Guardsmen, Selectees To Serve Only 18 Months, Army Believes

New Crisis Could Keep Men Longer

War Department Says Some Soldiers May Go After 14 Months

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. (AP)—The war department said today it anticipated that national guardsmen and selectees would be released from duty "after an average of about 18 months' total active service," unless the international situation prevented.

This would be the expected average, it said, for those who were not released earlier because they fell into categories permitting it.

New legislation permits holding the men as long as 30 months but the department said it hoped it would not be necessary to keep any individual now in training for the maximum term.

Approximately 200,000 men will be due for release from active service in 1941, the department said, and in order that they may reach their homes prior to the Christmas holidays, their release will be accomplished prior to December 10.

The department announced three priorities which would govern the release of guardsmen and selectees. Given first priority were dependents and hardship cases.

Second place were placed non-combatants of age over 28 years of age or over on July 1, 1941. They would be released regardless of their length of service but in the order in which their service began.

Married men who desire discharge at the end of the originally set 12 months' service were accorded their priority.

President Roosevelt is empowered to extend the service of the army rank and file by 18 months under new legislation and most of those in uniform can expect to serve well past the original 12 months. The legislation also authorized release from service of some of the men.

Enlisted men of the regular army whose three-year term of service expires prior to December 31 this year will be discharged unless they desire to reenlist and are qualified to do so.

Some time ago, instructions were issued that soldiers in the regular army would not be allowed to reenlist unless they were non-combatants or had demonstrated an ability which would warrant their appointment as non-commissioned officers or unless they had specialist training. The same standard is to be applied to the announcement said, whether they are selectees or national guardsmen. The army said that procedure would result in "steady improvement in the quality of the soldier on active duty."

Asserting that releases would be made at approximately a uniform rate so as not to disrupt the efficiency of units, the army said that except for dependency, hardship or other emergency cases, men would not be released while their units were engaged in maneuvers or other special training exercises.

"Still assuming that this country does not become more seriously involved in the international situation," the department said, "it is anticipated that enlisted men of the national guard and selectees, other than those for whom priorities are announced, will be released from active duty after an average of about 18 months' total active service, some as early as 14 months. The actual period of service will depend upon the location of units, their schedule of preparation, and the assigned missions."

"Those enlisted men who are eligible for release and who desire to remain on active duty beyond the period of 12 months may do so, either by enlisting in the regular army for a period of three years or by extending on their own request their term of active service to the total of 30 months now authorized by law."

Officials said that the men eligible for release would be required to make personal application for discharge to their commanding officers, in most cases the company commander.

Machine Guns Gone, Scouts Guard Furs
MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19 (AP)—An armored truck drove up to the fur exhibit at the Wisconsin state fair. A large crowd watched tensely as police, armed with machine guns, stood guard during the unloading of $5,000 worth of furs.

Fireboats Battle Blaze on Freighter—Fireboats cluster around the flaming hulk of the Cuba Mail Line freighter, Panuco, in Buttermilk channel, New York harbor, after the vessel, heavily laden with quicksilver, minerals and hemp was cut adrift from its pier in Brooklyn when fire broke out on the dock.

Trainees Learn Plenty In Defense Metal Class Here

If you've ever wondered why a welder was classed as a skilled laborer, all you have to do is to settle down with a rod and torch. You don't wonder anymore. If you fail to see just where sorting out hundreds of tiny rivets is getting ambitious aircraft sheet metal students, sort a few yourself and right away you begin to learn this kind from that.

Permian Basin Association To Refinance

Plans are being developed to refinance the Permian Basin association, area-wide organization for oil operators, land and royalty owners and businessmen, and to revitalize its program, Ben LeFever, local board member said Tuesday.

Due to financial difficulties of the organization, all employees except a woman secretary have been released. Wilburn Page, executive secretary, and Ed Erwin, assistant, have left the Midland headquarters, moving to Wichita Falls.

Action was taken following a meeting at Big Spring and then one at Midland. Directors, seeing an urgent need for the association and its services, elected to undertake a refinancing program in constituent cities to liquidate a $2,000 deficit. Hamilton McRae, Midland, Paul Teas, Lubbock, president of the association, D. H. Griffith and Bill Collyns, Midland, were named as a central committee to work out a program plan to obtain sufficient funds to carry on the program.

New Cargo Vessel Built At Orange

ORANGE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A small cargo vessel which has stimulated considerable interest in gulf shipbuilding circles, but about which the navy was announcing no details, will be launched here Saturday.

Commander E. E. Perry, supervisor of shipbuilding here for the navy, could give no particulars of design and construction, but merely announced the launching and said that Mrs. Eads Johnson of Morristown, N. J., would christen the vessel. She is the wife of Eads Johnson, New York naval architect.

Fine Pipe Organ Offered For Taking

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 (AP)—T. L. Tally will give a $40,000 pipe organ to anyone who'll move it out of the building he's about to raze. Note: It costs about $3,000 to dismantle, move and reassemble an organ.

Settlement Of Shipyard Fuss Sought By FD

These youngsters learn by doing. L. M. Gary, welding instructor for out-of-school youth and NYA enrollees, has boys working on various things with acetylene and electrical welding. Here a group of leads are at work running vertical welds in a narrow slit against the back and two sides of a pattern. This done, the back side is lap-welded by burning into the base and rarely touching the sides.

Sounds complicated, but simple if you know how—and the know-how is what these boys are learning through experience.

The CIO union whose strike called made 16,000 workers idle in a plant that the company accept the mediation board's recommendation for a union maintenance clause in the working contract. Such a clause would provide that all union members, or workers who join the union in the future, would have to remain in good union standing as a condition of employment.

L. H. Korndorff, president of the company, offered to turn the yard over to the navy rather than accept such a clause which he termed "a closed shop."

Eight hundred AFL building trades workers struck yesterday at Camp Lockett, an army cavalry post 50 miles east of San Diego, Calif. The union men asked for either a wage increase of 12-15 cents an hour, or defrayment of the $1.50 a day room and board fee charged at facilities provided by the contractor.

