PANHANDLE BANKERS TO HOLD 1920 MEETING IN CLOVIS

At a meeting of the Panhandle Bankers' Association at Amarillo this week, Clovis was named as the meeting place of the association next year. Clovis was placed in nomination by C. W. Harrison, president of the First National Bank of this city, and Alex Shipley, president of the Clovis National, followed with a seconding speech and told the bankers what Clovis would do toward entertaining them if they would come to the Magic City next year. Amarillo was the only other town put in nomination but after the vote of Clovis was taken and she was found to be the winner, a prominent Amarillo citizen moved to make the choice of Clovis unanimous.

The Panhandle Bankers' Association is a strong organization with a membership over the Panhandle of Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Western Oklahoma and the convention at Clovis next year will bring in the neighborhood of 250 bankers and loan men to this city. Several years ago this place entertained this same association and our treatment of the bankers resulted in much favorable comment. Mr. C. W. Harrison, Mr. Alex Shipley and Mr. S. A. Jones, all deserve credit for bringing the bankers' association here next year and the citizenship of Clovis will do their best to see that the visitors are properly entertained.—Clovis News.

POSTMASTER ADVISES BUYING THRIFT STAMPS

"I am very anxious indeed that all the citizens of Texico exchange their Liberty Loan interest coupons, which were due on June 15th for War Savings and Thrift Stamps" said Mr. Hunter, postmaster, last week.

"I made the same request in May and a number of our people availed themselves of this opportunity but I am anxious that more do so at this time and I sincerely urge all the patrons of this office to do so."

"It is very essential," continued Mr. Hunter, "that our people get the habit of saving and investing and this is a splendid way in which this can be accomplished. I certainly hope that every interest coupon in this town will be invested in War Savings and Thrift Stamps and I will be waiting at the postoffice to serve you."

CIVIL SERVICE JOBS FOR DISCHARGED YANKS

Washington, D. C., June 23, 1919.—Although there is a desire on the part of the Congress, the heads of executive departments, and the Civil Service Commission to recognize in all proper ways the claims of returning soldiers, sailors, and marines to employment in the classified civil service, the Civil Service Commission feels that in order to avoid misapprehension certain facts should be brought to the attention of the men.

The law provides for certain preferences in appointment in favor of discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines. It should be understood, however, that preference claimants must qualify in open competitive examinations unless they left the classified civil service to enter the military or naval service.

These examinations are announced from time to time to meet the needs of the service. They must be advertised for a sufficient time to give them due publicity; then the papers must be rated, registers established, and claims of preference passed upon.

An act of Congress of February 25th, 1919, makes mandatory the reinstatement to their former positions of all former Government employees who were drafted or who enlisted in the military service of the United States in the war with Germany upon their application and if they have received an honorable discharge and are qualified for the work.

CHANGE IN POSTAL RATES

Official notice has been received by the postmaster, advising the change in postal rates to be effective July 1, 1919, one cent will then apply to postal cards and the two cent letter postage will again come into its own.

The order also provides for the exchange of the two cent postal card issued and the three cent stamped envelope, providing these are undamaged, and the exchange being made within one month after July 1st. No postal cards or stamped envelopes will be redeemed from the public in cash but will be exchanged for cards and envelopes of such denominations as can be used by the owner.

This evidently will be good news to people using the mails a great deal, and should mean a considerable saving.

MISS THELMA ALLEN INTERTAINS AT DINNER

On Saturday evening Miss Thelma Allen complimented with a lovely four course dinner Miss Lee Methvin of Temple, Texas, the charming guest of Miss Nama Nabors, and her brother, Eustace, who has just returned from overseas.

The living room was beautifully decorated with red roses. Pansies and sweet peas were used as decorations in the dining room, and at each place was found a dainty hand-painted place card.

Those enjoying Miss Allen's hospitality were Misses Lee Methvin, Nama Nabors, Hinda Nabors, Maebelle Schienker, and Messrs. Eustace Allen, Ernest Lopey, Vernon Hunter and Hamlin Overstreet.

