

Lions Supper Set Tomorrow Night

Members of Texico-Farwell Lions will try it again Friday night, when they attempt to make up the deficit for the financially lagging summer youth program. The local organization has sponsored two breakfasts already, and had hoped that proceeds would cover the costs of the annual project.

Karl Lovelady Announces For State Senator

This newspaper has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Senator Karl L. Lovelady of Muleshoe for the office of state senator from the 30th Senatorial District of Texas, comprised of the following counties:

Deaf Smith, Parmer, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Swisher, Floyd, Briscoe, Armstrong, Donley, Hall, Childress, Collingsworth, and Motley.

A full outline of Senator Lovelady's platform may be found elsewhere in this issue.

But poor weather and other conditions made the turnout less than was needed to raise the necessary money for the program. So the men are changing their tactics. This time, the feed will be a pancake supper. It will be Friday night at the Farwell school cafeteria, from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. All citizens are urged to attend the supper, and to support the summer youth program. Tickets may be obtained from any member.

"We need about 300 people to attend, if we raise the money that will be necessary to finance the youth program," says Robert "Prof" Morton, president. Tickets are 75c and 50c.

City Offices To Be Closed Friday

City and school tax offices will be closed all day Friday, according to Wilfred Quickel, assessor-collector. He will be attending an assessor-collectors school in Amarillo.

★ CYCLE TRAVEL IS NEW STYLE

It used to be "bicycles built for two," but it isn't true in the Buck Doran family. They travel in a speedier fashion, on motorcycles.

When the Dorans decided to meet friends at Conchas Lake near Tucumcari Sunday, they really had an outing. They boarded two motorcycles—mama and papa and the two sons—and were on their way. They made the over-100 mile trip easily, had a fish fry with their friends, and were back home by 6 o'clock.

The Dorans are both instructors in Texico Schools.

Chamber To Meet Tuesday

Regular monthly meeting of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce will be Tuesday night at the city hall at 8.

This will be a full business meeting, and leaders urge all members to attend.

City, MSTC Still Stymied

A stalemate still exists this week between the Farwell city commission and Mountain States Telephone, following a third meeting of the two groups last Friday afternoon.

After an hour and a half discussion, no agreement was reached and indications were that unless Farwell can attain toll-free dialing service to South Clovis and Pleasant Hill no rate hike is likely.

The rate increase has already gone into effect in Texico and Clovis, following approval of the State Corporation Commission of New Mexico. However, Texas being a home-rule state, the increase cannot become effective until sanctioned by the local city officials.

Farmer's Union To Choose Officers

Farwell Farmer's Union will choose permanent officers Tuesday night, April 29, in a meeting at the Farwell school cafeteria. Richard Alexander of Denton, state insurance manager, will be the speaker.

The meeting, which is to begin at 8, will also be for the purpose of naming the Union insurance representative. "Anyone who is interested can get their name in the pot," says Frank Seale, temporary president.

Other temporary officers are Leroy Dodson, vice-president; and Glen Lesly, secretary. Electing permanent officers will mean the local can then obtain a charter. Farwell Farmer's Union has 87 members now.

This number is very few in view of the fact that the number of telephones available without toll numbered over 10,000, it was pointed out by an MST official.

Mayor Aldridge explained that the telephones, though few in number, were important to Farwell. "No town is cut off from its trade territory like Farwell," the mayor said.

It was again explained how telephones a few miles north and south of town cannot be dialed without a toll charge. MST officials explained how Farwell could be cut off from Clovis and go into group two which would give them a much lower rate. They also revealed the results of the recent survey, conducted by the company, which showed that the majority of subscribers preferred to continue the toll-free calling to Clovis even at higher rates.

The result of the survey in Farwell was as follows: Of the 304 subscribers, 285 were interviewed and 211 (or 74 percent) expressed an opinion. Those in favor of continuing Clovis service numbered 133 (63 percent). Those in favor of changing to group two rates and having only Texico-Farwell service numbered 77 (36 percent). One person said he would discontinue use of his telephone if there was any rate increase.

In Texico, 80 subscribers (79 percent) favored the present setup at a higher rate and 19 (19 percent) favored going into the group two category.

Because the survey did indicate that the majority of the people did not favor going into "group two" this possibility was given only little attention at the meeting.

No change can be made in the service to Farwell, and the rate, until it is okayed by the city commission. Therefore, it appears that Farwell will continue to have free dialing to Clovis.

Polio Work Shaped

The Parmer County chapter of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had its annual meeting at the City Cafe in Farwell on Monday night, April 21.

After a steak dinner, a short business session was called to order by Hugh Moseley, chairman of the chapter. Moseley then introduced Michael Hyre, representative of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis for this area of Texas. Hyre gave an educational speech in connection with the research program that the N.F.I.P. is carrying on in relation to the many different virus infections, and especially polio and cancer.

The next order of business was the election of board members to serve on the executive committee for a period of one year.

The following 19 people were recommended and elected: Wilbur Charles, Bovina; Roy Crawford, Bovina; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Euler, Friona; Joe Jones, Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jesko, Lazbuddie; Mr. and Mrs. James Mabry, Hub; Also Cary Joe Magness, Farwell; Hugh Moseley, Farwell;

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson, Rhea; Lenton S. Pool, Farwell; Herbert Potts, Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Tatum, Black; Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott, Farwell; and Mrs. Nell Walling, Farwell.

The chapter officers were then elected to serve for the coming year from the above group of board members, consisting of Raymond Euler, chapter chairman; Cary Joe Magness, vice-chairman; Hugh Moseley, secretary; and Herbert Potts, treasurer.

Jimmie Lou Waincott was elected to serve as women's committee chairman, and Mrs. June Floyd of the Friona Star was appointed to serve as publicity director for the organization.

The next meeting of the organization will be May 20, 1958, at 8:15 P. M. at the Bovina Restaurant in Bovina.

Raymond Euler invites all people, who are interested in the work that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is carrying out with the March of Dimes money, to attend this regular chapter meeting.

