

Democratic Primary Saturday

David Harrison, a former local businessman, was in to see us the past week. Dave and his family are now living in Eads, Colo., where he is in the banking profession.

Not having lived on the Western Plains for 15 years, the Harrisons had to admit that things have changed mightily in our area in that span of time. We folks who live here and see the little changes that take place about us day by day don't realize what can be wrought in a 15-year period.

Probably the last five years have changed this country more than the 35 preceding it. At least, that's what some of the old timers vow.

And something else: We think we have really been through a pretty tough drouth. Well, the Harrisons tell us that the farmers around Eads haven't had a crop since 1947—and there isn't an irrigation well in the whole territory!

Maybe farming and ranching can get pretty tight once in a while out here on the irrigated Plains, but we have one stabilizing factor that so many, many areas don't have.

In fact, we have virtually assured ourselves that we can produce. Our problems are in selling, not producing.

A certain local man has expressed an interest in keeping official weather records here in Texico-Farwell, like they do in so many towns. We are checking into the possibilities and requirements of such a service for the community.

If any other readers have any thoughts along these lines, we certainly would like for them to allow us to help get things organized. Everybody is interested in the weather—all the time.

Little Hal, just passing his first birthday, is a knob turner, a button pusher, and a handle puller just like his older brother was at about the same point of growing up.

His latest addiction is the valve lever on the bath tub commode. One tug never satisfies him, of course, and he finally has exasperatedly pulled it out, and him as a "little four footer."

Age and experience enlarges one's horizons. For example, we never before had thought we would ever manage to make a living if we had to do it singing.

But after listening to some of the current radio "artists" we are feeling better about the prospects for ourselves if we should ever decide to become a professional singer.

Pregnancy has been described as a delicate condition.

Now personally, we have never had much experience in the pregnancy department, but we have our doubts that such a condition could be any more delicate than trying to drive a car, eat an ice cream cone, and supervise two young boys in the front seat who also are eating ice cream cones.

Outside investors—even hometown people—have got the "scaries" worse than anyone can imagine when it comes to prospects for being successful in business in Texico-Farwell.

The recent moving away of three enterprises of considerable note didn't help the stomach butterflies of the squeamish, we know, but we've said it before and will say it again:

Our community has the most under-rated retail business development potential of any community under 5,000 in the Southwest. Absolutely, it's a fact.

With the buying power of our far above-average homeowners, with our local payrolls, with the commerce our three national highways attract to the community, conditions are perfect.

The fact that Clovis is only a few miles away does not dim prospects. It in fact, enhances them because we will continue to attract "suburban-minded" people.

If a person wants to go into business in Texico-Farwell, we suggest the following requirements:

Pick a line or service that is needed.

Get a suitable location, and start business in surroundings that are as nice as you can afford.

Have adequate working capital. Advertise.

Try hard—for at least one year.

Yes, we know, those ingredients go into any successful business regardless of where it is located. Just another way of pointing out that you don't have to have anything "special" to make good here.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Leroy Faville is reported to be recuperating nicely at his home this week after undergoing surgery at Clovis hospital Thursday of last week. Faville, who operates Red Cross Pharmacy in Texico, was released from the hospital Sunday morning.

BALLOT BOXES—Hugh Moseley, Parmer County Clerk, displays the ballot boxes which will be sent out to the eight county precincts for the Saturday Democratic Primary Election. Moseley is holding a stub box from one of the sets. There are forty boxes in all, five in each set.

Youth Program to End Next Week

Texico-Farwell's summer youth program will draw to a close next week, announces Calvin Murray and Curtis Miller, co-directors of the program.

Regular schedule for both Little League teams and the Pony League team ends this week, but playoff games are scheduled for next week. There is a possibility that all three local teams will participate in the playoffs, say the directors.

Pony Team Tied For League Lead

Frierson's Pony League baseball team edged Texico-Farwell last Thursday, 12-11, to move into a tie for the Parmer County League lead. The loss was the first of the season for Texico-Farwell, who had beaten Frierson earlier, 5-1. Both teams now have 4-1 records.

The regular schedule for all Parmer County teams ends this week as Frierson goes to Bovina and Lazbuddie to Farwell. If both Frierson and Texico-Farwell win, a playoff game will be necessary, and it is to be played in Frierson sometime next week.

In the game last Thursday, Texico-Farwell jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and held it until the third when Frierson pushed across five. The visiting team scored two in the top of the fourth to pull within one run, but Frierson also added two in that inning.

In the fifth, Texico-Farwell scored twice and Frierson busted loose for five to go ahead 12-6. Texico-Farwell rallied in the top of the sixth for five runs, but it was not enough to overcome the Frierson lead.

Massey was the winning pitcher and Mickey Rundell was the loser.

The local youngsters went to Elida Monday afternoon and won a game from the Pony League team there. The score was 17-8, as Rundell went the distance in pitching the win.

Lions Club Hears Andy Sutter Monday

At its Monday night meeting in the City Cafe, the Texico-Farwell Lions Club heard Andy Sutter, Clovis, report on the International Lions Convention in Miami Beach, Fla. Sutter recently returned from the Florida conclave.

Seventy-five countries were represented at the convention which was attended by 35,000 people. In his report, Sutter told the local group of the vastness of Lions International and what the group (Continued on Last Page)

Childress Resigns At Farwell School

Mr. and Mrs. George Childress have resigned their positions at Farwell School, it was announced this week by Jack Williams, superintendent.

Childress has been high school principal for the past year and his wife has been teaching in the third grade. The reason for the resignations was not known by Williams. The Childresses, who came to Farwell last year, have been in East Texas for the summer.

This now leaves three positions to be filled at the Farwell School, Williams says. They are third grade, junior high English, and high school principal.

When the returning faculty was announced in a story last week, H. K. Milford's name was omitted from the list. Milford is returning as high school science teacher.

Little League Teams End Season Friday

Texico-Farwell's Little League baseball teams—the Pirates and Yankees—are scheduled to wind up regular season play this Friday when they go to Bovina for a doubleheader with the Cats and Foxes.

The Shaughnessy playoffs take place next week and both local teams will probably be in them, say Calvin Murray and Curtis Miller, coaches. The Pirates are a cinch to make the playoffs, leading the league with a 7-1 record. The Yankees have a 5-3 record and they are tied for second.

In a game at the Farwell field last Friday, the Yankees rolled over the Cats of Bovina, 8-3. In the second game of the scheduled doubleheader, Lazbuddie forfeited to the Pirates. Kenneth Murdick was the winning pitcher in the Yankee win.

On Tuesday of this week the Pirates went to Bovina and blasted the Foxes, 14-5. Van Crume pitched the win and Leon Lovelace had three homers for the locals. Jackie Williams also hit a round-tripper to help the winning cause.

The Yankees had a rougher time of it on the local field, losing an 11-5 decision to Lazbuddie. The locals couldn't get rolling, as they dropped their third game of the season.

A meeting at the ABC Drug in Bovina Friday night will determine the sites and pairings of the four teams in the Shaughnessy. According to Murray and Miller, the four teams will probably be the Pirates, Yankees, and both Lazbuddie entries.

Bovina's teams have not yet won a game from either Texico-Farwell or Lazbuddie.

In a lukewarm race which has the possibility of upsets because of anticipated light interest in voting, Parmer County citizens will participate in the state-wide Democratic primary election Saturday.

As is customary, the gubernatorial race is the one drawing the most headlines across the state. Price Daniel is favored in most pre-election polls to take the election, but political speculators see a strong possibility that a run-off between Daniel and Ralph Yarborough may be necessary.

