RETURNS AFTER TOUR DECLARING U. S. IS BETTER

AKRON, Ohio, June 26.—"Believe me, the United States is the best country on the face of the globe," said W. W. McIntosh, local resident, just returned from a four-months' cruise in the Orient.

"They ought to charge every one of these foreigners—I don't care who they are—$1,000 for letting them come into this country."
 "If you want to cure political restlessness, just send some of these 'strangers' out for six months and they'll come back and you won't hear a murmur out of them for the rest of their lives."

"It's a wonderful lesson in patriotism. It was the women who did the work in the mines, and it is, really, among the women in Japan that the greatest need exists for improved conditions. In some instances the mortality for consumption among women in the silk mills is as high as 30 per cent."

"You will find it generally true that occidentals trust, and like, the Chinese, but have little use for the Japs."
 "The reason is that the Japanese, time and again, has proved that he is tricky. For instance, there was a Japanese firm which ordered a printing press from the states. In three months or so they sent a letter saying that the press wouldn't work. A man was dispatched to see what the trouble was. When he arrived he saw, not one, but six printing presses. The Japs had copied the thing exactly. But it so happened that an arm of the first press had bent in shipping. Naturally the defect had been copied, and none of the presses would work."

More than 10,000 of the 15,000 or more girls employed in the 75 silk mills in the Scranton and Lackawanna valleys in Pennsylvania are working on part time, due to the unsettled conditions of the silk market.

WORKING BY MUSIC IS EFFICIENT FOR ONE BIG FACTORY

International News Service. WASHINGTON, Del., June 26.—Efficiency among workers in the plant of the P. Lorillard company here has increased 20 per cent since the inauguration of a continuous musical programme during working hours. A gratifying feature of the innovation is that while classical or semi-classical music has been found beneficial, "jazz" has proved detrimental to efficiency.

A player piano has been installed in the wrapping department of the plant. Rolls have been purchased and a boy hired to "make melody" from the time the girls begin work until they stop. Playing and singing is practically continuous. Whether following the measured tempo of a continental ballad or the accelerated time of a march, nimble fingers move more rapidly and production is increased.

Each week new rolls are bought and each week a singer from the service organization teaches the girls a new song. "It works wonderfully well," said an official of the company today. "I have noticed, however, that ragtime upsets the girls, disturbs their work and hurts production. I have bought only rolls of a time-classic nature and there is a mild hum on all 'jazz' music."

MINISTER MAKES HOME IN CHURCH IN CROWDED CITY

By Associated Press. LAWRENCE, Mass., June 26.—Leaving the Far West, where land is "so plenty," and housing no problem, to come to Lawrence and live in a church parlor for want of a tenement, is the experience of a pastor who has answered a call to the Salem street primitive Methodist church of this city.

The family of Rev. Clement Crawley, D. D., arrived here last week from Boscomb, Wis. Since last Friday the Rev. Crawley has been in Lawrence looking for a tenement, but not one could be found. As a result the Crawley home was set up in the parlor of the church, which is situated in South Lawrence. Breakfast was cooked for the first time in the executive chamber of the church parlor. The Crawley family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Crawley and three husky young sons, Leonard, Wesley and Walter, will continue to make their home in the church until it is possible to get a tenement.

MARQUIS' TRUANT SONS CAUGHT AFTER LONG HUNT

BRISTOL, Eng., June 26.—Two of the young sons of the Marquis of Bute ran away from the Catholic seminary at Downside, Somerset, and the country was scoured by the police without result until finally the lads were found at Wells. The elder boy, not quite thirteen, has the courtesy title of the Earl of Dumfriess. His brother, eleven, is called Lord Robert Clifton Stuart. How long they were away and just what they did the school authorities have not told.

MODEL FRIEND LAUDS MURDERED ELWELL

Miss Beatrice Tremaine.

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Special)—"Joe Elwell was one of the finest men that ever lived, and I cannot understand why other men should be saying that he lacked courage, that he wined when he lost money or that he lacked any of the qualities that go to make up a splendid man."

So declares Miss Beatrice Tremaine, one of the women who figured in the life of Joseph B. Elwell, the murdered turfman, and her mother confirmed this estimate of the man's character. Miss Tremaine is a dress model and was employed by Lucile. It was through that employment that she met Elwell.

It looked as though they must have had a tiff and afterward made it up. Miss Tremaine denied she had been an artist's model. Her mother explained that she posed once for Andrew Poole for an oil portrait. They also denied that they had seen Elwell at Saratoga, though they had met him while they were wintering at Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Tremaine asked for her opinion of the tragedy, said there was no doubt in her mind that Elwell had been murdered through the jealousy of a man or woman. "There is no other possible motive that could explain this horrible crime," she declared. "Joe was altogether too fine a fellow, too just, too fair and kind to everyone, to have enemies on any other ground."