J. D. Matthews Dies In Accident Tuesday, Funeral Friday

After funeral services at the Texico Baptist Church Friday at 10 a.m., CST, the body of J. D. Matthews will be taken to Raton for interment.

Mr. Matthews, 44, was killed Tuesday afternoon in a construction accident at Cannon Air Force Base. He was hit by an oxygen drum when the rope from which it was suspended broke.

Rev. C. C. Morgan, pastor of the church, will officiate at the services here and a graveside service will be read at Raton. Steed's Funeral Home of Clovis is in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers will be Bernard McGregor, Bill Bomar, D. J. Brown, Anson Bowers, Frank Doshier, and Claud Curry. Boys of the senior class at Texico High School will be honorary pallbearers and senior girls will assist with music.

Survivors include his wife, Louise; one daughter Betty, who is a senior at Texico; and his mother, Mrs. Hetty Matthews of Norman, Okla., and three sisters.

The family has lived in this area for about five years.

Condy Jones Dies Wednesday

Condy "Pappy" Jones of Oklahoma Lane died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Rundell, Wednesday night about 11 following a heart attack. He was 80 years old and has been ill for several years.

Tentative date for funeral services is Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church, according to family members.

Mr. Jones is survived by his wife, two sons, Lee and Buddy; and three daughters, Mrs. Rundell, Mrs. Claude Primrose and Mrs. Sam Billingsley.

Pike, Hardage To State

Two of Farwell's nine track men, who participated in the regional track meet at Lubbock Friday and Saturday, turned in top performances and qualified for the state meet at Austin, May 2-3.

Larry Pike turned in a fast 20.6 time in the 180-yard low hurdle to win first in that event. The Steer sprinter lost out in the 100-yard dash but did turn in the fast time (10.3) in the preliminaries Friday.

In the finals the race was won in 10.5, but a poor start knocked Pike out of the running. However, by qualifying for the state meet in one event, he will also have an opportunity to compete in other events as well. Coach J. D. Atwell plans to enter him in both the 100- and 220-yard dashes at Austin as well as in the hurdles.

Farwell's other representative at Austin will be Glyn Hardage, who won second in the 880-yard run. His time of 2:04.5 bettered the old regional record, but he was nosed out for first place by two-tenths of a second in another heat. The winning time was 2:04.3.

By qualifying for the state meet, the two Steer thinclads also became eligible for the Red Raider Relays this Saturday at Lubbock. The meet is for only those athletes (in all divisions) who will participate

New Equipment In City Cafe

Shirley Kesner, owner of City Cafe in Farwell, has new equipment in the kitchen of the business. Included are an electric grill, electric 5-burner stove with oven, deep fryer, and stainless steel work tables.

Response Good To Cancer Drive

A total of $257.29 was contributed to the cancer fund during a house-to-house canvass of Farwell by the Farwell Study Club Friday. Plans are under way to contact businessmen soon, says Wilfred Quickel, local chairman.

Mrs. G. A. Garrett, president of the study group, directed the canvass. She wishes to express her appreciation to the women who helped and especially to Mrs. Bob Anderson, who volunteered to assist the organization in the project.

An up-to-date check on the number of phones in each of the exchanges revealed that Oklahoma Lane had 150 phones while Pleasant Hill and South Clovis combined had 170.

Phone company officials were of the opinion that this about balanced out but it was brought out that Clovis subscribers also had free dialing to the Ranchvale exchange while telephone users in Farwell did not. The 133 telephones on that exchange gives Clovis access to 143 more phones than those available to subscribers in Farwell.

While it was pointed out that Farwell was not interested in having access to Ranchvale phones, it was a point used to show that with the new rate local citizens would be charged for the same as Clovis, although they would have access to fewer phones.

Hugo Kleeman Rites Read Here Saturday

Funeral services for Hugo Kleeman, a pioneer rancher in this area, were read Saturday morning in the Charles V. Steed Memorial Chapel in Clovis. Rev. R. C. Bolton officiated and burial was in the Mission Garden of Memories.

The 74-year-old man died April 16 in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alice R. Pyeatt, at Devine. Since leaving his ranch southeast of Clovis to the Atlantic-Pacific Cattle Company of London, England, about two years ago, he had made his home there. He homesteaded the land 49 years ago.

Survivors include Mrs. Pyeatt, one son, Eddie, who lives east of Clovis; a brother, W. M., of Portales; two nephews and a niece, G. O. and Albert Kleeman and Mrs. V. C. Bohannan, all of Clovis.

Pallbearers were Orval Francis, Roscoe Burris, Fred Pierce, Fred Daugherty, Edgar Blain, and W. A. Priest. Honorary pallbearers were A. W. Skarda, Cash Ramey, Harold Gore, Gordon Fitzhugh, Otto Smith, and G. B. Thatcher.

Juniors Win 1st, Wolverines 2nd In EPAC Meet

With three all-round tracksters turning in outstanding performances, Texico grabbed one title and finished runner up in another division, in the first annual East Plains Athletic Conference track meet at Clovis Saturday.

In the junior high division, Leslie Dyer and James Halsell accounted for 64 points between them and it was the necessary punch to give Coach Curtis Miller's thinclads the championship over a field of nine.

Dyer was the top individual scorer in the junior division with 32½ points, but his teammate, Halsell, was a close second with 31½. In all, Texico had 68 5/12 points to second place Tatum's 55½.

Raymond Hadley amassed 41 points in the senior division to easily cop individual honors, but Coach Paul Frederick's Wolverines were nosed out by the Tatum Coyotes for meet honors. Texico finished with 78 1/10, but by winning the final two events the Coyotes finished with 90.

It was a close race right down to the wire, but the Wolverines faltered in each of the four relays and thus had to settle for second place. Injuries and a mishap on a hand-off, which caused the team to be disqualified in one race, contributed to the downfall.