Two other candidates who have received favorable mention in Parmer County informal caucuses are J. Evetts Haley of Canyon and W. Lee O'Daniel, Dallas. State-wide, however, they have been regarded as lesser contenders.

The race is rounded out by J. J. Holmes of Austin, who supports legalized horse racing in Texas; and Reuben Senterfitt, San Saba, a member of the state legislature who was the first to toss his hat into the ring this year.

In any event, election betters are playing it close on the outcome, and point out that any of the candidates could be real foolers when the counting is all over.

Daniel is now United States junior senator from Texas. Yarborough is an Austin attorney who is again seeking the state's highest seat with an anti-corruption platform.

Locally, only two offices are on the line with competition for the positions. They are for the commissioners' seat in Precinct No. 1 (Frierson) and Precinct No. 3 (Farwell).

Parmer County's two other precincts are not being voted on this year because of the four-year terms (alternating between precincts) which were adopted statewide last year.

At Frierson, Commissioner Forrest Osborn seeks re-election. His opponents are E. G. Phipps, Aubrey Lee Carlton, and E. R. Day.

In the southwest precinct, it's Incumbent Johnny McDonald versus E. F. Billingsley and A. N. Walls.

Bill Sheehan, county attorney; and Chas. Lovelace, sheriff, are shoo-in candidates with no opponents although their offices are open this year. Lee Thompson also is assured of a win for the newly-created tax assessor-collector office after the withdrawal of Raymond Martin earlier in the race.

The only other county-wide contested office is that of chairman of the county Democratic committee. That puts G. D. Anderson of Farwell (incumbent) against Wright Williams of Frierson.

Okay on Summer Polio Vaccinations

Reversing a previous announcement that advised against the use of poliomyelitis summer vaccine in summertime, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis last week cleared the shots for immediate use.

In a dispatch from the Foundation, Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director, urged Dr. Paul Spring, county health officer, "to obtain just as much vaccine as you need and inject it without delay in as many of your patients as are eligible to receive vaccine."

He added, "The U. S. Public Health Service, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Medical Association, the American Health Association, and other medical organizations concur that it is both safe and desirable to vaccinate with poliomyelitis vaccine now and throughout the summer."

Two more paragraphs of Dr. Van Riper's letter:

At the 105th Annual Meeting of the American Medical Association in Chicago on June 11, Surgeon General Leonard Scheele of the U. S. Public Health Service said: "The immediate order of business in the polio fight is to use every drop of vaccine available in the wisest possible way. . . . Vaccine given in July and August will prevent paralytic cases and even deaths in August and September."

May I suggest that you give reassurance that the present Salk vaccine is safe and effective to patients, parents and others in your community who still needlessly doubt it? The scientific documentation of the vaccine's safety and effectiveness is overwhelming. Over 30 million children in the United States alone have been inoculated without mishap since May 7, 1955. Experience in 1955, now reported from 23 areas (mostly states) shows that the vaccine is at least 75% effective in preventing paralytic poliomyelitis.

Dr. Spring indicated that vaccine is on hand now at the Parmer County Community Hospital in Frierson, and that doctors there will proceed with inoculation as is suggested by the Foundation.

They previously had decided not to vaccinate after July 1 of this summer.

In Farwell, Dr. Marion F. Green of Farwell Clinic reported that there was an ample supply of vaccine available here. Dr. Green says he has been inoculating local youngsters and will continue to do so if the parents so desire.

New Laundry to Open in Texico

A new automatic laundry is scheduled to open soon in Texico. The new business is to be located east of Roberts Seed Company, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Morin will operate the concern. Equipment is to include 12 GE automatic washers and two GE dryers, says Mrs. Morin.

The Morins came here from Los Angeles and have four children—two boys, eight and two; and two girls, nine and three.

Mrs. Morin is a sister of Jimmie Morgan in Texico, and her mother, Mrs. Joe L. Morgan, also resides here.

Steve Smart Falls From Pickup Monday

Steve Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smart, escaped serious injury Monday when he received only skinned and bruises on his face when he fell from the back of a moving pickup.

Steve was riding in the back of a pickup with Billy McDonald and Donnie Barnes when he fell out. A doctor's examination showed no broken bones or severe bruises, and Steve was reported to be feeling pretty good Wednesday morning. Johnnie McDonald was driving the pickup.

Three Questions Up In State Referendum

Parmer County voters will participate in a state-wide sampling of public opinion Saturday when they mark their ballots in the Democratic primary.

Three statements will appear at the bottom of their ballots that will indicate their sentiment on three controversial issues of the day.

- No. 1—Mixing white and Negro children in the public schools.
- No. 2—Intermarriage between Negroes and whites.
- No. 3—Interposition.

The first two are to determine if the public desires specific legislation to bring about the conditions described, and the last is to find out if the public favors interposition as a means of halting federal encroachment of states' rights.

None of the statements has any basis in law and will not affect the state constitution. They are merely a means of determining public sentiment.

Three Firms Help On Local Hospital Improvements

The Farwell Clinic underwent some improvements last week as three local firms donated sand, gravel, and cement for a circular drive, sidewalks, and a parking lot.

Contributors were Gifford-Hill Western, Inc., 150 sacks of cement; Kemp Lumber Company, sand and gravel; and Sherley-Anderson-Pitman Elevator, chat for the parking lot.

The parking lot is to be located between the circular drive and the curb. Other landscaping including the planting of grass, is also scheduled for the local hospital, says G. D. Anderson, one of the promoters of the project.

Visiting last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sharp and children were Billy and Bobby Mouser of Needles, Calif.

Hammits Build Unique House

Many people build new homes and the undertaking of such a project is not at all unusual, but one going up in Texico at present, is somewhat unique.

In most ways, this house is like any other. It is to have four walls, a roof, wooden framework, several windows, and four rooms—including a living room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and a bathroom.

However, in spite of its average features, this house is unique in that the outside walls and inside partitions are being constructed with tin cans. Oil cans, to be exact, and these cans come from the Farwell dump ground.

This house is being built on the D. E. Hammit property on the north side of Texico. Hammit is employed at a Texico business during the day and his three sons—D. E. Jr., Billy, and Johnny—are doing most of the construction work.

The three young men are all students at Texico School. D. E. Jr., 16, will be a junior this coming year and the twins, Billy and Johnny, 15, will be sophomores.

The oil cans are being stuck together with mortar and the walls will be plastered both inside and out. On Monday of this week, about half of the walls were up and close to 8000 cans had been mortared into the framework. According to the boys, there is no shortage of cans at the dump ground.

D. E. Jr. says he first got the idea for such a structure when his agriculture teacher told of a barn being built that way, and the Hammits started to build their house in April.

D. E. Jr. has been working on a farm during the summer, but he now plans to devote most of his time to the construction of the house, and hopes to have it completed by the time school starts.

Presently, the three boys and their dad are living in a trailer house. The Hammits came to Texico last August and D. E. Sr. is employed by Sheets and Son Blacksmith.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Keep It Conservative

Voting in the Democratic Primary Saturday is expected to be light. Very likely there are candidates on the ballot which more than half of the voters have never even heard of, let alone know what their stand is.

That being true, we believe that you might be interested to learn some of the men we think are best for our Texas offices, and some of the reasons why we believe they are:

FOR GOVERNOR: PRICE DANIEL

As you may previously have noted in this newspaper, we have endorsed Daniel's candidacy on more than one occasion. This stems largely from our conviction that he is the only candidate with a chance of winning who can carry the conservative banner of political thinking into state and federal circles.

If you think government is too big, if you think it meddles too much in the affairs of the states and the people, then vote for Price Daniel Saturday.

He believes in improving Texas schools—BUT with Texas money! This is the kind of a man who can stop federal encroachment into the field of states' rights.

