance of the individual, one of the anarchist's doctrines; the importance of the group as the socialist sees it; industrial unionism, for which union labor contends, and democratization of industry as the English guild system proclaims it."

And the surprising thing about it all is that the little woman who offers these advanced theories is far from a masculine person. She is the sweetest, most charming and attractive little dark-haired, red-cheeked young woman and a mother of three adorable children, two boys, and a little girl whom she calls in her book the "June-Bug."

CHICAGOAN ENLISTS STUDENTS IN DRY FIGHT

LONDON, May 21.—Another of the American prohibitionists who hopes to render Europe as "dry" as America has landed here in the person of Harry S. Warner of Chicago. Warner is a representative of the student organization of the Anti-Saloon League and has headquarters in the Security building, Chicago.

"I am merely here to look over the ground and see what interest—if any—the colleges and universities of Europe have in the prohibition movement," said Warner. "My organization represents between 200 and 300 colleges in America and we hope to secure affiliations with some of the seats of learning here.

"I shall go to Scandinavian countries for a few weeks and will visit the various seats of learning there. Then I will return here and see what I can do with the English colleges before the summer term begins. Later on I hope to make visits to France, Italy and Russia before I return to Chicago with my report of the results of my inquiries and investigations."

Similar Romances of Tobacco Kings; Both Wed Singer's Wives

International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The cool philosophy with which Grant Clark, song writer, agreed to give up his wife to Walker P. Inman, stepson of James B. Duke, the tobacco millionaire, is told by Mr. Clarke himself. His ex-wife was married to Inman at Poughkeepsie April 28, unknown to the bridegroom's family.

Clarke says he has dedicated his newest song, entitled "Tired of Me," to Mrs. Inman. One stanza runs:

Tired of me; tired of me,
Sorry is all you say;
Just like a toy, children enjoy,
Loved and then thrown away.
Somebody new looks good to you,
Happy I hope you'll be,
I love you still, I always will,
Though you grew tired of me.

Though you grew tired of me, Clarke met Garmet Helen Patton, a Kokomo, Ind., clearyman's daughter, five years ago in this city and married her a year later.

Telling of their married life, he said: "We came to New York, but our blissful happiness was short-lived. Picayune arguments grew into larger ones, and then for the first time we were separated. That was about a year after the wedding.

"Then followed reunions and separations so fast that I cannot remember them all.

"It was over a year ago that Helen met Inman. She was not living with me at that time and I do not recall just how or where they were introduced, although I think it was at a party. I think the attraction was very strong from the beginning.

"Later, on several occasions, I saw them together in Broadway restaurants, and on one of these occasions I was introduced to him. He seemed to be a nice, quiet sort of chap and appeared to be very much devoted to Helen.

"I knew Helen would like to marry him. I knew, too, that we would never be happy.

"When Helen started her divorce proceedings last June I did not begin a contest, for I did not want to stand in the way of a joyous marriage. The decree was granted in September."

A Poughkeepsie wedding in April was the outcome of the Inman courtship. Mrs. James B. Duke received no notice in advance and was not present at the ceremony.

The runaway marriage of Inman and the former wife of a song writer recalled to many the spectacular marriage of Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen and an obscure American girl, also the former wife of a song writer.

Like Inman, Sir Hugo is also a leader in the tobacco world. He was married in 1918 to the former wife of "Monty" Brice.

Not only did these two prominent men in the tobacco world wed beautiful young brides whose first husbands followed the same profession, but both girls were very staunch companions before their second alliances, and, with their song writer husbands, formed an inseparable quartet.

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and tends to remove the germs of the disease from the blood. ENTIRE STOCK WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS OVER MILLION DOLLARS INVOLVED

—BUT, our stocks are not offered simply to put them on sale. The reason for this movement is as clear as daylight: For weeks and months we have been coming more and more to realize that the people were looking for this organization to do something to stop the advancing prices.

They looked to us to do it because we were the largest retailers, with the largest stocks, to strike the heaviest blow. And it was known that we were strongly equipped to take the risk and the responsibility and to face the sacrifice that would be necessary. It was like a public call to duty and what we have done was to answer this call.