In his valiant effort, Hadley won five firsts, a second, and a third. His blue ribbons came in the 180-yard low hurdle, the 100-, 220-, and 440-yard dashes, and a tie in the jump. He took second in the shot put, third in the javelin, and was also a member of the medley relay team which finished second. All of the Texico athletes who placed in the various events are as follows:

- Senior Division
- 120-yard high hurdles—Engram, 4th place.
- 180-yard low hurdles—Hadley, first, 21.1.
- Broad jump—Hadley, tie for first; Trower, tie for fourth, 18' 11".
- Pole vault — Bowers, first, 9' 6".
- 220-yard dash—Hadley, first, 23.65.
- Javelin—Hadley, third.
- 100-yard dash—Hadley, first, 10.6.
- Mile run—Singleterry, fifth.
- High jump—Moore, tie for fourth.
- Discus—Adams, third.
- 440-yard dash—Hadley, first.
- 880-yard run—Wyman, third.
- Shot put—Hadley, second.
- Texico relay teams won second in the 440, mile, and medley relays.
- Junior Division
- 120-yard low hurdles—Dyer, second.
- Javelin—Halsell, second.
- 100-yard dash—Dyer, first, 23.8.
- Shot put—Halsell, first, 50' 1 1/2".
- High jump—Halsell, tie for first; Dyer, tie for third, 5' 2".
- 100-yard dash—Dyer, first, 10.8.
- 440-yard dash—Dyer, second.
- Pole vault—Halsell, first; Turner, tie for fifth, 9 feet.
- Broad jump—Dyer, first; Halsell, third, 19 feet.
- Discus—Halsell, second.
- 440-yard relay—Texico, second.

(LEFT PHOTO) Texico's ace track man, Raymond Hadley, romps to an easy win in the preliminaries of the 100-yard dash. In recording a time of 10.55 he finished far ahead of the field. It was a similar story in the 220, 440, and low hurdle events which Hadley won in compiling an individual point total of 41. (CENTER)—James Halsell clears the bar at 9 feet to win first in the junior high pole vault. His first in this event was one of three for the all-around athlete who accounted for 31½ points. (RIGHT)—Leslie Dyer picks up another blue ribbon as he runs a 10.8 in the finals of the junior 100-yard dash. This was the third time the young trackster had to run the 100 during the day and was his third straight 10.8 clocking. The large number of runners in this event made it necessary to have preliminaries, semifinals and finals. Dyer also won first in the 220 and broad jump and he had an individual point total of 32½. The above three athletes had a combined total of 105 points.

Theta Rho Wins Top Scrapbook Award 4th Time

For the fourth time in seven years, Theta Rho chapter of ESA has received the first place award for the local scrapbook entry placed in state competition in New Mexico.

The chapter received its first blue ribbon in 1952, the first year entries were made after organization of the local chapter. The book was prepared by Jeanne Graham. Then in 1955, ESA once more had the winning book, when Wilma Liner was scrapbook chairman. For the second consecutive year, honors were received when Maxine Williams prepared the top entry, in 1956.

The book this year was again judged the best in the state and will be entered in International competition in Denver in June. LaMoin Williams was scrapbook chairman, assisted by Jeannette Hanks and Jeanne Graham.

The cover of the book, designed by Mrs. Williams, featured an ESA emblem of gold velvet, with pearlized buttons denoting pearls and Theta Rho in felt lettering across the bottom of the book. Pages included color pictures of members and their families and outstanding events of the chapter depicted by pictures and newspaper clippings.

The scrapbook award isn't the only first that has been won by Theta Rho since its organization, however. The project display entered by the chapter in state contests in 1956, received the top award that year. It was prepared by Wilma Liner, Dorothy Quickel, Jo Ann Liethen and Jeanne Graham.

Then in 1957, three firsts were received by the chapter. Awards were for the president's book, entered by Sylvia Watkins; the treasurer's book prepared by Irene Dyer and the secretary's book, designed by Jeanne Graham.

Theta Rho has also been recognized with several second place awards. They include: display in 1952; and treasurer's book and display in 1954.

A total of eight first place honors and three second places have been received in the seven years since organization.

Earl Holt, Hereford, Tex., says: "I harvested more grain from 250 acres of irrigated maize fertilized with Phillips 66 Ammonia than I got from my previous larger acreage which received no ammonia. And I got this increase using only one irrigation well for the entire 250 acres."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that 82% nitrogen from top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them get more profit per acre through higher yields. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin... yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased... more marketable vegetables are harvested... and profits on wheat are increased through higher yields of grain and extended grazing periods.

IT'S AN AMERICAN TRADITION

Freedom of worship is a rare and precious thing. Especially in Blessed America we tend to take such a basic freedom without thinking how important it is.

People have not always been able to worship God openly. Even today there are many places in the world where Christianity is not accepted.

Make sure you use the great religious heritage you have by regularly attending the church of your choice.

Indications Appear Flow-Meter Survey Will Be Revealing

by W. H. GRAHAM JR.

Early and sketchy findings of a new instrument coming into widespread use by the High Plains Water District indicate Plains farmers are in for a jolt concerning how much water they pump onto their croplands.

The District has installed these special devices, which carefully measure the gallonage pumped from a well by means of a sealed meter, in 13 counties. Their first "official" installation in Parmer County is on the farm of Walter Kaltwasser of the Oklahoma Lane community.

Other meters are now on the farm of John Gammon of the Lazbuddie community and Bruce Parr of the Black community, but figures have not been compiled from these wells as yet.

A graph run from records kept in conjunction with Kaltwasser's well has some revealing information. The most startling is in regard to his irrigation practices on cottonland.

In mid-April of last year, Kaltwasser pre-irrigated a total of 19.1 inches. That is considerably more than the farmer, and most farmers of the High Plains, realized they were putting on, and was also considerably in excess of the amount required under even the drouthy conditions that prevailed at that time. If better distribution could have been achieved, probably half as much water would have sufficed.

The first watering of his cotton after it was up was in early June. He applied 5.05 inches, which is regarded as a normal irrigation. In late July and early August the second watering was made, totaling 5.50 inches. Then, from the 22nd to the 26th of August the last watering was made, totaling 4.80 inches.

