Even as American and Japanese forces on the Aleutian island of Attu blasted away at each other, Seabees of the navy set up bases, supply centers, and generally started military housekeeping. Here a truck carries supplies from a landing boat somewhere along the shoreline.

Wheat Shipments Near 700 Carloads

Roberts Reported Killed

Lt. Wm. R. (Bill) Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Roberts of this city, who had previously been reported as "missing in action" has been listed by the German government as having been "killed in action", it was revealed in a telegram from the War Department received here early last week.

Still clinging to the slim chance that their son might yet be held as a prisoner, the parents of the local boy have postponed a memorial service scheduled to be held in his honor at Lone Oak, Texas, next Sunday.

They point out that some press dispatches announcing the death of American flyers over Europe indicate reports from the German government in the past have proved to be false, and that boys actually reported to have been shot down have later turned up safely in Allied camps.

The message received by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts from the War Department would indicate that there might be some question as to the fate of the local flyer. It read:

"The German government has reported to the International Red Cross your son has been killed in action on June 22."

All the hopes of the bereaved parents that Lt. Roberts is still alive are pinned to the word "reported" in the foregoing message.

Further hopes that young Roberts might still be alive are based on a telegram received here on Monday from an air corps instructor now stationed at Pueblo, Colo., the details of which could not be released for publication.

Lt. Roberts is believed to have been among the flyers who raided the Ruhr Valley in Germany on June 22, from a base in England. Accounts of that raid reveal that while a number of American boys were shot down over Germany, the greatest battle occurred over Belgium, and the theory is advanced that young Roberts could have bailed out to safety and is in the hands of friendly Belgians who might succeed in smuggling him back to his command through the underground system, known to be quite active in conquered Belgium.

Mrs. Roberts and her mother, Mrs. R. G. Doshier of Dallas, who was here last week, went to Lone Oak to make plans for the memorial services, which were later cancelled until more definite details as to the fate of Lt. Roberts are received.

District Court Has Lightest Docket In History Of County

Faced with the lightest docket in the history of the county, the Parmer County District Court opened its regular three-weeks session here Monday with Judge James Witherspoon on the bench.

District clerk D. K. Roberts, said today that the indications were that five divorce cases and one lawsuit would be the only matters to come up for attention. A number of cases, carried over from previous sessions, appear on the docket, and it is not likely that any of them will come up during the present term, Clerk Roberts reported.

No petit jury has been called for the second week of the term, and Judge Witherspoon has announced that none will be called for the final week unless unforeseen developments arise in the meantime.

On Monday, Judge Witherspoon granted a divorce in the case of Aubrey Cannon vs. Maxine Cannon, and rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff on four tax suits.

Docketed to be tried this term are the following cases:

Pitt K. Babcock vs. Clyde Seamands.

Nellie Sylvester vs. M. H. Sylvester.

Robert E. Elliott vs. Lillie Mae Elliott.

Cleo Whitley vs. V. B. Whitley.

J. L. Walling vs. Ella Walling.

B. T. Galloway vs. Hattie A. Galloway.

Black Market Activity Charged In This County

LT. WM. R. ROBERTS, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Roberts, who has been reported as dead in Germany.

"It is probably not very extensive—just 'chicken-feed stuff', you might say—but there is definitely a black market on meat operating in Parmer County." This was the charge made today by Ellis M. Mills, supervisor of the Parmer County AAA office.

In all probability, Mills went on, those people who are concerned with the black market operations are not aware of, or are negligent of, the fact that permits must be obtained when slaughtering of any animal (exception goat) is done for commercial purposes, and when meat is exchanged—whether to neighbors, relatives or just customers—the OPA-set ceiling prices and exchange of ration points must take place.

Mills went on to point out that under the rationing setup, individuals having an excess of meat are not allowed to "divide" with friends or relatives unless the proper amount of ration points are given.

County Committee Named

In this connection, a recent movement was made throughout Texas to appoint county meat committees, whose functions are to cooperate with the county war board in reviewing slaughter permits and in checking on illicit traffic in meat (Continued on Back Page)

Preparations For Oil Test Moving Forward

Preparations for Parmer County's deep test for oil were reported to be moving along at a satisfactory pace the first of the week with large quantities of materials being moved to the site.

Reports say that 11 carloads of drilling machinery and other materials have been unloaded at Farwell and Bovina and placed on the grounds.

