

BLOODY HERRIN CHIEFS FIGHT TO DEATH

SONG SERVICE IN EASTLAND BIG SUCCESS

Community Singing Attracts Audience That Fills Methodist Tabernacle.

An audience that taxed the seating capacity of the First Methodist tabernacle in Eastland, which will accommodate 700 or 800 people, gathered Sunday afternoon for the third monthly community singing and spent more than two and a half hours singing songs of many kinds, but principally the old, familiar church hymns.

The singing was conducted by Prof. H. H. Mansfield of Breckenridge, and the song leaders hailed from various places in Eastland and adjoining counties.

A number of special duets, and quartets were included in the program. The opening song, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," was led by Prof. Mansfield. Following this was a prayer by Rev. J. H. Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist church of Eastland. The closing song, "The Home Over There," was led by Rev. J. H. Stewart.

Judge R. L. Rust made the announcement that the fourth community singing would be held in Eastland on the fourth Sunday afternoon in February at the First Methodist tabernacle and that President Irvin of the Eastland County Singing convention would conduct it.

Among the song leaders present were: Ben Butler, H. L. Jackson, A. H. Cox, H. P. Mann, Miss Lena Downing, Miss Satterwhite, L. J. Liles, Artie Liles, A. L. (Pat) Butler, Prof. Wisdom, R. M. Hazelwood, J. J. Crenshaw, J. Andrews, Homer Pittman. At the piano were Mrs. Drago, Miss Satterwhite and Mrs. J. Andrews.

Specials on the program was "Prepared," a quartet arranged by Judge R. L. Rust; "Mocked and Tried," "Somebody Is Knocking at Your Door," arranged by Eli Bryant; quartet, "Beautiful Harbor Lights," arranged by Prof. Maroney; quartet, "Look Back to Calvary," arranged by Rev. O. G. Lanier; quartet, "Voices," arranged by Eli Bryant; quartet, "Give Me a Home by the Sea," arranged by Prof. White.

The specials, "Prepared," "Father and Mother," "Mocked and Tried," and another which had not been named, were written by Judge R. L. Rust, A. C. Hunt and J. D. Brown, and were sung by special request.

While no announcement was made of it at this singing, it is generally understood that a district organization to be known as the Central Texas District Singing convention is to be organized soon, possibly at the next community singing, one month from Sunday. This organization would include all singing classes in Eastland and adjoining counties.

Titus County Town Visited By Bandits Who Make Clean-Up

COOKVILLE, Texas, Jan. 26.—Empty-handed posses returned here today after a vain search for bandits who looted the town early Sunday, obtained several thousand dollars in cash and merchandise and made a successful get-away. Every store in the town, the depot and the postoffice was robbed.

DIRECTORS OF RANGER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ARE TO MEET TONIGHT

Members of the board of directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce are urgently requested to be present at the meeting scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at the offices of the organization.

GOVERNOR FERGUSON DRIVES ABOUT IN NEW AUTOMOBILE

AUSTIN.—Governor "Ma" Ferguson will do her visiting about Austin in a new automobile, it was disclosed here when she rolled up to the capitol in a shiny new car of expensive make.

The new car is a late model of the same type of machine the Fergusons used when here seven years ago.

Mrs. Ferguson said the machine was purchased before the family came to Austin from Temple.

POLL TAXES BEING PAID

Late Hour Rush Begins in Ranger as Voters Begin to Realize They Must Have Receipts if They Wish to Vote.

Despite the dismal wind that shrieked and howled its way out of the north, a fresh northerly after several days of spring weather, poll tax payments in Ranger went forward briskly throughout the morning. The late hour rush evidently started today as two men were kept busy all day writing out receipts for the eligible voters.

The exact number of poll taxes paid up to date is not announced, C. E. Maddocks, deputy poll tax collector, stopping only for a second to remark, "haven't got time to count them, haven't got time to eat," when asked for the number paid so far.

Ranger will be well represented this year providing the eligible voters continue to pay their poll tax as rapidly throughout the week. Reports from the county indicated that the total number of voters this year may fall short of last year, but the rush to pay has started and forecasts may be wrong.