Most all farmers of the High Plains agree they would have been better off without that third watering last year, and so does Kaltwasser. He even goes further than that to say he might have been better off without his second irrigation, too.

After the cotton had been irrigated in August, it continued to rain, and the 3.34 inches in September and the 3.12 inches in October from natural sources put the damper on both yield and quality on the Kaltwasser farm, as similar rains at the same time did elsewhere on the Plains last year.

But by far the greatest waste of irrigation water occurred back in the spring at pre-watering time. Kaltwasser's farm is sandy loam, being a "mixed" type land falling between the tight soils of the north and the coarser soils to the south.

His land was dry and cloddy and took up the water at a high rate in this state. Kaltwasser, a conscientious farmer who will try to improve his farming wherever he can, says he thinks that if he had gone through his field with a tractor to crush the clods in the furrow bottoms and also to slightly compact the soil, the water would have gone through faster and over-absorption would not have been such a problem.

The total moisture received on Kaltwasser's 1957 cotton crop was 55.89, which is pretty soggy by even East Texas standards and was far in excess of what is usually considered a rainfall requirement level for cotton of about 20 inches in the growing season.

Not only did the cotton crop itself suffer from the adverse effects of too much water, but the water which passed through the soil on the farm carried with it valuable soil nutrients. These nutrients were leached out of reach of even the rangy cotton tap root and are lost permanently.

County Agent Joe Jones says that the results shown on the Kaltwasser farm are anything but unusual. "That picture will be true the Plains over," he says.

As findings such as these are compiled and made public, High Plains Water District officials hope to make it increasingly evident that a surprising amount of the total water pumped is never made use of by plants it is intended to help.

That could be especially true in a year as this, which finds planting time approaching with moisture levels in the soils of High Plains farms at a point considerably above average.

Whether additional moisture in the form of rain will come this year is anybody's guess, of course, but moisture levels in the soil are for the moment sufficient.

Those in agricultural service agencies continue to advise farmers to check their own water requirements by spot-testing their fields with simple equipment that takes samples from different depths.

Highest yields of cotton and lowest salinity content in the soil were obtained on double (cantaloupe) beds in tests conducted on El Paso Valley soils by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. The conventional single row bed produced the poorest seed germination and lowest yields of any type bed tested. Other type beds included sloping double bed, flat planted and furrow planted.

Gadgets such as this one, called a flow-meter, are gradually coming into use to measure exactly the amount of water pumped by a well. This one is on the farm of Walter Kaltwasser in the Oklahoma Lane community.

Moisture on 31 Acres of Cotton, 1957

The flow-meter installation shows clearly the irrigation picture, and is included with rainfall measurements. The total irrigation water applied was 34.45 inches; total rainfall was 21.44, making 55.89 inches of water on the cotton crop. Measurements were also taken on grain sorghum and wheat irrigation, but are not included here.

May 5 To May 20 Best For Cotton

Optimum cotton planting dates on the Texas High Plains are May 5-20, Don L. Jones, former superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment Station, has reminded Plains Cotton Growers members.

"Later planting usually results in lower quality cotton and if planting must be done after June 1, select an early maturing variety," Jones advises.

As to prior planting, Jones explained that years of research work at the Experiment Station have shown that the best results for planting comes when the soil temperature averages 60 degrees for 10 days at an 8-inch depth from the top of the bed.

Daily radio and newspaper reports are now being broadcast and published which gives the average daily temperatures. This information is part of the Plains Cotton Growers Educational Program to try to help High Plains cotton farmers produce a higher quality cotton in 1958.

In other planting tips, Jones urged farmers to use delinted, treated seed if possible, and warned them to check the seed germination percent and to alter planting rates accordingly.

A uniform stand of approximately four stalks per foot in 40-inch rows is recommended. Plant 20 to 30 pounds of seed per acre, adjusting the rate according to germination tests and the use of a seed press wheel and shallow furrows will help plant emergence to be rapid, he added.

The method of harvest to be used should help determine the variety to plant when practical since storm resistant cottons maintain quality longer in the field and strip better than open-boll types, Jones concluded.

Attractive and useful containers for dry foods, such as granulated sugar, powdered sugar, cornstarch, and flour can be made from empty salt boxes with metal spouts. They may be covered with paper, then labled, then covered with a thin coat of shellac.

For easy filling use a small household funnel. These may be decorated to harmonize with other kitchen furnishings.

One of the newest gadgets for home use is a new "dust-magnetic" broom with plastic bristles that "grab" dirt and hold it. The bristles should be washed after every one or two usings to prevent the bristles from becoming dirt-clogged.

In our series of Mrs. America recipes we are down to Maine. From Mrs. John Shea comes a seafood recipe. She says that even though this recipe is a family favorite, her children more often ask for spaghetti with meat balls.

Lobster & Mushroom Casserole
1/2 lb. sliced mushrooms
1/4 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika
1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1/3 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup water
3 1/2 cups diced cooked lobster meat (about 4 one-pound lobsters)
1 tablespoon sherry
Dash of pepper
2 egg yolks
1/2 cup cream
Cracker crumbs
Additional butter

Saute mushrooms in butter with salt and paprika until tender. Add bouillon and bring to a boil. Thicken with blended flour and water mixture. Add lobster, sherry, and pepper. Beat egg yolks with cream and add to mixture.

Pour into greased 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Top with cracker crumbs and dot with butter. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in very hot oven. Makes four servings.

Mrs. Robert E. Eisminger of Maryland selects a pork chop dish as a favorite with her husband and four children.

Orange-Glazed Pork Chops
6 loin pork chops (each 3/4 inch thick)
2 tablespoons water
5 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
10 whole cloves
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1/2 cup orange juice
4 orange slices, halved

Trim most of the fat from chops, put in skillet over low heat and let fat fry slowly until skillet is covered with thin coating of fat. Sprinkle both sides of chops with salt, pepper, and paprika and brown both sides in skillet.

Lower heat and add water.