Elliott Roosevelt Arrives In London

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Capt. Elliott Roosevelt arrived in London today. Roosevelt saw U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant at the embassy. Young Bandit Gets Cash In Bowie Bank

High School Age Youth Outruns Pursuing Officials

BOWIE, Aug. 19. (AP)—A calm young bandit who drew two pistols from a show box robbed the First National bank of an undetermined amount of cash today, then outprinted three bank officials to make his get-away.

Not a shot was fired as the fast-running boy, who appeared to be of high school age, dashed away from the bank with the president, cashier and assistant cashier—all unarmed—in close pursuit.

Officers of the bank said the youth, carrying a white box, entered the building about noon, took a drink of water from the fountain, pulled two pistols from the carton, and ordered Roy Coffield, president, to put up his hands.

The robber marched Coffield back of the tellers' cages, and ordered David Warren, cashier, and Gordon Cady, assistant cashier, to put their hands up.

Then he laid down one gun and scooped all the cash in sight into his shoe-box. He made no attempt to go into the vault.

The youth backed to the door, then dashed for freedom with the bank officials after him.

They chased him three blocks and lost sight of him.

Officers believed the youth had an accomplice waiting for him in a car parked several blocks from the downtown district, but thus far they had found no one who had seen the robber enter a car.

Solons Criticize Army Camp Planning

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—A house military subcommittee reported today it believed that under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts for army construction "the incentive is actually to ward extravagance."

Rep. Thomas (D-Tex), chairman of the military subcommittee on real estate and construction, released an interim report which said the greatest single element increasing cost, which "has been staggering," was lack of planning.

Joe Louis And Wife Make Up

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis and his wife, Marva, are ready to patch up their marital difficulties and forget her suit for divorce, their attorneys revealed today.

The couple's counsel made the surprise announcement just before the resumption of a hearing before Master in Chancery Dwight S. Bobb on Mrs. Louis' petition for temporary alimony.

The boxing champion's attorney, William H. Temple, said Louis "is willing to have a reconciliation and has instructed me to tell that to the master."

Nazis Advance To Dnieper River

Officers Here Take Men After Sweetwater Hijack

Two ex-soldiers were returned to Sweetwater Tuesday to face charges of robbery by assault after they were taken into custody here Monday night by city police on advice from Sweetwater officers.

The two gave the names of James M. Givens, 21, and Clyde D. Hanks, 22, and were charged with relieving Robert Underwood of his car and cash a mile north of Sweetwater shortly before 10 p. m. Monday.

Underwood, who identified the men as his assailants, said he had picked them up. At Sweetwater they persuaded him to drive north on the pretext of visiting an uncle briefly. When the car was stopped, Underwood was quoted by officers as saying, he was throttled and slugged.

Playing 'possum, he came awake when he heard talk of a throat cutting and promptly was peeled behind the ear. He said that a billfold containing $40 was lifted from him and his car taken.

Police here got the call over the radio at 11 p. m., and hurried to the eastern edge of town. A car fitting the description of the missing machine was chased a short distance and found to be a local machine. Returning to the top of Coleman hill, the missing car was spotted and Patrolman Gene Williams and Randall Howie blocked it as it turned off the highway on Young street. Chief of Police J. T. Thornton whipped in behind. No money or billfold was found.

Records showed Givens had been discharged from the army in February 1940 and that Clyde D. Hanks had been discharged Monday.

South Atlantic Plane Ferry Service Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The United States promised British faster aerial aid in the Middle East today by establishing a South Atlantic ferry service to shuttle American warplanes to West Africa and thence to the front.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the service was being established was immediately given two interpretations:

It represented an advance move to neutralize the value of the French base of Dakar if it should fall into German control; and

"It foreshadowed a revival of major activity in the now generally quiet Mediterranean theatre of war."

The White House announcement last night laid stress on the value of the new ferry system, asserting that "the importance of this line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overestimated."

Under the agreement concluded, President Roosevelt said, Pan-American Airways would ferry the planes from the United States to West Africa and then on to the Middle East.

To supplement the ferry service, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, Pan-American also was establishing a transport service covering the same routes. This will carry spare aircraft parts or other essential items and also will be used for returning ferry personnel. The service, he added, likewise will be available for general commercial use between the United States and Africa.

The exact routes were not specified, but it was said that they would not pass through any zone of actual warfare.

School Units Renovated

Extensive renovations of various units of the Big Spring school system are rapidly nearing completion in anticipation of the start of school on Sept. 8.

At South and Central Ward buildings, old floors have been sanded and varnished, bookcases and woodwork repainted in lighter colors. Effect has been not only to clean up the buildings but to give classrooms a cheery atmosphere.

An experiment in a sloping or California-type ceiling apparently has proven successful at the high school. By sloping the ceiling to the outer side from the inner wall, light is visibly increased.

Three boilers have been moved from the high school building and installed in a separate structure for this purpose. Already rigged up, the heating system has performed satisfactorily in tests. By removing boilers from the school building, the danger of explosion is no longer present in plants occupied by children.

WEARS COTTON

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Aug. 19 (AP)—There was none of the "do as I say, not as I do" about Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt when she visited the western hemisphere camp of the Girl Scouts at East Otis. The First Lady's ensemble included cotton mesh stockings.

Reds Admit Leningrad In Much Danger

Finns Tell About Fierce Fighting On Northern Front

By The Associated Press
Adolf Hitler's high command reported today that German and allied troops had overrun all Ukraine territory west of the Dnieper river and announced violent new assaults against the siege-girt port of Odessa on the Black sea.

On the northern front, a Red army bulletin acknowledged that the jaws of a giant German-Finnish nutcracker were closing in on Leningrad, the old-time capital of the czars, with bitter fighting raging only 75 miles southwest of the city.

The Finnish high command, however, admitted Soviet troops were stiffening their resistance north of Leningrad, in the Sortavala sector along the shores of Lake Ladoga.

A Finnish communique said Finnish artillery was shelling Russian transports evacuating Red soldiers over the lake.

