BY HOP JR.

If you think your affairs are in sorry shape, how would you like to be a flag manufacturer? One here in the United States, we mean.

The adoption of Alaska as a state was not really unexpected, we will admit, and this possibility was balleyhooded well enough in advance of its actual happening so that they should have been prepared.

But snapping up Hawaii such a short time later caught most flag makers flat-footed, we hear, and rumblings for statehood are now coming from so many quarters that they are almost frightened to do anything.

First of all, New York City wants to be separated from the rest of the state. That populous community resents the prospect of raising most of the $277 million new revenue being asked by the Republican governor, Nelson Rockefeller.

The home of the nation's capitol, District of Columbia, is crying for statehood, and their theme is that their citizens aren't even able to vote because of this peculiar condition.

Less likely prospects include Puerto Rico and West Berlin. While all of this commotion is in progress and the minds of the people are focused on new states, maybe now would be the time to raise the old battle cry for a division in our own strapping grounds.

West Texas and the Panhandle have always felt that Austin has been so remote for purely geographical reasons that these parts of the state have been much abused in capitol affairs.

We have always heard the same kind of talk from such Eastern New Mexico communities as Clovis, Portales, Roswell, Lovington, Hobbs, and the smaller ones, too. There has been plenty of squawking about how Santa Fe and Albuquerque pretty well kept things to themselves in state affairs.

This may be easing up somewhat since Eastside has gotten itself a governor, but we'll lay odds that the same old sores still exist in the sides of our New Mexico neighbors.

New Mexico's eastern plains and the Panhandle and western part of Texas would make a dandy 51st state, we think.

What has happened to the old Sage of the Sandhills? About this time of year is when he starts stirring around a little on his spread south of Texico, and in the warm sun gets to feeling his oats and even writes an onery letter or two.

We haven't received a letter (or even a carbon copy) of one of K. K.'s flamboyant epistles in months. This is addressed to you, Mr. Runnels. If you're still alive and kickin', let's hear from you.

We'd like to spice up our otherwise dull paper with a little bit of your wit, or maybe even one or two of your more pungent paragraphs.

Prof Morton says that Doug Roberts' folks out east of town found a snake around the house the other day that has made everybody curious. The way the story goes, the snake was practically immobilized by the spell of cold weather and the Robertses brought it inside. After it warmed up a bit it became a lot more active and they began to speculate on whether it was or was not of a poisonous species.

They brought the reptile into town and put the question to Prof to decide on what kind of a snake it was. It was very unusually colored, having black, yellow, and red stripes. Its head was triangular shaped, which is usually something a person wants to watch out for.

So far as Prof can figure out after consulting some reference material, it was a coral snake -- one of the most deadly known. So, the snake was duly put to death, and, for good measure, we suppose, was embalmed in formaldehyde in the school science lab.

What the moral of this story is we don't exactly know. In the first place, there aren't supposed to be any coral snakes in this latitude. We don't mean to cast doubts on the snake hunters; but according to nature, this just couldn't happen. But, considering it's Texas, it just might be.

Hanson Charged In Watch Theft

Thomas Hanson, 19, of Taylor, Arkansas, is in the Parmer County jail and is charged with theft of personal property at a Farwell service station last week. His bond is $1000.

Hanson is alleged to have taken from a car parked near Cory Penn Station Friday night a watch ago, a watch belonging to Donald Arnold, a station employee.

The watch later turned up at a Clovis pawn shop and the pawn shop owner identified Hanson as the person who pawned the property.

The Arkansas young man has admitted the theft.

His bond was set in Judge Loyde Brewer's court Friday.

Safflower Meeting Tonight

Farmers and all interested persons are urged to be present at a special meeting tonight (Thursday) at the courthouse. The meeting is sponsored by Farmers Union and Safflower Oil Corporation of Boulder, Colo.

Safflower, an oilseed crop, is a potential new source of revenue to High Plains farmers. Meetings are being held all over the Plains to acquaint farmers with the crop and to encourage them to grow small acreages this year.

So far, plots no larger than 20 acres per farmer are being recommended. Farmers are assured of a price of $62 a ton for the seed they produce. No safflower has been grown on a commercial scale in Parmer County, but yields are expected to be about like sesame, another oilseed crop.

Farmers Union and the oil company have made an agreement to build a seed crushing mill somewhere in the area if the crop catches on. The Farwell Chamber of Commerce and several individuals are working to insure Farwell's consideration as a potential location of the mill.

The meeting is to begin at 8.

Farwell Music Students Win

The newly-organized mixed chorus of Farwell Schools received a first place rating at regional contests in Canyon Saturday--for the second time in the 11-year history of choral instruction in the school. The group is directed by Mrs. Shelby Jobs. Previously, the chorus has been an all-girl group.