Cover skillet tightly and cook 45 minutes to one hour, turning chops occasionally.

Meanwhile prepare the orange glaze sauce. To make: combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, cinnamon, cloves, orange peel, and orange juice in saucepan. Cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Add orange slices, cover pan and remove from heat. To serve, spoon glaze over each pork chop and garnish with the glazed orange slices.

Some people seem to have the idea that barbecued dishes originated in Texas. That may or may not be true, but Mrs. Arthur Strole, who was chosen Mrs. Massachusetts in the Mrs. America contest, lists barbecued spareribs as her favorite dish.

Baked Spareribs in Barbecue Sauce
1 onion, finely chopped
1 green pepper, finely chopped
1 cup water
2 cups tomato juice
1/2 cup vinegar
1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon soy sauce
2 to 3 lbs. spareribs

Combine all ingredients except spareribs and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Brown spareribs in skillet or under broiler. Place in roasting pan, cover with the sauce and bake in moderate oven 45 minutes.

When Mrs. William H. Weitzel, who was chosen Mrs. Michigan, prepares a meal there are nine mouths to feed when no company is present. Of course, she cooks in large quantities. She chose a pretty salad as her favorite dish.

Spiced Peach Salad
1 large can peach halves water
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 two-inch cinnamon sticks
3/4 teaspoon whole cloves boiling water as directed below
2 packages orange flavored gelatin
1 jar (5 ounces) pineapple cream cheese
1/4 cup chopped pecans
lettuce or endive
Drain syrup from peaches and add enough water to the syrup to make 1 1/2 cups. Add vinegar, salt, cinnamon sticks and cloves. Simmer 10 minutes then strain. Add enough boiling water to make three cups of liquid and dissolve the gelatin in it.

Pour enough gelatin into a 9-inch ring mold to fill to a depth of one inch. Chill until firm. Chill remaining gelatin mixture until it begins to thicken. Meanwhile make 8 cream cheese balls and roll them in the chopped nuts. Space evenly in mold and cover each with a peach half. Carefully pour remaining gelatin mixture over peaches. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce or endive. Makes 8 servings.

Coming up next week will be recipes from Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, and Montana.

WILLIE WIREHAND PRESENTS:
The Gilbert Watkins Family
 of Farwell

Parmer County Farm Family of the Month
 Above are Gilbert and Sylvia Watkins and their fine family. They are holding their twins Debbie and Dennis. At the left is David. Standing are Janie and Mike. They live about six miles east of Farwell.

This is another family that puts electricity to practical use on the farm. In the house, they have a refrigerator, deep freeze, plenty of lighting, radio and TV sets, and air movement on the central heating system is done electrically. Outside, electricity supplies water for the home, the yard is illuminated by a pole light, and Gilbert uses an air compressor and electric drills in his farm shop.

They are all very proud of their upright-type food freezer. They buy beef by the half and also often buy frozen fryers and other easily processed and frozen foods. "When we want chicken, all we have to do is take it out of the freezer and fry it," says Mrs. Watkins, shown here doing just that.

The entire family is then assured what they want when they want it at a minimum of expense and, nicely enough for such a busy mother, trouble. Like other farm families, the Watkinses find farm life more abundant with electricity. Deaf Smith REA lines bring the town to the country.

110 County Farms Use FHA Credit

This is the time of year when Parmer County farm families plan the steps they need to take to increase the efficiency of their farming operations during the coming farm season, reports Billy R. Boling, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

Approximately 110 farm families in the county are operating their farms with loans obtained through the Farmers Home Administration.

The agency advances operating credit primarily to help eligible farm families make improved use of their land and labor resources on family type farms and make needed changes in their farming systems. Most of the changes call for adopting better farming practices and improving the efficiency of their farming operations. The loans help farmers pay for equipment, livestock, feed, seed, fertilizer, and other farm and home operating needs including refinancing chattel debts. Operating loans run from 1 to 7 years at 5 percent interest. The average operating loan in Parmer County is approximately $10,000.

Before an operating loan for adjustment purposes is closed, the applicant and the county supervisor agree on the proposed long-time improvement. At the beginning of each farming year while the loan is being repaid, the family, with Boling's help, makes annual plans for the best use of the farm income and to determine additional credit needs. A year-end review of the past year's successes and mistakes guides the family and the county supervisor when they get together to plan for the year coming up.

Boling said he can approve operating loans only to families who have or can acquire land and labor resources needed to help them improve their farming, and who are not presently able to turn to private or cooperative lenders for adequate financing of the type they require. All borrowers graduate to conventional credit as soon as they can.

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

The High Plains wasn't the only farming area of the nation bothered with poor weather last year. Most all agricultural services are warning that seed germination standards the country over will be off considerably this season.

Most farmers are planning to take up some of the slack that is anticipated by slightly increasing their planting rates this spring. We see a lot of pickups going by these days with the back end full of loaded seed sacks. Most of the seed has been on order for a good while but is just now being picked up.

Most of our farmer friends say they'll be plenty busy the next few weeks if fair weather holds.

We had to get special permission from the High Plains Water District office at Lubbock to use figures from flow-meter installations we want to publish. Our friend, Tom McFarland, who is manager of the district, says he agrees that a tremendous job of education is ahead if we hope to improve our use and conservation of irrigation water the self-help way.

Tom says it's downright discouraging at times to show farmers conclusive evidence of wasteful practices in irrigation and have them take such little note of it.

Changing established practices is always difficult, because it involves patterns established by human behavior. And dealing with the human element always has its worries. Tom says the matter of conservation and intelligent use of our water on the High Plains today is about where the oil industry was thirty years ago.

Some things that the flow-meter is showing up shoot holes in the idea that less irrigation water is wasted in the light or sandy land areas than in the tight land areas.

Waste water on tightland farming usually takes the form of water in the ditch. That is because the farmer often feels he must run water through his field for a certain length of time to get adequate penetration on account of the soil's slow permeability.

