PLAN TO MOVE PENITENTIARY RECOMMENDED

Second Bill on Prison System Arising From Recent Investigation.

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—The senate committee on penitentiaries this morning reported favorably Senator Hertzberg's bill creating a commission of three members, the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the house and the commissioner of the general office, to decide on a site for the relocation of the Huntsville penitentiary as recommended by the joint committee which investigated the prison system. Senator Lewis was the only member of the committee to oppose a favorable report. He presented a brief in behalf of the citizens of Huntsville who oppose removal.

Senator Hertzberg will during the day introduce his second bill on recommendations of the penitentiary investigating committee. It will provide for creation of a prison board of supervision to consist of three members, over 30 years of age, one member to be a woman. The board is to be appointed by the governor, with term of office of six years. Compensation is to be $5 per day while actually engaged in following the duties as members of the board, also traveling expenses.

The board shall visit the main penitentiary quarterly to investigate treatment of convicts and their general welfare. The board is to make quarterly reports to the governor as to conditions as they find them in the penitentiary system. These reports shall also be furnished the legislature at each session that it convenes.

A bill is to be introduced in the legislature to increase the guaranty fund from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. The subject was submitted this morning by Governor Neff.

Seventeen Additional Subjects. In submitting seventeen additional subjects to the legislature today, Governor Neff said he did so reluctantly and announced that no more matters would be submitted at this special session. The matters submitted today were without recommendation, the governor saying they were presented "for whatever legislative consideration you may deem wise."

That there is not to be a second called session was indicated in the governor's statement that "I trust that none of the matters herein or heretofore submitted will interfere in any way with the consideration of any of the appropriation bills."

RUSSIAN NEWSPAPERS UNAWARE COUNTRY HAS CONTRACT TO FULFILL

RIGA, Aug. 6.—The general public in Russia so far is apparently ignorant of the fact that the question of the release of the American prisoners is involved in the famine relief, as Moscow newspapers received here today made no mention of the recent notes of Herbert Hoover and Secretary of State Hughes.

POOR "JOHN D." HAS NO PLACE TO LOAF

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 6.—"John D. Rockefeller" is disconsolate—since they moved the Standard Oil station from the corner of Fourth street and Mendocino avenue. It used to be his regular hang-out, and now he doesn't seem to know where to go. John D. is a big, brown bulldog, who for years has been self-constituted watchdog of the station.

Weeks and Denby Urge That Embargo Be Placed On Chemicals and Dyes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Secretaries Weeks and Denby have come out in support of an embargo on dyes and chemicals, and have urged restoration to the Fordney tariff bill of the embargo provision, stricken out by the house. The attitude of the two cabinet officers was made known today when Chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee made public letters from them to the committee on the subject.

The cabinet officers explained that they favored an embargo because of national defense. "It is of great value to the navy," Mr. Denby wrote. "Chemical activities and the manufacture of all products connected with explosives and gasses, especially those manufactured in those establishments can easily be diverted to the manufacture of war materials. The restoration of the embargo clause will be of material help, and will greatly appreciate your assistance." An embargo has been found necessary in England, Japan, France and Italy, Mr. Weeks said. He also declared that the chemical industry was vital to Germany in prolonging her efforts in the world war, and expressed the opinion that high explosives and gasses would play a

HOLDUP MEN GOT IN GOOD NIGHT'S WORK

Three Cases of Hijacking Are Reported Within Two Hours.

A negro and four Mexicans were hijacked for a total of $100 last night between the hours of 9:20 and 11 o'clock. The first hijacking was a negro at 9:20 o'clock, and the hijacker had his trouble for his pains. He did not get anything. The holdup occurred on the railroad track out near Tiffin. A tall man and a short one are said to have done the work. The negro has seen the short man in the city and said he would know him if he saw him again. Heavy caliber revolvers were used.

Two Mexicans coming from Tiffin were robbed of $65 about 10:30 o'clock. The description given of these men is the same as that given of the men who held up the negro. Still later in the night two Mexicans were robbed near the postoffice of $35. The description given of the men who robbed them is vague.

NEAR RIOT FOLLOWS RECOGNITION BY MOB OF OLD-TIME FRIEND

DENVER, Aug. 6.—A near riot occurred at the Denver union depot when it was discovered that eighty cases of bonded whiskey were standing on the station platform.

Each case was plainly labeled as to content and consignors, a Jackson county, Kentucky, distillery. Excitement became so intense among the rapidly gathering throng, when news of the arrival of the "wet goods" was spread, that it was necessary to maintain a special guard of officers around the liquors during the entire night.

Prohibition enforcement officials explained the following day that the liquor was obtained by government permit and was for medicinal purposes, to be dispensed at a local home for the aged.

WOMAN WHO WROTE WITH FEET IS DEAD

PAYALLUP, Wash., Aug. 6.—A woman who did more with her feet than many persons can do with their hands died here recently. She was Miss Mabel D. Igo, an invalid, who, denied the use of her hands and arms, learned to write and paint with her feet. Several of her paintings have won prizes at the Western Washington fair here.

CONGRESS TO SPEED UP ON TAX REVISION

Interest Centers on Date Excess Profits Repeal Is Effective.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Majority members of the house ways and means committee expect to get down to brass tacks on tax revision next week. Chairman Fordney said today that the re-writing of levy provisions in the 1918 law probably would begin Monday, and that unless unexpected snags were encountered the new bill should be ready within ten days. Leaders generally say house consideration will require only a few days.

With revision of the administrative features out of the way, the work now before the Republican committee is to determine the extent of the tax revisions, and the way they are to be made. The general belief seems to be that the committee bill will propose repeal of the excess profits tax, but whether the effective date will be last January 1 or next January 1, apparently remains to be determined.

As a substitute for the excess profits tax, it is planned to increase the corporation income tax from the present 10 per cent to 15 per cent, and also to repeal the $2,000 exemption allowed corporations under the existing law. Chairman Fordney said today, however, that it might be necessary to make some specific provision in the bill to relieve the burden it has been claimed this would impose on the small corporations with limited incomes.

The chairman also disclosed a proposal to write into the bill a provision taxing income of the so-called personal service corporations, and firms not incorporated under law the same as income of other corporations. The supreme courts held that the present law is not applicable to such concerns. L. F. Gates, of the Chicago board of trade, opposed the elimination of leased wife houses and told the committee that proposed federal trade commission be given authority to explore co-partnerships and firms not now subject to its jurisdiction. He also contended that provisions of the bill permitting co-operative marketing associations which become members of grain exchanges to rebate commissions would be a powerful lever to compel all dealers to such joint associations, threatening monopolistic control by producers.

FIRE DAMAGES BUILDING AT AN EARLY HOUR

At 1 o'clock last night without apparent cause, a vacant building on Austin street burst into flames. The fire department was quickly on the job and at that hour it appeared as though little damage had been done.

The building which was on fire was next door to the old Model Dry Goods company location. The building last night was said to belong to Elmer Lawrence, former sheriff. Though it could not be ascertained, it is doubted if it carried insurance since it was constructed of studding and beaver-board.

A heavy barrage of pistol shots was laid down to notify the populace that a fire was raging and in spite of the lateness of the hour a large crowd gathered, many of whom were in their night clothes.

In the rear of the building lying on the floor coals of fire were discernible before the arrival of the fire department, and though the flames will probably be laid to fire bugs, no odor of oil or gasoline was apparent at the time the alarm was turned in.

REMAKING OF IMMIGRATION LAW SOUGHT

FAVOR PROBE OF EASTLAND ROAD AFFAIRS

Harmony Prevails and the Resolutions Are Unanimously Adopted.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Frantic races of immigrant laden steamers into American harbors to land monthly quotas in the first minutes in the first day of the new month may be done away with Monday when ship line officers and immigration officials get together to formulate a new agreement. Commissioner General Husband of the immigration bureau, in addressing the conference today said he was willing to "wipe the slate clean" with the 400 or so August quota excess now in harbors and begin all over again if the companies would reach an agreement among themselves not to exceed quotas hereafter.

Several quotas for August were exceeded in the first few minutes of Aug. 1. One ship lost out because of a lighter crossing her bow, and took back her load of immigrants at the company's expense rather than take a chance of running down the barge. She was a British steamer bringing a small part of the month's quota of Greeks.

A Greek ship with the whole month's quota of Greeks left after the British steamer but won by two minutes, and would be permitted to land her entire cargo under existing rules. A conference next Monday is planned to devise ways and means to meet this situation.

OFFERS MADE TO HELP SGT. YORK KEEP FARM

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 6.—Sergt. Alvin York of Pall Mall, Tenn., is reported as facing a foreclosure of the mortgage on his farm and at least two tentative offers to relieve him of this embarrassment have been made.

A statement of his financial condition, as made by Sergt. York himself is as follows: "The Rotary club of Nashville purchased a farm for me at the price of $23,000, and have paid $10,927.50, and executed three notes for the balance of the purchase price. The three unpaid notes amount to $12,072.50 net, counting the interest from the date of the same, which was Nov. 18, 1919, and are a lien on the farm to secure payment of same. The Nashville Rotary club has paid all the money that was raised by them for the purpose of purchasing the farm, for which I am very thankful."

The first offer is that of a Memphis bank, to the end that the foreclosure would be handled through long time paper that would be accepted from the sergeant himself. The second proposal came to the Knoxville Board of Commerce, in the nature of a letter from the Berwind White Coal Mining company, of Philadelphia, seeking information concerning York, his reputation, religion and other data that would be considered desirable looking to the advancement of a loan to the war hero to relieve him of the obligation pressing upon him at this time.

FORD'S BID BEST YET FOR MUSSEL SHOALS AND NITRATE PLANTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Despite the general invitation for bids sent to every industrial and financial concern in the country it was announced today that no bid has been received comparable to that submitted by Henry Ford for the Mussel Shoals, Alabama nitrate plants and dam.

Secretaries Weeks and Hoover recently announced they expected to receive a bid from a substantial source, but in the absence of the cabinet members, acting officials declared the expected offer had not been received. Mr. Mrazek's wife told the officers that she and her husband had been making whisky until about three weeks ago when a deputy sheriff telephoned and told them to stop making it or he would have to arrest them.

BENNY PINTO AGAIN MASKED BAND VICTIM

Police Held Off by Guns While Man Is Seized; City in Furor.

Special to the Times.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—Two policemen and the clerk of the Majestic hotel were held at bay at the muzzles of guns at 10:30 o'clock tonight while eight masked men dashed through the lobby of the hotel and up the stairway where they captured Benny Pinto after a chase which began at Thirteenth and Houston streets. The captive was rushed out of the city in an automobile and 500 to 1,000 citizens were waiting until a late hour at Seventh and Main streets, blocking the thoroughfare, expecting the mob's victim to be brought back and dumped at that point. The town was in an uproar at 11 o'clock.

Pinto, who is an Italian, was seized by a similar gang of masked men about a month ago and forced to act as receiver for a coat of tar and feathers. The man was then ordered to leave town, which he did, but is said to have returned at intervals. Tonight he is said to have returned and announced that he had come back to stay. He is said to have been implicated in various thieving cases and has been on trial on numerous occasions.

When the masked men rushed into the lobby of the hotel in the wake of the fleeing man the clerk, thinking a hijacking was being staged, bolted for the hotel safe to close it against the mob.