J. F. Nix, who has sold his residence property will remain in Texico-Farwell until fall, when he will likely move to some college town and attend school. He will hold meetings during the summer.

CHARGES LAND COMMISSIONER WITH DISCRIMINATION

In Open Letter, Transmitted to Senators and Congressman, A. H. Hudspeth alleges Men of Small Means are Shut out from Bidding at State Land Sales; Policy "Outrageous" Declares U. S. Marshal.

That an "outrageous policy" of squeezing out small landholders by aiding large ranchers in absorbing their holdings is pursued by the state land office in New Mexico is alleged by U. S. Marshal A. H. Hudspeth in an open letter to the state land commissioner, Nels Fields, copies being transmitted to New Mexico's representatives in congress and to senators and house public land committee chairmen. The letter is as follows:

Open letter to Mr. N. A. Field, commissioner of public lands of New Mexico:

At the request of Lieutenant Governor Pankey, who owns some 200,000 acres of land in this section, and over the protest of Gerhart brothers, who own a small ranch in township, 11 north of range 11 east, you have advertised for sale lands embraced in lease 6056, issued by your predecessor Robert P. Ervien, to Gerhart, and some 4,800 acres of other state land, all to be sold in one lot or parcel.

In the petition for separate sale of the state land included in lease 6056, filed with you by Gerhart brothers last February, they show that by reason of their small capital they will be unable to bid for the 4,800 acres and the lands embraced in the lease 6056 if they are sold in one parcel, hence they beg you to sell the lands embraced in their lease separately and apart from the other lands which Mr. Pankey has applied to purchase.

They also call your attention to the fact that their patented land on which they have a valuable well of water and other improvements representing a large part of their savings, is so situated with reference to the state land that it will be of very little value except to the purchaser of the state land to whom the Gerharts will no doubt have to sell at his own price. The fact that Gerhart Brothers have been forced out of the stock business temporarily and have sublet their lease does not justify a state official to aid a capitalist to "absorb" the small holdings. At the end of last year's drouth there were scores of other leases of state lands practically out of business with nothing but their lands, lease holdings and credit with which to begin business again.

Since the protest and petition of Gerhart Brothers has been in your hands since February, I am forced to the conclusion that you have deliberately adopted the policy of shutting out the man of small means from bidding at the sale of state lands by selling large bodies embracing small tracts adjoining the lands of small ranchers in one parcel, practically saying to them, "You have no business being poor."

A similar policy in the republic of Mexico, that is, the lending of countenance and aid by officials to large ranchers in absorbing the small holdings of the little fellows contributed in no small measure to the overthrow of the Diaz regime, and such a bolshevik-breeding policy should not be pursued in this country.

I am sending copies of this letter, together with copies of the petition of Gerhart Brothers to our senators and representatives in congress and to the chairman of the public lands committee of the senate and house in the hope that future grants of land to the state may be safeguarded in such a way that your outrageous policy can not be perpetuated.

Respectfully,
A. H. HUDSPETH,
Santa Fe, N. M., June 18, 1919.

L. R. Cox and G. F. C. Fons of Hurley were Farwell visitors Saturday. Mr. Fons is the owner of the Hurley Broom Works, a business that has had a wonderful growth the past few months. The writer had the privilege of visiting the place a few days ago, and was much impressed with the possibilities of its growth. We will give you some facts about this particular plant soon. There is a chance for Texico-Farwell landing this industry, as it is likely that Mr. Fons will move it to a place where better shipping facilities can be secured. A number of places are asking Mr. Fons to move his factory to their particular cities. It will cost us scarcely nothing to get it, and why not go after the same.

IMPROVED HOUSING CONDITIONS IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., June 23, 1919.

The congestion in Washington, D. C., which resulted from the influx of war workers, has now been considerably relieved, according to a statement of the United States Civil Service Commission. Early 20,000 persons have left Washington since the signing of the armistice, and a gradual further reduction will cause living conditions in the Capitol City to continue to improve. The Commission states that it is informed by the Washington office of the Home Registration Service of the Department of Labor that it is in a position to provide rooming and boarding accommodations for all who apply for them. The Home Registration Service constantly maintains a list of available rooms in private houses. Where two persons share a room, the room with board, that is, the two principal meals of the day, may be had for $40 or $42.50 a month for each person. In addition, the Government conducts attractive residence halls in which about 2,000 women are accommodated. A separate room with board in the Government residence halls costs $45 a month. Every comfort and convenience is provided.