The chorus also rated a second in sight reading. Numbers included were: "Oh Glad-some Light," "Oh Jesus Grant Me Hope and Comfort" and "Heavenly Light." The judge commended the group on their interpretation and intonation and other qualities.

Nine first place medals were also received by individuals and seven second place certificates were awarded local students. Medals went to Martha Blair, Carolyn Parker, Wilma Norton and the Silhouettes, a girls sextet composed of Darlene Hromas, Carolyn Parker, Wilma Norton, Juanita Range, Gwenda Parker and Martha Blair.

Second places were awarded to Jimmy Hardage, Juanita Range, Gwenda Parker, Jolene Donaldson, D'Ann Garrett; and to the freshman girls trio: es Garrett and Donaldson and Carolyn Watts. Davy Berggren received a third place award. Misses Garrett and Donaldson and Carolyn Watts. Davy Berggren received a third place award. In instrumental solo and ensemble contests, Miss Garrett and Jimmy Armstrong received first for saxophone solos. Seconds went to: Bob Green, cornet; Alan Busbice, cornet; and Miss Norton, Ema-lee Tucker and Dorris Donaldson, clarinet trio.

Cancer Crusade Set for Tuesday

Date of the Cancer Crusade has been changed, says Mrs. Sam Rundell, who is in charge of the drive. Canvass of the town will be Tuesday, April 21, with workers planning an all-day campaign.

The Farwell Study Club is sponsoring the drive and Mrs. Rundell is president of the group. She adds that this is the first Cancer Crusade here.

Women who assisted in the Red Cross Drive have been assigned the same streets to canvass for the cancer campaign.

to conduct a two-week revival beginning Monday, April 13.

Jack Williams Resigns; Roberts Superintendent

Jack Williams, stricken with a heart attack two weeks ago, resigned his position as superintendent of Farwell Schools last week. The vacancy created by his illness is being filled by W. M. Roberts, former Farwell high school principal and now superintendent of the Whitarral system.

Williams was taken to the hospital Monday night a week ago and has been there since that time. It is hoped that he will be permitted to return home Monday of next week, but in any event the convalescent period that is ahead of him forced him to give up his duties of chief administrator of the local system.

Williams' contract with the school had been renewed this past year and he had two more years to go.

Roberts, who came to the Farwell schools from Oklahoma Lane when consolidation was effected in 1949, left here four years ago to become superintendent of Estellene Schools. He spent two years at Estellene and then accepted the superintendency of the Whitarral Schools.

He will assume his duties at Farwell July 1.

Roberts was hired by the school board in a special meeting Thursday night.

Williams came to Farwell Schools in 1948 as coach. He later became principal and then superintendent.

He said this week that he is hoping that it will be possible for him to return to the local school system in some capacity other than superintendent. The requirements of the job of superintendent would be too great, his physician has advised.

During the superintendent's illness, a clot lodged in a vein near his heart and a recovery period of several months, including three weeks in bed, has been prescribed to allow the organ to repair itself. The superintendent has been told by doctors that if his recovery continues as it has and as is expected, he will be able to lead a normal life, except for unusual physical exertion, such as running.

Even though he is confined to a hospital bed, Williams has continued to keep in touch with the school and to help keep things running. A telephone by his bedside rings oc-

He will occupy the west side of the Utzman building, and is hoping to make the move May 1. The transaction will not interrupt regular business, Bradshaw said.

"SUGARTIME" RECALLS OLD TIMES for Erma Jobs and Charlie Phillips, who go through a few bars of the nation-wide hit together. The Farwell boy's song, sung by the McGuire Sisters, sold 1 1/2 million records and was given the BMI nod of the No. 1 Song of 1958.

The mixed chorus will begin the program by singing three numbers, all of which were prepared for the concert.

Singleterry, Lockhart Named Honor Students

Two boys head the Texico senior class scholastically and will represent seniors as valedictorian and salutatorian at graduation exercises in May. They are Monte Singleterry and David Lockhart.

Singleterry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Singleterry of Pleasant Hill, has maintained an 11.07 average during his four years of high school. This average during his four years of college is slightly above A, says Paul Frederick, school principal.

Singleterry has been active in all phases of school activity, having played basketball, softball, entered track events, participated in band, business education club, and serving as a member of the Student Council. He was also in the cast of his class plays and was Teen Chairman of March of Dimes.

He plans to enter Eastern New Mexico University at Portales next year.

David Lockhart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lockhart.

He too has been active in extra-curricular activities at school, and maintained a 10.75 average.

He is president of the senior class.

Performing at the South-eastern District New Mexico Music Festival in Lovington Saturday the local Junior High Band, composed of 42 members, received a first rating on their performance.

They were judged on tone, intonation, technique, balance, interpretation, musical effect, appearance and discipline.