Zero Weather Over Middle West Seems Probable Tonight

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26.—Real winter was scheduled for a return to this territory tonight with a temperature of zero or below, according to local weather officials. The mercury early today had dropped 30 degrees since yesterday afternoon and was standing at 16 degrees above zero at 9 o'clock this morning.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—A sub-zero wave is sweeping out of the northwest and will invade Missouri, Illinois and Indiana and adjacent territory by nightfall, the weather bureau reported today. Temperature ranging from 20 to 40 degrees below zero was reported from North Dakota, northern Minnesota and Manitoba, Canada. Near blizzards were reported in northwestern states.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS NOW BEING TAKEN IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Jan. 26.—A city-wide census was launched here Sunday to determine the relative strength of churches. The census will be taken during the week and will be supervised by O. W. Moerner, superintendent of the Dallas Sunday school conference.

The census will be completed in a week. Aside from giving the actual strength of the churches in Dallas, it will also give a fair estimate of the city's population.

A. & M. ADVISES ADVANCE TACTICS AGAINST HOPPER

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 26.—Farmers of Texas may take an advance step against the grasshopper scourge this year and save themselves from enormous loss by a little careful observation and prompt action. In places of heavy grass or other sod or along overcroppings of rock if the grasshoppers were congregated in large numbers last September and October it may be taken for granted that they deposited a great crop of eggs. These places should be carefully examined now and if the eggs are found in great numbers and a large percentage seem in condition to hatch the spots should be marked for observation and preparations made for a fight when the little hoppers emerge in the early spring. After hatching the little hoppers do not move more than a few feet from where they hatched, and consequently it is advisable for the farmer to locate these areas now and as soon as hatching occurs poison these small areas with the bran mash poison formulated by the A. & M. college last year and kill the little insects before they get into the fields and do great damage. Each farmer must judge as to whether such procedure will be practical under his own conditions.

The eggs are slightly smaller in diameter than the lead of a pencil and about one-fifth inch long. About 40 or 50 are packed alongside each other and the whole mass enclosed in a tough case about the size of a navy bean. These are inserted between the rocks or in the soil at a depth of not more than an inch. The little bag is of a yellowish white color.

SCHOONER WRECKED OFF VANCOUVER, BUT CREW SAFE

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 26.—All members of the crew of the schooner, Speedway, wrecked off Juan de Fuca late Saturday, had been accounted for today by coast guard authorities. The crew were forced to abandon the vessel and take to open boats, in which they spent the night at sea. The last of the crew reached Acuna Bay, Vancouver island, where they were located by coast guard authorities Sunday night.

DOCTOR KILLED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR LUFKIN

LUFKIN, Jan. 26.—Dr. Bryan H. Handley, 28, of Corregin, Texas, was killed and his first cousin, Earl Handley, was injured when their car overturned on a highway near Lufkin, Sunday night. Dr. Handley's body was brought to Lufkin today. His baby was killed in an automobile accident at the same spot last spring.

Texan Shoots Attorney, Who Slurred Mother.

Mrs. W. L. Crawford

William Lester Crawford, a youthful attorney, is on trial in Dallas, Tex., for the murder of Paul O'Day, another young lawyer. Crawford's father had been married before he married Crawford's mother. In his will he left his entire estate to his second wife and ignored his children by his first marriage. They secured O'Day to break the will, and young Crawford alleged the other attorney had drawn up a brief, slurring his mother's good name. The killing followed.

CISCO COMING TO RANGER FOR GAME TOMORROW

High School Basketball Teams to Try for Championship Honors.

The finishing touches will be put on the Ranger basketball team for the game with the Cisco Lobes tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Ranger gymnasium. A light workout will be the schedule for the Bulldogs today to limber up the stiff muscles that resulted when they met Strawn last Friday night on the latter's court.

Tickets for the game will go on sale at Crawford pharmacy this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Price of admission to the game will be 50 cents for reserve seats and 35 cents for general admission.

Students of the manual training department have been busy for the last two days building bleacher seats similar to those on the football field. Seats for 100 people will be ready for use in the reserved section by the time the game is called tomorrow night. The reserved section is on the north side of the court. Cisco will come to Ranger to try to stay in the race for county championship and state honors, and Tuesday night's game will help decide who will emerge victorious in the three-game series. The second game of the two schools will be held in Cisco Friday night. Should a third game be necessary to decide the winner it will be played on neutral territory.