Too, Daniel is a clean campaigner and a hard-driving worker in office. He doesn't fit into the "give 'em hell" category that some "loyal Democrats" think every candidate ought to.

Daniel won't betray us, and he won't forget the High Plains once he gets to Austin. Remember that he knew who we were when he was in Washington!

Ralph Yarborough is the hand-picked candidate of the liberal element in political thinking. He and his followers would have us believe that business monopolies are bad but labor monopolies are in the public interest.

Yarborough wants to increase pensions $30 a month, wants to expand public health and hospitalization programs (that are the "foot in the door" for socialized medicine).

Whether he likes the support or not, he has the endorsement of state and national labor pressure groups. Enough for us.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR: A. M. AIKEN

Another conservative in government. We need all we can get.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL: WILL WILSON

Still another conservative thinker.

FOR LAND COMMISSIONER: EARL RUDDER

FOR COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE: BILL JONES
Anybody but John White.

COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEALS: W. A. MORRISON
Carried the state Bar Association poll by more than a two-to-one margin over his opponent. Attorneys say he is best qualified, and they are the ones who should know.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE, SUPREME COURT (3): JAMES NORVELL
Again, lawyers endorsed him, by a ratio of more than four-to-one, in the state poll, taken secretly.

COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS, DIST. 7: HERBERT MARTIN
Did a good job his first term. Record of upheld opinions far better than opponent's.

Seems like everyone we talk to, is planning a vacation, or has recently been away. We really get the fever when we hear the stories of good times, and seeing old friends.

We used to take summer trips, usually to visit relatives. Since our grandmother lives at LaMarge, close to the Gulf coast, it was a nice place to go, and we visited the relatives too.

Seeing all the uncles and the cousins was quite a treat. And there was always more than usual ice cream for the kids, watermelon parties, ice cream parties. The men would turn the crank of the old freezer while we of the younger generation took turns sitting on the freezer to hold it steady.

One memorable time, we remember that the fathers came home with a whole tub of crab for supper. We went out to watch them dress the delicacy, and became so upset we wouldn't eat a bite of the poor little creatures. We still won't eat this food.

We had wonderful times. We rode the waves at the edge of the ocean, visited, and played hide-and-seek and all the other outdoor games. Can't even remember the names of some of the games now. As a child, it was quite an experience, and we still look forward to taking our little boys on a trip to the mountains, to the ocean and all these wonderful places that they still have to see. When the little ones get excited over seeing things for the first time—their enthusiasm rubs off. But we see another part of the picture too. Sometimes we wonder how mother kept our clothes clean for these excursions, and how antics of our brother and ourself, kept them from just staying home, anyway.

Ronny is on a barefoot "I'm a big boy binge" this summer. Hal is on a getting-into-everything spree and the editor is diligently chasing stories for the papers. We're cooking some and complaining about the idiosyncrasies of trying to grow a yard. And the whole family is keeping an eye on Hal as he toddles back and forth, actually walking.

Gossip can echo where there are no hills, says one of our favorite columnists.

The following advertisement, "WANTED—GENERAL SOAKING RAIN. PLEASE RUSH. CLIFF PERKINS," appeared in the West Branch, Iowa Times—Herbert Hoover's birthplace—on April 26. The paper went into the mail about 8:00 in the morning. By suppertime the rain came and brought an end to an 8 month-dry spell.

It is estimated this advertisement was worth millions to the residents of Cedar County and the state of Iowa. You don't have to argue with Cliff Perkins and his friends on the power of the country press.

We haven't used the directory yet—because we are not officially a reporter for The Tribune now, but one of the finest sights that greeted us recently was a telephone directory for Lazbuddie.

How we used to work to see the people we needed to talk to, when we were covering important stories out that way.

We know the people on the Lazbuddie exchange are pleased too.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parrish of Clovis visited Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Parsons in Texico.

Mr. and Mrs. Judge Stone left Thursday of last week for a vacation trip to San Bernadino, Calif. They plan to return home next week.

Miss Norene Morgan Is Shower Honoree

The honoree's chosen colors of blue and white were featured in the decorations at the home of Mrs. Guy Austin south of Farwell when Miss Norene Morgan, bride-elect of Dwight Sheriff, was honored at a bridal shower.

The registration table, which stood before a picture window, was laid with white net over blue and held an arrangement of baby pompoms and blue and white philladendrons. A white umbrella holding ice cubes stood above the floral arrangement and the dripping ice cubes gave the appearance of falling rain.

Packages of white and blue were placed on, and around the table which also held the bride's book.

An arrangement of dahlias, grown and arranged by Mrs. Johnnie Williams, centered the dining room table which was laid with a blue linen cloth. Individual cake squares of white with delicate blue trim, and mints, nuts and punch were served to those registering throughout the afternoon.

The house was decorated throughout with flowers grown and arranged by Mrs. Everett Smith of Clovis and Mrs. Johnnie Williams. Miss Jo Ann Williams read a poem she had written for the occasion, and background music was recorded.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Glen Harlin, Woodrow Couch, Partin Austin, Dalton Harris, Jake Saylor, Seaborn Busbice, Everett Roark, Pershing Busbice, Bill Langham and Guy Austin.

For the traditional something old, the bride carried a penny made in 1938, the year of her birth. Something new was her wedding ensemble, something borrowed was the penny and something blue was her garter.

styled similar to that worn by the bride. Silver slippers completed their costumes. They carried bouquets of white carnations tied with long white satin streamers.

Charlie Acker of Nazareth served his brother as best man. Grooms-men were A. J. Jesko, brother of the bride, and Lawrence Acker, brother of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length dress of white imported chantilly lace over nylon taffeta. The dress was designed and made by the bride and her mother.

The tight fitting bodice featured a semi-stand up collar and long sleeves which tapered to petal points over her hands. They were fastened with tiny self covered buttons identical to those running from the neck of the dress down the front.

The detachable chapel length train was of lace over taffeta with sets of nylon insertion and lace. She wore white brocade slippers.

Atop her white prayer book, which was a gift from the groom, she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid and tied with white satin streamers. Entwined among the bridal bouquet was a blue rosary, a gift from a cousin who is studying for the priesthood in Graymoor, N. Y. Her only jewelry was a double strand pearl necklace given to her by her brother.

Her veil was of real English witchcraft lace, borrowed from a friend, Mrs. Julia McEvoy Silience of Winchester, England. The two tiered veil, which featured scalloped edging of embroidered lace, was attached to a pearl and sequin studded hat.

The traditional something old was a cameo ring belonging to her mother. The ring has been worn by the bride's sisters in their weddings. Something new was her wedding ensemble and something blue was her rosary.

The bride's mother wore an orchid print dress of glazed cotton with accessories of avocado and pink. She wore a corsage of pink asters. Mother of the groom chose a faille dress of blue and white with blue accessories. Her corsage was also of pink asters.

Immediately following the ceremony, a breakfast was served to the wedding party at the home of the groom's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Warren, in Hereford.

At noon a dinner was served to the immediate families of the couple at St. Anthony's Parish Hall dining room.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over brocade and was centered with a three tiered wedding cake. The heart shaped cake was decorated with pink roses and was topped by a miniature bride and groom. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Henry Kuper, a cousin of the groom. Arrangements of gladioli and daisies further decorated the table.

From 5:30 to 8 p. m. a reception was held for the couple. Miss Billy Jean Jesko registered the guests. Visiting and dancing completed the evening.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico, the bride changed to a navy blue nylon dotted swiss dress with blue and white accessories. She wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Lazbuddie High School as valedictorian of the class of 1952. She participated in most school activities and was especially active in home economics work. During her senior year she was the delegate to the state FHA convention held at San Antonio. That same summer she attended the national convention held in Columbus, Ohio.

