What is there to do on Saturday night?

What is there to do on a Saturday night in a small town? Mike Galvan, owner of Big Mike's Bikes, asked that question about a month ago as he was chatting with Farwell Police Chief Larry Kelsay. Chief Kelsay didn't have an answer, but Galvan said it got him thinking. Galvan said, "When I was young, Farwell had dances for the junior high and high school quite often. They weren't all the time, but it was something to look forward to."

So Big Mike decided to bring them back: "Let's try it; let's bring back the tradition!" On Oct. 12, he held the first dance at his shop next to Lowe's Supermarket in Farwell and over 50 local students showed up to have fun.

Mike said he wanted a good clean environment for the kids and made sure there were no problems. Christy Rogers, office manager for Big Mike, was the D.J. and played everything from hip hop music to country, and lots of fun songs.

Most of the kids danced until it closed, and had a great time. Galvan said security was certainly something he was worried about from the beginning. "We wanted a zero-tolerance for drugs and alcohol and Chief Kelsay was on hand to make sure the kids didn't break any rules."

The kids were not allowed to enter and leave the building freely. Once they left, they had to go home. Also, the dance ended at midnight so students could be off the streets under Farwell's curfew.

During the dance, free popcorn was provided by Farwell's band, and there was water, sodas and door prizes, too.

Dave Mitchell, of Sir Mitch Photography, took pictures for the event. Galvan said that the event is limited to local-area students who are currently enrolled from 6th through 12th grade. No youths who have graduated will be allowed to attend, to limit any problems.

The next dance will be a Halloween dance on Oct. 26, and there will be a costume contest, door prizes and some other fun things planned.

The entry fee is $3 to help cover the door prizes and clean up. Rogers said, "There has already been a big boost in support for the dances now that area folks have seen it and understand this will be a great thing for local kids."

If you would like to help support the dances, suggest themes, or sponsor one of the dances, call Mike at 481-2453. Also, any donations will be used for door prizes or other things for the students.

Farwell Schools to get water well

The Farwell City Council on Oct. 15 approved running water lines for the school from a well on 7th Street on the south side of town to the school.

The lines will run next to the loop, but due to Texas Department of Transportation rules, the lines can only be put in by the city.

Mayor Jimmie Mace said the lines couldn't run directly down the alley to the football field, which would be the most direct route, because of fiber optic lines, old water lines and sewer lines.

Farwell School Supt. Kelly Lusk said the school would be happy to reimburse the city for running the lines and lease the lines into the future as the city would have to continue ownership of the lines due to TxDot rules.

Mace said that the well is currently producing 40-50 gallons per minute, but it is the only well that automatically chlorinates the water, as opposed to the rest of the city where chlorine is circulated in.

Farwell Schools has alert system

Farwell School has put into effect an alert system when emergencies or weather reports are needed.

Folks should go the school website - farwellisd.org, and find the link under community. Click on it and sign up for the reports on your telephone. It is open to all.

Folks will get general school announcements plus closings, delays and other weather-related situations.

The topic of having a baseball team at Farwell School has come up recently.

School Supt. Kelly Lusk said this is not being looked into.

If it is brought up, and a need found, such as in a school topic, it will be checked into.

Lusk reported that athletic director Shane Perkins has suggested that Farwell schedule Texico School for varsity football games.

It was pointed out that this will save money on travel and make for strong crowds at both schools. It also eases the scheduling.

Lusk said the school board gave Perkins the go-ahead to contact Texico School.

Texico School Supt. Miles Mitchell said he has been contacted and will bring it up at the November school board meeting.

Steers shut out Morton

The Farwell Steers shut out the Morton Indians last Friday, 34-0, on a night with temperatures falling into the 30's before the game was over.

Players wore special "pink-out" jerseys with blue numbers in honor of cancer survivors.

Curt Langford opened the game with an 84-yard kickoff return and Andrew Michalski tacked on the extra point for a quick 7-0 lead.

Morton was held to a 3 and out as Peyton Ledbetter, snuck in for a tackle behind the line of scrimmage, and Lazaro Velasquez and Ruben Gutierrez had a QB sack. Dillon Kirkland and Adrian Aleman helped Farwell move the ball down the field, but the Steers had to give the ball back to Morton.

