B. & O. PRESIDENT EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE IN R. R. SUCCESS PRIVATE OWNERS AND NEW LAW

NEW YORK, May 20.—Confidence in the success of the operation of the railroads of the United States under private ownership control was expressed by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company, in an address here before the National Association of Manufacturers. If the new railroad is applied as Congress intended and if the railway managers so operate the properties as to fairly meet the requirements and expectations of the public, he said, "we may reasonably expect that private ownership and operation of the railroads as an economic policy will continue in this country. If private ownership should fail the only alternative I am able to see is government ownership and operation of the railroads, with all that the policy implies. Railway managers must, for a time at least, keep constantly in mind that private ownership is on trial and they must be determined that it shall win. They must study the needs of the public for transportation and make every effort to satisfy them and they must treat all alike and without discrimination."

from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 a year. Mr. Willard said Congress by enacting the Esch-Cummings bill had corrected the "poorly contrived system of regulation which brought about a sickly condition of the railroads" but that "the patient is still weak and unable to stand alone." Personally, he said, he was in favor of the government naming the rate of return upon the value of properties which the railroads shall be permitted to earn, but he declared that "the railroads must be self-supporting before they can be expected to show anything like renewed vigor. " "First of all," declared Mr. Willard, "the railroad rates and charges must be so adjusted as to measurably meet the increased operating costs resulting from conditions created by the war. Congress has given definite instructions that this be promptly done. After that, he said, it would remain for the railroad managers to deal with the problem as to satisfy the reasonable requirements of the public. People in this country, he went on, "in the past have had the cheapest transportation in the world. I think they are entitled to it in the future; at any rate, I believe that under private ownership they will have it. They are also entitled to adequate transportation and there is an imperative obligation upon the carriers to furnish it. Inadequate transportation facilities would check production and tend to increase the cost of living."

SPECIAL SESSION MAY CREATE NEW OIL AND GAS MEASURES AND UTILITIES COMMISSION

AUSTIN, May 20.—In his first message to the special session of the legislature Governor Hobby submitted only the subject of the pink boll worm. The message reviewed the history of the pest and said that the federal horticultural board said that non-cotton zones should be surrounded by twenty-five mile regulated zones of infested districts and that ten-mile regulated zones around oil mills receiving seed from infested districts should last three years to prevent federal quarantine. He urged compensation for damage inflicted.

James A. King, state tax commissioner, said that he will make an effort to induce the governor to submit a bill proposing enlargement of the scope of the intangible assets of railroads and ferry companies are taxed, recently Mr. King proposed that packing houses, telegraph and telephone companies, lumber companies, oil companies and several other industries which he stated are not now "contributing one cent on their intangible assets," be included in this tax. It is possible that this tax measure may be considered as a means of raising funds to meet the needs of the schools.

Lamb—"The Idol Dancer." Lone Star—Bryant Washburn in "Mrs. Temple's Telegram." Liberty—William S. Hart in "The Toll Gate." Also first episode of "The Lost City." Opera House—Frank Mayo in "Lasca." Also high class vaudeville. Hippodrome—Douthitt Wilson company presents "Little Miss Mischief."

"IDOL DANCER" HAS GLAMOROUS APPEAL AND LURING STORY

D. W. Griffith's production, "The Idol Dancer," was shown at the Lamb Theatre yesterday and will be shown again today. Any picture Griffith produces is worthy of an audience, and "The Idol Dancer" with its wondrous scenic effects, its underplay of tragedy, its touches of quaint comedy and running through all a love story which is pathetically beautiful, will appeal to lovers of scenic art. The picture is not as sad as "Broken Blossoms" and the story works to a happy ending. The two chief characters are a beachcomber, stranded on one of the Romance islands of the South Sea after manifold adventures, and a girl, in whose veins flows the blood of a civilization as ancient as the Nile. She is a white-skinned, beautiful, half tamed and half savage. The story is one of love, of renunciation, and of regeneration. The beachcomber is a huge hulk, fierce, implacable, draining life to the bitter dregs. An invalid from New England and his Puri uncle, who is a missionary on the island, play strong parts. There are thrills aplenty in the story and the touch of a master artist is everywhere visible. Griffith has long been recognized as the supreme genius of the screen. After seeing his other productions one is not disappointed in "The Idol Dancer." A good comedy completes the bill at the Lamb.

