Cherokee Tribe Files Claim To Oil Field Lands Totalling 14,000,000 Acres, Including Two Cities

PATENT ISSUED BY VAN BUREN IS PRONOUNCED GOOD BY GOVERNMENT

Alleged Title Takes in Cities of Tulsa and Oklahoma City and Practically Entire Burkburnett Oil Field; Document Discovered By Accident.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Claim to 14,000,000 acres of land in Texas and Oklahoma, including the cities of Oklahoma City and Tulsa and practically the entire Burkburnett oil field, was filed in the supreme court today on behalf of the Cherokee Indian nation and supported by a government patent issued by President Van Buren and certified to as authentic by the interior department.

The claim is in the form of a petition for permission to intervene in the Red river oil lands case, an original suit between Texas and Oklahoma involving jurisdiction over valuable oil fields along the common boundary.

RANGER MAN LOSES $30 TO HIJACKERS; THREE MEN HELD

Three men, giving the names of Tom Lane, Paul Burton and M. Savage, were taken to Eastland jail last night on charges of highway robbery. They were caught by Deputy Sheriff Edmondson and State Ranger J. T. Eads and another man whose name the officers did not remember, after an alarm had gone out that W. A. Martin of the Wagner Supply company had been held up near Necessity and robbed of about $30.

News of the occurrence was phoned to Ranger and the rangers went out on various roads to wait for the bandits, whose description had been given. Ranger Eads with one man went out the Necessity road. Later Deputy Edmondson came along and joined them.

The money is said to have been found in Burton's shoe. Coming back, Martin was met on the road and is said to have identified the men. Burton also pointed out Martin as the man to whom the money belonged, the officers said.

Martin is reported to have been held up a mile or so this side of Necessity. Going around a bend in the road, he met the bandit car, which crowded him toward the ditch and forced him to stop. The men relieved him of what he had and ordered him to back out. He cut across to Frankell and notified a garage man there of the occurrence and came to Ranger by a cut-off trail, in an effort to head off the robbers.

Meanwhile Frankell, a preacher aroused because men believed to be the same had had the car worked on there and refused to pay the bill, loaded up four or five auto loads of men and combed the country for the robbers, giving their description to all persons met.

The car used by the men was identified by Cleve Barnes as his property. He told rangers that he knew one of the men, who had asked to borrow it.

RANGER HIGH TRIMS BRECK IN FAST GAME

Ranger High nosed out Breckenridge High in an interesting game yesterday at the ball park.

With the kindly assistance of Pitcher McAron, Ranger Hi walloped out a victory in the last half of the sixth.

That was the big inning. Each team scored one more time. Ranger counted in the eighth when Brown went most of the way around on wild throws.

The Breckenridge team left on the Sunshine for Eastland, where they play today.

Score by innings: Breckenridge 000 110 001—3

The line-up: Breckenridge—Joe Lovelace, cf.; McAron, p. lf.; Castelman, 1b.; McCann, lf., p.; Jewell, rf.; Sutton, c.; Albright, 3b.; Harvey, ss.

Ranger—Ted Rummage, lf.; Brown, rf., p.; Phillips, 3b.; Henson, ss.; Anderson, 2b.; Williams, c.; Mills, 1b.; Pellerin, p., cf.; Bigbee, rf.

LOVELACE MAY GET FIRST BASE JOB ON NITROS

Tommy Lovelace to first is the latest dope from the ball park.

The Nitros were out yesterday on their sandlot-over brickyard. They found it rather soft, they said, but anyway, it's not hard and they got along much better.

Sled figures that Tommy is a ratty sort of youth and a hard worker and if he can fit in there, it will give a much harder hitting outfit than would otherwise be the case.

York may play the bag again this year. He is now the best bet, but he'll need to find a bat with a lot of hits in it is the general opinion.

The Nitros play Breckenridge again tomorrow and feel that they will show better than in last Sunday's performance.

MEXICO MAY CLOSE STORES EARLIER BY PROVISIONS OF LAW

ZACATECAS, Mexico, April 9.—A law is being considered for passage by the legislature which aims to shorten the hours the different classes of stores and business houses will be allowed to remain open.

It is said that nobody is certain how many holidays there are in Mexico, the people observe so many. The measure is one of the outgrowths, it was said, of a movement to start "blue laws" legislation throughout Mexico.