The Steer defense twice put Morton into 3rd down, but Morton moved the chains. The third time they got into 3rd down, Angel Graxiola knocked away a pass and on the 4th down play, Kirkland and Jonathan Vega sacked the Morton QB. Aleman ran for 13 yards up the middle, and J.J. Herrera connected with Pedro Ruiz for 8, but the Steers were forced to punt again.

Velasquez's punt pinned Morton inside the 10 yard line where Oscar Muniz forced a fumble to give the Steers a short field.

Herrera connected with Graxiola for a 15-yard TD and Michalski's kick made it 14-0.

On the next series, Morton managed one 1st down, but the Steer defense held strong as Ledbetter and Alejandro Bermea tackled the Indian running back in the back field, and Gutierrez recorded a QB sack for a big loss.

Farwell only needed three plays to score again. Herrera passed to Graxiola for 35, Aleman ran for 7, and Kirkland outran the Indians for 27 and a 20-point lead.

Muniz creamed the Indian QB, forcing a quick 3-and-out.

Herrera passed to Langford who tip-toed down the sideline for 15, and Aleman added runs of 13 and 10 yards, and a 27-0 lead.

In the 2nd half, Morton put together its best drive of the night, as they go within the Steers 10.

But the Farwell defense stiffened as Kirkland, Trevor Schilling and Pedro Ruiz stopped the plays for no gain, and on 4th down Ledbetter's tackle gave Farwell the ball.

Farwell and Morton then traded three-and-outs, and an Indian punt left Farwell pinned deep in their own territory.

Farwell quickly found itself with a 3rd and long, with the ball on the 1 inch line. Herrera passed to Graxiola for 27 yards and some breathing room.

Aleman tacked on 6 and then Kirkland weaved through the Indian defense for 25 more. Herrera found Graxiola for 10 more, then Ruiz for 11 more.

Kirkland and Aleman moved the chains, and Aleman scored from 8 yards out, followed by a Michalski kick.

Farwell quickly got the ball back, and got a chance to get more players involved with the game. Ledbetter, Heath Hadley, and Jesus Ruiz all made plays for the Steers as the game ended.

One negative for the Steers, though, was an injury to Langford.

Team stats: 1st downs, Farwell 13, Morton 11; rushing yards, Farwell 199, Morton 123; passing yards, Farwell 117, Morton 16.

Individual stats: rushing yards 0 Aleman, 106; Kirkland, 71; passing, Herrera, 7 of 10 for 117; receiving yards - Graxiola 3 for 73; Pedro Ruiz, 3 for 34.

Farwell is 5-3 overall and 2-0 in district.

Texico High School volleyball players wore special Pink Out jerseys. Here are some scenes from the 'C' Team in action.

Texico volleyball teams honor cancer survivors

The Texico Volleyball program hosted a fun-filled event in recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness month. At the Tuesday night volleyball matchup against Portales, both teams played in honor or memory of loved ones affected by cancer.

Outside the court, booths raised $4,533 for the Side-Out Foundation to help fight breast cancer and fund cancer research. They included a silent auction table, pink-out t-shirts, and pink snacks.

During the breaks between games, there were several fun contests. Parents of the players took their turn with a serving contest to test the accuracy of their serves.

There was also a balloon sit-on-and-bust contest and a cake raffle.

The red velvet cake was sold to the highest bidder, Edith Anne Bradley.

The pink-out game is an annual tradition for Coach Kristen Scanlan and Texico volleyball teams that highlights Breast Cancer Awareness month.

Wolverines nip Rattlers

by Allan Myers

The Texico Wolverines nipped Tucumcari's Rattlers there on Friday, 21-20.

The Wolverines are now 4-4 on the season and 1-1 in district.

Jonah Tuls tackled the Rattler kick returner at the 33. Good defense by Zach Harrison and John Myers had the Rattlers stopped but Tucumcari managed a first down at their 45.

On the next play, the Wolverines forced a fumble and Pinnell recovered it.