One shot which was fired before Pinto sprinted into the hotel is thought to have been fired by Pinto. After gaining possession of their victim the maskers loaded him into a waiting automobile and sped away in the direction of the Samuels avenue bridge. The masked band were garbed in brown unionalls and their faces were completely covered with brown masks, with holes cut for their eyes.

WIFE SNORES; HUBBY STRIKES, IS ARRESTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—If your wife snores, don't hit her.

Restrain yourself, for the law is against you. Take the case of John Skinner. He and Norma Skinner live on Golden Gate avenue. Last night Norma snored. John hit her, she says. She screamed. A policeman came and today John faces a charge of battery.

BEAR, GLUTTON FOR SHEEP FLESH, SLAIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—A 500-pound black bear with an exceptional appetite for mutton was trapped and killed in the Santian National forest last night by A. C. Ames, government trapper, according to a report reaching here today. The bear had a record of killing and eating portions of seventeen fat sheep in one night and nine the next.

$350,000 GLASS PLANT WILL BE LOCATED HERE

Senator Barrett Expects to Have Factory Installed About October.

A. P. Barrett, president of the Ranger Gas company, stated yesterday that he had secured the promises of co-operation of users of bottles in the state and with their aid expected to have a glass factory installed here before many months. The plant, he estimates, will cost about $350,000 and the capital stock is expected to be subscribed by the larger users of bottles in the state.

Senator Barrett did not say where he would secure his sand but it is thought an ample supply exists around Ranger. The statement was made just before he left for New York, St. Louis and other places to raise $100,000 capital with which to complete a gas plant in Graham. All the material has been bought and it is expected the plant will be installed by Oct. 1. The Ranger Gas company owns several plants in, and adjacent to the oil fields, all with their head office in Ranger.

EVIDENCE OF BIG MOONSHINE FRAUD FOUND

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Disclosures of a probable $50,000 moonshine ring in Chicago was made today by Joseph Callahan of the federal prohibition office when he announced the arrest of William Williams of Winnipeg, Canada.

According to Callahan, Williams was seized while carrying two suit cases from a railroad station. Search of the suit cases revealed what looked like fifty quarts of whisky.

It was found, however, that only an ounce of whisky was on the top of each bottle, and then a layer of paraffine separated the top from the bottom, and the bottom was filled with clear water.

RATTLESNAKE ROAMS CORRIDORS OF ONE OF NEW YORK SKYSCRAPERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Somewhere in the labyrinthine passage of the Hudson Terminal building yesterday there roamed a five-foot rattlesnake—an unwelcome tenant of the big skyscraper since last Tuesday.

A porter, who first saw the snake crawling over a telephone booth, and sounded the alarm, drew down on himself a variety of sarcastic remarks—until his tale was verified by a circus man who found that one of three snakes he had checked at a parcel counter had escaped.

BIRTHS EXCEED DEATHS FIRST TIME IN SIX YEARS IN FRANCE

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The marriage rate in France has leaped to a remarkable height since the war, and with it the birth rate.

There were 623,869 weddings in 1920 and 312,036 in 1913 in France. For the first time in six years, too, there were more births than deaths—nearly 139,000 more. The outlook for a repopulated France is all the more encouraging because the number of deaths decreased from 781,411 in 1913 to 674,621 in 1920.

Harding Reiterates That U. S. Will Take Lead in Assuring Lasting Peace

By Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Maine, Aug. 6.—President Harding ended his vacation visit to the White Mountains in New Hampshire today, and arrived in Portland to board the yacht Mayflower for the return voyage to Washington.

Accompanied by Mrs. Harding and other members of the vacation party the president made the 140-mile cross country trip by automobile, starting early in the day from Lancaster, New Hampshire, where he has been the guest of Secretary of War Weeks since Tuesday.

He went out of his way to visit a soldier's sanitarium at Oxford, Maine, stopped at Poland Springs for lunch and a game of golf, and accepted an invitation to pay a brief call and make a speech at Westbrook, just outside of Portland. The Mayflower is expected to reach Washington Tuesday noon.

The stop at Westbrook was arranged at the request of Senator Hale, of that place. He had been one of Mr. Harding's companions on this and several previous vacation trips. Several thousand gathered to hear the president's speech, in which he reiterated his prediction that America would find it possible to attain leadership for world peace at the coming conference for disarmament. Before he said goodbye this morning to the mountain life near Lancaster, which has been his home the past four days, Mr. Harding played a round of golf on the diminutive course laid out on the Weeks place for the use of the vacation party. The play today was the final match of a tournament for the championship of the party. Mr. Harding made a low score. The title went to Senator Hale.

During the stop at Oxford, both Mr. and Mrs. Harding assured the disabled world war veterans under treatment there that the government would do everything possible for their welfare. Both asked many questions about the needs of the patients, most of whom are suffering from the effects of gas, and before leaving made a thorough inspection of the whole establishment.

REVOLT LOSSES ALARM SPAIN'S KING TO ACTION

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Alfonso, king of Spain, realizing the gravity of the situation in Morocco, where his troops have suffered a crushing defeat, was scheduled to hold an important conference today with his leading statesmen. The king, mindful of the republican movement which has received powerful impetus by the Spanish reverses in Morocco, has called what virtually amounts to a crown council.

Meanwhile, according to the latest news from Madrid, the Spanish government and the various municipal authorities fear disturbances, as the national sentiment is greatly aroused by the latest developments in Morocco.

There are well-grounded reports that Spain is encountering trouble among its own troops, who are showing increasing unwillingness to fight the Moroccans.

To prevent possibility of international incidents, the government of France has ordered the Franco-Spanish border closed.

FEW SURVIVORS ARRIVE.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Fewer than 200 survivors of the garrison at Nador, which surrendered to the Moorish tribesmen, have arrived at Melilla, says a dispatch to the London Times from Tangier. Among them are some women and children, also many sick and wounded.

A few survivors from Zeluan also are reported to have reached Melilla. They say that many of the garrison were shot after its surrender.

News from the column of General Navarro still is lacking. It is said that the tribesmen who took Mount Arruit used artillery from Spanish forts which they had captured.

With the loss of Nador, Zeluan and Mount Arruit, Spain's possession in the region disappeared, except for Melilla and its immediate surroundings, and two small presidios on the coast.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 square miles of territory thus are lost to Spain.

TAX REVISION IS SOUGHT BY U. S. BUSINESS BODY

Notification was received today by the Ranger Chamber of Commerce of a vote by the membership of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in favor of a general federal turnover on all business transactions. The business organizations comprising the chamber declared themselves for this form of sales tax in a referendum that has just been completed.

As a result of this referendum and a previous one on taxation, taken six months ago, the chamber has submitted to congress a general tax program, which included the following proposals:

- Repeal of excess profits taxes.
- Repeal of war excise taxes, both those on transportation and communication, and those levied in relation to particular businesses.
- A tax on all turnovers to bring in such revenues lost through these repeals as the government's necessities require.
- Decentralization of administration of income taxation.
- Ascertainment by the government of any tax based on income before payment.
- A court or courts of tax appeals to be entirely separate and independent of the treasury department.
- Net losses and inventory losses in any taxable year to cause redetermination of taxation on income of the previous year.
- An exchange of property of a like or similar nature to be considered merely as a replacement.
- Gains realized from the sale of capital assets to be subject to lower rates than income received from business or other current activities.
- Income from any new issues of securities, which lawfully may be made subject to federal tax, to be taxable.
- Exemption of American citizens resident abroad from the American tax upon income derived abroad and not remitted to the United States.
- More than 500 business organizations voted in the referendum just completed. A preliminary canvass shows that the most general demand, after a virtually unanimous demand in the previous referendum for repeal of the excess profits tax, is for a repeal of the taxes on freight and express charges, passenger fares and Pullman charges, and messages—that is, for an end to the war excise taxes on transportation and communication. For the repeal of these excise taxes there were 1,443 votes to 290 votes against.
- The various organizations are entitled to from one to ten votes, based on their membership strength.

NEGRO LYNCHED BY MOB IN VIRGINIA

PETERSBURG, Va., Aug. 6.—One of the two negroes arrested last night in connection with the murder of Tingley Elmore, postmaster and storekeeper of Tobacco, Va., Monday, was taken from the Brunswick county jail at Lawrenceville early today by a mob and lynched. The other negro was not molested.

More than 60 per cent of the factory workers in Japan are women.

EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE HELD UNLIKELY

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—Action of Speaker Charles G. Thomas in bringing the steam roller into effect yesterday afternoon to stop dilly-dallying on the floor of the house and to expedite passage of the appropriation bills made it conclusive that there will be no extra session of the legislature immediately following adjournment of the present one. Practically no legislation of any importance, except the appropriation bills, will be passed during this session.

All of Governor Pat M. Neff's cherished measures will be left high and dry on the calendars of one legislative branch or the other.

The appropriation bills, cut to the bone, apparently are sure of passage.

New Session Not Likely.

While another called session is not likely, it is probable that next January, Governor Neff may summon another extra session to consider the report of the penitentiary investigating committee.

MR. WILSON AND COLONEL HOUSE HAVE 'MADE UP'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—A report that former President Wilson and E. M. House have "made up" their mysterious break and are exchanging friendly letters has been in circulation around Washington for several days. It has the basis that Mr. Wilson has spoken kindly of his one-time special representative to recent visitors, and friends of both say that, if there was ever any bitterness, it has undoubtedly passed away.

There does not appear to be any definite information on the subject. Mr. Wilson has steadfastly declined to make any public comment on any matter since he left the White House. Joseph P. Tumulty, his former secretary, who is still close to the former president, says he knows nothing about it.

Others who may presume to be in Mr. Wilson's confidence deny emphatically that there was ever a real breach between him and Mr. House, and point to the circumstance that there has never been an accepted reason adduced for the assumed quarrel. They say Mr. House did not call on the former president because he had no business and wished to spare Mr. Wilson during his illness.

Theory Unsupported.

This theory does not wholly accord with the facts; many of Mr. Wilson's friends, though they knew he would not see them, left cards for the sick president. It is not recorded that Mr. House, though he was in Washington on one or more occasions, left any cards.

At Paris it was said, and generally believed, that the trouble occurred over Fiume. Mr. House was reported to have taken the Italian end of the controversy, while his chief, acting on the advice of his experts, thought Fiume should go to Jugo-Slavia.

The recent book purporting to lift the curtain on the happenings had it that Mr. Wilson was annoyed because British influence, exerted through special attentions, got Mr. House to espouse the Japanese side of the Shantung difficulty and so influenced Mr. Wilson to yield on that point.

A third explanation, frequently discussed in Washington, was that they broke over the appointment of A. Mitchell Palmer to be attorney-general, and a fourth story had it that Mr. House came home without consulting his chief, which the latter construed as desertion.

Neither the former president nor Mr. House has ever been willing to deny or affirm any of these tales, and Mr. House has been quoted as saying that he did not know what had caused the coolness.

QUESTION IN BRYAN ARREST FOR SPEEDING

ANTIOCH, Ill., Aug. 6.—Whether William Bryan, former secretary of state, was really arrested here last week because the automobile in which he was traveling was exceeding the speed limit, was a moot question today.

L. B. Congdon, the constable who was credited with making the arrest, was discharged by Frank King, the village president, because of complaints as to his methods in dealing with automobilists.

