Border Banter

By Mike Pomper

A veteran died today...

Floyd Embry saw the following poem on the Internet and sent it to the Tribune. We thought it would be very appropriate for our special Memorial Day issue:

A Veteran Died Today

He was getting old and paunchy and his hair was falling fast. And he sat around the Legion, telling stories of the past.

Of a war that he had done, in his exploits with his buddies, They were heroes, everyone.

And though sometimes, to his neighbors, his tales became a joke. All his buddies listened, for they knew where of he spoke.

But we'll hear his tales no longer, for ol' Bob has passed away. And the world's a little poorer, for a Veteran died today.

No he won't be mourned by many, just his children and his wife, for he lived an ordinary, very quiet sort of life.

He held a job and raised a family, quietly going on his way, and the world won't note his passing, though a Veteran died today.

When politicians leave the earth, their bodies lie in state, while thousands note their passing and proclaim they were great.

Papers tell of their life stories, from the time that they were young, but the passing of a Veteran, goes unnoticed and unsung.

It's the greatest contribution, to the welfare of the land, rather than some jerk who breaks his promises, and cons his fellow man.

Or some ordinary fellow, who in times of war and strife, goes off to serve his country, and offers up his life.

The politicians stipend, and the style in which he lives, are sometimes disproportionate to the service that he gives.

While the ordinary Veteran, who has offered up his all is paid off with a medal and perhaps a pension small.

It's so easy to forget them, for it's so long ago, our Bob's and Jim's and Johnny's went to battle but we know it's not the politicians, and their compromises and their ploys, who won for us our freedom that our country enjoys.

If you should find yourself in danger, with your enemies at hand, would you really want some cop-out with his ever waffling stand?

Or would you want a Veteran, who has sworn to defend his home, his kin, and his country, and would fight until the end?

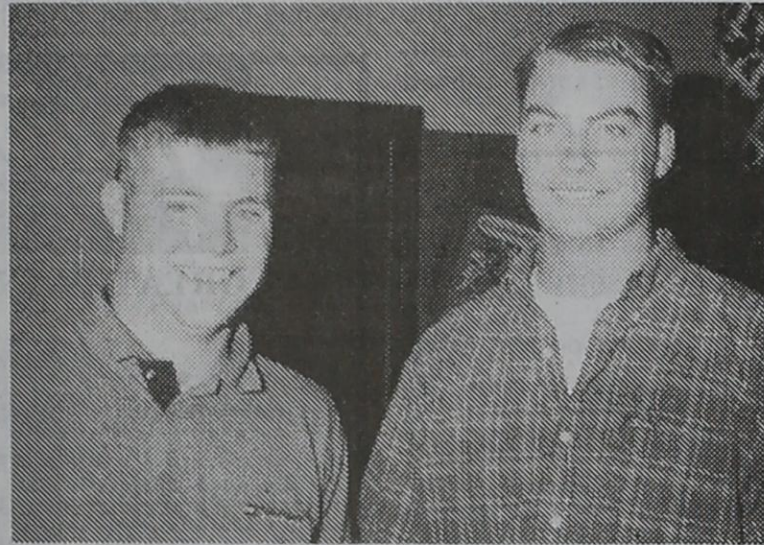

He was a common Veteran, and his ranks are growing thin, but his presence should remind us we may need his likeness again.

For when countries are in conflict then we find the mili-

Mark Littlejohn named Texico elementary principal

Texico School Supt. R.L. Richards has announced two appointments.

Mark Littlejohn will be the new elementary school principal.

He has taught Spanish and English in the high school and junior high for the past eight years.

The vacancy was created by the death of Diane Cooper earlier this year.

Also, Kye Thomas, whose children attend Texico Schools and who lives just outside the district boundary, will be the new home economics instructor.

She has been teaching at an alternative school in Portales.

Elizabeth Richards and Ryan Autrey received the Athlete of the Year honors.

In honor of Memorial Day

Tribute To Our Fallen Heroes

Silently they stand sentinels of white marble Row upon row upon row. A tribute to the brave men who gave their lives To defend our country against the foe.

Some wore blue, others the gray, While some died in countries far away. Each some mother's son young and brave Felled by the enemy to fill an early grave.

Danger they faced, hardship and cold Terror so horrifying it cannot be told! Yet they deserted not but bravely carried on To protect their country family and home.

In the stillness one can almost hear the bugle call And see the soldiers marching proud and tall. As they pass by they seem to say "Remember friend what you have witnessed here today."

"You who are living have a duty to perform To protect our country and keep her from harm. So do your part to keep our country free And pray that your sons need not follow me."

Yes, walk softly amid these stones today Disturb not the place these Heroes lay Forget not the sacrifice they made To keep their country free and unafraid.