Under the direction of Fred Danforth, the band played "Port 25 March" by Akers, "Medallion Overture," Johnson, and "Little Scotch Suite" by Jackson.

Nineteen other musical groups from Hobbs, Lovington, Roswell, Artesia, Clovis, Dora, Carlsbad, Jal, Tatum and Eunice took part. Judges were Gregg Randall, director of bands, Las Cruces; Dr. E. E. Stein, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque; and Wallace Cleveland, director, department of instructional music, Highland High School, Albuquerque.

The Texico band performed in the gym at Lovington before the three judges and many spectators Saturday morning. They were notified in the afternoon of their rating.

Gregg Randall, judge, commented on the "well-disciplined and nice-appearing band," Dr. E. E. Stein called it a "well-instructed group" and added, "I am much impressed with expression and phrasing. It is considerably more mature

Student Council Asks Clothing

To provide clothing for children and their families in underprivileged areas of America as well as to the victims of disaster, both at home and overseas, members of the TEXICO STUDENT Council will collect clothing during the week of April 20-26, in the 17th Annual Bundle Day Clothing Collection sponsored by Save the Children Federation in schools across the nation. Theme of this year's program will be "Children helping children."

Activities will get underway Monday morning in assembly when the program will be devoted to stressing the importance of the campaign. Each day that week, records will be played reminding students of the drive.

Parents, neighbors and friends are urged to empty closets and drawers of good, used clothing their families no longer need. Winter and summer garments for babies, children and adults, as well as sheets and blankets are needed.

Most Americans are shocked to learn that many children in the Southern Appalachian Mountains of the United States cannot attend school regularly in winter because they do not have adequate clothing and shoes. Last year during the coldest weather, many children of the Southern Mountains walked to school barefoot. Many others did not attend school because they lacked adequate clothing.

This year, conditions in the southern Mountains are especially acute due to unemployment and floods. Donated clothing is sent to the Southern Mountains, where it is made available through Save the Children Federation Clothing Centers, at very low prices, thus enabling a poor but proud people to maintain their self-respect. Additional clothing is distributed without charge, through County Welfare and Attendance officers who cannot afford to pay. Clothing is also stockpiled for emergency disaster use in this country and overseas.

Save the Children Federation is the only truly non-sectarian child welfare organization collecting used clothing in schools on a nation-wide basis. "If adults will support the enthusiasm of children in this project, we shall be able to help Save the Children Federation meet the urgent need for clothing. More important, our own children will know the joy of helping others less fortunate than themselves," says Mrs. Ruby Doran, student council sponsor.

Friends wishing to donate clothing may bring it to schools in bags or cartons. If it is not possible to get it to the school, contact any member of the Tex-

Do you need tomato, pepper or other garden seed plants? See Mr. or Mrs. Jerry Spurlin who live about five blocks north of Ted Sheets' Blacksmith. Call me when they get ripe.

Have you heard about Patrick's Hybrid sorghum? This hybrid grows three feet tall, will stand up in a 90-mile an hour gale and normally will produce 6000 pounds with only one watering. It dries early in the field and harvesting can be finished by deer season. It weighs heavier than Martin and the feeding value is 20% better than yellow corn. It comes packed in a top quality cotton bag that will make an excellent pair of shorts for your old man and there is a coupon in each sack good for one steak dinner at Lemons Restaurant in San Francisco. All seeds are treated with yellow gold dust and the accumulation in the bottom of the sack normally will pay for the seed. Does the above sound like a biggie? Well part of it maybe as the actual test only showed the seed to be 19% better than corn. We do have some excellent hybrid sorghums. They have been pre-tested in Old Mexico and the quality is good. We are of the opinion that 650, 660 and 620 are the best hybrids for irrigation. It matters more as to time of planting than to kind of seed. If you get to thinking that you just have to plant during the later part of April or early May go talk to Murray White and ask him when he planted his 650 last year.

Fishing has been good at a lot of spots during the past week or so. That 5 3/4 pound bass that Fred Curtis brought back from Falcon dam was enough to give anyone the fever. If you need seed during the next week and can't find me you might dial Pot Hole Creek, there is a chance I might be there.

It's corn planting time. We got the seed and some of our corn seed is almost as good as those hybrid sorghums. Come see us.

Hapke - Kittrell Wedding Read

An informal ceremony at Texico Baptist Church Saturday evening at 6 p.m. united Miss Audrey Hapke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hapke, and Truman Kittrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Kittrell of West Camp community.

Rev. C. C. Morgan, pastor of the church, read the simple double-ring vows; and only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kittrell. The bridegroom and best man are brothers. Other wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Craft, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Sheriff and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Beemer.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white sheath, fashioned in a sleeveless design and emphasized by a lace yoke. Her accessories were white and she carried a white Bible with aqua carnations. The Bible was borrowed from the matron of honor. Traditionally, she chose something new, her small white hat designed as a crown edged with a small veil; old were a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. A penny, minted in the year of her birth, was worn in her shoe.