Pinnell then ran to the Rattler 42. Mason Golden carried the ball for another first down behind good blocking by Nick Loera, Tanner Pelfrey, Brayden Herrington, Josh Tredway and Dalton Wren but on a 4th and 2 the Rattlers.

Tucumcari scored on a 69-yard run to take a 7-0 lead.

Pinnell returned the kick to the 32. Justin Rucker turned on the jets and scampered 65 yards to paydirt. Tredway added the extra point to tie the score at 7-all at 5:27 n the 1st quarter.

The Rattler returner was tackled by JJ Tuls at the 40. Two great plays by Herrington left the Rattlers in 3rd and 17 but a big run by Tucumcari carried to the Texico 32.

Tackles by Herrington, Myers, Wren and Loera

Steers of the Week

slowed Tucumcari but the Rattlers moved the ball and scored from th 1 for a 14-7 lead.

Tucumcari recovered the kickoff at the Wolverine 40 to end the first quarter. Good defense by Myers, Pinnell, Tredway and Harrison had the Rattlers attempt a field goal on 4th down. It was unsuccessful and Texico took over on their 20.

Texico's offense stalled and Loera punted to the Rattler 38. Good defense by CJ Montano, Harrison, Loera, Pelfrey and Wren had the Rattlers down and a sack by Myers on the 39 forced a punt as the half ended.

In the 3rd quarter, Ramon Garcia returned the Tucumcari kick to the 42. Runs by Pinnell and Rucker set up a nice pass play from Rucker to Myers to the 25.

Rucker ran for a TD on the next play. The kick failed and Tucumcari led, 14-13.

Matthew Odegaard tackled the Rattler returner on the 17. Good tackles were turned in by Garcia, Pelfrey, Herrington and Harrison.

Tucumcari gained a first down at the Texico 10 to end the 3rd quarter. On 4th and goal from the 2, Loera stuck the Rattler ball carrier and Texico got the ball back.

Two plays later from the Wolverine 10, Rucker showed his sprinter's speed once again and scampered 90 yards to put the Wolverines on top. Pinnell ran for a 2-point conversion and a 21-14 lead.

Tucumcari moved the ball on their next possession despite good defensive plays by Myers, Harrison, Wren and Rucker. Tucumcari scored at the 5:31 mark but missed the point-after kick, leaving Texico ahead.

Good runs by Pinnell had the ball out at the Wolverine 38 but the drive stalled and Texico punted. A good tackle by Mason Golden and Tucumcari was facing 3rd down. Loera made a good tackle and Myers sacked the QB on 4th and 7 to end the game.

Individual stats were: rushing yards - Rucker, 9 for 171; Pinnell, 13 for 55; Golden, 2 for 9. Texico completed one pass for 20 yards, from Rucker to John Myers.

City of Farwell

Mace said that if the city kept the well, it could cost thousands of dollars to remove the chlorination system, but the school could use it as is.

Lusk said the well would be primarily used to water the football field and practice field, as they are the biggest water users.

In other business, the council:

- Heard that the Senior Meal Site has had over 20 folks eating there each day, and that the food was very good.

Mace said that he had been approached to help the site pay their $750 liability insurance, but said he felt unsure about the city's liability in that case.

He suggested that the council approve a donation of $800 that they can use for anything they like.

The council approved it.

- Approved building permits for Ralph Serna to build a storage building and Jacob Howard to build a fence.

The council also approved Tim Price to build a shop behind his home, but stipulated that it could only be used for personal use, and not as a commercial shop.

- Approved Western Imperial to do a controlled burn on the east side of Farwell. The company owns the last city lot on the east side of the loop, and has cleaned up the property.

The burn will be for dead trees and other small debris, but city code states that any burn in town needs to be approved by the city council.