She entered Eastern New Mexico University in the fall of 1952 where she majored in home economics. She attended the state FHA and teachers conventions held annually in Albuquerque during her stay at ENMU.

The groom was graduated from Nazareth High School and served two years in the armed forces.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Acker will be at home near Nazareth where he has farmed since receiving his discharge from the service.

and Mrs. Andrew Acker of Nazareth, at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford.

Rev. Bartholomew Paytas of Hereford performed the double ring ceremony. Serving as altar boys were Wayne Jesko, cousin of the bride, and Jerry Acker, brother of the groom.

On the main altar of the church, the bride's chosen colors of pink and white were featured. Vases of large white gladioli mingled with Bells of Ireland stood on the main altar. Side altars were decorated with arrangements of multi-colored gladioli and daisies intermingled with Bells of Ireland. The main altar was flanked on either side by candelabrum holding seven candles of pink and white.

Flowers used for the decorations came from the gardens of Mrs. Andrew Acker and Mrs. John Paetzold, mother and aunt of the groom, respectively.

$4,000 Approved for Remodeling Texico Fire Department

Last week when the budget for the City of Texico was approved, special permission was granted the fire department for an expenditure of $4000 for remodeling purposes, according to Stanton Thigpen, fire chief.

Just when the remodeling will get underway is not known, but it is hoped that work will start in the near future. Investigation as to whether the city will have to advertise for bids or whether local carpenters can be hired to do the work, is being done now, Thigpen says.

To be included in the remodeling program will be modernizing the apartment which houses the fire station attendants, the fireboys meeting room, storage rooms, and the city offices, Thigpen says.

Lions Club Names Committee Chairmen

Texico - Farwell's Lions Club started a new year recently and committee chairmen for the term have been named by Joe Helton, president. They are as follows:

Administrative committees—Attendance, Agrie Jones; constitution and by-laws, M. H. Poteet; finance, John Getz; Lions Information, Al England; Membership, Otis Huggins; convention, Tom Wagner; program, Paul Frederick; and publicity and bulletin editor, Richard Hapke.

Activities committees—Citizenship and patriotism, Russell Young; boys and girls, Jack Williams; civic improvement and community betterment, Robert Morton; education, C. B. Stockton; health and welfare, S. N. Kesner; safety, Wilfred Quickel; sight conservation and blind, John Getz; united nations, C. G. Davis; greeter, A. D. Smith; and agriculture, Herbert Potts.

Officers for the year are Helton president; Frederick, vice-president; Getz, secretary-treasurer; Williams, lion tamer; and Kesner, tall twister. The board of directors include M. H. Poteet, Paul Wurster, and Tom Wagner. In listing the committee chairmen, secretary Getz pointed out that few people were aware of what the Lions Club stands for and the functions of the various committees.

The committees are appointed for the purpose of working toward the objectives of Lions International, according to Getz. The objectives are:

1. To form a body of men thoroughly representative of the business and professional interests of a city; to unite its members in the closest bonds of good fellowship and to promote a closer business and social union among them.

2. To encourage active participation in all things that have to do with commercial, civic, and industrial betterment.

3. To uphold the principles of good government.

4. To assist in every honorable way in furthering the interests of its members and towards bringing about a better understanding among men.

5. To teach that organization, cooperation, and reciprocity are better than rivalry, strife and destructive competition.

6. To encourage the application of the highest ethical standards in business, and endeavor, by the exchange of methods and ideas, to increase efficiency in all lines represented.

Texico School Still Needs One Teacher

One position still needs to be filled at the Texico School, says Paul Frederick, high school principal. Of the two vacancies left by the resignations of Mrs. Lona Mae Starkey, grade school, and Merle Thurman, high school English, one has been filled.

The high school English teacher has been hired, but Texico is still in need of one in the grade school, Frederick says.

Frederick also announced that school will open on Friday, August 27. Registration will be on Friday and classes will start on Monday, he points out.

$500 Damages in Farwell Collision

A collision of two automobiles east of Farwell School last Wednesday resulted in $500 damages, according to Charlie Lovelace, Parmer County sheriff.

Drivers of the vehicles were Mrs. Leon London and Wilbert Kalbas. Mrs. London's car received about $300 damages and Kalbas's $200 Lovelace says. Neither party was injured.

The accident was investigated by Lovelace and Jim Freeman, state highway patrolman.

A busy week in the county was reported by the sheriff's department. A Bovina man was charged with being drunk and was fined $50 in B. N. Graham's justice of the peace court.

Benny Coleman, Tulia, was returned here this week from that city, and is charged with theft from the person of Reuben Ruiz, farm worker on the Bobby Hart farm, Lovelace reports. Coleman's bond was set at $2000 and the case was turned over to the grand jury.

Also, two DWI's were picked up in the county, one in Friona and one near Bovina. Both posted bonds and will be tried in County Court when Bill Sheehan, county attorney, returns from a National Guard summer training camp, Lovelace says.

Board of Equalization To Meet Next Week

The Board of Equalization for the Farwell Independent School District will meet Monday and Tuesday of next week in the county court room, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

There will be a general raise in school taxes and the board will be happy to discuss this with taxpayers on these days, says Wilfred Quickel, tax assessor, collector.

The raise was decided necessary at a recent meeting of the school board and the district's property, which is now valued at $5 million will be raised to $6 million.

BINDWEED IS HURTIN'—This graphic picture of Duane Curtis in a patch of bindweed in his sorghum field illustrates the kill he believes he has gotten on the noxious weed. Karmex W was the sterilant applied.

Curtis Has Success In Bindweed Work

Duane Curtis, farmer living southeast of Farwell, is reporting very satisfactory results from his efforts to control bindweed on his place.

One spot of infestation he was especially interested in curing was in the middle of a cultivated field, and the weed was becoming an increasingly severe problem up until this spring.

The area of infestation was 25 of an acre, and had spread out in a circular pattern. It had grown from a patch of about two or three feet in diameter to about 65 feet across in just six years, reports Curtis, who has watched the progress closely.

"I tried every way in the world to get rid of it," he says, "but this is the first time that I had any success."

He previously had applied salt, then doused the patch with diesel fuel, and then "burned" it down with 24D. None of those measures stopped the growth of the weed, which had been likened to cancer in human beings.

Finally, he accepted a recommendation by a Plainview firm to allow them to apply Karmex W, a strong chemical which renders the soil sterile for several years. It was sprayed on in solution, and the job cost Curtis $43. That was on May 22.

Since that time, the bindweed died back to the ground, and from all appearances, is in control. Occasionally, a few leaves will green up and the plant appears ready to "take off" again, but after a few days the leaves yellow and drop off.

Curtis says this process is repeating itself from place to place in the patch. Revivals of life are only short, however, and no blooms have appeared.

Since the application, Curtis has refrained from plowing through or otherwise disturbing the patch, but he goes ahead with his watering just as always.

After irrigating through the area several times, he is convinced that in his case at least, the sterilant did not move down the row with the water to kill off nearby crop-land.

The maize right next to the treated spot through which water has passed appears as healthy as any other in the field. Sandy soil, which takes the water rapidly, may partially explain this.

NEW GROUP ORGANIZED TO BACK FOUNDATION

Appointment of Gilbert Kaltwasser, Oklahoma Lane farmer and president of the Parmer County Farm Bureau, to head a drive in the county to support expansion plans for the Texas Research Foundation, was announced this week.

The Foundation is seeking to establish a sub-station on the High Plains, and is asking support from a wide area to enable the privately-backed organization to expand.

