DEATH EVEN BETTER THAN LIFE IN PEN

OSSINING, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Just before Matthew Wasser of Buffalo, was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last night, he declared his opposition to the efforts which would abolish capital punishment.

FAMILY NOW HAVE PLENTY OF SUPPLIES

According to Mrs. E. L. McMillen, of the Childs Welfare Club, the response to the appeal for clothes and help for a mother and four children, which ran in the Times a few days ago, was stupendous. The heart of Ranger and its vicinity was touched to its depths. Clothes and food and money donations just poured in. Some did not wait to phone for some one to come after them, but they brought them in themselves. Response came from the town and from the country and today the little family is happy. The home is in order, clean and sweet. Life looks rosy. The children are fed and clothed. Their is food in the larder and several changes of clothing. And not only was this family helped, but Mrs. McMillen says there was enough for them to share with other needy ones, and that the Childs Welfare club feels very thankful to all who responded to their call for help.

District Governor Of Lions Inspires Eastland Clubs

Cravens Tells of Work Done by Organization In Home Town

Mrs. Francis Chapin Gold of Holyoke, Mass., is a freshe at Mt. Holyoke College. Her two sons are students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

An inspiring message was brought by District Governor E. P. Craven of Austin to the Lions at the inter-city meeting in Eastland at the Legion hall last night.

"The weekly meeting, if they did nothing else except bring the members together in friendly contact, would be well worthwhile," Craven declared, "but the clubs should and must accomplish things in order to carry out the purpose for which the movement was established."

"And it is because Lionism is carrying out its mission," service, founded on the Golden Rule," that it has grown until it now has more than 50,000 members, with 1,000 clubs, in the United States and Canada."

Clubs Do Things That the Lions and like organizations are more than "eating clubs," as one critic deridingly called them was demonstrated by Craven with his home city, Austin, as a specific illustration, where the Lions have constructed a city golf course at a cost of $30,000, the Rotarians have built an orphanage and the Kiwanis have built a Boy Scouts headquarters.

The district governor reminded the Lions of the State convention in Houston, May 10-11, and the international convention in San Francisco on July 19-24. He referred to the international session last year which opened with the singing of "America," and then, in cordial courtesy to Harry Newman, a Canadian, at that time, the international president, "God Save the King," was sung.

Humor Blends with Seriousness. As illustrative of the humor that blended into the seriousness of Craven's address, a little poem that he quoted could be cited. He said the singing of the British song reminded him of the verse:

"Five Americans who were dry, Went across to Canada to get themselves some rye; And when the rye was opened, they all began to sing, To 'h— with Mr. Volstead and God save the king."

The two big problems of the clubs are attendance and finance," he said "but if you solve the attendance problem, the finance problem will be solved too, for attendance creates enthusiasm."

Visit All Clubs. In becoming district governor, he pledged himself to visit personally 75 deputy district governors, all the clubs in Texas and in carrying out.

MURDER HITS DALLAS JOLT; CITY STIRRED

DALLAS, Feb. 5.—Stirred by the cold-blooded shooting of C. Marshall Isbell, 25 years old, motorcycle patrolman, the entire police force was called out on emergency duty to ferret out all the lines, roads and streets of the city in an effort to catch the perpetrator of the deed. They were armed with shotguns and have been out since midnight.

Isbell rode up beside an automobile and asked that they stop. The answer was a bullet from within the car. H. D. Wofford, who works with Isbell, then engaged in a running battle with the occupants of the death car, but without avail.

Early this morning, the police headquarters reported no one had been taken into custody. However, it is the belief of the department head, that Isbell's slayers were members of the bandit gang that looted the two financial institutions in Venus Wednesday night and feared capture. The raiders took a desperate chance in shooting down Isbell.

Find Riddled Auto. DALLAS, Feb. 5.—Shortly after the arrest of a suspect in the connection with the slaying of Motor Patrolman Marshall Isbell, police found a bullet riddled automobile in the Trinity river bottoms.

The car was believed to have been abandoned by the slayers, shortly after they eluded R. D. Wafford, Isbell's partner, who chased them after the killing. The bore of the revolver taken from it and held by the police is being compared with the hole in Isbell's cap where the bullet entered. Police have conferred and decided not to give up their hunt until every possible suspect is in jail.

A reward of $500 for the murderers' capture has been offered by the city. A fund is being collected for Isbell's widow.

Argentine President Regarded as "Lucky"

BUENOS AIRES, — Argentina's "lucky president," Dr. Avellaneda, continues to bring luck to those associated with him. In the recent 2,000,000 Peso Christmas lottery, a group of servants belonging to the private residence of the President divided a 10,000 Peso prize among them.

On a recent journey to Buenos Aires from France, several members of the crew on the ship bearing Argentina's president bought a lottery ticket after they reached Buenos Aires. The "lucky president" did his part, and the sailors drew the first prize of 100,000 Pesos.

GLASS SAND BEDS NEAR RANGER TO BE PRODUCTIVE

Beds in County Test Among Best in The Nation, the Chemists Says.

Eastland county contains glass sands that test with the best in the world. They are found near Ranger and prospects are that they will be developed. Secretary C. C. Patterson, of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce is in communication with parties to land a factory for the manufacture of glass bottles.

