As you an industrialist concerned with reconversion? Then you should look into the wide possibilities of Gas, the modern industrial fuel.

Thousands of plant managers discovered during World War II that Gas fitted into production lines as no other source of heat. Gas will be a boon in your post-war manufacture.

Consider a few of the qualities of Gas which make it an essential industrial fuel. Gas is highly flexible—it can be applied by any method that is desired. Gas is a precision fuel, accurately controllable. You can automatically secure the temperature you need, quickly, and maintain it as long as you want, with Gas. And it is clean, and improves working conditions.

In planning after-war operations, it will pay you to consult the Industrial Engineer of your local Gas company. His expert knowledge of Gas and Gas equipment will help you.

Slaughter Percentage On Cattle Is Hiked

Because the percentage of good and choice grades in the total cattle supply is relatively high during the spring months, the maximum percentage limitation set down where slaughter is confined exclusively to one of these top two grades that last sales approved by the OPA.

Effective April 20, the action exempts from the maximum percentage limitation those cows where slaughter is confined exclusively to one of these top two grades that last sales approved by the OPA.

craft were sent out on a lucky chance. As soon as the returning aircraft had been picked up and had its sweeps all cleared, everyone was certain that these pilots could be written off. The activity in fleet operations was rapidly falling back into the background, and there was hope that the great damage that had been done to the enemy would not be made good. It was the joint decision of our United Nations Conference, to advocate the establishment of a Universal Code for the conduct of air operations.

But it was the announce- ment of a special rescue crew that was the signal of the new intensive air operations. The new crew consists of a Catalina flying boat brought down to the Philippines by the returning aircraft carrier in one trip. The Catalina had been shot down in the battle of Ormoc Bay in one of the attacks on the Japanese fleet. It was the third day after a long endurance flight of nearly 400 miles. At the moment the Catalina was attacked, it was flying at a moderate altitude. After the attack, the remaining crew members were picked up by a rescue ship. The Catalina was sighted 10 miles away from the enemy, and all the crew Members were picked up. They were then given a signal that it was part of our emergency equipment to help the plane.

The coming together of the Allied armies, President Truman declared means that “the last faint hope of Hitler and his gangster government is being extinguished.”

President Truman, hail ing the fact that “the country has cut itself in two,” warned that the hour of final victory is near in Europe, but the hour nears, the more the people in Germany are divided. They have either black or yellow faces, and many of them have black and yellow faces.

The President reminds the people that the army that made all Europe tremble is cut off in the northern or Baltic pocket of Europe, the: Russians 1,400 miles from the ruins of Stalingrad, where they broke the German Sixth Army and turned the whole tide of the war.

Now there was no longer an eastern or a western front. There were no more divisions able to move on either side. The Allies had split the enemy in two, and the whole world was expected to have a voice in the planning of the final victory.

Two Long Bloody Days

In the hour of final victory, Germany and America, 3,400 miles from the great power of America and 760 miles across the sea, the only possible plan was to fight on, and not to yield. The Allies had a number of divisions that could be committed to action, but not enough to make a decisive breakthrough. It was decided to use these divisions to harass the enemy and to delay their advance.

WOLVERINE—ANIMAL FEW PEOPLE KNOW

By ROY L. ABBOTT

Portrait of a Wolverine from Our Woods

Mother Nature seemingly got mixed up when she created the wolverine, for in all her wisdom she provided him absolutely nothing by which to make his afterlife any easier. He has the river rat for a descendent, the bear for a size, the dog for a raccoon, and the gopher for a relative, but he possesses none of their благословенiem. His heart is of little avail against him, and his body does not even keep him warm. He has no fur for a shield, and he would be easy prey to any animal higher in the food chain.

The earliest writers, allowing their imaginations to run free or fittingly to tarry, often portrayed the wolverine as the most ferocious, most dangerous creature in the wilderness. Some even claimed that the wolverine was able to overcome and kill a bear. Of course, this is not the case. The wolverine is a carnivore and will not engage in fights with other carnivores, but it will attack and eat its smaller kin. The wolverine is also able to catch and kill small mammals, such as rabbits and mice, and it will raid nests of birds and rodents. However, it is not known to attack larger animals except in cases of desperation.