Work was begun several weeks ago, and meetings have been held in Plainview and Muleshoe to explore the possibilities. Substantial contributions already have been pledged from several large High Plains industries, and now support is being sought on a local basis.

Kaltwasser is calling a county-wide meeting of workers and the general public, to be in Bovina's high school auditorium Thursday night, August 2.

W. L. "Preach" Edelman, Friona farmer and president of the Parmer County Farmer's Union, is being asked by Kaltwasser to serve as assistant chairman, and the following county men as workers:

FARWELL—G. D. Anderson and Bob Brooks.

BOVINA—Warren Embree and Ovid Lawlis.

FRIONA—Frank Spring, Wright Williams, and W. L. Edelman.

HUB—James Mabry.

BLACK—Pete Buske and Bruce Parr.

LAZBUDDIE—Jimmie Ivy and Juel Treider.

LARIAT—Boone Allison and Dick Gerles.

OKLAHOMA LANE—Henry Haseloff and Lee Jones.

RHEA—Carl Schlenker and Cordie Potts.

The Texas Research Foundation is located at Renner, near Dallas, and was established by Dallas businessmen years ago. The Foundation is known all over the world for its work in plant research.

One recent development for which the Foundation has been responsible has been sesame, which was brought into commercial production on the High Plains two years ago.

To further explain the intent of the Foundation's efforts to come to the High Plains area, the following paragraphs were addressed to Jess Osborn, the area's state representative, and a Muleshoe banker:

We were very pleased by the response at the meetings in Muleshoe and Plainview. With substantial financial support already pledged, the establishment of a High Plains Field Station of Texas Research Foundation appears feasible. But we need broad grass roots participation by farmers and businessmen to assure success of the project over the long term.

Any development undertaken should be on a regional basis, since the financial support needed would be more than we could expect to receive from any single community. It seems logical that a High Plains Field Station of Texas Research Foundation should be located within the region bounded by Amarillo on the north, Plainview on the east, Lubbock on the south, and Farwell on the west. The soils are mostly Amarillo clay loam, and the agricultural potential is comparable. Possibly a site near Springlake or Earth in Lamb County could best serve the area.

I visualize a sub-station of Texas Research Foundation, headed by a resident agronomist who would be available at all times to confer with farmers, ranchers, and community leaders on their problems. To set up the project with a permanent staff would require an initial operating budget of at least $30,000.00 annually; and in addition to this, we would need funds for capital improvements and equipment.

A minimum of 160 acres of cultivated land would be required, and a better job could be done with a half-section. Of this land, at least 20 acres would be utilized for evaluation nurseries where new crops of all kinds would be tested for their adaptation to soil and climate under both irrigated and dryland conditions.

The remainder of the cultivated land would be used for field scale tests and demonstrations of soil and water management practices and new crops under irrigated and dryland conditions. Included in these would be all phases of fertilizer usage so as to test and demonstrate the most efficient use of fertilizer to obtain the greatest economic return.

Tests and demonstrations with grasses and legumes for soil improvement, cropping systems, rotations, and water conservation would also be included. New crops which show promise for the High Plains would also be grown in this remaining area in large blocks to further test their desirability and also for seed production if their performance justifies release to area farmers.

This program should not be undertaken unless it is underwritten in advance for at least five years. Hence pledges should be on a five-year basis as far as feasible. If substantial funds are received in excess of the basic needs aforementioned, then research could be expanded into vegetable production and other fields.

Harold Hinn, president of Harvest Queen Mill and Elevator Company of Plainview, has pledged $30,000 for the five years, 1957-1961. Other substantial subscriptions include $10,000 from Southwestern Public Service Company of Amarillo, and $15,000 from Anderson, Clayton and Company.

I am confident that there are other interests on the High Plains which would also give substantial backing to this free enterprise project, provided there is a broad interest at the farm community level of both farmers and businessmen.

It is hoped that Parmer County will be able to raise from $7,000 to $8,000 yearly as its share of the operating budget. Kaltwasser Tuesday said "We have found a lot more interest in this project than I was afraid we might have," and he indicated that such a goal might be attained.

"Businessmen are ready to go with their part of the load," he said. "Now we have to sell individual farmers on what such a project can mean to them."

A goal of 50 farmers in the county who will contribute $100 per year (each) is the aim of the group so far.

Kaltwasser pointed out the long-range benefits which farmers can expect from such a project. "Just one good cash crop that they might develop for us, to greater diversify ourselves, would many times over pay the cost of maintaining a station," he said.

"This is a chance to help ourselves. There is no government aid of any kind connected with it. It gives us a chance to do our own work and meet our own responsibilities," he emphasized.

A representative from the Foundation will attend the Bovina meeting, which is to begin at 8:15.

Don't Poison Now, Is Jones' Advice To Cotton Growers

"Don't poison your cotton in July if you can get by without it," County Agent Joe Jones advised Parmer County cotton growers this week.

He listed as his reasons the light infestation of insects, and the possible harmful effect on beneficial insects that might result from poisoning now. A buildup of beneficial insects to control the coming bollworm season is recommended.

"Cotton is looking mighty good all over the county," was the encouraging report of the agent this week, following several insect control meetings. "And there are just mighty few fields which have enough bugs to warrant control now," he added.

Attendance at the meetings was light, there being 44 farmers who showed up.

"If you are considering poisoning for the fleahopper, you should take into account the fruit that is already set on your cotton that is too far advanced for the 'hopper to hurt you," suggested Jones.

"Most of the cotton of the area has from one to two and one-half bales already set that is too large for the fleahopper to damage."

The agent said it was true that there might be exceptions to this situation, but for farmers to weigh this possibility before they attempt to spray.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL * OUR STRENGTH

The Parmer County Soil Conservation District supervisors have purchased three 5-foot fertilizer spreaders to be used for spreading soil sterilants in the control of noxious weeds such as bindweed. If you would like to use one of these spreaders contact Bruce Parr. The cost on these spreaders will be $2.50 per day.

Have you received your district news letter yet? They are out and if you would like to have more let us know. We would like to know how you liked it and any suggestions you have about it.

Something that needs attention: The nation as a whole has become more and more water conscious the past few years. We have a lot of out-of-state people through the district traveling across country on U. S. highway 60. In some places along the highway great quantities of wasted water are dumped in the barrow ditches. What do these people think of a country that wastes such a precious natural resource?

For the past several weeks we have been talking about grassland pastures. To obtain the most from these pastures we need to use them properly. One method of doing this is to plant supplemental pasture such as sudan grass in summer to take the load off of the pasture.

When pastures are used very heavily in the hot summer they tend to thin out in stand, lose vigor, and to continue this method of use will eventually kill all the good grasses out.

FB Queen Contest To Be August 16

Parmer County Farm Bureau will stage its fourth annual queen contest on the evening of August 16, according to Gilbert Kaltwasser, president. Mrs. Glenda Rickerd, office secretary, is in charge of entries and preliminary plans for the event which will take place at the Friona School auditorium.

The county winner will receive a check for $100 from Farm Bureau which may be used in preparing for her entry in the district contest which will be held in Lubbock sometime in September.

Entries will be judged on three main points: appearance, poise, and personality. The purpose of the contest, said Kaltwasser, is to give proper recognition to our beautiful farm and ranch girls.

Though any eligible girl may enter on her own, it is suggested that a business, club, or individual sponsor her, submitting a $5 entry fee, along with the name of the entry. The fee will be used in paying the expenses of the contest and the awards.

Here are the eligibility rules:
1. Daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member actively engaged in agricultural production. Membership should be in county of participation.