The matron of honor wore a street length ensemble of aqua. A reception in the home of the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Craft. The table was laid with a soft blue cloth of silk, which was sent to the bride's mother from Japan, where a brother is stationed.

A spring arrangement of carnations and snapdragons centered the table and cake and punch were served to attendants. The cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Forrest

Osborn of Friona, friend of the bride, was three-tiered. Iced in white, each layer was emphasized with latticework of aqua and scallops in color, with sugar wedding bells accenting the design. The cake was topped with a nosegay of fresh carnations with petals holding the tiny bells. Aqua punch was served with the cake.

The parents of the bride were guests at the reception as were the wedding attendants. Also attending were Bobby and Dorothy Hapke.

The young couple left for California for a two-weeks wedding trip and plan to return to this area where he is employed as a farmer.

The bride is a 1958 graduate of Texico Schools and has been employed at Plains Publishers in Friona.

Vega, Texas, Man Reports-- 5000-pound Maize, Using Ammonia

Dan W. Berger, prominent Oldham County farmer, says: "Even with what I consider a light injection of Phillips 66 Ammonia--80 pounds per acre--I averaged 5000 pounds per acre on my grain sorghum last year. On a De Kalb Shero contest plot, I harvested 6400 pounds per acre.

This experience sold me on Phillips 66 Ammonia. I plan to use 120 pounds of ammonia on my grain sorghum and this year, 100 pounds on my wheat."

Other successful Southwestern farmers have discovered that they make more profit per acre, using Phillips 66 Ammonia. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin... yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased... profits on wheat and small grains are increased through higher grain yields and improved forage... more marketable vegetables are harvested.

Phillips 66 Ammonia can be easily applied either by you or your distributor. See us today about Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia... it gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer--a full 82%.

In the afternoon, ensembles and solos participated. An eighth grade clarinet quartet composed of Carol White, Kay Hall, Judy Sharp and Linda Palmateur received a 2 rating which is the same as excellent. Ratings range as follows: 5 poor; 4 fair; 3 good; 2 excellent; and 1, superior.

In the ninth grade clarinet ensemble were Sharon Thompkins, Donna Osborn, Kay Hall, and Judy Lovett. They received a 3 rating.

A saxophone quartet with Kathy White, Carol White, Donna Osborn, and Dwight Turner received a 3 plus. These groups were judged by James Thornton, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque.

Advantages to be gained by the relocation include more display space for merchandise, and a much improved parking situation. Bradshaw plans to surface the area west of the Utsmar building to enable customers to park off the highway.

In addition, he plans to install a 10x13 walk-in refrigeration unit, which will be larger than the one now in use, and possibly will make some other improvements when move-in time comes.

The need for summer temporary pastures is greater than usual, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, because winter pastures gave so little grazing and a dry spring has further cut the production of green forage.

Wolverines Win At Albuquerque

Texico's Wolverines won their first track meet of the season last weekend, and in some very respectable competition. They won the Menaul invitational track meet at Albuquerque where 13 Class B schools, representing six of the eight districts of the state, participated.

The Wolverines garnered 71 points. Santa Rosa was their closest competition with 65 1/2 points. Texico's versatile Raymond Hadley was the best man of the meet. He captured 44-1/2 points himself.

Hadley was first in the shot, 45'3 1/2"; discus, 132 1/2; javelin, 143 1/2; 100 yard dash, 10.2; and 220-yard dash, 23.9; and tied for first in the low hurdles, 21.9; and second in the high hurdles.

Leslie Dyer accumulated 13 points, winning first in the broadjump, 20'3 1/2"; and third in the 100- and 220-yard dashes.

Jerry Bowers won seven points with his first place in the pole vault, 10'.

Wesley Engram had five points with a third place in the high hurdles and two fifth places in the low hurdles and discus.

Bobby Walker got one point with his fifth place in the high hurdles, and Bobby Stover picked up the other half-point for Texico in a tie for fifth in the 440-yard dash.

Others in competition were Gary Singleterry, Monte Singleterry, Kenneth Murdick, Charles Morris, Don Johnson, and Ursel Doran.

It was a long day for the Texico tracksters. They left at 5 Saturday morning and didn't get back until 11 that night.

The Wolverines will get down to more business when they enter the East Plains Conference meet at Tatum this weekend. They are hoping for first place.

Tatum will be their strongest contender for the first place slot, and 10 other schools will be out to pick up points also. The conference is composed of schools from Curry, Quay, Roosevelt, and northern Lea counties.

The men, who pled guilty and waived trial by jury, were given sentences of varying lengths by the judge.