CARPET BAGGER HOLDS SWAY IN BALKAN STATE

BUCHAREST, June 25.—That the carpet bagging system known to the South after the civil war has been applied by the Rumanians in their new provinces of Bessarabia, Bukovina and Transylvania, is the burden of complaints that the minority population of these provinces are sending to the allied governments. It is charged that these provinces have been loaded up with dishonest civilian officials, who work in connection with the armies of occupation to bulldoze and terrorize the local inhabitants. It is even charged that the wealthier landowners are being arrested in the hope that they will either desert their lands or sell their homes far under the real value.

According to Dr. Nicholas Lupu, recently minister of the interior, the army of occupation in these provinces should long since have been removed. "After four years of war soldiers respect the rights of nobody," he said. In Bessarabia, where the army is kept as a protection against the Bolsheviks, the charges of mal-administration have been many. It is stated that here the army has also prevented the just operation of the law providing for the division of the land.

The gravest charges come from Transylvania and the Hungarian frontier, where the nationality bitterness has long been deep. On those members of the Hungarian nobility who have persisted in remaining on their estates are quartered a half dozen soldiers or policemen, who practically hold them prisoners. While they are able to operate their estates, they are not permitted to receive visitors or mail except by permission of these soldiers. Many instances are cited where the head of the house has been arrested and so harassed that he had to flee, leaving his home in the possession of his wife and daughter, much after the manner of the Russian and Polish landholders during the early stages of Bolshevism.

There are many cases where thoroughbred horses have been stolen and later entered into the races in the different cities of Rumania. There have been numerous reports that the Transylvanians hope to find a way out of their difficulties by converting themselves into a small republic, if later circumstances permit, or else of again joining themselves to the Hungarians. It is charged that the land is being taken from the rightful owners and divided up among the Rumanian carpet baggers, who in turn sell it to the Rumanian peasants of the country.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torbins, "do you want me to vote?"
 "I'm not going to tell you."
 "Why not?"

The number of needle women engaged in the production of fine hand embroidery in Mallorea is estimated at approximately 3,500, of which number about one in five is capable of the very finest work.

The women of Tilt Cove, Newfoundland, are the pride and envy of the bay. In a season of failure in the sealing industry they scored a catch and kill of the size that almost put the men sealers to shame.

Life Is Not Ended.

"Nothing done at the Allied meet." We thought at first it was a story of either the state Legislature or the United States Congress.

This view spread itself throughout the United States, conveying the impression that the world is a hopeless muddle that even the future will never untangle.

It is not generally considered, but the League of Nations is working today. We have looked too long upon article ten of the covenant until we no longer see those sections dealing with domestic affairs.

But on the contrary, the League is feverishly active, not fighting, but feeding starving nations and curing diseased populations. When all the world has enough to eat and when plagues no longer threaten every community, then will man once more take a rational view of politics and national intercourse.

The people are starving, how can they be satisfied if they suffer from disease, making them irritable and impatient. While these conditions prevail there will be an incessant cry against those in authority and control.

Only the thorough co-operation of all nations will bring about a stabilizing of trade. Production will rise only when the seeds are once again sold, currency will be equalized when factories everywhere are working full time, and factories cannot operate unless raw material is provided.

It is matters of this sort the League of Nations is now engrossed with. It must feed the people, make them healthy, and start the wheel of trade, then once again will the sun of world harmony rise.

BEAUTY HINTS

P. G.—A Constant Reader—Reducing the bust is one of the hardest things in the world to do. The best way to do it is to reduce all over, for in practically every case where the bust is too large, the girl or woman is overweight.

I know of many cases where women have successfully reduced a large bust by rubbing with spirits of camphor. This, as you know, is the method followed in weaning a baby, when the mother is trying to dry up the milk and it is, I believe responsible for most cases of flat bust.

Mrs. D.—The formula I have for a bust developer is a simple fattening tonic containing one ingredient which acts directly on the mammary glands. It is perfectly harmless and in practically all cases it has developed the bust to a noticeable extent.

Efficient Housekeeping

The Housekeeper's Hot Weather Lunch In summer a slice or two of cold meat, a couple of leaves of lettuce or an individual plate, and some kind of fruit dessert serves admirably as a lunch for the average housewife.

Too often the housekeeper thinks she can eat "just anything" when she lunches alone, and that it does not matter much what she chooses.

Meat, fish, eggs, cheese and milk provide protein. Potatoes, rice, macaroni, bananas, sugar and bread provide the starchy element of a meal. Butter, cream, gravy, nuts, the grease in which fried foods are cooked, and meat fat furnish the fatty element which is so necessary.