Ranger is training hard for the game and will bend every effort towards maintaining their 1,000 per cent record for the year over high school teams. Twelve victories for the Bulldogs have been chalked up in the winner's column this season and tomorrow night may see the thirteenth straight victory with one defeat, and that only by a college five, when the percentage of the teams are figured out. Cisco has been beaten this year by Breckenridge in two games and by several others, according to reports reaching here. But the Bulldogs are preparing for one of the hardest games on their schedule this year.

An unusually large audience is expected. A crowd from Cisco is expected and it is probable the gymnasium will be packed.

IRWIN QUIETS FLARE-UP THAT ALARMS HOUSE

Says He Is Not Disturbed Because Not Named to Head Prison Probe.

AUSTIN, Jan. 26.—The expected flare-up in the house over the failure of T. K. Irwin to head the prison investigation committee, empowered under a resolution presented by the Dallas representative, was dismissed today when Irwin in a statement before the house pledged his co-operation as a simple member of the committee.

Irwin asked that the statement be printed in the house journal to set at rest rumors of discontent that have been circulating around the capital.

"I should resent the insinuation that any member of the committee is not in sympathy with the program of the committee," Irwin said in part.

Another investigation committee was authorized by the house upon a resolution introduced calling for a survey of conditions existing at the local confederate home here. The house empowered the state eodemary institution's committee to take affidavits from occupants of the home upon alleged irregularities with a report to be made to the legislature later in the session.

Ethyl Gas May Be Used With Safety

Leaking Gas Claims Hero and 3 Victims In Columbus, Ohio

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Operation of automobiles using ethyl gasoline is not harmful, the United States bureau of mines has determined.

Exhaust fumes from engines using gasoline, which contains tetraethyl lead, failed to injure or affect appreciably a number of rabbits, guinea pigs, pigeons, dogs and monkeys during a continuous period of 188 in experiments by the bureau to determine if the use of the motor fuel had any destructive effect on human life.

The bureau's experiments were undertaken both to find out if there is any hazard in breathing air which contains gases from engines using this fuel or inhaling the raw ethyl gasoline.

"The only danger of lead poisoning seems to be confined to the mechanic who is continually cleaning carbon from motors, and the danger in this case is about the same as that of a painter who uses paints containing lead," the bureau reported.

The investigation did not deal with preparation of the tetraethyl lead used in ethyl gasoline. This process has caused a number of fatalities in Baywood, N. J., and other places recently.

Forty Thousand Klansmen To Attend Young's Funeral

HERRIN, Ill., Jan. 26.—Sentiment, hate and secret official investigations intermingled here today as an aftermath of the most recent chapter in the history of "bloody Williamson county" following Saturday night's free for all shooting in which four men lost their lives.

With militiamen on guard, Ed Forbes and Homer Warner, klansmen and two of the victims were buried today. But the main interest centered around the funeral of S. Glenn Young, stormy petrel of the klan, which has been announced for Wednesday. It will be the most elaborate funeral in the history of Williamson county, with 40,000 klansmen attending. Full klan rites will be observed throughout, with the militia as a background to prevent further trouble.

Ora Thomas, foe of the klan, deputy sheriff, will be buried tomorrow. While the funeral arrangements were being carried out the law started moving. A secret session of the coroner's jury was held today. No report was made on the findings of that body. Tomorrow the inquest will be held with the state attorney doing the questioning. He has been busy throughout the day questioning townspeople in an attempt to find an eye witness to Saturday's affray.

S. GLENN YOUNG IS KILLED WITH TWO FOLLOWERS

Ora Thomas, His Arch Enemy, Also Slain; Militia Again Patrols Herrin.

HERRIN, Ill., Jan. 26.—The guns of hatred were quiet today as Herrin was preparing to bury its dead. State troops have brought back a temporary peace to the hotbed of "bloody Williamson county," where Saturday night, klan and anti-klan gunmen engaged in a battle that resulted in four being killed and two wounded.

Klan forces suffered most heavily, for its active leader, "two-gun" S. Glenn Young, dropped before the bullet of his arch enemy, Ora Thomas, deputy sheriff, under Sheriff George Galloway. Two other klansmen, Ed Forbes and Homer Warner, were killed.

Thomas also was slain.

