

The trouble with being born a Texan is that everybody else was born in Oklahoma. At least it seems that way. The ink wasn't dry on last week's Tribune until the phone started jangling and irate subscribers started asking us, "How stupid can you get?" for never having heard of Tishomingo, Okla.

Besides being a city of 4000 people, the Okies have let us know, Tishomingo is the capital of the Cherokee nation. Furthermore, they told us that some fellow named "Alfalfa Bill" hailed from there, whoever he was.

In addition, six people told us that good old Tishomingo is the home of a guy named Johnston Murray. Believe they said he's governor or something like that. We're mighty glad the job work confined us to the premises last weekend, and our subscribers had to rely on phones to brow beat us. Facing some of those people would really have been rough. Only one man, Scott Levins, was upset enough to stop in by the office. He straightened us out on quite a few things.

So far, we've had very little use for that course in Texas history which was required of us when we went to high school. We should have read up on Oklahoma.

There is absolutely no comparison between the general temperature of people of this area this week and the way they were acting a week ago.

It just goes to show what a few inches of badly needed rain can really do for a fellow's disposition. Frankly, we're just sick and tired of hearing about "drouth disasters," falling prices, depressions, and what-not.

Too much of this kind of talk in circulation will give a normally cheerful fellow the blues so bad he's ready to sell his place and move on to California or some other land of purported opportunity.

We notice however, that most of the folk who move out sooner or later come drifting back, one after one, with a sheepish expression on their faces.

Folks, don't listen to all this bunk about the country going to the dogs. It CAN rain, as we have just seen, and mark our words, the man who sticks by his work and has a little grit for the rough spots is going to make out okay.

* We've seen pastors who were proud of their churches, but seldom have we seen the sincere enthusiasm displayed by Rev. Barto Massey of the Oklahoma Lane Baptists.

The Baptists are building a new church out there, as you may know, and Rev. Massey is never too busy to take a minute or two and show persons around the work area.

We stopped by last week to get a picture of the new auditorium. A workman hollered over to Rev. Massey (who lives about 100 yards away from the church) to come down and watch us take the picture.

The preacher must have been pretty excited, because he frogged his Studebaker off into a mud-hole in front of the house, and the jitney bogged down to her frame.

He got out in time to see the picture taking, however.

Speaking of churches, we got down to see the new one of the Lariat Lutherans the other day. The Rev. W. B. Gummelt was showing us through.

"And here's what the carpenters call the ball room," he was saying, gesturing to a rather small enclosure in one corner of the building.

We thought it was mighty odd that the Lutherans had a ball room in their church until a few minutes later he again referred to the room as the "nursery". . . Then it was clear: "Bawl room!"

* If there's a man in the county who knows how to get along with women better than Everett Christian, we don't know of him.

Everett, who lives 7 1/2 miles east of Farwell, is more entitled to "disaster" relief than any other farmer we know of. He and his wife have six children—all girls. If that isn't disaster for a farmer, we'd like to know what is.

Everett has most of them tamed now, though, and they have learned to do farm work just like a boy should. We didn't know he had his wife toting the line, though, until Monday when we drove by.

The Christians have an acre (yes an acre) of bermuda grass in their front yard. Seemed to us that would take an awful lot of mowing, but Everett said it wasn't so bad.

He bought a power lawn mower here a while back, and now all he has to do is jerk the rope to get the engine started, and lets his wife take over.

* So far as we can remember, what we saw Monday was the most unusual thing we can recall for many years. We crossed Running Water Draw at Bovina about (Cont. on last page, this section)

"Drouth Disaster" Parmer County Gets Four Rains in Five Days!

Frequent Showers Benefit Parmer Range, Cropland

While the county drouth committee sat pondering the question of emergency government feed, and crack newsmen from all over the United States were dispatched to the Southwest to tell the story of a new "dust bowl," heavy thunderheads rolled over Parmer County and much of the High Plains this week, giving farmers and ranchers the benefit of the most general rains in years.

Reports of anything from one inch on up to a half-foot of water were picked up by The Tribune early this week, and the complexion of this story is still changing, because the canopy of water-laden clouds still hangs over the area.

The showers started Thursday evening, visiting most sections of the county with from three-quarters to one inch of moisture. Rain was generally reported Friday night, also, although somewhat scattered. Sunday night produced moisture for nearly all the county, and from all appearances, rain on Tuesday night benefited a wide area in the west and northwestern parts of the county. Joe Blair reported no rain three miles south of Bovina, but it did rain in town.

A figure of between two and one-half and three inches will apply to most Parmer County farms, but there are some exceptions. Until Tuesday night's rain, the northeastern part of the county had been missing out on the rain. North of Friona, only about one-half inch was reported by Jack Woltman, and his neighbors to the east also reported scant moisture.

Parmerton Hill received nothing short of a flash flood Tuesday night, as rains suddenly filled the bar ditches, inundated the highway for a half mile, and brought fields to a lake-like appearance. That was at about 10 p. m. Up to three inches fell there in the course of one hour, bringing the total rainfall during the week to just under six.