William Taft Sales, 42, farm laborer from north of Friona, drew 10 years in the pen for burglary of Tommy Bonds' and Paul Jones' service stations in Bovina March 6.

James McAlister was given a four-year sentence for burglarizing the Plains Farmers Gin Company office in Friona on December 23.

James Rountree and Franklin Scalf, both 20 and both Cannon Air Base airmen, received three years for theft of tools from pickups in Bovina. However, Judge Bills probated their sentences.

The trial of Claud Yates Jr., scheduled for Friday also, has been postponed. He is charged with burglary of Bovina Implement Company in January.

Call 9142 For Fires

Now that the apartment in the Farwell Fire Department building is permanently occupied, residents may call the station number, 9142, during any hour to report a fire.

Dale Berggren, new city employee, has taken up residence in the apartment. His duties on a full-time basis do not begin before May 1 and he may be out occasionally until that time, but fire department members say the public can now pretty well count on getting an immediate answer if they call in.

Previously, it was not always possible for someone to be on hand around the clock.

3771 Acres Added Under B Plan

Parmer County cotton farmers increased their 1959 cotton allotments by 3771 acres under the new, so-called "B" plan recently. Under this plan they will be allowed to produce up to 40 per cent more cotton but with lower government price supports.

The 1959 allotment for regular or A plan cotton is 44,313, which means that the county will increase its acreage by about 8 1/2 per cent to a figure of 48,084 acres.

So, the total of B plan cotton allotments in the county this year is 13,199. That represents the original A plan, plus the amount that the B plan increased the first allotment.

Parmer County farmers were not far out of line in the general trend to B plan plantings, although, as had been suspected, were the larger cotton allotments prevailed in counties on the South Plains, greater participation was received.

Cotton producers on the Texas High Plains by virtue of the "B" choice program will have 130,293 additional acres to plant this year giving them a total allotted acreage of 2,265,044.

While participation in the "B" choice program was much lighter than expected by most agricultural observers across the nation, the High Plains area had about 15.2 per cent participation while the national participation was 15.7 per cent.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. members in the 23 counties will have more acreage available to plant this year than was available for planting in 1958. However, total allotments last year were greater, 2,279,436 acres against 2,265,044 acres for 1959, but last year farmers put 145,778 acres in the soil bank and there will be no soil bank this year.

Also farmers for 1959 took approximately a 6 per cent acreage cut. However, the additional 130,293 acres received by farmers who selected the "B" program pushes the total acreage available for planting higher than that acreage last year.

In Texas farmers who selected the "B" choice will receive an additional 428,121 acres and this pushes the total state acreage available for planting from 6,846,757 to 7,274,878 acres.

Nation-wide farmers who selected "B" received 1,023,529 additional acres and upped the total cotton acreage from 16,310,000 acres to 17,333,529 acres.

The 23 member counties of the PCG with increase average the PCG with increase acreage and total county allotments are given below.

Highly palatable silage can be made from spring grasses and clovers when conditions are not favorable for hay making, says research workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Plastic covers and sodium bisulfite preservation were used to reduce spoilage and improve the silage quality. The tests were conducted at the Rice-Pasture substation located near Beaumont.

There are two things that farmers who don't want the yoke of organized farm labor around their neck should be doing. One is to attend the meetings that are being held around the country to both keep themselves informed, and to contribute their interest to efforts to keep the new regulations off. One will be in San Angelo Friday, sponsored by the Farm Bureau.

Another is to write, wire, or phone Senators Johnson, Yarborough, and Congressman Walter Rogers. Inform them what would happen if the Labor Department is allowed to go through with its new edict covering farm laborers.

Unless something is done, and done quickly, the farmer may very well find that 1959 became the year when Mexican National labor got to be too expensive and was too much trouble to use.

It also might be the year that the farmer had to start paying either $1 or $1.25 minimum wage to laborers, paying them time and a half for time put in over 35 or 40 hours, and complying with a host of other ruinous unjust and unnecessary regulations.

This is serious, fellows, and we hope you take action now. The background of all this trouble stems from organized labor elsewhere in the country. For example, there are supposed to be between 4 1/2 and 5 million persons in the United States who are unemployed, and who are unable to find a job.

We think it would be interesting to know just how many of these people can't get a job, and just how many don't really WANT a job.

The idea is that the importation of Mexican labor in the Southwest is creating further surpluses in the labor market and that farmers should be required to use domestic labor before they can import any more Mexicans, and furthermore, that such domestic labor be accorded the same wage and hour protections that our largest industries now give.

Talk about a rough deal. That would be it!

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

Snow in April isn't really unheard of on the High Plains, but it is at least deserving of passing mention.

While we do recall having seen flakes in the air during this month of spring several times before, we can't recall the last time it snowed enough, or remained cold enough long enough for a snow cover to be on the ground. That very thing happened Sunday morning though.