"The Toll Gate" Is First Release of W. S. Hart Company.

The southwestern frontier in the olden, golden days is the scene of William S. Hart's new picture, "The Toll Gate." It is the first of the big productions made by Mr. Hart's own company under his own supervision to be released by Paramount Artcraft. The Liberty theatre will show it for three days commencing today. As Black Deering, one hero, Mr. Hart has the role of the leader of a band of men who is betrayed by one of his own men. He dashes away from his captors and, losing the sheriff's posse after a series of thrilling episodes, he comes upon the lonely cabin where the wife of his betrayer lives. He slays the traitor and then, touched to the heart by the kindness of the innocent wife and her child, he gives himself up to the law. But an understanding sheriff allows him to depart over the Mexican border so freedom. "The Toll Gate" is an impressive drama of self-sacrifice and red-blooded manhood as well as a glowing picture of the West that has passed away. Mr. Hart is supported by a capable company, headed by beautiful Anna Nilson. His remarkably intelligent Pinzo pony figures prominently in the big scenes. The star collaborated with Lambert Hillyer in writing the story and directing the picture.

OPERA HOLSE.

Remember "Lasca."

Who does not remember the old time school entertainment, the entertainment where the trustees, draped themselves around the half-circle of the rostrum and the teacher sat well down in front to prompt the little rascals who forgot what came next? What were the old standbys of that day? "Durfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," "The Bells," "Paul Revere's Ride," "Barbara Fritschie," "How We Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix," and the undying "Lasca." "Lasca"—what memories the old ballad brings back through the mists of yesterday. Everyone knows that it is about the Rio Grande country. Everyone in Texas has been brought up on it but, who in the world wrote "Lasca"? Come to think of it, wasn't it Frank Desprez? It was indeed. Let's see—how did it start? "I want free life, and I want fresh air— Yes that was the way it started, and those stirring lines at the end were: "Does half my heart lie buried there in Texas, down by the Rio Grande?" "Lasca" has been made into a photodrama by Universal. It features the beautiful Edith Roberts as Lasca and Frank Mayo as Senor Moreland. It will be at the Opera House today.

SEVENTY-FIVE SHOTS TO WOUND SINGLE MAN

PAIS, May 20.—In modern warfare it takes seventy-five shells to wound one man and 395 to kill him. This is the decision arrived at by the Academy of Medicine, according to a statement issued by that body, following investigation of the number of shells used by the Germans in the war and comparing the totals with the amount of fatalities. The investigation concerned itself only with the effects of artillery fire, and it found that on the three fronts of the war the enemy fired 3,605,000 shells as a result of which 13,265 men were killed and 55,412 men wounded. The weight of the shells has not been yet given, but the result of the investigation goes to show that the old saying of former was to the effect that it takes a ton of lead to kill one man, has been proven true in modern warfare, in spite of the many new methods of demolishing the enemy forces.

The DEADLIEST SEX by BLANCHE SWEET

EVE HAS BEEN MISUNDERSTOOD THROUGH THE AGES—SHE WAS PIONEER OF ALL DISCOVERERS.

In my study of "The Deadliest Sex" of all the ages I naturally began with Eve and I am convinced that for centuries this great woman has been misunderstood. She has been pictured as a weakling, easily tempted, and has been held responsible for losing the one great chance for the whole human race to lead in ideal Bolshevik existence. In other words, many believe that Eve caused us all to be afflicted with work instead of contented loafing and making merry without labor. Adam seems to have been the original Bolshevik. He rested content without labor and strictly avoided everything that might have resulted in his losing his post as watchman in the Garden of Eden. He appears to have been the most utterly lazy individual in all history. What an awful husband he must have been!

Eve was bored beyond belief with the utter stupidity of her workless, effortless existence. Where Adam feared, she dared. She was not carried away by the serpent's guiles. She had studied the matter very carefully and she most deliberately went in for a life of adventure rather than sit in the Garden and do nothing. And the result came in the discovery of work and all the amazing discoveries of science which have since started the world.

If Eve had been as weak and lazy as Adam, the two of them might have been hanging around Eden today, lonesome and bored to death. There would not have been a single motion picture theatre to thrill them with Daredevil Jack or "The Adventures of Ruth," and you and I would never have had the fun we are having on this good old earth with all its work and play.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

XXIII. WHEN YOU DREAM OF FLESH OR SKIN.

Dream of skin And your horse will win.