The test is to be made by the Stanolind Oil & Gas Company of Tulsa, Okla., on a large block of leases secured northwest of Bovina recently. The test is being sunk on the J. A. Jarrell farm 7 miles northwest of Bovina, and will be known as the Jarrell well No. 1.

The Big West Drilling Company has been given the contract to sink the first test, and the hole will go to a depth of 7000 feet, or to granite.

The Parmer County test has been causing considerable interest among oil men of the Southwest. A number of scouts who are connected with major companies are known to have been circulating in the county during recent weeks.

Grand Jury Recesses With No Bills Voted

The Parmer County Grand Jury recessed Monday afternoon after being in session less than a day, subject to the call of District Judge James Witherspoon.

W. E. Williams of Bovina, was selected as foreman of the jury, and during the day investigations were conducted on at least three cases, which resulted in no indictments being returned.

Court officials said it was highly probable that no bills will be voted by the jurymen when they convene again, unless some new matter is brought to their attention.

Deadline Nears On School Transfers

County Judge Lee Thompson today called attention to the approaching deadline on transfers of school children from one district to another for the ensuing school term.

Saturday, July 31, is the last day on which transfers may be obtained, he pointed out, adding that applications for all transfers must be filed through the office of the county superintendent.

Judge Thompson said that up to now only one application for transfer has been filed with his office, and said ordinarily quite a number of students over the county transfer from one district to another in order to attend high school.

"No transfers can be granted if they are not filed on or before July 31," he emphasized.

Bought any war bonds today?

With almost 700 carloads of 1943 wheat already shipped from Parmer County, the prediction was made here this week that the county's shipments might amount to 1000 carloads before the year's crop is all harvested and marketed.

Figures compiled here this week by The Tribune show that 613 cars are actually accounted for from this year's crop, and it is estimated that at least another 100 cars were produced in this county on which no record is available at this time.

The unaccounted wheat includes the grain stored on the farms, in elevators, and shipments made from Lariat and Muleshoe of the crop grown in this county.

Frona Leads Shipments

Shipments from Frona topped the list by heavy odds with 350 carloads actually shipped out. Bovina came next with a total of 210 cars, and Texico-Farwell dropped to a poor third with only 53 carloads. No record is available here on the shipments made from Lariat, but Boone Allison, grain buyer there, estimated that his elevator would handle at least 20 cars during the season.

With a very few exceptions, the wheat harvest in the Texico-Farwell, Bovina and Lazbuddy areas has been completed. But there are a number of fields in the Frona section, and in the Hollene-Kellyview area in New Mexico, yet to be harvested.

Wet weather along the east side of the county during the past two weeks has delayed harvesting operations, and reports reaching here are to the effect that quite a large quantity of wheat is yet in the fields. Combining of the early wheat in that section got off to a good start and was completed without delay. But harvesting in the later crops has been held up by rains.

Warehouse Buying All Kinds Of Grain

Stanley Hillhouse, manager of the Farwell Bonded Warehouse, today announced that his firm was in the market for all kinds of grain sorghums, sudan, wheat and soy beans.

"We'll either buy them or store them," Hillhouse stated, adding, "we have a very attractive offer to make persons interested in storing grain."

Many new improvements have been made at the warehouse in recent weeks, which permit the handling of grain with dispatch.

Wheat farmers who still have wheat on hand should read their advertisement in this issue of The Tribune.

Former Texico Boy Dies In Jap Prison

Pvt. George B. Duke, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Duke of Clovis and formerly of Texico, a member of New Mexico's famous 200th, has been reported dead by the War Department.

In a telegram received Sunday by his mother, information was to the effect that Pvt. Duke, who had been reported as a Japanese prisoner of war, had "died in the Philippines". The date of his death was not given.

Pvt. Duke, who was only 20 years old, would have been in service two years on July 11, Mrs. Duke reported today.

The lad was well known here, having lived in Texico for a number of years and attending school locally. The family has been living in Clovis for the past three years.

He is the second local boy reported dead in the Philippines. The other was Sgt. Harry Williams, whose death was announced recently.

Mrs. Duke stated that at present no plans for memorial services had been made.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Duke of Clovis; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Mahoney, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, Mrs. Ed Moody of California and Mrs. J. A. Heatherly of Bisbee, Ariz., and one brother, Norman Duke, of Tucson, Ariz.

Local Bank Passes Million In Deposits

The Security State Bank of this city, in its official statement, published in this issue of The Tribune, reveals that deposits have passed the million-dollar mark for the first time in the history of the institution.

