Gov't. May Build Postoffice at Ranger

Oh, Well, Juanita'll Likely Be Sittin' Pretty for a Little While, Anyway

By United Press. OAKLAND, Cal., April 20.—Juanita Miller, daughter of the late Joaquin Miller, famous poet, today was sewing eucalyptus "caps" on her bridal gown of burlap, and told of her wedding plans.

Next Saturday night Juanita, gowned in the knee length burlap bridal robe, will dance a wedding march with Juan Miller, her husband, at what she terms a "pagan wedding festival."

Juan and Juanita were actually married last December, but Juanita found that the cycle of her life dictated that she be wed beneath the lily light of the full April moon. So that is why on Saturday there will be another ceremony.

"I will dance a wedding dance invented for the occasion," Juanita said, then told of the red and white garb of the bridegroom. "The combination of colors symbolizes the cycle which our marriage has completed. It is the union of material red and spiritual white."

Juanita's plans for married life after the "pagan festival" were admittedly rather vague. "My husband hasn't a red cent," she said. "But we are going to work together. He is a photographer. But if that profession fails, Juan has a guitar, which he plays, and I can sing. We will become troubadours, singing for our supper."

BILL TO THIS END OFFERED TO CONGRESS

Blanton's Proposal Would Give City a Building to Cost $60,000.

Ranger has been placed on the program of the sixty-seventh congress of the United States by the introduction of a bill for the erection of a federal building to be used as a post-office and for other government uses. A bill, known as house resolution No. 150, has been introduced in the house by Congressman Blanton, referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds and ordered printed.

The total cost is not to exceed $60,000, the site not more than $10,000. Postmaster Connell received a copy of the bill Tuesday afternoon.

The text of the bill follows: "A bill for the erection of a public building in the city of Ranger, State of Texas, and appropriating money therefor."

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That the secretary of the treasury be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to acquire for the United States, in the city of Ranger, in the county of Eastland, State of Texas, in such manner as to him shall seem best, by purchase, condemnation, or otherwise, a suitable site, and cause to be erected thereon, according to plans and specifications to be approved by him, a substantial building, including fireproof vaults, heating and ventilating apparatus, and approaches, with good modern conveniences and improvements, for the United States postoffice, and other government uses, at a total cost of not more than $60,000, said site to cost not more than $10,000.

"Section 2. That for said purpose the sum of $60,000 is hereby authorized to be appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated."

Ranger Needs It. "Ranger needs a federal building, and there is no reason why one should not be erected here," J. F. Connell, postmaster, said this morning. "The city is entitled to it, and if Congressman Blanton's bill goes through the government will construct a postoffice building here that will be a credit to the community."

"There is hardly a congressman in Washington who has not friends in Ranger, and it would be a fine thing if Rangerites or those who are interested in the advancement of this city would take steps to set before their friends at Washington some arguments in favor of the proposed bill.

It would be well for Ranger folks to remember in their consideration of the proposed erection here of a government postoffice building that the sum named in Mr. Blanton's bill, $60,000, for site and building, does not necessarily mean that this will be the limit of expenditure set by the government.

"There will be equipment to cost many thousands of dollars, and it is almost invariably the case that buildings of this nature run their ultimate cost far beyond the original estimate. So that there is every reason to get behind this bill and push it, with the knowledge that if Ranger is given a public building of this character it will be one of which Ranger and its citizens may well be proud."

RANGERS GUARD TRIAL OF NEGRO IN PARIS COURT

By United Press. PARIS, Texas, April 20.—Trial of Virgil Hampton, negro, charged with criminally assaulting a 14-year-old white girl near Honey Grove, began here at 9 o'clock this morning.

All persons entering the court room were searched. When the room was filled, the doors were locked and state rangers stood guard.

A jury was secured and introduction of testimony began at 11 o'clock. The girl was the second witness. She identified the negro, his hat and clothing.

The trial is expected to be concluded this afternoon. A large but orderly delegation is here from Honey Grove.

MINERS AT THURBER ARE NOT BEHIND RADICAL AGITATION

No Friction Between Tee Pee Company and Employees, Representatives of Unions Say, and Had Nothing to Do With Communist Circular.

There are no radical activities among Thurber miners. There is no friction between the Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil company and its employees, and both sides understand the present situation thoroughly.

There has been and will be no refusal of the miners to pay rent. The present state does not expire in a few weeks, but in fact runs until March 31, 1922.

These are statements made yesterday by Lee Americo and E. Stephens, appointed by Thurber miners to confer with the Times in regard to statements made in connection with the communist circular printed last Thursday. Mr. Americo is secretary of Local No. 2768, United Mine Workers of America, and Mr. Stephens is treasurer of Local No. 2538.

The circular has been distributed in Thurber, the miners' representatives said, but wished to make it absolutely plain that their organization had nothing whatever to do with it. They did not know where it came from or by whom it was distributed, but did know that the miners were paying no attention to it.

Relations Pleasant. The officials of the company have the complete confidence of the employees, Mr. Americo said. He brought a copy of the notice posted by the Tee Pee company, stating that the mines were shut down because of lack of market for their coal, and said there is no belief in the miners' minds that any other reason has entered into the shutdown. He left a copy of the contract, which shows plainly that the Times was misinformed as to the present scale expiring shortly, as the

Don't forget—on Main street only—to park your car parallel to the curb and with four feet between cars. Other streets, head in at an angle of 45 degrees.

Fourteen automobiles ranging from a battered truck with home-made body to a nifty sedan, flower in the vase and everything, gathered clubbily around the police station this morning. It looked like a convention.

The reason for the assemblage was the police program of enforcing the traffic ordinances. These cars were gathered in off the paved areas after midnight last night and it will cost their owners $1 each to grasp the steering wheel again.

That is the first step, Chief Reynolds said this morning. He explained that it is a city ordinance that autos shall not be left on the pavement after 12 o'clock, as that interferes with the street cleaning operations. Notices were published a month or so ago that such cars would be taken to the station and the owner fined $1, without costs. Since that time, the officers have warned drivers by the score, they say, and spent hours pushing cars around. And did not even get thanks for their trouble.