The following reports from Parmer County points were accumulated previous to the Tuesday evening rain:

Farwell, 2.20; Otis Branscum, 5 miles NE Farwell, 2 and three-quarters; Mrs. L. E. McKillip, 8 miles NE Farwell, 3.7; Lariat, 3.1; Everette Christian, at Oklahoma Lane, 2.1; West Camp, 3.2; Bovina, 2 1/2; Hub, 2; Charley Ross north of Bovina, 2 1/2 Thursday night, .30 Sunday night; Rhea, 2 1/2; and Friona about 2.

Except in the northeast part of the county, virtually all wells had been closed down the first of the week, and most farmers estimated they would be able to stop pumping for about one week. The extent of Tuesday night's rain may have given them a longer breather, however.

Farm Bureau To Sponsor Contest

Parmer County Farm Bureau is joining other Texas counties in preparing for the state-wide Farm Bureau queen contest, according to Aubrey Ellison, chairman of the county queen committee. Texas Farm Bureau will allow $500 expenses for this year's queen and her matron to attend the American Farm Bureau convention in Chicago in December.

According to officials, county contest is to be held Aug. 21. Civic clubs, businesses or individuals are invited to sponsor candidates for the contest. The county winner will be taken to Lubbock on September 3 to participate in the district contest. The winner there will go to Mineral Wells as guest of Texas Farm Bureau in November to participate in the state contest.

The purpose of the contest, according to Ellison is to give proper recognition to the beauty, charm, and personality of farm and ranch girls and to promote a better acquaintance with the principles of Farm Bureau.

The contest will be an "honest-to-goodness" queen contest—not a bathing beauty affair. Girls entering will be judged by an out-of-county panel on three main points: appearance, poise, and personality.

Rules of the contest: Candidate must be the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member; single; sixteen years of age by Sept. 1, 1953, and not over 22 on that date. Daughters of directors, officers, employees of the Farm Bureau are not eligible. A fee of $5 will be charged for each entry. Clothing for the county contest will be informal cottons. The winner will go formal from there on. Farm Bureau will outfit the county queen for district participation.

Entertainment for this gala affair to be held in the new Friona auditorium, will be provided by some of the staff of KGNC radio station, including Cotton John and O. J. Johnson.

Parmer 4-H Trip Postponed A Week

Because so many of the boys are needed in the fields now, the Parmer County 4-H trip has been postponed a week, County Agent Joe Jones announces. New dates are August 3-6.

Boys will go to the mountains near Pecos, N. M., with about 70 boys and 10 adult leaders making the trip. Trucks and pickups will be used for transportation and campers will pitch tents and cook on an open fire.

Forty-one states have more TB beds in proportion to deaths than Texas has, a University of Texas survey reveals.

FFA CANCELS TRIP TO CONVENTION

Robert Morton, agriculture instructor at Farwell, reports that the plans to attend the State FFA convention in Ft. Worth this week have been cancelled. The boys will be unable to attend because of added work on the farms since the rain.

Drouth Committeemen Confused by Directive

Members of the Parmer County Drouth Committee, mystified by contradictory instructions passed down to them through the Production Marketing Administration, this week failed to approve or disapprove any of the close to 100 applications for government-supplied feed made available under a "drouth disaster" directive from the administration.

They, like committeemen all over the Southwest, have been unable to say for sure just what is expected of them in regard to letting farmers and ranchers participate in the program.

A telegram, received at Farwell Monday from Claude K. McCuan, chairman of the state drouth committee, was pondered over by the county committee for some while. It read as follows:

Chairman County PMA Committee, Parmer County
The following wire received from Washington office today:
"Advise county drouth committees immediately as follows: Purpose of drouth feed program is to maintain basic foundation herds for those bona fide farmers and stockmen who do not have the finances to purchase feed at prevailing market prices to maintain such herds and remain in livestock business with reasonable chance for successful operation.

For this purpose, basic foundation herds will consist of cows, bulls, nursing calves and such heifers as may be kept to replace overage and other undesirable cattle culled from the herds. To be eligible for feed at reduced prices a farmer or stockman must

(1) have less than a 30-day supply of feed to supplement the roughage for the foundation herd that such feed may be made available for cattle other than those in the foundation herd when such cattle, other than in feed lots will be marketed not later than September 30, 1953;

(2) not have the financial ability to remain in business and maintain his herd in a relatively satisfactory condition in view of present drouth conditions, unless he can purchase feed at prices substantially below prevailing market prices.

Feeders in feed lot are not eligible. To avoid any undue hard-

FISHING FEVER HITS RESIDENTS

Ever since George Houser and Herbert Potts blew in last week loaded down with gigantic catfish, local fishing fans who have had their nose to the grindstone all year long have been in a sweat.