Waste water in sandy land farming isn't noticeable, though. Instead of inadequate penetration, the farmer's problem is just reversed. Often he wets his soil considerably below the depth of the root zone, which is the practical limit for any irrigation method.

So, water that is pumped into the soil at a depth exceeding roots is wasted just as surely as that which is run out into the bar ditch.

Fact is, with soil nutrients being the factor that they are, tight lands produce more per-unit measure of irrigation water than their sandy land counterparts—water in the bar ditch notwithstanding.

Furthermore, the argument by some that overirrigation on sandy land is no real problem "because whenever you put the water back into the ground, eventually it finds its way back to the water table" shouldn't be leaned too heavily upon, either.

While we freely admit that it's better to have water percolating slowly through the soil far below than evaporating into the air, few realize how long it will take a gallon of water to pass some 200 feet through clay, caliche, rocks, silt, sand, and gravel to the water table.

Furthermore, water thus returned cannot be fully recovered in ANY amount of time because of molecular attraction. To demonstrate this, if you were to take a glass of oven-dry sand, and pour some water into the sand, you could not pour that same amount of water back out of the sand because the water droplets and the grains of sand have a peculiar affinity for one another.

In the case of a farmer farming a sandhills plot, where the water table was only about 20 feet below the surface, he could probably prove without much trouble that he can "circulate" water right through his farm. But, with the average area water table down around the 200-foot level, this isn't true.

Most any well driller will confirm that there is nearly always a big slice of dry sand right over the water-bearing portion. That dry sand might well take up all the water a farmer could pump down to it for many years.

About the only case of water sand recharge from a surface station point that is proven effective is from a lake. Readings at observation wells show that the water from lakes does reach the irrigation strata. This is more because the water is being "pushed" by a constant force (the head) above than because it is drawn by gravity through the various materials deposited in intermediate strata.

We have never been able to figure out the attraction which draws some couples together.

Will Show Plots

A special showing of wheat test plots set up by the Amarillo Experiment Station will be held Monday, April 28, at the farm of Beryle Nix, says County Agent Joe Jones.

Jones says the 51 plots on the Nix farm are all marked according to the fertilizer treatments they are receiving, and "Anybody farming wheat in the sandy area should certainly come see this demonstration."

One group already has visited the farm and was impressed with the tests. Fertilizer dealers and farmers are invited to the meeting, which will be at 2 o'clock. The Nix farm is on the first road north of Lariat, and is two miles west and one and three-quarters miles south of Oklahoma Lane.

Local Girls Compete In REA Contest 24th

The Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative announces the candidates for the "Miss Deaf Smith County Rural Electric of 1958" to be judged April 24 at the annual meeting of the cooperative members at the Hereford Bull Barn.

Three Parmer County students are entered in the contest. They are chosen from the members of the FHA Chapters in Farwell, Bovina, and Friona High Schools. Other entries are from Dimmitt and Hereford.

Entered from Farwell is Miss Faye Rounton, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Rounton. A junior student, she has black hair and brown eyes. Miss Joy Redden, a 15-year-old sophomore, will represent Bovina High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Redden. The strawberry blonde has hazel eyes.

A 17-year-old senior, Miss Jonnie Hand, is the contestant from Friona High School. The tall, blue-eyed brunette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hand.

The local girls will compete with Miss Gayle Waggoner from Hereford and Miss Myrna Finch of Dimmitt.

Weeds often cause a tremendous reduction in pasture and hay yields, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. Their control is essential for best returns. The method of control he mentioned are prevention, cultivation, mowing and chemical control.

Sheath Should Be Lined

Versions of the "sheath" dress are popular again this spring. Extension clothing specialists warn that the slim lines present several problems when it comes to keeping a crisp, unwrinkled look.

The dress may lose its shape across the back if the material you choose has a tendency to stretch. Also, wrinkles may develop across the front.

To guard against this, specialists suggest lining the dress. Use a light-weight rayon lining or other material that isn't too heavy, and doesn't cling.

Cut the lining about one-eighth inch smaller than your regular dress pattern and bring it eight to ten inches below the hip line. Machine-baste to the front and back pieces of the dress before putting the seams together. This keeps the fabric from slipping and puckering as you stitch it in place.

Storing Winter Woolens

Before storing those winter woolens be sure they are clean. Extension clothing specialists remind us that perspiration weakens wool, grit cuts it, and spots attract moths.

First examine garments carefully and clean or wash as directed on the label.

Before washing, give special treatment to spots and stains. Also measure your knitted garments so they can be pulled back into shape after washing. Guard against damage from clothes moths. Dry cleaning kills all forms at the time of treatment, but does not insure permanent protection. Garments placed in sealed paper bags immediately after cleaning will be protected indefinitely.

Foods and Nutrition Briefs

Here's a quick new raisin sauce for ham. Simply combine a 6-ounce can of frozen orange juice concentrate with ½ cup sugar, 1½ cups cold water and 1½ tablespoons cornstarch. Heat until the sauce thickens. Then add 1/3 cup raisins and salt to taste.

Make a quick and easy tartar sauce for fish suppers. Stir 2 teaspoons instant minced onion into a tablespoon of water. Let stand a few minutes, then add to mayonnaise along with a generous measure of chopped parsley, sweet or sour pickle relish and a squeeze of fresh lime or lemon juice.

Here is a "different" breakfast that's really special! Drain canned cling peaches and arrange each half on a medium-thick slice of ready-to-eat ham. Drizzle a little peach syrup over the ham, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the peaches are hot. Arrange the ham and peaches on a warm platter around a mound of scrambled eggs.

For a quick and delicious tea time snack, try this unusual sandwich. Cut canned date nut bread into slices, spread with softened cream cheese, and arrange well-drained canned cling peach slices on top. Looks pretty and tastes wonderful!

You can get more than your money's worth some times, but it is a hard process to continue.

County 4-H Club Council Meets

The 4-H Council was called to order by President Judy Billingsley Saturday, April 19. The 4-H motto and pledge were led by Richard Chitwood. The minutes were read by Barbara Rea.