2. Single.
3. Age 16-22 (16 by September 1, 1956, and not over 22 September 1, 1956).

4. Exceptions—daughters of state or county directors, officers or employees, are not eligible to enter this contest.

Each district winner will be allowed an expense-paid trip for herself and an attendant to the state convention in Houston in November. The state winner and her escort will be allowed $500 expenses to attend the national convention in Miami, early in December.

Previous winners in Parmer County's contest have been Denise Magness, Phyllis Fairchild, and Clara Jean Jesko.

Deadline Extended For Applications In Acreage Reserve

The deadline for placing cotton and wheat into the government acreage reserve program, known as the "soil bank," has been extended through Friday, July 27, Jim Whitfield, ASC office manager, announced this week.

"We're about over, though," he said, "and we don't expect to get many more in by the new deadline."

Through Tuesday, 118 applications had been approved for wheat land, involving 8,682 acres and payments of $51,736. In the case of cotton, 20 approvals had been made for 222 acres, and payments will run $6,776.29.

Pending are one application on cotton, 11 acres at $495—and 42 on wheat, tying up another 2,503 acres with payments to run $15,172 if approved. Landlord agreements are holding up these applications, Whitfield says.

Summing up the program he added, "We have had more applications than we anticipated."

Marketing Quotas Carry in Parmer

Marketing quotas were accepted again by Parmer County producers last week, in a nation-wide referendum.

In the county, the vote went 272 for, and only 10 against for an overwhelming majority. Compared with the 2546 farmers eligible to cast votes, the turnout was termed "very poor" by ASC Office Manager Jim Whitfield this week.

The vulture is said to fly at times at the rate of over 100 miles per hour.

County-Wide 4-H Rally, Dress Revue In Friona Tuesday

Members of every 4-H club in Parmer County were present at the county-wide rally day and dress revue in Friona Tuesday of last week. The program got under way at the city park at 9:30 a.m.

The morning was spent in the park. Games and crafts were directed by recreation leaders and delegates to District I 4-H camp. After a picnic lunch in the park, games were played, then the girls were given time off to get dressed for the revue.

At 2:30 p. m. the group assembled in the homemaking department of the Friona High School. The Friona Senior 4-H Club had charge of the decorations for the dress revue.

A wishing well, which was constructed of bricks and decorated with spring flowers, formed the background for the revue. It was surrounded by green grass and a Cape Cod fence. Terri Sue Mabry, dressed in a 4-H uniform, sat at the well.

About 50 persons were present for the revue. Judges were Mrs. Argen Draper, Deaf Smith County HD agent; Mrs. Glenn Maples of Hart, and Mrs. Behrends of Castro County. Pat Cranfill was commentator.

Each girl was judged on the following points:

1. THE GIRL—posture, grooming, poise and attitude.
2. THE OUTFIT ON THE GIRL—becomingness to girl, choice of texture, color and style, fit, accessories, right for girl, her use of costume, value for money spent.
3. CONSTRUCTION—accurate cutting, quality of work as it contributes to the "professional look."
4. RECORD—4-H projects and activities, 4-H leadership, personal development.

Girls participating in the revue were Pat Chitwood, Carole Dean Hastings, Billie Mae Stevens, Jane Hubbel, Virginia Rea, Eva Jean Ivy, Paula Winegart, Donna Sudderth, Margaret Taylor, Janice Darling, Zell Billingsley, Karen Bales, Sherrie Lyn Lange, Marilyn Sue Brandon, Jean Reed, Beverly Smith, Mary Ruth Riley, and Judy Billingsley.

Also Delores Elmore, Gladys Dean, Janet Snead, Stella Cole, Kathryn Smith, Jacquelyn Magness, Janie Parker, Sally Hough, Lindo Dean, Sharon Thorn, Lexie Stevenson, Margaret Mabry, and Barbara Rea.

Virginia Rea gave a demonstration on a sewing box and Mary Ruth Riley and Karen Bales presented a skit on "Beauty Starts at the Top." These were followed by round-up reports by Beverly Smith and Margaret Mabry, district camp reports by Judy Billingsley, Sharon Thorn and Barbara Rea, and district council report by Kathryn Smith.

The meeting adjourned about 4:30 p. m.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

Have you tried any of the new desserts which are being made with angel food cake? Some of them look and sound delicious, but we haven't tried any of them yet. The only one we have sampled is one which necessitated tearing up the cake. Seems such a shame to shred up a pretty angel food cake, but if you baked one that didn't turn out right, it might be a good cover-up idea.

Mix 6 egg yolks, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup lemon juice, grated rind of 2 lemons, and ¼ teaspoon salt in double boiler and cook until slightly thick. Remove from heat and add 1 envelope unflavored gelatin which has been softened in ¼ cup cold water. Set in refrigerator to cool. Beat 6 egg whites until stiff, gradually adding ¾ cup sugar. Fold into cooled custard.

Shred an angel food cake into flakes with a fork and mix with custard mixture. Pour into lightly greased angel food cake mold and chill 8 hours.

Make icing by whipping 2 cups cream to which 2 tablespoons powdered sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla have been added. Unmold the cake mixture and cover with whipped cream icing.

A lot of homemakers are busy canning and freezing fruits and vegetables for home freezers and lockers. Several persons have called to suggest that we contact Bertie Stowers for her method of preparing green beans and peas. This we did one afternoon last week.

Mrs. Stowers states that she prepares them exactly as she would for cooking, packs them in containers, then covers them with water and freezes them. Sounds simple, doesn't it? We plan to try her method very soon.

Many of the farm magazines are suggesting long lists of things to do when planning a vacation. Most of them seem too long and detailed for anyone to ever carry out. Our advice to farm homemakers would be, "If your husband suggests a vacation, whether long or short, quickly pack the things you feel that you couldn't do without and get started."

If you start following a suggested plan, he might have time to drive around the field one more time and change his mind about going.

We had never heard of using cellophane tape for mending until recently. According to the information we received, it will do wonders for temporary mending of falling hems, pulled off straps, or torn places in children's clothes when needles and thread are not available.

Now, if the manufacturers of the new material which is made from paper and looks like cloth, will just come up with some speedy way to get the garments made, it will be wonderful. Maybe some kind of tape can be used to make seams that will hold as long as the material lasts. If the material is the success it is predicted to be, what will the manufacturers of washers and dryers do?

Martha Clements, one of our neighbors, is making beet pickles. We suggested to her that she try some dill in some of them, but she thinks she wouldn't like the taste of dill in beet pickles. The idea was recommended by one of the new farm magazines.

THE H. D. AGENT'S CORNER

Jimmie Lou Wainscott

Two months—that's the length of time I have been in Parmer County, as Home Demonstration Agent, and have enjoyed every minute. It's quite an experience to find your way around a strange county. With the help of a county map I haven't been lost too many times. Have appreciated the many friendly West Texas hello's.

This week I am meeting with 4-H clubs. My schedule for the week is: July 23, Lazbuddie Jr. and Sr. Clubs; July 24, Friona Jr. and Sr. Clubs; July 25, Farwell beginners, and Jr. and Sr. Clubs; July 26, Bovina Jr. and Sr. Clubs. The demonstration for the meetings has been freezing vegetables. By the way, if you need some frozen food information just write or call me and I'll send you the Frozen Food Bulletin No. B-175. This bulletin contains information on freezing fruits, vegetables, dairy products, eggs, fish, prepared foods, and several other foods.

Remember that freezing foods properly keeps the natural color, fresh flavor, and food values of most fruits and vegetables better than other methods of food preservation.

The Parmer County HD Council met Monday, July 23, at Friona American Legion Hall. As people always do, a group remained after the meeting and started talking. They decided that it would be nice for the 12 HD Clubs of Parmer County to have a picnic at the Bovina Park at 7:30 on August 31.