BILLY SUNDAY FLAYS DOUBLE STANDARD AND TAKES RAP AT ALCOHOL

CINCINNATI, April 9.—Dancing, card playing, social customs which make slaves of women and break home ties, and liquor, were scored by Billy Sunday in three sermons here.

His afternoon sermon was for men only and its title was "The Devil's Boomerang," or "Hot Cakes Right Off the Griddle," and hot they were.

Sunday scored the double standard. "Whatever is wrong for a woman is do is wrong for a man to do," he said.

Raps Alcohol. Sunday then turned his guns on alcohol.

"Men take strong drink only for the alcohol that's in it," he declared. "The alleged strength derived from alcohol is a delusion and a snare. There is no nourishment in beer and now they want to make every drug store a sort of a brewery agency. A man is a fool to uphold beer for its alleged medicinal value—I don't care whether he is A. Mitchell Palmer, former attorney general, or who he is."

Five hundred men hit the sawdust trail.

Revival Debt Free. Billy Sunday's revival begins its fifth week out of debt. Collections Sunday raised total of the expense fund to $40,000, about $1,000 more than needed. The fund went over the top when contributions from various churches that gave their Sunday collections to the tabernacle were announced.

WOMAN, TWENTY-SEVEN, SEEKS DIVORCE FROM HER FOURTH HUSBAND

International News Service. CHILLICOTHE, April 9.—I don't think it is as bad at my age to have had four husbands as it is for some women at 40 never to have had any," said Katherine Shay, 27, suing Thomas Shay for divorce, when questioned by the court as to whether her accomplishment could be classed as a record.

Mrs. Shay has been married four times. One husband divorced her. She divorced a second. The third shot himself after trying to kill her, she said, and the fourth is her present husband. Her first marriage occurred when she was seventeen.

SHAW WRITES WHAT HE WOULD DO IF A WOMAN

LONDON, April 9.—In a letter to Judge Henry Neil, of Chicago, Bernard Shaw expresses himself as follows:

"I have said that if I were a woman I should refuse to bear a child for less than $10,000, and that a nation that will not guarantee the proper nurture of its children does not deserve to have them.

"I have also said that we should not sterilize the excellent Betsy Trotwoods, who would have children and bring them up well if they had not to pay the price of having a man thrust upon them as well.

"I do not forget that a house without a man in it is not an ideal home for a growing boy or girl; but as the average house is a house without a man in it (he being at work all day) the school or other social agencies could do almost as much as the father now has any chance of doing.

"The woman risks her life, and that is quite as much as she can be reasonably expected to undertake, even with a full guarantee that she shall have it crying to her in vain for food whilst Perkinsees dogs are eating cutlets in the next street."

ADVERTISING SLACKERS.

Government's legal minds are trembling lest mistakes which may conceivably occur in publishing to the world the names of the country's slackers, which it is proposed to do, may result in suits to recover damages for libel.

And this is a possibility which may well provide material for serious consideration.

In a thoughtful perusal of the problem a number of pertinent questions present themselves.

If the name of John Smith of Smithville, in a certain state, is to be proclaimed as that of a person in the class with one Bergdoll, is it to be assumed that government is sufficiently backed with an array of established facts that there can be no question of his guilt?

Has John Smith been tried before a jury of his peers and, with every avenue of escape from the consequences of unlawful acts guaranteed by law and the constitution of the United States, failed to clear himself from the charge?

Will the records in John Smith's case, having their inception in the call to arms when his number in the draft was reached, constitute good and sufficient evidence as to his guilt or innocence?

A genuine, dyed-in-the-wool slacker deserves alike severe punishment and the contumely of his fellows.

But what machinery has been put in motion to separate the slackers from the patriots?

And to what extent would government be culpable should it cause to be published among a list of slackers the name of a man, well known and respected in his home circle, who obviously was not and is not a slacker?

What steps would such a victim of errors in high places take to re-establish his good name; how would he go about it to regain the esteem of his neighbors and remove the taint of suspicion that would, leech-like, hang to him through many years, perhaps a life time?

The government pronouncements are solemn things. They carry with them an undefined weight of authority. Supported by the majesty and power of the great government of the United States, such an indictment is calculated to overwhelm the most stalwart citizen if wrongfully made.