Chitwood gave a report on the 4-H achievement day in Bovina. Reports were given by different club members on how they observed National 4-H Week in March. Ronny Henson gave a report on how the Farwell Jr. 4-H Club earned money for the March of Dimes. Summer activities for the 4-H clubs were discussed. The Senior 4-H party was set for May 29 at the Hub Community house. The girls are to bring sandwiches and the boys 20 cents. The party will begin at 8:30 p.m. Plans were also made for a junior 4-H party June 19 at the Hub Community house. The party will begin at 8:30 p.m. and the mothers will bring sandwiches and the fathers 20 cents. Plans were discussed for an electrical workshop this summer for the junior and senior boys and girls 4-H clubs in this county. A committee of Ronny Henson, Farwell; James Brown, Lazbuddie; Joe Bob Johnson, Friona; and Gladys Dean, Bovina, was appointed to work with Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott and Joe Jones in planning the workshop. Gladys Dean is chairman.

A workshop to work on records will be on July 10. This workshop is for all 4-H club members. Everyone will bring his record books.

Jones showed a film about 4-H club activities before the meeting adjourned.

Try not to get irritated with other motorists, a bulletin from the Texas Safety Association advises. When they forget to signal, zig-zag in traffic, fail to dim their lights or show other signs of rudeness, maybe it is because they lack the training or courtesy which YOU possess.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Within the past two years quite a few acres of cultivated land here in Parmer County have been put back to grass. This is primarily the result of the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank Program. Some have seen the beneficial results of planting grass for their use as well as for seed production.

In some areas, market supplies of native grass seed are still inadequate. And because of unpredictable weather, the supply may vary greatly from year to year.

Experience shows that producing grass seed under cultivation is both practical and profitable and is the only way to produce adequate and dependable supplies.

Demand for seed will more than likely grow as more and more low producing cropland is seeded permanently to grass and as grasses are used more in the regular cropping systems on farms.

There is probably no crop grown that has more conservation uses or more all-round value than grasses. Whenever they are grown, grasses protect land from wind and water erosion and improve soil structure. In addition, they produce pasture and hay. As a result, more acres are being seeded to grass and more species of grass are being grown in the United States now than ever before.

Grasses are being seeded to restore badly eroded land into useful production, to restore depleted rangeland, to heal gullies, to prevent damage by runoff water on steep slopes and to line waterways so that excess water from cultivated fields can be disposed of without erosion.

As a group, the native and several of the introduced forage grasses of the Great Plains are adapted to wide ranges of soil and climate. The principal grasses for this area are Blue grama, Buffalo grass, Side-oats grama and Sand bluestem. Others frequently found are western wheat, Little bluestem, Switchgrass, Canada wildrye, Indian grass and sand lovegrass.

Individual grasses, however, have different needs. Some require highly fertile soil. Some are adapted to low rainfall conditions; others require lots of moisture. Some, such as tall wheatgrass, are well suited for planting in alkaline soils.

Species and strains of native grasses brought from the northern to the southern Great Plains are usually unsuited to southern conditions. And some of those suited to the southern Plains cannot stand the cold of the northern Plains.

In general, when choosing seed of native grasses, choose seed originating not more than 150 to 200 miles north or 250 to 300 miles south of where you intend to use them. Better yet, unless you can get seed of proved varieties, use seeds of local origin.

State Agricultural Experiment Stations, Soil Conservation Service and other agencies have carried on cooperative trial plantings to test suitability of certain species and strains under specific field conditions. The results of these trials serve to guide the farmer in choosing the right grasses for conservation planting.

A hard task is eased by the application of immediate energy.

Optimism is more important to business than cash is to buyers.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Rhea Community completed raising funds for the purchase of a lift for the Parmer County Community Hospital last Friday night when they served a fried chicken supper in Rhea Parish Hall. There was also a program of pantomime acts presented by the younger set that made a very enjoyable evening for patrons of the affair.

Harry Hamilton and Roy V. Miller loaded, hauled and unloaded the hay for the Junior Livestock Show last week. Farm Bureau Directors have taken the responsibility for getting bedding located and on the spot for county fairs and shows for several years.

We remind you again that you are due a nickel per gallon tax refund on gasoline used in farm equipment. You must file within six months of the first purchase. If you haven't received a notice regarding this lately, drop in and see if you should file now. Office secretary, Joyce Osborne, can take care of this and any other service you may desire. You will appreciate the personal attention she gives to your problems, or providing services you may be in need of.

We are glad to see cartons of "ungraded eggs" in grocery stores. This indicates that misunderstandings about the protective Texas Egg Law are disappearing.

We hope that before January, 1959, many of you will have been reminded of the importance of legislation that will be introduced then. It would be well to discuss these items with candidates for state office before you decide how to vote. Some of the objectionable bills likely to appear are: slow down or elimination of construction of new Farm to Market Roads; compulsory re-aligning of County Commissioner's Precincts on a population basis; and a plan to deplete the Permanent School Fund.

Subjects all farm and ranch people will be emphatically for: increased state appropriations for extension service, experiment stations and forestry service; increased state appropriations for an expanded animal health and disease control; and an amendment to the Texas REA law to restore acreage rights to this important service to rural people. (There will be more about this course.)

Any person posing as a farmer's best friend while trying to tear down a farmer's organization, needs to be examined thoroughly before being followed.

Consider this: Bread of deceit is sweet to a man; but afterward his mouth shall be filled with gravel. Proverbs 20:17

Extension Service Gives Suggestions On Fertilizers

Texas soils vary from section to section with regard to fertility. That is, soils in the northern sections of the state will not have the same fertilization requirements as the southern sections and the western, eastern and central sections may also have different deficiencies.

It is this variation in fertilization requirements that has prompted the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to release a series of nine leaflets giving the fertilizer recommendations for each section of the state.