The official statement published this week gives the total deposits as $1,175,348.18, as compared with $781,061.65 on January 1st, 1943. Six months ago the loans and discounts were listed at $462,385.63. As of June 30, loans had been reduced to only $91,181.98.

Another healthy feature of the bank's condition is reflected in the amount of cash and sight exchange at this time, amounting to $762,555.93.

"Our deposits are mounting every day," G. D. Anderson, vice president, observed, adding that only a very small percent of the 1943 wheat crop money was on hand when the statement was issued. He gave it as his opinion that during the month of July the deposits would show a substantial increase from the proceeds of the wheat harvest, which had just begun to move when the statement was issued.

The Continental Congress adopted the Stars and Stripes as the flag of the United States in 1777.

Machines Not Made For Modern Times

When the clerical force at the Security State Bank went to make up the official statement of the financial condition of the bank last week, they discovered somebody had been extremely near-sighted in purchasing adding machines.

As a result, they had to resort to the old method of adding up a long string of figures by pencil.

The adding machines worked beautifully and accurately as long as not more than eight columns of figures were used. But when the deposits, resources and liabilities mounted to more than a million dollars—it was just too much for the machines.

Club Members to Hear Bombardier In Lecture

If you want a ring-side seat at the recent battle of Tunisia, which succeeded in driving Rommel out of North Africa, you won't want to miss hearing Capt. Bob Wollard of Clovis, who is just back from the African battlefield with a vivid picture of the fight that resulted in the capture of Tunisia from the Germans and Italians.

Capt. Wollard, who was formerly engaged in the practice of law in Clovis, has consented to address the local Men's Club on Thursday night of this week at the regular monthly meeting in the Methodist Church.

He made 52 trips out over enemy territory during the fight that finally resulted in an Allied victory, and, needless to say, will have some thrilling experiences to relate.

The meeting is open to the general public and no special invitation is necessary, C. M. Henderson, president of the club, emphasized today. He did ask that those planning to attend bring a few sandwiches or a pie to be served as refreshments at the meeting.

The program is scheduled to get underway at 9 o'clock, Texas war time.

Petree Has Prize Plum Tree

Z. W. Petree of this city brought to The Tribune office this week what is believed to have been a record branch of fruit from one of his small Sappa plum trees.

The limb was only three feet in length, but by actual count there were 156 well developed plums clinging closely on it.

The Petrees had a very good crop of plums this year, they report.

July War Bond Quota Is Set at $19,100.00

Parmer County's share of the July war bond sales has been set at $19,100.00, it was announced here today by G. D. Anderson, chairman of the War Bond Committee.

This is an increase of approximately $2,000 over the June quota, which went over the top with a substantial margin. No exact figures for the June sales have been compiled as yet, but Anderson said he was confident the quota for the month had been met.

He predicted that the July and August quota "should be easy", basing his prediction on the income that farmers of this county will receive during this period from the sale of their wheat crops.

Brother and Sister of Bovina Pair, Granted Commissions in Services

A captain and a lieutenant from the same family is something of which Mr. and Mrs. W. M. (Mercer) Norton of northwest of Bovina, have a just right to be proud. Their son, W. M. Jr., was commissioned a captain some time ago and their daughter, Christine, will receive a lieutenant's commission upon her entrance to the Nurses' Corps of the Army Air Corps.

MISS CHRISTINE NORTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Norton of Bovina, who expects to receive orders to report for duty in the Nurses' Corps of the Army Air Corps in September.

She is a graduate of the Bovina High School, class of 1938, and has since attended Eastern New Mexico College. Recently she graduated from Baylor University School of Nursing, at Dallas.

Upon receiving orders to report for active service, Miss Norton will be commissioned as a lieutenant in her branch of the service.

CAPT. W. M. NORTON, JR., of Perrin Field, Sherman, Texas.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Norton of Bovina, Capt. Norton graduated from the Bovina high school in 1934 and later received a degree in engineering from Texas A. & M. College.

He is post signal officer at Perrin Field, and writes his parents that he has recently asked for overseas duty.

SOYBEANS AND RABBITS—These two go together like peaches and cream. But, if you are going to make as many soybeans as you would like you are going to have to separate them and the only way you can separate them is to kill one or the other. I prefer killing the rabbits. Here's a formula which has been proven pretty reliable.

