RANGER AND TAMPICO MAY BE CONNECTED

Plan Is to Extend Frisco From Brady or Menard to Border.

BY ERNEST W. SPARKS.

BRADY, April 16.—The Frisco railroad will be extended from Brady or Menard to some point on the Mexican border, thus giving Ranger direct connection with the Tampico oil fields, if plans mature at a meeting to be held here May 5 to consider ways and means for the extension. The meeting has been called by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and it is expected that many persons will be here from various sections through which the proposed extension may pass. Four tentative routes have been selected and will probably be considered at the meeting. However, routes is not the real object for the conference, if plans mature this will be left to the railroad company. The primary purpose is to consider right-of-ways, bonuses and other such details. If these can be supplied it is said here that the railroad is ready to start preliminary surveys.

Persons who are in touch with the situation from both angles say that the Frisco is strongly in favor of the extension provided satisfactory arrangements can be made as to right-of-ways, station grounds, bonuses and other such necessary elements to railroad building. The most favored route if it is left to the people will be from Menard to Del Rio. This is also the shortest and most direct way to the border. It also has the added advantage of making a connection with a Mexican railway that is now building into that place.

The Mexican railway is building through Monterey and will give direct transportation from Del Rio to Tampico.

If the route is selected Ranger will also have connection with the Mexican oil by virtue of the Hamon road. The extension has been agitated by Brady and Menard folks for years, and it is now thought certain that it will go through since the country which it will traverse is growing richer each year and offers some good business for the common carrier that taps it.

MEXICANS DEPART TO STUDY WAR METHODS

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 16.—Military commissions have left Mexico for the United States and European countries to study the methods of modern warfare, according to news received in Juarez from the capital. The department of war and marine is anxious to study the various systems employed by other countries in raising emergency armies, the reports said, and the commissions have been instructed to give special attention to this feature.

New Building Material.

GALVESTON, April 16.—Kieselguhr, a light and porous silica, found in great quantities in many states, is an ideal building material for homes, according to experiments recently conducted by Leopold Pollack, a Hungarian, according to the latter's letter to H. O. Sappington, mayor of Galveston. The Hungarian wrote relative to the establishment of a plant here and claimed that a block of twenty-two residences built as an experiment in Budapest, had proved a success, the houses being cool in summer and warm in winter.

MOB HANGS MOTHER-IN-LAW OF LYNCHED NEGRO SLAYER

JACKSON, Miss., April 16.—The body of Rachael Moore, negro, was found early today hanging to the limb of a tree in Rankin county, fifteen miles from here. The woman was the mother-in-law of Sandy Thompson, who last Monday was lynched for the murder of E. B. Dodson. The authorities expressed belief she also was a victim of mob violence.

FRANCE CALLS UP TWO CLASSES TO INVAD GERMAN TERRITORY

By WEBB MILLER. United Press Correspondent. PARIS, April 16.—Complete plans for military and economic coercion of Germany on May 1 were submitted to the Allies today by Premier Briand. The plans, which were drawn up at a conference last night of Briand, President Millerand, Marshals Foch and Petain, and Minister of Liberated Regions Locaux, included occupation of the Ruhr district and possibly industrial Westphalia. Upon Foch's recommendations it was decided to recall the military classes of 1918 and 1919 for three months. The marshal expressed the belief that 100,000 men were "sufficient to keep the German in check." Locaux presented a customs scheme whereby France would obtain 3,000,000,000 marks annually from the Ruhr. In submitting the plan to the Allies for approval, Briand emphasized that France demands definite guarantees and is not disposed to listen to further German promises.

CADDO PLEDGES ITS SUPPORT TO ROAD PROJECT

Pledges of support to the Ranger-Caddo road were made yesterday by Caddo citizens when the good roads committee visited there and conferred with business men.

The Caddo people promised to raise $2,000 as their quota for the work, after considerable discussion which aligned the viewpoint of the two towns. Some of the Caddo people objected to the road on the ground that it would mean Ranger would draw trade away from them. The Ranger delegation pointed out that this would not be the case, however, as people do not go away to buy articles in general use and for which there is a demand everywhere. What Ranger seeks, Caddo was assured, is a widening of its wholesale business and greater opportunity to sell things which might not be kept at Caddo. It also was pointed out that more people would come to Caddo in order to get on the good road.

At the end of the discussion, an agreement was reached and Mayor Johnson and F. J. Bolenger were appointed as a committee to raise Caddo's quota. The Ranger men returned here about 3 o'clock, thus proving that the trip is not impossible, provided one is equipped with sufficient natural padding to weather the bumps. And it was a weighty committee. Davenport, Burt, Johnson and Waggoman couldn't make the lightweight limit with an ex.

GUARANTY BANK AT BRECKENRIDGE TO BE REOPENED SOON

BRECKENRIDGE, April 16.—Information reached Breckenridge today that plans are being formulated in Austin which will assure the reopening of the Guaranty State bank in this city at an early date. The information was in the form of a message signed by Charles E. Gaudis, former vice-president of the closed bank, but gave no hint as to the nature of the proposed plan.

VESSEL, VETERAN OF SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR, ORDERED SOLD

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 16.—The Scorpion, veteran of the Spanish-American war, interned here when the United States joined the allies and now Admiral Bristol's flagship, has been ordered sold by the navy department. The Scorpion has been stationed here much of the time since 1908 when she became a dispatch boat for the American embassy. She is a converted yacht.

PEGGY HOPKINS SUED BY THIRD MILLIONAIRE.

James Stanley Joyce, multi-millionaire lumber king, has come to the end of his romance with Peggy Hopkins, former "Follies" girl, whom he married at Miami, Fla., Jan. 23, 1920. Joyce wants back his freedom and the fortune he gave her in money, jewels and property. Through his attorneys, Joyce filed suit in the Chicago superior court to annul his marriage to the much-married Peggy. In the suit he names numerous co-respondents, socially prominent in America and Europe. Peggy, who has been the wife of two other multi-millionaires, is charged with marrying Joyce for his money and with being the wife of Philbrook Hopkins at the time she married Joyce.

Story to Be Filmed Here Will Herald Ranger's Fame Abroad as World's "4th Great Door"

Kipling tells us that there are three great doors in the world, where, if you stand long enough, you shall meet anyone you wish. The head of the Suez canal is one, but there Death comes also. Charing Cross station is the second, and Myanga Docks is the third. That was years ago, when England was the clearing house of nations. Today there is a fourth great door where men and women may stand and await those who will eventually pass through. The entire affair from beginning to end was so sensational and remarkable that it has been converted into story form, and will be shown in a feature motion picture. A great many of the scenes will of course, be taken in Ranger. And Ranger will become known all over the world through the medium of the movies as "The Fourth Great Door."

took him through ten states. After he had spent his entire fortune in a fruitless quest of seven years, he took his cue from Kipling and came to Ranger. For Ranger is the fourth great door. Kipling was right. Craig worked at anything he could find to do, and waited. And one day, a little way out on the Caddo road, he suddenly came face to face with the man he was supposed to have murdered. The entire affair from beginning to end was so sensational and remarkable that it has been converted into story form, and will be shown in a feature motion picture. A great many of the scenes will of course, be taken in Ranger. And Ranger will become known all over the world through the medium of the movies as "The Fourth Great Door."