A few of them couldn't resist the temptation to pull out and try a swing at the big ones. Buck Bradshaw, usually on the job at his grocery store about 18 hours a day, forgot all about business this week when the fishing fever hit him. He's wetting a line down at San Marcial, N. M., right now.

Johnny McDonald had a similar experience, and he took off for Elephant Butte near Truth or Consequences.

The biggest cat brought home by Houser and Potts weighed 57 1/2 pounds. It was caught on a trot line at San Marcial.

Cotton, Feed Still Holding Out Good In Parmer County

A survey taken this week following the general rains over the county indicated that both feed and cotton crops are holding up quite well in almost every section of the county.

County Agent Joe Jones reported that cotton is fruiting out excellently, and is practically untouched at this time by insects. A few fleahoppers and weevils have been found but nothing to warrant much concern, he said.

Following the rain, a fair number of county farmers are expected to go ahead and try to get in some early-maturing hegar and millet, both for cover and for feed. Planting here will not be as extensive as it will be in counties southeast of here, though, where dry weather has caused abnormal postponement of seeding operations.

Work To Begin On Texico Gym

Agrie Jones, superintendent of Texico Schools, announces that work is to begin immediately on the West end of the school gymnasium.

C. G. Willis, Clovis Contractor, submitted the bid which was accepted by the board, and will start immediately removing the brick and tile wall which separates the gymnasium from the band room. Steel trusses will be put in to support the roof and the wall built back above the trusses. An opening 10' x 32' will be left, and accordion doors will be installed in it. After all work is completed, the doors will be opened to transform the band room into a stage. When not in use, the doors will be closed, and band classes will be carried on as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Temple returned to Albuquerque last week after a week's visit with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Temple.

Good Crowds Attend Dedication Services

The dedication services of St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat last Sunday were well attended: 278 worshipped in the morning services, the afternoon services were attended by 291. The twenty four pews could not seat all, but chairs were provided, and many could find standing room only. "The members of St. John are very happy over their new church. They also received many compliments from visiting friends," the pastor says.

The interior of the new church is beautiful. The altar, pulpit, and lectern adorn the chancel. Upon the altar are two candle sticks on each side and a cross in the center. The nave contains 24 pews and an electric organ.

The exterior presents a pleasing appearance to the passerby. In the near future, the members of St. John are going to do landscaping, which will add to the beauty of the building.

On July 26, St. John will conduct regular services in the new church. A class of seven juniors will be confirmed and received as communicant members. The public is invited to attend this special service.

Lt. Porter Arrives Home For Leave

First Lt. JeDon Porter came in Tuesday night for a visit in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Porter. He is to report to Fort Lewis, Wash. on August 25. Enroute home, Lt. Porter visited the Bobby Harts, the Don Williams in Alabama; and the Johnny O'Neals in Ft. Worth. All are former Farwell residents.

Referendum Moved Up To August

The nation-wide referendum to determine farmers' opinions on the support program will be taken Aug. 14, announces the county PMA office.

State and county wheat allotment announcements are expected in the near future, since the Agriculture Department has already set the national acreage figure at 62,000,000 acres.

Wheat planted as a "cover crop" will be exempt from allotment limitations.

Farwell Baptists Near Move-in Day

"August 2 is still scheduled as move-in day for the First Baptist Church of Farwell to get into their new building," says a spokesman for the group.

Work is progressing very well with outside doors being put on this week.

Members are reminded that the goal for Sunday School on August 2, is 203, so everyone is urged to attend.

Last Sunday Rev. J. Perry King, of Amarillo, brought both the morning and evening services. 130 were present for Sunday School and 60 for training union.

BAPTISTS ARE BUILDING

A. T. Kersey and son were busy following the rain Sunday evening going ahead with roof work on the new Oklahoma Lane Baptist auditorium. Most of the building will be erected with donated labor.

Oklahoma Lane Baptists Building New Auditorium

U. S. citizens have gotten accustomed to "pay as you go" plans through their obligations to the federal government, deals offered them by retailers on large appliances, and home loans.

But a "pay as you go" building program for a church is pretty unique.

The Oklahoma Lane Baptists are now in the process of putting up a handsome new auditorium. Things are going along real well in spite of the fact that they haven't borrowed any money, haven't made any special effort for donations to finance the project.

The auditorium in the picture accompanying this story is 100 percent paid for as it now stands. What remains to be done in the construction and equipment will also be paid for—as it is installed.

"Work goes along according to the Lord's will," says Rev. Barto Massey, pastor, who himself spends many long hours assisting with the building.

"By the time we get finished, the building will cost about eleven thousand dollars. We hope to finish before this fall, but it all depends on how crops turn out and what the Lord's will is."

At its present stage, the building represents an investment of over $4000. Of this, about $2700 has been through contributions, and 1700 was transferred from the church treasury.

Rev. Massey is careful to point out that no campaign has been staged to encourage church members to make special contributions. They see the need without being reminded of it, he says.