Now it is proposed to enforce this ordinance strictly. Watch Turning Blocks. Another thing that will be watched is the proper observance of turning blocks. These are made to go around, the department says. In other words, keep them on the left when making a turn. That will prevent accidents and at the same time keep the pocketbook from being picked.

Still another traffic rule to be enforced after today, is one approved yesterday by the city commission. That is a change in the parking rules on Main street. Hereafter, cars parked on this street must be parallel to the curb, with both right wheels in eight-inch inches thereof, and four feet between vehicles. This change was made in order to widen the passageway and also to keep down accidents. Collisions are easily possible under the present system of parking at a 45-degree angle. A car headed into the curb in this manner, must back into a stream of traffic moving in the opposite direction before it can straighten out down the street.

The present parking rule will remain in effect on all streets except Main.

WOMAN PLEADS FOR TEXAS 'ONE INDIVISIBLE'

AUSTIN, April 20.—"Texas one and indivisible" was the keynote of opening addresses at the opening session of the thirteenth annual convention of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas here today. Mrs. Rebecca J. Fisher, state president, in her annual report, pleaded for the "Texas of her youth" more than four score and ten years ago, and asked that the Texas flag be allowed to float forever over the southlands of Texas, fanned by the gulf breeze, over the eastland of Texas, where the sighing of the pines makes melody, over the western plains of Texas, the home of the famed Texas cowboy, and the northern part of Texas, where the great wealth producing oil fields are bringing strangers to the state who do not understand what Texas one and indivisible means to the pioneers.

APPEALS COURT AGAIN O. K.'S THE DEAN LAW

By United Press. AUSTIN, April 20.—The case of John Gerber, Tarrant county, alleged accomplice in the famous "bunco" case wherein J. P. Norfleet, Hale county rancher, was swindled out of $25,000, was affirmed today by the court of criminal appeals.

Gerber was convicted as accomplice to the theft and sentenced to ten years. The court held that evidence was sufficient and procedure regular.

Finding no errors in the record, the court affirmed the case of Wallace Smith of Tarrant county, convicted of murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ruby White, at Fort Worth, and given 35 years in the penitentiary. The defendant claimed that all the trouble between "the defendant and deceased was caused by wrongful acts and conduct of the deceased, that she wanted his wife to become a moving picture actress and objected to her marrying in the first place and wanted her to leave the appellant so that she would become a movie star."

HIGH COST OF SPEEDING TO BE REDUCED

New City Commission Would Make Enforcement Surer, Paying Easier.

The cost of speeding will come down. That was the decision of the new city commission yesterday at its first meeting. The object is to either increase business at the police station or lessen autoists' insistence on being arrested.

Speeding now costs $20.70 under the city ordinance prescribing $10 and costs as the minimum fine. This, Commissioner Davenport pointed out, is too high. It is not humane, and like all laws with a too rigorous penalty, is not enforced as it should be. He favored reducing the fine to $1 for first-time violators and promised vigorous enforcement. This proposal met with the favor of the commissioners and the change will be incorporated in the city ordinances.

A change in the parking rules on Main street also was favored by the commission. An ordinance was not required, as the change can be made by police department ruling. Under this change vehicles on Main street will park parallel to the curb. On other streets the present parking rule remains in effect.

That was only one of several matters that came before the commission. It made few decisions, but canvassed the situation in general and started the machinery to working toward some betterments.

As a starter, Mayor Gholson was named acting city manager by the board, and he then appointed Sanford Dean, finance commissioner; A. Davenport, fire and police commissioner; M. R. Newnam, street commissioner, and R. H. Hodges, sanitary commissioner. These appointments were made in order to comply with all legal technicalities.

The garbage hauling contract expires on April 26, and it was voted to continue it for sixty days, in order to give Mr. Hodges time to look the situation over. It seems probable that some changes will be reduced when a new contract is signed.

Putting on more street lights was discussed and Mr. Newnam was given two weeks to see what plans could be worked out. A light at the Hamon road crossing is especially needed, it was said, and it is planned to put one by the laundry and at other dark corners.

Whether this can be done at this time depends upon arrangements with the electric company.

The matter of transferring about $15,000 in bonds from one account to another was referred to Sanford Dean, to be taken up with the authorities at Austin "when he is at home."

No mention was made of city appointments, but it was said after the meeting that this would be taken up in the near future and an exhaustive survey made of every department. It will require nearly a day, it was estimated, to properly canvass the city employees and payrolls and see if any changes should be made.

TRAPSHOOTERS FLOCKING IN FOR BIG SHOOT

About forty trapshooters were in Ranger at noon for the merchandise shoot which opens the Ranger Gun club's West Texas tournament. These with local shooters will make a field of about seventy-five, and it will take all the afternoon to clear the schedule.

More are expected for the registered shoot tomorrow. Tonight the Gun club will entertain the visitors with a big ball at the Gholson. The floor has been treated to several coats of varnish and waxed on top of that, and is in fine shape. Music will be furnished by the Illinois Five, said to be the best jazz organization that has hit Ranger in some time.

Messrs. and Mmes Howard Gholson, M. H. Hagaman and R. R. Nelms are the chaperones and will devote special attention to visiting women. Mrs. E. B. Reid and Mr. Louis Ducker will sing during the intermission. Mrs. Wakefield will be the piano.

The ball is an invitation affair, but is not exclusive. The club members invite all their friends to come. Tickets may be obtained at the Popular store or from the committee.

Prospects Wednesday noon were that the tournament would be an unqualified success. It is the intention of the club to do everything in its power to make the visitors' stay pleasant, as that will contribute greatly to the interest in the state championship tournament, which will open in Ranger on June 6.

FARMERS HOLD CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Farmers from various sections of the country affiliated with the National Farmers' Union gathered here today for a three days' conference to discuss problems affecting their welfare. The meeting was called by Charles S. Barrett, president of the union with a view to giving farmers an opportunity of expressing their own opinions of domestic problems and pending or rejecting legislation.