2 HOMES BURN; LOSS IS $5,000; NO INSURANCE

The homes of Earl Richardson and O. F. Webb, 158 and 162 Annabelle street, were completely destroyed by fire last night, with the exception of some bedclothing from the Webb home. The loss is about $5,000, with no insurance. Belief that the fire was of incendiary origin is advanced by neighbors. They are agreed that the fire started in the garage attached to the Richardson home, and spread from there to the Webb house. The Richardsons had gone to Breckenridge on the Friday afternoon train and the house was unoccupied. Mr. Webb is reported to have used the Richardson Ford car and when he locked it up Friday night chained the wheels. It is believed a would-be thief set fire to the building after he found the car could not be moved, either accidentally or through exasperation. This makes two fires, with four buildings destroyed or badly damaged, within three days, and all without insurance. After the Rusk street fire Wednesday night, a Mexican was arrested for investigation, but was turned loose when his connection could not be established.

NOTE RECORDS HOW ONE MIGHT FEEL IF DYING BY INHALING OF GAS

J. L. Gee, an employe at the Texas & Pacific depot, was found in his room back of the Legion hotel, about midnight last night, with a rubber gas tube held to his nose. A fellow roomer became alarmed and looked in seeing Gee lying on the floor. He put on a bathrobe and hustled out after an officer, finding Patrolman Floyd Daniels. A doctor was summoned and Gee was removed to the Clinical hospital in an unconscious condition. He was revived by the use of oxygen and returned to his home the same night. Gee is said to have been found lying on the floor, with the rubber hose held to his nostrils by one hand and a pencil in the other. Beside him was a note, covering parts of two sheets of hotel stationery. It was not addressed to anyone and was unsigned. It read as follows: "I am beginning to feel dizzy and it's pleasant so far. No hurt yet after five minutes. 'I shut it off and my head roars quiet a bit and I am sleepy and I feel like resting which I need. I am drowsy and when the room gets full I shall rest in peace, sweet peace.' The last word became scrawly and was barely finished.

TWO TOWNS GONE!

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 16.—Reports trickling into Birmingham over badly crippled wires of communication indicate that the town of Ralph, Tuscaloosa county, was almost completely destroyed by a tornado at 8 o'clock today and that Sulligent, Lamar county, suffered a like fate.

EIGHTEEN DEAD!

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 16.—With eighteen dead, three score or more injured, ten fatally, the terrific storm which girdled Miller county late Friday afternoon, sweeping northeast, reports of the tornado are regarded as incomplete.

Every available doctor and nurse in Texarkana and willing citizens answered the emergency calls which began filtering through when at the storm's height S. O. S. calls reached here before the wires failed. The path of the storm is one of desolation today and harrowing tales of devastation were brought here by relief workers.

Skirting Texarkana by a narrow margin the full brunt of the storm apparently struck the Trigenta community three miles north of here which was practically razed by the twister. Shloh, seven miles northeast, is a heap of wreckage and darkened the relief workers last night. Many injured being located by cries of the suffering.

THRILLING ESCAPE

NASHVILLE, Ark., April 16.—How he clung to a locomotive cab amid a rain of wreckage while the tornado which swept southwestern Arkansas, picked cars loaded with cotton from his combination freight and passenger train near Washington was told here today by E. W. Mills, engineer for the Missouri Pacific.

The train containing two passenger cars completely filled, was making its afternoon trip over the Missouri Pacific branch line from Nashville to Hope when the storm roared down without warning. Mills clung to one side of the cab while Fireman Fairfield clung to the other. Broken glass cut their faces and they were bruised and battered as they were whipped against parts of the locomotive, and wreckage struck them about the face and body.

"Two freight cars were picked out of the train," said Mills. "The locomotive rocked and nearly went over several times. Windows were torn from the passenger coaches and crashed over passengers. Not a one of them was seriously hurt. It was miraculous.

"All about us was wreckage and flying timbers. Those in the path had little warning and the tornado swept buildings to debris. "The storm ended almost as suddenly as it started."

Mills and Fairfield pulled what was left of their train back to Nashville. Several times they stopped to clear the track of wreckage.

WOMAN KILLED!

BROOK HAVEN, Miss., April 16.—An unidentified woman was killed and twelve persons injured in a tornado which struck Sontage, sixteen miles east of here, today. Ten homes were demolished.

WANDERER LAUGHS

CHICAGO, April 16.—Carl Wanderer laughed today when he was sentenced to be hanged June 17th for the murder of the "ragged stranger" whom he hired to stage a fake holdup to hide the murder of his girl wife. Judge Davis pronounced sentence.

3 Arkansas Towns Wiped Out; Death and Ruin Prevail

Sever: Killed in Wood, Gregg, Cass and Bowie Counties, Texas; Jumps Into Arkansas, Where it Takes Toll of Twenty.

DALLAS, April 16.—Latest yet meager reports from tornado-swept sections in Northeastern Texas indicate the storm took at least seven lives there late yesterday in Wood, Gregg, Cass and Bowie counties, passing later into Miller and Hemstead counties, Ark., where more than a score of persons are reported killed. A score of persons are reported injured in Texas fatalities, at Avinger, Cass county, and one at Atlanta. Reports from Little Rock, Ark., state the death list is rapidly growing and may exceed fifty in the total area affected. Texarkana reports eighteen known dead. Telephonic communication in the devastated area is paralyzed and relief parties are scouring the storm-stricken sections.

WORST IN YEARS.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Hurricanes and blizzards scourged the Middle West today, taking a heavy toll of life and spreading misery and destruction over an extensive area. The worst storm in years swept into the Mississippi Valley from the west, lashing the states from the Great Lakes to Texas. Communication and transportation were paralyzed.

Southwestern Arkansas and Eastern Texas were the hardest hit. A tornado which swept through that district killed nearly forty, mostly negroes, and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars property damage.

SIXTY DEAD.

HOPE, Ark., April 16.—Death in the shape of whirling winds ravaged northeast Texas and southwest Arkansas late yesterday, claiming at least sixty lives. Two hundred were injured and more than $1,000,000 property was damaged.

Latest unofficial reports indicate the death toll as follows: Hemstead county, Ark., 37 dead. Cass county, Texas, 11 dead. Miller county, Ark., 12 dead. The Arkansas towns of Dolph, Washington, Marlbrook, and Blevins were reported practically demolished. A score of plantations were wiped out. Rescue parties toiled in the ruins searching for more victims and aiding the injured. Indications were the death list would grow as rescuers reached outlying plantations. An entire family of six was reported killed on the Jones plantation near Texarkana.

Details of the storm were meager. Communication was demoralized. Pleas for help were received at Hope. All the doctors and nurses and hundreds of citizens have left for the stricken area. Injured were being brought here in autos and other vehicles were carrying supplies into the stricken territory. Weeks will be required to get the roads cleared. Telephone and telegraph lines were down.