Notwithstanding reductions in some branches of the service, the force in Washington is so large that hundreds of vacancies in permanent positions are constantly occurring. Stenographers, typists, and book-keepers especially are in demand. Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the post office or custom house in any city.

Harold Cox, who has been in charge of the J. M. Radford Wholesale Grocery house here for the past two years, has resigned his position, and will leave the first of next month. He has accepted a position with the J. M. Radford house at Las Vegas. Mr. Cox and wife have many a lot of farm friends during their residence here and the committee in general regret their leaving.

J. F. McKinney of the Black pump station was a Texico caller Monday.

THE PRESIDENT'S RETURN

President Wilson was supposed to have left Paris yesterday or today, providing the Germans signed the peace treaty. "Immediately after his arrival in Washington, the president will address congress," says the Associated Press report. "After clearing up pressing official business, he will start his swing around the circle early in July."

The president has spent exceptionally busy weeks in France working in the interests of peace and attempting to serve the best interests of his country and the world. No president, with the possible exception of Abraham Lincoln, during the trying days of the Civil War, has been subjected to such vitriolic abuse and such bitter personal attacks as has President Wilson. He has been attacked as a "pacifist" and as a president who is "war mad." He was attacked because he remained in this country as long as he did, before going to France, and he was assailed because he left for Versailles. He was attacked to abuse for sending American soldiers to Europe early in the war and he has been attacked without mercy because he did not send more soldiers than he did. He was attacked for appointing Democrats to places of prominence and was attacked as strenuously when he appointed a Republican as fuel administrator. He was attacked equally as strenuously because "he would ruin Germany by forcing conditions upon her that no country could fulfill."

Most of the antagonism toward President Wilson at the present time is on the grounds of his insistence that the league of nations be a part of the peace treaty. Partisan senators are opposing him. One Illinois senator has been bitter in denouncing him. The fact that representatives of the entente are favoring this incorporation of the league of nations in the treaty does not tend to halt this hostile criticism.

It is interesting to look back over the president's career since the war started and to notice the criticisms and the criticisms. When he first went to Paris hundreds of papers denounced him for his move, yet in a short time most of these same papers stopped this criticism and many of them admitted their serious mistake in criticising him for doing something that really should have been done. He was criticised for not rushing through the peace treaty, yet after mature judgment, his critics halted their verbal attacks and realized that in a subject of such importance and of such prominence and seriousness there must be given much time and thought before final action. He was denounced for appointing some liberal men as members of commissions to various European countries and assemblies, but when the people found how events had been shaping themselves in these European places his judgment was confirmed. He was denounced for not sending an official copy of the peace treaty to the senate, although a full and remarkably complete summary of the treaty was given to the public and the senate, but now that it is understood that the entente representatives had repudiated this policy of him "for reasons known to us to be important" the critics are largely subsided.

The president's motives are not being questioned. No one doubts his sincerity. His ability to go to the bottom of a question is widely known. His freedom from partisanship is genuine. It is admitted on all sides that he is doing his best to help the United States and the world out of a puzzle and a mess that no other president has been compelled to face. We shall watch with interest the return of the president and we shall read with interest his speech to congress. And when he makes his "swing around the circle" to talk the league of nations before the people who want to know, we are confident that the criticisms that are now rampant will subside and the nation will appreciate the course that OUR PRESIDENT has taken.

C. A. Roberson returned Monday morning from his northern trip. Mr. Roberson reports everything favorable and that every detail has been worked out. The railroads now have charge of all the shipments which have not arrived. His return here puts new life into affairs.

Lonnie Coltharp has accepted a position as brakeman for the Santa Fe out of Slaton. He has the local run. This is a good run, and good pay, with a chance for promotion.