It is axiomatic among law breakers, and a fact widely known among those charged with the administration of justice, that persons with a trend toward infractions of the law have a wholesome respect for governmental machinery of law enforcement. Or at least they had until quite recently.

So that the naming of the nation's slackers is a serious matter.

What will the answer be?

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

The lady from Manhattan had heard much of the imperturbable quality of the good Maine folk, but she was to learn from that oldest and best teacher Experience, that there's nothing under the sun to people from Bangor. Some weeks ago she was visited by a cousin who had not left the sacred precincts of the original prohibition state for twenty years, and it was with real zeal that the Lady from Manhattan planned a week of gaiety which would round out the whole gamut of experiences in pleasure jaunts in New York city.

The cousin from Maine arrived in due time, gave an unawed glance about Grand Central Terminal, whose stars twinkled their brightest in the ceiling far above the hurrying heads below. The noise and crowds in the streets caused no comment, and the Cousin from Maine leaned leisurely back in the taxi while the Lady from Manhattan began to expound the glories and greatness of the greatest of great cities. The marvels of the perfectly appointed apartment on the drive brought no word of approval—only "It does seem very small." To the theatres they went, and the only comment on the season's comedy gem was, "Those twins remind me of the Barlow girls at the church entertainment. My, but they were funny!"

So o'v' the Brooklyn bridge and back, up on the "L" and down in the subbit subway, hurrying through the museum's treasurers, from Bronx to Battery they went, and still no surprised utterances from the Cousin from Maine. At last the right day came for the Woolworth Tower trip—one of those clear days after a storm, when New York has wiped all the tears from her eyes and the rivers sparkle under the bright blue sky and window panes in the great shafts in the lower city catch and reflect the sun in countless lovely gleams; every curl of smoke from the river steamers, every lazy plume from the millions of chimneys builds itself into a festive streamer to color the atmosphere. Lunch at Fraunce's tavern, a swift trip up Broadway, a bang of the taxi door, and they stood before that gigantic pile of beauty, grown out of red-and-gold-front, ten-cent enterprise.

The Lady from Manhattan always waxes enthusiastic over it, from the ground up. "Let's go across the street and you can get some idea of its great height and beauty," she said. So across they went, and with heads bent back began to follow the long line of windows, up—up—as far as a normal spine and the laws of equilibrium would permit. "Mmh!" said the cousin from Maine, straightening her hat. "By the way, do you remember where Barlow's drug store used to be at home? Well, they've built a fine four-story brick building there."

Alexanders Still Sigh. Just two small girls, gazing longingly into a shop window, where goodies were displayed. The yellow-haired one exclaimed, with a huge sigh and much emphasis: "Gee! if I only had three cents I'd be perfectly happy!"

The Woman passing by, wished that she had exactly three cents in change to slip into the little one's hand, just as she would happen. But she was laden with bundles and her purse was empty of change.

In the grocery store later she related the incident, regarding her inability to supply the three cents. "Well and the butcher sighed, too, "I need five hundred dollars and I expect to go on wishing for that extra five hundred for the rest of my days."

The woman mused as she beat a spring shower to her door. The child's wants were expressed by three copper pennies. The rest of the world had unfulfilled desires, ranging in value from a lollypop to an empire. In the last analysis the man who attained an empire would certainly covet still another.

Honor Among Thieves. The Woman recently week-ended at a New Jersey college town and was told by her hostess a true tale of a holdup which verifies the line in the poem "There is so much good in the worst of us."

Among the students is a hero who lost both legs on Flanders Field, but so cleverly does he manipulate the artificial substitutes that he moves about among his fellow collegians quite comfortably. Recently he and three other boys were the victims of a holdup on a lonely road, the bandits ordering them out of their motor and frisking them thoroughly of everything of value. As the gentlemen of the road ordered their victims back into the car they observed for the first time the hero's limp. One called out to know the cause, and after the facts had been explained these Modern Beau-Broccades returned every thing they had taken from all four, saying apologetically, "We don't want nothing from a man that's lost his legs for his country nor from his friends neither."

Applied Knowledge. The night school teacher had discussed extensively on the use of the suffix "ish" to her class of foreigners, who ranged in age from twenty-one to sixty-two. After she had explained, not once but a number of times, that "ish" meant "like a" and given as examples foolish and boyish, she called on a middle-aged man, asking him to give a sentence to show he understood the lesson.