In the "siege of Odessa, the Germans predicted that the big naval base would fall in a matter of days if not hours.

The German high command further reported the capture of Russian fleet units under construction at Nikolayev, fallen Black Sea port, including a 35,000-ton Soviet battleship, a 10,000-ton cruiser, four destroyers and two submarines. Presumably, most were in the skeleton stages of building.

In addition, the Nazi high command said, German bombers disabled three Soviet warships, including a heavy cruiser, in the waters off Odessa.

Authoritative quarters in London, commenting on the critical situation in the Ukraine, said that the German occupation west of the Dnieper river was not a death blow to the U.S.S.R., but that if the Nazis succeeded in smashing Marshal Semyon Budenny's army the result would be very serious.

British military experts said the ability of the Russians to hold on the east side of the swift, mile-wide Dnieper would depend on Budenny's ingenuity in deploying his reserves.

If the Germans should force a crossing at one or two strategic points, it was said, there is no other natural line of defense except the River Don, 250 miles due east of Dnieper-Petrovsk.

Advices reaching London indicated that the Germans had reached the Dnieper north and south of Dnieperopetrovsk, 11 miles a city threatening the big industrial city.

Hitler's field headquarters, reporting that Soviet troops retreating to the east suffered "the heaviest and bloodiest losses," declared that German shock troops were already storming bridgeheads on the lower Dnieper.

Airliner In Brazil Falls

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 19 (AP)—A Pan-Am Go-Brazil airliner with 15 persons aboard—at least two of them from the United States—was found wrecked in forested mountain country just outside of Sao Paulo today, but this afternoon the fate of all the passengers remained unknown.

Ambulance parties had rough going attempting to reach the wreckage after it had been located from the air.

The steward, David Novak, was brought to Sao Paulo in a private automobile after wandering from the scene of the crash, and said he thought several persons were killed. He was taken to a first aid station.

However, there were reports the Jessup of New York and Hugh Davies of Harrisburg, Pa., were only slightly injured, and that both had reached a Sao Paulo suburb.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19 (AP)—The American Legion will conclude its twenty-third state convention today after the selection of officers, considering of several resolutions and the choice of a 1942 convention city.

Regarded as chief candidates for the post of departmental commander were Sam D. Fortman, Jr., Houston, second division commander; Andrew Dilworth, San Antonio, departmental judge advocate; Charles Maisel, Phillips, fifth division commander, and Bill Cole, Dallas. Pigs Show Better Weight At Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP)—It's a well-fed porker that comes to market these days.

Livestock men said today the average weight of hogs marketed here was the highest since August, 1935.

They attributed the unusual plumpness to prices near the best level in four years, large marketings of heavy sows, relatively cheap and plentiful feed and farm response to government urgings for greater livestock production.

The average hog that came to Chicago's market last week weighed 288 pounds compared with 270 a year ago. One day last week the average broke the 300 mark.

Cavalrymen Grab Big Convoy And 3-Star General

WITH THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Aug. 19 (AP)—Lieut.-General Walter Krueger, commander of the Third army, knows how it feels to be captured by his own men.

The general, a non-combatant in war games ran into a trap last night set by cavalry troops of the Eighth corps, and it was necessary to bring up a maneuver umpire to have him released.

"I never saw so many sawed-off shotguns in my life," the general said. "I regret I couldn't have accommodated them more and remained their prisoner."

The two cavalry troops from Fort Bliss, Tex., half on horseback and half in "jeeps," penetrated 12 miles into enemy Fifth corps territory.

They set up a trap on an important highway and in the gathering dusk captured a convoy of 1,000 men being moved up to the front with full equipment, including tons of food and field kitchens.

General Krueger's limousine, with its triple-staircase, ran unsuspectingly into the blockade. Despite his protests, he was kept covered by Lieutenants Jeff Hollis and Mike Davidson, commanding the cavalry, until the umpire arrived.

Meanwhile, officers of the opposing Fifth and Eighth corps demonstrated that strategy in commanding huge forces of tanks, planes, horsemen and foot soldiers in the 30,000-acre maneuver area.

The mechanized cavalry, attached to the Fifth corps "red" force, swept 60 miles past Alexandria up the Red river to capture the "blue" Eighth corps airport, supposedly destroying the 18th observation squadron.

"Here, the army may need these," he told a civilian defense official, and handed over 37 cartridges he found while fishing.

Gospel Meeting Gets Good Start

The gospel meeting being conducted by the Church of Christ, Fourteenth and Main, with Trine Starnes as the evangelist, is off to a splendid start, according to Byron Fullerton, the regular minister for the church.

"The audiences Sunday were especially good, and the response to our 7 a. m. service has been fine," Fullerton said.

Monday night the evangelist spoke on "The Unfolding of the Gospel." He pointed out that the unfolding of God's plan begins with the Garden of Eden, and closes with the garden of eternal life. In between is the Garden of Gethsemane, which in a way stands for the Gospel. Here we have depicted the suffering of Christ, followed by His Death, His burial, and His resurrection from the dead. These constitute the central facts of the Gospel, as God has unfolded it for us."

Borger Comes From Behind To Tag Lamesa

BORGER, Aug. 19.—The league-leading Borger Gassers and Lamesa's Lobos staged a comedy of errors at Borger last night in a slow game which Borger won, 3 to 4. The affair opened a two game series.

Borger's Bob Cruces won his first game of the season, although Clem Hausmann hurled the last three innings.

After the Lobos scored three unearned runs in the third inning and one earned in the fourth, the Gassers kept pecking away and finally tied it up in the fifth, when Gordon Nell walked, stole second, went to third on an infield out and stole home. Altogether, the Gassers stole seven bases.

Buck Tinsley was chased from the park in the seventh after passing the hot time of the day with the plate umpire.

Poitras' Hits Sink Oilers, 10-7, In 11-Inning Tussle

B'Spring Opens Home Series With Pampa Wednesday

PAMPA, Aug. 19.— Hank Poitras played the "boy on the burning deck" role last night here as the Big Spring Bombers beat out the Oilers, 10 to 7, in a nip-and-tuck 11-inning affair. Poitras' regular thirdbase berth on the field was filled by Art Shillings until the ninth. At that time and with the Bombers holding the short end of the score, 7 to 6, Poitras went in, hammered out a hit against left field fence that was good for two bases with Drake on first by virtue of a single, scoring the tying run.