There are four glass factories in Texas and probably the fifth one may be established in Ranger. The Ranger glass sand was discovered years ago and since then, the Chamber of Commerce has been doing constructive work toward shaping it up, getting analysis and working day after day, week after week to interest some manufacturer in establishing a glass factory in Ranger.

There are six outstanding reasons on which this plan for a manufacturing plant is based. Cheap fuel, 1,500 acres of raw material, shale five to seven feet thick and only about three feet under the surface, some places outcropping to the surface, a good water supply, plenty of.

HOLD BODY OF L. B. PRICE AT FT. WORTH

By United Press. FORT WORTH, Feb. 5.—L. B. Price of Greenwich, Conn., a philanthropist who dropped dead at a banquet here last night after he had delivered an address in which he announced his gifts of $1,000 for the cause of the boys' club movement, started here is being held awaiting the arrival of his wife. A wire was sent to New Orleans to intercept Mrs. Price, who was to have arrived here today.

Mr. Price was head of the L. B. Price Mercantile company a concern that did an extensive installment plan business. He was a director of the National Federation of Clubs for Underprivileged Boys. Price arrived here Wednesday from his home in Greenwich to assist directors of the Union Gospel mission in organizing a boys' club in Port Worth. He was later to remain for several days and then depart for New Orleans, where he planned to join his wife, who is thought to be speeding toward the Crescent City from her home.

A fitting climax were the events leading up to the sudden death of the philanthropist. Price was the last speaker on the program at the mission meeting. In a masterful address, in which he often quoted the Bible and in which he charged wealthy men that it is their duty to use their gains for philanthropic purposes, Price attained the dramatic setting for death, which he did not suspect.

Price had been active for many years in the work of aiding the underprivileged boy.

AUTOISTS TAKE JOY OUT OF LIFE OF MOTOR COPS

It takes all the joy out of life, declare Motorcycle Officers Hammett and Robason, to see an automobile roll by with old licenses, then after a chase of several blocks to halt the driver and then he reaches under the back seat and produce a set of 1926 plates.

Seriously speaking, the motorcycle officers urge every one with the new licenses to put them in place on the car. Owing them is not enough. They must be in place. However, in all such cases, the officers have not turned in a complaint but have simply urged the motorists to remove the old numbers and put on the new ones.

"I chased five such drivers yesterday," lamented Robason. Incidentally, the officers have been devoting nearly all their time to Eastland since the enforcement of the license law went into effect, Feb. 1, but from now on, the other cities of the county are due for some attention.

Drillers Are Active Throughout County; Production Is Near

Corzelius Brothers To Spend $168,000 In Finding Oil

One hundred and sixty-eight thousand dollars will be spent in Eastland county by Corzelius Bros. & Taggart of Eastland, associates, who with seven operations under way, have taken the rank of being the most active operators in the county.

Several of the wells are near production and are reasonably sure of proving producers while several others are wildcats and may mean the opening up of new fields. Drilling has begun on the W. J. Poe, eight miles southwest of Eastland, the well being a mile and a quarter from the Schorr gasser of the Humble. Drilling has likewise started on the Morgan, 13 miles southwest of Eastland. This is a wildcat.

Busy on Cooper Place. — Three and a half miles north of Ranger on the Ellis Cooper, they are spending in 600 feet from their Wagner well, while on the N. S. Whitson, three and a half miles northeast of Ranger, drilling is in progress at 2,490 feet. This well is 800 feet from a well that came in for 1,200 barrels and produced 212,000 barrels before it was plugged. The gasser was owned by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company.

On the Goforth, thirteen miles north of Eastland, drilling has reached 1,200 feet. This well is a short distance over the line in Stephens county and is the only one of the operations that is not in Eastland county. This is a wildcat. Chesley Wildcat. Timbers are moving in the Chesley for a wildcat, six miles west of the once-noted boom town of Leary. Contract has been closed for a well on the Bishop, three and a half miles south of Eastland. In addition, the firm is drilling contractor for a well thirteen miles southeast of Big Spring for the Transcontinental Oil Company.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 5.—Rescuers have made no attempt to remove the bodies of sixteen men entombed in the Horning mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company here. C. C. Tuttle, president of the company announced today. The announcement refuted the story that all bodies had been found and would be removed before night. It will be late today before any organized effort will be made to enter the third zone, Tuttle said.

Rescuers halted work today when three more men collapsed from gas and mine experts said further work was unsafe even with oxygen helmets.

BOTH SIDES ASK FOR INSTRUCTED VERDICT OF JURY

H. K. McCallum, Fort Worth Sub-Contractor Is Last Witness on Stand.

Special Correspondence. AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—Judge George Cauhoun overruled the request of both the state and defense for pre-emptory instruction to the jury in the Hoffman Construction company plea of privileges case. He will charge the jury at 3 o'clock and argument before the jury will be begun. It appears certain the case will go to the jury late tonight. Testimony was concluded shortly before 10 o'clock today. H. K. McCallum, Fort Worth, sub-contractor under Hoffman company, was the last witness to testify. He was on the stand only a few minutes and was a state witness. When he left the stand the jury was excused until 2 o'clock. It was then that the state and the defense asked for pre-emptory instructions to the jury. Moody contended that the state has made a prima facie case that fraud has been committed and for that reason venue for trial of the suit brought by him for cancellation of contract and damages representing $21,000 lies in Travis county. Contention is made by defense counsel that fraud has not been shown and the court is asked to instruct the jury to render a verdict in favor of the defendant company, which would mean that the case would be tried on its merits in Eastland county, the domicile of the company.