1 oz. strychnine mixed with 1 oz. baking soda. Mix 3 1/2 lbs. salt with 1/2 lb. ground alfalfa. Then mix strychnine and soda in the salt mixture dry. Stir well, and it is ready to be placed in sat blocks. These blocks should be made out of 4x4x2 inch blocks with a hole of not less than 2 inches in diameter, drilled about 3-4 inch deep. Fill the hole in the block with the salt-strychnine mixture and pour enough water on it to make the salt cake in the block.

The block is now complete and ready to be exposed where the area is infested or damage is being done by rabbits. UNDER NO CONDITION SHOULD THIS BLOCK BE PLACED WHERE LIVESTOCK OR HUMANS CAN GET IT. THE BAIT IS DEADLY POISONOUS TO LIVESTOCK, DOMESTIC ANIMALS, AND HUMANS. When the block is empty it can be refilled in the usual way.

The best way to place this block is on a mound of dirt built with a hoe or shovel, about 24 inches in diameter and about 8 or 10 inches high and flat on top. Two or three of these mounds should be built some 8 to 10 feet apart, and another set 100 to 200 yards, depending on area and infestation. It is a good idea to place some poison grain baits on these mounds along with the salt block. The blocks can also be placed along turn rows and trails that rabbits habitually travel.

Some farmers have been reporting fair success with poison grain. They have been scattering this poison grain along turnrows and trails. This poison grain can be bought from the county. Roy B. Ezell, county treasurer, is in charge of sales.

Facts About Fat: Let's talk today about fat—the food that has become so valuable since the war. You have heard a good deal about the need of fat in manufacturing explosives. You know that not a scrap—not a drop of fat should go to waste in the kitchen—that you should make the most of every bit of fat you buy.

Fat trimmed from meat needs to be "rendered" before you use it in other ways. The best way to render is to cut the fat in fine pieces or run it through a meat grinder. Then melt it in the upper part of a double boiler or in a pan set over hot water. The idea is to melt it with very gentle heat—melt it slowly. When the fat is thoroughly melted, strain it through a clean cloth. Save the crisp pieces you strain out for "cracklings" in muffins or other hot breads.

One thing to remember is making the most of fat is that too much heat—so much that the fat smokes—is bad for fat. When fat smokes it breaks down chemically—changes in flavor—is harder to digest—and does not keep well. So always use low heat when you are rendering fat, or when you are cooking with it. Be especially careful not to over-heat butter, oleomargarine, drippings and olive oil, which have a low "smoking point".

The way you store fats is as important as the way you render it. Keep fats cold when you are not using them. Don't let the bacon fat or the other drippings stand on the back of the stove. Store fats in a container with a cover in a cold, dark place.

Finally, remember to save for Uncle Sam any fats you cannot use in your cooking. If you have too much fat, melt it, strain it into a clean widemouth can. Keep this fat in a cold place until you have accumulated at least a pound. Then turn it in to your meat dealer. The home demonstration club women have checked in Parmer County and find that all meat dealers in Bovina and Friona will buy waste fat. The T. H. D. A. has adopted a slogan "Save one tablespoon of fat each day for Uncle Sam". Won't you join us in this war work?

Fats you turn in to your meat dealer, you know, end up as munitions or go to other industrial uses that speed the war program. Save and share fat for victory.

LETTERS from Our Readers

Editor State Line Tribune:

I read the Los Angeles Examiner, Times, Herald Express and others and in none of them have I ever found any news from Texico-Farwell, so I've decided to just have you send me the good old home town paper. I like my job fine but will be glad when we can come back home.

Paul Roberts, Burbank, Calif.

Editor State Line Tribune:

We could get along without all of the papers except The Tribune, and look forward to receiving it each week. It is read by at least seven different families from Texico-Farwell, ranging from Long Beach Alhambra before it is discarded. I sometimes wonder if that's the reason some people come to see us—so they can read The Tribune.

Mrs. Duncan Williams, Lynwood, Calif.

The State Line Tribune:

Enclosed find check for renewal to The Tribune. I still have friends there; some don't write, but maybe I can keep up with them through your paper. That is, if you will get out and get the news. I am very lonesome, as you know I recently lost the best friend on earth.

R. A. Hawkins, Childres, Texas.

Editor Tribune:

Just can't do without hearing from my home town. We are OK and doing pretty good here. When passing down this way, come by and see our place and visit with us—have lots of fryers, milk and butter, vegetables—and am sure you wouldn't starve for one meal.

Ike McCuan, Clarendon, Tex.