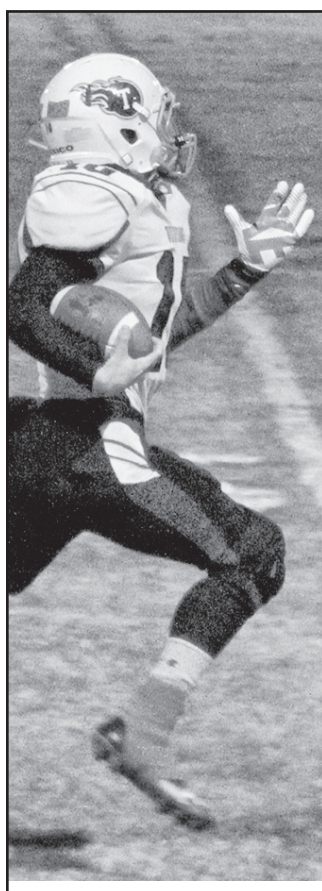

The burn was approved, as long as they coordinate with the fire and police departments.

- Heard that the city will be erecting a flag pole at the cemetery north of town.

- Was approached by Katrina Bryant about a problem with her water bill, but she had not asked to be on the agenda 72 hours prior to the meeting, so she was asked to come back to the next meeting.

'Legends in Blue' compete in Lubbock

The Farwell Marching Band performed at the Region 16 marching contest on Saturday in Lubbock.

Band Director Bill Shelly reported the band earned ratings of 3's. Performances are rated on a 1 to 5 scale with 1 being the best possible score.

Shelly said the band, made up of 21 Farwell junior high and high school students, learned a lot at this contest. "There were about 30 other marching bands. Our kids were a little nervous on their first song. The second song was much better, and by the third song, the kids were amazing."

Shelly believes the band will learn from watching the taped recording of their performance. "We learn a little at every contest," he said. Many of the band members are 8th and 9th graders so they still sometimes get nervous about performances.

Next up for the band will be a performance at the Veteran's Day program on Nov. 11 at 11 a.m. at the school auditorium.

Tryouts for the All Region and All State Marching Bands will be in December. The band will host a Christmas Concert in December. After the holidays, Shelly says they are all looking forward to All Region, State Ensemble and Concert Band Contests.

U.S. Congressman Randy Neugebauer, who represents Parmer County, voted against the deal last week to suspend the debt limit and provide stopgap government funding.

"I believe our current level of debt is dangerous for our economy and a crippling legacy for our children and grandchildren. So I could not vote to suspend the debt limit without security any reforms to our runaway spending. I was also disappointed that this agreement didn't do more to protect American families from the high costs of Obamacare."

***
After the first two District weeks, Farwell and Springlake-Earth are 2-0, Morton 0-2, and Bovina and Sudan 0-1.

It was inadvertently left out of last week's Parmer County election report that Sandra Warren is running for re-election as District Clerk.

Texico, Farwell students learn about farm safety

Farwell and Texico 3rd graders recently participated in the Progressive Agriculture Safety Day in Clovis. This is the 19th year for the program designed to teach safety for all types of ag situations.

Program organizer Patrick Kircher said more than 700 kids attend each year.

The Texico Fire Department also returned this year with their grain elevator demonstration.

Local kids liked the educational field trip. Texico 3rd grader Claire McDaniel said her favorite exhibit was the snake booth. The Spring River Zoo brought live snakes in burlap bags to show kids what precautions to take in case they encounter them.

Other Texico 3rd graders thought that watching a stuffed animal get buried in the corn at the elevator exhibit was extremely interesting. "It was cool watching the corn spiral down," they agreed.

The Progressive Ag organization plans over 400 Ag Safety Days each year in the U.S. It brings booths with important safety information including electrical safety, ATV safety, fire safety, gun safety and more.

This year the addition of the 5-2-1-0 Healthcare program in conjunction with Presbyterian Hospital and Curry County added fun to the day as well. Kids were encouraged to live a healthy lifestyle including exercise, germ awareness and healthy eating habits.

They had hula hoop contests outside, along with jump roping and other active games. At one booth, the kids were encouraged to touch telephones, sink handles and other household items that carry germs. After they had "germs" on their hands, the kids walked inside a trailer equipped with black lights so they could actually see the germs.

Healthy Kids Coordinator Mitchell Gray said, "We do healthy kids programs as much as possible to encourage kids to follow our 5-2-1-0 plan." The plan incorporates numbers to help kids remember to be healthy.