HANLON PUTS OVER TRADE WITH TEXAS

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 5.—The Hanlon Gasoline company one of the Chestnut and Smith, affiliated interests, has concluded an operating arrangement with the Texas Company, covering the entire Texas company holdings in the Breckenridge district.

The deal does not involve the sale of the Texas Company Gasoline plant at Parks but gives the Hanlon Gasoline company a much broader development play in this prolific gas territory. The Texas Company reserves rights with respect to residue gas.

The Hanlon Gasoline Company also concluded the sale of a large quantity of natural gasoline to the Texas Company for delivery over a long period.

POULTRY MEN OF RANGER IN HIGH CLASS

An Eastland county poultryman holds second place in a nation-wide contest, it was announced this morning by R. H. Bush, county agent. In the national egg-laying contest, being conducted by the Texas A. & M. college, among 112 entrants from all parts of the nation in the white leghorn division, Otis Brady of Ranger is second for the United States and is first in Texas. The second Texan ranks sixth in the national standing.

Policemen and fire officials do not believe that any one else was in the building. A public investigation of the crash was started today.

DEATH IN WAKE OF STORM ALONG EASTERN COAST

RANGER AND THE PETROLEUM INDUSTRY.

While the petroleum industry plays an important part in the upbuilding of Ranger, it does not occupy the entire stage in the play that is making this town the metropolis of Central West Texas. Agricultural development, poultry raising, dairying and other industries also help in putting the growth over.

The petroleum industry again is coming to the front. The recent advance in the price of crude is just the beginning. The advance was to be expected in the face of the figures made public by the American Petroleum institute. There is a sharp decrease in production throughout the country. There is a decided increase noted in the consumption of gasoline and other petroleum products. With an increased consumption and a decreased production higher prices are expected to follow. Still other advances are to be expected,
 and that, within a short time, according to statements made by the big concerns.

The auto manufacturers of the nation are preparing to do the largest business in their history. Plants have been enlarged. More automobiles, trucks and motor buses have been contracted for than ever before in the history of the nation. It will require a greater amount of gasoline and lubricants to make them run.

More crude oil will have to be produced. While the big companies as well as the independents are looking out and prospecting in new fields, areas such as Eastland county and its surrounding territory will not be forgotten. It means a resumption of drilling campaigns in the Ranger district. When the Ranger district was in the heyday of its glory, a well known authority on petroleum told the writer who then lived in Fort Worth, that the surface had barely been scratched. The shallow fields only have been worked and below
 the shallow stratum will be found large pools of high gravity oil.

It will not be a great while,
 according to the actions of the companies, before the harsh grindings of the bullwheel and the ugly cough of the drill will again furnish the music to bring sleep to the tired babe and wake the business man early in the day to resume his labors. Again will the whistles of the refineries awake
 the employes.

Ranger is growing and Ranger will continue to grow. Its growth will be substantial, and instead of the flotsam and jetsam of humanity flocking in here as before, the new-comers will be substantial Americans. The "honky tonk," the cabaret and other like institutions that usually follow the boom will not come back. The brick shale beds of Ranger will be developed. Brick will be manufactured here to build skyscrapers in the larger centers of Texas. The glass sand found in unlimited quantities that is as good as the best in the world will be utilized. Chimneys of factories that will manufacture all the bottles needed in Texas will be erected and double shifts will be run.

The enterprising secretary of the Chamber of Commerce already is in touch with capitalists who are looking eagerly in this direction. It will not be long before the man with the plow
 will be cultivating his field to feed the industrial workers of Ranger and although he will be producing feed and clothing, in the same field may be found the oil well drilling crews.
 Both avocations can be worked at the same time. One will be bringing to the surface oil to run the wheels of industry and the other to feed and clothe the worker.

The Ghost—"What a Piker I was"

CADILLAC OPENS RANGER OFFICE FOR 5 COUNTIES

The latest industry in Ranger, is the opening of a Cadillac showroom and service department, which will be ready for business in a few days.
 The Cadillac agency is in the Marst building, next to the Old Cities Electric Company office at 326 Main. H. B. Street of Graham is president of the company, and L.
 Davidson of Fort Worth will be in charge of the local house. The service department will be under an expert Cadillac service man, C. Carl Lowe.

Mr. Davidson said, he was not a stranger in Ranger and had been selling Cadillacs in this country since 1918. He knows a number of people in the counties in which his agency will be represented, which are the eastern part of Callahan, Erath,
 the north one-half of Comanche, Eastland and Palo Pinto Counties.

Mr. Davidson is married and has a family, which he will move here as soon as he can obtain a suitable dwelling.