"When an offering is taken during the services," explains the pastor, "We merely explain that should there be a person who is interested in his offering going directly to the building fund to place the money in an envelope so marked. This is not a solicitation. It is only an explanation."

The auditorium proper is 63 x 36 feet, and has a wing on the northeast corner 20 x 24 feet. In the wing will be restrooms and a nursery.

In the southwest and northwest corner of the auditorium will be two classrooms to augment facilities now available in the old building.

Eighteen pews will be installed in the auditorium, and a seating capacity of 160 will be attained for the entire building, which will include choir seats and the classrooms.

The front of the building, facing west on the Oklahoma Lane-Bovina farm-to-market road will be graced with double doors in a glass brick inclosure. A tall steeple will sit atop the front of the building.

Rev. Dewey Horton now pastor of Farwell Baptist Church was architect for the building, and work was begun about two months ago.

About a dozen volunteer carpenters are doing the major part of work, although some labor is being hired, too.

There are about 150 members in the rural church roll, 28 of whom have been received through Baptism since December. Rev. Massey accepted the pastorate last December.

Construction on the building goes forward under the supervision of a building committee headed by Claude Watkins. Others of the group include Harold Carpenter, Sterlyn Donaldson, Lee Mason, and "Shorty" Edwards.

When the new building is finished, the older structure will be converted into a Sunday school department, including facilities for adults, young people, and intermediates.

Rev. Massey, in speaking of the project, has this to say: "My wife and I deeply appreciate the people (cont. on last page this section)

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Not Enough Ph. D's To Interpret Directives

This is being written Tuesday, and already it looks as though another magnificent botch has been made in the "progressive" federal program for American agriculture. Two sets of instructions, both poles apart in meaning, have been handed down to the PMA and the county drouth committee, with the net result that nothing is being done, and tempers are rising.

As has been explained in a news story appearing on page one, the disaster relief feed which has been ordered for the county was requested under conditions which apparently no longer prevail. Where it appeared a certainty that around 100 Farmer farmers and cattlemen would be eligible for cut-rate government feed two weeks ago, at the present time no member of the drouth committee will name a single individual he feels can qualify, if the directive received the first of the week is strictly interpreted.

The confusion arising over this point may be clarified in a short time, or it may drag on for days or weeks, but one thing will be certain. The respect of the farmer and cattlemen for the government-administered program is fast fading. Here in Farmer County, rains of recent days have given the cowman hope that his ranges may put on a little grass in the near future, but in the meantime, he has not been able to rely on the relief program because it simply has not produced what was announced—low cost feed, and quickly.

Whether the disaster program is right or wrong is at the moment of no concern to this newspaper. The fact is that the ball has been started rolling by the Department of Agriculture, and farmers and ranchers would like to depend on what was promised some time ago. But they are afraid to.

More as a result of the anticipation of lower cost feed than anything else, the livestock markets have been stronger in the past ten days than at any other time this year. What will next week bring, if the directive will be strictly enforced?

Members of the drouth committee are frank to admit they aren't smart enough to figure out just what is expected of them at this point. A clause suggesting they use "reasonable discretion in carrying out these instructions" means that the bull has been tossed into their laps. Small wonder they don't care to have the responsibility that interpreting the directive would entail.

Still, these men feel they must do something. It appears quite likely that they will go right ahead and allot the feed on the basis it was ordered. This might be in conflict with the spirit of the directive, but who knows for sure? And furthermore, when will the feed get here?

It would be downright amusing if it wasn't so serious a situation. A lot of head scratching is being done . . . all over some surplus feed nobody has.

Waste of Space

One of the widest-read daily newspapers on the Plains recently kicked off a series of stories on (of all places) Las Vegas, Nevada. They devoted columns of top front page space to this sunbaked "paradise" in the West.

The wonders of Las Vegas! My, what an exciting story! Read about the drunks. Read about the sorry people who change marital mates just about as often as they change shoes—and with just about as much seriousness. Read about how thousands of people looking for a "thrill" get gypped out of millions of dollars. Ah yes. Read all about it.

When The Tribune gets so hard-up for a good news story that it has to feed its readers trash about the trashiest place on earth, we'll close up shop and go fishing.

Time Rolls On, But Old Wounds Still Open

At this time 12 months ago, Texas voters were winding their way to the polls for the first primary election. How quickly does time pass! A short time later, they, and millions of other Americans, participated in the general election that was to upset an administration hitherto considered almost impregnable.

Following the rejuvenation of the Republican party and the ousting of the Demos, there was much talk of uniting across political lines, "burying the hatchet," and getting down to work for America.

These patriotic oratories apparently fell on deaf ears, for never have we seen more bitter remarks exchanged between Republicans and Democrats than today.

The Republicans claim that all the troubles with which they now are having such a tough time are "inherited" from the preceding administration. Chief among these difficulties is the war in Korea, the problem of inflation, and the almost unbearable federal budget—which is further in the red than ever before.