At the opening conference Barrett urged the creation of a joint congressional committee to inquire into and suggest remedial measures in the agricultural situation. He declared agriculture in America is rapidly going toward the habit of "the halt, the lame and the blind," and asserted "what agriculture wants is an opportunity to help itself."

Many dusts are inflammable and can be easily ignited with explosive violence by an electric spark.

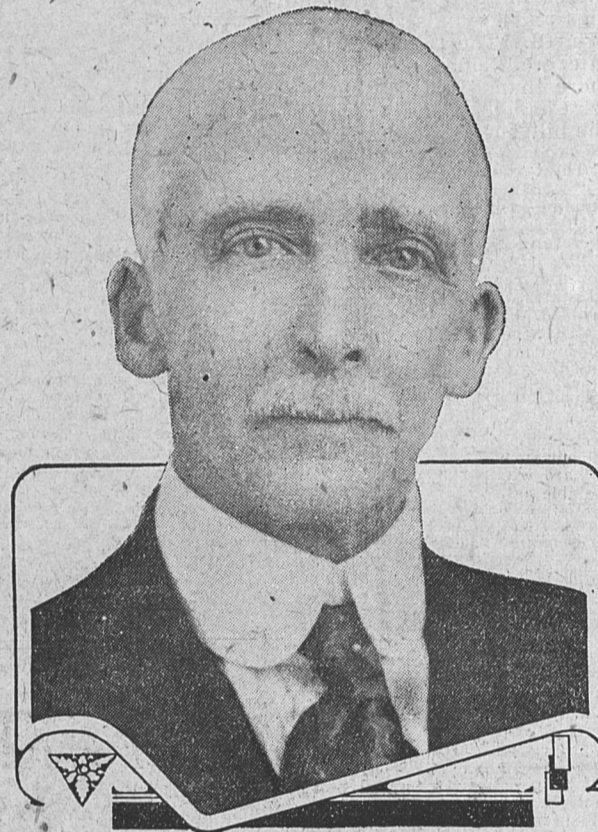

JOHN BARNES RECOVERS THREE STOLEN AUTOS, HIDDEN IN THICKETS

Through information furnished by a Sinclair employe, Deputy Constable John Barnes this week recovered three cars which had been stolen from Breckenridge. Two were Fords, the other was a GMC truck. All had been stolen the same night.

Location of one of the cars was given Barnes and a search through the thickets with flashlights revealed the other two. One of the cars had been partially stripped. The others were intact. There also were tops and other stray parts from several cars scattered through the brush, Barnes says, and it is believed that this location has been used by auto thieves in which to strip and disguise stolen cars.

FACES FEDERAL CHARGE. A young man named Hall, arrested Sunday night by Prohibition Enforcement Officer Anderson on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquors, was taken to Abilene Tuesday. Stephenson was arrested on Cherry street while Anderson and police officers were searching for three cases of cognac which were said to be in town. They failed to find it, but did find a quart in Stephenson's room.

Gives Tanlac Credit For Splendid Health

CATARRH OF THE BLADDER SAFE & SUCCESSFUL SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

"I used to think all the Tanlac testimonials were exaggerated, but I have felt thankful a thousand times I ever believed in it strong enough to give the medicine a trial," said T. J. Parker, well known salesman for Gately's Clothing Store, residing at 4246 Juneau st., Seattle, Wash.

"Several years ago I commenced having periodic spells of sickness and a few months ago I had an attack that I thought would finish me. When I did finally get up, I was scarcely able to go. I had no appetite and what little I forced myself to eat caused so much gas on my stomach I could hardly get my breath.

"At night I was often so bloated I couldn't breathe while lying down and just had to sit up and struggle for air. At times I had cramps so bad I could hardly endure it.

"My liver was sluggish and sometimes I got so dizzy I would nearly fall. I felt tired and miserable all the time, couldn't even sleep and for days at a time I wasn't able to go to work.

"Well, a friend of mine finally got me to try Tanlac, and it certainly has done a good job for me. My appetite is fine now and although I am eating just anything I want and as much as I please, my stomach never gives me the least trouble. I have picked up in weight, my strength has come back to me, and I am now enjoying the best of health.

"All the men at the store know Tanlac put me back on my feet, and I am glad to give this statement for what it may be worth to others."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

REPEAL OF MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS UPHELD

AUSTIN, April 20.—Repeal of the minimum wage law by the Thirty-seventh legislature was the basis for dismissing the case against J. Poye, convicted in Harris county for violating this law. The court of criminal appeals dismissed the case today.

RANGER FOLK ENJOY ALL-NIGHT WOLF HUNT

Nine Ranger folk enjoyed a wolf hunt Monday night on the George Riddle ranch. An all-night ride through the rough country, behind a large pack of hounds, netted two coons and two wolves. At the wind-up, everyone was sore but satisfied.

J. B. Ames and George Riddle entertained the party before the hunt by riding two 3-year-old steers. Did it, too, they assert. Ames was somewhat lamed up when his horse fell while chasing a steer and threw him about thirty feet down the hillside. Members of the party were: Frank Champion, James Davenport, Frank Brahaney, Dr. Duffer, Charles Gholson, V. V. Cooper, J. B. Ames and George Riddle.

SECRET OF LIFE FOUND AT LAST?

RECENT DISCOVERIES OF SCIENCE POINT TO ANSWER.

Competent authorities are beginning to admit that in the "vitamin theory" advanced by noted food specialists there is a possible solution of the age-long problem of life and growth that has puzzled humanity.

Vitamins are the growth-producing properties (found in only a few foods) which exhaustive tests have shown are absolutely necessary to the normal health of adults. Without this property food furnishes only fuel for the body engine—with it food supplies both fuel and growth.

Butter is one of the very few foods which have been found to contain this property in any appreciable degree. Thus a homely relish that has heretofore found favor only because of its flavor and the added zest it gave to a good meal becomes an absolutely necessary item in the food program of any family that cares for the health of its children and its adults.