The middle-aged man said promptly, "I am girlish."

"But," said the teacher, "I said 'ish' means 'like a'."

"Well," said the student, "ish—like a—girlish—like a girl. I like a girl, so I am girlish."

LOOK WHO COMES THERE!

"There goes the Forest Major and the Chief, I wonder why they go this way with arms locked. They seem to be very happy. Has something happened that I have not heard? I shall have to see. Behind this mound of earth I can not hear much but this is a good place to hide from the Bob Cat who always seems to be looking for me." These words were the words of Billy Mink as he talked to himself while watching Major Pole Cat and Chief Porky as they journeyed toward the Palace of the King. "I will go to see at once what this means." "Well, well, if that isn't the Chief and the Major arm in arm. I wonder what has happened? This has not been seen in the forest for many a day. I do believe that something strange has happened. But I cannot hear very well in this hollow tree and the whole forest might be awake and I would never know it. I guess I had better get up and make my bed and go out for a walk. Maybe I will hear something of the trouble, for it must be trouble or these two would not be hand in hand." These were the words of Mr. O Possum, and he thrust his nose out into the light to see if it was wise that he venture out so soon, but he decided to go. "Well, what will we do first?" asked Major Pole Cat, who was so happy at the idea of Tinker Bob's arrival that he could hardly wait till they started to do something. "We must make ready the Palace first. What worries me is to think that the King is going to bring some creature from the Southland with him. It may be that this creature will be so big that he will disturb all of the Dwellers of the forest; or it might be that he would destroy them wherever he went and then there would be much fear in the land. I do wish the King would be careful who he allows to come into the forest."

Jack the Wood Rat Had Cleaned Up the Place as Tidy as Could Be.

arrived at the Palace to find that Jack the Wood Rat had cleaned up the palace as tidy as could be. "Well how did you know that the King was coming home, I'd like to know," asked Chief Porky. "O Chief, I heard a fellow just outside the Palace telling the birds that the King would be here most any time now. Look, who is that coming there, get inside quick?" and they did get inside quickly. RIPPLING RHYMES By WALT MASON

THE WISE PHYSICIAN.

I had a lot of pimples upon my princely mug, and I took yarbs and simples and bitters by the jug. My blood was out of order, my life was full of care, and I was near the border of bottomless despair. And many learned physicians prescribed their capsules gray; alas, alas, conditions grew punker every day. And then I sought a healer who just had come to town, and many a boasting speller proclaimed his wide renown. No silly, trifling question was by this doctor sprung, concerning my digestion, my liver or my lung. He said, "You're always fussing with Jinks, who lives next door; you two are roundly cussing each other, ever more. Unless you live serenely your ills I cannot cure; so long you've acted meanly it's made your blood impure. For giving way to passion gives rise to many ills, and you, in angry fashion, keep kicking o'er the thrills. Go home and quit expounding the riot act to Jinks, and health and peace abounding will soon remove your kinks." His counsel, wise and given, I took, and saved my life, and from my head were driven all thoughts of hate and strife; and now glad smiles and dimples are strung around my map, where once unseemly pimples were prone to overlap.

21—LEGAL NOTICE RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF RANGER DETERMINING THE NECESSITY OF LEVYING AN ASSESSMENT AGAINST THE PROPERTY AND THE OWNERS THEREOF OF SAID PORTION OF MAIN STREET PROLONGED EASTWARD FROM THE EAST PROPERTY LINE OF COMMERCE STREET TO THE WEST PROPERTY LINE OF RAILROAD AVENUE.

WHEREAS, Specifications for the improvement of said portion of said street have been duly prepared and approved as required by the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Ranger; and

WHEREAS, A written contract has been entered into by and between the City of Ranger and the McKenzie Construction Company of Texas to improve with three-inch vertical fiber vitrified brick pavement, as provided by said specifications; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF RANGER, That the plans and specifications and report of statement of the engineer filed with the City Commission, describing the abutting property and giving the names of property owners, the number of front feet, and the cost of improvement chargeable against each abutting property and its owner, having been duly examined, are hereby approved.