BRITAIN WILL SEEK TO HOLD POWER ON SEA

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Great Britain has no intention of relinquishing her position as mistress of the seas at the forthcoming Washington disarmament conference.

This is the interpretation placed Thursday in high naval quarters here on the action of the British admiralty and house of commons in voting to go ahead with the immediate construction of four new powerful battleships.

The acquisition of these great dreadnoughts will allow Great Britain to retain her naval superiority, which was seriously endangered by the American and Japanese building programs. Should England have stood still in naval building and America and Japan completed their present programs, the three greatest naval powers in the world would have gathered around the conference table in Washington on nearly an even footing.

English Attitude.

As it is, Great Britain will enter the conference with the greatest navy in the world and then fight for "proportionate reduction," which, if adopted, will permit her to emerge from the conference still the world's leading naval power.

The attitude of the United States toward this plan of reduction has not been made clear nor has that of Japan.

In proposing the laying down of the new vessels the admiralty disclosed there will be no "scrapping" of first-class ships. The scrapping, if there is to be any, will be confined to older vessels—vessels which have served their time on the seas of the world.

There is no thought, the admiralty secretary said, that the powers concerned would decree the junking of ships already built and building.

This was taken as indicating that the conference will concern itself more with limiting future operations than with endeavoring to reduce or decrease the size of the navies now existent.

The Washington conference on limitation of armaments and Pacific questions will meet at noon on Armistice day.

4214 JAPANESE QUIT HAWAII IN ONE YEAR

HONOLULU, Aug. 6.—During the fiscal year just closed, 4214 Japanese left Hawaii for the Far East, while 4,794 aliens were admitted into the islands in that period, according to official immigration figures.

In the previous fiscal year, 3654 Japanese returned to Japan, while 4,402 aliens of all races were admitted to Hawaii.

Of the total 4,794 aliens coming in, 3,629 were Japanese, 707 Chinese, and of these latter 391 were American citizens returning from visits home. During the last year fifty-five Koreans came to Hawaii.

SPURGIN HAS PROTECTION OF ARMED GUARDS

Waiting Game Forced Upon Operatives, According to Reports.

By International News Service

MARFA, Texas, Aug. 6.—Warren C. Spurgin, absconding president of the Michigan Avenue Trust company bank of Chicago, is surrounded by armed guards on the hacienda of a friend in the outskirts of Chihuahua City, according to reports made to the district manager of a nationally known detective agency today by his operatives who trailed the fleeing financier to his hiding place in Mexico.

According to the report, the hacienda, or ranch, is located approximately 500 yards back from one of the Chihuahua City roads and the armed guard is maintained both day and night. The hacienda is practically inaccessible except from the front, the report says, due to the fact that it is surrounded on the other three sides at a very short distance with dense undergrowth of sage brush, mesquite and cactus.

The operatives further add that any attempts so far made by them to gain entrance to the estate have met with determined resistance by the guard, who have warned them that any effort to trespass will draw their fire.

The operatives must play a waiting game, according to the district manager, and await Spurgin's next move, as they are powerless to bring about his arrest under the present conditions existing in Chihuahua City.

"If Spurgin takes it into his head to move, the only thing we can do is to trail him until our efforts, begun in Mexico City several days ago to have President Obregon declare him an 'undesirable' and order him expelled from the country, are successful," the agency head declared.

Expulsion of Spurgin from Mexico will unwind considerable red tape in its functioning, according to the agency head.

If President Obregon grants their request a special emissary will be sent from Mexico City to Chihuahua City to make an investigation and take command of the situation. He will visit the hacienda, accompanied by federal troops, and place the financier under federal arrest on a charge of being an "undesirable." Then to make sure that no "palms are oiled," he will accompany him to the United States border, 200 miles away and turn him loose. Agency operatives will be awaiting his arrival.

According to the reports received from operatives, the hacienda on which Spurgin has found refuge is owned and occupied by a former business associate of the defaulting bank president.

THE HIGHER THEY GET THE HARDER THEY FALL, SAYS AVIATOR "CUPID"

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Such is the magic of the upper air on a sunny morning that Miss Mildred Armstrong, who went for an airplane ride with George Hauser at Mineola, came down blushing and smiling and wearing a diamond ring on the proper finger. They'd just become engaged.

"The clouds did it," said Richard Depew, the pilot, who played Cupid. "I know all about that. By the time we had gone up 2,500 feet it was plain that Miss Armstrong looked on Hauser with increasing favor. At 3,000 feet he proposed, and she hesitated. So I nosed the bus up again, and 3,500 feet, when we were sailing among the fleeciest clouds, Hauser asked her again and she said 'yes.'"

"So I shot her up to 4,000 feet for good measure and to cinch it. There the lady surrendered her finger to the ring."

When they all reached the ground Hauser and Miss Armstrong sped away somewhere in a motor car before they could be interviewed. They left that for Depew to handle, for he is a good friend of both.

Miss Armstrong, daughter of Edward J. Armstrong, is a teacher in the Mineola high school. Hauser is in the production department of the Curtiss company at Garden City. The two have made a number of flights together, but none to compare with this morning's. Depew said he did not know the date of the wedding, but was sure it would be soon.

LOST CHOW DOG DIES OF A BROKEN HEART

WELLESLEY, Mass., Aug. 6.—A chow dog, which maintained a seven-day vigil on a road here, watching the faces in every automobile as it whizzed past, is dead. His body was found in a clump of bushes today. There is little doubt that he died of a broken heart.

The dog's owner, Nelson Curtis Jr., of Jamaica Plain, who was located this morning through a newspaper advertisement, hurried here to recover his pet, but he was too late.

Curtis became separated from his pet while motoring through Wellesley a week ago. Since then the dog had watched and waited, refusing food from kindly hands, his eyes constantly on the road.

JAPAN WOULD DOMINATE EAST AND WAILS AT CHINA'S ADMISSION TO CONFERENCE

By DUKE N. PARRY

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—The United States, by including China in the invitation extended to the powers for a disarmament conference, indicated a desire to eliminate Japan as the power of supreme importance in Asia, according to the opinion of Marquis Okuma, one time premier in Japan, in an interview here.

The inclusion of China in such a meeting, the marquis said, was incomprehensible and makes necessary consideration of whether or not the Japanese delegates to the meeting will be willing to abide by a majority rule on Far Eastern affairs.

"Japan now occupies a position of supreme importance in the Far East," said Marquis Okuma. "With Japan's close proximity to China and Siberia, both rich in unlimited natural resources, it is quite natural that the United States should take any measure possible that might eventually deprive Japan of her present position."

"Japan must be prepared firmly to oppose any measure that is incompatible with the established interests of Japan, and if such a matter as the decision by a majority is taken up by the conference, the Japanese delegates should be ready to withdraw at once."

"First of all, the present ministry should retire in Japan. Then Japan should begin to prepare properly for this all important conference. It is quite likely that China will demand the repeal of the twenty-one articles and we must note here that the repeal of the China-Japanese agreement would be followed by another activity of the Chinese government at the expiration of the lease term at Darien and Port Arthur in 1924. Japan's people should realize the im-

COWBOY FILMS ARE SICKENING AMERICA SAYS BERNARD SHAW

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The proposed American tariff on films imported into the United States is being energetically opposed by the Incorporated Association of British Cinematograph Manufacturers. In its campaign, the association has sought the opinions of well known writers. Bernard Shaw says:

"American audiences must be deadly sick of seeing nothing but cowboys, American sob stuff and all the rest of it. They want French films, Italian films, English films and Scandinavian films for variety. If they don't get them, the American films will drive the American public out of American picture theatres. The picture theatres will close down or take to vaudeville, and the glory of Los Angeles will pass like that of Babylon."

Discussions are going on in Washington between Secretary Hughes, Ambassadors Geddes and Shidehara and in London and Tokio over the agenda.

COBB PRESSES HEILMANN FOR BATTING LEAD

Hornsby Leads Pack of National Sluggers by Wide Margin.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, today is creeping on Harry Heilmann, the hard hitting Detroit outfielder, in the race for batting honors of the American league with only twenty-five points separating them. Cobb gained nine points during the week for an average of .398, while Heilmann suffered a loss of seven points, his average dropping to .423. Tris Speaker of Cleveland remains in third place with .379. The average includes games of Wednesday.

The New York Yankees lead the league for circuit drives, with a total of seventy-nine, thirty-eight of which were cracked out by Babe Ruth. The tail-end Athletics are second with 59. Ruth, who smashed out a brace of circuit drives during the past week, has registered 106 runs for his club. The big slugger also increased his lead in total base hitting to 274, made on 120 hits, which, besides his home runs, include twenty-four doubles and eight triples.

The Washington club is out in front in stolen bases with seventy-nine, nineteen of which were pilfered by Harris, who is showing the way to the base stealers of the league.

George Kelly of the Giants is the leading four-base hitter of this circuit, with eighteen to his credit.

Frank Frisch of New York, added three bases to his string of stolen bases and is showing the way to the base stealers with thirty-one thefts. He has been tied for the honor of best run-getter by Hornsby, each having scored eighty-two times.

RANGER PLAYS BRECKENRIDGE HERE TODAY

Ranger's Newly Organized Team Plays First Game at Home.

Baseball a la carte this afternoon at 4 p. m. when the newly organized Ranger ball club takes the field against the fast Breckenridge nine.

The Ranger nine demonstrated their ability to play the national game against the gallant ball tossers of Hogtown last Sunday, when they humiliated that nine by the top-heavy score of 17 to 7, which game had as its feature seven squeeze plays by the Ranger nine, along with some hefty hitting on their part.

The Ranger nine will take the field tomorrow with the personnel of M. Murphy, Cowsett, Florence, Lemma, B. Murphy, Hazzard, Sutherland, Dixon, Poole, Watson, Cole, McCormick and Tolgar.

HOGUE DEFEATS JACK NORTON FOR TENNIS TITLE OF SOUTHWEST

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—Consistent volleying and a stonewall defense enabled Bradley Hogue of Dallas to retain the singles championship of the Southwest today. Hogue defeated Norton, of Fort Worth, on the courts of the Dallas Lawn Tennis club in straight sets, 6 to 2.

The champion, who usually plays a smashing game, resorted to easy strokes and had his opponent guessing throughout the match. Norton's game did not measure up to his usual standard of tennis.

SWATTERS OUTSLUG BRONCHOS AND WIN

SWEETWATER, Aug. 6.—By pounding Pitchers Cruse and Weber a little harder than the Broncos pounded Pitcher Conley, the Swatters took the long end of a 12 to 9 score in the game here this afternoon.

The score: Sweetwater 12 15 1 San Angelo 9 14 2 Batteries: Conley and Byers; Cruse, Weber and Roberson. Umpires, Word and Burleson.

BEARCATS BEAT EAGLES IN TEN-INNING GAME

LEONARD NOW ON EDGE FOR TENDLER BOUT

By JACK VEIOCK, International News Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Benny Leonard has perfected a defense for the left-hand jabs of Lew Tandler, who will attempt to take the world's lightweight championship away from him in Philadelphia next Friday night.

Close friends of the champion passed a tip around town today as Leonard finished training in a local gymnasium preparatory to leaving tonight for Philadelphia, where he will do only light work next week. Though he has faced boxers, Leonard has never yet fought a real left-hander, and as Tandler is one of the very few good "southpaws" developed within the memory of present-day fans, the champion will take no chances of being surprised.