DIVIDING AMERICA

At this great time in our history, when every effort should be made to unite this great country into one solid and substantial unit, there are developing some organizations that would do much to create division.

A Swedish Lutheran convention has come out prominently in denouncing any hyphenated Americanism.
 "We are Americans here and we are proud of it," said the moderator of the Lutheran convention. "We should place America so far ahead of all other nations in our thoughts and acts that there can never be a second country. There may be reasons for honoring some traditions and customs and festivals of the country from which we came, but we should so honor the traditions and customs and festivals of this, our new and own country, that we shall be 100 per cent Americans. The individual, organization or church that is 100 per cent American will never be distrusted or have its patriotic motives questioned."

A glimpse at Austria's history might be interesting at this time.
 Austria allowed, if it did not encourage, the development of so many groups with foreign interests that these groups became all but separate states with separate and distinct responsibilities. And Austria crumbled until today there is scarcely anything left.

If we want to Austrianize America, if we want to divide America, if we want to separate our country into groups and factions and interests that will eventually weaken our government structure—then the way to do it is to encourage groups that will divide their interest and allegiance with Germany, or Sweden, or Ireland, or England, or Italy, or France or some other country. And if we want to keep a nation that is united we shall encourage conditions that will make America the center and circumfer-ence of our national hopes and confidences.

SUBSCRIBE TO PAPER

Deport Times: Recently we approached a farmer living near Deport and asked him to subscribe for the Times. He replied that he could get a large St. Louis paper for 50c a year, and that our four page sheet wasn't worth a dollar. Maybe not. But this little four-page sheet told the world of his marriage to one of the finest girls in the land, chronicled the birth of his children, told of the happy birthday dinners in that home, of the visits of his friends in that home, of the visits of himself and family. And some day when he makes a journey to that "undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns," the editor of this little four-page sheet will write of the deeds done in the body. In the meantime this good farmer, who thinks so much of that great St. Louis paper can only get his name in that sheet by committing suicide or murder.

Yes, and perhaps some day he will fall down and break his leg, and you will fail to put it in your paper!
 However, the objective of the good farmer is not to get his name in the "great St. Louis paper." That great paper probably sends him a "bulldog edition," printed forty-eight hours before the date which it appears to be, and therefore filled up with "features" and dope that can be written ahead of time and printed any old time. The man to whom the local "four-page sheet," or whatever size the local sheet may be, isn't worth the subscription price, is the same man who prefers fat-off mail order houses, merely because they seem "big" and distant, rather than the local store, or the establishment within his own State. The "great St.

 Louis sheet," and every other great sheet, is, to his local community, what the "four-page sheet" is to its town and county. The big sheet represents the news of the world and of the Nation and of the State. It gives to readers in a wide territory information a small paper cannot present to them. But the great sheet can not fill the field of the local paper any more than the local paper can compete with the city daily. Your farmer friend makes two mistakes—first in not subscribing to the home paper, and next in sending so far away for his great paper that he receives a "bulldog" edition, predated and camouflaged to a date it doesn't represent.—Deport News.

ALEXANDRIA

Alexandria is eight miles from Washington. Along about the time of the last French and Indian war Alexandria was the metropolis of the British Empire in America. In speaking of Alexandria I will mention those particular places which have prominent places in our American history.

That which was of the most importance was the Christ church, in which Washington had a pew, paying £36 10s and paying an annual rental of £5 sterling. The pews which were originally square, were changed, all but Washington's in 1860. Other alterations of the interior were made in after years, but a wiser afterthought has restored the church to the style of the Colonial days. The sounding board and the wine glass pulpit were facsimiles of the originals. The chancel rail and the mural tablets of the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed were here in Washington's time; the communion table, reading desk and chairs are those which were used then, and so likewise is the crystal chandelier of solid brass with its twelve candle sticks to typify the twelve apostles. In the old days candles were used to light the church; on the pillars may still be detected beneath the paint the marks of sconces and tinder box. Washington's pew, numbers 59 and 60, is on the left side near the front, and is marked by a silver plate with the facsimile of his autograph; it has two seats, one facing the other, and a third cross seat against the wall. The pew is now reserved for strangers, and I will say that the very best of my stay in Washington was on the day before the nation's birthday, I worshipped during the morning services, sitting in Washington's pew, gladly taking part in the public worship.
 Sitting in the same seat occupied by the "Father of his Country" made me a better man and gave me higher ambitions to do what little I can for my country.