This is an old saying they have down South among the negroes who work around the great breeding stables. There is a bit of truth in the dark rhyme, for to have the rather peculiar dream sensation of stroking some one's skin is a sign of gain in a rather odd way, an unexpected, unusual way, and if the skin be very white, then your advantage will be considerable. If on the other hand it is red, rough to the touch, you will have to labor hard before the profit is yours. The sudden sight of skin or flesh indicates that the dreamer will be in the near future called upon to answer a categorical "Why?" If it is the dreamer's own skin or flesh which appears in the dream, she (or he) will give a strict account of a secret deed recently done. If it is another's, that other will have to answer the question "Why have you, why has she or why has he, done this or so?" And the question will not be asked by one who has no right to demand an explanation, but by one to whom it must be given, who has it in his or her power to punish for an untruth or to avenge a wrong. The bare flesh, in such instances, means the bared soul.

The secrets of my heart I lay Before thee for thy judgment! and my soul Is bared and naked Having dreamed that your eyes are unexpectedly attracted by the sight of your own skin, resign yourself to the necessity of sincere confession. Likewise, if the dream deals with another, advise him or her to prepare for the reckoning. If, however, the person who appears in this dream is a stranger, then you will, as if by accident, stumble across some one's well guarded secret and unless you act with much caution you may find yourself involved in other people's troubles.

If the skin you see is raw, red or unhealthy looking, or in any way badly bleached, the meanings just given do not apply. The omen is then one of danger and strife, of friction and unpleasantness, and the only key as to a more exact interpretation would lie in appearance, age or sex of the one whose skin you see. You may by careful and logical thinking deduce from the minor signs the connection with the particular person with whom in your waking hours you are likely to come into conflict.

An excellent sign, however, is to see a naked child. The younger the babe, the better the prophecy. It ever means happiness and glad things, smiles and joyous events.

If you touch skin and it feels clammy, cold or wet, this means a letter from one so long out of your sight that you had considered him completely out of your life. If the skin seems to warm under your touch—and dreams in which it suddenly seems to assume fever heat are not rare—then the old friendship will not only be resumed, but it will ripen into a deeper affection than you thing possible. But if it remains cold, the reunion will not be lasting.

Star of Long Ago Again Takes Part in Stage Revival

International News Service. LONDON, May 20.—Miss Genevieve Ward, the star of half a century ago, has just announced the British theatrical world by taking different parts for a week in the anniversary revival of Shakespearean plays. Although 83 years old, she played three different parts in the course of twenty-eight hours. And she said she did not feel the strain.

"No doubt a few people came just to see me break down," she said, "just as they would watch a tragedian performer, expecting every moment to see him fall. And they were disappointed."

Miss Ward carries her years lightly. She is clear, incisive and very well able to take care of herself. And she bubbles over with humor and cheerfulness and the healthy view of life. "Eighty-three?" she says. "Nonsense, I'm 15."

"Seventeen, surely," suggested the interviewer, perhaps rudely. "When you were 71 did you not observe that 71 is only 17, backwards?"

"Yes and 81 is only 18 backwards and 83 is only—no, that would bring me into the thirties. Never mind, I feel 15. I enjoy life. I still awake in the morning cheerful. My mother used to say to me: 'You always wake up with a smile on your mouth.' I still go to bed cheerful."

The startling features of the present day do not disconcert Miss Ward. She can speak of them in caustic terms, but she makes allowances and—looks ahead.

"The wheels are always turning, you know," she said. "Things gradually settle down. The big waves settle down in the sea. We shall get back to normal conditions. We have been through terrible stress, and are certainly not quite normal yet. Many people, I dare say, will never recover but people generally will recover. The women who are now impossible were great in the war; did splendid work. Now they have gone wild—they go about half naked. They dance the dances of the east—though I admit they do so without knowing what they are doing—and they smoke without realizing that the penalty will be blackened teeth. But in the end they will get back to normal conditions."

Even for the theatres she has hope, despite the "idiotic reviews." Tragedians, she insists, must have a sense of humor; without it they are heavy. A good tragedian, she holds, is also a good comedian.

Word of Words.