In a grim manner the klan today was going about its task of burying its slain members. Late Sunday the body of Young, which had been reposing in the morgue with a purple robe covering it, was removed to the Bethel church, where it will be on view until Wednesday. The purple robe is said to designate a purple robe in the order. It is probable, klan leaders said, that a joint funeral would be held for the three klansmen. Arrangements for Thomas' funeral had not been announced early today.

A klan demonstration is reported in the office. Several hundred members are here. It is understood the order is planning to have a huge memorial service for the three dead men. While the town is trying to get over its hysterical condition, one company of state militia from Carbondale, under Major E. W. Davis, has taken over the law and order situation in the city.

"There won't be any trouble while the troops stay," said a former city official. "There may not be any more trouble after they leave because with Young and Thomas gone the factions will lack leadership."

One Pitiable Figure

There is one pitiable figure in this tragedy—a woman. She is Mrs. Young, the little woman who stuck to her husband through all his battles in Williamson county. She and her little baby were in Herrin last night when her husband was killed. She is blind from bullets fired when her husband was targeted for an anti-klan mob in Clinton county several months ago.

Young had been brought into Williamson county from Kentucky by the Ku Klux Klan. His mission was to clean up the prohibition violators. He is said to have gotten out of control of the klan. He refused to take orders and conducted affairs of his own. This brought about his expulsion from the klan several months ago, according to Grand Dragon Palmer of the Illinois klan.

Viewpoint of Tragedy

Statements relative to the tragedy differ. One account denies that Young was the aggressor. He was eating in a restaurant when the first shot was fired, afterwards with several friends was entering the door of a hotel when Thomas fired on him, a bullet going through his heart, and as he fell drew his pistol and shot Thomas in the forehead. Another account of the tragedy says: Thomas, deputy sheriff, and arch foe of the klan, had come from the county seat at Marion to attend a court trial. That is the reason, his friends say he broke a truce that was made after the last terrible month ago, when Young and Thomas, leaders of the factions, both agreed to stay out of Herrin.

Young came to Herrin with the statement that it was necessary for him to return to face indictments charging him with assault with intent to murder and other crimes growing out of his raids on liquor violators of the county.

KING ALFONSO OF SPAIN WORKS HARD TO RULE HIS PEOPLE, BUT JOB DOESN'T PA YVERY WELL

(Editor's Note.—Webb Miller, of the Paris staff of the United Press, recently visited Spain and secured an interview with King Alfonso, which was widely printed. He has now returned to Paris, and has written a very interesting additional chapter to his story of the Spanish king, who is a very interesting figure in this, the "Twilight of the Kings."—THE UNITED PRESS, New York.)

By WEBB MILLER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS.—"This king business nowadays is not the soft job most people imagine. I should say not. I have to work harder than the average American big business man, get fewer pleasures, less vacation and less pay. This year I had only two weeks' vacation and that interrupted almost daily with state business. And I had to hustle back to Madrid in the middle of the summer when it's hotter than blazes and go to work—and been at it ever since."

Of course, these are not the actual words of King Alfonso XIII. of Spain. As a matter of cold fact, he didn't say them or anything remotely resembling them to the writer on his recent visit to Spain.

But they are approximately what his majesty would say if he could unburden himself like an ordinary mortal and tell his troubles. That's another galling restriction upon European monarchs—they have to be mighty careful about talking and to whom they talk. And when they do talk officially for publication they have to converse about innocuous matters that interest almost nobody—and then the cabinet has to meet to decide whether he can be permitted to say even that.

Wherefore a correspondent is taking considerable responsibility upon himself in quoting a king as above, even with the clear explanation that the king didn't say it.

But the correspondent has it from sources almost intimate enough with his majesty to slap him on the back—and that's another thing that a king cannot do or have done to him—that the quotation above pretty well describes King Alfonso's feeling in the matter.

But seriously, the fact of the matter is, and his friends will tell you, that Alfonso's job is nearly all work and very little play; that the king sticks to his job and does his work about as a big executive for a huge corporation might—the corporation being Spain. And that his salary from the corporation isn't actually as much as several big American executives get, while the hours are longer, the responsibilities heavier and the personal restrictions infinitely greater.