The recent case in which promised assistance to drouth-stricken states is being delayed week after week is a good illustration of our point.

The administration attributes the bungling and delays to hold-over Democrats who are so accustomed to antiquated methods of doing things. The Democrats point to falling farm prices, impending surpluses, and shout, "Now, there is just how much the Republicans know about agriculture."

All this is just a sure sign of a healthy, bi-partisan America. The trick is to take the arguments of each side with a grain of salt. Politics is still politics.

Big Wind From Ft. Worth

A guy down in Ft. Worth, Louis P. Merrill, who is regional director of the Soil Conservation Service wrote quite a piece on the Texas drouth the other day. Everything seemed to be pretty authoritative until we ran across a remark that said one of the reasons why soil wasn't blown from the Plains was because "wind velocities generally were below normal most of the year."

If winds were below normal this year, we didn't know it. Doubt if any of our neighbors out on the farms knew it, either.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RALPH SMITH

Some of Farmer County's prettiest young ladies will pass in review August 21 when Farm Bureau members assemble to witness selection by an out-of-county panel of judges. The candidate will attend the district convention in Lubbock September 3. Aubrey Ellison, Bovina Local President, who is promoting the contest met with Mrs. Flossie Anderson, Friday, outlining the rules and regulations and asking her to take the lead, which she is now doing. News of this project appears elsewhere in this paper.

Evidence of the strength of agriculture when organized is shown in the fact that of thirty-six laws supported by Texas Farm Bureau Federation in the current legislative session, thirty were passed. These laws were formulated from the counties individually first, modified and passed at the State Convention by all Texas Counties. In Austin, our State Vice President, C. H. DeVaney and Loys Barbour, a district director, worked for passage, asking for

John C. White, Texas Agriculture Commissioner, complimented Farm Bureau for insistence on passage of the Texas Warehouse Act.

Congress is giving detailed attention to American Farm Bureau's proposal for cotton allotments for 1954. This proposal includes maximum percentage cuts for all cotton producing states. No state should be cut more than 2.5% of its 1952 acreage according to these proposals. Since this is a USDA problem it is naturally fitting that it be approached by our national organizations giving equal consideration to all states. Since these ideas came directly from cotton farmers, we can rest assured they are in the interest of farmers. These suggested adjustments would add 322.9 thousand acres to Texas's share.

To wheat producers: American Farm Bureau Federation successfully supported amendments passed by Congress, setting a minimum national acreage of 62 million acres and a minimum per farm acreage of 15 acres. AFBF was the only organization testifying in favor of maintaining the right of small growers to vote on marketing quotas.

At least two or three Farmer County men are planning on attending the Texas Farm Bureau Institute, College Station, August 2 to 6.

Consider this: Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy. Proverbs 31:9.

Ninety Attend Lions Club Breakfast

The Lions Club Breakfast which was served last Thursday morning at the Legion Hall was pretty successful with about ninety coming for breakfast with the Lions. The men were really frying bacon and sausage and scrambling eggs between six and eight that morning. Several of the men were afraid their wives were going to catch on and have them cooking breakfast at home too.

The only convertible that outsells Ford!

WHAT IS IT that makes Ford's Sunliner America's best seller? Is it its high-compression V-8 power? (No other convertible in Ford's field has this kind of engine.) Is it the fine craftsmanship of its Crestmark Body? (No body in its field can match Ford's choice of exterior and interior color combinations.) Is it its new spring and shock absorber action which makes even roughest roads feel smooth? (The Sunliner's springs are tailored to its weight.) Is it the choice of Fordomatic, Overdrive or Conventional you get? (You won't find such a choice in any other car in Ford's field.)

No, it's not just any one of these things that make Ford America's largest-selling convertible. It's all 41 of Ford's "Worth More" features . . . features which folks know make Ford worth more when they buy it, worth more when they sell it Test Drive America's No. 1 Convertible! Ford Sunliner!

10:30 in the morning.

It had rained Sunday night, and the draw had holes of water in it, but it was not running nary a drop.

When we came back through at 1 o'clock, though, a scant two and a half hours, the little stream was running bank-to-bank, and really fast, too, with a lot of debris.

Now, what we want to know is where did that water come from? We looked to the north-west to see if it was raining upstream, and there wasn't a cloud in the sky. We know within reason that Sunday night's runoff must already have passed, since the watershed is only about 40 miles long. Can somebody tell us where all that water came from?

AN OPEN LETTER

TO YOU -- OUR GOOD FRIENDS

Seventeen Years

IN THE WRITING!

Another wheat harvest season has now drawn to a close, and although this particular season is only a phase of our year's business activity, we think it is a nice time to tell you how we appreciate your patronage. We have seen seventeen wheat harvests come and go since we first established our home office in Texico in 1936. We have seen big harvests, and have seen some lean years, too. The season just past would have made us happier if it had been a little larger, but that's just part of doing business.