In preparation for defense of his crown against the Quakertown challenger, Leonard has done much boxing with Sammy Schiff, a left-hander whose style is almost a duplicate of Tandler's.

Schiff has been using Lew's pet punches in daily workouts with the champion and Leonard's admirers are confident that if Tandler surprises Benny he will have to spring something entirely new.

Tandler, meanwhile, is a very cocky challenger, if nothing else. He has worked hard for Leonard and as a result will do little heavy work in the boxing line before next Monday. He is finely trained, according to all reports, and predicts that he will uncrown Leonard within four rounds.

BIG LEAGUE TEAMS TO COMPLETE SEASON WITH PRESENT ROSTER

By JACK VEIOCK.
NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—There will be no wild, eleventh-hour scrambles on the part of major league managers to bolster possible pennant winners during the remainder of the season.

From now on the percentage columns will register the merits of the contending teams as they stand today. Rival managers must do the best they can with the talent on hand, for the time limit for trades and sales has expired.

The rule prohibiting player deals adopted jointly by the National and American leagues at their big powwow in Chicago last January, went into effect Aug. 1. It should effectively silence the annual cry that somebody is trying to buy a pennant. If any pennants have been purchased, the time for yelping has passed.

Only a few days ago the New York Giants had this accusation hurled at them when they got Irish Muesel from the Phillies. Yet, McGraw and Stoneham were within the time limit.

Muesel, according to President Baker, was offered to the highest bidder between the three leading clubs—New York, Pittsburgh and Boston. The Giants outbid their rivals and got the player. That was the end of it and the end of deals for the rest of the season in the National league.

The deal through which Ping Bodie was sent to Brooklyn closed up the American league.

The only way in which any of the contending teams can muster fresh talent until after Oct. 1, will be through the minors, and it is seldom that a manager is lucky enough to recruit a minor leaguer at such a late stage of the race.

LOVES AN AMERICAN

Miss Charlotte Boyles

Miss Charlotte Boyles, who fled from her magnificent home in New Castle, Pa., in the night and has been found in London, determined to marry an American she met on the voyage and reject a French count she had sailed to marry. Miss Boyles, who is 21 and recently inherited $250,000, is the daughter of David Boyles, a retired millionaire business man. She fled from her home at 3 o'clock on the morning of July 5, and private detectives have been searching throughout the United States and Europe for her. It was thought that Miss Boyles was en route to Paris to elope with Count Guy Trepinard, who was recently a guest at the Boyles home in New Castle and was one of Miss Boyles' numerous suitors. When seen in London Miss Boyles said the count is a "dandy chap," but her heart really belongs to an American she had met aboard the ship. She said she left home because she was tired of the dull routine.

Strategy.

Three Scotchmen went to church, each clutching tightly the penny he intended to contribute when the plate was passed. Consternation reigned when the minister announced that this particular Sunday an effort was to be made to raise the mortgage and asked every member of the congregation to make a substantial offering.

During the prayer the Scots held a whispered consultation as to the solution of their dilemma and reached a satisfactory decision.

One fainted and the other two carried him out.—American Legion Weekly.

MYSTERY VEILS DEATH OF RICH CALIFORNIAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, Chicago divorcee, and one time "prettiest" co-ed of Northwestern university, is being held by the sheriff here today as a material witness in one of the most startling and mysterious murders occurring here in years.

Mrs. Obenchain, who is the divorced wife of Ralph B. Obenchain, attorney for an insurance company, is said to have been a passenger in the "chummy" roadster of J. B. Kennedy, wealthy insurance man when he was shot to death last night on the graveled drive of his country estate, Beverly Glen, 12 miles southwest of Los Angeles.

Kennedy was on the way from his car to the veranda of his bungalow, it is said, when a shot rang out and he dropped with a bullet in his brain. The bullet evidently had been fired from a clump of shrubbery which bordered the drive.

Spent Day With Victim

"I am convinced that Madalynne Obenchain knows who fired the fatal shot," Sheriff C. A. Tatton said this morning. "We shall hold Mrs. Obenchain as a material witness. She has made a lengthy detailed statement to us but we are convinced that she has not yet told all she knows about this affair."

Mrs. Obenchain is said to have told the officials that she had spent the day on a motor trip with Kennedy.

PRESBYTERIAN-CHRISTIAN UNION SERVICES

Union meeting of the members of the Christian and Presbyterian churches will be held this evening at the Christian church tabernacle on Main street. The Rev. J. G. Winsett will preach the service. On next Sunday evening the service will be held at the Presbyterian church. Members are requested to support these union meetings.

In the return, she said they stopped at his house and Kennedy asked her to wait in the car while he attempted to arouse the caretaker. When he was half way to the house, Mrs. Obenchain is said to have told the officers, she heard a shot and saw Kennedy fall. She denied that she had seen anyone around who could have fired the shot.

IMMIGRATION IS 'JAZZED UP' BY NEW LAW

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—When we were kids we used to play a game called "ten steps," in which whoever was "it" stood with closed eyes and counted rapidly to ten, the others rushing from a starting point in an effort to be first to the counter. Anyone caught moving after "ten" had been counted had to go back and start over.

It is much the same game which would-be immigrants to the United States play these days. The rules are in the new "1-5 of 3 per cent" law, which sounds like beer, but which is really an attempt to check immigration. Olga, Carlo and Boris start from the other side and rush for the land of the free, trying to reach Ellis island before the quota man says "ten." If he catches them on the move they have to go back and try all over again the first of next month.

The new law, which has been effective for about two months, has certainly jazzed up the business of immigration. It provides that the number of immigrants from any one country be limited to 3 per cent of that nation's 1910 population. And it has a joker which says that only 1-5 of that 3 per cent shall come in any one month.

Now with a country like Germany, which had about a million population in 1910 and has sent less than 500 here since the law became effective last June, the new restrictions don't matter very much. But when it comes to Greece, Poland, Turkey and some of the smaller nations, they are eating up their quotas in record time and hollering for more. The United States is still to them the land of freedom, and the report that their coming here is about to be curtailed has raised an awful furor among intending immigrants.

U. S. Passengers in Fury.
If the law merely stipulated that when a nation had sent us 3 per cent of its 1910 population no more would be permitted there would be no difficulty; the overflow could simply be shipped back home, with Uncle Sam's regrets. But this 1-5 of 3 per cent each month business has them all guessing. Or did at first.

It didn't take the wily foreigner long to catch onto the joker and turn the trick against us. Eight little nations used up their quotas during July, which was the first month. When it came around toward the last of the month, did the liners bringing immigrants to this country put in, to learn they were too late because the month's quota was full, and put back? They did not.

Much to the disgust, even to the fury, of some hundreds of American citizens who happened to be passengers, eight big transatlantic liners due late in July calmly delayed their arrival in New York until the first of the month. One, the Megali Hellas, a Greek liner, with 130 Americans aboard, arrived off Fire Island July 29 and, despite the rage and hair tearing of the United States citizens, dropped anchor and stayed there, just outside the three-mile limit, until August dawned.

The Joker Has a Brother.
Several other liners, one big one from Italy among them, followed suit. On the stroke of midnight, when July became August, there was a grand rush across the line. With a tooting of whistles the immigrant-bearing cavalcade swept down upon Ellis Island. Their passengers would have been in excess of the first month's quota, but this was August now, and that was another matter.

It is reasonable to suppose immigration officials say, that this performance will be repeated around September 1 and again the first of each month until at midnight, Nov. 30, the last grand rush begins.

To cope with the situation it has been decided by local officials that all surplus immigrants shall be admitted upon personal bonds, if they can find them, until Oct. 1. It is hoped that a federal law, somewhat less exciting, will be enacted before that time. It is believed that the framers of the present measure which is temporary, failed to foresee the jazzy effects of their legislation.

So the immigrants who wait outside the line until the new month begins are really wasting their time, because they could get in, anyway. But they don't know it—so the game is just as exciting as though it were real.

CATCH-AS-CATCH-CAN DANCE BANNED BECAUSE IT'S TOO DARN SIMPLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—"It's not what you do with your feet that matters," says Granddaddy Lewis Kretlow.

"It's what you don't do with them when the rest of you is going places," Granddaddy Lewis knows.

He is the dean of American dancing teachers, here in convention to devise some new steps and reduce the rough stuff in modern dancing to one-half of one per cent.

Some 200-odd dancing teachers from all parts of the United States have charged upon New York for their annual gathering, shouting REFORM! Or, at least, enough reform so that any young man who wants to keep abreast of the times, and his best girl may get out and get himself some dancing lessons.

They're going to take away the toddle.

The catch-as-catch-can Can Can is to be officially counted out.

All those vulgar, easy dances that anyone with two legs, or may be a stout crutch, could do at sight, are to be banned and taboo, the coming winter.

There has been a slump in the dancing teaching business, it was admitted. The dances were getting so simple that people were drawn right up out of their seats by the wail of the saxophone and before they knew it were out in the middle of the floor, toddling away without having taken any lessons at all.

Moreover, "standardization," that key word of the dancing teaching industry, was tossed to the four notes of the piccolo by the simplicity of the recent innovations. Every one's toddle was his own and it was just as good as anyone's else.

So we are to have some new, more stately dances for the coming season.

Just what they are to be will be determined soon.

"THE DIRTY DOG," SAYS WOMAN AS SHE FIRES SHOTS IN MAN'S BODY

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Ellis Guy Kinkead, 54 years old, a lawyer well known in New York, lies dead with six bullets in his body and the woman who shot him down within 100 yards of where he lived with his wife in Brooklyn can say nothing much but "The dirty dog! Oh, the dirty dog!"

Jealousy is believed to have been the motive that caused the woman to step out from a doorway to confront Kinkead as he was returning home after a day at his office, and fire two shots which felled him, followed by four more, which killed him as he lay twitching on the sidewalk.

Mrs. Marie Kinkead, the widow, said the woman was Olive M. Stone, of Cincinnati, formerly a trained nurse. For years, Mrs. Kinkead said, her husband lived in Covington, Ky., near Cincinnati, where he had long been friendly with the woman.

The police discovered that the lawyer and the woman were registered at a New York hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Kinkead. A police sergeant, who was standing just around the corner from the shooting, had no trouble arresting the woman, whom he found standing over the crumpled figure of the lawyer, muttering, "The dirty dog!"

She collapsed in a police station and it was several hours before detectives were able to obtain her story. The charge is homicide. Later she said she and the lawyer were married three years ago and insisted that Mrs. Kinkead was not the legal wife. She claimed to be a graduate nurse trained at the Cincinnati general hospital.

All the woman had was her empty pistol, a watch, a key to the joint room in the hotel, a dollar and two clinical thermometers.

Thursday and Friday, "The Woman God Changed," featuring Seena Owen and E. K. Lincoln. Saturday, Frank Mayo in "Colorado," and Art Acord in "The White Horseman."

MANHATTAN—Sunday and Monday, Fannie Ward in "She Played and Paid." Tuesday, "Tunderbolt Jack," fourth episode; also "Kidnappers Revenge," and "Pirates of West." Wednesday and Thursday, "Might Happen to You" (all-star cast). Friday and Saturday, "The Woman Untamed."