Large Private Fortune.
His intimates declare that the salary isn't enough to support him in the style in which a monarch must necessarily live and will hardly pay the upkeep of the giant royal palace and expenses attached thereto; that he is forced to draw from his private fortune constantly. Through inheritance and judicious investments Alfonso is a very wealthy man and because he is a good business man, the fortune is increasing rapidly. They will tell you he made luck investment in American Bethlehem Steel and made a lot of money thereby. He has investments in mines, shipping lines and public utilities and owns and operates several big farms. Recently an incident proved how closely Alfonso watches his affairs and that he is a business man. He owns 15 Ford automobiles, "great little cars in the world," and recently his foreman asked for another.

What do you want of another—you've got 15," he must assume the king said. Then his majesty discovered that instead of ordering job lots of spare parts his workman had been ordering an entire Ford for the sole purpose of extracting spare parts as needed. His majesty put a stop to that.

If the king were allowed double pay for overtime like bricklayers and plasterers, he might be able to make both ends meet and pay his current expenses from his salary. His average day is about 12 hours—or four hours overtime.

Here is an average day's program: In the office at work at 9 a. m. Few minutes' rest at 11 a. m., while he watches from his window the ceremony of changing the guard in the palace courtyard. Luncheon about 2 p. m., then work until 5, when he walks in the gardens or in summer gallops a few chukkers of polo. Work again from 6 p. m. to about 9, then dinner with the family and afterwards a private movie show he has set up in the palace, or some music. Bed about 11:30 p. m. Not so thrilling? He has been known frequently to make appointments with foreign ambassadors on important matters as late as 9 p. m.

Like any corporation executive, most of his work consists of conferring with his "department heads," reading reports and making decision thereon.

Heard Carter Lecture.
The king leaves the royal palace but infrequently, then only to appear at some occasion of public or cultural significance. The other day he went to hear Howard Carter lecture on King Tut. Despite the firm belief abroad, thanks largely to Basco Ibanez, that there is a movement against the king, he goes without guard or ostentation and is greeted with respect and enthusiasm. He lives with his family and a few relatives in one corner of the great palace. The majority of the vast rooms where so much history has been enacted, are closed except for the occasional state affair.

The United Press correspondent was granted permission to view the formal apartments, which are the finest in Europe. Except for the footfalls of the gorgeous knee-panted halbardiers armed with a vicious looking gilt wooden spear, slowly pacing the marble corridor outside in lonely grandeur, with nobody to look at them, the great rooms are silent as a graveyard. The splendid throne room, large as a riding hall, with its marble tables, 12 huge mirrors, gorgeously colored rug about a half acre in extent and snarling gilt lions guarding the king's and queen's chairs on the dais, broods in silence—for, as Americans may not realize, the king sits on the throne and wears a crown only when it's absolutely demanded by time-honored custom.

Reverent Americans have been known to hastily plump themselves down into the king's chair when the old attendant had his back turned. The huge state dining room, with its 132 chairs at a single table, hasn't been used since the king of Italy came on a visit many months ago. Members of the royal family rarely visit these rooms or the others, such as the strange chamber where the entire walls and ceiling are of porcelain with figures of every imaginable animal, fish and bird and some that are not, in six-inch relief and painted natural colors.

The campaign by Ibanez has actually had the effect of rallying all political elements to the king, whose personal popularity is unquestionable. The board of Madrid's new subway hastened to announce that instead of being mixed in a shady deal in connection with the subway as Ibanez charged, the king personally gave one million pesetas to enable the completion of the work.

Likes Newspapers.
American newspaper men may be pleased to know that Alfonso is a warm admirer of the American newspaper and constantly reads them. He has been known to say that he believes they are the most independent and incorruptible in the world, and wishes the Spanish and European continental press resembled them in this respect.

Incidentally, when Primo de Rivera seized power, he immediately cut off the government subsidies hitherto always paid to the Spanish newspapers. Several immediately expired. And if the king has anything to say about it, the subsidies will never be resumed.

Likewise the king is an admirer of the American mechanical genius and at present is trying to introduce into Spain such labor-saving devices as the tractor and harvesting machinery, but finds it hard to wean the peasants from the prehistoric wooden plow and flail.