Creamery butter, made in a modern butter plant, in snow-white equipment, rendered absolutely sterile by every method known to science and common sense, furnishes vitamins and other valuable food properties in the most palatable and delicious form.

When the modern housekeeper uses plenty of creamery butter on her table and in her cooking, she is giving her family the utmost in food values combined with the most delicious of flavors. A combination that cannot otherwise be obtained.

MOLASSES-BUTTER COOKIES 1-2 cup molasses 1-4 cup sugar 1 egg 1 teaspoon ginger 1 teaspoon soda 1 tablespoon vinegar 1 tablespoon cold water 2 1/4 cups flour 1-4 cup Mistletoe Butter Cream the butter, sugar and egg. Then add the molasses, vinegar and one cup of the flour. Add the soda dissolved in the cold water and flour to make stiff dough. Roll thin, cut and bake in moderate oven.

BUTTER SCOTCH CANDY 1 1/4 cups cane syrup 1-3 cup molasses 1 tablespoon vinegar 1-2 teaspoon vanilla 1-2 cup Mistletoe Butter Mix all together, and cook until a test becomes brittle in cold water. Pour in a well-buttered pan and as it cools check off in squares.

LEAGUE SEASON WILL OPEN HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Plans Being Laid for Notable Occasion When Nitros Come Home.

Ranger at San Angelo. Cisco at Abilene. Mineral Wells at Sweetwater.

Those are the opening dates of the West Texas league season, which starts today with every prospect of a stronger and better balanced circuit than last year.

With an opening day and a holiday jammed right up against each other, the fans in these three towns should have a wonderful opportunity to take a peek at the beginning of the season's strife.

After one series the scene switches to Ranger, Cisco and Mineral Wells. Sweetwater comes here, Abilene plays the Resorers and the Scouts take on the San Angelo club, newest entrant to the league. These dates open on Saturday and include a Sunday stand the next day.

Ranger is preparing for a big blow-out on opening day. The mayor will be asked to issue a proclamation, asking everyone to make the occasion a half holiday, in order that all may join in the celebration.

Provisional plans for the ceremonies include a parade with fire Commissioner Davenport as field marshal, a horseback and all the trimmings; then a parade of the fire wagons, the ball players and other interests.

Out at the park, Mayor John M. Gholson will pitch the first ball. President W. R. Fleming will do the receiving and Ex-Mayor Hagaman will use his best endeavors at the bat. That is the outline. Details are yet to be fully worked out, but the weather man promises to do his best next Saturday and other arrangements promise to make the occasion complete.

Tickets are on sale at Crawford's pharmacy, the Palace drug store and Raymond's Tea Fountain. They will cost six bits, the regular admission price for the season. Those who feel a desire to help the club can get the $5 opening-day tickets. If they do, 75 cents will go toward getting into the gate and the other $4.25 will be a free-will offering for the Nitros.

ANGELO BUILDS TEAM AROUND OLD-TIME STARS

Special to the Times.

SAN ANGELO, April 20.—When the Ranger Nitros trot out on the field here today, they will face a team that is not altogether untried in West Texas circles, even though the Broncs are new members of the circuit.

Manager Robinson, who will be holding down the right garden, played last year with Abilene. Byers, who caught last year for Mineral Wells, is expected to be behind the bat for the locals.

Other veteran diamond laborers include Frank Truesdale, the old timer who played for several years at Houston and then went to the International and American leagues. Frank will play second base and will be the lead-off man.

Roy Morton, who starred ten years ago at T. C. U., and later with Galveston, will be the dean of the hurling staff. The little left-hander won twenty games in semi-pro circles last year. He is coach at Wesley college.

Other men are new and Robinson will shift his lineup considerably in the next few days in order to get the best combination.

They include Jud Lewis, outfielder, captain of the A. & M. team last year; Williamson of Dallas, who also is expected to be relief catcher; Conkrite, who tried out with Fort Worth and probably will stick in the outer breast-works. Westbrook, a Dallas amateur, seems slated for short.

SWATTERS ARE READY FOR FRAY, BACKERS THINK

Special to the Times.

SWEETWATER, April 20.—With the opening of the West Texas league season less than four hours away and every team in the league reported as being ready for the going, a few remarks regarding the hopes and ambitions of the local club might not be amiss.

Since March 14, the date on which Manager Smith ordered his players to report for spring training, no less than forty-five athletes have come and gone—mostly gone. During that period our inimitable Popboy has worked hard with untiring effort and, with the able assistance of President Neal, has left no stone unturned to get together a winning combination. Every baseball enthusiast within a radius of fifty miles in every direction, believes that he has accomplished his end.

Three Backstops.

Behind the bat Smith has three exceptionally good men in Whitney, Blount and McConnell. Whitney, well known to West Texas league fans, was Recently returned to the Swatters by the San Antonio club of the Texas league.

"Whit" was one of the classiest performers in the circuit last season and comes back to Sweetwater a much improved player; having added several needed pounds to his weight, owns a far better throwing arm and profited by his training experience in the shadow of the Alamo.

Blount, released by Dallas to the locals, is a very nifty backstop, with a good arm and rare judgment for a youngster.

He has shown much ability and in the event two catchers are carried will undoubtedly be retained as a second string man.

Houston sent McConnell to Smith and in some respect we have never seen his equal.

No less a personage than the famous Jawn J. McGrav, paused in his daily battles, fistic and otherwise, long enough to transmit a lengthy wire recommending Mack. Jawn J. said that McConnell was the most aggressive young man he had ever seen and had every earmark of a second Ray Schalk. Little Mack has created almost a sensation with his "pepper" and has an arm of steel. He is very young, small of stature but game to the core and may yet win a regular berth with Smith's smiters.

ONE WAY TO BEAT THE HIJACKER.

"Hijackers" and "stick-up-men" will quit their profession promptly when it fails to pay. That day will be here when we as a people abandon the stupid but deep rooted habit of "carrying a roll." As it is, the average highwayman is making a pretty safe bet that he will be paid for his trouble if he commands any chance passer-by to "stick-em-up." All the possible victims have to do is put their money to work for them and the nation, instead of fingering it in their pockets; they will not only avoid loss of life, many a resounding crack on the skull, but save their rolls. They can, if they will, put their money where it will not only be safe, but earn them interest, as well as promote the welfare of the nation.