And, we have come to find out, regardless of the way business goes—up or down—we still have been making and keeping friends. We like to call our customers "friends," because it is through them that we have been able to build and build, until we now have company branches in Clovis and Portales, as well as Texico-Farwell.

These friendships we have made and are still making are our most valuable asset. Roberts Seed considers itself personally responsible to each person with whom it does business—not merely as an individual, but as a friend.

Yes, we have seen seventeen wheat harvests come and go, and with all them have gone seventeen full and satisfying years of doing business with people in this great Southwest. And the future still looks bright.

City Park Provides Amusements for Kids, Meeting Place for Adults In Summer

While even the strongest supporters admit that it won't compare to Central Park in New York or famed Brackenridge Park in San Antonio, the Friona Park is this summer providing entertainment for kids and serving as a meeting place for adults during the sultry days.

What's more, civic enterprises have seen to it that kids have "rides" as in the bigger parks (on a smaller scale of course!) and in order that no youngster will be left out because he can't fork over the necessary money for these treats the rides operate free of charge Monday through Friday afternoon from 1 to 4:30. Night sessions from 6 to 10:30, Monday-Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, are charge sessions, but only nominal assessments are being made.

The rides belong to the Friona Lions Club, which purchased them for operation at the annual fall fair held in the city. During the summer, they are loaned to the park operator, John Parrish. In conjunction with the Lions, the Modern Study Club joined to provide funds to purchase supplies needed to operate a miniature golf course, a croquet ground, volleyball and deck tennis activities, ping-pong and horseshoes.

Water for keeping the grounds green and attractive is furnished by the city which also foots the bill for necessary lighting at night, Parrish said. Benches have been installed at vantage points in the shady park, contributed by the various business houses of the city.

Busy draining the remains of a 1 1/2 inch rain from the croquet ground on Monday morning, Parrish grinned and admitted under-water croquet was something new, but added that he hoped to have the park back in running order in a short time. Plans are to eventually build a short restraining wall around the croquet court to keep hard-hit balls from going astray.

Asked as to when the park activities would come to a close, Parrish reported that a definite closing time had not been established. It is likely that the amusement center will be maintained for a few weeks after the beginning of school in September, he added, but this is not definite.

In the meantime, the kids flock to the park to enjoy the various types of entertainment offered and sponsors point to the project with pride, as visible evidence that even a small community can offer something to the young element of the town.

New Water Well Put In City Operation

The city's latest addition, a 322-foot deep water well, began putting its efforts into city water storage tanks last Tuesday, City Manager Roy Wilson said today.

The new well, drilled on the old waterworks site, will put out as much as 1200 gallons per minute to add to the wells already in operation, Wilson said, adding, "This gives us a good edge on the water situation in case an emergency should arise."

Under drilling regulations recently imposed by the conservation association, the city was allowed the new well as an irrigation well, Wilson explained, going on to say that the maximum output was about that of a good irrigation well.

Sixty-inch casing was installed in the 322-foot hole, and the well was pumped for a 24-hour period to clear the water before the flow was directed into the city storage tanks.

Asked about the local water situation, Wilson said that until completion of the new well, the water level had been pretty well down. He went on to say, however, that no rationing was expected in the city in spite of increased use of water.

Boss Lion And Wife Return From Trip To Lions International

"It was a wonderful trip, but there was just too much to do and see for the number of hours in the day," Weldon and Juanita Dickson wailed on their return from Lions International, in Chicago, where they had represented the Friona Lions Club. Staying at the swank Conrad Hilton Hotel, practically on the banks of Lake Michigan, the Friona trippers found themselves hard-put to take in all they were offered in the way of business, entertainment and sightseeing, and Juanita had to forego her natural woman's desire to take in one of the high-class dances because they didn't start until 11 o'clock and we just were too pooped out to go by then."

The Friona Boss Lion and his wife made the trip via Santa Fe to Chicago although they weren't on the special train which made up down-state and carried the major part of the Texas delegation they got met by a royal reception crowd when they reached Chicago. "Only", the Dicksons said ruefully, the crowd had come to meet the big Texas delegation (which had somehow eased into town a couple of hours earlier) and they were a bit disgruntled when only six couples got-off—weren't even interested in taking our pictures."

All activities were conducted in the Chicago Stadium in order to manage the crowd of some 30,000 Lions and their wives. One of the highlights of the convention was the International Review presided over by Rudy Vallee in which the flag of all 45 nations in which Lions Clubs operate were presented. "It was simply beautiful," the visitors agreed.

Some of the sightseeing the Dicksons did manage to get in included the Adler Planetarium, Chicago Art Institute, Chicago Historical Museum, and Buckingham Fountain, in Grant Park, which is lighted in various colors at night and simply breath-taking in its beauty.