In the eleventh, with two on through walks, Poitras blasted a single to left and the winning score rumped across the plate, thereby taking unofficial credit for the victory.

Willard Ramsdell stayed on the mound for Big Spring until in the eighth, giving up twelve hits and seven runs. Charlie Wheelchel, still nursing a mashed finger, sent the remainder of the 11-frame route, holding the Oilers hitless and fanning seven.

The Bombers got to Pampa's Glab for ten hits over the route. Tonight, the Big Springers wind up their series with Pampa and both clubs move to Big Spring for a two-day engagement, Wednesday and Thursday. Then, the Bombers start on their most rigorous tussle of the '41 campaign—a six-game series with Borger on Roberts Field.

Two games are to be made up with Borger in addition to the regularly scheduled ones. Friday double, teeing-off at 8:15; the Bombers engage the visiting Gassers in a doubleheader, the same is slated for Saturday night, and the series finale will be put on with another twin bill show Sunday afternoon—six games in all for two clubs that have been playing under pressure for the last month.

Tuesday morning, Tink Rivers, president of the club, said Saturday card may be split into two sessions, price of admission to each session to be twenty cents. The idea is a mere possibility Rivers pointed out, but the clubs may engage each other Saturday afternoon and then play the nightcap Saturday night.

ABCers Best Lions In Annual Ball Game, 13-9

The American Business Club made it two straight over the Lions Club in their annual baseball game staged at Roberts Field Monday evening, winning the seven-inning clash 13-9.

While ABC hitting was a bit heavier than that of the Lions, errors by the latter played the determining factor in the tilt.

In the first, after Brown, Henry and Stanley had made it safely by two walks and a hit, fielders' choices by Jack Smith and Joe Pickle brought in three runs. ABC came back to knot up the count on a walk to Jones and hits by Taylor and Wilkins, followed by Lovelady's fielder's choice.

Randall Pickle made it to first when the catcher let his third strike ball get away and climb the netting. He was scored by stolen bases and a fielder's choice by J. O. Vineyard, Lions hurler. Goilightly opened with a double for ABC in the second, advanced on Phillips' roller, and scored on hits by Jones and Wilkins, who came home on Lions miscues.

With two out in the third, Jack Smith slapped one through short and scored when it got through the fielder and then was overthrown at third. J. Pickle doubled against the rightfield wall, stole third and scored on Gray's hit.

Underwood, who was the game's leading star, Lovelady and Vaughn hit in order for ABC, keeping the count knotted. Vineyard's triple went for naught in the Lions half of the fourth as Brown and Henry went out.

It was in this inning that ABC led the game. After Thompson was out, Goilightly doubled, Phillips doubled, scoring Goilightly but stretching it to third, Jones rapped a double, followed by Underwood's single.

The Lions rallied on J. Pickle's double and score on stolen bases and a fielder's choice by R. Pickle. ABC got it back when J. Pickle let Vaughn's roller get through him and Squeaky Thompson's shot down the first base line went for a hit. Ward and Vineyard scored for the Lions in the sixth, with Brown hit. With the bases loaded, Lovelady struck out Gray to end the threat. Taylor, Underwood and Lovelady scampered home on a brace of hits and errors by Lions fielders. Lovelady took Vineyard's slash, wheeled it to Underwood to retire Ward and then Vineyard for a game-ending double play.

Ward Expects 6-Man Trouble In Nat'l Golf

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 19 (AP)—Marvin (Red) Ward of Spokane, Wash., a straight-speaking young man, believes there are six players who stand between him and the 1941 national amateur golf championship, which will go on the block Monday at the Field club in Omaha.

Ward, winner of the 1939 national amateur crown at North Shore and among the favorites for next week's big simon-pure scrap, is convinced that to win his second amateur crown he'll have to out-pace these stars:

Dick Chapman, the defending champion; Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex.; Johnny Goodman, former national amateur king from Omaha; Ray Billows, thrice a runner-up for the title and a finalist against Ward two years ago; Willie Turner, winner of the national amateur in 1932, and Art Doering of Chicago.

Ward is confident his own game is ready for next week's big test. Yesterday he qualified handsily for today's start of match play in the first annual Great Lakes amateur championship at the Knollwood club, turning a one over par 74. "I hit my shots well," he said, "I've three-putted two greens, but I've the confidence in my game so necessary to bring a player up to a peak for such a tourney as the national amateur. I've never seen the Field club, but from what I've heard of it, a player must be straight to win—and my game is straight now."

Rebs Kicked Downstairs By Sports

By The Associated Press
While the Dallas Rebels were cycling wistfully the second Texas league spot occupied by Tulsa, the Shreveport Sports came along last night and rudely kicked them downstairs.

The Sports, playing before an appreciative home crowd, posted a 4-3 victory on the Rebels in the first of a three-game series. The Rebels thereby slid from third to fourth place and the Sports climbed into third niche by a half-game margin.

The Tulsa Oilers, meanwhile, were amusing a crowd of Houston fans by taking apart the mighty Buffs, sweeping both ends of a doubleheader by the scores of 2-1 and 4-4.

Cleveland Breakdown Is Top Mystery In Majors

By The Associated Press
The most mystifying development of the big league baseball season is what has happened to the Cleveland Indians. This is the team that many persons picked to win the American league pennant and at one stage of the race it was seven full games in front.

This is the team that finished one game away from the championship in 1940 and supposedly couldn't miss in 1941.

Yet this is the team that has lost 12 of its last 13 decisions, that has sunk to fourth place and is still stalling.

They lost a 4-3 affair to Washington last night to let the Senators climb out of a tie for the cellar. In desperation Manager Roger Peckinpaugh started a rookie named Steve Gromek, who was acquired last week from the Class D Michigan State league. He walked a couple and gave up three singles and a double for three Washington runs in the third inning and after that the game was no contest.