For a limited time we are offering to the public our entire stocks in Ranger, Waxahachie, Athens and Jacksonville with a selling value of over $1,000,000 at 10, 20 and 50 per cent deduction from their original prices—the deduction taken off in every instance at the time of purchase, with exception of about $10,000 worth of merchandise whose prices we are obligated by the makers not to reduce.

We are not ready to say one word about when this sale will close. People are eagerly asking this question: One woman was heard to remark: "I hope this sale will go on and on. I've saved enough here today on a suit and dress to pay my railroad fare to Chicago." Another woman with two dresses on her arm: "Here's two for the price of one. I'm so glad I came." A man bought a pair of Nettleton Shoes. The deduction he got back enabled him to purchase a pair of silk hose, a pair of supporters and six handkerchiefs.

IN THE MEANTIME—THESE ARE GOLDEN HOURS

You can buy freely and confidently all over the store, choosing whatever you like, with the few exceptions, at 10, 20 and 50 per cent less than the marked price.

If you have any friends who do not know exactly what we are doing here you will do them a service to explain to them. Adequate preparation is being made to take care of the crowds.

JAPAN MAKES STRONG BID FOR FOREIGN TRADE; HAS TRIPLED EXPORT BUSINESS SINCE WAR

International News Service.
LONDON, May 21.—Japan has increased her foreign trade threefold since the outbreak of the great war. She has abundant and well-disciplined labor, gladly accepting about one-tenth the rate asked by the English workers. Her textiles and silk goods sell from Lancashire to the heart of Brazil. Her shipping lines are taking the place in world trade once held by Germany, writes F. A. McKenzie, in the London Express.

"Her great weakness is that many of the Japanese goods are slight, trumpery and unreliable. The world took them when it could buy no better, but the world is already returning to its old producers. The experienced East India merchant laughs at Japanese competition. They will never do anything really big," he tells you. "They are commercial hogs and want to grab everything for themselves. You can not trust them. Permanent business can not be built up without trust. Their expansion is a mere flash in the pan."

"The old-timer is partly right in his facts. But wholly wrong in his conclusions. The Japanese conduct business according to a standard of their own, which is not altogether our standard. But their methods are improving and every year we feel their competition more. This is the more remarkable because of the tremendous handicaps they have imposed on themselves."

"The great Japanese industrial organizations work hand-in-glove with the government. Co-operation between politicians and traders, to the mutual interests of both, is carried in Japan at least as far as in any country in the world. The Mikado's government, when it became fully established, recognized that foreign trade was essential for world greatness, and so it started to foster it. High protection, heavy subsidies and liberal orders to infant industries were inaugurated. Picked young men were sent at government expense of manufacturing centers all over the world, particularly to England—Newcastle and Sheffield, Oldham and Bradford, Birmingham and Glasgow. They noted everything. A certain amount of machinery was imported. In some cases one machine was enough. The Japanese took it to pieces and made it their model to build others."

"A factory system was introduced without factory laws. Child labor and girl labor were driven to the maximum. Young women from the country came under contract to the great mills that sprang up around Osaka. They were herded in compounds, paid about two-pence a day and their food, housed sometimes in the roughest sheds, and worked twelve hours a day. The factories ran the whole twenty-four hours round, seven days a week, on two twelve-hour shifts. Here was a happy land where there were no strikes, no unions, no organized labor troubles. It was an industrial paradise for the employers. A few people did try to introduce Socialistic doctrines among the workers; they were arrested in a bunch, convicted of plotting against the Emperor, and executed."

"The factories grew to a hundred thousand workers, half a million workers, seven hundred thousand workers. Eventually factory laws had to be passed. "At the same time the Japanese began to make sure of exclusive markets outside their own country. They were hampered by European and American diplomatic superstitions about the maintenance of the "open door" in the Far East. Now, the British in his attempt to monopolize the Far East, brought a lot about how he was going to have everything for himself, while actually his advance helped our trade. The Japanese tried another plan. They solemnly promised that the door should be open, then shut it, declaring that their meaning of "open door" was different from our meaning of the same words."