HUNT SLAYERS OF DAUGHTER OF B. J. ARNOLD

CHICAGO, Ill.—Soldiers and civil oficers searched four counties for trace of four soldiers believed to be responsible for the killing of Mrs. Maude Louise Moss, daughter of Col. Bion J. Arnold of Chicago, one of the foremost electrical engineers in the world and wife of Capt. L. H. Moss of Camp Grant.

They hunted through the roads and the river bottoms, the deserted buildings in Camp Grant, and in the cities in Ogle, Lee, Stephenson, and Rock counties.

Mrs. Moss was shot in the back of the head at midnight. She and her husband were in an automobile with Capt. and Mrs. William V. McCright. They had gone for a drive because the night was warm. The auto, a new one, was touring a dark road through the camp.

Soldiers Pass; Shot

Four soldiers passed. The first was a negro that sounded like the bursting of a tire. The machine stopped. The officers got out and examined the tires. There was nothing the matter with them. They got into the machine again and started on.

Mrs. Moss had fallen asleep shortly before this. She had not awakened.

The others in the car spoke in low tones that they might not disturb her. Then the car struck a bump, and Mrs. Moss slumped from her position on the seat and fell to the floor.

Discover Woman Dying

There was a little laughter but the woman did not move. Her husband bent to raise her, and then it was they discovered Mrs. Moss had been shot. She was hurried to the base hospital. Her father at Rockford, was notified. She died before her father arrived at the hospital.

When daylight broke the shell of a 45-calibre automatic bullet was picked up near where the car had passed the soldiers.

There are three theories to account for the firing of the shot. One is that the bullet was intended not for Mrs. Moss but her husband.

Had Planned Escape

Four soldiers had escaped from the guard house at the camp late in the afternoon. One of them had brought before a court martial three times on charges preferred by Capt. Moss. It was indicated that the escape had been prearranged. An automobile had been stolen at Davis Junction, a small town just south of the camp and not far from where the shooting occurred.

Col. Arnold, however does not believe in this theory. The road, he says, was dark. The people in the car were hidden. It was a new car and not known in the camp. It would not have been possible

Harding Seeks Aid of Every Faction to Help Him Win

WASHINGTON.—In accord with his announced decision against "one man" campaign, Senator Harding conferred with various party leaders and will discuss his plans with Harry M. Dougherty his pre-convention campaign manager. At the conference a date for holding the notification ceremonies at the nominee's home at Marion, Ohio, is expected to be fixed.

Senator Harding announced his advertisement to a "one man" campaign at his daily conference with newspapermen today. He declared that all Republicans looked alike to him and that he would solicit advice from leaders of all factions in the conduct of his campaign. He added that this would be his policy, not only during the campaign, but later should he be elected President.

He hopes to see Johnson

Asked if he had seen Senator Johnson of California, Senator Harding said: "I hope to see all of my colleagues. Our relations have always been very cordial."

A two-hour conference with Senator Lodge and Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, and also a conference of less length with Senators Moses of New Hampshire, Fall of New Mexico, and France of Maryland, all Republicans was held by Senator Harding today. All the conferences pertained, it was understood, to campaign plans.

The conference with Mr. Dougherty is looked upon by Mr. Harding's friends as important as it will be the first between the Senator and his campaign manager since the former's return to Washington, and also because it is expected to determine details connected with the immediate conduct of the campaign. The senator is also expected to decide tomorrow the place where he will go for his vacation and for the numerous conferences with party leaders.

Wants Early Notification

Senator Harding was said to be desirous of fixing without delay the date for the notification in order that arrangements for the ceremonies can be started at once. The nominee's home town, it was explained, is not quite adequately prepared at present for the handling of such an event, and in fixing a date sufficient time must be allowed for the installation of additional telegraph facilities, as well as for the making of other arrangements necessary to the handling of the event. Preparation of the speech of acceptance also is expected to be a subject of discussion at the conference with Mr. Dougherty.

Senator Harding also received a large number of callers, among whom were Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Representative Winslow (Rep., Mass.), James K. Mercer of Columbus, Ohio, Legislative Historian, and R. B. Staussburger of Norristown, Pa., one of the managers for Senator Johnson of California.

Senator Harding's office continued to be swamped with congratulatory letters and telegrams. Among the telegrams was one from the Nome, Alaska, Republican Club.

Senator Kenyon wired and Chauncey M. Denev wrote their congratulations and Otto H. Kahn of New York telegraphed: "You represent and exemplify in your career that calm minded unswerving resolutely American type, which equally opposed to the selfish reactionary and to the Utopian radical, believes firmly in the time honored and tested doctrines, spirit and tradition of the American constitutional system of government, the disregard of which within recent years is largely responsible for the troubles that beset us."