In selecting Ranger as their distributing center, Mr. Davidson paid quite a compliment to Secretary C.
 S. Patterson, for he said that it really one looked as though C. S. might be a more logical point, but that when he saw how wide awake Mr.
 Patterson was, how he left no stone unturned to get them a building, his changed his mind and decided this was the logical place.

The service end will be especially stressed, as it seems that Cadillac owners in this and other counties have been deprived of real Cadillac service, and this department, handled by Mr. Lowe, who is a factory man, will be a great factor.

The building is being provided with a big double drive-in door, as the service department will be in the rear, and a new single door has been cut out for the convenience of customers.

Ranger Will Not Send Theatre To Dallas Contest

Ranger Little Theatre will not take a play to Dallas, to the first Little Theatre tournament staged in Texas,
 during the week of April 5, according to Mrs. Marion F. Peters, its director, but the favors home to go over and see just what this tournament is like. Back on the 10th preparation of a play is given as the reason for this Little Theatre contest. The contest for the silver loving cup and $50 in cash that will be given as first and second prizes to the two winning groups.

It is reported that Oliver Hinsdell,
 director of the Little Theatre in Dallas, has received 21 applications from

Chief of Police Buys Big Tract To Cut Into Lots

Chief of Police O. V. Davenport and his daughter, Miss Estelle, are among the recent purchasers of Ranger real estate, having within the last few days closed a deal whereby they became the owners of the W.
 C. Gholson farm of 110 acres on the Strawn Highway.

They are going to block off the land in five, ten and fifteen acre blocks and sell.

W. H. Stein already has bought twenty-five acres from them, which he will improve.

These lots will face south on the highway and are well located, comparatively close in and will make an ideal home for any one.

Chief Davenport will build a home
 on a part of this acreage for his own family later on.

RANGER WANTS TO HEAD NATION IN COIN AUCTION

The special "Texas" Memorial coin will be auctioned off to the highest bidder, Saturday afternoon, at the Citizens State bank of Ranger, at 3 o'clock. There also will be a special drive Saturday under the sponsorship of Ranger's Stone Mountain memorial sponsor, Miss Helen Gunkle, of the Merriman community.

Now Ranger never does things by the halves. When the news was published of what the different towns had paid for the special memorial coins, those who were sponsoring the movement here, decided at once to "top the world" and all are interested in seeing just what this coin is going to bring at the public auction
 Saturday, but it is estimated that it is going to bring plenty and then some—enough to put it over and beyond anything that has been done
 by any other town in the United States.

It is expected that the lobby of the Citizens bank will be filled to capacity tomorrow afternoon for there will be some hot bidding and on the

Petty Thieves Invade Ranger High School

A series of small robberies at the Ranger High School are harassing school authorities and the police.
 Yesterday a coat worth something like $35.00 was taken from a locker.
 Saturday night a window was opened, door locks were broken and a number of tools were taken from the school, and some shoes and sweaters were missing. No clues have been found, but Chief Davenport of the Ranger police force, says
 it looks like the work of youngsters.

Salesmen Dream Of Organizing Band To Boost Ranger

Other than rebuilding the rock wall around an old camp site, near Ranger, the Ranger Salesmen's club is planning to turn its activities in the direction of the Ranger band. This was discussed at last night's smoker,
 held at the Boston street Bazaar which was attended not only by a good number of old members but several new members.

The salesmen smoked and talked and saw visions of a band, a most valuable asset to a town, plan to turn valuable asset to a town. The club plans to turn their thoughts that way.
 The aims and objects of the Sales-men's club have from its inception been for the betterment of its members and its town, and a uniting fraternity of all salaried men in all walks of life. It is explained that it is in no sense a union, except in the sense of linking together all wage earners and all salaried men, whose lives and interest run parallel, and whose sympathies are mutual.

The next meeting will be held on the night of Feb. 18.

Breckenridge Elks Organize Army And Navy Corp in Club

By United Press.
 BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 5.—At a recent meeting of the Elks lodge of Breckenridge, it was decided to organize an Army and Navy Corp in the lodge.

Organization of Army and Navy Corps in lodges all over the state is being undertaken and it is said to be a popular institution.

Briefly, it is explained as being a reversal of the usual army organization. All members of the lodge expect one are officers. The "buck private" is chosen by ballot and is superior to all his officers who salute him and bestow the honors
 and dignities of their organization
 on his brow.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, is expected in Breckenridge, February 15, to address the Elks at their regular weekly banquet.

The Breckenridge Elks are planning to send a large delegation to Dallas in April, when the State convention of Elks will be held.

Glass Sands

semi and unskilled labor, the railroad outlets and a rate on glass bottles being equal to Houston, San Antonio and Amarillo.

In spite of the Volstead law, there are still plenty of bottles being manufactured, and this sand shows that it would be particularly suited to the manufacturing of bottles.

A survey shows there are approximately 450,000 gross of soda pop bottles, 80,000 gross of milk bottles, besides thousands of bluing bottles, vinegar bottles, catsup and grape juice bottles and others used in the state of Texas annually, and one-half of this amount is used within 100 miles of Dallas.