Editor Tribune:

We really enjoy getting The Tribune. I guess it has been pretty dry down there. I wish we could have given you some of the water we had up here. The high water did lots of damage on the river bottoms. It didn't hurt us any as we are above the dam. It just made us more grass which is sure fine this year. Give our regards to everybody there. I don't know when we will be down that way. Of course, we would enjoy seeing everybody and telling them a few fish stories.

"I knew we couldn't bank on any new models for a long while after this mess, so I played safe with our car... kept her engine OIL-PLATED like always, with Conoco Nth motor oil, especially to not let the engine get ruined by acid. Your old Mileage Merchant pal told me why there was no worse wartime danger than engine acid."

"Dad, I learned that too, in the service..."

"Quiet Sergeant, till I show off what I know. That acid comes from ordinary combustion, but when the car was run often and got plenty warm the acid petered out—not causing rank corrosion the way it does with the engine mostly resting. But knowing as I did that chromium-plating won't corrode easy, I could see it would check corrosion to give the engine's insides OIL-PLATING.

"A synthetic in Conoco Nth oil acts sort of like 'magnetism'... to keep OIL-PLATING fastened to inside engine surfaces—not all draining down to the crankcase even standing still. The car ran sweet bringing you back home, didn't it? Too bad some folks have got to wait months for new models, when they should've used Conoco Nth to OIL-PLATE and save their car. Let's go."

July in the North Atlantic

It's summer, but these bluejackets on a United States navy aircraft carrier scrape ice and snow off the flight deck as their ship lies at anchor at a North Atlantic port. The planes are Grumman Avenger torpedo bombers. A German publication recently explained the reduction in U-boat activity by stating that the use of aircraft carriers to protect Allied convoys had taken the Germans by surprise.

Washington News

By EUGENE WORLEY

Although the present statute for servicemen's absentee balloting is adequate in the case of voting within the United States, changes must be made if servicemen outside the U. S. are to have a real opportunity as well as the abstract right to vote.

It was with this thought in mind that I offered amendments to the bill last week. They will enable balloting among men overseas to be carried out by V-mail processing. This procedure will also be available to citizens abroad.

Under the existing statute a ballot is not effective if it is received by the state election officials later than the hour of the closing of the polls on the day of election. In view of the vast distances over which balloting must take place, one of the amendments will make a ballot valid if the date of the oath of the elector is no later than the date of the holding of the election and if the ballot is received by election officials no more than two weeks after the date of the holding of the election.

A possible disadvantage of this proposal is the uncertainty of candidates as to whether they have been elected. This must be weighed against the need of guaranteeing to servicemen a real opportunity to vote; the privilege of every American.

Not only the people of Texas, but high government officials were extremely pleased over the appointment of Marvin Jones as war food administrator. The great respect he commands from members of the House can best be judged through the many words of praise appearing in the Record on the day after his appointment was made.

Many people have wondered how the President is standing up under the tremendous strain placed upon him as Commandner and Chief of our forces and as President during this most critical period. While a very limited number of visitors are admitted to the White House, several weeks ago a group of congressmen were invited to the White House for an informal visit. Also present were Admiral King, chief of naval operations; Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff; and Gen. Hap Arnold, commander of air force.

Each of these men gave us most interesting off-the-record information regarding the conduct of the war, condition of troops, effect of our bombing operations and many other war-time matters.

The President looked fine, his physical appearance seemed excellent and his spirits good. He works late at night but tries to secure much rest during the morning hours. Many people marvel at his unlimited energy and composure during the enormous press of work.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER NEWS

Phillips Petroleum Company
Announces the Completion and First Operation of its 90,000,000 Lb. Butadiene Manufacturing Plant

For an annual production of rubber equivalent to 11,000,000 tires

A MODERN miracle of petroleum research and chemistry has figuratively transformed a few acres in the Panhandle of Texas into one-third of a million acres of rubber plantation.

Here rubber will be drilled from the depths of the U. S. earth, instead of tapped from East Indian and Malayan trees.

From wells overlying the greatest raw gas field ever discovered, will come the natural gas to be processed into butadiene, the basic and major ingredient in synthetic rubber.

This great plant . . . designed and built by Phillips . . . based on Phillips research . . . using Phillips own patented processes . . . independent of German research . . . will make butadiene for an equivalent of 30,000,000 rubber trees.

Thus is brought nearer the no-longer distant day of U. S. self-sufficiency in rubber. Thus is Victory made more certain. And with that great day will come the full peacetime benefits of this outstanding wartime development.