3 DIE AT ATLANTA, TEX.

ATLANTA, Texas, April 16.—Three persons are known to be dead and several injured in the O'Farrell community near here as a result of last night's tornado, according to reports here today. W. E. Henderson, white, and two negroes are the dead. The storm struck in the west part of the town of Linden, travelled north-easterly, striking at O'Farrell, northwest of here, destroyed the Spencer schoolhouse, demolished the Cook lumber camp, and continued on northeastward.

RUSH RELIEF.

TEXARKANA, Texas, April 16.—Physicians, nurses, citizens and other relief were being rushed to storm-stricken communities in northeastern Texas and southwest Arkansas today. With farms laid bare, plantations razed and parts of small towns damaged, reports of deaths and injuries filtering in were meager because of havoc played with communication by the erratic twister. Estimates of deaths continue to range from a score to a possible forty and the number injured from scores to hundreds. While the tornado was reported to

BRITISH LABOR ON ITS KNEES, PAPER ASSERTS

LONDON, April 16.—A conference of delegates of the Miners' federation and representatives of all the coal districts in the kingdom, at which the coal strike is to be considered, has been fixed for next Friday. Work will not be resumed at any coal fields in the meantime. Labor forces of the country today were apparently broken as a result of refusal by the transport workers Friday to continue support of the strike. Opinion prevails in some quarters that the action means the death of the "Triple Alliance." The laborite Herald today stated, "Yesterday was the heaviest defeat that has ever befallen labor within the memory of man."

SCOTT NICHOLS SLAYER MUST DO 99 YEARS

FORT WORTH, April 16.—Ninety-nine years in the state penitentiary is the sentence imposed on Clarence A. Patency, convicted of the murder of Scott Nichols, Western Union telegraph operator, on Feb. 8. The jury brought in its verdict 9:20 Friday night, after being since 4:35 Friday afternoon.

NEW DAY DAWNS FOR FARM LIFE FOLLOWING WAR

Bureau Says Agriculture Must Remain World's Greatest Basic Industry.

DALLAS, April 16.—"The agricultural problem must be settled on a basis of business rather than sentiment, and whatever may be the course and outcome of the period of reconstruction we are now experiencing, agriculture must remain the greatest basic industry in the world. But before agriculture can come into its own, before the foundations of our own country can be properly strengthened, work and the attractions of rural life can be improved—the farmer must receive a reward commensurate with his effort and responsibility."

The foregoing conclusion is drawn in an article discussing the present day agricultural problems and their relation to the general welfare of the nation, just issued by the American Farm Bureau Federation. After discussing fully all phases of the problem a paragraph or two is devoted to "The New Farm Life," as follows:

"Country life must be raised out of the monotony. It is not enough that a farmer should be able to make money. His life should be personally satisfactory.

Popularizing Agriculture.

"The new farm life will provide for better wages; better distribution of work and working hours; educational advantages will be largely eliminated by up-to-date methods; steps will be taken to furnish recreations and amusements; the social side of rural life will receive more attention than formerly.

"Although the world's immediate need for food is indeed serious, a broad consideration of the problem involves the matter of popularizing agriculture and country life for all time to come. Such a movement, if it is to be effective must be conducted unselfishly, giving due consideration to each and every group and class that make up our nation. Furthermore, it must be conducted along conservative lines. We must interest ourselves with putting rural life on a more attractive and higher plane rather than depreciating the real attractions of other society.

Rural Advantages.

"It is up to the farmer individually and collectively to boost his business. Agriculture must be advertised. The American public must be sold on the business of farming. There are very few real advantages of the city that cannot be brought to the ruralist, but the basic, fundamental advantages of free life in God's open country can never be transplanted into the city except to a very limited degree. In the final analysis, the farmer has the upper hand. Agriculture is the most stable of all industries. Wars may devastate, panics may bankrupt, markets may become stagnant, but the farmer continues to live more or less as usual."

But farming must be made profitable, for sociological improvements cannot be effected without money, it is explained. "Nor can the profits of farming be assured until the farmer asserts himself in the matter of establishing the prices of farm products."

Facing New Era.

"City schools should give more attention to rural problems and the farmer boy must be trained to see through the superficial veneer of city life and at the same time profit by anything that he may learn from the city.

"We are facing the dawn of a new era in agriculture—farming has evolved into a profession requiring the best brains and skill. The farmer will no longer be looked upon in a different light from the city man. The barriers between the city and farm life will be wiped out and the doors will be swung wide open. The future of American agriculture lies in the direction of making farm life more attractive from the social standpoint and while the development of a more satisfying rural society must depend largely on the activity of the country people themselves, nevertheless, the city may render a distinct service in the work of improving the social conditions in the country. The aim of any country life movement should be in the direction of popularizing farming, making rural civilization as effective and as satisfying as other civilization. As cities increase proportionately in population, the farmer assumes greater relative importance and food will be the biggest factor in world economies for many years to come."

BRADY FOLKS HARASSED BY RABBIT PEST

Farmers and Stockmen Suffer Much Loss by Rapidly Increasing Hordes.

By ERNEST W. SPARKS.

BRADY, Texas, April 16.—Farmers and stockmen of this community are viewing the increased rabbit progeny with almost the same alarm as they did the insweeping hordes of grasshoppers of a few years ago, which left hundreds of fields bare by destroying all vegetation as they came. Rabbits, always numerous, are increasing in such numbers that they are on the verge of becoming a positive plague, and in the past year they have destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of growing vegetation, both on the farms and in the fields.

Multiply Rapidly.

One female rabbit will rear perhaps a dozen offspring every twelve months and there is nothing to keep them from multiplying by the hundreds. In the past the wolves and skunks could be depended upon to keep them down to a minimum, but in recent years nearly every wolf has been killed out of the county by the farmers and stockmen carrying on a ceaseless war against them. Now it appears as though the rabbits would take a greater toll than the wolves ever did, and at present there appears no feasible plan to rid the county of them.

Every spring drives are organized and thousands are killed, but residents say that this does not seem to lessen their number.

A Morning's Kill.

Some idea of the enormous number of rabbits in the county may be gained by a story that has been verified. Victor Wolf, a farmer and stockman living on the edge of town, was plowing recently and his terrier was accompanying him. The dog went away and in the course of the forenoon laid ten dead rabbits at his master's feet. Curiosity getting the better of Mr. Wolf he went to investigate. He found that the dog had chased the animals into a hollow tree until it was so full no more could get in. However, he continued chasing others and they would make for the same tree, but could only find room for their head and forequarters, thus falling an easy victim to the terrier. Wolf, on cleaning out the hollow, killed three additional animals, making a total of thirteen for the morning.

200 in Five Miles.

The traveler going down the country roads is positively amazed at the numbers of the rabbits that can be seen. In the course of a five-mile drive the writer counted 200 in the fields and pastures.

It is estimated that fifty jackrabbits will consume as much vegetation as one full grown cow, and it is not hard to imagine what one cow would do in a field if allowed to roam at will during the growing season, and rabbits cannot be fenced out as is the case with cattle.

Farmers do keep them out of their gardens by burying net wire for a depth of a foot or more, but quite often they burrow under it.

Destructive Capacity.