Distribution Facilities.
Ranger has splendid facilities for distribution, having an outlet east and west over the T. & P. railroad, and north and south over the Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth railroad, and in an emergency can use fast motor lines; the freight rate from Ranger to Dallas, which as mentioned before is one of the largest bottle buying centers in the state, and has no glass bottle factory, is only 6 1/2 cents per 100 pounds. Ranger is so centrally located that the products of the factory could be shipped on equal rates to Houston, San Antonio and Amarillo.

Analysis
In regard to the raw material. It is here and in abundance. In 1923, H. R. Brayton, chemist, at College Station made an analysis of the Ranger glass sand, and in a letter to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce he gives the following analysis:

Women Here Are Happy Over Relief They Get From G. F. P.

Interesting Stories Told Every Day How Phenomenal Medicine Stamps Out Co-called "Female Troubles."

Judging from the tremendous amount of talk which the introduction here of the famous St. Joseph's G. F. P. has created among girls and women about the remarkable and quick results they are getting from it, the prediction of the discoverers that G. F. P. would meet with the same success here as it is wherever they have introduced it is being borne out.

"We were urged to give the women here the same benefits from our discovery, as we are giving girls and women in the bigger cities," says the representative of the discoverers. "While we are here, we will prove to every woman how easy it is to guard against, and actually overcome the distressing and disastrous effects which catarrh of the generative organs has on the entire system of women."

"This malady—catarrh—saps the vitality of women and produces a weakened condition which in nine times out of ten is the cause of painful and irregular functioning of the delicate generative organs; so-called barrenness; swelling of the joints and limbs, nausea and extreme discomfort during pregnancy; prolonged misery during the change of life; pains in the side and back, headaches, languidness, nervousness, irritable disposition, no appetite, loss of weight and absolutely no energy to do anything which means the slightest exertion."

"St. Joseph's G. F. P., the medicine we are introducing to prove our theories, and to correct just such conditions and ailments, we believe to be the first direct specific to be perfected and introduced to the women of this country. The fact that it is quickly overcoming them speaks louder for the correctness of what we have said than anything we could bring out."

Women Now Depend on St. Joseph's G. F. P.
To Restore Their Vitality

Silica (sio), 99.295 per cent; ferric oxide (Fe₂O₃), 0.513 per cent; organic and volatile matter, 0.192 per cent; calcium oxide (CAO), none; magnesia (Mgo), none.

He states in this letter that he thinks that sand would be of quality to produce glass, and further says that for the best grade of white glass, the ferric oxide should not exceed 0.5 per cent. This analysis shows that this sand comes within that qualification, also that the absence of magnesia and lime desirable, especially the magnesia. He states that the best glass sands in America are found in Berkshire, Mass., and in the Juniata River bed in Pennsylvania. The former runs 99.6 per cent Sio-2, and the latter 98.8 per cent, so its very clearly set forth that the Ranger sand with its 99.295 per cent is high enough in silica to rank right with the best in America.

Competition is not strong enough to warrant a dissenting thought, as the demand taxes the output of the four factories in Texas, and is steadily increasing.

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY:

Henry Rand, middle-aged business man, expected home by his family to celebrate his son Jimmy's 27th birthday, is found dead by police in a cheap hotel. The room is filled with gas. There is a welt on the back of his head.

The only clues are a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theatre ticket from the Paragon theatre in Waterston.

Jimmy's sister, Janet, breaks her engagement with Barry Colvin after the murder and Jimmy goes to Waterston with Detective Mooney, where they trace the ticket stub to a Thomas Fogarty.

Jimmy saves Mary Lowell, a Waterston girl, from the attentions of two masher. The next night he and Mooney lay a trap for Fogarty. They follow him to his hotel room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: CHAPTER IX.

"Come," a deep bass voice spoke from the room.

Mooney turned the knob and slipped quietly into the room with Rand at his heels. They closed the door behind them and stood facing Fogarty.

He was sitting on the bed, tearing a letter from its envelope, and did not look up at once, obviously thinking a bell boy had come.

The utter silence in the room made him turn his head. He saw Mooney and Jimmy. The letter dropped from his grasp. He jumped to his feet. "Who the hell are you?" he demanded.

"Sit down, Fogarty." Mooney strode into the middle of the room and displayed his badge. "Nobody's going to start any rough stuff as long as you behave yourself. We want to ask you a few questions."

"You fresh dick, I'll have you busted for this!" The veins in Fogarty's fat neck swelled. His face turned several shades redder.

"All right," answered Mooney, "but wait till I get through. In the first place, Mr. Fogarty, did you ever hear of Henry Rand?" The little detective was watching Fogarty closely. "Never heard of him."

"Henry Rand of Grafton?" pursued Mooney, his eyes still on the other's face.

"No," Fogarty shook his head. "What's the game?" he asked angrily. "Just this, Mr. Fogarty. A man of the name of Henry Rand—this man's father here, indicating Jimmy—was killed in a hotel in Grafton last Wednesday. The room was engaged Tuesday night by a man who gave the name of H. A. Jones of New York. That man, by the way, had red hair," he said.

"What's this, a frame-up?" Fogarty gave a contemptuous laugh. "You'll have to come closer than that."