The 5 stands for 5 fruits and vegetables a day. The 2 stands for limiting screen time to 2 hours or less per day. The 1 stands for participating in at least 1 hour of physical fitness activities and the 0 stands for drinking H2O or water each day. "It was great to reach this many kids at one event."

Andy Pafko has died.

I know that name means nothing to most of our readers. But to me, he was part of my soul.

He was a baseball player. He was never "Andy" or "Pafko," but "Andy Pafko."

Andy Pafko was one of the Chicago Cubs' "Boys of Summer." I don't remember the name of the author who wrote "The Boys of Summer" about the old Brooklyn Dodgers, but I love that title -- The Boys of Summer.

Andy Pafko patrolled center field for the Cubbies in the late 1940s and early 1950s, when I became a lifelong, diehard fan.

He played for the Cubs when teammates were called Hammerin' Hank, and Handsome Ransome, and The Antelope, and Dutch, and Cavvy.

It was a time when you played for the love of the game. A time that recent generations of young boys have missed out on.

I have no problem with the Cardinals' Curt Flood filing the lawsuit in the 1970s to overturn the reserve clause. Baseball players were like chattel, and they needed to be set free.

But at what cost. No longer would it be for the love of the game. Money moved into the top priority spot.

Today's players have no problem moving from one team to another, as long as the money is right.

But back then, when I was a kid, good players stayed put. They played for one team their entire career. And they didn't complain, or if they did, it was quietly. They played for the love of the game.

It wasn't the best of times back then, because of baseball's segregation. But once African-American players were allowed into the Big Leagues, then baseball truly became our national pastime.

And one of the Cub's first African-American players, Ernie Banks, was the epitome of the oldtime player. He was never called Ernie or Banks, but always Ernie Banks, Mr. Cub.

His classic line was "let's play two today." He loved the game, a game that is so beautiful and wondrous. Baseball is often like poetry in motion for it harbors so much in every movement. No other sport touches it.

Today's youth will never see the Boys of Summer, and that is sad. But for old-timers like me, it makes me harken back to a simpler time, a time of joy and excitement when your team took to the field and played hard -- for the love of the game.

Andy Pafko had some speed, but was not the fastest. He was a good glove man, but there were better. He was a very good hitter, but not among the elite. But he was one of the Boys of Summer.

I will miss Andy Pafko.

So the Dallas Cowboys finally got rid of their zone defense and went man-on-man against the Eagles last Sunday. The result was a big win.

Apparently, the Cowboys read my column of two weeks ago and decided to take my advice.

Sales tax to be placed on spring ballot

The Bovina City Council on Monday discussed the 1/4 percent sales tax for street maintenance that will expire on Sept. 30, 2014.

The council voted to place the question on whether to extend it on the spring election ballot as legally required.

In other business, the council: -- Is seeking persons willing to serve on the Bovina Economic Development Corporation. If you would like to be a member, contact City Hall.

-- Agreed to continue the additional $2 fee on the roll-off usage that was added on earlier this year.

-- Heard City Manager Buster Poling report on the lawsuit filed by Lawrence Kriegel against the city concerning the legality of the city buying land at the XIT Rec Center site from the Kriegel family.

Poling said the Texas Supreme Court has dismissed Kriegel's claims, but that Kriegel has refiled a motion with the Texas Supreme Court to have the case reheard.

-- Heard that the city police department has received a $1,000 donation from the District Attorney's office to buy cameras that are put on their uniforms.

-- Got an update on a grant application to renovate the ground storage water tank. The original application last year had the wrong address, and this had to be changed.

-- Approved the 5-year lease with Charles Wilkins at the waste water treatment plant area.

-- Noted that well No. 9 was being worked on and cost information will be sought.

-- Accepted a bid to repair the EMS building roof.

-- Heard Jim Bob Swafford discuss councilman Radford Venable's support to have a retail liquor store put in town.

Swafford questioned whether the council was involved in Venable's project.

Mayor Frank Gonzalez and councilmen David Curtis, Dan Mayberry and Mike Olvera said the council had nothing to do with it.