We bet it will be a good while before the Parmer County area records another April 12 snowfall.

It's been a long time since we've seen farmers so concerned -- even worked up -- about the farm labor outlook. On top of the other bad news they've been getting from the government recently, farmers are now informed that the Labor Department is planning to drastically tighten regulations governing the importation and employment of Mexican national laborers. Furthermore, the inclusion of both these and domestic laborers under the Minimum Wage and Hour Law requirement is, for the first time ever, being seriously considered.

As a consequence, farmers are up in arms, and rightly so, we think, about the proposed new executive edicts governing labor on the farm. We have noticed that the agitation against these new moves seem to be the hottest on the South Plains where more Latin Americans have their permanent residence; but even on this part of the High Plains farmers are indicating their concern.

It would certainly be time well spent for every farmer of this area to take an interest in what is happening. Heretofore, such propositions have always seemed far removed and no one has given them much worry.

There are two things that farmers who don't want the yoke of organized farm labor around their neck should be doing. One is to attend the meetings that are being held around the country to both keep themselves informed, and to contribute their interest to efforts to keep the new regulations off. One will be in San Angelo Friday, sponsored by the Farm Bureau.

COUNTY 4-H CONTESTS PLANNED SATURDAY

County 4-H demonstration contests are planned Saturday at the courthouse in Farwell, with the junior competition set for 10 o'clock in the morning and the senior division planned at 1 p.m.

Winners of the county competition will be eligible to enter the district contests in Canyon May 2. Due to a junior band clinic, four teams had to be judged the past Saturday.

Teams were: tractor maintenance, Jimmy Snead and John Taylor, Friona; dairy foods, Phyllis Christian and Linda Phillips, Farwell; safety, Glenda McClendon and Julia Dennis, Friona; and electric, Bruce and Janice Billingsley, Farwell.

Demonstrations can be given on any phase of the following subjects according to information compiled by County Agent Joe Jones and Home Demonstration Agent Jimmie Lou Wainscott.

Girls may compete in dairy foods preparation, poultry marketing and utilization including cutting up a chicken or preparation of foods using chicken or eggs; and vegetable preparation.

Boys are to compete in tractor operators contest, rifle contest and soil water and range conservation division. Only boys enrolled in the tractor maintenance program are eligible for the first division.

Both boys and girls may enter an electric team demonstration, public speaking contest or give a safety method demonstration.

The salesgirl was describing a new four-piece outfit a model was wearing. "If you remove the bodice, you have a playsuit. If you remove the skirt, you have a sunsuit. If you remove anything else, you have a lawsuit."

THE RAIN WAS NICE and some parts of the Parmer County area, especially those in the Lazbuddie community, received enough to make further pre-watering unnecessary. However, the first of this week it was "business as usual" for most farmers, and the majority didn't even shut off their wells during the wet spell. The purpose of this picture, made on a Rhea farm, is to show the difference of the wetted and the remainder of the field. It's noticeable.

Consider this: A farmer can't keep machinery rolling on "gone" tires. On the average (All Parmer County farms are above average) farm tires are 40 or more wheels to keep rolling -- so farmers tire needs are continuous. Let us put Goodyear tires on your farm equipment for long miles of trouble-free service. More people ride on Goodyear tires than on any other kind. PCICN

County Water Table Declines 2.34 Feet in 1958

By W. H. GRAHAM JR. County area's agricultural fortunes, showed a further decline in 1958. It dropped an average of 2.34 feet under Parmer County.

This, however, is the smallest decline measured since 1955 when pumping became very heavy and enough statistics were available for an accurate measurement of water table conditions.

Hydrologists who are carefully observing the underground water in storage under the irrigated High Plains are unanimous in their agreement that the less rapid decline of the table in 1958 was due almost altogether to reduced pumping, which was in turn directly related to an increased amount of moisture in natural form during the year.

In 1947 the table declined 3.11 feet, and in 1956 the drop was 3.8 feet. Measurements taken prior to that time are not sufficient in number to produce an accurate data base, but it is generally believed that relatively heavy pumping of the more than 2500 wells now in general use produce a decline in the table of around three feet a year.

That being the case, the seven years of heavy pumping in the Parmer County area have lowered the water level an average of around 20 feet.

The recharge of the underground supply through natural means is calculated to be less than one per cent of the rate of present withdrawal amounts. Artificial recharge to stimulate the rate of recharge has shown promise but as yet has not had widespread application.

Measurements in observation wells are obtained around the first of the year during what is usually the slack pumping season. It will be noticed that during the early months of 1959 when the measurements were being taken in Parmer County that data on 16 wells was not obtained.

Dave Sherrill, district irrigation agent, says that such blanks in the information are usually the result of pumping during the time measurements are being taken.