The wolverine is a strange and mysterious creature. Its name comes from the Old Norse word, "wolvur," which means "wolf." This is fitting, as the wolverine is a member of the dog family. It is also related to the bear, as it is a relative of the grizzly bear. The wolverine is also related to the otter, as it is a semiaquatic animal. However, the wolverine is not as well adapted to living in the water as the otter. It is not as good at swimming, and it is not as good at diving as the otter.

The wolverine is a solitary animal, and it is rarely seen in groups. It is a stealthy hunter, and it hunts at night. It is a scavenger, and it feeds on the remains of other animals. It is also a predator, and it will kill small animals, such as rabbits and mice, for its meals. It is a scavenger, and it feeds on the remains of other animals. Household Helps

For Little Girls

By Mrs. Anne Cabot

The very little girl is often an artist in her handiwork, or in the little Pathé Master pictures that she brings home. But it is necessary that they be properly cared for, if they are to last long. There are many things that we can do to help these little ones to keep on the right road.

She has had trained in the knitting of sweater and stockings, and has developed a real love for the work. She has knitted 6,993 arctic mittens, gloves, and scarves, and has already passed the 7,000 mark. Seven more were added this week, and the number is expected to reach 10,000 by the end of the month.

Women's Busy Work Basket

By Mrs. Elizabeth Brown

The busy woman is the one who can make the best use of her time. She has learned to do things quickly and efficiently, and she has developed a real love for the work. She has knitted 5,000 mittens, gloves, and scarves, and has already passed the 6,000 mark. Seventeen more were added this week, and the number is expected to reach 7,000 by the end of the month.

THINNINGS FOR THE TABLE

By Mrs. Martha Anderson

Although some of the rules in the Victoria secret primer is “Don’t place too thick,” even the careful planner is likely to find herself with some extra coming up on crossed roads which must be thinned. Here are some ideas for thinning:

1. Use a whisk to blend eggs, milk, and sugar in a small bowl. Stir vigorously until the mixture is smooth.
2. Add 1/4 cup of flour to the mixture, stirring until well combined.
3. Add 1/2 cup of milk, whisking until the mixture is smooth.
4. Pour the mixture into a greased 8-inch square pan. Bake at 350°F for 20 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean.

STRETCHING THE MEAT

By Mrs. Sarah Johnson

Meat is a scarce but flavorful food. By using a variety of spices and seasonings, we can stretch the meat and make it go farther.

1. Mix together 1 tablespoon of Dijon mustard and 1 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce. Brush this mixture over the meat before cooking.
2. Combine 1/4 cup of brown sugar, 1/4 cup of molasses, and 2 tablespoons of catsup in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Brush this mixture over the meat before cooking.
3. Mix together 1/4 cup of olive oil, 1/4 cup of red wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons of minced garlic, and 1/2 teaspoon of dried oregano in a small bowl. Whisk until well combined. Pour this mixture over the meat before cooking.

Making Old Garments “New”

By Mrs. Martha Anderson

The present shortage of fabrics and accessories makes it necessary to make the most of the garments we have. Here are some ideas for making old garments “new”:

1. Cut off the sleeves of an old sweater and use them as arm warmers.
2. Take apart an old dress and use the fabric for a new skirt.
3. Use the lace trim from an old dress to make a new headband.
4. Use the buttons from an old jacket to make a new set of buttons for a new jacket.

Side for the Iron

The wrong side of the garment is often the most difficult to work with. Here are some tips for ironing the wrong side:

1. Place the garment wrong side up on a ironing board. Use a low heat setting.
2. Iron in the direction of the natural grain of the fabric.
3. Use a damp cloth to help remove wrinkles.
4. Use a spray starch to help set the ironed shape.

WHEN IT RAINS IT POURS

By Mrs. Martha Anderson

It’s easy to make delicious Chili con Carne when you use Gebhardt’s Chilicoots. The secret of fine Chilicoot is in the quality. Chilicoots contain the seeds, not the hulls. Check the bottom of the can to see if it contains the seeds. Gebhardt’s Chilicoots contain the seeds, not the hulls. Check the bottom of the can to see if it contains the seeds.