"There was one word," wrote a Red Cross nurse serving in a French army hospital, "that we quickly learned in five languages. It was the word that came most often to the lips of sick or wounded soldiers when suffering or delirium wrung utterances from them. It is mother, mere, moeder, madre and mother."

Europe Must Have Three Decades to Undo War Damage

International News Service. LONDON, May 20.—"It will take thirty years for Europe to regain its pre-war stability and settle all the various disputes and conflicts going on in Europe today as a result of the war."

That was the considered statement to the International News Service of a highly placed official at the British foreign office in close touch with all European developments today.

As to Russia he ventured the statement that it would be at least two years before trading on any worth while scale could be established with Russia, presupposing there was today an acceptable allied plan which could be carried out.

"If all the freight cars in all the European countries—England included—were gathered together and then sent into Russia there scarcely would be enough transport to meet Russia's immediate needs," he stated.

If all the European railway wagon-works started working overtime today and kept at it for ten years then Europe's transportation service would begin to be satisfactory.

"In Russia, for instance, but six out of every 100 locomotives are in condition to be of any service; parts have been removed from the others for repairs. Practically all the locomotives are burning wood fuel. Similar conditions exist in Poland, Rumania, Serbia, Bohemia, Hungary and Austria and some sections of Belgium and France."

This official was pessimistic about an early termination of the intermittent and prolonged meetings of the allied supreme council.

"It looks like they will be meeting for years trying to settle or keep settled such things as boundaries, mandates and superintending international decisions."

"The situation is quite different from that of eighteen months ago, when the allies had huge armies to carry out their decisions."

CREW OF FRIGATE RICHMOND BURN HISTORIC ANTIQUE

EASTPORT, Maine, May 20.—The Italian crew of the sixty-two-year-old frigate Richmond realized nothing of the historical value of antique associations, so to keep itself comfortable it burned up the mahogany sideboard which graced the cabin of the old frigate. The carved relic was worth thousands to any historical society in the country, but the crew realized only that it was cold on the unfavorable trip here from Norfolk, Va., so it turned up the valued souvenir which Farragut used.

Another relic must follow in the flames when the vessel is burned for junk as it is impossible to move it. This is the carved American eagle set up on the stern of the Richmond.

SUFFRAGISTS SAIL FOR BIG GENEVA MEET

International News Service.
NEW YORK, May 19.—America's delegation of suffrage workers, who will represent the National American Woman Suffrage Association at the International Woman Suffrage congress in Geneva June 6 to 12, sailed from New York today aboard the steamship Royal George, of the Cunard Line. The members of the delegation are busy with tickets and passports and with the closing up of loose ends of the suffrage work in their various fields in order that affairs at home may proceed smoothly during their absence.

The fondest hope of the delegates is that the Susan B. Anthony amendment to the Federal Constitution may be ratified before they sail and that they may appear at the Geneva gathering as representatives of a nation that has accorded equal voting privileges to all citizens regardless of sex.

The delegation which will represent America is made up of twelve delegates and twelve alternates. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president, and Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of New York, first corresponding secretary, are the officers of the National American Woman Suffrage Association who will attend the Geneva gathering.

By Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, of Denver, goes the honor of being the only woman legislator from the United States who will attend the convention, although Viscountess Nancy Astor, Member of Parliament, is a British legislator who will attend. Senator Robinson was the first woman to be elected to the Colorado state senate, and she has been known for many years as a writer and speaker. She first entered politics as head of a movement of Denver housewives against the renewal of the franchise of the local water company.

Mrs. Jacob Baur, of Chicago, is expected to be one of the active and interesting figures among the American delegation. She is particularly active in the financial affairs of the suffrage movement, the experience gained in managing her husband's business since his death and as chairman of the Chicago Women's Liberty Loan Committee being a valuable asset.

Nebraska will send as delegate Mrs. W. E. Barkley, of Lincoln, who led the legislative fight for presidential and municipal suffrage in that state and succeeded in having declared invalid the "anti" petition filed by opponents of the measure.

Dr. Marion Horton, of Windsor, Vt., is one of the delegates who has achieved a world-wide reputation. She is now engaged in important surgical work abroad and will join the delegation after it arrives at Geneva. Miss Julia Lathrop, of Chicago is another of the delegates who already is in Europe. Miss Lathrop is engaged in establishing child-welfare work in Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, granddaughter of Henry Clay and member of a distinguished Southern family, who, as head of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, successfully worked for ratification of the suffrage amendment in Kentucky, is expected to be active among the American delegates. She is a former officer of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She was instrumental also in inducing the Kentucky legislature to enact a child labor law in that state.