Cooper reports stringent open burning guidelines

Texico Fire Chief Lewis Cooper stopped by the Tribune to alert folks to the dangers of open burning.

New Mexico has put out stringent guidelines governing smoking, campfires and open fire restrictions.

It's due to the lack of rain, plus the recent high winds and low humidity which have fueled wildland fires throughout the state.

So in New Mexico:

-- Open burning (fields, cropland, debris, weeds, etc.) is prohibited.

-- Open fires, such as campfires and fireworks, are prohibited in wildland areas. To get an exception, check with the state forestry department.

-- Smoking is restricted to designated areas, within structures, or within vehicles equipped with ashtrays while on paved or surfaced roads.

Blackwood Brothers Quartet to perform

The legendary Blackwood Brothers Quartet, almost an institution in the Southern gospel world, will perform at 7 p.m. on June 11 at the Lazbuddie Methodist Church.

The church is located next to the school on Highway 1172 in Lazbuddie. For more information, call the church at (806) 965-2121.

The quartet was formed more than 65 years ago by three brothers and a nephew in Choctaw County Miss.

The current group leader, Cecil Blackwood, joined the group of the late gospel music legend J.D. Summer after the plane crash that claimed the lives of Bill Lyles and R.W. Blackwood.

Also in the group are Chris Blackwood, Steve Warren, Rick Price and Eric Winston.

Their parade of songs spans their 64-year history, including "I'll Fly Away", "I Love to Tell the Story" and "How Great Thou Art."

A love offering will be taken.

Eric Smith and Shayna Lewis received the Academic Athletic honors. Smith also got the Fighting Heart award for football.

The sportsmanship awards went to Josh Boazman and Dru Mayfield.

OLD FASHIONED AMERICAN PRIDE

There was a time in this country when the things we made, we made by hand. Skilled craftsmen who cared about the work they did took the time to do the job right. And every object they made was stamped with pride.

That spirit of endeavor is not lost today. You'll find it in Americans from coast to coast — men and women who still care enough to do their best. From artist to accountant, farmer to factory worker, Americans can be proud of the work they're doing. Just as they can be proud of the country that work has built.

It may sound corny today to say it, but we're proud of America — proud of the old-fashioned values this country stands for and still has. America, you're the greatest!

Texico summer band program to be offered in July

Texico Band Director Ellen Reighley announced that the first annual Texico Summer Band program will be held for three weeks starting July 11.

It will be held on Tuesdays through Fridays.

Thursday afternoons will be reserved for a band "event", such as a movie, bowling, miniature golf, etc.

Grades 7-12 will march in the Border Town Days parade on July 29.

Ms. Reighley said the band may also give a concert at end of its three week program.

The cost per student in next year's grades 6-8 are: 1 week, $20; 2 or 3 weeks, $35. The schedule will be:

8:30 a.m., beginning woodwinds; 9:15 a.m., all beginners; 9:45 a.m., beginning brass and percussion; and 10:30 a.m. to noon, 7-12 grade band (fight song, pop music and marching).

To sign up, Mrs. Reighley can be contacted at 742-0757.

Farwell students are also invited to participate, she added.

Texico residents turn out to oppose planned dairy

The Texico City Council met Tuesday to discuss a proposal by Wayne Martin to build a dairy just outside the west city limits of Texico, near the Texico Cemetery.

More than 70 people attended the meeting to voice their feelings at the Texico Community Center. The meeting was moved from City Hall due to the large turnout.

They were concerned with the new dairy causing various problems with odor, insects, dust, and most important the area water supply.

Letters addressed to the ground water pollution prevention section of the New Mexico Environment Department were handed out and asked to be returned.

Also, the question of the dairy lowering the cost of real estate was raised.

But the council's primary concern was the water supply.

Jim Paul, a citizen of Texico, stated, "I'm in the direct line of fire and I see how they lower our water supplies without leaving my yard."

However, although the vast majority of those present opposed the dairy, not all did.

Mark Howard gave the pro's of having a dairy here.

Farwell Mayor Jimmie Mace attended the meeting because he is concerned with the water supply in our area. He stated that he would help in any way he could to see that the permit for the proposed dairy does not go through.

The high point of this discussion came when councilman Oran Jay Autrey signed his letter to the environmental department and said, "Here's my letter. If you're with me to stop this, then give your letter to Teresa (Harth, the Texico city clerk)."

Some volunteered to go around the Twin Cities and explain what's going on and try to get as many people as possible to sign these letters to the environmental department.

Both City Halls will be taking letters through June 7.

All the letters will be sent to the New Mexico environmental department in a single packet.