It is conservative to say that during the coming year the rabbit crop will do as much damage in the fields as would 1,000 cows if allowed to roam.

MOBLEY GOES TO K. C. MEETINGS TO CONTINUE

Ernest C. Mobley, the nationally famous speaker who has been giving a series of evangelistic lectures at the Christian tabernacle on Main street, has been called to Kansas City and may not return.

However, the revival will be continued, with Rev. Arthur Jones of Eastland doing the preaching and the music being conducted by Mrs. Charles Smith. Mrs. Smith is noted for her voice. The subject of Rev. Mr. Jones' message Sunday will be "Loyalty."

FIREMEN WILL MAKE BENEFIT BALL A REGULAR HUMDINGER

Jazz with variations will be the motto at the Firemen's benefit ball, set for Monday night, April 25. The variations will be furnished by the firemen, in a series of indoor drills, showing those not in the know how they slide down the pole, hook and ladder and hose drills and other interesting features of the hazardous occupation. The music will be furnished by the best orchestra obtainable. The event will be held at the Central Fire station, which will be all primped up for the occasion.

Proceeds from the ball will go to the firemen's relief fund, which has been depleted through sickness and accidents to members. Accidents, in fact, are a part of the job. There is seldom a fire of any magnitude that someone is not more or less hurt. This being the case, the firemen believe that folks will want to kick in on meeting the doctor bills. For firemen must eat as well as pay the M. D.'s.

They seek to raise the money by the ball, which will at the same time give them an opportunity to entertain their friends in their own home.

Tickets can be obtained from Chief Ruttomer or any of the firemen. The price, one bone. "You'll miss it if you miss it," is their unqualified assertion.

MEN REBUILD STOLEN CAR "UNDER THE GUN" DEPUTY GETS REWARD

BRECKENRIDGE, April 16.—Bert Howard and O'Neal Clifton were placed in jail here last night after a day spent in rigging up a dismantled automobile under the direction of a deputy sheriff. They face a charge of stealing the car and throwing the chassis in the creek after they had stripped it of all removable parts. Incidentally, the deputy who presided for a day as superintendent of an assembling plant, collected a reward of $100 offered for the stolen car.

The men were apprehended in a shack where the parts of the stolen car were found, after which the deputy stood over them and compelled them to assemble the car under his direction.

A Fund of Information That You Should Have

DISRAELI, who for six years was prime minister of England, said: "It has been my observation that the most successful man in any undertaking, is the man who has the most information."

It doesn't require any particular information just to go out and buy something. But to buy the best of that something at a price that is satisfactory to you—that is a successful purchase. And to make successful purchases you must have information.

Advertising gives you just that kind of information. It tells you where to go in order to get the best of anything you want at a fair price.

That is why it is a paying proposition for the man or woman who handles a pocketbook to study the advertisements in this newspaper—regularly—every day.

To those who use it properly, newspaper advertising is a source of economy and satisfaction that never runs dry. It is a watch-dog of dollars—a guarantee of satisfaction.

If you would learn the facts about the things you need to make you comfortable and happy,

FANS STILL HAVE CHANCE TO KICK IN ON BALL PARK

With the opening day next Saturday, the baseball bag holders—more commonly known as the directors—hope to establish two records here.

One of these is the winning of President Morris' cup, given to the city in the league having the largest attendance on opening day.

The other is to thoroughly establish the fact that the Nitros belong to the community and is not an enterprise for the few.

There will be no campaign to sell these tickets, it is understood, but they will be on sale at downtown places and at the baseball offices.

Everyone who wants to get in for 75 cents can do so, and will be heartily welcome.

If Ranger folk appreciate baseball, this is a good chance for them to prove it.

SLEEPY STUDENTS MUST BE DIPLOMATS

(By International News Service.) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 16.—Harvard is trying efficiency on its "koodies."

The latter are the women who fix up the rooms in the college dormitories and the late sleeper feels the effect.

Rumor has it that the "koodies" must report late sleepers and that some of the marathons snorers of the Harvard continent have been caught.

NITROS' LINEUP IS EXPECTED TO START SEASON

Today's game between the Strawn Miners and the Nitros was called off on account of the heavy wind.

Tomorrow the Texas & Pacific team of Fort Worth is here for a game. The railroaders last year mopped up on the amateur teams in their section and this year are said to have nearly the same lineup.

The Nitros who play Sunday will be in nearly every position the ones who start the flag race next Wednesday at San Angelo.

The seats behind the plate go to the fans who get there first.

Nitro Notes

"Dad" Harper, the ex-T. O. leaguer, who has been on the Nitro squad from the start and would have remained at least until the player limit went into effect, drew release yesterday at his own request.

Sled was considered, more especially as "Dad" only fits into the combination if Mathis hands the first base job. Besides that, he is an old player, good enough for class D, but with no chance to go up, and in the bottom-most circuits of baseball, it pays to keep the fellows who stand a chance of adding side money to the exchequer through sales.

However, Sled still has an ace in the hole—one Mr. Harding. Tommy is a versatile athlete, though he has one fault which keeps him from being a pitcher, so Jack York says.

But he is said to Jack's credit that that cuts no figure. He—and all the boys, for that matter—likes Ranger, and they want to see the Nitros succeed, whether they help or not.

As a matter of fact, the complexion of that infield depends considerably, it would appear, upon how forcefully Murphy, Hale and Mathis pound the pill. If Hale should show a weakness with the willow, for instance, or Murphy and Mathis was showing up rather well, it is highly probable that Mr. Harding will do the cavoring.

But he is said to Jack's credit that that cuts no figure. He—and all the boys, for that matter—likes Ranger, and they want to see the Nitros succeed, whether they help or not.

Hitting ability is one thing that cannot be determined in batting practice. For neither pitcher nor batter is performing as he would in a game.

Southpaw Battle. CINCINNATI, April 16.—Eppa Rixey lost a tight southpaw battle to Hamilton of Pittsburgh here Friday.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cincinnati 000 000 030—3 7 2. Cincinnati 000 000 100—1 4 0.

Batteries—Hamilton, Yellowhorse and Schmidt; Rixey, Napier and Hargrave.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Indians Win Again. ST. LOUIS, April 16.—Cleveland staked the Browns to a four-run lead in the first inning Friday, then went out and grabbed the game by a top-heavy score.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cleveland 020 012 302—10 14 2. St. Louis 400 000 000—4 12 3.

Batteries—Barby and O'Neill; Davis, Boehler and Severeid.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Two home runs featured the Washington attack here Friday.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Boston 000 010 000—3 8 1. Washington 100 400 02x—7 13 1.

O'CALLAGHAN'S CASE: OR "PUTTING IT OVER."

Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, has again been "sentenced" to quit the United States. This time the date of his departure has been set for June 5.

O'Callaghan shook the soil of old Ireland from his feet soon after he was elevated to the office of Cork's executive head.

Although he worked his passage to America in the guise of an able seaman, he was promptly hailed by his protagonists on this side the Atlantic as a headliner in the disseminating of Sinn Fein propaganda.