Mrs. Frederick Nathan, of New York, one of the delegates, is best known as one of the founders and incorporators of the Consumers' League and for her work in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She was the first woman to deliver a sermon from a pulpit during a service in a Jewish synagogue in New York.

The complete list of delegates who will represent America at the Congress follows:
Officers—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, New York, president; Mrs. Stanley McCormick, New York, first corresponding secretary.

Delegates—Mrs. Jacob Baur, Chicago; Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, Kentucky; Mrs. W. E. Barkley, Nebraska; Mrs. Halsey Wilson, New York; Mrs. Charles F. Spencer, Kansas; Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, Colorado; Miss Dorothy Rob-field, South Dakota; Mrs. H. O. Gavey, Kansas; Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis, Illinois; Miss Julia Lathrop, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Marion Horton, Vermont; Mrs. Maud Nathan, New York.

Alternates—Mrs. J. G. Munro, Massachusetts; Miss Frances Healey, New Hampshire; Mrs. Helen Lippincott, New Jersey; Mrs. J. M. McEwen, Kansas; Miss Florence Halsey, New Jersey; Mrs. Wirt Dexter, Massachusetts; Mrs. Adolph E. Roggen, Louisiana; Mrs. Arthur Hyerson, Illinois; Mrs. Eric Shattford, Kentucky; Mrs. Robert Kohlhammer, Illinois; Mrs. Martin Strand, Illinois; Mrs. James Henry Darlington, Pennsylvania.

Visitors—Bishop and Mrs. James Henry Darlington, Pennsylvania; Miss Alezon Robinson, Colorado; Miss Constance Drexel (Press), Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Jane Manner, New York; Miss Ruth Cranston, New York; Miss Donahelfield, South Dakota; Mrs. Joseph H. Cotton, Massachusetts; Miss Marjorie Shuler (Press), New York; Miss Gladys B. Wilkinson, Nebraska; Mrs. Sarah Algeo, Rhode Island; Mrs. Richard Strong, New York; Mrs. Donald Brown, New York.

HEALS RUNNING SORE AND CONQUERS PILES

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately.

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Galbraith, 703 Reed street, Erie, Pa.

"I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of service to my fellow man."

For years I have been selling through-druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 60 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.

It stops chafing in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

BOND INVESTORS WELL OFF.

Most of the lamentation over the low price of Liberty bonds is unnecessary and rather absurd. The current market price of bonds is important only to those who want to sell them. To those who do not want to sell, who bought the bond to keep and who intend to keep them it is of no importance at all.

To such people, real investors, the bonds are serving the purpose they were intended to serve. The interest is paid regularly every quarter; and though comparatively small, as interest rates are measured in these days of inflation, it is tax-free in most cases, and far higher than the rates the government securities bore formerly, or will bear hereafter. More important than that, perhaps, is the principal is absolutely sure—some thing not true of stock investments whose present high dividend rates make bond owners envious. And all in all, this same investment in war bonds, from first to last, will doubtless make more money for those who stick to it than a similar amount would make for the average investor if he scattered it through the list of securities that are now making so brave a show.

It is unfortunate that the man or woman who must sell bonds at this time stands to lose on them. Such people are prone to think that they have been cheated; and in a way they are right, because the government, at first gave assurance that it would maintain the bond at par, and possibly could have done so by maintaining a big fund and using it to steady the market.

However that may be, let no one who is able to hang onto his bonds waste any tears in self-pity. He got what he paid for, and is well off, and will lose nothing as long as he stands pat. And when the bonds mature, and he or his children get back the principal it will be worth a great deal more than in these days of balloon prices.

COLLEGIATE FLYING.

The first intercollegiate aviation meet has been held. Flyers from eleven universities participated. Yale won with nine points. The events included acrobatic flying and rising and landing contests. The altitude flight had to be called off on account of cloudy weather and a strong northerly wind.

It is news to many people that aviation has been added to the long list of collegiate competitive sports. The Intercollegiate Flying association, however, is not merely a new athletic club added to the list for the sake of furthering college spirit and rivalry. Its members are reserve officers of the United States air service. Their races and meets will not only keep up their flying practice, but also will help to interest other college men in this newest of sports. All of which is very fine for developing general interest in aviation, improving airplane types and helping the public to become familiar with the flying machine.