The full pocket is usually overhung by a dense cranium. Otherwise the dollars would be at work. Carry a dollar in your pocket a year and you block your own interests. In circulation it will turn $64 worth of trade in a year, and come back bringing you several cents if you have sense enough to invest it in Government Savings Securities. Don't think just because you have only a few dollars you should lug them about as a constant invitation to slugging highwaymen. You can invest them in perfectly safe securities with tax exemptions, netting you more than 4 per cent. Easy? Certainly! All you have to do is to see the postmaster. Safe? Uncle Sam has never defaulted or delayed a moment paying his debts when they are due. Fluid? Assuredly! Where else can you get your investment back, every penny you put in and interest, too, all without having to hunt up a buyer when you NEED your cash?

Two men occupying adjoining offices started home together. They were robbed on the way. Johnson grins and Wilson groans every time they think about it. It does not require a Sherlock Holmes to tell which had the roll-carrying habit. Now both know the wisdom of making money work, though it cost one a hundred iron men to learn in experience's school. Invest in Government Savings Securities; you "lead us not into temptation." You save both your health and your roll.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

The Woman has a Shut-in friend who lived over in Flatbush, on the ragged edge of that suburb, to be exact. Here and there a brave old farmhouse dating back to Revolutionary days is still determinedly going about its old business of farming. And just as determinedly the very latest things in suburban residences are slowly but surely crawling up closer and closer, encroaching on these last few precious acres of farm land. The Shut-in happens to live in one of the modern houses herself, but from her front windows she may still have a view which might be miles off in God's country somewhere, though in reality it is but three short blocks from the very newest subway to New York.

One afternoon recently the Woman was calling on her friend, and both were sitting at the window referred to busily talking. About two blocks over on the landscape old black and white "Boss," belonging to a farmer down the street, was mooing loudly and frequently. It was milking time, she said; why didn't her master come for her? Growing impatient, she decided to start homeward alone. But around her neck was tied a rope, and the other end of it was securely fastened to the stump of an old uprooted tree. This served the purpose of an anchor and was to remind her not to wander off her pasture grounds.

But "Boss" discovered it was possible to drag her anchor, so off she started, slowly but with bovine placidity. Two blocks along the macadamized street were covered with no great difficulty. Automobiles rushed by the strange outfit, but "Boss" was not to be daunted. Then she reached a turn to the right, and the road lay down an uneven dirt road. Going was not so easy. That unwieldy object which persisted in trailing on behind had a way of burying itself in the ruts in the road. Finally old "Boss" gave up the struggle. She was almost gone anyway; they would just have to come and release her. Setting herself in the middle of the road, she resumed her business of mooing. Soon her efforts were rewarded. The old farmer ran up the street to answer her call, while the "Shut-in" and the Woman breathed a sigh of relief.

As Others See Us.
It's a far cry from the platform of a Fifty-ninth street cross-town car in New York city, with its heterogeneous crowd packed into the minimum of space, and Egypt—and yet for a few minutes the other morning the Woman heard them linked together.

"Why didn't you wait for the next car?" asked a man in strident tones. "This car is packed to the limit. I wouldn't live in this city of yours if you gave it to me. Everybody rushes from one thing to another, half of them dying of nervous prostration. I'm a doctor and I know what I'm talking about. Nobody has any manners."

"Where are you from?" asked the quiet voice of a man wedged next to him.

"Oh, I'm from Chicago and I'm getting out of this place as soon as I can."
"Well, I'm just back from Egypt, where I've been in government service for three years and I quite agree with you about the manners, but I don't confine them to this particular town. When I see boys and men calmly sitting while women hang onto straps I cannot help comparing New York to Egypt, where a man invariably gets up, gives a woman his seat, takes off his hat while doing so and makes a reverence. Reminds me of what the President of Princeton said in his speech to the graduating class this year, 'When a nation ceases to reverence its women it deteriorates.'"

The Woman was tempted to ride beyond her destination just to hear how that controversy would end, but being one of the class that "rush from one thing to another" she had no time.

Little Benny's

Me and Puds Simkins was walking along talking about vacation coming and the high cost of candy and different things, and we passed somebody's front steps with a sissy looking kid setting on them, me saying to Puds, G, look wats setting back there with the big blue necktie on, I bet I could lick him with one hand behind my back and my fingers crossed.

I bet I could lick him so quick he wouldn't know what hit him and he wouldn't have strength enuff left to find out, said Puds.

Lets go back and start to get fresh with him jest to see wat he'll say, I sed.

Wich we went back and started to do, Puds saying, Hello kid, does your mamma know youre out?"

Certainly, sed the kid. Properly not even knowing he was being insulted and I sed, Wats the big flier of the big necktie, kid? Are you trying to hide from somebody?"

Wy? How? Sed the kid. Proving wat a dum kid he was, and Puds sed, Wat would you do if somebody came up and gave you a good bust in the snoot?"

I'd call my brother, sed the sissy looking kid. Wich jest then another kid came out of the house with his cap pulled down tuff, and sissy looking kid say, Hello Bill, these fellows wants to know wat Id do if they gave me a bust in the snoot.

Oh they do, hey? sed the tuff looking kid, and Puds quick sed, we didnt say anything about us giving him a bust in the snoot, all we sed was suppose somebody did, we didnt say us at all nuthing of the kind.

Wich we eddient, and the tuff looking kid sed, Go on, take a walk before I spit in your eye and drown you. Wich we did.

TINKER BOB STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB.

THE STORY OF THE BOB CAT.

"Do tell me what the trouble is with Mr. Muskrat?" said Tinker Bob to Dr. Coon. "When I left the forest he was fit the best of health, and now to hear that he is sick is a great surprise to me." While the King was questioning Dr. Coon, Silky the Monkey was examining the other creatures of the forest who came to see the King. Yes, he looked Billy Mink over and to the surprise of all the others, Billy never even made a motion toward him with an open mouth, as was his custom when any of the forest dwellers molested him.