On the whole, according to the king's intimates, his job is far from the usual conception of a haughty monarch sitting on the throne all day, wearing his jeweled crown and having visitors kneel and kiss his hand. On the contrary, there isn't a great deal of romance about the job and a lot of responsibility and anxiety.

So who can blame the king, who is a normal young man, when he sighs, as he has been known to do, and wishes he could shift the burden of kingship that was saddled upon him at birth for a little while, and "go out and have a good time."

All Boy Scouts of Ranger are requested by Scoutmasters Bailey and Peacock to report to Abe Davis of the E. H. & A. Davis store no later than Wednesday so that measurements for their uniforms may be taken. Arrangements have been made whereby every scout is to pay for his uniform by his own efforts, either by working at home for his parents, or by doing certain work designated by the scoutmaster. In many cases where a scout has not already earned the amount necessary to purchase his uniform, he will be permitted to borrow the money from the scout fund.

Every scout is urged to be present in the basement of the Gholson hotel Wednesday at 12 o'clock sharp, as guests of the Ranger Rotary club at their weekly luncheon. All patrol leaders should get in touch with each member of his patrol at once and notify him in person. ## —to build up Weight!

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!
Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red-blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. ### NURMI, FINNISH RUNNER, SHOWS GREAT SPEED

Declared by Experts to Be Speediest Track Man in World.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Those who were fortunate enough to see Paavo Nurmi, the famous Finnish runner, winning four events at the Olympic games in Paris last summer, were convinced that he was the greatest runner that ever lived. Veteran American coaches, whose careers covered a period in which all of the British and American distance runners made famous records, did not hesitate to say that he combined all of the best style points of past runners with some unusual form that was particularly his own. The professional estimate of Nurmi's ability was aptly stated in the words of one of the American trainers who returned from one of Nurmi's workouts and said: "That Finn will win every race he starts in. There's not a runner in the world who has much more of a chance to beat him than I have and I can't run a mile." Another American coach offered to wager that if Nurmi wanted to do it, he could beat any runner in the world at any distance from a half mile to 10 miles. These reports were cabled back to the United States by correspondents who were covering the Olympic games for American newspapers and perhaps such glowing praise of the Finnish paperhanger might have been regarded as slightly exaggerated. They were not. They were very conservative.

American track fans learned that Nurmi hadn't been press-agented when he made his first appearance in America recently in the indoor meet of the Finnish-American Athletic club in Madison Square Garden. It will be recalled—it hardly can be forgotten—that Nurmi ran a mile and a 5,000-meter race against the best runners in the United States within a space of 90 minutes, and that he made two new world's records officially and broke another one unofficially. The amazing part of it was that he did so well on a wooden track, after only a few weeks' training on the boards.

MINSTREL SHOW TOMORROW NIGHT AT THE CONNELLEE

"Lasses" White and his able co-stars delighted two large audiences, the minstrel troupe bringing a revival of the minstrelsy of old, which never loses its charm, but into the program were woven new jokes, new steps and new songs, some of them composed by "Lasses." Thus does the dramatic reviewer of the Shreveport Times express himself concerning Lasses White's all-star minstrelsy, which will be presented tomorrow night at the Connellee theatre in Eastland. Tickets are going fast but good seats are still available. Popular prices are being charged. There will be a big street parade tomorrow.

Good Advice for Women

San Antonio, Texas—While taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for feminine weakness I was also relieved of stomach trouble. The Favorite Prescription was exactly the tonic I needed in every respect. I got well shortly after I started taking it. My belief is that what it did for me it will do for others. Therefore I advise all women who are in poor health to take a course of this treatment.—Mrs. J. T. Stauffer, 1522 W. Houston Street.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

That some business men seem to live in a world by themselves, totally oblivious to the real business world. That the world to them is an imaginary world, and they spend their time dreaming of business that some day will come to them.

That they are only living in an imaginary world and the customers they dream of are only creatures of imagination.

That the only way it will be possible for their dreams to come true, is to stop dreaming and stop it now. That they must wake up, quit resting on their oars.

That business worth while does not just happen.

That they must pep up, steam up and with enthusiasm, energy and honest effort, help to make their city a growing city, a city with a future.

Lasses White's All-Star Minstrels At Connellee Theatre, Tuesday Night

"Lasses" White, the southern sunflower, as the head bellhop in the hotel de Blackville, at the Connellee Theatre, Tuesday night, January 27.