Second only to Christ church in interest of historical associations is the Carlyle House. Its foundation is a fort built for protection from the Indians during John Smith's time.
 John Carlyle built the house in 1752, and it had its share with the town in events which were portentous of revolution. It was the time of the French and Indian wars, and General Braddock had come to America to assume command of the British forces.
 Here had repaired to confer with him the governors of six of the colonies: Shirley, of Massachusetts; DeLancey, of New York; Morris, of Pennsylvania; Sharpe, of Maryland; Dinwiddie, of Virginia and Dobbs, of North Carolina. By invitation of Mr. Carlyle, they met in the blue room of the mansion. The chief purpose was to devise means for raising revenue for the purpose of service in North America; and it was resolved that the governors having found it impracticable to obtain in their respective governments the proposition expected by his majesty, "they unanimously of the opinion that it should be proposed to his majesty's ministers to find out some method compelling them to do it." When the Alexandrians heard of this resolution of the congress, they met at the court house, opposite the Carlyle House, and with George Washington in the chair, resolved:

 "That taxation and representation are in their nature inseparable."

To the Carlyle house came Washington, summoned from Mt. Vernon by Braddock, who offered him a commission as major of the British army.
 And it was here in the Carlyle House that, contrary to Washington's advice, Braddock's disastrous expedition to Fort Duquesne was resolved.
 I count it a grand privilege to stand in that same blue room. The building now is surrounded by a hotel known as the Braddock House, and a society is being formed to restore the surroundings as they originally were and tear down all buildings surrounding it.

Another Alexandria landmark is the Marshall House, where the Ellsworth tragedy occurred at the outbreak of the Civil War. In the spring of 1861, Alexandria was held by the Confederates, and the Confederate flags were visible from Washington; one in particular, over the Marshall House, a tavern kept by James Jackson, was the subject of a remark by President Lincoln. Among the Federal troops who took the town by night on May 23, were the brave New York Zouaves, under command of Col. Ellsworth. At dawn, seeing the Marshall House flag still flying from its staff, Col. Ellsworth entered the house, went to the roof and tore down the obnoxious colors. As Ellsworth was coming down stairs Jackson emerged from one of the rooms, armed with a double-barrelled shotgun, which he raised and discharged at the colonel, killing him instantly. Jackson then turned his gun on the others of the Zouaves, but was killed by them before he could pull the trigger.
 The house is now occupied by a five and ten cent store, but the flag staff is still standing and is being preserved by the people.

The old City Hotel is still standing and I gazed with reverence at the step from which Washington made his last farewell address. The home of Lord Fairfax is preserved and is owned and occupied by a rich old lady. I forgot to mention the old church yard, where lies the people who lived before 1800. It is quite inspiring to stroll along and read many old and quaint inscriptions.
 It makes one imagine he has grown suddenly aged. Then another interesting place is the old engine house of the old Friendship Fire Company, organized in 1774, and of which company Washington was a member.
 Last, but not least is the Washington Masonic Lodge rooms, where Washington was a member. Everything in the lodge room is as Washington saw them. Visitors are allowed to visit and inspect the room. It certainly would be interesting to the members of the A. F. & A. M.

Mt. Vernon will be the subject of my next letter.

We V With You

These is a big difference working FOR a man and working WITH him.

When you merely ask you to do and what would naturally be expected anyway work for him.

But when you help his problems, anticipate his needs and look out for his best, when you enter into the thing in the same spirit as he does, then you are working WITH him.

It is the same with the is genuinely interested in your success and does everything possible to safeguard your financial affairs, it is the bank that select for your banking home—it is the bank that work you.

What are your banks? Take them up with us.