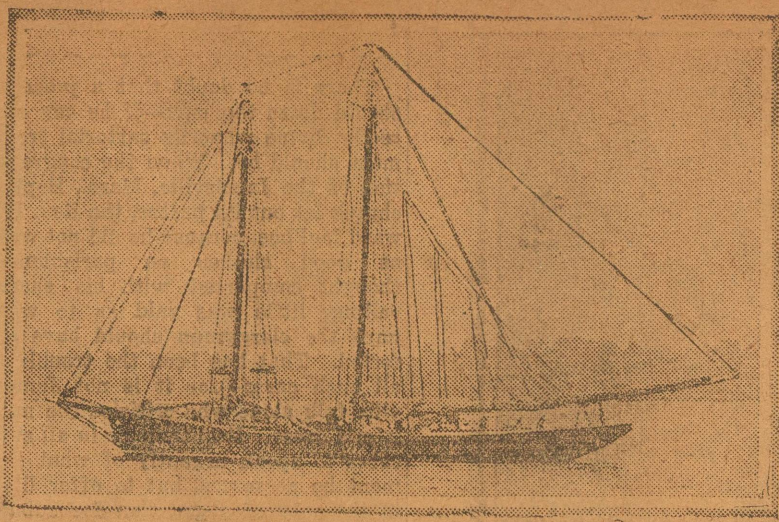

MANHATTAN, "She Played and Paid," which is to be shown at the Manhattan theatre today and Monday will be of interest to moving picture devotees for a number of reasons. The picture is a screen adaptation of Henri Bernstein's famous fiction story, "La Rafale," which created such a tremendous stir in literary circles when it was first published. The star of the photoplay version is Fannie Ward who is making her "re-debut" on the screen after almost a year's absence. Miss Ward left America almost a year ago for Paris but no announcement was made at that time that her visit was other than social. For this reason the news of her newest production, which was filmed in Paris, has aroused much interest among the public, press and film industry.

TEMPLE, Charlie Ray certainly offers a big surprise package in "The Old Swimming Hole," adapted from James Whitcomb Riley's short poem of the same name, which will be the feature attraction at the Temple theatre, starting today for three days. In the first place, delightful entertainment has been made of a theme that contains no real plot, but there is such a wealth of joyous incident that no plot is needed. Then again, there are no subtitles in the picture, yet it is perfectly understood, which raises the idea that Charlie Ray does not need them to express his art. He is such a superb pantomimist that every gesture, every expression is caught and understood.

"The Old Swimmer's Hole" is a classic of its kind. It speaks a language that can be understood by everyone. Not only up and down the main streets of the country but the Broadway as well. Care and worry will be forgotten when Ray turns back the pages of life and becomes the barefoot boy. No thread of life is visible, yet no healthy, mischievous boy does things in order. The barefoot boy has his humorous moments in school, and his efforts to be spared the rod at home are genuinely true and funny. Again he is invited to a picnic and wears his brogans with much misery to his pedal extremities. A rich scene is the incident in which he offers to fight to win the friendship of the best girl. And the "showing off" tactics to please her are in line with boyish character. Perhaps the funniest bit is when the boy attempts to recite before the class while a mouse that he has tucked away in his pocket is giving him fits. The cave episode is a treat because it shows him lording it over his pals by smoking real tobacco and feeling faint afterwards in the customary manner. There isn't a false touch in the whole picture anywhere and the atmosphere and local color is wonderfully appealing.

Mix pastry with a knife and handle it as little as possible.

RUM SCHOONER CAPTURED

The schooner Henry L. Marshall, lying off Quarantine in New York harbor, after having been brought to port by the coast guard cutter Seneca. The schooner, a booze-runner, was captured by the Seneca just outside the three-mile limit, off Barnegat, N. J. One thousand two hundred cases of liquor were confiscated. The captain of the schooner escaped in a motorboat. The Marshall was flying the British flag when captured. She was formerly a Gloucester, Mass., fishing boat, and the authorities are not satisfied that she was transferred from American registry. According to reports, the Marshall received her booze supply in the Bahamas and did a rushing business just outside the three-mile limit off the New Jersey coast.

KIDS EXCHANGE DUMP PILE FOR SHOW TICKETS

GALVESTON, Aug. 6.—That the best of plans may often go wrong was illustrated in Galveston recently when tin cans began to appear before a local moving picture out of all proportion to the number that should have made their appearance as figured out by local statisticians for the manager of the show. The idea of a publicity stunt that would attract the public attention to the show and at the same time be of benefit to the city at large was to give a free ticket to every person who brought as many as four tin cans to the theatre.

Young Americans were on the job immediately and to their idea a tin can is a tin can no matter its place of origin. That Galveston boys are not lacking in ingenuity is the opinion of W. P. Vinson, superintendent of garbage of the city health department. Hundreds of cans at a time were deposited in front of the eighth manager of the theatre. Rumors soon reached the city health department that a number of self-appointed scavengers varying in age from rompers to long trousers were busily engaged in ransacking the west end dump pile and removing debris. Investigating, the dump presented an animated replica of an ant bed with its ceaseless activity and along the by-paths leading therefrom were caravans of youngsters, some leading wagons, some carrying huge bulging sacks upon their backs, others dragging queer looking receptacles, all filled with tin cans.

The movie manager wondered where the avalanche of cans originated, but the officials were wise. For the future manhood of the city, not to be deprived of his favorite movie, had conceived the bright idea of visiting the city dump and salvaging from its ruins the necessary price of admission. This was their contribution to the city's clean-up crusade.

New York suffered a loss of 4,782 men in the world war, which was the greatest number of any state. Pennsylvania was second with 3,958.

FILM SMILES -and so forth- By Hi Speed

FILMS LEAVE NO ACTORS STRANDED

THE enterprising film producer is forever springing something new. Films without subtitles are here and now we are promised films without "sets." Let's hope actors will never come, for it is the "original cast" that gets films in and out of even the smallest towns.

"The Men with Two Mothers" is among the new films. If one of them is an "in-law," she may conceal her identity through dominating the "close-ups."

Once it has been photographed the only way to take "Conceit" out of a photoplay is to destroy prints and negative.

The indefinite in film-titles is represented by "Who Am I?" and "The Man Who."

Right now is when the fortunate ones are enjoying "Two Weeks With Pay."

Wild motorists should take heed of these film-titles: "What's Your Hurry?" "Too Much Speed," "Dangerous Curve Ahead."

If Billy Sunday should consider film "evangelical" direct opposition, he would probably consign "The Moth" to the flame.

"Clay Dollars" should give the Russians a new idea. They are using almost everything for money except the soil.

Although "The Easiest Way" is to be remade by Selznick, there is reason to believe the plot will develop in the same old way.

When They Were Kids Zena Keefe was star of "The Fatal Wedding."

Eugene O'Brien was playing hockey in Boulder, Colo. Elaine Hammerstein was worshipping lollypops in New York.

Owen Moore was running after jamming carts in Ireland. Conway Tearle played child roles in his father's company.

Ralph Ince read everything he could find about Abe Lincoln.

At birth the pulse of a normal individual beats 136 times a minute; at the age of thirty, seventy times.

NEW YORK BATHING FACILITIES CROWDED TO UTMOST CAPACITY

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The sizzling summer of 1921 has made all New York want to go a-swimming—but there isn't room enough for all to swim.

On week-ends it's a strong man who can battle into bath houses at nearby beaches and even if there were more bath houses, it's hard to imagine how many more thousands could gain foothold on the crowded sands.

So, from city hall down, everyone is trying to locate new swimming holes—and a twentieth century swimming hole in America's largest city is a costly proposition. Mayor Hylan has urged construction of a swimming pool in Central Park and it has been suggested that an unneeded reservoir be converted to the uses of a perspiring citizenry, but at present it's all talk, and talk is even more heating.

Meanwhile special shower baths have been built in tenement districts, street cleaners hosing the heated pavements wash down youngsters for the asking, and in the smaller parks dotting the city the police aren't quite so zealous in driving amphibious streeturchins out of the fountains.

The world's largest swimming pool

FRENCH GIRLS BETTER DRESSED THAN EVER SAYS CLOSE OBSERVER

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Take the word of a competent American observer—"French women are better dressed than ever."

The observer was Milton Wolff, who has just concluded one of the most important fashion deals in the history of Paris. Acting for a Fifth avenue house, he has arranged to distribute in America Paul Poirot's famous collection of 100 models.

"Longer dresses haven't hurt the appearance of French women," he said. "The flowing lines of skirt and sleeve give them a slender, girlish appearance which is most attractive."

Wolff had ample opportunity to study the entire range of French fashion at Deauville, the great resort.

"There are just two colors there," he said, "white and orchid."

At Wolff's request, Poirot exhibited his 1921 dreams.

Dominant features of the display were: Long, loose kimona-like effects. Dim, neutral colors with flares of oriental red and yellow.

Wide sleeves of Chinese origin. Hand painted sleeves and waist decorations.

STOCKINGS ALL SILK AND HAT EACH MONTH SAY FASHION MAKERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Sad tidings for the poor old pocketbook! Milliners now plan to change the style of hats every month, so hubby who is bent double trying to buy two to four a year and all that goes with them, will now be soaked for a round dozen.

And there will be no bargain sales, for the milliners attending the Retail Merchants' association meeting here gleefully boast that the department stores will not be able to get the styles and hats fast enough to cut prices.

Formerly styles changed twice each year—spring and fall—with occasional concessions to winter and mid-summer, but now they are to change every thirty days.

Also some disturbing news filtered from the meeting of the Woman's Apparel association which is staging a display of forthcoming fashions with supple, lissome, live models. Briefly these changes from present modes include these items:

Blouses will completely displace the frugal and popular shirtwaist.

Stockings must be silk all the way, no more cotton tops.

Monkey fur will be all the rage for trimming.

Kimonos will be exceedingly transparent and orange is to be the favorite color.

Six of the models who went on strike were dismissed Tuesday. They had been receiving $150 a week and demanded extra pay for rehearsals.

At the Pageant of Progress on the municipal pier, 5,000 young women are being weighed and measured daily and the experts on this job say the United States has it on every nation in the world, not excepting France, for shapely and perfect girls. Sixty per cent of those so far examined are ideally proportioned and they are far more graceful than the French girls or the languorous beauties of Spain.

RANGER'S LIBRARY.

It has often been said when women took hold of civic affairs things started moving until the desired task was accomplished.

The truth of this statement in Ranger is found in the library which has been given new life and is now serving its natural purpose.

For more than a year the books lay on their shelves, the majority of the time behind locked doors, inaccessible to the public. When a patron did come for a volume and secure entrance to the library room they were in such disarray that it took considerable time to find the title desired. The women of the city saw this condition. For a time they lamented it, then finding lamenting bringing no results they pulled off their coats, figuratively speaking, and became very busy.

Today the library is housed in a cool room. The volumes are arranged in systematic order. Any given title can be secured at a moment's notice and the public is enjoying the pleasures afforded by the library.

But the ladies went even further than that; on one side of the library is a reading room, on the other side a ladies' rest room. Both are comfortably furnished and are filling the need for which they are intended. All this has been done in a short space of time. Of course the men helped some but the majority of them had to be drafted.

The library is filling a need and women who made it possible for that need to be filled are entitled to much credit.