Some people like grand opera; others find it boresome, if not a torture. Some adore drama, while still others find it "stale, flat and unprofitable." But there is one type of show that appeals to every man, woman and child, and that is a minstrel show. And when it happens to be the best minstrel show in the country it is certain to play to a packed theatre.

Lasses White's all-star minstrels, the greatest aggregation of black-face comedians, singers and dancers now on the road, will be at the Connellee theatre in Eastland next Tuesday night. Popular prices are being charged and the demand for seats is heavy, as shown when the box office sale began Saturday afternoon. Many desirable seats remain but no time should be lost in securing tickets.

White, proclaimed the king of minstrelsy, is a Texan and he is the principal funmaker, ably assisted by a company of 40, who are so entertaining and amusing that they would make Solomon forget his thousand mothers-in-law. The production is the most elaborate and costly of its kind in the country, with many beautiful scenes and costumes.

There will be a big street parade the day of the show. As this is the last big-time attraction of the season, many in each of the cities in the oil belt who have witnessed all the other great shows brought to Eastland by Manager Stalcup, are preparing to attend Tuesday night and bid farewell to the brilliant season of high-class shows.

expected to recommend for incorporation into an international convention is that of the status or nationality of women married to foreigners.

The situation on this subject now varies so in different countries that it frequently happens a woman in marrying a foreigner not only loses her own nationality, but fails to acquire that of her husband with the result that she becomes a woman without a country—a sort of international derelict.

The complications arising from this, especially in the matter of passports, and the nationality to be given children resulting from such marriages, is such that some sort of a common international agreement on the subject has become imperative. For the moment the situation is one of the veritable international anarchy.

Up until the time of the passage of the Cable law by the United States, the question was pretty well regulated all over the world. The almost universal rule was that a woman marrying a foreigner at once acquired the nationality of her husband.

With the passage of the Cable law, which deprived foreign women marrying American citizens from acquiring the nationality of their husbands, the customs, domestic legislation and rules of virtually half of the rest of the world were upset.

Few states had made any provision for citizenship for their women who might marry foreigners, with the result that those marrying Americans were left absolutely without a country.

U. S. Officials Affected.

How little all of the possible ramifications of the Cable law were studied before its passage is indicated by the fact that consular officers of the United States, who had married wives abroad, as frequently happens, upon being transferred to another post, suddenly discovered they were not able to take their wives with them.

The latter had lost their own nationality upon marriage, had been denied American citizenship by the Cable law and it was impossible for their husband to secure a passport that would enable them to proceed to the new consular post. While steps are being taken in the United States to obviate this difficulty as far as American officials in the foreign service are concerned, nothing has been done towards offering relief to the ordinary American citizen who has married abroad.

The American situation, however, is only one aspect of the whole international question. Different laws exist in different countries and the whole status of women married to foreigners is a very complicated and often uncertain one.

A few countries like France have definitely regulated the question by declaring that a French woman retains always her French nationality and her French rights, no matter what nationality her husband may have. France has also taken the same attitude towards children born of such marriages by declaring that the children always have the right of French citizenship. Few other countries, however, have met the situation as has France, and the need of a general international convention on the subject, which would thus become a matter of international law, has become pressing.

Women to Take Hand. In the final settlement of the question it is expected that the international federation of women's clubs will play an important role. They have already taken a definite stand in declaring that the question should remain optional with the woman—namely, that she should have the right either of retaining her own nationality or accepting that of her husband.

It is generally believed that this solution would be accepted by all the rest of the world, with the possible exception of the United States, but unfortunately as long as the United States holds out for the present provisions of the Cable law, no other country would probably grant more favorable treatment than it receives.

It is expected, however, that the women's clubs of the United States will undertake an active campaign on this question and endeavor to prevent the attitude of the United States from checking settlement of a question that is of vital interest to hundreds of thousands of women of all nationalities.

Buffalo, N. Y., is contemplating doubling the number of lighting units along Main street, its principal business street. At the same time Chicago has just installed 1,200 new electric street lighting units in recent time and Jacksonville, Fla., Baltimore, Md., Natchez, Miss., St. Louis, and Brownsville, Pa., have also increased the electric illumination of their chief business streets.