-- Heard Poling report in response to a reader's complaint in last week's Tribune about the Halloween decoration at City Hall that the same decoration has been set up at City Hall at least the last two years.

Live Cattle prices turned most of their short term charts down last Thursday after an extremely sharp sell-off into the close. Prices seemed to gain some stability back on Friday, but now that short term trends have turned, it would technically require a new closing high in order to turn short term trends higher. Cash trade was a little higher last week, but seems to have lots of resistance around the $130.00 level. Support below the market comes in around the $131.00 level basis the December contract.

Feeder prices also took a hard hit last Thursday and also turned their short term trends down for the time being. There is some support around the $165.00 level basis the November contract. Long term cycles pointed towards potential highs during the mid October time frame. For now, the market would need to close back above the $169.00 level in order to turn short term trends back up.

Soybean prices held a strong double bottom around the $12.62 level basis the November contract and prices have since rallied. A breakout above the $13.07 area could possibly turn long term trends back higher. There is some resistance around the $13.30 level, but overall, this market along with the rest of the grain complex is beginning to show some strong signs of turning their trends back higher.

Corn prices rallied back into some short term resistance levels last week around the $4.48 level and stopped. There have been long term price targets down around the $4.00 level basis the December contract, but each time prices break down into new low territory, there is enough buying to support a rally back up into higher levels. This could be telling us that the market is close to finding a harvest low?

Wheat prices turned their long term trends up several weeks ago and the market has continued to work higher. The market broke out above the last couple weeks highs on Friday, but the market has given up some of their gains on Monday of this week. Technically, prices should make an attempt to test the $7.95 level basis the December KC contract at some point.

Cotton prices have moved back down close to major support levels around the $82.20 level basis the December contract. Prices have stalled out for a minute, but waiting to see if any bullish news could hold prices at current levels or moving higher from here? Fundamentally, China seems to have lots of cotton on hand which could come into play at some point over the next few weeks?

Harvest Season Offers Lessons to Investors

It's harvest time again. Of course, harvest season may not mean that much to you if you don't work in agriculture. Nonetheless, you can learn a lot from those who do — especially in your role as an investor.

Here are a few of these lessons to consider:

- "Feed" your portfolio. Through the proper combination of fertilizers and irrigation, farmers seek to maximize the growth of their crops. And if you want to give your portfolio the opportunity to grow, you need to "feed" it with the right mix of investments. This generally means you'll need to own a reasonable percentage of growth-oriented vehicles, such as stocks and stock-based securities. Keep in mind, though, that the value of these types of investments will fluctuate, sometimes sharply — and there's no guarantee you won't lose some or all of your principal.
- Be patient. Crops don't grow overnight. Farmers know that they will put in countless hours of work before they see the fruits of their labors. And they know that, along the way, they will likely experience setbacks caused by a variety of issues: too much rain, too little rain, insect infestations — the list goes on and on. When you invest, you shouldn't expect to "get rich quick" — and you can expect to experience obstacles in the form of bear markets, economic downturns, changes in legislation and so forth. Continuing to invest for the long term and focusing more on long-term results than short-term success can help you as you work toward your objectives.
- Respond to your investment "climate." Farmers can't control the weather, but they can respond to it. So, for example, when it's been dry for a long time, they can boost their irrigation. As an investor, you can't control the economic "climate," but you can make adjustments. To illustrate: If all signs point to rising long-term interest rates, which typically have a negative effect on long-term bond prices, you may need to consider reducing your exposure, at least for a while, to these bonds.
- Diversify. Farmers face a variety of risks, including bad weather and fluctuating prices. They can help combat both threats through diversification. For instance, they can plant some crops that are more drought-resistant than others, so they won't face complete ruin when the rains don't fall. As an investor, you should also diversify; if you only owned one type of financial asset, and that asset class took a big hit, you could sustain large losses. But spreading your dollars among an array of investments — such as stocks, bonds, cash and other vehicles — may help reduce the effects of volatility on your portfolio. (Be aware, though, that diversification by itself can't guarantee a profit or protect against loss.)

Relatively few of us toil in the fields to make our living. But by understanding the challenges of those who farm the land, we can learn some techniques that may help us to nurture our investments.