Although he worked his passage to America in the guise of an able seaman, he was promptly hailed by his protagonists on this side the Atlantic as a headliner in the disseminating of Sinn Fein propaganda.

His activities in this direction having attracted the attention of the state department, whose duty it is to safeguard the peace of the country against political disturbances directed against it by aliens within its borders, it brought his status into question.

Thereupon the "able seaman" was at once transformed into a political refugee, and threw himself on the protection of the state department as such.

Seemingly little interested in O'Callaghan's sudden eagerness to establish himself as a refugee from political persecution, the state department declined to hand down a decision and he automatically became a problem for the department of labor to unravel.

It is just possible that the state department's lack of interest in O'Callaghan's case was prompted by the fact that his complexion was more readily that of a political agitator than a political refugee.

Now Secretary Davis of the department of labor has ruled that the erstwhile "able seaman," who became over night an inspired apostle of Irish severance from British rule, having entered this country as an alien sailor, must leave it as he came.

This is as it should be, PROVIDED THE RULING IS CARRIED OUT.

Otherwise the farce continues.

One of the prime obligations of a political refugee is that he conduct himself as such.

He should show by his actions that he is a bona-fide refugee, and not a political propagandist whose activities are calculated to place in jeopardy the peace and welfare of the country where he finds asylum.

This obligation Mr. O'Callaghan has not met.

But to ascribe to Mr. O'Callaghan's native cleverness the adroit manner in which he has "put it over" our astute government officials would be to withhold due meed of praise from those actors in the drama whose genius has been employed from behind the scenes; those "prompters" in the wings, off stage, who are mainly concerned in maintaining the box-office receipts, which in this case is the amount of keeping at flood tide the wave of hatred against England.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

This is a true story the Woman heard the other day of how Father gave Mother a lesson in the gentle art of buying. Mother is a pretty good shopper herself, but Father is an extraordinarily good business man and it is one of his little hobbies that women do not watch their own markets. He frequently holds forth upon the subject at length, and Mother, being a very good wife, always answers: "Yes, dear, you're right."

Father was going to have a chair for his own special use, and for the once he stepped into the precinct of household purchases. Mother went along, but Father bought the chair. He was willing to spend real money for it, and he said: "Get a good article in the first place and it will last a lifetime. In the end you save money."

"Yes, dear," said Mother and after long search they bought the chair. That was a chair. Strong and firm, soft and comfortable. You sank deep into it and never wished to rise again. It was $85, without upholstery. But that was good value, so they looked for a covering.

"No frills," said Father, looking at Mother severely. "Oh, no, dear," Mother hastened to say, and Father chose the material himself from a nice little book of samples they showed him.

Something very simple and absolutely neutral in tone," he said with a lordly air, and picked the plainest thing in the book, a nondescript, soft corduroy looking stuff, of no particular color at all, and ordered chair and bill sent home.

"We didn't ask the price," ventured Mother.

"But we bought the simplest thing they had," said Father, and with a fine air—"the most beautiful!"

That's the end of the story. The chair came and it was a wonder. So was the bill. It was for $225. That "simplest thing in the book" was imported $9 a yard, and what is the upholstery charge—sixteen dollars a day.

Father had the grace to turn to Mother with a humorous wink after he had recovered from his first astonishment. They call it the Rajah's Chair. Father says he is sure the stuff will never wear out, but he doesn't say much about a knowledge of market prices these days.

Knights Errant. Noticing a group around a subway grating, the Woman paused. On so blustery a day it must be something unusually interesting that would keep several grown-ups and three or four small boys out in the wind.

One of the boys, behind the shelter of another's coat, was lighting matches and melting a bit of sealing wax. As it softened he stuck it to the end of a match which was tied or a long string, and then he carefully let the match down the grating, while kneeling beside him another businesslike urchin peered through the grating and called out directions in a nasal tone.

"Half an inch to port—oh, I said port, you landlubber! That's a little more, now it's touching! Say, I guess maybe the wax is cold or something; it should have stuck that time; heat 'er up again!"

While the performance was gone through all over again, the Woman made inquiries and learned that a small and ragged girl, who was one of the most interested spectators, had dropped three dimes down the grating and that the young knights-errant had introduced themselves as Boy Scouts who could do most anything if it wasn't too hard, and then set themselves to work to prove their words.

"I'd love to give her the money and put an end to their labors—but it wouldn't be exactly fair, would it?" one of the bystanders murmured to the Woman, who was forced to agree that it certainly would not.

Memories. "What" an autograph album, Mother?

Like a voice from the past came these words from twelve-year-old Sonny to arouse mother from a reverie over a bag of stockings-to-mend.

"Why, boy, what made you think of an autograph album?" she answered, in reminiscent tones, and then her boy told her about one.

"Marie has one, and it's red leather and it's got 'Autograph Album' on it in gold letters across one corner."

"Yes, go on," joined in mother. "And has it pink and blue and yellow pages, gold-edged, and the cover pages in red moire paper?" Her arms stole about the lad's shoulders and she held him rather lightly for a full minute while her eyes grew just the least bit misty over memories of other days.

She was left little time for retrospection, though, for Sonny wanted to tell her about Marie's book. And America gave the 1921 version of a very old love motto, "Roses are red and violets are blue, Pearl North is pretty, but she can't beat Co. That's what I wrote in it."

RIPLING RHYMES By WALT MASON

PRESENTMENTS. At times I've had forebodings dire, which made me sad and blue; disaster, like a house afire, would climb my frame, I knew, and I would drop my trusty lyre, and sound the loud boo-hoo. "I know that evil's on the way, I feel it in my bones," at times like these I used to say, in melancholy tones, and hence my pained alackaday, my hoist and mournful moans.

And since I thus expected ill, the ill would sometimes come, and hand to me a bitter pill that made my innards numb; my cheer-up song I'd cease to trill, my well known harp was dumb. But years leave wisdom as they go; they left a bunch with me; and now I do not look for woe, but bank on coming glee; there's happiness in store I know, and blessings good to see. At times the dire forebodings strive to get me in their grip, my spirit they would curd and drive and scourge as with a whip, but where they're dared they cannot thrive—I bid the blamed things skip. Presentments are silly fakes for souls to entertain, and yet full many a spirit breaks beneath their deadly strain before that weary spirit wakes to know that they are vain.

ARTICLE 3. The Atlantic fleet under Admiral Henry T. Mayo, went on a war basis at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Feb. 3, 1917.

At the same hour of the same day President Wilson delivered his message to congress severing relations with Germany and the department of state handed Bernstorff his passports.

I had just finished sending out a one-line message ordering the mobilization of naval communications, when a message came to me to attend a conference with the president at the white house. He had finished the delivery of his message and returned to his official residence.

My message, which put all our communications—radio, telegraph, telephone, mails and signals—on a war basis, read as follows: "One Alal Radicod, Mobilize Naval Communications. "SECNAV." "SECNAV" is the code word for secretary of the navy. The order was

TINKER BOB STORIES By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB.

HEALING SILKY'S EYE.

"O King, O King, My eye, my eye! I'll never see again." That's what Silky said when he saw Tinker Bob approaching him in the midst of the forest. When the other creatures heard the name of the King they peeped from their hiding places. One at a time they saw the King, but could scarcely believe their eyes. Then one by one they ventured forth to see if their eyes told them the truth.