So far this country has lagged behind Europe in the use of the airplane for all purposes, particularly for freight and passenger transportation. Intercollegiate flying should quicken general interest in the whole subject and practice of aviation.

Three generations from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves," they used to say. Now it's less than that from overalls to overalls.

Red Cross Tracing Allotment Checks. More than 47,000 soldiers' and sailors' allotment checks that had failed to reach the proper recipients, were successfully delivered by the Red Cross last year. Home Service workers are still tracing 15,317 additional checks in which final delivery has not been made.

YOUR LIBERTY BOND.

The United States government borrowed money from you to finance the war. You hold the government's promise to pay you back. This promise is called a Liberty bond or Victory note. On this bond is stated the conditions under which the government borrowed the money from you.

For instance: If you hold a bond of the third Liberty loan, it states that on April 15 and October 15 of each year until maturity, you will receive interest on the amount you paid for the bond. Other issues bear other rates of interest and other maturity dates, all of which are clearly stated on the bond.

Now, if you keep your bond until the date when the government pays you in full for it, you don't need to worry if, in the meantime, the price is low one day or high the next. You and Uncle Sam are living up to your agreement with each other, and neither will lose by it.

On the other hand, if you sell your Liberty bond now, you will find that the man you sell it to will not give you a dollar for every dollar you paid for it. The price has been brought down because so many people are offering to sell their bonds. If the market is flooded with tomatoes, you can buy them cheap, but if every one is clamoring for tomatoes and there are but few to be had, the price goes up.

The same is true of Liberty bonds. Short-sighted people are dumping them on the market, and the wise ones are buying them. The best advice that can be given to the owner of a Liberty bond is this: Hold the bond you bought during the war; it is as safe and sound as the United States government itself.

Buy as many more at the present low rate as you can afford. If you hold them until maturity you are bound to make the difference between what they now sell at and their face value. You will also receive good interest on your investment.

Hold on to your Liberty bonds and buy more.

CARRIES DYNAMITE ON TROLLEY; JAILED

DETROIT, Mich., May 20.—Passengers on a local street car were stepping carelessly about a gunnysack which had been thrown, with equal abandon, on the car floor by Raffelle Valenta, 35 years old, of No. 642 Riopelle street, a few days ago.

They did not know until Patrolman Joseph Miller tenderly took the bag in custody, along with its owner, that the bag contained enough high per cent dynamite to blow the car and passengers to bits. Miller had done some sleuthing, chased the car and investigated.

Valenta, a drain contractor, was carrying fifteen pounds of the explosive out to a job on Grand River avenue, where he expected to blow stumps. At Hunt Station he told Sergeant Hess he had purchased twenty-five pounds of dynamite at Christmas, keeping the supply under his bed. He denied having carried supplies of explosives on street cars before.

Valenta was brought before Judge Jeffries charged under a city ordinance with having dynamite in his possession without a license. He was dismissed by the judge, who told him to get a license and then call and get his dynamite.

AFTER GRIP WINTER COLDS—BAD BLOOD

You are pale, thin, weak—with little vitality. Your liver is sluggish and the bad blood causes your stomach muscles to lose their elasticity and become flabby and weak—then indigestion.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made from wild roots and barks, and free from alcohol or narcotics, is the great and powerful blood purifier of to-day. Ingredients printed on wrapper. This tonic, in liquid or tablet form, is just what you need to give you vim, vigor and vitality.

Take the 'Discovery' as directed and it will search out impure and poisonous matter throughout the system and eliminate it through the natural channels.

You can procure a trial package of the tablets by sending 10c. to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.—"Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been a family remedy in our family for years. My father had a severe cough following pneumonia. He was told to use 'Golden Medical Discovery' and by following it up faithfully to the extent of four bottles he was cured.

"Last winter when I had a cough I took the 'Discovery' and it cured me in a short time. In fact, all our family use it whenever we have a hard cold or cough."—MRS. R. D. ROSE, 419 West Chickasha Street.

Efficient Housekeeping

HOUSEKEEPING SHORTCUTS.