"I'm not through yet," continued Mooney. "In the room where the murder was committed they found a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a theatre ticket. Here's the ticket, Fogarty." He extracted the stub from his wallet and tossed it on the chair in front of Fogarty. "See if you recognize it."

Jimmy watched the big man intently as he picked up the yellow ticket stub and examined it. "By God!" Fogarty exclaimed, "it's my ticket, all right."

In just that fleeting instant Jimmy told himself that his search was to go beyond Fogarty. This man, he decided, was not the murderer of his father. But undoubtedly he held the key.

Mooney smiled as he held out his hand for the stub. "Sure it's your ticket, Fogarty. And here's something else. That ticket was used last Monday night and the man who held it was in the Canfield hotel in Grafton Tuesday night. Fogarty, you weren't in your room Tuesday night. Where were you?"

Fogarty was sweating. He mopped his forehead with a huge handkerchief. "Tuesday night," he repeated. "I know," he exclaimed, his eyes lighting. "Tuesday night I was out playing poker with some of the boys. In the Horseshoe club. The game didn't break up until nine in the morning. I stopped to get something to eat and then came back here and went to bed."

"We'll check that story right now," said Mooney. "Rand, look in the phone book for the Horseshoe club and give them a ring. Who was with you?" he asked Fogarty.

"Tell him to ask for Alec Blaine. He lives at the club. If he isn't there one of the porters can tell you."

"Try to get hold of Blaine," Mooney nodded to Jimmy, who was at the phone.

Jimmy had got his number. "I'd like to speak to Mr. Alec Blaine, please, if he's there." He turned to Mooney. "He's there. They're ringing his room."

"Here, let me talk to him," Mooney picked up the receiver. "Hello. Hello—Mr. Blaine? This is Phil Mooney talking—a friend of Tom Fogarty's. Tom's in a little trouble. I want to know from you when was the last time you saw him. You did, eh? What night? Oh yeah. When did the game break up? What am I drivin' at? Ask Tom, he'll tell you."

He hung up the receiver. "Your story's good as far as it goes, Fogarty, although it'll take a lot more checking than that. Now suppose you explain how that ticket got in that room."

There was a knock at the door. "Come," called Fogarty. A bell boy deposited a tray bearing ginger ale and cracked ice and departed.

Fogarty opened a bureau drawer and pulled out a bottle. "Have a drink, Mr.—say what's your name, anyway?"

"Mooney," answered the detective. "No thanks, I don't drink."

"Mr. Rand?" Fogarty turned to Jimmy, with a gesture of the hands toward the bottle.

"No thanks, not just now." Fogarty poured himself a stiff drink, mixing it with ginger ale and ice.

"Mooney," he said, "I can't tell you how that ticket got in the room, because I didn't go to the theatre that night. It might sound like a funny alibi to you, but I swear I gave that ticket away Monday afternoon."

He paused. "All right," snapped Mooney, "who did you give it to?"

"Mooney, I gave that ticket to a woman."

To Jimmy, who was listening intently, Fogarty's words were like a blow in the face.

"No, Fogarty!" he cried. "It couldn't have been a woman that did this!"

"Wait a minute, Rand," Mooney ordered. "Let's hear the thing through." He opened the wallet. "This handkerchief," he said, "fits in some place. Go ahead, Fogarty."

Fogarty emptied his glass, his hand a trifle unsteady. "Here's all I know about it, Mooney," he continued. "Monday afternoon I happened to be passing the Paragon theatre and I went in and got my ticket for the show that night. Ordinarily I call for it in the evening just before the show starts, unless I'm ordering an extra seat."

"But I went in and got the ticket and looked around at the billboards in the lobby. It was a pretty good show, so they said—a musical comedy. It was a sellout."

"Well, I came back to the hotel and something turned up—I'll tell you about it later—that made it impossible for me to go to the show. I was thinking of turning in the ticket to the hotel porter when I met this woman. Olga Maynard's her name. I got to know her when she was singing in a cabaret in town here."

CREW IS BUSY SETTING RIGHT MOGUL ENGINE

A 150-ton derrick was busy from 3 o'clock this morning until noon, setting to rights a big mogul engine, that had been derailed, near the Texas & Pacific Blackwell street crossing, Ranger. According to Superintendent Knightlinger, who was in Eastland when the accident happened, and came right over to Ranger, some one tampered with the coiled switch, leading from the passing track to track No. 2, allowing the engine to take the diverging route. This was an inside dwarf switch.

Mr. Knightlinger said that there was no damage done to the engine, very slight damage to the track, no delay of train service other than the freight train involved and no personal injury done. A train had passed over the switch two hours previous to the accident.

On the scene this morning were Superintendent Knightlinger, Trainmaster, Marshall, Master Mechanic Nolan, Road Foreman of Engines Varnell, General Roadmaster Foster, District Roadmaster Edgar, Local Passenger Agent B. A. Tunnell, a large crew of workmen, all busy as bees and half the population of Ranger, looking on and some giving free advice as to how to set the big mogul back in the straight and narrow way.

HELPLESS JOHN WOODS IS OPTIMISTIC OVER THE OUTLOOK OF LIFE

Helpless, no hope held out by surgeons, and yet looking out upon the world with a smile as the days and weeks drag slowly by until they have grown into months and finally into a year—

J. R. Woods, Eastland fire department member who was injured in an accident in January, 1925, finds lots of things to make him happy.