Sure enough they saw their King, he whom they had looked for all winter, and they were so glad that they forgot the cries of Silky the Monkey as they ran toward him. But Tinker Bob could greet none of them till he had done something for Silky who was suffering from the terrible fluid that Major Pole Cat threw upon him. "I will help you Silky. Come down out of that tree," said Tinker and Silky came down. But when with his other eye he saw all of the creatures coming toward the King, he ran back to the tree top and began to scream and chatter in a peculiar way. "Well what's the matter, are you afraid of me Silky? I will help you I say."

"O King look out for your life. Look at all of those creatures coming. I can see them with my one eye. If they do to you what one of them did to me you will be a terrible looking King. Run for your life." Tinker Bob looked around and saw the forest creatures coming toward him. He was indeed surprised, but happy to see them all.

"These are my friends, Silky. They will not do anyone harm. Come down out of the tree till I heal your eye, dwellers among these forest dwellers are. Come down Lay and I will heal your eye." Silky wanted to be healed all right but he was afraid of the creatures he saw with his one eye. After he considered it a moment he decided to go down to the King, for it could not hurt worse to be killed than it did to have your eye put out. "All I want to do is to touch your eye with this magic stone."

"All I want to do is to touch your eye with this magic stone."

sputtered out by wireless as I walked over to the white house. I found the secretary of war also had been summoned.

Fears German Plotters. The president was anxious concerning the safety of the military and naval property. We knew enough about German plotting to feel the very real cause for this anxiety. There were thousands of aliens in the United States, none of whom could be interned legally unless or until war was declared. What might happen under the provocation to alien sentiment which had been given in severing relations with Germany none of us could tell; but obviously the situation was perilous, and demanded the taking of extraordinary precautions.

Orders were immediately sent to every naval and military plant and station in the United States, Hawaii, Alaska, Guam and the Philippines, to bar all visitors and to strengthen guards. The guard for the Panama canal was doubled.

The publication of the movement of naval vessels and of the daily orders to naval officers was discontinued, in order to prevent information of a nature useful to the potential enemy reaching German ears.

The ships we had maintained along the coast to enforce neutrality regulations were increased in number, and this consideration for our own safety and a virtual coast patrol was established.

Wilson Keeps Close Watch. The president watched every step during these days with closest attention. He was not satisfied with general reports on what was being done. The Monday following the break in diplomatic relations he appeared suddenly in my office. I was laid out on plans, reports and orders. I told him what I had done and what I was doing.

He suggested we go together to the war department. The secretary of war was there, and the three of us spent a long session in discussing the situation.

Some of the things the president said to us are indelibly impressed upon my memory.

He told us the breach in diplomatic relations did not necessarily mean war, but it brought us so close to the possibility we must put our house in order and be ready for any emergency.

He was concerned about the personnel in our respective departments. "Each of you must surround yourselves with the ablest men you have," he said, and turning to me, he asked whether I felt that my immediate advisers—the chief of naval operations, the chiefs of bureaus and the officers in important commands afloat—were the right ones to retain in these positions.

"Get and keep the best." "They are the best in the navy," I told him.

He asked the same question of Secretary Baker, and he replied that his men knew their jobs, and were going ahead with them. Some were necessarily slated for early retirement, but to anticipate this, he thought, would be unwise, occasioning needless alarm and disturbing morale.

The president listened intently to us, and reiterated his desire that only the ablest, most alert and energetic men should be put in places of responsibility.

"Get and keep the best," he said, as our conference ended.

We continued developing our plans along the indicated lines. On the same day the order was issued mobilizing communications I had sent a dispatch requiring every ship of the three fleets—Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic—to report immediately on its readiness for war. The condition of the ship, guns, machinery and personnel, together with what repairs or additions might be needed, were imperative matters for information.

As a result of this dispatch we knew very quickly precisely where we stood and were able to meet promptly and effectively the conditions which required attention and remedy.

Events Move Rapidly. After the cabinet meeting of March 20, when decision was reached that congress should be asked to declare war, things moved with increasing rapidity.

Admiral Mayo had notified me that he planned to bring his gunnery exercises and maneuvers to an end by April 5, and to start north for home waters. We were anxious to interfere as little as possible with the important practice work off Cuba, but when it was settled beyond reasonable doubt that we were to become a belligerent, we decided to call the Atlantic fleet northward at once. So, following the March 20 meeting, I dispatched an order which headed the fleet for Hampton roads.

Plans to Protect Shipping. That same afternoon, accompanied by Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, I attended a meeting of the general board of the navy, and asked the board, in the name of the president, to draft at once recommendations for some means more effective than that of armed guards for protecting American shipping entering European ports.

In reply, the board reiterated recommendations which it had made on Feb. 4, as follows:

(a) Escort vessels to deep water from our ports, and similarly from deep water to our ports.

(b) Arrange with the British and French governments for the convoy of our merchant ships through the barred zones.

(c) Merchant ships to proceed on the high seas from points of leaving and receiving escorts, depending upon their guns for protection, and upon changes of course to follow alternate routes.

(d) Arrange with British and French governments a code of signals to be used in directing merchant ships as to routes to be followed and points of meeting escorts.

(e) Establish a patrol of the Atlantic coast.

(f) Recruit up to the limit allowed by law for emergencies in order to provide crews for patrols and auxiliaries, and to fill battleship complements which have been depleted.

All Ready for War. Obviously some of these recommendations could not be put into effect until a state of war existed. I ordered the office of naval operations to be ready to act upon them as they when occasion arrived.

And now I want to give you a document which has never been printed before. It is the text of the mobilization plan sent to every commander of fleets or vessels and to every district commandant. The arrangements were so complete in every detail, and every commander and official knew so well what to do, that it was necessary when war was declared only to telegraph them to mobilize in accordance with this plan—and mobilization was accomplished in a few hours. Here is the document.

NAVY DEPARTMENT Strictly Confidential. Op-17-D Washington, D. C. March 21, 1917.

FROM: Secretary of the Navy, TO: SUBJECT: Mobilization Plan. References: (a) Chief of Naval Operations Confidential letter of Apr. 27, 1916. (b) Chief of Naval Operations Confidential Letter of Dec. 11, 1916. (c) Mobilization Order No. 1 of Feb. 5, 1917.

1. The following instructions for mobilization replace References (a), (b) and (c). Destroy References (a), (b) and (c). If either Reference (a) or Reference (b) has not been received, no report of that fact need be made.

2. Mobilization sheets will be published from time to time giving the organization of the fleet for war, fitting-out bases and other information.

3. Whenever a new mobilization sheet for any force is received the old mobilization sheet for that force shall be destroyed. The mobilization sheet for any force shall remain in effect until replaced.

4. Upon receipt of the message in secret code to mobilize for war, every effort shall be made to assemble ships at the designated rendezvous, at the earliest possible date, ready in all respects for war service.

5. Order of ships in divisions as well as details of organization not otherwise provided for shall be prescribed by the commander-in-chief, or, in case of vessels assigned to naval districts, by commandants of naval districts.