THE TICK SITUATION.

Eastland county is just one year behind with its tick eradication and consequently one year farther away from having the quarantine lifted. On its face this would appear to be only of slight importance, but it is not. Over the county, the opposite opinion prevailing notwithstanding there are hundreds of fat cattle ready for market. Under the law they cannot be shipped without first being dipped and dipping them and then shipping them results in a heavy loss by death to the shippers and possibly a heavier loss in weight.

This condition can be remedied only by following the tick eradication law until the county is pronounced free from ticks. That will take three years. If Eastland county had gone forward a year ago as did many other counties it would have been one year nearer the goal. This year, however, it is said the dipping law is being enforced rigidly.

This should be done. Cattle raising is a basic industry which must be fostered. Ticks cause untold losses by tick fever and in loss of flesh. To dip is the only remedy to prevent this waste of wealth. Two more years of enforced cattle dipping will be required before the quarantine can be lifted. There is a duty on some one to see that it is done.

ANOTHER BAD ACTOR.

Following the example set by more or less well known divorcees and female slayers of gentlemen friends,

Mister Joseph Jackson, better known as "Shoeless Joe," a member of the infamous Black Sox whose grin was not removed in the "laundering" process they underwent in Friend Hugo Friend's court, has announced that he will lend his talent and moral influence to uplifting the art of the foot-lights.

It is probable that financial reverses have entered into Joe's decision to pick the stage as the vehicle to carry him to renewed fame. But why he should figure that the public is going to jam the main floor and galleries to gaze upon a gamblers' goat is as incomprehensible, if that's the right word, as is Clara Smith's determination to jimmy her way into filth.

Don't do it, Joe. There are enough bad actors on the stage already. From what we can learn from an occasional trip to a theatre where the spoken drama is presented, an actor's life is a hard one and they are never able to find big wads of money nestled under their pillows.

SOVIET RECOGNITION

While Senator France is to be commended for his humanitarian efforts in behalf of Americans held prisoner in Russia, he is open to criticism on the score of suggesting that we either directly or indirectly give official recognition to the soviet. He says that it would have been a simple matter to secure the release of Americans if the government at Washington had been prepared to make a formal demand, but that demand could not have been made without recognizing the soviet, and, in any case, it appears that one of the reasons for arresting Americans was to force Washington into official communication with the authorities at Moscow.

The very last thing that the United States can afford to do is to give official recognition to Lenin and Trotsky. In European diplomacy it is the custom to accord recognition whenever a de facto government has been established and regardless of the ethics of its establishment, but the United States has set a precedent of refusing official communication whenever the usurping power has violated the ethics of government or when such government has refused to be bound by the ordinary principles of honorable relations with foreign powers.

When Lenin and Trotsky placed themselves in power they signaled their accession by an open repudiation of all Russian national debts. Moreover, they declared in advance that all documents and treaties they might feel tempted to sign would be no more than scraps of paper, to be observed if convenient and to be repudiated if otherwise. They declared war against constitutional government in all other countries, and undertook to finance enterprises for the overthrow of all constituted authority in every country with which they professed to be on friendly relations.

Bolshevism put itself outside the pale of civilized intercourse, and even for the purpose of securing the release of imprisoned Americans it was not possible to establish diplomatic relations. The offer of the United States to do what can be done to relieve starvation in Russia was made through representations between Secretary Hoover and Maxim Gorky. Lenin and Trotsky were ignored, and, indeed, it was a hope of the United States that when Russia was obliged to admit her abject poverty and starvation it would be the beginning of the end of Bolshevism.

It should prove that, but it would not do so were we to accept the suggestion of Senator France and conduct relief negotiations through the medium of the soviet. Millions for starving Russians, but not a syllable that could be construed into recognition of Bolshevism. We can have no traffic with the avowed enemies of civilization.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Police Called Out to Quell Rioters in Run on Boston Bank

The run on the bank was said to have been caused by radicals, who have circulated false reports of the bank's finances.

THAT BIGGEST THRILL OF THE WAR

YOU'VE PAID YOUR DEBT TO LAFAYETTE, BUT YOU OWE US A STORY YET

By EGG. Standing on the pier at Manila and looking back across an expanse of water a million miles wide and a thousand miles deep to where I figured Kansas ought to be, a sudden feeling of dread of being bumped off in this out-of-the-way spot by a little funny brown man who couldn't even speak my language; whose customs and manner of life were as foreign to mine as though he were a Hottentot or a head-hunter, and a half-breathed prayer that if I should kick out among those brown ones my bones would find their way back to old Kansas—all these emotions and more flooded back onto me with a rush that left me numb.

It was the dry season. Eight of us, with H company's Captain Clerk, in command, had obeyed his sharp order to deploy and lie down across the Tondo road in flour-fine dust that clogged our nostrils and burned our eyes. Hot, [30]; steaming, stifling hot.

A sudden crash of Krags to the right of us—the Third artillery, acting as infantry, we knew. It followed close on the memorable first shot from the Nebraska's front which was the opening gun of the Philippine insurrection.

Black powder, pungent, stifling, had finished the job the Tondo road's dust had begun. Our nostrils were choked full.

Fire Returned. The army of little brown folks in front had recovered from their consternation at our withering fire and were giving it back. Bullets were coming our way. The spiteful whine of the Mauser was tenor to the tearing baritone of the .45 Remingtons, brass-coated.

With the full knowledge that these death missiles were intended for us; that they were sent speeding on their way to do us mortal harm, these rose within me again those thoughts that came to me on the pier when first we set foot on the native soil of these strange brown folks. I realized that I still had a thrill coming to me, but it was to be only the climax of that keenest thrill when the "Googooos" of that far island domain "let loose the dogs of war."

The battle between "men" was on, and the voices of the dogs were stilled. The grey dawn broke that chilly November morning to the colossal thunder of the five thousand guns of the American first army hurling flesh and earth rending shrapnel and smothering gas clouds on the enemy in preparation for the attack that was expected to break the heart of resistance and pave the way for the close of the war. The immense flood of sound neutralized all ordinary noises of the day—aman's voice was lost a foot from his face, and great bursts of soil and smoke puffed up from the terrain occasionally, shells that the Boche was firing in an endeavor to stop the attack that he knew was coming, but their usual ear-splitting crash was swallowed up as noon sunshine dwarfs the flare of a match.

The battalion of doughboys up there on the side of the hill above Bantheville had a wonderful view of the show. Behind, the flash of the guns played like summer lightning through the gray mists, and over and above all, playing like an orchestra of Hades, the nerve shocking crescendo of the artillery mingled into the perfect, smooth rumble of drum fire.

Five forty-five—time to go. Up from the pits scattered helter-skelter just under the brow of the hill, came a line of men and moved slowly abreast, bayonets held high, walking slowly and crouching low. They moved out fifty yards, and then in behind fell the follow up units. Machine gun and automatic rifle teams fell into their places on the flanks, and the battalion was on its way. The assaulting wave reached the crest of the hill, going as if on parade. Then suddenly men began to drop here and there, and the men in the second wave heard close by the "twee-twee-twee" of machine gun bullets.

Enemy bullets, enemy territory! Fighting at last and at close quarters with the elusive foe that had rained down hate and death for days on the American doughboys! A chance at last! A big sergeant laughed as he noted the rockets, red and green, that were streaming up from all over the horizon. "Oh, boy; he's worried this morning!" Then up from the torn ground sprang ashen-faced men, grotesque in their abject fright, and lying among them shapes in field gray, the finished product of the mill of war. The prisoners were rushed off to the rear, and heaven help the hindmost, urged on by two feet of cold steel Enfield bayonet in the hands of an enthusiastic but injudicious infantryman. These Americans always overdid things, said the Boche.

Death, frightful as a nightmare, was all around. Forms in khaki lay about, some still with their heads to the front and others clutched the ground in quiet agony, waiting for the end that was merciful.

The recompense? Ah, there is where the League of Nations and pacifist associations strike a snag! How that mad, glad, overwhelming spirit of fighting filled every heart till the boys laughed at the spurts of dirt that meant the finish of life if it struck true. The dread of death, cold and heavy, still was there, but above and pushing on, was the urge, "Go! Go! Go!" till in the call was the queer mixture of spiritual exultation, release from pressure and stark primitive fighting lust, that lifted ordinary men from the commonplace and showed them that Death was nothing, that the Thing to be accomplished was all. Other hands would take up the torch that fell, but for us, the task must be finished, life or death.

That was my thrill. To it I must add the words of a verse that I have recently read: To those of us who played the game out there, And saw brave men, who failed to win, lose all Where Fate was dealer, Life and Death the stakes, Shall other games forevermore seem small?

MADSON, Wis., Aug. 6.—Drinkers of non-intoxicating liquor in Wisconsin must stand far enough away from the bar to be unable to place their foot on the rail or to set their glasses on the counter in order to keep from violating the law, according to an opinion of J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney-general, made public today.

PREACHER'S CLOTHES.

There is no doubt that a preacher should dress the part—if he can correctly divine what its sartorial treatment should be. When the congregation of the Jamesville, Mass., Baptist church let out its pastor, the Rev. Edward McPhee, because he did not wear as good clothes as parishioners thought comported with his sacred calling, little was said as to what garb the clergyman should have affected. That has been the trouble in all such cases—for it is not Jamesville folk alone who criticize the minister's dress. It is the rule in all such cases to speak urgently of what raiment he possesses, but to offer little in the way of suggestion for substitution.

In the main, it is probable that the pastor who would best please captious critics in this matter should dress in a way to guarantee his own discomfort. The critical churchman who goes to services in garb calculated to make him oblivious to the temperature of summer will naturally frown at his minister for appearing in the pulpit similarly inspired and similarly meeting the exigencies of the situation. If the critics wear a sport shirt, the minister must be stiff-collared. If the comfort-seeking pew occupant has on a two-piece suit, his spiritual shepherd ought to wear heavy coat and trousers and a double-breasted waistcoat. Light oxfords of brown or white on the feet of the punctilious worshiper would naturally call for black boots to be worn by the man in the pulpit.

That is the way the thing works when a clergyman's clothes become a bone of contention. There may be roundabout methods of statement of the difficulty by the flock, but the basic annoyance is the minister's tendency to dress after the manner of his church members. They will not permit that, any more than they will condone his wife's appearing in the garb of the best-costumed femininity of the congregation. Much may have been said as to the demands a church makes upon its pastor's preaching ability; much more of greater interest could be spoken of what is required in the tailoring of himself and his helpmeet.—St. Louis Times.

BUSINESS AND TAXATION.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon defends his tax revision plan with the plea that it is meant to stimulate business and thereby bring back prosperity to the country. The motive he expresses is entirely worthy, but the possibility of accomplishing what he says is his aim though the means he suggests is far from being obvious. The secretary does not conceal the fact that he desires to ease the taxation burden being carried by wealth and the big corporations and redistribute it upon the shoulders of the middle and lower classes of the people. This is what the repeal of the excess profits tax, and the lowering of the sur taxes on large incomes at the same time that the rates on smaller incomes are being raised, really mean. And the secretary has not the unanimous support of his own party, as was evidenced by the expression in the house Tuesday of Republican Representative Bacharach of New Jersey. Mr. Bacharach said: "I believe the elimination of the higher sur taxes would have a tendency to get money into investment channels. On the other hand, I see no good in the argument that we should eliminate the higher brackets."