He listens to programs over the radio, the gift of friends; he reads magazines that friends bring him, and he chats eagerly with all who visit him.

More than a year ago, the Eastland fire truck was rushing at a mile-a-minute speed to Carbon where flames had attacked the high school when, just before reaching the town, as the heavy car was sweeping around a sharp curve, a back wheel swerved into the sand and the truck overturned.

Hurt Near Carbon
The driver was not seriously hurt, managing to break the force of the impact by clinging to the steering wheel. But Woods was picked up and rushed to Eastland where little chance for him was seen as his back had been gravely injured, besides other injuries.

A week passed, however, and he was clinging tenaciously to life. He was taken to Fort Worth where he underwent an operation and, after three weeks, was brought back to Eastland.

Ever since then, he has refused to surrender to discouragement. His patient wife as she is busy about her household duties and looking after the six youngsters, the youngest only two months old when "daddy" was hurt, is brave and never too busy to encourage her husband.

Believes Getting Better
"Why, I'm actually getting better," he said yesterday afternoon. "At first, I couldn't move my left arm except by grasping it with my other hand and moving it just like you would move a book. Then it got so I could use that arm. And now I can turn over on my side."

He is able to go riding in an auto, the chief difficulty being in helping him out of bed and out to the car. He is an enthusiast on baseball, having played for 15 years, and he hopes that during the coming season, he will have gained enough strength to sit in a wheel chair and watch Rawley Fairbairn pitch for the Eastland Tigers.

$80 a month from the city. He is grateful for this financial aid.

An added touch of pathos is given to this tragedy by the smallest child, a 18-months old blue eyed boy, whose earliest recollection of his daddy was a big man wearing a big blue cap with a silver shield on it. For more than a year, that cap has hung in a closet useless while its helpless owner has lain in an adjoining room. Once in a while, however, the cap falls to the floor and the little tot seizes it, puts it on his head and struts into the adjoining room with

 "I can't tell you that, either. Personally, I'd always thought she was a pretty square shooter. But she might have got mixed up in some kind of scrape or other. I'd be willing to bank on her myself."
 Fogarty pulled a little black leather book from his pocket. He thumbed

 Fogarty shook his head.
 "Did she use this kind of perfume?" Mooney persisted.
 "Couldn't tell you, Mooney." Fogarty barely glanced at the handkerchief. He stared out of the window.
 "Fogarty," Mooney's voice was sharp, like the crack of a whip, "you're holding back something! Out with it!"

"Wait a minute, Mooney." It was Jimmy. "Fogarty, did she say anything to you about going out of town?"
 Fogarty did not answer. He was staring out of the window, his brows knit in a frown.
 "Come on, out with it, Fogarty!" snapped Mooney. "You're not out of the woods yet yourself!"
 Fogarty turned to face him. "Yes, she did," he said. "She said she was going to Grafton the next day to look for a job."

Columbus, Ga.—Mrs. George S. Hunter, of this city, writes: "After I married, thirteen months ago, I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides during . . . My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay some times two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house."

"I got very thin—I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve. "My side hurt less and I began to improve in health. . . . The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am so much better. I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all. PEP is Vitality

More energy will increase your earning ability

It is the red blooded people who win success in this world! Red blood gives men and women the vitality—the energy—the strength and the activity to earn what they deserve!

Nobody can do justice to themselves when they are suffering for want of rich, red blood. It is this impoverished condition of the blood that causes so many failures in life. There's no place at the top for the weakling—the men and women with poor, weak blood.

Build up your blood! Get in the red-blooded class—and get the rewards you deserve. S. S. S. will do it for you! S. S. S. helps Nature build millions of red-blood-cells!

S. S. S. sends rich, red blood tingling to every fibre of your body and every pore of your skin. You are fairly radiant with energy, vim and vitality.

You'll look like success, too! The rich, red blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build for you will clear your skin of any ugly blemishes—your eyes will sparkle with enthusiasm—firm, solid flesh will round out your figure—strength and power will come to weak, flabby muscles.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. The larger bottle is more economical.

DRILLERS ACTIVE THROUGHOUT THIS DISTRICT

(Continued from page one) five years ago and entered the employ of the Texas Company as a tool dresser. After two years with the Texas Company, he came to Eastland and, forming a partnership with Marion Knight, Dallas banker, built the Comite natural gasoline plant, in the western edge of Eastland for $140,000, the plant having a capacity of 5,000 gallons a day.

Frank Corzelius, brother of Curtis, joined him here when construction of the plant started. After it was operated for a year, it was sold to Chestnut & Smith for $200,000. The two brothers then formed a partnership with George K. Taggart, oil operator of years' experience, and began drilling wells.

14 Wells Sunk
Last year, they drilled fourteen wells of which eleven were producers.

The company has developed until it now operates seven strings of tools, and, just a few weeks ago, acquired the big building, 150 feet long and ninety feet wide, of the Oil Well Supply Company at Eastland, between the Texas & Pacific and Eastland, Wichita Falls & Gulf railroads, giving unexcelled transportation facilities. Spacious office quarters, with hardwood floors and attractively furnished, have been fitted up.