That in itself is an indication that area farmers may be set to use more water than ever this year, because they were either watering wheat or pre-irrigating during the time of the year when field men find it most likely that the wells will be idle.

The tabulations run by Farm and Home this week were taken from the statistics appearing with this article, and it will be noted that only 30 observations wells have measurements for all three years listed. Averages were derived from those 30.

The average depth to water in the Parmer County wells this year was 189.28 feet. When measurements were made last year the average was 186.94 feet. The year previous put the water at 183.83 feet below the surface.

Some interesting things to note about Parmer County water:

The shallowest observation well is near Lariat in the southern part of the county, where the depth to water is 105 feet. The deepest well is in the northern part of the county where it is 288 feet to water.

Officials found three wells

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU BY RAYMOND EULER

Several Farm Bureau leaders from this area will be in this meeting, and you are urged to be there whether you belong to the Farm Bureau or not. Chambers of commerce will be represented, too.

Gilbert Kaltwasser, who has served as Farm Bureau President since July of 1955, stated in directors meeting last week that due to health and other reasons he felt he must resign. He felt, he said, that he should step aside as president, although he would continue to be active in every way he could.

Kaltwasser has, without a doubt, traveled more miles in behalf of Farm Bureau people than any other president since its organization in Parmer County. Issues affecting the farmer are increasing and Gilbert was always present when a meeting was called anywhere in the country to try to solve a problem. Vice-president Jack Patterson was instructed to select a nominating committee to replace Kaltwasser. Patterson did not feel that he could fill the vacancy the balance of the year.

Roy V. Miller, chairman of the wheat committee took most members of the committee and others to Dimmitt Monday night to attend a meeting in the interest of wheat farmers.

Kenneth Neill contributed the hay for the stock show, and Roy Miller, FB Sec-Treas., sent his truck to bring it in. Farm Bureau has been securing bedding for these projects ever since we can remember, and sometimes it becomes quite a job. One year we had to go out and bale it from the wheat fields ourselves. CONSIDER THIS: It is joy to be in the just to do judgement; but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity. Proverbs 21:15

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Some "close-to-home" studies on the relationship between foliage removal and plant root development were made at Iowa Park during 1957 by Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Native sideoats grama plants were transplanted to barrels in early spring. Three barrels, each 4 feet deep, were used. Beginning May 23, 1957, one grass was clipped to a height of one inch each week to represent overgrazing; another was clipped at 2 1/2 inches each month to represent proper use, while the third was left undisturbed.

The three samples were removed from the barrels on September 27, and soil washed from the roots. The overused grass that was clipped at the one inch height had produced a few roots to a depth of two feet but the majority of the roots had penetrated only six inches. Proper use, or the 2 1/2 inch clipping reduced the total volume of roots, but did not materially reduce the penetration which was 3 1/2 feet and was the bottom of the container. The undisturbed plant produced roots of uniform density to the bottom of the barrel.

Soil Conservation Service technicians at Seymour made an interesting study in 1953-54 on the comparison between amount of grass cover, depth of moisture penetration and forage production. The study was made on a deep hardland range site following a 6-inch rain in October, 1953. Three areas within a few yards of each other were selected. Amount of cover on each was determined by clipping and weighing the air dry material. On one plot with 3,000 pounds of cover per acre, moisture penetrated to a depth of 32 inches; on another, with 1500 pounds of cover per acre, depth of moisture was 19 inches; the third plot, with a cover of 500 pounds, had a moisture penetration of only 9 inches.

In August, 1954 the three plots were again clipped and weighed. Plot 1, with 3,000 pounds of cover per acre had grown 6,800 pounds of forage; Plot 2, 4200 pounds and Plot 3, 3600 pounds. Surely whenever percolation of water is reduced, runoff is accelerated.

It's the rain you keep that counts and management of your grasses makes the difference.

the bottom of the vase and can draw water easily. Cut flower stems under water to keep air bubbles from forming in the stems.

4. Three to four inches of water is enough for tulips and daffodils in an arrangement. 5. All flowers love light. It is a good idea to turn the vase once a day to keep the flowers from turning all in one direction towards the source of light.

6. If tulips should droop, you can straighten them by placing them under an overhead light. When the light is strong you can actually watch the flowers lift their heads. Be careful, though, not to bring the bulb too close when using light in this manner.

7. If your tulips and daffodils come from the garden, cut the stems with a sharp knife, near the bottom. Be sure not to take more than one leaf with each flower. The leaves are needed to produce food for the new bulb forming underground that will produce the flowers for next spring's garden.

pecially need sunlight. Keep the soil moist, watering whenever it is dry to touch. Keep the plants out of extremely high temperatures (over 75) such as may occur in south and west windows on bright, sunny days.

Here is how you may carry over an Easter lily: After the plant is through blooming, continue to keep it in a bright location, water and fertilize it. Don't cut off the top of the plant, but let it wither and dry naturally.