The Brooklyn Dodgers succeeded in inflicting their suddenly-acquired National league lead to a full game while the St. Louis Cardinals were idle.

The Red Sox, who play in charity matches now, will make his first appearance in Connecticut September 13 when he and Johnny Thompson take on Jim Demaret and Dan Galgano at Stamford's Woodway club.

Why Golfers Get Goofy
Fred Froy, former N. Y. U. footballer, really got himself out on a limb in a golf match the other day. He whacked his drive behind a willow tree and the only way he could get at the ball for another shot was to lie on an overhanging limb. He put that one right on the green, then missed his putt. . . . Wild Bill Hallahan, the old Cardinals' southpaw, still is Wild Bill on the links around Elmira, N. Y. . . . Hand Gardiner, who won the Wisconsin state open, used to be a ball player and appeared to be headed for the majors until he was skulled and decided golf was safer. . . . Lowest score on record was made by a fellow in North Dakota who was playing golf for the first time. . . . He sliced his drive from the first tee and held it out on the ninth green.

Enid Team Favored In S'Ball Meet

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 19 (AP)—Blancherites at the seventh annual national semi-to-tourney predicted the defending Enid, Okla., title lists would finish far down the list because the only thing the Refiner mound staff collected the past year was age.

But to date the Enid hurlers have been outstanding. In the champs' opener, Jug Thomsen allowed Winslow, Va., a lone single in a 10-0 triumph. Last night Vance Caudle southpawed the MacDill Field Flyers of Tampa, Fla., into submission, 24-3, on six scattered blows.

Two of the Flyer runs were unearned, giving the Enid foes one earned run in two games. They make their third appearance Wednesday night.

Monday's results:
Tuladega, Ala., 4, Brackenridge, Pa., 0; Enid, Okla., 24, Tampa, Fla., MacDill Field Flyers 3 (7 innings).

Today's program includes: 11 p. m.—Fort Lewis, Wash., vs. Los Angeles, Md.-Waco, Tex., game. 3 p. m.—Mount Pleasant, Tex., vs. Kingsport, Tenn. 6 p. m.—Covington, Va., vs. Stillwater, Okla.

'41 Grid Boom Is Predicted

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Despite selective service, voluntary enrollment and job openings in defense industries, this fall's eastern college football program is expected to go off without a hitch and with a very probable boom in attendance, notably in areas where there is considerable defense production under way.

A survey of some 30 leading eastern schools shows that none has lost more than one or two key men. In the majority of cases the lads either are under draft age, as at Cornell, where sophomores will carry most of the burden this season, or have been deferred. At Princeton seven of the 18 youngsters of draft age, including Captain Bob Feters of Kingsport, Tenn., were deferred because they were taking advanced R. O. T. C. training and another got occupational deferment as a chemistry student.

Editorial - - Huge Feed Crop Presents Opportunity

Thompson - Presenting Miss Briggs Of England

By DOROTHY THOMPSON LONDON (By Wireless) - The Year said that Thursday afternoon a lady would come from the Woman's Volunteer Work Service, and all housewives were urged to attend her lecture, Miss Briggs went.

The lady wore a green-gray uniform with a white-collared shirt and looked very efficient and nice. She said this war is not like other wars. In this war everyone had to be a soldier. The R. A. F. and sailors on the sea, the Home Guard and Territorials were not the only defenders. This war had to be won in every street. It had to be won not only for Britain, but for the Norwegians and French and Czechs and Poles and Dutch.

Miss Briggs felt very deeply about the Dutch. When she was young she had been a companion to the lady in The Hague and remembered romantically the little houses with their polished knockers, the clear canals and the tulip fields.

She saw the Nazis walking over the tulip fields. The lady said even housewives could help when the blitz came. Merano was very important. To be sure there were firefighters and wardens, mobile canteen and ambulance drivers, but some housewife in every block could do her bit. She ought to know everyone in the block who was ill or who had children who would likely forget to use sand and water for incendiary bombs, and as soon as the siren sounded be ready to help the infirm to shelters and give those suffering from shock a cup of tea.

Miss Briggs thought this was a very nice idea. Adolf Hitler had block-workers, too; but their business was to spy on the people. She thought it would be very nice to help Britain and, of course, the Dutch by getting her neighbors to shelters. And if she did say it, she should not, there was no one in the block who made a better cup of tea.

Miss Briggs volunteered for her block and the lady gave her a blue and white sign to put in a window, marked "Eouswives - Service." And she put it up, rather titillated with the thought that now she was in the service like the soldiers and sailors and the R.A.F., although she was 50 years old and only a spinster housewife.

When the siren sounded she was quite excited. She went out, immediately remembering that Mrs. Blake was pregnant and ought to be gotten to a shelter, and Mrs. Wallace with those three little girls. But they were out hurrying off.

"Have you got the sand out?" she asked Mrs. Peterson, and Mrs. Peterson said she had. Then Miss Briggs thought of Mrs. Hinckley, who had an injured leg and could not move without two men to carry her.

Dear me, she thought, who will carry Mrs. Hinckley to the shelter? It must have been that the men were on fire service or night shifts in the factory for there was no man in sight to carry Mrs. Hinckley.

Miss Briggs went into Mrs. Hinckley's house and upstairs. "The siren is sounding," she said, "and I thought I would step in and sit with you."

"It's bad being alone when they come," said Mrs. Hinckley. "Isn't that the truth?" said Miss Briggs. "It's all in having company."

Bombs began to come down with that wad, wheezing sound they made. "Just like a bus starting, don't you think?" said Miss Briggs. And Mrs. Hinckley said she did.

"They seem to be striking very near," she added. "You never can tell," said Miss Briggs. "They all seem near. It's odd, but I've heard that however far away they are, it always seems they are right on top of you. What would you think about a cup of tea?"

Mrs. Hinckley thought a cup of tea would be comforting, and Miss Briggs brewed it on a spirit lamp by Mrs. Hinckley's bedside. "I keep it right there where I can make it myself," said Mrs. Hinckley. "But a cup of tea alone is a dreary thing."