The three-hour parade, which was watched by some 180,000 people, was also listed as one of the highlights of the trip, as was the boat regatta on Lake Michigan. "Both of them, though, were a bit too long and we got so hot and tired at the lake we decided to go back to the hotel and rest up for the night sessions of the convention—only to discover that pistol-packing Texans had corralled a 'Yankee' on a balcony down below our rooms and the shooting (blanks) went on for three hours."

On Thursday morning ladies at the convention were honored with a coffee and style show at the Conrad Hilton, where apparel from Marshal-Fields was shown. And Saturday morning the Texas Lions had their own breakfast to close out their reunion.

S. A. Dodge, of Michigan, was installed as new president at the convention, and his home state was highlighted on Michigan Night, Thursday, when a talent show from that state was presented.

While in Chicago the Dicksons also visited her sister Ella Mae Hall in special nurse training there. The couple returned to their home on Sunday.

First 1953 Potatoes Hit Town Last Week

Potatoes, newest comer to Parmer County's ever-growing list of crops, began to roll in from the fields to the potato shed operated here in Friona by Herman Neff, of Hereford, the past weekend, but activities were down to a snail's pace the first of the week following the showers.

The shed, located on the Santa Fe tracks in the southeast part of town, was getting an addition this week as extra grading bins were being added, Neff said.

Asked about the length of harvest time for spuds, Neff said that the crop could be cleaned out in "two and one-half to three weeks" when weather conditions don't interfere with normal operations. The machinery installed in the shed is capable of turning out 15 carloads of sacked, graded potatoes per day, if the crop is moving into the house.

In comparison, Neff pointed out that last week, the initial operation of the shed for this year, only 12 carloads were turned out during the entire week, as the crop was moving slowly. When things are running full blast, about 30 employees are busy manning the machines, under the direction of a trained Spanish-American from down-state. Laborers are primarily Spanish-American.

As to the yield, it could be enormous in this vicinity. With some 700 acres put into potatoes, Neff said this week that he saw some fields over the weekend which would turn out "around 250" sacks to the acre. An average yield is around 165 sacks of No. 1 potatoes plus some 20 sacks No. 2 spuds, and all potatoes in this immediate area are reds.

Shipments are being made "North and East", Neff added, going out by rail.

Visit From Borger

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thompson and daughter, Barbara Sue of Borger, spent a few days last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lea. Barbara Sue remained in Friona for a week to visit her grandparents.

Spotted Shower Hit In Friona Vicinity

Showers of the spotted variety, coming hit and miss, managed to give most of the Friona area a fairly good coverage during the past several days, reports from various sources revealed.

Up to noon Monday, gauges in downtown Friona had recorded a total of almost 2 inches, the heaviest fall being recorded during Sunday afternoon, when a total of 1 1/2 inches was dumped precipitately on the city. This heaviest shower, however, did not reach much distance from town in any direction, reports said.

Even though it might be only a "drop in the bucket" to what is needed to completely break the back of the prolonged drouth, everybody wore smiles as the first trickles of moisture began in the area on Friday. Farming activities were interrupted, and for the first time in weeks, some farmers could even cut off their irrigation wells and let mother Nature give a helping hand.

Parched ranges are already beginning to show a bit of green around the edges, and barbits which had been almost free of weeds for most of the summer are beginning to produce their customary clumps of noxious growth.

Some areas got barely enough out of the spotted showers to know they had been reached, while others reported fairly good falls. Indications on the first of the week were that the showers would continue for another few days.

Chitwoods Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chitwood of Friona will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, Sunday July 26, at the Muleshoe American Legion Hall, all their friends are invited to attend the come and go affair, between 2:30 and 5:00 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis and family returned from California, Wednesday where they have spent the past two weeks.

Plant Vetch Now SCS Urges Farmers

Soil conservationists are urging this week that farmers of the area, particularly those who are irrigating crops, plan to put in vetch seed down their field during the next few weeks, as land-building measure.

added wisely that vetch can be left on the ground when row crops are harvested; since it is a winter crop it can be used for grain purposes and protect the land from blowing during the winter; and plowing under the crop before spring planting is one sure way of putting life back into the soil.

Land which is depleted year after year through production of good crop via irrigation, conservationists said, must eventually get some kind of re-build or it will become worthless for productivity, and vetch is a top-notch soil-builder as well as being an active erosion deterrent.

VISIT FROM EL PASO

Pfc and Mrs. Charles Sanders of El Paso, Texas arrived home last Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Hand and Mr. and Mrs. Buel Sanders.

Pfc Sanders has been in a government accounting school from which he graduated Tuesday. He will report to Camp Stoneman, Calif. for other assignment after his leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cantrell of White Deer, left for their home Saturday. Mr. Cantrell has been in Friona for a few days driving a transport truck to Friona from Borger. They have also been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Day, Sr.

Outlook For Cotton Crop Is Good Here

Prospects for a bumper cotton crop were being considered in this area currently, as reports from various producers and others interested in the fleecy crop began to show a good picture.