Still the "discoveries" which I long ago suggested that my readers pass on to other housekeepers through this column, continue to your in. I take pleasure in printing the following helps which these splendidly generous women have sent in to lighten the work of other women:

Mrs. B. C.—"I avoid the unpleasant odor of cabbages, turnips and sauer kraut by putting a small piece of charcoal tied up in a clean square of muslin into the kettle with the boiling vegetable. The charcoal will not have any injurious effect upon the vegetable.

Good Landress.—"I have found that it pays to wash all delicate colors of lawn, Scotch gingham and percale in starch water. I always keep a nail brush beside the wash tubs for the purpose of applying to very soiled spots such as on the front of overalls and the cuffs of my small son's blouses; the brush saves a lot of scrubbing."

Frequent Hostess.—"My daughter has so many young people calling upon her at all times—and consequently we often have a young guest at table—that I have buried an empty olive bottle (quite a short bottle) in the center of the pot holding the asparagus fern on our dining room table (the pot is set in a pretty jardiniere). When an unexpected guest arrives, I simply stick a few flowers from my plants into the hidden olive bottle, thus achieving a most original and festive effect with very little trouble."

Forgetful.—"Fewer housekeepers would have cake tragedies if they would do as I do, and set their alarm clock to ring at the time the cake in the oven will be done. In this way one can turn one's mind, completely to other duties, unhampered by the necessity of glancing frequently at the clock."

Mrs. W. M.—"I make butter 'stretch' by combining it with cheese, in the following way: I grate the desired amount of cheese, add a little salt to it, and mix it with half its own quantity of real butter. After these are well creamed together, I cream in just enough fresh milk (evaporated milk is good for this use, too) to make the mixture fairly soft. It is delicious on breads and muffins."

A Reader.—"I keep my rhubarb and juicy fruit pies from running, by putting into each pie 1/2 teaspoon of hard-stale bread crumbs which have been put through a food chopper. I scatter a layer of these crumbs in the bottom of the pie plate before filling, gradually adding the rest of the half-cup with the filling."

Mother.—"My school-girl daughter complained about her braids catching on the buttons of her dress until I thought out the following method of overcoming this trouble: I sewed the buttons on the wrong side of the upper piece and made the buttonholes in the under piece so as to button wrong-side-out."

WEALTHY RETURNS MONEY TAKEN TWELVE YEARS AGO

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., May 20.—Michael W. Evans disappeared from Cripple Creek twelve years ago when alleged discrepancies to the extent of $2,500 were discovered in his accounts as manager of a local club. Last week he sent a lawyer to this city to return the money, taken when he fled.

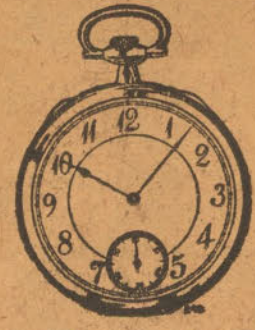

Evans is said to have accumulated a fortune in the zinc mines near Joplin, Mo.

BRITONS ENCOURAGE MAKING OF AEROPLANES

LONDON, May 20.—For the purpose of encouraging the manufacturers of aeroplanes and also to determine the best type of planes for commercial and war purposes the British government announces that competitions will be held in the late summer and that prizes will be distributed amounting to over $900,000.

The aeroplane competition will be held in August and the seaplane tests will take place in September. The prizes are open to British subjects and the government agrees to purchase a machine of each type winning the first prize at a maximum price of $20,000 for small planes, $50,000 for large planes and $40,000 for seaplanes.

Although the planes must be of British construction and the engines must be designed and manufactured in the British Empire, secondary equipment such as ignition system and the instruments may be of foreign design and construction, but marks will be deducted for the use of such appliances.

WOMEN PLAN TO WEAR QUAINT PILGRIM COSTUME

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 20.—South Shore women of 1920 may revive the quaint Pilgrim costume of three centuries ago to wear during the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims. A suggestion made by leaders in celebration plans that the deurene plan gowns with the white cap and kerchief, be again adopted is being considered. It is pointed out that this simple dress would be a good "economy" move to defeat the high cost of living.

Another feature in preparation is a bronze statue of "The Pilgrim Mother," by Henry H. Kitson, the sculptor, to be seven and one-half feet high. This will be the gift of the national society of New England women, of which Mrs. Richard the tercentenary committee. The statue M. Greene of New York, is chairman of will be unveiled this fall.