If you wish to write a personal letter to the department you can reach them at the following address:

Ground Water Pollution Section New Mexico Environment Department
Attn: Mickey Jojola
P.O. Box 26110
Santa Fe, NM 87502
In other business the council:

-- Heard Autrey say that the city is ready to begin the process of annexing property along Avenue F.

City Attorney Ty Rudder will draw up a petition for annexation. There will also be a stipulation in the petition that states that landowners can continue to have livestock.

-- Discussed the possibility of annexing non-contiguous property. It was said that the city cannot do so.

Autrey is working on a strip so that they are able to get to people outside the city limits who want to come in.

-- Gave Fire Chief Lewis Cooper permission to draw up the specifications to remodel and refurbish the ambulance and also gave the approval to buy 5 new pairs of boots for the fire department.

-- Accepted Yucca's bid for the 6 radios that the fire department were looking for.

-- Discussed the proper spelling of Katherine Street. It was agreed that they would look into the correct spelling of Katherine and then either leave the signs or get new ones.

-- Approved Police Chief Kelley Brophy's suggestion that they advertise an open position for a fourth police officer in a bigger paper.

Memorial Day

Lest We Forget!

A day to remember, to reflect upon the price so dearly paid for freedom. Today is Memorial Day.

It is a day rich in history and emotion. Established three years after the Civil War, it was originally called Decoration Day . . . when graves of friend and foe alike were honored. Those with no one to mourn their passing were not overlooked; they too were remembered for the enormous price paid for liberty and justice for all.

Our country is politically stalwart today because these Americans invested all they had — their lives — in America. Their investment returns security, freedom, and human dignity to the living every day.

Americans cannot abandon the justice and freedom for which these brave men and women have fought and died.

Spend a moment remembering.

Sittin' in the Corner
by Wade Cargile

Remember my friend Wilbur? Wilbur had an older brother, Dermont, who we thought was the greatest tracker ever. Wilbur and me would go with Dermont in the woods to hunt some game.

After a while, Dermont would stoop to the ground and I would get excited, "Did you find something? What is it? Is it bear tracks?" The questions would go on and on. "Shhhhhh! Be quiet!" Dermont sometimes didn't have much patience with me or Wilbur.

After a few minutes, Dermont would say, "I believe we're on the trail of some wild boars." Wilbur and me would get even more excited and begin pestering Dermont about the tracks.

"Just be patient and wait!" was all Dermont would ever say. We walked a little farther when Wilbur saw some more tracks. "Hey Dermont, are these some more boar tracks?" Dermont would look at them and say, "I believe you're right, more boar tracks. Good work Wilbur." I looked at the tracks and could have sworn they looked like the same tracks we were following last week, when we were hunting for birds.

But not being the expert that Dermont was, I decided that I shouldn't say anything. We followed the tracks awhile when Dermont suddenly froze in his tracks, looking at the ground. "Did you see more tracks?" asked Wilbur.

Dermont just stared at the ground for a while and then said, "Nope, just some phony tracks that boar wanted us to follow to throw us off his trail."

Boy was Dermont smart! Not only could he track game, he knew what they were thinking also! After a couple of hours, I was getting tired and hungry.

"When are we going to stop and eat something?" I asked. Dermont replied, "Just be patient. We'll eat as soon as we catch something." I began looking harder for our prey. I hadn't stopped to think about what we were going to do with it.

While carefully stepping over some sticks, a conveyer of quail flew out of a bush nearby. It scared me and I hollered loud.

"Now look what you've done. You've scared the wild boars away. I guess we'll have to find their trail tomorrow." I was embarrassed and ashamed. I tried apologizing to Dermont, but all he would say was "Don't worry about it, boy, am I getting hungry. Let's go back to the house and eat some chips."

Not one to argue with Dermont, I quickly agreed, as did Wilbur. On the way back, we asked Dermont, "How do you know the difference between boar tracks and other animals?" He'd reply, "it's simple. All you have to do is count the number of excursions in each paw print. A bear has four long protrusions in each paw, while a boar has four short ones. Birds, on the other hand, have three medium excursions in each foot. Possums and other animals have from four to eight protrusions in each foot.

"You can tell them apart by the size of their palm prints, as well as the length of their legs..." Dermont would go on and on. I was amazed by his knowledge of animals. I loved going hunting with Dermont and Wilbur, except when Dermont said he was going hunting for chicks.

I always wondered why he would hunt for something he had in the hen house. What would be the fun and excitement in that?

Anyway, I still believed that Dermont was the greatest track star in our neighborhood when we were growing up.

Parmer County Extension Agent

A small insect, Lecanium scale, can pose a big threat to live oaks and now is the time to apply a pesticide to infested trees.