When the soil warms up, plant the Easter lily outdoors in a sunny, well drained location with about 8 inches soil over the top of the bulb. The plant will remain dormant until August, then will send up a new shoot which will bloom if the frost is not too early. In the following years it should bloom in July.

Roses sold as holiday pot plants will make good garden plants. After the plant is finished blooming indoors, cut off old flower clusters and keep the plant growing in a sunny location. Prune it back if it becomes leggy. When weather conditions permit, plant it in the garden, pruning it back immediately before planting.

Wisdom is the conqueror of fortune.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUN. FLOYD

Since growing flowers and sharing them with friends is enjoyed by just about every homemaker we know and this is the beginning of the blooming season for some locally grown flowers, we plan to share some helpful hints on cutting and caring for flowers with our readers.

The following paragraphs of this column were swiped from Margaret Turner who writes The Womens Angle in the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. When we lived in Lubbock County we read her column daily and enjoyed it very much.

"This is the time of year for tulips and daffodils. Whether you get the flowers from the florist, as a gift, or from your own garden, here are a few simple rules to keep them fresh for several days longer than you may have thought possible.

The Dutch Bulb Growers, drawing on 400 years of experience with tulips and daffodils, offer the following advice:

1. Wrap the flowers in several folds of newspaper, using string or elastic bands. Then plunge the flowers into cold water up to their necks, allowing them to stand for three or four hours in a cool room. The newspaper will keep the stems in an upright position while they grow tough and firm in the cold water.
2. Use a sharp knife in cutting flower stems. Scissors will pinch the stems and make it hard for them to draw up water. The more water in the stems, the firmer they will be.
3. Flower stems should be cut at a slant before being placed in a vase. That way they will not rest flat against

Parmer County Men To Meeting

Farm Bureau leaders from all over Texas will meet in San Angelo April 17 to discuss ways to combat proposed federal control of domestic agricultural labor. A delegation from Parmer County will be on hand.

Principal speaker will be Matt Triggs, Washington, D. C., labor specialist for the American Farm Bureau. The one-day meeting will begin at 10 a.m.

"If we are to be effective in heading off these back-handed attempts to unionize farm labor, it will take the concerted effort of everyone involved," says J. H. West, Texas FB president.

The Labor Department has proposed new regulations dealing with domestic farm workers who are recruited through the U. S. Employment Service. Farmers using the Service would have to (1) provide housing acceptable to the Labor Department, (2) pay highest prevailing wage in an area, and (3) pay transportation costs for recruited workers.

The Farm Bureau president said that the net effect of these proposed regulations would be to force all farm labor users to pay higher wages, and, in some cases, pay round trip transportation costs for long distances.

West said that unless Labor Secretary Mitchell can be convinced of the bad effects these proposals will have on agriculture, the Labor Department will publish them in the Federal Register and they will become law.

To Increase 1959 Potato Acreage

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on new crops in the Parmer County area. Next week's will concern the Friona area vegetable deals, and the following Bovina's.)

Potatoes in the southern or "sandy land" part of the Parmer County area will probably increase in acreage this year. At least they will increase for Buck Gregory, owner of the Lariat potato shed.

The Lariat farmer will grow 225 acres of spuds this year, which will be up from the 175 he planted last year. In addition, he will probably come through with about 125 acres of fall potatoes to boost his total to around 350 for the season.

Things haven't been too cheerful for the potato producers of the High Plains recently. In fact, 1956 is the last good year the area potato growers have had.

The business has been a little bit risky for some of Gregory's neighbors who have been raising potatoes and putting them through his Lariat facilities. Several have dropped out, and so far as he knows, he is his only customer this year.

There are, of course, other farmers in the Lariat - West Camp - Muleshoe area who will raise spuds. But most of these will go to Muleshoe sheds.

Gregory planted his potatoes from March 16 to March 26 this year. The seed stock this year has been of good quality and the price of seed has been lower, he reports.

Marketwise, things look favorable this spring. Potatoes are selling for about $3.25 a hundred in the Chicago markets, and this is considered a healthy sign.

However, potato growers of the Plains emphasize that advance information of this type certainly shouldn't be counted on. It's what the price is at harvest time that counts, and potatoes, being a vegetable crop, have a way of fooling even the expert buyers and sellers.

It has definitely been established over the years that the irrigated High Plains can produce good potatoes, and in a respectable volume. But the main trouble with production from this area is that it often finds itself squeezed between the mammoth output of such states as California and the Southern producers when marketing time rolls around. That has always been a major drawback.

Potatoes, as a matter of fact, are the nation's most widely raised vegetable crop. They are found in substantial acreage from Maine to California and from Florida to Idaho.

That means competition in the strictest sense of the word between local growers and those from all over the country.