That the City Commission does hereby determine to assess the entire cost of curbs and three-fourths of the cost of all other improvements, except streets and alley intersections, against the owners of the property abutting thereon, and against their property, in accordance with the terms of the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Ranger, and also in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas of 1911.

That the said assessment shall be made after the notice to such property owners or agents of said owners or any interested persons, and the hearing herein mentioned, and that the said portion of the said cost of improvements to be assessed against said property owners on said portion of said street, and their property shall be in accordance with the front foot rule or plan, in the proportion that the frontage of each property owner on each particular street bears to the frontage of the whole property to be improved on that particular street; provided that after such hearing if such plan or apportionment be found to be not just and equitable in particular instances the City Commission shall so apportion said cost as to produce a substantial equality between all such property owners abutting on said portions of each particular street, having in view the enhanced value of their property and the benefits derived from such improvements; and the burden imposed upon them by such assessment, and that in no event shall any assessment be made against any owner or his property in excess of the enhanced value of such property by reason of such improvement.

That the proportionate cost of said improvements, which is contemplated to be assessed against such owners and their properties will be due and payable in three equal installments, the first due and payable thirty days after the completion and acceptance of said improvements by the City Commission of the City of Ranger; the second due and payable one year after said date, and the third due and payable two years after said date; said installments bearing interest from said date at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and provide for reasonable attorney's fees in case of default, and provide for accelerated maturity in case of default.

That the total proportionate part of the cost of such improvement which is contemplated to be assessed against such owners and their respective properties, and the names of the owners of the property abutting upon said portions of said streets and properties to be improved, and the description of said property, and the several amounts to be assessed against them respectively for paving and for curbs and gutter, and the grand total thereof, is as follows:

Texas & Pacific Railway Company, right of way fronting 153.5 feet on the south side of Main street, and lying between the east property line of East Commerce street and the west property line of Railroad avenue, the rate and total being as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Front Feet, Rate Paving, Cost of Paving, Total. Lists costs for Texas & Pacific Railway Company and other properties.

That a hearing shall be given to said owners, their agents or attorneys, or any person or persons interested in said improvements before the City Commission of the City of Ranger, as provided by the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Ranger, and also the provisions of Chapter 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas of 1911, which said hearing shall be had on the 26th day of April, 1921, at four o'clock P. M. in the City Hall in the City of Ranger, Texas, which said hearing shall be continued from day to day and from time to time as may be necessary to give all said property owners, their agents or attorneys, or any interested person or persons, a full and fair hearing, and said owners, their agents or attorneys, or any interested person or persons, shall have the right to appear and be heard in any manner concerning the said improvements or said assessment or the benefits thereof to their property or any other matter or thing in connection therewith, or to contest said assessment, and at such hearing a full and fair opportunity shall be extended to said property owners, their agents or attorneys, and to all interested persons to be heard with respect to such improvements.

That after the conclusion of the hearing above mentioned such sum or sums as may be determined by the City Commission to be payable by the said owners shall be assessed against them respectively, and against their respective properties, by ordinance or 21—LEGAL NOTICE CONSTABLE'S SALE The State of Texas, County of Eastland.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the honorable Justice Court of Precinct No. 2, Place No. 1, Eastland County, Texas, on the 16th day of March, A. D. 1921, by the Justice of the Peace, in the case of Ranger Tobacco Company, a corporation, versus Peter Stratton and Mike Kargues, No. 268, and to me, as constable, directed and delivered, I will proceed to sell, within the hours prescribed by law for constable sales, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. on Monday, the 25th day of April, A. D. 1921, at 207 1/2 Main street, known as Manhattan Cafe, in the City of Ranger, Eastland County, Texas, the following described personal property, to-wit:

One counter about 30 feet long; 5 small tables; 12 dining chairs; 2 large ice boxes and 1 small ice box; 1 water barrel; 1 coffee urn; 1 large Range stove; all dishes, fixtures and stock of groceries now in the building at 207 1/2 Main Street, known as Manhattan Cafe, Ranger, Texas; also 1 3-plate gas burner, levied on as the property of Peter Stratton and Mike Kargues, to satisfy a judgment amounting to One Hundred Twenty-four and 52-100 Dollars in favor of Ranger Tobacco company and all costs of suit.