Brief Notes about Phillips as Trail Blazer in the Synthetic Rubber Field

Tires containing rubber produced from Phillips butadiene have been on the nation's highways for more than two years.

In 1941 Phillips produced, for commercial rubber use, more than four times as much butadiene as any other oil company.

Phillips has freely supplied technical data on butadiene, styrene, and other related processes, to the petroleum and other industries participating in the Government rubber program. As a matter of company policy, Phillips advocated the production of butadiene by all dependable processes, from all possible raw materials, including products of the farm.

GLIDER "SKY TRAINS" EVOKE MUCH INTEREST

SOUTH PLAINS ARMY AIR FIELD, Lubbock—West Texas residents found more than passing interest in "big glider 'sky trains'" which daily fly over the area as reports came in of the use of the silent ships in the invasion of Sicily.

Almost at the same time that glider authorities in charge here were expressing beliefs that the glider would "play a determining factor in the winning of the war", the motorless ships manned by U. S. and British troops were poised in North Africa for the hop to Sicily.

A few days before, the prestige of the glider as a military weapon took a decided leap, height-ned by sensational news of the first glider-flight across 3,500 miles of the Atlantic, from Canada to England.

Harry Kern, military affairs editor of Newsweek Magazine, visited at SPAAF on a tour of Gulf Coast Training Center air fields. Kern, who has observed glider training in England, is highly impressed with the motorless craft as a means of transportation for troops and supplies.

Maj David L. Hopkins, air inspector here, in commenting on his observations of the glider in England and at SPAAF, said: "The present development of gliders in this war can be compared to the development of powered flying in World War I. Military gliding is in its infancy, but it will be a determining factor in the winning of this war."

He advanced two theories on the use gliders may yet be put in this war:

"First," he says, "gliders can be used as a part of an initial invasion carrying airborne infantry troops. The German glider invasion of Crete is a good example of these tactics. Although the casualty rate was very high, the gliders played an important part in the capture of this island."

"Secondly, gliders can be used on behind the line supply routes, carrying vehicles, engines and other equipment long distances inland and even across oceans."

Meanwhile, Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer at SPAAF, who has directed the destinies of the field while it grew to be the biggest glider school in the nation, said: "Continual experiments are being carried on and rapid progress has been made in the past year. The ultimate capabilities cannot be predicted at this time."

Health Notes

By Texas Department of Health

AUSTIN—Following recent suggestions for comfortable and safe living during hot summer days, Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, today released a statement concerning the danger of over exposure to the sun.

"Sun stroke is not thought to be due to the heat of the sun, but to certain direct effects of the sun or the human brain. It is likely to occur after the sun has shone excessively on the back of the neck and head," Dr. Cox explained. "This can be prevented by protecting the head and back of the neck from the sunshine," he added.

Dr. Cox asserted that exposure of the skin to the sun has some virtue since the action of the sunshine tends to kill the germs on the skin. Further, sunshine produces vitamin D from the fats in the skin and this product is absorbed and used by the body.

"In general the good effects of sunshine are not due to the heat rays but ultraviolet rays," Dr. Cox stated. "It must be remembered, however, that it is these same rays which burn the skin and extensive application of direct sunshine to the skin may produce painful and severe burns which actually may endanger life."

The State Health Officer advises those who wish to obtain an extensive suntan to get it by slow degrees. Expose small portions of the skin to the sun for a short period of time. When tanning is established, exposing a greater area for a longer period of time should prove safe and comfortable.

FEEDING BEEF CATTLE

COLLEGE STATION—Beef cattle feeding is a system of beef enterprise which is adaptable to the different farming sections of Texas. According to George W. Barnes, animal husbandman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, the cotton, peanut, grain sorghum, wheat, or crop areas, or any combination of these, are suitable for carrying it on.

Barnes says that in feeding experiments different grains and grain combinations have been feed with and without protein supplement. But conclusions drawn from experience are that a ration for fattening a steer or calf comprises (1) roughages (hay, silage, hulls, corn fodder, etc.) ; (2) protein supplement (cottonseed meal or cake in Texas) , and (3) grain (corn, milo, barley, kaffir, etc.) . From the start to the completion of the fattening period a steer may be given all the roughage it will eat. With protein supplement, a specific amount should be fed from the beginning to the end of the fattening period. Weaned calves, regardless of weight, should receive two pounds of cottonseed meal or cake of 43 per cent protein content daily per head, and they should be eating all of it before being fed any grain. They should be doing that in a week or two, and that takes care of the roughage and protein.