What Is a Bank?

A bank is much more than merely a safe place for keeping funds, for handling checks, for collecting drafts, etc.

A bank should be regarded as the intimate helper, advisor and friend of the customer; ever ready to co-operate in every proper way, to extend necessary accommodation as required, and to protect his interest in every way that lies within its power.

This is the kind of service that we endeavor to render; and we invite you to make your connection with us with such service in view.

FRIED FROM ASYLUM, SHOOTS HIS SWEETHEART

International News Service. BANGOR, Maine, May 20.—After shooting and seriously wounding his sweetheart, George Stanchfield, recently released on parole from the Bangor State hospital for the insane, set the farm buildings of two neighbors on fire, burning to death thirty-six head of cattle and a pair of horses.

He was captured in a loft of his barn by a posse headed by Sheriff Fernandez and his deputies, who searched for hours in the neighborhood of the town of Yeazie, where the depredations took place. According to the authorities, Stanchfield confessed to his acts, which he attributed to his fiancée's sudden coolness toward him.

Mary Louise Greenleaf, the wounded girl, is at the Eastern Main General hospital in a serious condition, with a bullet in her head. Stanchfield said that he went to the Greenleaf home, and, holding a lighted match to the window, pushed a revolver through the window and fired, the bullet passing over the girl's mother, who was sleeping with her, and striking Miss Greenleaf.

MAY SUPPLY WOOL FOR FACTORIES IN GERMANY

LONDON, May 20.—British business men are behind a scheme to furnish supplies of wool, jute and leather so as to start factories in Central Europe. The department of overseas trade of the Board of Trade has O. K.'d the plan, but the British treasury opposes it. Other business men say only manufactured articles should be exported from England.

Those who would export raw materials do not desire to do so until the government is prepared to underwrite any losses that might occur.

Now another scheme is on foot for extension of credits to certain European factories for purchase of raw materials, or for putting out—sub-letting—manufacturing work by British manufacturers to Central European factories. Thus could they take advantage of the depreciated exchange rates and get cheap labor.

Lord Faringdon, among others, has been pushing the campaign, but experts say that only when the British government "takes the risk" by guaranteeing payments can this enterprise be carried out.

ENGLAND TO MAKE OWN ALARM CLOCKS

LONDON, May 20.—Mr. Ben, that well-known American alarm-clockist, had better look to his laurels for John Bull is getting ready to make his own morning sleep disturbers. Big scale, too. Million a year. And the retail price at present exchange rates will be about $1.50.

But the idea isn't directed against America, but Germany, which, before the war, dominated the British market. The factory will be in London. At Oldham a five-storied factory will make cheap wall clocks on a big scale.

The Board of Trade says England is making great progress in supplying herself with things which before the war came chiefly from Germany. These include glass, bottles, optical glassware, scientific glassware, scientific instruments, fancy leather goods, toys, pencils, microscopes and brushes.

Glass blowing machinery is being used and England soon hopes to begin exporting bottles and other glassware. The German standard microscope is being knocked out here by a better British article. Birmingham is becoming a center for production of small machine parts.

John E. Milford and D. H. Eyer, of the Milford Undertaking company, have gone to Waco to attend the state undertakers' association.

WYOMING TESTATOR GIVES FAMILY LIQUOR

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 19.—Clerk of Court T. J. Fisher is the victim of a heavy barrage from Cheyenne residents who are seeking the identity of a local man who has bequeathed a large quantity of liquor to relatives, in a will recently filed at the county building.

According to Fisher, who steadfastly refuses to divulge the name of the testator, the "wet" will contains provision for the burial with his body of a pint of "prime whisky," and also directs that his two sons shall receive from his estate "three cases of good rye, which I have managed to hold on to."

"I desire that all my lawful debts shall be paid," the will is said to read, "including my funeral expenses and unpaid bills for two cases of Bourbon, five bottles of gin and three bottles of rye whiskey, which will be found among my effects—unless the mourners should happen to get to them first."

Another clause in the unusual will reads: "to my beloved wife, who has stood by me in all these years and who has often been just as thirsty as I was I hereby bequeath all my 16-year-old stock, which will be found behind a secret panel near the fireplace in the library. Also in token of my love and affection, she shall have the last three bottles of Scotch, which are secreted in the piano."

The testator is said to have made generous money provisions for his family.