"Well, I'll tell you all about it," said Dr. Coon. "You see, Mr. Muskrat was getting pretty hungry one day after he had been on a long journey and found no food, so he went down to the river's edge where all of the creatures came for a drink, and what should he spy but the Hunter's trap. Now the Hunter has been setting his trap there all winter and has taken away from the forest some of the creatures who have fine fur, and has sold them in the city.

"Well, when Mr. Muskrat saw the trap he noticed some food on it that he wanted, and it puzzled him to know how he would get it. He knew that if he put his foot in the trap the same thing would happen as before, he would have to stay there and be killed by the Hunter—or chew his foot off and be three legs again. While he was thinking about what could be done, there came to the water's edge one of Snoopy's children. He was a fine looking Bob Cat and was very brave. 'Hello, said he, what are you doing here?' 'I want the food in that trap but I dare not get it,' said Mr. Muskrat. 'You don't need food half so much as I do,' said the Bob Cat, 'guess I'll take it for myself, for I have traveled a long way today and I need something to eat, for it is still a long way to the house of my father.' 'I guess I saw it first,' said Mr. Muskrat, 'and I'll have it if I want it and you cannot stop me.'

"Well O King, you see there was a dangerous situation, and it became worse when Mr. Bob Cat cuffed Mr. Muskrat and sent him rolling down the bank into the water. He came back determined to have the food in that trap and the Bob Cat was determined that he would not have it, so he went to the trap and stepped with his foot on the morsel of food. The trap snapped and Mr. Bob Cat was caught. Now, this made him so angry that he snapped at Mr. Muskrat and nearly bit his nose off. Then you see he took cold and has been in bed ever since. But poor Bob Cat was never seen again, for the Hunter took him away."

"I guess I saw it first," said Mr. Muskrat.

DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS

The dog goods firm at Tickville held a meeting last night to decide whether or to get rid of the weeds in front of their store this spring and summer by chopping them down with a hoe, or put an ad in the paper and let the public tromp them down.

Josephus Daniels Tells Story of American Navy's Exploits in World War

days when men endured long vigils whipped by wind and spray, in those days when sudden death lurked beneath the wave and every gob kissed his sweetheart's picture good-by at least once in twenty-four hours, you can imagine how it heated the grimness and seriousness and deadly oppressiveness of the job to have the comical relief which came when your sub-chaser scudded through the seas calling, "Quack! Quack! Quack!! High-low-jack!" from the wireless; or when some bit of nursery love sounded in your radiophone, such as a reference to "Mary's little lamb," conveying information that the enemy would have given all the beer in Munich to get.

The new code, the words of which were familiar to every American, had the great advantage of being easily remembered by those for whose use it had been devised, and of being utterly undeciphered by the enemy.

Numbers may be confused and are hard to keep in mind, but a line, a verse, a combination of words closely associated in familiar lingo cling to the memory.

The submarine chasers did not have distinctive names like the destroyers, but were designated by numbers—S. C. 121, S. C. 28, S. C. 252 and so on. Wireless telegraphically takes numbers accurately but those who use the wireless telephone at sea have the same trouble in distinguishing numbers and letters as do people using the telephone on land. So, instead of numbers and letters, words were used to designate submarine chasers when telephoning into the ether.

The commander of one group named his boats in jingles and phrases. Three boats constituted a submarine-hunting unit. One set was known as "red-white-blue," another as "corn-meal-mush," and a third as "high-low-jack."

"Quack! Quack! Quack!!" meant "operate at once." It became an amusement with the men to make parodies on Mother Goose and other well-known rhymes. Most of these parodies had to do with the risky job on which they were engaged. Here is one of them, paraphrasing "The Spider and the Fly." "Won't you come into my area?" said the chaser to the sub. "I'll treat you just as kindly as I would a tiger cub; I will listen to your motors, I will catch you without fail. And then I promise I will put some salt upon your tail."

Alphabet in Words.
The use of words instead of letters for the navy flag signals was followed by the sub-chasers generally. Those down at Corfu, for instance guarding the barrage across the Straits of Otranto, and chasing Austrian U-boats had a word for every letter in the alphabet.

The alphabet ran thus. Able, boy, cast, dog, fog, George, have, item, jig, king, love, Mike, Nan, oboe, pup, quack, rot, sail, tars, unit, vice, "Able-boy" was the code to "Take hunt formation, distance 500 yards." Almost any necessary order or information could be transmitted by radiophone by means of this code. Here is a typical instance of how it worked when a submarine was heard: Listener of Boat No. 1 reports: "Submarine 90 degrees."

Executive Officer: "Submarine 123 degrees." Executive reports: "3 (number of wing boats) turbine 112 degrees." Executive reports: "3 (number of other wing boat) submarine 130 degrees." Captain orders: "Course 123 degrees." Executive to radio: "Fox-unit; dog-easy cast."

Executive to listeners: "up-tube." Start Hunt for U-Boat.

At the order "up-tube" the listening tube is raised from its position beneath the vessel; the signal-boy beside the mast hoists the cone, the position of which shows the other boats what the engine of this sub-chaser is doing; the steersman puts the wheel over, and the vessel heads for the estimated locality of the U-boat. All this is done in a moment or two. If the submarine is not located, the captain orders, "Stop!" the executive orders "Down tube!" The tube, which extends through the bottom of the chaser, is lowered, and the listener strives again to hear the sound of the U-boat.

We built over 400 of these little subchasers—110-foot wooden boats. We let the French navy have 50. They all gave a good account of themselves, crossing the ocean under their own power and weathering storms which made heavy going for the big liners. They served in our coast patrol and operated in foreign waters from bases at Queenstown, Plymouth, Brest, Gibraltar and Corfu.

There were thirty-six based on Corfu, whose chief duty it was to guard the entrance to the Adriatic in order to prevent the escape of enemy subs into the Mediterranean, the most dangerous stretch of the long water line of communications which the Allies had to use.