In fact, it appears that only insects can manage to keep farmers from producing a top-notch yield, in the opinion of observers. Practically all cotton in the area is under irrigation, in spite of the fact that cotton until recent years had been considered a dry-land crop. And it appears that watering is getting results, judging from stands in the Hub community and other areas.

Observers this week went on to predict that some dry-land sorghum plantings would be made following the showers of the past several days. Questioned as to whether or not these crops, if they are planted, would ever reach maturity, one observer explained that if the crop attains a good stand, it could be cut and fed bundle-style during the winter months.

More Water Mains Installed Locally

A goodly total of additional water mains to serve the growing city of Friona have been installed during the past few months, according to records at the office of City Manager Roy Wilson.

Early in the year a block of 2-inch mains were installed in the north part of the residential section. More recently, installations have included the north part of the residential section. More recently, installations have included 1800 feet of 2-inch mains to the drive-in theatre; 625 feet of 4-inch mains to the potato shed; 100 feet of 2-inch mains to the labor camp.

City sewerage hookups continue to be made almost weekly, Wilson said. To date a total of 287 tie-ins with the city system have been made, out of a possible 425 for the entire city, he added.

TO FIREMEN'S SCHOOL

Glenn Sparkman and Dillie Kelley, both members of the Friona fire department, are spending this week at College Station where a special training school for firemen is in session at A & M. Roy Wilson, city manager, said that completion of the course by the two men would give the local department 4% credit.

Freya and Janet Roberson of Canyon have been in Friona visiting with Jacquelyn Magness and Judy and Jenney Taylor.

New Drug Store Will Open On Saturday

Formal opening of the Bi-Wize Drug Store is slated for Saturday of this week, according to Ralph Roden, owner.

Actually, the store has been conducting business since Saturday of last week, but stocks were not yet complete early this week, and the snack bar had just been put into operation.

The pharmacy department will be one attraction of the store, with Roden in charge, while Mrs. Roden said with a grin that she would probably be on tap for all sorts of jobs about the new business.

Treats will be offered visitors to the store on opening day, and all residents of the area are invited to drop into the new business on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baxter and family will leave Wednesday for Albuquerque, to visit his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baxter and then to San Bernardino, California, to visit his sister, Mr. and Mrs. O. Ever see so much fuss just to chill an orange?

It's the best way there is today to refrigerate a "reefer"—but Santa Fe is developing an even newer and better way to do the job

In 60 seconds flat, the giant ice-crushing machines Santa Fe recently installed can fill the bunkers of a refrigerator car with five tons of ice!

They are the newest and fastest machines for icing cars yet devised. And Santa Fe "reefers" are the most efficient type of refrigerator cars now on the rails.

These refrigerator cars and icing machines have carried the technique of ice refrigeration to the ultimate of present day knowledge.

WHAT ABOUT TOMORROW?

We can't be sure, BUT—

Santa Fe is now experimenting with a newer way to refrigerate cars automatically for hauling foods which may require temperatures as low as 25° below zero.

30 new experimental refrigerator cars designed by Santa Fe, built in its own shops and each with a capacity of 128,000 pounds of frozen foods, are now being utilized in the movement of frozen foods.

Each of these new cars has its own thermostatically-controlled diesel-driven compressor-type refrigerator unit. It carries 400 gallons of fuel (almost the exact amount Lindbergh used to fly the Atlantic). It can maintain sub-zero temperatures all the way from California to New York.

BENEFITS FELT ALL ALONG THE LINE

All along the line, people and communities feel the benefits of this building new wherever it actually occurs on the Santa Fe—and day-after-day, something new is done to make "America's New Railroad" a little better.

The millions of dollars this newness costs Santa Fe doesn't cost you a single penny in the taxes you pay.

PROGRESS THAT PAYS ITS OWN WAY

New Stores Jammed In Formal Openings

Both the Lewis Variety and the Piggly-Wiggly store, recent additions to the city, were jammed with customers during the week-end as they staged formal openings, managers of the firms report.

Bonnie Wilson, of the Piggly-Wiggly, said he was more than pleased with the intake of business during the opening offer, and clerks at Lewis Variety said with weary smiles on Monday, "If we'd had more customers we couldn't have been here today."

Congratulatory bouquets were in evidence at the formal openings as the new businesses became active parts of the city, and treats and prizes were furnished for visitors.

PARMER COUNTY FARMERS CHOOSE THE BEST EQUIPMENT

If it would rain every week like it has the past one, we wouldn't have so many good well pictures to show you High Plains folk. But it doesn't, and farmers who remember the tricks of Old Man Weather are still putting down new wells—every week.

Here is one we're installing for W. B. Stark, about 4 miles east of Friona. The well was still under development when the picture was taken. Mr. Stark, just like a lot of other Parmer County and High Plains farmers, realizes that the BEST IS THE CHEAPEST.

So, quite naturally, he made his pump a Byron-Jackson. And quite naturally, that pump came from Parmer County Pump Company—a firm that handles quality equipment ONLY.