Incidentally, all the activities of the company are conducted with Eastland as the base of operations, and on wells, even as far away as the Goforth, thirteen miles distant, the men go back and forth, living in Eastland.

OUT OUR WAY

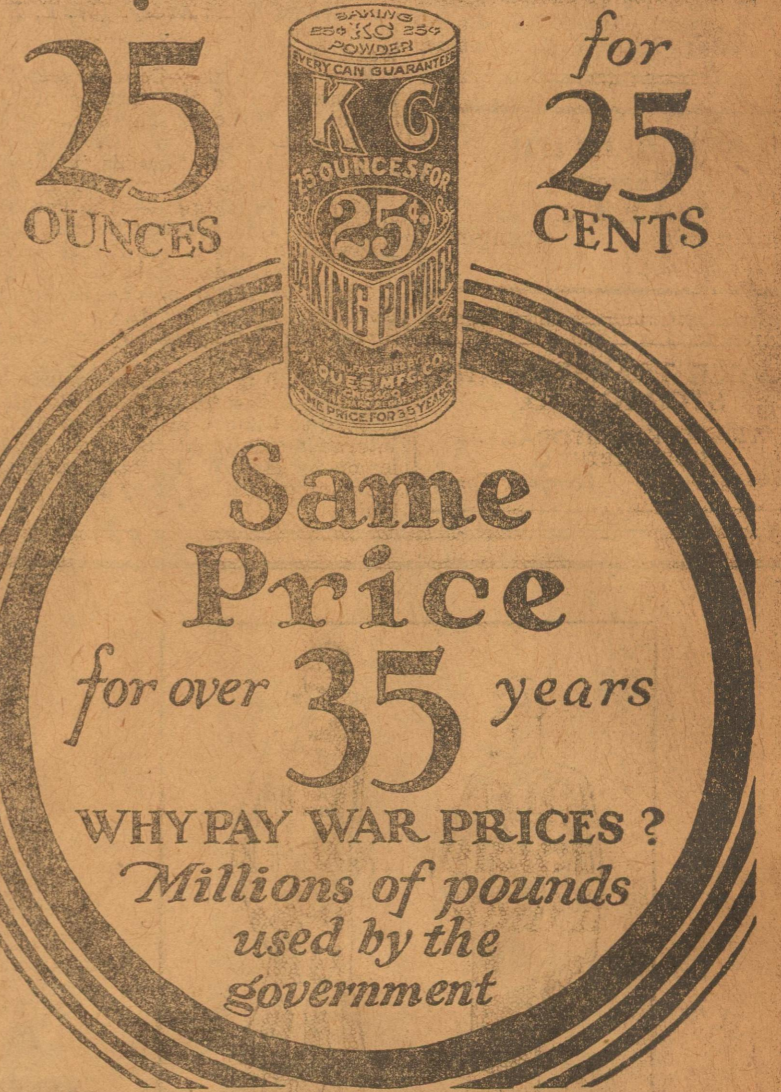

BY WILLIAMS

POLICE HOUSE WOMAN SEEKING PLACE TO LAY

A woman on crutches, drifted into the Ranger police station late Wednesday evening and was taken care of for the night. She had no means for friends to care for her. Early Thursday morning the Salvation Army took charge of her, ascertained her wants, which were principally a desire to get to Abilene, where she has a step sister living. She was sent there today. She told a sad story, of a broken limb, not set correctly and never healed, which had left her crippled, and of a lost son, about fifteen years old, whom she thought was some where near Stephenville.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR OF LIONS

The session opened at 7:30 with the singing of "America" by all. Lion L. R. Hogan of Eastland invoked divine blessings. The sumptuous dinner then followed. Judge Rosenquest, toastmaster, called on each man present in turn to stand, state his name, his club, and why he was there. The answers, some serious, others frivolous, were highly varied.

Welcome Given.

"The latch-string is on the outside," said Lion Virgil T. Seaberry of Eastland, in an address of welcome.

"Lionism has brought about the cordial feeling that exists between the large cities of our country," said Judge B. W. Patterson of Cisco, in responding to the welcoming address. "We are always glad to be here."

The next number on the program bore the title of "Bulldogs," Ranger Lions Club, entertainments, and proved to be an excellent quartette composed of Dr. C. C. Craig, Flint Little, Charles Moore and W. P. Lacy, that rendered several tuneful selections.

"We are here because we are Lions and because we desire to do honor to our district governor," declared Lion Walter Murray of Ranger in a short address on "Why We Are Here."

Mert Sullivan, secretary of the Comanche Club, and J. F. Biggs, president of the Dublin Lions, were introduced and made brief talks.

The address by the district governor followed, after which Lion George W. Briggs of Eastland led in a song and the session ended with the salute to the flag and the oath of allegiance.

Music was furnished by the Sun Dodgers, a new and classy jazz orchestra, with headquarters in Eastland. The music was exceptionally good. The hall was beautifully decorated in Lion colors and emblems. About ninety Lions were present, the chief representation being from Cisco, Ranger and Eastland, with several other clubs represented.