SWIMMER DIVES FROM SECOND STORY WINDOW WHILE IN DEEP DREAM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Hayes E. Robertson, a swimming instructor, arose from bed early today, walked to a front second-story window of his home and dived through the glass to the street below. When he revived at the Los Angeles emergency hospital, he said his last previous recollection was of dreaming with the belief that he was about to break the world's high diving record. Attending surgeons said he was not seriously hurt.

of the sur tax schedule which affects directly approximately 50,000 people and raise the rates substantially on 5,000,000 taxpayers of the country."

Now this idea of stimulating business from the top rather than from the bottom is not according to our notion of things. It might release money for investment, but in order that business may grow and prosper there must be a good and strong buying power possessed by the great masses of the people. We do not see how this power is to be increased if it is weakened by additional or higher taxation. We believe it will be much more effective and much more permanent to stimulate business from the bottom up. Secretary Mellon is thinking with the mind of a multi-millionaire financier rather than with a mind sympathetic to the needs of the great mass of the people.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

MEANINGLESS VERDICT

A jury has acquitted the Chicago players accused of selling out in the championship baseball series of 1919, but the scandal remains a scandal. During the trial there was plenty of evidence that a plan to throw the games had been concocted, that the indicted players had known of it and that money had passed here and there. The jury must have taken all this into consideration and decided that Cicotte and his group were innocent anyway. But the public will feel, as Comiskey does, that they are not to be trusted again in professional baseball.

Judge Landis' answer to the jury verdict is that "no player who throws a ball game, no player who undertakes or promises to throw a ball game, no player who sits in a conference with a bunch of crooked players and gamblers where the ways and means of throwing ball games are planned and discussed and does not promptly tell his club about it, will ever play professional baseball."

This appears to cover the case as thoroughly as necessary. The public has come to a similar decision. There are other ways of making a living besides starring in the big leagues, perhaps not so easy or lucrative but quite as respectable. To these other ways of making a living the attention of the acquitted players is respectfully directed by all friends of baseball.—New York World.

AUTO INDUSTRY HAS RECOVERED FROM SETBACK

By International News Service
DETROIT, Aug. 6.—The automobile industry is coming back and by fall it will have "arrived," is the optimistic prediction made by officials of the leading automobile companies here.

Where months ago there existed a feeling of uncertainty, if not fear for the future of the entire industry today there is nothing but a feeling of security, of confidence in the future, and the courage to face it.

"The public is not buying," wailed the automobile men last spring when the period of depression held them firmly in its grip and many were fighting with their backs to the wall.

"We must get the public back in the market," they all agreed. But the usual remedies for a "sick" business, an elaborate advertising campaign and the injection of a little "pep" into the sales department failed to rouse public interest, and the unemployment situation in Detroit became serious.

It remained for Henry Ford to make the move which is slowly but surely bringing order out of chaos.

He reduced prices. And almost simultaneously with the announcement that the price of the "flivver" had been cut came a flood of orders.

"Business is picking up," the Ford company announced soon after the cut in prices.

A general reduction in prices of all makes of cars followed and as a result the public is back in the market and today the industry is well on its way to the peak of production.

During August the Ford company plans to turn out 109,700 cars and trucks, a new monthly record for that corporation.

The best previous record is July production, when 109,000 cars were manufactured. A steady increase in output is shown in the following table:

May	101,404
June	108,962
July	109,000
August (estimated)	109,700

Thousands of men, idle for months, are being recalled and a general improvement in the unemployment situation is noted.

Several thousand returned to work in the Ford plant during July.

Stimulus in the business of the Packard company resulted in 1,000 being ordered back.

During the present month 1,500 employees were added to the working force of the Dodge Brothers, making the total about 13,000.

The Paige company declares production has now reached normal and sales for July were "short."

"We are now securing a maximum production with about 70 per cent of the employees we formerly had," declared Harry M. Jewett, president of the company.

The Maxwell company sees a steady improvement during the next few months.

Officials of the Cadillac, Studebaker and Hudson declare improvement has been noted during July and that still better conditions are expected.

PERMANENT WAVE FOR FATHER'S RAVEN LOCKS AIM OF HAIRDRESSERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Father is coming home with a permanent wave.

Men, as well as women, must be considered in deciding 1921 styles of hair, according to delegates to the National Hair Dressers' convention, meeting here.

"Many men are having their hair marcelled," said Charles M. Kozlay, New York. "Dyeing is even more common."

In explanation of the growing fad of men having their hair dressed, Kozlay said business was demanding young blood and pointed out older men have a much better opportunity if their hair isn't gray, and is well kept.

While the large majority of hair dressers were men, when the trade was confined mostly to women, the field for women hair dressers is opening up.

Women like to feel strong, capable fingers of a man running through their hair, Kozlay said.

But men—they prefer the soft, gentle and flexible fingers of the feminine dermatologist.

RIGHT TO LOVE ALSO CARRIES RIGHT TO JILT HOLDS BRITISH WRITER

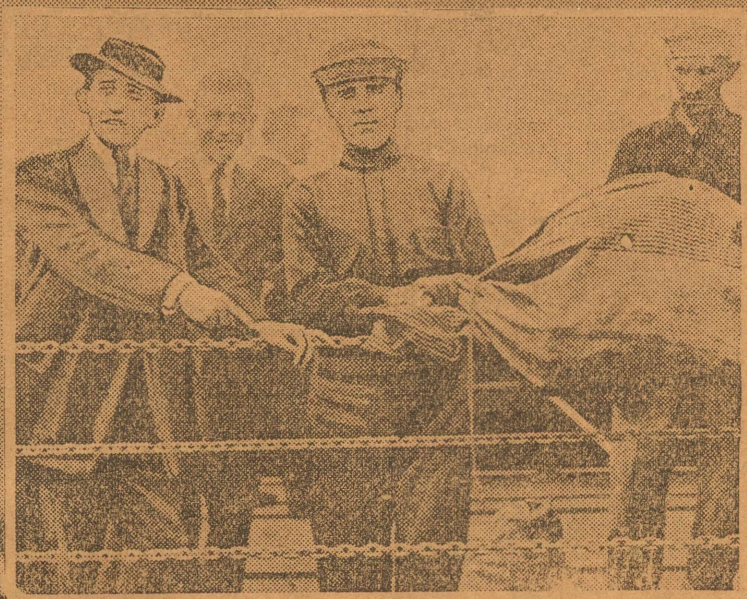

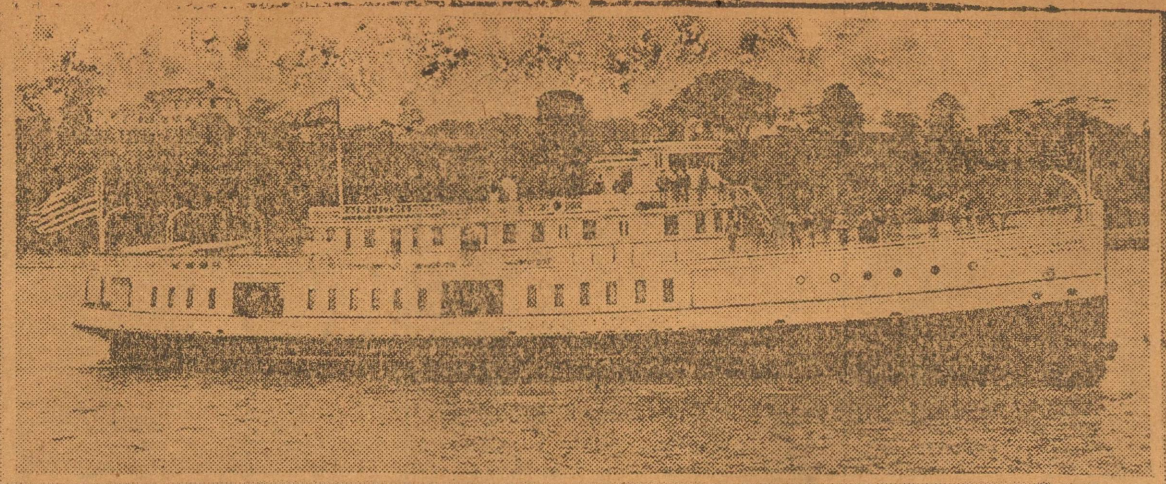

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Has a man the right to jilt a girl, whom he is engaged to marry?

The question has been raised by London newspapers following a statement made by Justice McCardie in a breach of promise case at Birmingham.

"It is my conclusion," said the justice, "that more than half the divorces are caused because the parties were not really in love. In many cases they discovered that fact before the marriage took place. A girl has a right to jilt a man but a man often goes ahead with the marriage fearing breach of promise proceedings."

The Marchioness Townshend said she thought any honest man would tell his fiancée that he had ceased to love her, regardless of the risk of a

Postmaster General Hays, several of his assistants and postmasters of several of the larger cities recently witnessed in New York the inauguration of the postmaster general's improved service. The party went down New York bay on the President, one of the boats assigned to meet all mail carrying vessels at Quarantine, and watched the transferring of the mail from an incoming liner. Heretofore the mails have been held up until the passengers were landed, which frequently caused a delay of twenty-four hours and at times more. The mail boat service, it is said, will expedite trans-Atlantic and coastwise mails from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. The above photo shows the President, the first U. S. mail carrier. breach of promise suit.

"The remarkable thing is that so many girls fail to realize that the men to whom they are engaged no longer love them," she added.

Miss Genevieve Ward, English actress, said that an engaged girl should be glad to get rid of a man who has transferred his affections to another without thinking of breach of promise suits.

The Daily Mail, canvassing a number of "practical business girls," reports that they prefer to have their fiancés tell them the truth before the trip to the altar. They are generally opposed to breach of promise actions, but believe that a girl who has spent a lot of money for a wedding outfit should be reimbursed by a jilting fiancé.

"The right to love carries with it the right to jilt," announces one writer. "If a man or woman finds that the early attraction is passing, it is therefore their bounden duty to break off. The day may arrive when damages will be awarded, not for correcting a very human mistake on the threshold of disaster, but for failing to correct it. There ought to be a way of avoiding these disasters without undue penalty. For there is nothing quite so hideous, or quite so hopeless as a loveless marriage.

ing in the Evening Standard, upholds man's rights to jilt.

"Where a man has seduced a girl then an action is a very proper thing," writes the judge. "But that a man can be sued merely because having genuinely fallen in love he genuinely falls out again, is ridiculous. In the absence of more serious features, a woman should not be able to get damages merely because a man changes his mind.

"I have known cases where the proposed suit got so far as the issuing of the writ when the fiancée has said: 'I would rather marry you than face courts like this.' Yes, and I have known cases where the girl has accepted the offer. A good start for connubial bliss!

"I do not want to convey the impression, however, that there are not thoroughly serious and justified cases. In addition to the class to which I have referred there is that in which a man heartlessly keeps a girl hanging about for years—ten, fifteen, or maybe more—until she loses all chance of marrying anyone else. When a man behaves as badly as that it is clearly right that he should have to make compensation."