"I am afraid that must have been number 18," said Miss Briggs as the house rocked. "That's Mrs. Blake's, but she has gone to a shelter." She sipped her tea. This time the house rocked dreadfully and all the windows fell in.

"A blast," said Miss Briggs judicially. "Nothing but a blast. I duty."

Trench Silos Can Preserve It For Years

Howard, like neighboring counties, is going to make one of the biggest feed crops it ever made. It is not safe to say it will be the biggest, but it is safe to predict that it will rank with our biggest bumper yields.

What will be done with this bountiful supply? Certainly it is a question to be answered by the farmers. They raised this crop and their is the decision regarding its disposition. Hence, once more we repeat we do not propose to tell the farmer what he should do.

But we would like to point to what a neighboring county—Dawson—is doing. Last year that county had about 300 trench silos filled. This year it is estimated that another 150 silos will be added to the total. Somewhere between 500 and 1,000 tons of feed will find cheap and ideal storage in these practical trenches.

If there is no need of unearthing the supply next year, it will keep to the next and the next and the next. Caches of feed have been known to keep perfectly for 10 years.

Our guess is that the minimum of choice trench ensilage produced here this year would be at least 300,000 tons and could easily double that figure. A thousand trench silos would hardly do the job. But half that number would be far better than what we anticipate that it would be considered the achievement of the ideal for practical purposes.

There is not a farmer in the county or the area but what has the facilities for building a trench silo. It doesn't have to be one big silo as all get out—probably a narrow-er and longer one would be far better for him. They are inexpensive and a proven method of saving food.

We think that the experience of predominantly agricultural counties like Dawson has proven that it is better to store as much ensilage as possible; first to keep from glutting the market with cheap feed that often is sold below production cost, and second, to insure an adequate supply of choice feed stuff that can be more profitably marketed through beef, dairy cattle or sheep.

If a big part of this year's crop were stored properly, Howard county wouldn't have any feed worries for several years to come.

Flashes Of Life--

By the Associated Press PHILADELPHIA—Julius Wiener registered for air-raid warden service, giving his age as 81. Later, he admitted he was 86.

"I said I was 81," he explained, "because I was afraid they wouldn't take an old man of 86." He was accepted.

DALLAS—What's this about a dog being man's best friend? Night Watchman L. M. Gilbert heard his dog barking. He investigated. A man jabbed a pistol in his ribs and took a purse containing $12.

DALLAS—"What's wrong with this car," said Louis Dawson, moping his brow as he motored home from a vacation. "It's not running." Still mopping that brow, by now furrowed with worry, Dawson pulled into a garage. "This car's about ready to blow up, it's so hot," he told a mechanic.

Admiralty Tells Of Shipping Successes LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The admiralty announced today that approximately 4,000,000 tons of axis shipping had been sunk, captured or scuttled up to August 18.

Of this total, an announcement said, German losses constituted 2,321,000 tons, Italian 1,583,000 tons, Finnish 34,000 and "useful to the enemy" 119,000.

The figures include ships sunk by air attack, and 51 ships estimated at 300,000 tons claimed sunk by the Russians.

MADE UP TO KILL

Chapter 37 "I KNOW LEE GRAY" Evidently Jeff had learned all he wanted to. He got up, chucking Tommy on the shoulder with his fist. "So long, Tom. And thanks. A lot."

Out on the sidewalk again, walking toward Seventh Avenue, I had trouble keeping up with Jeff. "Where are you going?" I asked. He didn't answer. "Jeff, remember me? I'm the girl you're going to marry."

"Yeah, when I solve this more than slight case of murder." He stopped, turned and started in the opposite direction. "Halla, I'm leaving you here."

"You can't walk fast enough." "Walk fast enough where?" "Look. I'll meet you at your place in about an hour. Keep Carol there till then if you can." He stepped off the curb and started across Sixth Avenue. I watched him thread his way through the traffic tie-up and then, bunching my collar around my neck with one hand, holding tight to the brim of my felt hat with the other, I elbowed my way to Fifth Avenue and started up it.

It had been a two-faced day, warm and bright, with the smell of April in the air, and now, suddenly, it had pulled itself together with the coming of night and gone back to being November with a vengeance. The wind, swirling down the wide street, took shalable slips through my thin tweed coat and I lost no time making it to the sheltering canyon of Forty-fourth Street.

There was a knot of men in front of my apartment building, two in uniforms of the city's finest, the others wearing the gum shoes that is apparently a regular sight for plain-clothes men. I caught a glimpse of Peterson in the crowd and snapped on the ceiling lights. Then, quickly, I turned them off again and felt my way around in the blackness, pulling down the blinds. I had no desire to be a target for any guests of the Esquador Hotel.

I locked and bolted the door and wriggled the knob experimentally, in spite of the two detectives stationed outside, and then lit the table lamp. Over the yellow shade I saw Carol watching me from the bedroom door. She had been crying and the powder she had smeared over her face in a gallant effort to hide the tearstains was streaked and pathetic. She must have seen all my precautionary measures for there was alarm in her eyes.

"Peeping Toms," I explained glibly, pointing to the drawn shades. I sat on the couch and lit a cigarette, resolving to do my darndest to drive the thought of murder out of her mind for a little while at least. "Darling, I think it's swell about you and Steve. In fact, I..."

"Oh, Halla, keep your fingers crossed! Steve's telling his mother about me...about us, Steve and me." "She'll say yes or I'll mow her down."

"Oh, if she doesn't I...I don't know what I'll do. I won't be able to stand it! He should be back from a vacation."

"If she says no, will that mean that Steve won't...?" "Marry me? I wouldn't let him, I couldn't. I've caused Steve enough trouble, I..." She moved restlessly about the room, stopping at last to curl up on the couch beside me. "Halla..."

"What, Carol?" "Halla, I'm leaving here. Tomorrow." "Leaving here? Why?" "I'm going to a hotel. I have some money now, my check for Green Apples, and if I need more Steve will let me have it. I won't like that, but I guess it's an emergency."