TWINS LOSE CASH IN LOANS BECAUSE THEY LOOK ALIKE

DETROIT, June 26.—Walter and Ludwig Arzon are twins and they are said to look so much alike that if one of them takes sick the other feels like calling a doctor. They can loan money and have their debtors dispute as to which one advanced the cash.

In Judge Theodore Richter's court Walter and Ludwig brought suit against Paul and A. Golombek for the recovery of various sums which they said they had loaned the two with whom they boarded. Walter said he had loaned his landlady $125 and some merchandise, but Mrs. Golombek couldn't decide whether she had borrowed from Walter or Ludwig. Ludwig said he had loaned Paul Golombek $269 at one time and $14 at another, but Paul couldn't remember whether he had borrowed from Walter or Ludwig. The defendants argued that

BOND IS GIVEN BY ORIENT FOR GOVERNMENT AID

AUSTIN, June 25.—Acting under the authority of the Texas railroad commission, the Orient railroad registered a $4,436,633 bond with the secretary of state, secured by the property of the company in Texas. The registration of the bond, H. S. Garrett, general attorney for the company, explained, is to aid in financing the railroad, there being an application for aid before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

UP-TO-DATE PARIS DANCES AS DIFFICULT AS NAMES

PARIS.—Tehga, caprice and berceuse are the names given to dances which the inventors "demonstrated" at the recent conference of dancing masters. It is predicted that ballrooms will be places of misery, as the successors of the fox-trot and one-step are difficult, especially the tehga, which has been described as slow at times, then very quick, very dashing and Spanish, with a lot of bending forward, then backward, then forward and stamping of the feet.

In Switzerland there is an old law which compels every married couple to plant six trees immediately after the wedding ceremony and two on the birth of every child.

Times Want Ads Pay

These sums were paid them for board, but the twins insisted they had loaned the money.

After separating the twins and learning which name belonged to each of them, Judge Richter gave Walter a judgment for $128 and Ludwig a judgment for $269.

Robbers Show Chivalry Age Is Not Yet Dead

MARSEILLES, June 26.—No pirate of the Spanish Main had any more right to call himself a "jolly sea rover" than the band of carefree Turkish raiders who went through the passengers of the French steamer Soudah off Batum recently just like an old-time train robber in the West. The story of the hold-up has just been told here by Captain Mattei of the Soudah, which has just reached port on the return trip.

Gallantry was one of the conspicuous traits of the band. They bent low over the hands of the women passengers before proceeding to despoil them of their rings. They begged pardon before breaking open a trunk which they imagined contained valuables. They were polite to the commander and crew and said "Au revoir, bon voyage!" in the pleasantest tone imaginable when they left with their booty. If Captain Mattei had read a certain volume of sea stories by an American author he would have said that the "chief of the band was the pleasantest pirate who ever cut a throat or scuttled a ship." Here is part of the captain's story:

"We left Batum on May 6 with about 900 passengers, of whom a large part were French. The twenty-five bandits who finally held us up came aboard with tickets and passports in order. They were quiet and affable, although I remembered later that they professed to be Bolsheviks. We were on our way to Trebizond when about 8 o'clock in the evening the bandits, who had taken up strategic positions all over the ship, covered me and my officers with revolvers and announced that they owned the vessel.

"They proceeded to demolish the wireless installation and while a dozen of them kept watch over us the rest went through the saloons and cabins. They inspected everything. They broke into trunks. The pirates were very gallant, especially toward women passengers. I saw two of them, Georgians I believe, who bowed with exquisite grace before one woman who was in a panic of fright and tell her in passably French not to worry. They took her bag, emptied it and handed it back with thanks. Others kissed the woman's hands and then tactfully drew jeweled rings from the fingers they had just embraced.

"The loot amounted to about two million francs. One Frenchman lost 150,000 francs and a Persian passenger was relieved of 700,000. At 1 o'clock in the morning the chief of the band ordered Captain Mattei to sail toward the coast. When about two miles off shore the band commanded two boats and rowed away shouting "Bon voyage," and waving their hands to the passengers.

DISAGREEABLE TASTE IN MOUTH

Stomach Was Out of Order and Head Ached, So Kentucky Man Took Black-Draught. "It Cured Me," He Says.

Nancy, Ky.—Mr. Marion Holcomb, of this place, says: "For quite a long while, I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, also a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache.

"I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble.

"I heard Theford's Black-Draught recommended very highly, so I began to use it. It cured me. I keep it in the house all the time. It is the best liver medicine made. I do not have sick headache or stomach trouble any more."

When suffering from headache, constipation, stomach or liver trouble, try it and well-recommended, purely vegetable, Theford's Black-Draught. As Black-Draught brought relief to Mr. Holcomb, so it also has helped others, and should help you.