Each of these leaflets deal with one particular section. For example, one leaflet is entitled "Fertilizer Recommendations for the Rolling Plains" while another is "Fertilizer Recommendations for the West Cross Timbers." Other sections are Lower Rio Grande Valley, Upper Rio Grande and Trans Pecos, Gulf Coast Prairie, Blackland and Grand Prairie, High Plains, Rio Grande Plain, and East Texas Timbers.

Included in each of these leaflets is a chart that gives the recommendations for each individual crop for that particular section. The crops discussed include forage, grain, fiber, and oil crops as well as fruit trees and truck crops.

These helpful leaflets may be obtained from local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

FORMER SENATOR KARL L. LOVELADY ANNOUNCES FOR STATE SENATE

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 30th SENATORIAL DISTRICT:

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the office of State Senator of the 30th Senatorial District in the forthcoming Democratic Primary. I make this announcement after careful and considered appraisal of the voiced opinions of the many persons who have come to me and that I have gone to see, who have insisted that I make this race based on my past record in the State Senate of Texas to keep the state out of debt and to vote a vote for all the people and not a vote for the chosen few.

I base my candidacy on the following platform:

- HONESTY AND INTEGRITY— states in seed regulation. I will always oppose any legislation to unionize farm labor.
- SCHOOLS— A stronger emphasis on the teaching of the basic subjects of reading, writing and arithmetic in the lower grades, and on mathematics and science in high school, so that we can better equip our students to preserve our leadership as a nation in the world. Better pay for all school teachers, and more money for better school plants from the state. (I think teachers should receive salaries equal to other professions of similar education and training.) I think we should have a state supported Junior College near the center of the district so that buses can run from the various towns carrying students to said college.
- BUSINESS— I would abolish the State Store Tax, State tax levied on stores that sell cigarettes and charge the collection of all taxes and cosmetics, etc., now collected by the merchant to that of the manufacturer who makes them. (In fact I think the merchant, farmer and all retail businesses should be taken out of the business of collecting taxes for either the state or the federal government.) It is about time the small business man got a break in this government of ours. The present "Hot Check" law should be amended so that when any person gives or passes a check whether for cash, to pay a bill or to receive merchandise, he or she may be handled by the proper court if said check is not honored at the bank for payment. Any person who makes a bill for groceries, clothing or drugs, same being necessities, the merchant should have stronger laws than we now have for the collection of said debts.
- LOAN SHARKS— I would vote and support a law to place all loan companies under the same regulations as the Banks are now under.
- CITIES AND TOWNS— I believe that all cities and towns in the state should be given aid from the state, based on population for use in building streets, alleys and for the purchase of highway rights-of-way through their cities and towns. (As you know all this expense is now carried by the property tax payer who already has all the burden he can carry.)
- PROFESSIONS— I believe that the present laws regulating the illegal and unethical practice of law, medicine and healing arts should be strengthened so that the public may be better protected, and any professional person or so called professional person who, either in private, in public, or in print, willfully misleads the public to obtain a client or a patient should be prosecuted by law for so doing.
- WELFARE— I would give additional aid to all persons under the welfare program where need can be shown to exist. (Any increase in pension checks, etc., would help our economy because they spend their money on the necessities.)

OFFICIAL NOTICES AND CITATIONS

I would vote for an amendment to the present law on official notices and publications to provide that all official notices and citations now posted at the court house door be published in a newspaper in the County so that the public will be properly informed, and that individual citizens affected will not be deprived of their just rights under our laws.

FREE PRESS

Our laws should be amended so that all government records and all government meetings shall be open to the press so that the people may be informed on all happenings and acts of the government of state, county and political subdivisions.

TAXES

The State Comptroller has estimated that by January 1, 1959, the State shall be about $100,000,000 in debt, thus the next session of the Legislature will be faced with the duty of getting the state out of the "red." I think that this can best be done by the abolishing of needless jobs and the elimination of duplicate functions of various state agencies, none of which render any service to the tax payer. With times getting harder economy should start at Austin.

I would abolish the State Property taxes, as the property tax payer now has too great a burden to carry in supporting our school, cities and county governments.

I am not supported by any clique or clan, nor am I fighting any group or individual in this campaign, but if elected your State Senator, I will be your State Senator in fact and in truth, and the fighting that I will do will be on the floor of the State Senate, fighting for your interest. I implore that each person reading this announcement check my past record in the legislative halls of Texas, and as a public spirited citizen in the community in which I reside.

I am outspoken in my beliefs and never ride the fence on any issue. Trusting that you will take this announcement to your heart for the good and future prosperity of this district, and that we all go forward together with progress consistent with our times for the good of all of us.

SINCERELY,
KARL L. LOVELADY

better part of the day, and found a two-pound bass on the other end. We were all thrilled at this great catch. The first fish we ever caught with a casting rod and plug was out of Tierra Blanca Creek. We were fishing near some suspicious looking reeds with a Jitterbug, which is a top-water lure.

A big flat-sided perch grabbed the thing and surprised us to death. He was about the size of the palm of a man's hand. It was the biggest perch we had ever caught. We were hoping a bass would strike.

Seven Attend GOC Meeting

Seven members were present for a practice when the Ground Observers met Monday night. Next meeting is planned for May 5 and will be a session on civil defense.

All interested adults and young people are urged to attend the next meeting.

"How many people would have an emergency supply of food and water on hand if a catastrophe should happen in this area?" asks Wilfred Quickel, GOC leader. "It isn't only civil defense that we should learn more about, we should be ready in case of a tornado."

He calls attention to the fact that this area is in the fall-out

The only question is the rate, and unless a satisfactory solution can be worked out with the rural cooperatives who own the Pleasant Hill and South Clovis exchanges, the Farwell rate will remain the same for now.

The proposed increase, which is already being paid by Texico subscribers is:

Business service—one-party urban, from $12.25 to $14.15; two-party urban, from $8.40 to $9.60.

Residence service—one-party urban, from $5.05 to $6.25; two-party, from $4.10 to $5.00; and four-party, from $3.35 to $3.85.

Under the present conditions, it is the first time in history that Texico and Farwell have had different rates. The two towns have had the same calling area since 1919.