These women represented seven of the clubs so they made plans. Each club will be responsible for bringing enough food, tea, and plates for their club. You can never tell what a group of women will plan once they get together. It all sounds like fun and is a nice way for HD club members to get acquainted and meet old friends.

$57,000,000 TO TEXAS SCHOOLS!

Price Daniel's greatest fight for Texas lasted six years as Attorney General and was finally won during his first year as Senator—when Congress restored to Texas our 3 million acres of tidelands. As a result Texas already has received from these lands over $57 million for our Permanent School Fund.

Throughout his public career, Daniel has fought against Federal encroachments on the rights of the States and the people as retained in the U. S. Constitution.

$1,600,000 TO PARMER COUNTY MILO GROWERS!

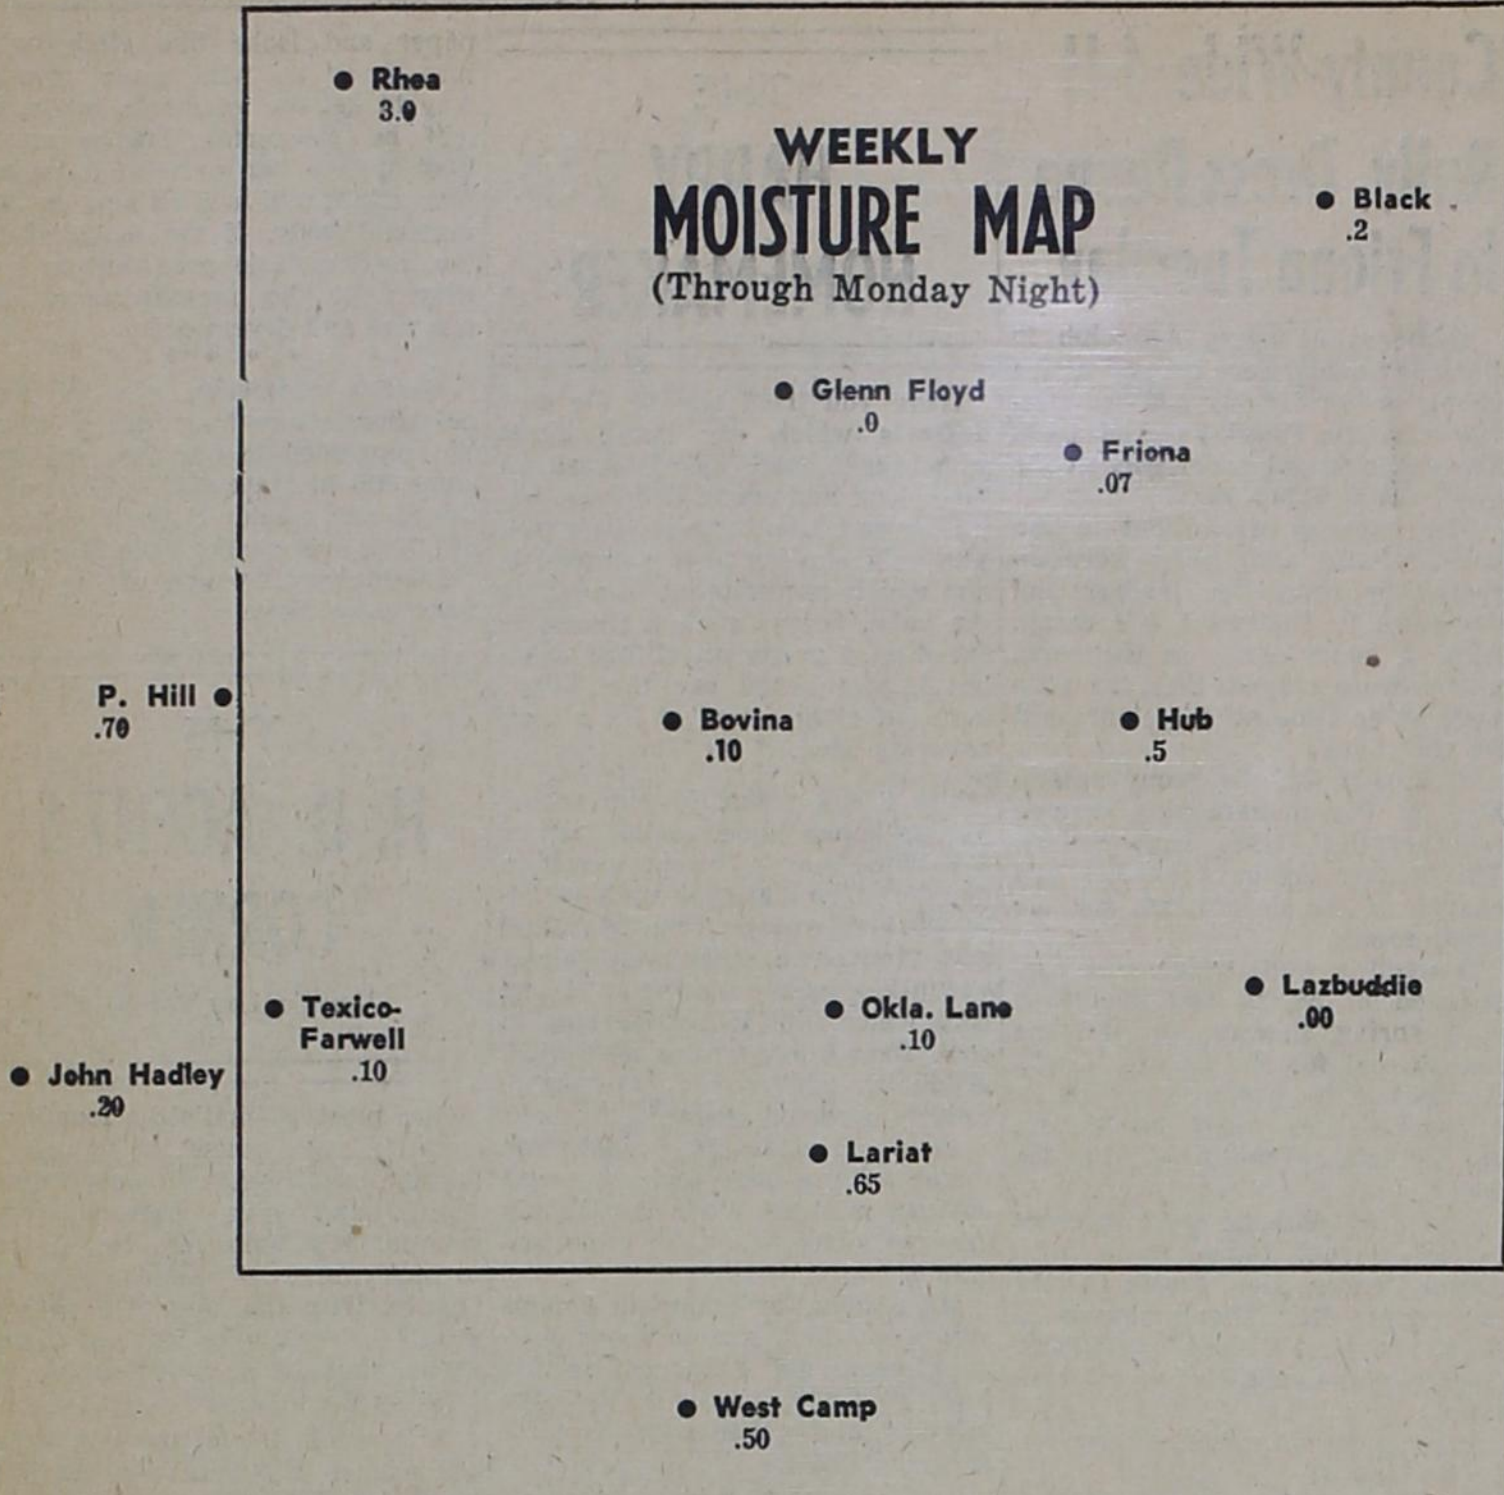

Price Daniel fought every inch of the way against discrimination in grain support prices which cost Parmer County farmers $4,000,000 in 1955. Through his untiring efforts, the support price has been increased this year to the extent that our farmers stand to gain back $1,600,000. This legislation very probably would never have come to pass without the backing of the Texas junior senator.