Farmers and feeders should experience no trouble if they: Begin by adding one-fourth of a pound of grain daily per head to the two pounds of cottonseed cake, and continue adding the one-fourth pound until the steer or calf indicates that it has had enough. The animal will show that by leaving feed in the trough. Accordingly, no further increase is necessary for a few days. After that laps the feeder may again start adding the one-fourth pound increase, and it will not be long until the steer or calf is finished.

By following this method cattle gradually are placed on feed. This, Barnes says, is very important if the feeder desires a maximum of gain with a minimum of trouble in the feed lot.

BIOLOGIST WARNS OF DANGERS OF BOTULISM

COLLEGE STATION—A poison so powerful that a teaspoonful is enough to kill 40,000 guinea pigs is not a good thing to take chances with, a leading biologist has said in warning Texas homemakers against the hot water method of canning for non-acid vegetables. This method does not destroy the bacteria that cause botulism.

The entire text of a statement on this subject by Dr. Asa C. Chandler, professor of biology of Rice Institute, Houston, and advisory chairman of the Houston and Harris County Nutrition Committee, has been circulated among the county home demonstration agents of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Dr. Chandler's statement harmony with recommendations on home canning given by Winifred Jones, extension specialist in food preservation.

Dr. Chandler believes the chances for accidents are too great to be worth the risk if people undertake to can non-acid vegetables or meats by the boiling water bath method. "Outbreaks of botulism will almost certainly occur," he says. "It is like having rattlesnakes on your golf course. You may keep your ball on the fairways and treat rattlesnakes with impunity, but sooner or later somebody a little less careful will suffer. By comparison (with botulism) rattlesnake venom is only mildly poisonous."

Bacteria that cause botulism grow in non-acid vegetables when strictly protected from air. Dr. Chandler there is one case on record where the spores survived heating and germinated after 22 months. The poison produced is so deadly that a person has been known to die after eating one piece of a string bean.

A little care will go a long way in providing efficient and economical service from your Gas Range... will add years to its life.

A Few Simple Rules for Gas Range Care

1. Use your Gas Range all you need... but make it serve you well every cooking minute.
2. Watch cooking temperatures. Over-roasting or over-baking wastes food. Over-boiling wastes health-giving vitamins.
3. For greater efficiency use flat-bottomed cooking utensils. Keeping them covered prevents loss of food flavors.
4. Wash your Gas Range with soapy water to remove grease and grit.
5. Try economical meals such as "oven dinners" or "boiled dinners" that are all cooked at one time.

Chinese Harass Japs on Salween Front

A three-pronged Japanese drive aimed at the heart of China's interior was stymied by valiant Chinese soldiers who, although they were outnumbered, fought the invader to a standstill and forced him to retreat. Much of the action raged along the Salween river where the Chinese troops continue to harass the Japanese force which originally numbered 50,000.

Market News For One Variety Cotton Groups

COLLEGE STATION—Free cotton classification and market news service for the 1943 crop will be available to organized improvement groups in Texas if applications are filed within the fixed time limits. According to M. C. Jaynes, cotton work specialist for the A. & M. Extension Service, applications from counties lying east of the 100th meridian must be filed by August 1, and for the remainder of the Texas counties by August 15. This information comes from the office of L. J. Cappleman, Dallas, regional administrator of the FDA.

Jaynes quotes J. R. Kennedy, re-FDA's cotton and fiber division, that more applications already have been received for this service than ever before. Last year samples were classified for 117,841 members of more than 1,276 organized improvement groups in the state. Total applications this year are expected to exceed those of 1942.

The classing and market service began under the Smith-Doxey act in 1939. Since then the increasing demand for it from farmers has caused the service to spread progressively throughout cotton producing states, Jaynes says. Reasons for its popularity are attributed to increased production per acre and higher prices per pound for cotton grown. Some cotton improvement areas in Texas have reported increases in return of more than $7 an acre.

Application forms for the free classing and market news service may be obtained from county agents or from the regional office of Food Distribution Administration, Dallas.

No Need for Anxiety About Ration Book 3

Since Ration Book No. 3 will not become effective until the latter part of August, there is no need for anxiety on the part of those who have not yet received their books, Mrs. Roy Bobst, of the local ration office, announced today.

"During the past few weeks we have had numerous inquiries as to why books were being delayed," she said, adding, "All books for this area have to come out of the Dallas office, and since that office has reported a shortage of volunteer workers, it may take quite some time for all applications to be received and the books issued."