"Europe, after a time gradually awakened to the fact that Japan was building her own ships in place of buying them from us; that she was selling to our own customers; that she was making machinery not only for herself, but for her neighbors, and that the output at the Osaka mills was underselling Lancashire in Lancashire itself.

"Then came the war. The world was now forced to go mainly to two countries for its supplies. America and Japan. "Had Japan been five years further forward she might then have made her position secure over half the world. But the opportunity came before she was really prepared to meet it. She turned out goods on an enormous scale. South America, Australia, India and the islands of the Pacific had to rely on her, but the Japanese killed their trade in many lines in Europe and America for a generation ahead by shoddy production."

"There was great improvement in quality, however, even during the war. Many of the Japanese goods which reached England in 1919 were far superior to those that came in 1915. The Japanese are shrewd enough to learn, as Germany learned, that "cheap and nasty" is not enough.

"We are only at the beginning of Japanese commercial competition. It will replace German in many markets."

GIVES QUALIFICATIONS OF IDEAL YOUNG WOMAN

By Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 21.—Do you know what qualifications of the ideal young woman should be?

Well, here they are, from the viewpoint of a clergyman:
Rev. P. E. White, pastor of the Oakwood Methodist Episcopal church here, says the ideal young woman "should be natural and not artificial; jolly, yet not boisterous; popular, but not conspicuous; never rude to her mother, and not be on the marriage market."

In his opinion, a young woman's education should include a preparation for home-making, professional life and citizenship.

"A young woman's influence is largely responsible for the attitude of a young man toward morals," he said.

MUSIC STUDENTS.

Mrs. Lois Leonard-Kietzman, recently from the American Conservatory of Music of Chicago, and who has just closed a concert there with the Redpath people, will give private lessons in Voice and Piano at the Presbyterian Church. Appointments for lesson hours may be made Wednesday or Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00 at the church.

The Ozarks

America's Playgrounds
The land of a million smiles

VACATION time has come again—the time when men and women, tired and worn from the year's work at the office and at home, must play and rebuild physically for the coming year. But vacation playgrounds should be chosen wisely. Your recreation period should be a happy investment in health—not just an expense for fagging gasyety.

The Ozarks, "The Land of a Million Smiles," is the Chosen Land each year for thousands of exacting Hunters of Happiness. The lazy, rolling Ozark Mountains, the tumbling cool streams offering fishing and swimming; the delicious home-grown foods and the wonderful nights for sleep, make the Ozarks the ideal playgrounds of America.

Write today for the beautiful descriptive booklet, "THE OZARKS," telling of the Ozark region and its many pretty resorts. It's free. Address the Drying Your Surplus Vegetables.

During the great war patriotic housekeepers learned to dry their surplus vegetables for future use by the process of slicing them and drying them in a hydrator or evaporator after a slight blanching.

But it was found that vegetables dried after only a slight blanching required long soaking and cooking before they were ready for the table; so a more efficient method was developed. The housekeeper who still thrifty continues to dry her surplus garden vegetables does so by first cooking them. In this way the vegetable requires only a short soaking before it is soft, and inasmuch as it has already been thoroughly cooked, it is ready for the table after being merely heated. Here is the exact process:

Wash, cook, remove skin if necessary and grind the vegetable in the meat chopper. Spread the paste on the trays of a hydrator (or on any good vegetable dryer. There are several on the market) and the result is a crumbling cake of dry paste. The paste for most vegetables will dry in two and one-half hours. The vegetables should be strictly fresh, or there is no use in trying to preserve them by drying. The paste on the dryer should be turned over from time to time, by a pancake turner (the pulp should be spread over the drying surface to a depth of one-half inch).

When thoroughly dry (if the paste chances to be spread on the dryer to a depth greater than one-half inch in some places, it may require from three to three and one-half hours to reach the hard-kernel stage which denotes thorough dryness), pour into an open dish; cover with a piece of cheesecloth and let stand for half a day to season, stirring the contents of the dish every hour so that all parts season alike. Be sure to keep the dish covered, even when stirring; vegetables exposed to the air may become wormy after being placed in the tightly closed jar or fibre container in which they should be stored until use. The jar or container should be stood in a thoroughly dry place.