6. The following rendezvous are designated for mobilization in case of war in the Atlantic: Battleship Force: Chesapeake Bay after April 5th. Until then—as at present. Scout Force: Division 1—Canal Zone; Division 2—Home Yards; Division 3—San Francisco; Division 4—Canal Zone. Patrol Force: As ordered. Destroyer Force: With Battleship Fleet. Mine Force: With Battleship Fleet. Train: As ordered by Train Commander. Submarine Force: New London, Conn. Atlantic Coast Division: Philadelphia, Pa. Pacific Coast Auxiliaries: As directed by Commander-in-chief. Philippine Divisions: As directed by Commander-in-chief.

7. Plans shall be developed by all officers concerned to provide for the utmost expedition and efficiency of mobilization.

8. The principal mission of a vessel to a navy yard for fitting out shall not be construed as an order for that vessel to proceed to the yard designated to strip and fit out, but as an order to call on no other than that yard for aid in fitting out for war service, except by permission of navy department.

9. When the requirements of vessels as to personnel, material, facilities, or repairs, in fitting out for war service, conflict, they shall be given precedence in the alphabetical order of their assigned present letters.

10. Upon receipt of message "Alnav availability," report shall be made immediately to the department by the officer designated on the mobilization sheet of the estimated earliest date when each vessel could be ready in all respects, so far as material is concerned, for war purposes. These reports shall, for each vessel, consist of name of vessel and date. The message "Alnav availability" calls for a report, but should never be construed as an order to take any steps whatever toward mobilization.

11. Comments and suggestions useful in perfecting and mobilization plan outlined in the mobilization sheets and in this letter are requested.

12. Acknowledge this letter by radio or wire.

As a matter of fact, the drafting and issuance of this mobilization programme had been anticipated in the navy department by almost a year. It was immediately after the sinking of the Sussex—on April 27, 1916, to be specific—that a mobilization plan was first sent to the fleets. This was "Reference (a)," the destruction of which is ordered above. The thrilling days of the Sussex crisis which carried us to the very brink of war and were more thrilling for us in Washington than the general public knew—make a story in themselves which I intend to tell.

MAN MAKES OWN DISEASES, SAY U. S. EXPERTS

WASHINGTON, April 16 - Many of the diseases that afflict man may almost be said to be made by him, says the U. S. public health service, for they are spread almost altogether by his disregard of the simplest rules of sanitary living.

Typhoid fever, for instance, is spread by the contamination of water, milk and food by human filth which has been run into rivers or wells or left exposed for flies to carry to the kitchen or dining room, or which even more disgustingly, is carried to food directly from soiled hands.

Hookworm disease and other intestinal diseases are spread, to some extent at least, by the states which allow road-building gangs to work under conditions which often compel them to scatter pollution to be carried by flies to their own kitchens or to be ground into the soil to be picked up by the bare feet of children. Practically all hookworm disease is due to soil pollution.

Malaria, too, is often spread by the ignorance and carelessness with which mosquito-breeding places are created or disregarded. Borrow-pits, dug to obtain stone for road work and other needs and left to fill with water, furnish homes for thousands of wigglers, culverts improperly placed produce pools that are equally prolific; ditches that are clogged and never cleared out are popular - and populous - places for the culverts that stop or check the flow of water create conditions that are ideal from the mosquito point-of-view. Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, health officer of Georgia, has suggested that the convict and other gangs who work along the roads be required to fill up borrow-pits, place culverts properly, clean ditches, and attend to other small but important details that any man can do and that will deprive the mosquito of many of her breeding places.

To accomplish this along the roads is more important than it may seem, for a mosquito hatched at the roadside does not have to wander in search of food; all she has to do is to wait for food to come to her. Moreover, if she is of an anopheline species, which spreads malaria, she has excellent chances both to acquire the malaria germs and to pass them along. Until she bites someone who is more pleasant than that of any other mosquito, is not any more dangerous. But a single malaria patient, driving along a ditch-bordered, mosquito-infested road, may provide hundreds of the insects with germs which they may pass on to every traveller along that road.

Dr. Abercrombie, by making the roads of Georgia safe for man, may materially reduce the malaria hazard of the state, and, according to the public health service, his example deserves to be followed.

STATE CAPITAL NOTES. Gov. Pat M. Neff continues his policy of strict economy. He refused to allow the board of control to re-furnish the executive office as provided in a resolution passed at the regular session of the legislature. However, Mrs. Espa Stanford, assistant secretary to the governor, said she thought he would permit the re-furnishing when "times became normal."

Governor Neff has accepted two invitations to deliver commencement addresses this year. He will speak at the Agricultural and Mechanical college at College Station, Texas, on May 24, and at Howard Payne college, at Brownwood, Texas, on May 25. Mrs. Pat Neff holds open house at the governor's mansion every Thursday afternoon. The popularity of these events is attested to by the number of guests on a recent Thursday afternoon. Although a heavy rain fell in Austin all day, more than 1,000 persons called at the mansion during the afternoon. Many were delegates to a Baptist convention.

"VAC" SAYS HIS JOB IS CHRISTMAS TREE DECORATOR. BEAUMONT, April 16. - Goldie Sissin is free today because he made Chief of Police Johnson laugh. Goldie was booked on a "vac" charge. "I'm no 'vac,' he insisted to the chief. "No court'll ever convict me. I'm a working man."

"Hassn't worked a day this year!" scoffed the patrolman who had brought him in. "Well," replied the charge, "I only work in season. I'm a Christmas tree decorator."

Carl has had further evidence impressed on him that the supply of monarchs is greater than the demand. - Pittsburg Gazette Times.

MEXICAN AVIATION SCHOOL IS CLOSED

MEXICO CITY, April 16 - The national school of aviation is to be closed. Because of the many fatalities among students, due to the lack of competent instructors and the high cost of upkeep, the war department has decided to abandon the institution. General Serrano, assistant secretary of war, says that flights made by students have been at great risks, owing to the poor condition of the machines and that practical results have been negligible.

HISTORIC 18-POUND CANNON EXCAVATED

PLYMOUTH, Mass., April 16 - An old cannon of the eighteenth-pound type, used by John Paul Jones in famous sea battles more than a century ago, came to light during the excavating of the waterfront preparatory to the Pilgrim Tercentenary exposition.

The old weapon, weighing 2,500 pounds, was given to Collingwood Camp, S. of V., and immediately hauled into its permanent position in the Memorial hall of Collingwood Post, G. A. R.

"SWELL" MAID PROVES POOR INVESTMENT FOR ONE MATRON

CHICAGO, April 16 - Mrs. Fred E. Mayer has lost faith in New York maids. Mrs. Mayer had tried maids of the "home grown" variety for several years and was not satisfied. She wanted a maid with "Eastern experience." One day an applicant appeared.

"Where are you from?" asked Mrs. Mayer. "Noo Yawk," responded the applicant. "I worked wid de swelldest families along River Shore Drive."

The maid was hired. Said maid and $3,000 worth of Mrs. Mayer's jewels are now missing.

Mrs. Mayer is looking for a maid who has never been heard of "River Shore Drive."