"I guess it is, but you're not leaving." "I've got to, Halla. I'll just be for until Steve and I get married. If we do," she added and I could almost hear her breathe a silent prayer. "Oh, I know it's wrong of me, things being the way they are, but I wish we could get married tomorrow."

"Well, whenever the wedding is, you're staying here until it. I won't have you going to a hotel." "For a moment she didn't answer, then she said softly, 'I'm afraid to stay here.'"

"But you're safer than in a hotel. Steve and Jeff and I..." "I don't mean that. I'm not afraid for myself. I'm afraid for you, Halla, when these things first began to happen I was so terrified and sort of numb about it all that I..."

Man About Manhattan—'Berlin Diary' Has Reasons For Being America's Best Seller

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK — Lay long this morning thinking about a game I saw the other night at the Polo Grounds, and about "Berlin Diary," and about the things to be done before I can get away for some sort of vacation.

Under the amber lights the game was tense and exciting, but unreal. . . . It seemed like a contest in technicolor. . . . For two miles on either side of the ancient hangout of the Giants under Coogan's Bluff the roads were lined with cars. . . . More than 32,000 people had turned out to see the old hero, old Long Drawers Carl Hubbell, try to turn back Medwick and Camilli and the Dodgers. . . . He lost, 3 to 1. . . . Somehow, it makes me sad to see Hubbell lose.

After the game we returned, for a change, without pausing for anything to eat. . . . The idea was to get a good night's rest. . . . But it didn't work out that way. . . . I picked up William Shirer's "Berlin Diary," and couldn't put it down for a hundred pages. . . . Finally I fell into a fitful sleep and dreamed all night of being chased by wild dogs with great evil fangs, and about a man selling Christmas trees. . . . I don't know who the man was, or what he was doing with Christmas trees in August.

"Berlin Diary" is a day-by-day account of purges, politics, fanaticism and trumpet calls, from 1934 to 1941. . . . Shirer saw all the principal actors of the Third Reich almost every day and he knew their aims and their petty grievances. . . . For instance, when Goering married a provincial actress, says Shirer, Goebbels told the newspaper they could "comment sarcastically" if they wanted to. . . . No wonder "Berlin Diary" has outstripped, by leaps and bounds, all other current books on Europe and the war.

I may go down to Miami next week, thus combining a little business with pleasure. . . . If I do, I will fly either to San Juan or New Orleans. . . . It doesn't really matter which. There are people I ought to see in both places.

I am building some new book shelves that will stretch the length of two windows. . . . They will reach from the sill to the floor and will be used exclusively for members of the American Guide Series, state and regional. . . . The latest state guides that have come my way are "Massachusetts, a Guide To Its Places and People," and "Alabama, A Guide To the Deep South."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Coons Loves Sullivan But Sullivan Hates Writers

HOLLYWOOD — I guess it'll always be this way: I love Margaret Sullivan but she doesn't love me. I believe, or hope, there's nothing personal in Maggie's not loving me. I believe she just can't love anybody who looks as if he might have pencil and note-paper in his pocket. She just can't love anybody who asks question about Margaret Sullivan.

Now that my heart's on my sleeve, I want to tell how it all began. It was at a little party some years back, and Maggie was there, sifin and pretty in jodhpurs and a Robin Hood green blouse, and with her new coat of tan she looked like a bright nut-brown nymph.

I said to my wife, "Look!" And my wife said, "Uh-huh-h-h!"

Now I belong to the let-Garbo-be-alone school and the same applies to Maggie. On the "Appointment for Love" set, though, I saw her being charming and gay and chummy with everybody, and I guess I couldn't stand it. She was busy but I could wait.

And she was very charming when she came. She couldn't sit down because she was going, right away. She was charming, but hurried.

She didn't like to talk about herself (she answered my question) and that was the main reason she avoided "interviews." She had other reasons, too—an "unfortunate experience" or two.

Her director, William Selter, had told me she didn't like comedy, I mentioned it. "But I love comedy," she said. "I just don't think I'm good in it. It requires a certain deftness that I'm sure I lack. Charles Boyer (her co-star) feels the same way about himself in comedy."

I said I'd bet she'd be good. Had she seen herself yet?

She hadn't seen herself on the screen in five years, never saw the "rushes," never saw her own pictures. "Just vanity," she said. "Seeing me on the screen depresses me."

She was chatting merrily, but obviously trying to escape. She spied amiable Bill Selter nearby. "What do you mean," she pounced upon him with mock fury, "telling him I don't like comedy?"

Maggie told him how she loved comedy — "only I wish," she laughed, "that I had just one good death scene!"

I think she hoped, talking to Bill, that I'd go away. But I guess I'll always love her just the same.

Cooks to be British Officers

LONDON—The British soldier won't be able to tell the cook what he thinks of him in the future—"cookie" will be an officer. The army catering corps is the newest formation—so new it hasn't decided yet whether its cap badge is to be a pot or a kettle. First hint of its formation was when the appointment of three officers to the new corps was published in the London Gazette.

you're going home with me this week end at Mother's command. It's in the bag. Mother never lets anyone in our house that ain't fit to marry."

"But she didn't say yes, Steve." "She knows you're in the theater and she didn't say no! And when she sees you, darling, and when Dad sees you! Stop worrying." He kissed her. I turned my back and started to play he-loves-me-he-loves-me-not on an old cactus plant.

"Ouch!" I said. Carol and Steve laughed politely. I got it. Cupid didn't have to blow his whistle in my ear. I went into the kitchen and played with the pots and pans.

Jeff's greeting to Steve and Carol brought me back into the living room ten or fifteen minutes later at a gallop. He was already at the telephone. "Hello, has Peterson come in yet? This is Jeff Troy, he'll talk to me. It's important, something on the Colony case.... Thanks, I'll hang on."