They were part of the Otranto barrage, consisting of mines and three lines of patrol vessels—the first two composed of British destroyers and the third of American subchasers. The Austrians say that barrage accounted for at least six U-boats.

Good Work at Durazzo.
Our subchasers distinguished themselves particularly in their participation in the attack on the Austrian harbor base at Durazzo October 2, 1918. A dozen of them escorted the British and Italian men-of-war, braving the fire of the forts and attacking the U-boats under a rain of shells. They emerged from the conflict unscathed. The following dispatch from the admiral in command of the British Adriatic naval force, with which they operated, gave me a thrill:

"I am most gratified for the valuable service rendered by twelve submarine chasers, under Capt. C. P. Nelson, U. S. N., and Lieutenant-Commander P. D. Bastedo, U. S. N., whom I took the liberty of employing in an operation against Durazzo on October 2. "They screened heavy ships during the bombardments under enemy fire, also apparently destroyed definitely one submarine, which torpedoed H. M. S. Weymouth, and damaged, probably destroyed, another submarine. During the return voyage they assisted in screening H. M. S. Weymouth and in escorting enemy hospital ship which was being brought in for examination. Their conduct throughout was beyond praise. They all returned safely without casualties. They thoroughly enjoyed themselves."

Relates Thrilling Experience.
The most thrilling experience belongs probably to S.C. 28, one of the fifty we turned over to France; Alexis Puluhen commanded the S.C. 28. It was manned by French sailors. In a storm on the night of Jan. 16, 1918, it disappeared. Its sister ships weathered the gale, but it was missing when the sky cleared.

On Feb. 18, a month and two days later, we heard from it at the Azores, crew and commander safe and well. Puluhen tells a story of danger and hardship. Their engines broke down. Drifting helplessly in the white-capped sea they kept watch for some friendly craft. Two steamers were sighted that same night and signaled, but to no avail. The S.C. 28 was leaking and the pumps had to be kept going constantly. Next day they saw the mast of a vessel in the distance, and fired a salvo, but the vessel fled. They tried to start the engines, but had no lubricating oil. They used all the salad oil and butter. It was no use. The dynamo burned out. The radio would not work. They took the boat's linen and made sails of it—a fore-and-aft mainsail, a staysail and a "leg-of-mutton" sail at the small foremast. The crew was put on the smallest rations; drinking water was doled out. So, catching a breeze, they sailed east. They were able to make about four miles an hour.

Gets Help at Last.
They sailed for a month. They saw other ships, but no ship dared to let them get near. Doubtless they were feared as some new trick of the treacherous enemy. Soon after dawn on Feb. 18, Puluhen sighted land. About noon he recognized it as Fayal, and hoisted the signal "YP"—"I need a tug." A tug came out and bowed him into Horta. The S.C. 28, after undergoing repairs, took up its journey, and a little later, but far better late than never, assumed its place with the other American-built chasers patrolling the French coast. What better tribute could there be to the seaworthiness of these little boats or the heroism and resource of the men who manned them? Are You Pale? Thin? Weak? Enrich Your Blood!

Read this carefully: If your blood were rich and wholesome, you would not be pale; if your blood were rich and nourishing, you would not be thin; if your blood were rich and vigorous, filled with red corpuscles, you would not be weak.

Poor, disordered blood is responsible for a host of ills and weaknesses. If you would attain ruddy health, a robust body, and muscular strength, you must first provide yourself with that which builds all these—a rich, wholesome, nourishing blood supply! Any doctor will tell you that.

REAL "HONEST-TO-GOODNESS" SALE

JUST A WORD TO OUR MANY CUSTOMERS

—Regarding our sales manager. We have placed our $60,000 stock of Dry Goods in charge of J. F. Garber for the next ten days. Mr. Garber has had 25 years experience in the merchandise business; he is a man that knows every department of a Dry Goods store. He knows how to buy them, how to sell them. Mr. Garber has had the management of many successful sales throughout the country. He is known as a man who enjoys real hot competition. He is a business getter—One who appreciates the good will of his customers. A man that will not misrepresent anything and will give you facts concerning quality or information regarding the goods he sells. You'll be astonished at the low prices Mr. Garber has made on this stock of goods. WE WANT TO RAISE $20,000 IN THE NEXT TEN DAYS—We need it, Mr. Garber says he can get it and if low prices mean anything to you—He'll do it.

IS

BELIEVING

—And when you attend this sale you'll say it's everything we say it is—

A REAL HONEST-TO-GOODNESS SALE

—Yes, this is just a REAL, HONEST-TO-GOODNESS SALE. No Flim-Flam, Hot Air at all. It is just as J. M. White & Co. have told you, they must raise money. They, as well as others, got caught in the bank failures at Leeray and the First National Bank of Ranger. If J. M. White & Co. had the real cash, that is so far a loss, they would never stand for such a slaughtering of high grade merchandise as I am giving you. This old, reliable firm is well known in the oil fields as the home of high class merchandise at reasonable prices. Say, did you ever see a sale that did not make "special prices" on out of season goods—Blankets or Overcoats—when the sun is so hot a chunk of ice tastes like hot soup? I will give you a ten dollar gold piece if any clerk tries to sell you Blankets, Furs, or out of season goods. If you want winter goods, you can get them by asking to see them. This is a real "Honest-to-Goodness" Sale—No unloading of shoddy, left-over merchandise. You'll say it's a bona fide bargain feast from the first day to the last. I will not close the store to mark up goods and then down. But the night before this sale starts I will mark everything down, down, and then down; and if its not down enough, I'll mark it down some more until it looks good to me—and when it looks good to me, you'll say it looks good to you. Everything will be cut and slashed according to the prices given below.