The record will show that Price Daniel has ALWAYS pushed for more equitable legislation for grain sorghum growers. This is not simply a move for political expediency!

PRICE DANIEL —BEST FOR TEXAS!

Paid for by Parmer County friends of Price Daniel who appreciate what he has done for the school children and grain sorghums.

11-YEAR CYCLES?—This reproduction of a large chart prepared by Hardy Benson of Hereford was the basis of a program at the Friona Lions Club recently. The Deaf Smith County farmer uses this as evidence to support his contention that rainfall on the High Plains comes in 11-year cycles. Most of the writing is too dim to make out in this reduction, but the rise and fall of rainfall totals from year to year is plainly evident. The three wettest years shown were in 1905 with 32.31 inches; 1923, 39.35 inches; and 1941, 37.21 inches. The lines under the graph show 11-year periods of alternating dry and wet cycles. According to his theory, we are right in the middle of an 11-year dry cycle.

THE PARMER FARMER

It doesn't make any difference where in the county you may drive, there still is a world of difference in the rate of maturity among different fields of maize.

Some have extremely early feed. Some are little more than just getting a stand. It's truly a varied picture. We have talked with some farmers about this, and find several explanations.

The most common one is that staggered planting dates make it easier to water the crop when it most needs the moisture, because at that moment the well may be available, whereas it might not at another point.

However, some other theories are turning up. There seems to be a distinct school of thought that feed can be too early, and that the farmer is gambling on his chances of making higher yields by getting his crop up and started in the spring.

The theory is that the maize will be trying to make grain during the hot (and usually dry) days of August, and that because of these extreme conditions, the grain stands a chance of not filling out and putting on the weight that it would later.

Waiting until just about a few days before normal frost for the grain to be completely matured in a normal growing season is the target that farmers should shoot at, we have heard several growers say the past week whose feed seems to be so far behind.

However, that view is not held universally, we might add. There seems to be a difference of opinion.

To some it may stink, but the pungent smell of chemicals drifting across irrigated fields as one drives through late in the evening is a real experience for us.

It's the perfume of production and prosperity.

Just a few days of cloudy and cooler weather certainly helps out the irrigation picture, even though it may not rain.

The broad leaves of our irrigated crops exposed to the wind and sun of the dry, hot High Plains in the summertime really draws on the water supply.

Evaporation is materially reduced, too.

It seems as if everybody has their pet way of figuring weather cycles. That is, how often a dry, and how often a wet, year comes around. Notice the one from Hardy Benson of Hereford that we are running this week.

We think that others would be interested in knowing what your long-range views on the weather are, and would be glad to give them an airing on the farm pages of this newspaper.

Don't be bashful if your ideas seem freakish or homemade, and lack the scientific approach. Not all good ideas come from the slide rules, you know.

Just address "Farm Editor" in care of this paper and let us know your method.

Agriculture is one of the world's most backward industries in planning for the future. This is being shown time and again as farm commodities are replaced by synthetics, and markets are disrupted. Perhaps the work that can be done by the Texas Research Foundation will be a reversal of this unhealthy condition. We hope that the Foundation is successful in staking out a 'substation on the High Plains.

Recently we were sent a copy of an expensive brochure published by the DuPont Company. It is positively fantastic how much money corporations like DuPont are willing to spend on cold, slow research in order to develop a single new product.

Millions are laid on the line before one single sale is made. Farmers must ultimately learn the lesson of research from these examples—or else.

We feel better about the potato business! Buck Gregory just gave us a couple hundred pounds of reds. We certainly appreciate his generosity at a time when spuds mean real money to the grower's pocket.

If any felt hat, except white, needs cleaning you can clean it by rubbing it with a piece of stale rye bread.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

The Renner Experiment Farm Project is gaining momentum in the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico area, according to Gilbert Kaltwasser. Gilbert was appointed chairman to form a committee of businessmen and farmers of the county to promote establishment of the station which is intended for experimental farming developments adaptable to this area. Some have said that it would probably be located in the Lazbuddie Community, somewhere, but we're not sure the location has been definitely established. This is not a Farm Bureau project, but that organization is lending its assistance in every way possible to obtain the farm.

American Farm Bureau is supporting a proposed 50% increase in third class postal rates. This class of mail is presently being subsidized by the American taxpayer by about that percentage. The bulk of this class mail is advertising circulars and such stuff, which is mailed out on a phone directory list basis. We haven't met anyone who did not agree that they had rather receive only that mail which they had an interest in. Post office floors on days of boxholders are a witness to the waist being subsidized by you and me. Farm Bureau's proposal includes exemption of country newspapers of less than five thousand subscribers from any increase because of the value of rural news to subscribers.

The Hell's Canyon Power Project was given private enterprise development approval in congress the other day. Farm Bureau, from counties to the national organization, had vigorously supported private enterprise development, and considers this an important victory.

We heard a preacher, referring to those who wonder why God doesn't assert himself to avoid certain things happening in the world, say this "God doesn't interrupt the program of life every few minutes to remind us of a divine sponsor."

Consider this: Hell and destruction are never full; so the eyes of man are never satisfied. Proverbs 27-20.

Does Your Child Ever Wonder?

Little Johnny here has a wonderful Sunday School teacher. And because his Mommy and Daddy send him to Sunday School every week, she has made a great impression on him.

But lately he has been wondering about the things his teacher has told him are important in life. And curious boy that he is... he can't help but wonder: is there really a God? Is it better to always be good? Is Sunday School Really so important to me?

The thing that started Johnny to wondering about all these things has been the attitude of his parents. The last time he asked his Daddy to go to Sunday School with him, Dad was "too busy." He had an engagement to play golf.

And Mommy—well Sunday was the only day of the week she has a chance to catch up on her reading, you know.

Cadillac

No Reason to Wait Any Longer!
There's not much question about what this man and his young son have on their minds. They're thinking about Cadillac—and about how wonderful it would be to have one in their own driveway!
And because dreams of a Cadillac are hard to put aside, we suspect that it won't be too long now before we'll have an opportunity to give them the facts about Cadillac ownership.
And when that time arrives, they'll find that we have some wonderful news for them about how practical Cadillac ownership has recently become. We will explain that it is now possible to become the happy owner of a 1956 Cadillac for little more than the cost of far lesser cars.
We will also tell them how economical a Cadillac is to operate—and how extraordinarily free it is from the ordinary requirements of service. And we will show them how, at resale time, Cadillac returns a greater share of its owner's original investment than any other motor car.
But the best news will be yet to come. For then we will talk about the generous allowance we can give them on their present car—and how short the waiting period is on the Cadillac of their choice. They will find, we feel certain, that they have lost their last logical reason for waiting any longer to enjoy a new Cadillac.
Incidentally, have you considered how wonderful a Cadillac would look in your driveway? If you have, then we sincerely urge you to come in soon and get the facts.
We'll be waiting for you with the car and the keys—and a story too wonderful to resist!