Carrots, turnips, parsley, peas, pumpkin, potato—in fact, almost all vegetables can be dried in this way and will be found a tremendous blessing by the housekeeper when making soups, croquettes, or added when any blend of flavors is needed, or when she wishes to use fresh vegetables.

The squash or pumpkin may be used for pie as well as for soup flavoring. For pie it must be soaked about one and one-half hours and is then ready to be treated exactly as the freshly-cooked and mashed squash or pumpkin is treated for pie.

Onion or celery should not be cooked or put through the meat chopper before drying; either process would spoil their flavor. They should simply be sliced finely and dried raw.

The chaffing dish enthusiast will find a row of these little fibre containers filled with different dried vegetables an invaluable help in creating new dishes and in improving old ones. The salad-loving family will also find them a blessing.

Tomorrow—When eggs replace meat.

ST. LOUIS APARTMENT GETS TIME BY WIRELESS

By Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, May 21.—Correct time by wireless, twice daily, is given residents of a large apartment house here.

A wireless aerial is installed on the building, which catches time flashes sent out by the naval wireless station at Arlington, Va. Gongs in the corridors of the building connected with the aerial are sounded when the time flashes occur.

SAN SABIAN MAKES READY FOR RACE MEET

SAN SABA, May 21.—Travis Locklear has received a number of race horses which he will train on the local track in preparation for the San Saba fair to be held August 10 to 13, inclusive. San Saba has one of the fastest half-mile tracks in the state. The new $500 citizens' handicap purse to be offered at the fair is calculated to attract the attention of the best running horses in the whole state.

Four Republicans and One Democrat in Oregon Primary

SALEM, Ore., May 21.—Republican and Democratic voters of Oregon will cast preferential votes for president of the United States at today's primary election. There are four aspirants for the Republican nomination for president on the ballot, but only one for the Democratic nomination, William G. McAdoo.

Seeking Oregon's endorsement for the Republican nomination are Herbert C. Hoover, United States Senator Hiram Johnson, Governor Frank O. Lowden, and Major General Leonard A. Wood. The name of United States Senator Miles Poindexter was withdrawn the first day of this month.

On the Republican ballot as candidates for vice-presidential nomination are the names of United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Elwood Washington of Indiana and William Grant Webster of New York.

Republicans and Democrats will elect ten delegates each to the national conventions of their respective parties. Four of these are delegates-at-large and two are to be elected in each of the three congressional districts.

The Republicans are seeking their party nomination for United States senators. Two Democratic aspirants for the senatorship, including the incumbent, Senator George E. Chamberlain, also are to be voted upon.

SAN SABA CHAMBER ENDORSES ROAD WORK

SAN SABA, May 21.—The Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting endorsed the movement for a $500,000 bond issue to build 100 miles of first class and 150 miles of secondary roads in San Saba county. The chamber will also undertake to secure a fire department for the city as well as stand by irrigation projects fostered by Senator E. L. Rector. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has pledged support to all of these local movements.

RANGER MEN WILL CONTINUE WORK ON MODEL TEXAS FARM

PLAINVIEW, Texas, May 21.—The Pearson farm, eleven miles east of this city, has been sold by B. C. Holle and C. W. Wilson to John M. Gholson and M. H. Smith of Ranger. It consists of 1,280 acres and sold for $180,000, the highest price that a tract of land that distance from a railroad has ever brought in this section.

The purchasers are men made wealthy by the advent of oil on their holdings near Ranger. The farm was known as the Alfalfa Cattle company farm and purchased by F. M. Pearson, head of the Pearson syndicate. It was the aim of the latter individual to make the place an ideal summer home and a model farm in Texas. His plans were cut short by his untimely death by drowning on the steamship Lusitania during the war. The new owners will resume the beautification and improvement where Mr. Pearson left off.