Things here are done in new and better ways

The Three Things We Especially Emphasize

- Quality —Every material that enters Connor's bread is absolutely the purest, richest product that money can buy. There is no substitute used. No inferior grades of flour purchased. The product is ALWAYS the most appetizing and healthful that can be made. Even the skilled housewife can produce a better bread than we bake day after day, week after week, and month after month. This bread is made by skilled bakers in immaculate uniform.
 - Cleanliness —In this we mark a new standard. If ever in town do not fail to come in and see our wonderful shop and you will become enthusiastic. The rules of sanitation that we enforce are like the laws of the Medes and Persians—fixed and unchangeable. No kitchen of a private home can show a better record on the Cleanliness, that is next to Godliness. Food baked in such a shop must, of necessity, be clean and pure and wholesome.
 - Service —It is also our belief that our customers should be treated with the same degree of consideration that obtains among men and women of the best types. This you may look forward to in dealing with us, with pleasure, because courtesy and SERVICE are part of our slogan—is the spirit of the shop—and will rigidly maintain as our standard of Quality and Cleanliness.
- A trial loaf will prove that we tell nothing but the truth about the quality and cleanliness of the things we bake, and service that is efficient and pleasing.
- We invite you to visit us as a matter of interest and that you may learn what we have to offer you in the way of better bread, cakes and pastry. If you are not able to come to the bakery ask your grocery for CONNOR'S—"THE LOAF SUPREME."
- Money given away in bread—We have $50.00 in brand new dimes just received from the Mint at Washington, D. C., that we are mixing in our dough for tomorrow. Get a loaf and you might get rich.

SOUVENIRS GIVEN AWAY

—To each lady that visits our bakery tomorrow, we will give souvenirs that will be long remembered. Do not forget the place—122 South Austin street (formerly the Monaca bakery.)

HOOVER SHOWS WHY RUSSIA IS SHORT OF FOOD

Collapse of Production Under Soviet Regime Is Cause Assigned.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—General decadence of agriculture, decay of transportation, and a decrease of industry in general over 90 per cent of the pre-war output, are held responsible by Secretary Hoover for the food shortage in Russia.

In a formal statement describing the economic situation in that country, Hoover painted a picture of virtual collapse of the productive activities of the farmers and urban population under the soviet government.

The most acute famine area, he said, covers the Volga valley from the Caspian sea northward. The drought there, he added, would not be so fatal were it not for the reduction in the surplus crops in other regions and the difficulties due to transportation of moving such surpluses as do exist. Hoover cited reports showing the reduction of acreage under cultivation varying from nearly 100 per cent reduction in the province of Kazan to 58 per cent in Samara of the acreage cultivated last spring.

Steady Production Decline.
"Over-riding such local situations there has been a steady decline in agricultural production," Hoover said, "ever since the revolution, owing to the lack of incentive to farmers to produce more than their own needs, and to the shortage of seed and the shortage of implements.

"The urban population has produced little goods to offer in exchange, and the currency depreciation, though the increase of currency issues to over 1,000,000,000 rubles has rendered their accumulation no attraction.

"From these causes Russia, before even last year's harvest, had declined from a state producing from six to ten million tons of food for export to a condition where there was such an insufficient supply for the cities that the urban population has been reduced by about one-half."

Diminished Grain Crop.

As indicating the diminished grain crop of 1921, Hoover cited the quantities estimated to be requisitioned for taxes by the soviet government, showing for all soviet Russia, except the Ukraine and Turkistan, 4,320,000 tons of grain as against 7,614,000 requisitioned in 1920, while the potatoes estimated for requisition totaled 1,080,000 tons as compared with 2,016,000 last year and 216,000 tons of oil seeds against 432,000 in 1920.

"The decadence in fat production," he continued, "is even more general and more acute than breadstuffs owing to the requisition of animals and the diversion of animal feeds to breadstuffs. Consequently children are suffering more acutely in many sections than adults."

Discussing the railroad situation, Hoover showed a decrease of motive power of from 60 to 75 per cent resulting from a reduction from 19,106 locomotives before the war to from 5,500 to 1,650 now in working order, while the serviceable cars decreased by from 48 to 70 per cent of the pre-war number. Roadbeds, he declared, were reported in very bad condition.

Fuel Situation "Very Serious."
The fuel situation, Hoover described as "very serious," with cessation of production of coal by 80 per cent and the deterioration of the mines forcing the railroads to depend much more on wood.

Tabulating the percentages of industrial production, during 1920 as compared with the pre-war output, he showed the largest outputs, of 20 per cent, were in coal production and the paper industry.

Some stimulation to imports, he asserted, has been given by shipment of the former bank reserves of gold but the total imports from April 1 to May 15, were less than four per cent of the pre-war average for the same period while exports for April were one-twentieth of one per cent of the same pre-war period.

"Recent reports as to instructions given to foreign agents of the Russian government," Hoover concluded, "indicate the practical exhaustion of gold and consequent reduction of foreign purchases."

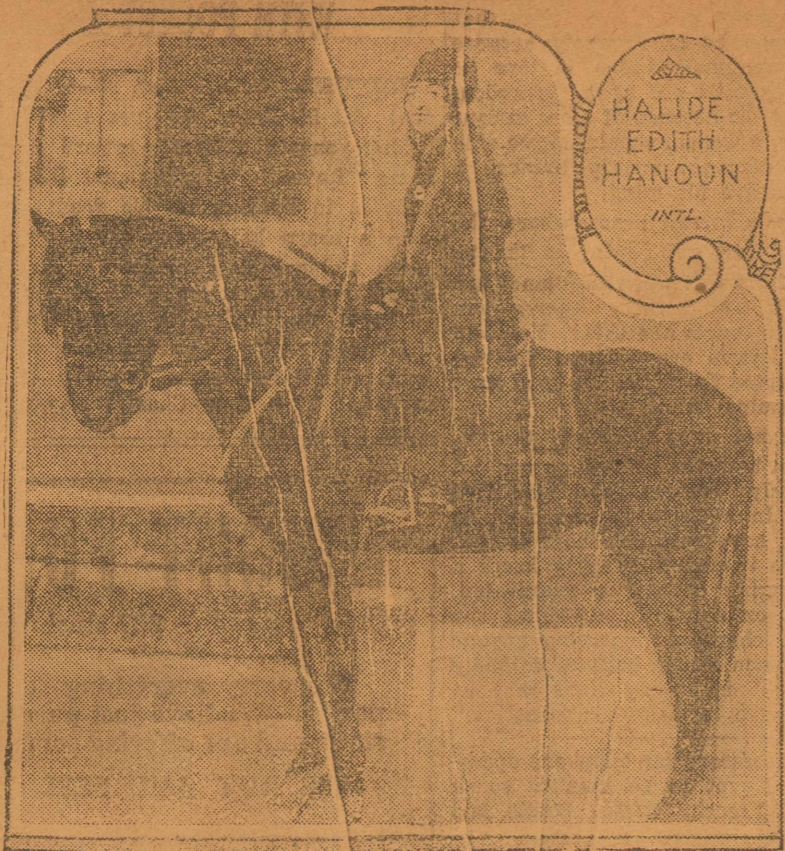

MADEN OBJECTS TO BEING SOLD AS BRIDE FOR TWENTY DOLLARS

By International News Service.
CLINTON, Ind., Aug. 6.—Twenty dollars was the price George Clem paid for his fourteen-year-old bride, according to the story told by the girl-wife when she appeared in court to answer a charge of attempting to poison Clem by putting paris green in his coffee.

Julia Clem was sold in marriage to Clem at Patrick, Ark., by her father, Joe Stufflebean, for a consideration of $20, according to her own story. The transaction took place May 15, this year, she said. Clem is more than twice her age.

"Clem beat me and called me bad names," she testified as she recited how primitive instinct had moved her to try to "get him out of the way." "But," and she laughed when she said it, "the poison only made him sick for a little bit."

TURKEY'S JOAN OF ARC MAY BE FIRST WOMAN AMBASSADOR TO THE U. S.

Halide Edith Hanoun, former secretary of public education in the Turkish Nationalist government and the leader of the feminist movement in Turkey, is being mentioned in cable dispatches as being likely to be appointed the first woman ambassador to the United States. She is now the manager in chief of the Turkish Red Crescent (similar to our Red Cross) and is organizing a Turkish Woman Battalion to aid Mustafa Kemal Pasha's army to fight the Greeks. The photo shows Halide Hanoun going out for a ride, after a day's hard work. Note that she is riding astride. Quite at variance with the popular conception of the Turkish woman.

DISARMAMENT WOULD BRING SAVING OF HALF A BILLION DOLLARS YEARLY, IS CLAIM

By International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Half a billion dollars yearly can be saved to the United States almost immediately if the disarmament conference to be held in Washington this fall approves the plan of the Harding administration for substantial reduction in armaments, according to military and naval experts here.

Enthusiasts, who may be correct, place the saving which reasonably may be expected to result from the proposed curtailment of the naval and military establishments as high as one billion dollars annually. Accepting the lower figure, the sum saved to the taxpayers of the United States for a period of 150 years, compounded every five years at 5 per cent, would considerably exceed twelve hundred billions, or more than four times the total estimated wealth of the United States today.

In the year 1920 five great nations—Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Japan—spent for military and naval purposes $16,442,251,101. This sum is a little over $2,000,000,000 more than all those nations together expended for military purposes in the fourteen years extending from 1900 to 1914. It has been estimated that in order to pay for the tremendous armaments now in contemplation a tax equivalent to $10 for every man, woman and child in the world would have to be levied.

War the Greatest Drain.
Of the billions of dollars raised each year by every conceivable sort of taxation more than 90 per cent goes either to prepare for future wars or to pay the expenses of wars that have already been fought. To more specific, statistics show that out of every dollar raised by taxation, ninety-two cents is spent for things resulting from or appertaining to war!

The cost of the world war alone both in lives and money, is almost beyond realization. Thirty millions of people perished by weapon, by gas, disease or hunger, to say nothing of other millions who were blinded or maimed; and it has been estimated that if an earthquake should swallow up the whole United States it could destroy no more wealth than was consumed in that world conflagration.

Although the United States entered the war somewhat later than the other nations its expenses were greater during the comparatively short period of its participation than in all its preceding history. In December, 1918, the month following the signing of the armistice, our expenditures were greater than for all that period of seventy-two years before the civil war. During the single month of December we expended each day more money than in the first eleven years of our nationhood.

The following figures cast interesting light upon the manner in which expenditures for armament have increased in the United States: In 1850 the per capita expenditure was $1.77; in 1860, $2.01; in 1870, $7.61; in 1880, $5.28; in 1890, $4.75; in 1900, $6.39; in 1910, $7.30; and in 1919, $144.77.

In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, the appropriations for the national government aggregated $5,186,575,000. Of this sum there was expended for the war and navy departments $1,424,138,867, or 25 per cent of the entire amount; $3,855,000,000, or 67 per cent went for previous wars, in the way of pensions, etc. For primary functions of government, $181,000,000 was expended, or about 3.2 per cent of the whole. For public works of every description the government paid out $168,000,000. For research and educational development this nation lavished the sum of $57,093,660 or 1.001 per cent of the whole sum expended.

In other words, for the various departments of research, for the inculcation of the principles of good citizenship, for the Americanization of foreign elements and for such other educational work as the government supports wholly or in part the United States appropriated 1 per cent of five and a half billions of dollars, while for wars, past and expected, nearly 93 per cent.