Given under my hand this the 1st day of April, A. D. 1921. R. L. FAIRCLOTH, Constable, Precinct No. 2, Eastland County, Texas.

DOMESTIC TROUBLES COME TO AUTHOR OF THE 'DOMESTIC BLUES'

International News Service CHICAGO, April 9.—Jack Harrell wrote snappy songs and Mrs. Harrell set them to very gingery jazz music. Together they sang the songs in cabarets. It was a fine combination.

But the combination is broken now. Harrell is in jail on charges of non-support, and Mrs. Harrell says there will be a divorce suit when he gets out. Their last song seems to have been "Domestic Blues."

Mrs. Harrell, known professionally as "Babe" Thompson, was the inspiration for her song-writing husband. In order to be properly inspired to write a "blue," Mrs. Harrell says, her husband seemed to feel it was necessary to make a "blue" out of her.

"He was a caveman," she said. "Why, I couldn't wear a georgette crepe waist any more, I was that black and blue."

"Maybe I was a little rough," Harrell admitted, "but it was because I loved the woman."

PARIS, April 9.—The "ten Venuses" advertised to be entirely unclothed at a theatre changed their minds at the last minute tonight.

Fearing police intervention following the introduction in the senate Friday of a bill forbidding nudity "on or off the stage," the management changed the plan for the undressed tableaux.

Instead of appearing in the "altogether" as promised, the ten beauties were costumed in featherweight veils, which, although the thinnest, are believed to have passed the censors.

The scene in the first act in which three girls appear as nude statues was retained on the ground that it is art.

Meanwhile, the big Paris dressmakers, dreading the approach of a "morality" wave, conducted a meeting this morning and decided to lengthen skirts and abolish a gown which Lady Derby called the "most scandalous article she had ever seen."

$2 RENT RAISE FORCES MOTHER INTO SUICIDE

CHICAGO, April 9.—The owner of a shabby room in a second floor flat at 175 North Maplewood avenue probably does not care, but the additional $2 in rent demanded for the place brought about a tragedy that touches the hearts of the neighbors.

Three years ago Mrs. Emily Geiger, aged 50, a widow of a few months, with three children, came from a South Dakota farm to Chicago. The three little girls had to be fed and clothed and sent to school, so the mother rented the little room for $11 and went to work at the drudgery of the wash tub. Neighbors marveled at her courage, but somehow she managed to make both ends meet, although she deprived herself of sufficient clothing and food.

Then came the raise in rent. The additional $2 spelled ruin for her and in endeavoring to take on more work she fell ill. Thursday, after she had sent the children back to school, she locked the doors and windows and turned on the gas. When the police broke down the door and found her body they also discovered a letter which had been pushed under the door. It contained a check for $50, rental for a tiny farm in Oklahoma which her husband had owned and of which she knew nothing.

MISTRIAL RESULTS IN CASE OF PIPE COLLAR STEALING

Special to the Times.
EASTLAND, April 9.—The case of the state of Texas vs. L. E. Sullivan charged with the theft of some pipe collars, tried in the Eighty-eighth district court resulted in a mistrial, the jury standing seven for conviction and five for acquittal. Sullivan was charged with stealing some pipe collars from the States Oil corporation, this city, and selling them in Ranger.

RIGID SCIENTIFIC TEST APPLIED TO MILLIONS OF BUSHEL OF SPOT GRAIN

SPOT GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 9.—Thirty thousand cars of grain have been inspected in a single month by the Illinois State Grain department at Chicago, its record day's work, according to a report just issued, being 2,520 cars. This department, with its corps of scientific grain testers, prepares samples for sale on the Chicago Board of Trade where 400,000,000 bushels of cash grain on tracks or in elevators for immediate delivery are bought and sold annually.

This tremendous cash grain department, together with the future market which provides hedging, or grain insurance, represents a seventy-three year evolution in grain marketing. Leading economists, including Herbert Hoover, have characterized the board as the most economical food marketing machinery in the world. In the face of attacks upon the future market by organizers, thousands of members of farmers' societies recently have adopted resolutions opposing legislation destroying hedging at least until a giant grain marketing system car be built up as a possible substitute.

Bankers, business men, agriculturists and grain experts told Congress that legislation destroying the exchanges would be "a blow to the nation's industrial and economic structure" and both producer and consumer would suffer.