Geo. Eads was treated to surprise Thursday morning after lighting from the train which brought him from Amarillo. If the news in this week issue seem a little short, you will have to lay it on the telephone in office. Not the fault of the local central, nor the telephone system in general, but because of the office phone not being properly connected. Many times we failed to get to use it the past week, and a number of calls are not able to reach us. Here is hoping that the defect will be eliminated soon.

Farmer County Commissioners Court met as an equalization board Thursday. There seems to be an opinion that the lands and personal properties have not heretofore been equalized in value. By the commissioners representing the different parts of the county, it appears that they are capable of readjusting the same, thus giving all their proportional share in taxes. It is peculiar, however, how poor some people get when the assessment calls upon them.

For Sale—148 acres farm, 75 acres under cultivation. Close to school and church. Enquire at News office. 6-25-4t

C. F. Leftwich arrived from Phoenix Saturday morning, where he had been visiting his brother for a few weeks. He reports the country around Phoenix on the boom, and states that property and real estate is changing hands more rapidly and more frequent than it did in this community in 1906. He also tells us that crops are several weeks ahead of the crops in this community and we were priding ourselves of the fine prospects in this country.

NOTICE

We have on hand a large, fresh stock of Grogan Mineral Water, which is far beyond a doubt Nature's Unsurpassed Remedy for Liver, Kidney, Bladder, and Stomach trouble and all catarrhal conditions, a natural water fresh from the wells that is stronger in its effects and more beneficial in its results than even the highly fortified and concentrated waters.

We are now in position to offer this water to you F. O. B. Clovis, N. M., at $5.50 per crate of twelve one-half gallon bottles, refunding you $2.00 for return of crate and bottles which makes the water actually cost you $3.50 for six gallons.

If you are suffering from any of the above mentioned troubles, we insist that you give this water a trial. Why keep on in the same old rut paying out $10.00 to $50.00 per month for something that has failed to cure you? We have letters of recommendation on file from people of about 15,000 satisfied customers; to give you copies of the letters would make a book and we do not have the time and money to furnish you this for which we are sorry.

Any further information desired will be gladly furnished upon application.

Three car loads of machinery have been unloaded at the Tire plant. Mr. C. D. Fitts, the master mechanic, of Akron, Ohio, is here superintending the placing of the same. The factory is a busy place now getting the place in readiness to receive the machinery already here and the remainder which is looked for on every train. The machinery being so heavy calls for a lot of excavating, in order to make the foundation necessary. The work is being dispatched in a suitable manner to all concerned.

The Baptist revival will commence tomorrow night at Pleasant Hill. An interesting and profitable meeting is anticipated. The pastor, J. F. Nix, will do the preaching. He has had a very successful experience in conducting revival meetings at different places, and with the enthusiastic workers at this thriving community, a big time can be looked for. The fine choir there will furnish the music. All are cordially invited to come and take part, thus taking advantage of this opportunity. It is likely that a cornet will be used in assisting with the music. Don't forget the date and place, tomorrow night, Thursday 26, at Pleasant Hill.

ately, and Mr. Porter is nursing a very sore finger. He was making preparations to leave via automobile for Oklahoma City Thursday to place his fall order for furniture, and in cranking his car, after filling it with gas, so as to get an early start the next morning, the crank came out of its place, with the above result. He will postpone his trip for a few weeks.

Supt. B. E. Nobles was not at his post Sunday morning. But who expected him to be? Who would have wanted him to be? Mack, his only son, who had been overseas for a number of months was to arrive on the morning train. He, along with the mother, were at the depot waiting to greet their son, and such joy. Only parents can realize the cause of the choked back tears and the rising lump in the throat which would not stay down. This family love and family patriotism was the one great factor that made the doughboys the best and most ferocious fighters of all the earth. Mack arrived in New York from Brest June 6th. He was sent directly to Camp Mills, N. J., where he was for six days before he left for Camp Bowie, where his sister, Estelle, awaited him. They left on the next train for Farwell. Mack was in the 36th division, 14th Co. F., and acted as assistant Company clerk. To say that he was glad to get home, is putting it very mildly.