She urged those who had not yet received their books to "wait patiently", adding that she was sure they would be received by the time they will be valid.

This (Wednesday) morning, a joint meeting of the two committees was held, at which time Peter F. Murray, area supervisor of the Food Distribution Administration, spoke to the group in outlining responsibilities of the new committee, and emphasized that steps would be taken to prosecute violators of the food distribution orders.

Mills stated that under a recent order, any person who does custom slaughter must be licensed, pointing out that such slaughtering without license constitutes as much of an offense as the person who peddles meat without taking up ration points.

"Known violations must be reported," officials warn, and urge that immediate steps be taken to clean up meat sales in the county, or observing ceiling prices.

Members of the county war meat committee are B. N. Graham, Miss Elsie Cunningham, Mrs. Edna P. Elms, Bill Eberting, J. T. Gee and G. B. Buske.

Pioneer Curry Lady Dies In California

Information has been received here of funeral services for Mrs. F. A. Cooke of San Diego, Calif., conducted there on June 29 by Rev. I. P. Royer with Rev. Herbert Hayward assisting. Interment was made in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Cooke, who died of a heart attack on June 26, would have been 74 years of age in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke came to Curry County from Comanche County, Texas, in 1906, and proved up a homestead claim. After residing in the county for 12 years they moved to San Diego, where they had since made their home. Mr. Cooke preceded his wife in death several years ago.

Surviving children are Zuella Cooke, San Diego; Mrs. Allie A. Bingham of Chico, Calif.; W. Frank Cooke of Covina, Calif.; and Thos. A. Cook of San Diego.

MARVIN JONES ON AIR

The local office of the Farm Security Administration has announced that War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, and James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, will appear on a broadcast over the NBC hook-up on Saturday, July 17, at 4 p. m., Texas war time.

It has been announced that farmers will be especially interested in hearing the program.

Local Ration Office Is Swamped With 'A' Book Requests

"Swamped" was the way attaches at the local ration office this week described themselves when asked about the issuance of new basic "A" books for gasoline rations.

Applications for the new books, which will become valid July 22, have been pouring into the office during the past several days, Mrs. Roy Bobst reported, but added, "So many of them have been improperly filled out and must consequently be sent back to the applicant before we can issue the new books that the work is practically doubled."

She urged that all persons take particular care in filling out the application blanks, which may be obtained at service stations over the county, in order that they may be given prompt attention. "Otherwise," she pointed out, "some applicants who have to repeat the entire procedure may find themselves short of gas due to negligence."

In mailing the applications, both the tire inspection record and the back of the now almost-expired "A" book (that part on which the applicant has signed his name), must accompany the request, attaches stressed.

"Be sure you enclose the proper records, and study your application thoroughly in order to see that it is correct when it first reaches the office, workers said. "That way you can be sure of obtaining your new book promptly."

HAS GOOD BEAN CROP

Johnnie Williams of nine miles south of this city, was in town Tuesday looking for bean pickers to assist in gathering his green beans, which he hopes to have gathered on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Asked about his bean crop, Mr. Williams admitted that this was his first experience at growing green beans, but those who were more familiar with bean production had realized that he would realize a yield of 40,000 pounds on his 12 acres.

YOUNG CROPS UP

Plantings made throughout this area during the past ten days are coming up to a good stand, farmers report. Practically all feed crop plantings had been delayed until a late date due to continued dry weather.

In small areas, where local showers had fallen, plantings were made a few weeks ago and have made good progress. On the eastern edge of the county, where rains have been more abundant during the growing season, crops are reported coming along fast, with corn beginning to silk and tassel.

TO MOVE GARAGE

Ollie Williams announced this week that plans were underway to move his garage from its present location to the building formerly occupied by Fay Maxey's lumber yard, which the former acquired some time ago.

The building has been reconditioned and put in shape for a garage and will afford splendid quarters for the business. A new concrete floor has been added, new work benches installed and an office, fitted out with suitable fixtures, has been provided.

Williams said that he planned to move "sometime next week".

Let's get off the lines that are needed for war calls, Mabel!

Many telephone calls to other cities get through all right but those going to war-busy places go over lines that get busier every day. That's why on some calls the operator will say . . . "Please limit your call to 5 minutes—others are waiting."

It gives the next person a chance . . . Tomorrow the next person may be you.

Because of the shortage of telephone facilities and wartime restrictions, we suggest you consult us if you are planning to move.