SWATTERS ARE READY FOR FRAY

(Continued From Page Three.) and Henry Baldrige, Earl Fleaharty, Herbert Wayland, Gresset, Johnston and Richburg, to pitch him to a pennant. Both the Baldriges, Richburg, Gresset and Johnston are more or less known in West Texas league circles and all have shown much stuff to date. Wayland, a right-hander who can hit as well as pitch, is without professional experience but gives promise of developing into a very dependable hurler. Fleaharty, also a right-hander, has performed in many leagues, including the major, Pacific Coast, Southern and Texas. A wise and crafty pitcher who has retained much of his stuff and ought, with the coming of hot weather, prove a winning hurler for Popboy.

Optimistic. The team will take the field against Mineral Wells Wednesday without a sore spot, either mentally or physically, and under the guidance of Pilot Pop, they are expected to hold their own against all comers. Neither Manager Smith nor President Neal will make any predictions as to where the team will finish but both are extremely optimistic and will be content with

CISCO BUILDS TEAM AROUND THREE PLAYERS

Scouts leave tonight for Abilene with a team that looks good from every angle, if paper records and past performances are worth anything at all. Strength in fielding, strength in hitting, well organized teamwork, and efficient management are the four cardinal points that go to make any team a winner and a close analysis of the material Manager "Joss" Billings has lined up for the opening game bears them all out.

The backbone of the team, Griesenbeck, catcher, Flag, shortstop, and Bratcher, outfielder, are in the finest of condition and workouts on the home diamond and exhibition games with strong, independent teams show them to be even better than last season. Using this group as a foundation, Billings has built an organization that is certain for a berth in the first division. Westfall, catcher and utility outfielder, was one of the heaviest hitters in the Copper league; in Arizona, last season. Haislip, first baseman and pitcher, is too well known for comment. His long experience in the T-O. league, and as manager of independent teams places him at the top. Earnshaw, considered the surest fielding second baseman in the West Texas league last year is back, looking better than ever. Brooks, on third, is not only a fielding marvel, but has proven his ability with the hickory. Flagg, on short, needs no introduction to West Texas fans. Having rid himself of a

EAGLES RELY ON MAINSTAYS OF LAST YEAR

ABILENE, April 20. - The arrival of Gomez Hill from Dallas and "Speck" Comstock from Wichita Falls, Monday morning puts a new aspect on the hopes of the Eagles to make history repeat itself this year. "Gomez" arrived on the morning train in time to be out for the afternoon practice. The right-handed lad, who was rated last year as the best hurler in the West Texas league, has been trying out with the Marines since March 1 and Gomez comes back to the Eagles with a string attached for more seasoning.

Comstock, the release from the Spudders has the reputation of being able to hit .250 with right or left handed besides being able to play a consistent game in the infield. He will likely dislodge some of the boys who are out for the sacks.

Kizzier, who hit .295 for the Eagles last year will play the initial sack and is at present rated as clean-up man in the batting order. Kizzy has been leading them in the exhibition games and looks good for another hitch. Grady White, also of last year's team, will stop them at second. He is the field manager of the nine, having succeeded Bugs Young at the job last year.

Etheridge has been trying out at third, but will have some opposition from Comstock. The latter will also worry Sam Sain who is out for short. Kemper is going pretty strong for utility man.

Two Old Gardeners.

The outfield will have two of the old boys back. Bechtel in center has been losing the ball in practice games and Bob Miam, left fielder, looks like a cinch. Hendrix in right is a rookie from Gladewater. He has not as yet shown any signs of remarkable ability, but it is possible that he will be retained. He is not so strong on sacking them as he should be.

For a hurling staff, White has developed a variety of artists. Among the rookies for this season are C. R. Brown and Big Bill Hollis, who are perhaps the best material so far. When Gomez Hill bumps one of the rookies, the choice will lie between Bart Green from Vermont and Gomer Wilson, a southpaw from Hamlin. All of the pitchers who are out for the job are right handers except Wilson.

Another Vet.

Pat Crowson of last year's staff is on the job again and none the worse troublesome skin disease which seriously handicapped him last year, he is back and looking like class B material. Bratcher, Grider and Beard, in the outfield, are all strong hitters and fast on foot.

The pitching staff is as good, if not better, than the best. Billings, Johnson and Cruise, right-handers who were successful last year, are showing marked improvements. Henkle, left hander, recruited from Stephens county, is a wonder and should set the league afire. Munger, another southpaw, obtained from the Houston club of the Texas league, is also showing good form and nice control.

While of course it is entirely too early for any sane man to make positive predictions, the Scouts chances as a first division team seem not to be disputed by the severest of critics. At any rate, local fans may look for a high class entertainment when attending games. After a three game series with Abilene, beginning Wednesday, Cisco returns home for the opening game with San Angelo, Saturday, April 23rd.

FREE BASEBALL TICKETS FOR DYED-IN-THE WOOL FANS

—How well do you know the names of the baseball players in the big leagues?

—This page of baseball puzzles will test your baseball knowledge. Two grandstand seats good for all the ball games played here will be given to the fan who hands in the neatest correct answer to each of the puzzles on this page.

—TEN SINGLE ADMISSION TICKETS will be given those who submit the next ten neatest correct answers.

—EACH SET OF ANSWERS MUST be accompanied by twenty-five words or less on this subject. "Which is the most interesting advertisement on this page and why?"

—Every advertiser on this page is a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan and it is through their co-operation that the Daily Times makes this generous offer.

—Contest closes April 21st.

—Contest open to anyone except employes of this newspaper and their families. Address your answers to the Baseball Puzzle Manager. Bring or mail them to the office of the Daily Times. In case of a tie, both contestants tying will receive equal awards.

—The answer to the first puzzle is "BABE RUTH."

Now go ahead and solve the rest of the puzzles. Read each advertisement carefully for hints. If you find that some of these puzzles are stickers, call on the advertisers and ask them for help. Remember neatness and cleverness will count. This is a contest of skill and knowledge.

A SURE HIT—

—A lady and gentleman came into our place for dinner. The house was full as is often the case—not an empty seat. Said the lady, "Let's go some place where it isn't so crowded," which, of course, is easy to find.

"No," said the gentleman, "there is such a crowd here there must be something good." So they waited a moment and were seated. He was right.