SPAIN'S RECOGNITION MAY BE GIVEN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, April 16 - That a prominent Spaniard is on his way from Madrid to Mexico with important documents setting forth the conditions on which Spain will recognize the Obregon government, was reported here. MARTENS FERRY, Ohio, April 15. - A local resident had several cases of bonded whisky in his home. When he learned the police were searching for booze in neighboring houses, he moved his cases into an alley beside his residence.

Several persons had noted his actions and removed the cases while owner and police were in the house.

The auricular finger is a name given to the little finger because it can be introduced into the ear passage.

CAMPECHE BANKS OFF MEXICAN COAST ARE YIELDING MANY FISH

GALVESTON, April 16 - Record catches of deep sea fish are being taken at the Campeche Banks fishing grounds, according to skippers of fishing smacks returning from the Mexican coast. Great schools of red snapper, grouper and June fish are reported the length of the banks.

The Campeche Banks, far from being according to local fisheries officials, "played out" as a fishing ground, are becoming more productive with age. Last year one fleet of six smacks brought into Galveston a total of 1,082,000 pounds of red snapper, grouper and June fish, and points as far distant as California, Chicago and Ohio received their quotas of deep water fish from the Gulf of Mexico.

Although no figures were available for the first three months of 1921, W. J. Chapman, general manager of a local fisheries concern, believed that the haul would extend to the similar period of 1920.

SOCIETY GIRL PICKS COWBOY FOR HUSBAND

PHILADELPHIA, April 16 - Who is Buster Estes? When the news that Frances S. Mears, prominent society girl, had been married to a cowpuncher named Buster Estes reached this city, Philadelphia society folk gassed.

The ceremony was performed at Jackson's Hole, Wyoming, on March 29, where the young couple are now spending their honeymoon on the bridegroom's big ranch.

According to Dr. Hardey J. Butte, of this city, the cowpuncher bridegroom is everything that the movie fan dreams about. He holds several championships for horsemanship, is a dead shot, with a record of having killed three horse thieves, and is also a veteran of the world war.

CENSUS SHOWS PARIS GAINS 40,000 SOULS

PARIS, April 16.—Corrected figures for the census recently taken in this city giving the population of four-fifths of the French capital, show there has been a healthy growth since 1911, in spite of the loss of life during the war. The wards for which the figures have been published have increased in population by 22,000 and it is estimated that complete figures for the city will show the population has grown at least 40,000, as the densest population of Paris is found in wards for which there is as yet no report available.

Partial returns for two sections of the department of the Seine, which comprise the closest suburbs of Paris, indicate a substantial increase of 152,000 since 1911. The most densely populated district is found in Levallois-Perret, northwest of the city, and the center of the automobile industry. There are 72,000 residents of this district. Rungis, a southern suburb, has 270 inhabitants and has increased only seven in population in the past ten years.

SENATE RECOMMENDS HARVEY'S APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Confirmation of George Harvey as United States ambassador to London and Myron T. Herrick to Paris, was recommended today by the senate foreign relations committee. No opposition to either was manifest by Democratic committee members, some of whom had indicated a disposition to oppose Harvey.

CANADA TO INVESTIGATE PUBLIC-OWNED RAILWAYS

OTTAWA, April 16.—The house of commons early today adopted a motion presented by the Meighen government for appointment of a parliamentary committee to investigate the management of government-owned railways and steamship lines. The vote was 80 to 42. The proposed committee will be asked to suggest improvements in the general scheme of managing government-owned transportation enterprises.

MOVING COST GOES UP; JAKE IMBIBER ELECTS TO STAY IN LOCKUP

The city bustle is not so bad after all. True, it has no beautiful scenery for its inmates, no golf course for their use, no free pictures for diversion and the bathing facilities will not compare with those offered by the Atlantic ocean. On the other hand, there is nothing to go, and when one is doing that anyway, he might as well be doing it there as elsewhere. Especially as it would cost $20.70 to move.

Such at least was the view of one John Doe, who registered there Thursday for the second successive night. The first time he paid $15.70 for his night's lodging and fared forth to again wage battle with the jake traffic. This morning he was cheerful when a friend came around to get him. He wasted no untimely sorrow on quitting the restful precincts of the hoosegow, until he was informed that fines go up for regular customers. "Twenty-seventy," he remarked. "That's too much. I've been arrested twice for the same jag, anyway. And I haven't anything to do. I believe I'll just stay in."

So there he is. Day sergeant Daniels says there is no bargain sale on drunks around his hostelry.

ADVOCATES SPANISH AS LEAGUE LANGUAGE

BARCELONA, April 16.—Emilio Ortuna, former minister of public works, has announced to the international conference on communications and transit that he intends to petition the assembly of the League of Nations to recognize Spanish as the official language of the conference.

In making this statement yesterday, he declared that over twenty nations which are members of the conference use the Spanish language. His proposal was seconded by all the delegations from Spanish-American republics.

MAN TRAVELS FROM SAN ANTONIO TO EL PASO IN TWO MONTHS

By Associated Press
 EL PASO, April 16.—J. B. Gwin, secretary of the Associated Charities, has a candidate for the patient persons club. The candidate he would enter is one John Smith, who arrived here from San Antonio on his way to California.

It took Mr. Smith and his wife and three children exactly two months to drive from San Antonio to El Paso. He drives three burros, two on duty at a time, while the third rests. The burros pull a wagon and keep moving all day and most of the night, he said.

BROKERS GET FIVE YEARS FOR USING MAIL TO DEFRAUD

CHICAGO, April 16.—Judge Landis sentenced F. W. Sherwood, a Chicago broker, convicted of using the mails to defraud, to five years at Leavenworth.

Sherwood's operations were nationwide and hundreds lost their savings through his transactions.

DAVIS HAS BILL TO ENFORCE LABOR REFEREE'S DECISIONS

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Legislation to put "teeth" in labor department efforts to conciliate labor disputes is urged by Secretary Davies.

Both sides should be compelled to live up to agreements reached or decisions of arbitrators they have accepted, he said.

SOUTH DAKOTA BLUE LAWS BARS SUNDAY MINSTRELS

HURON, S. D., April 16.—Acting through the sheriff, State's Attorney Warren caused the cancellation under the state blue laws of the engagement of a minstrel troupe here.

It was scheduled to give two Sunday performances.

FRANCE HAS VAST PAYROLL RECORDS SHOW

PARIS, April 15.—One person in twenty-seven in France is either guarding or governing the other twenty-six men, women and children, according to parliamentary figures.

The military force of about 770,000 is reinforced on the government's payroll by a civil army of 700,000 functionaries. These civil rulers and their office forces have been so multiplied during and since the war and their salaries have been so increased that the public payroll for 1921 is fixed in the budget at 4,329,000,000 francs (normally $825,000,000). If one adds to this list the wages of the 500,000 railroad employes on the state lines, the payroll now is about 5,000,000,000 francs, or the equivalent, roughly, of the entire pre-war budget.

Americans touring in automobiles have wondered at the "octroi" system of customs boundaries around nearly all French cities and many villages. The chamber's finance committee