Steve and I fired excited questions at Jeff but he was connected with Peterson almost immediately. "Hello, this is Troy. I've been trying to get you every five minutes for the last half hour. Listen, Peterson, could you locate Greeley Morris and bring him up to Hall's apartment?... I'm not asking you to run errands for me! This is important! I've got something I'll tell you when you get here with Morris. ... I'm not withholding evidence! When I tell you what I know, you'll want Morris. I'm saving you time, that's all.... He isn't at his hotel; I've just come from there. ... All right, I'll talk to you. I know who Lee Gray is! I've found her!"

"Jeff!" I shouted.

"Please!" Jeff said. He turned back to the telephone. "You get Morris up here, Mr. Peterson, and I'll tell you." He hung up and took off his hat and coat.

"Well, Jeff?" I asked impatiently.

"Maybe I shouldn't tell you till Peterson gets here." "Maybe you shouldn't, but you're going to!"

"Okay, relax." Steve leaned forward in his chair, waiting. I glanced at Carol.

She was staring at Jeff, her lips slightly parted, her hands clenched at her sides. None of us spoke. Jeff lit a cigarette with maddening care.

"Lee Gray is an actress and her name on the stage is Lella Gray. Ever hear of her, any of you? No? Well, she's not very well known. So far as I can find out she's only appeared in one play and then for only a couple of weeks. It was a tryout in England. In Manchester, to be exact. The play was Green Apples."

Steve spoke sharply. "Green Apples! But then, then Greeley Morris would have known her. I understood...."

Grew Talks With Japs On New Controls

Seeks Freedom Of Americans Wanting To Leave Japan

TOKYO, Aug. 19. (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew said today that for a considerable period of time he had been "talking with the Japanese government about restrictions on Americans leaving Japan and other problems related to United States citizens."

The ambassador's statement came as Koh Ishii, cabinet information bureau spokesman, denied that the Japanese government intends to hold Americans as hostages. Supplementing press conference statements, Ishii declined to elaborate on what problems were related to the departure of Americans and other aliens, but intimated that they were not trade, political or other international issues.

It was pointed out that new home office restrictions on foreigners' entry and residence, issued Aug. 15, applied to all aliens regardless of nationality and these were compared with similar legislation of other countries, including United States laws effective Sept. 1.

The Japanese spokesman said Japan could not remain indifferent to the shipment of munitions by the United States to Soviet Russia by way of Vladivostok.

"We will keep peace in the Orient," Ishii said. He asserted that American diplomacy "should have delicacy" in handling the tense Far Eastern situation.

Editorials in the Japanese press expressed concern over U. S. aid to Russia. One newspaper, Chugai, asserted that "even if British-American supplies fall actually to reach the Soviet, the fact can not be overlooked that it (aid to Russia) has at least the effect of reinforcing Soviet troops in the Far East."

Ishii's remarks on aid to Russia followed his comments on Secretary of State Hull's statement that the Japanese had not given a satisfactory explanation concerning their failure to let about 100 United States citizens leave Japan aboard the liner President Coolidge.

OPM-OPACS Fuss Probe Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. (AP)—President Roosevelt has commissioned Judge Samuel I. Rosenman to make a study of differences between the office of production management and the office of price administration and civilian supply.

In making this known today, Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said that Rosenman, an old friend and advisor of the chief executive, was still in Washington but he did not know whether a report was ready for Mr. Roosevelt.

OPM and OPACS have not seen eye to eye on some policy matters, such as a proposed curtailment of automobile production to make room for expanded defense output by motor car plants.

Asked whether he had heard that a super defense agency might be organized with Vice President Wallace in charge Early said he did not know whether that was right or not. Questioned whether Rosenman was working on reorganization of the defense set up, Early replied:

"Rosenman has been associated with the president for years. He was counselor in Albany then he went on to the bench.

"Like most others in this emergency, he asked the president if he could render any assistance. He said he would give the president his vacation, between the time court recessed and convened, and offered to come to Washington and do any chores the president might assign him."

One plan reported under consideration was creation of a policy board. It was said to have the backing both of Rosenman and the budget bureau.

Approximately 125 persons participated in the Brotherhood of the East Fourth Baptist church picnic Monday evening at the city park.

The missing men list at the selective service board has been reduced to 24 men, nine of them of Mexican extraction. This is less than one per cent of the 3,008 originally registered with the board. Before long the board may be required to send names of those listed as "missing" to federal courts, from whence the FBI will take a hand in locating those who have failed to keep in contact with the board.

Applications for enlistment in the U. S. marine corps will be accepted here at the postoffice on Aug. 25-26 by Sgt. Claude B. Read. On Aug. 27-28, he will offer similar recruiting service at Lamesa.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Scattered spots of strength persisted in today's stock market but many leaders were unable to repeat on Monday's slow-going recovery.

The foreign news, specifically Moscow's admission the German thrust was gaining momentum, served to chill some potential buyers. In addition the widening rift between the United States and Japan tended to shift some bullish forces to the conservative ranks.

Dealings were about on a par with the proceedings of the previous session, transfers approximating 400,000 shares.

Wheat closed 1-8 to 5-8 cent higher than Monday's final quotations. September 1.11 5-8 to 1-2, December 1.15 3-8 to 1-4; corn unchanged to 1-8 lower, September 77, December 80 1-2; and oats 1-8 to 3-8 up.

Seven Dead, 40 Missing In Pier Blaze

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Seven persons were known to be dead and some two score missing today as aftermath of a blazing inferno which swept a Brooklyn pier, eating up cargo and destroying the Cuba Mail Line ship Panuco and numerous small craft, but an investigator said the total death toll of the $1,500,000 fire may never be known.

At least 85 persons were in hospitals seriously injured as a board of inquiry of the U. S. marine inspection and navigation service opened a formal investigation of yesterday's tragedy.

The bulk of the Panuco still smoldered, holding nobody knew how many victims.

Although the fire took place on a defense-vital waterfront, virtually within sight of the Brooklyn navy yard and numerous leasehold loading docks, the possibility of sabotage was considered unlikely.

AUSTIN, Aug. 19. (AP)—Texas oil conservation officials today worked out procedural details on transfer of 11,332 barrels of crude oil produced Sunday as a gift to Great Britain.