Lecanium scales are most prominent on twigs and small branches during the spring and early summer. A single infested twig may have more than 100 scales on it, although fewer scales are more commonly present.

These scales are hemispherical in shape and dark brown in color. They are about 1/8 to 1/4 inch in diameter.

Lecanium scales damage trees by reducing vitality and causing dieback of infested branches.

Heavily infested trees produce a sticky honeydew in late April which falls to the ground. While they are most damaging to live oaks, they occur also on red oaks. Eggs are produced underneath the hard-shelled female during the summer.

They migrate to twigs in the fall and overwinter there. There is only one generation a year.

Eggs are hatching now on the South Plains. Scale insects are most susceptible to control at this time, and insecticide treatments will be most effective if applied now.

Heavily infested trees may require two applications two weeks apart.

Insecticides recommended for control include cyfluthrin, orthene, dursban, sevin, malathion, and diazinon. Thorough coverage will improve effectiveness of sprays. Always read and follow insecticide label instructions carefully.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mike,

I doubt that very many readers know that graduation is considered an extra curricular activity. I didn't until one parent turned my world upside down. Graduation was scheduled for May 26, 2000. A Friday, wonderful I thought. For the very first time in years, I would be able to plan a 3-day weekend without worrying about schedule conflicts. My son could graduate on a Friday, and on Saturday we would leave. So I contacted my sister, who's a doctor, so she could schedule another doctor to fill in for her, and make the necessary flight arrangements. Last November, I also made a monetary deposit and ordered invitations for the graduation.

On Jan. 18, I received a note from school saying there was a parents' meeting on Jan. 19 to discuss changing the graduation date. Although I sent notice that I was NOT for the change as plans had already been made, my message didn't get through to the right people.

Well, I received notice that indeed graduation was changed to May 27. I called, voiced my opinion and was told that invitation dates weren't going to be changed again. The Board of Directors meeting took place over the telephone, with the superintendent asking each if it were okay to change the date. I'm still wondering why with so few of us (8) being unable to make the meeting that would affect our lives, why we were not contacted by phone. It is assumed that if you can't make a

Texico Chamber to sponsor 'Two-Person Scramble'

After several years of sponsoring the annual $1 Million Golf Shootout, the Texico Chamber of Commerce has decided to change the format this year.

The Chamber will sponsor a "Two-Person Scramble" on June 10 at the Farwell Country Club.

The shotgun start will be at 9 a.m. cdt. The field will be limited to 36 teams.

Teams will be flighted by lowest handicap. Any team may declare for the championship flight. The tournament committee reserves the right to place any team.

Refreshments and lunches will be offered to all entrants. Merchandise gift certificates will be awarded to the top three teams in each flight.

The entry fee is $100 per team, plus cart fee. Funds raised at the scramble will go toward scholarships the Chamber awards each year to Texico High students.

For entries and more information, call the Farwell Country Club at 481-9210 or 481-9261.

Interactive TV courses offered at Lazbuddie School

South Plains College will offer interactive television courses this summer in history and English for the six communities in the FACT Consortium, including Lazbuddie High School.

Registration is 5:30-7:30 p.m. May 30 at the Muleshoe School Technology Department, at the south end of Muleshoe High School.

Classes begin June 5 and will meet in specially-equipped classrooms designed for interactive television broadcast.

Courses offered are two sections of U.S. history and composition 1.

These courses will originate from SPC and will meet Monday through Thursday.

Cost is $161. Courses are open to juniors and seniors through an early admissions program as well as area residents.

A college algebra class will be offered via interactive television during the second

SPS rates to decrease

The Texas Public Utility Commission has approved the proposed merger of SPS-parent New Century Energies and Northern States Power to form Xcel Energy.

Starting in June, according to reports, SPS rates will decrease, with a projection of being lowered by up to 7 percent by 2002.

SPS plans to sell five of its power plants, including the Tolk Station in Muleshoe, as part of the states' deregulation laws.

The SPS merger still must be approved by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, which is expected to take action this summer.

parent's meeting, you don't care! No one assumes you didn't get the message, which by the sponsor's own acknowledgment, one parent didn't receive notice of the meeting.

The reason for the date change was due to conflict of one parent. Politics, in short. One parent had a child graduating from college and it conflicted with our graduation day. I very strongly resent this person for being selfish enough to even ask for consideration for a special favor -- asking NOT the students for whom the day is intended.

Growers try to stay ahead of the wind

Trying to stay ahead of the wind has been the most prevalent thought on most High Plains growers minds over the past week.

Dry weather has combined with record high temperatures and strong winds to make planting conditions less than ideal, even in irrigated fields.

Irrigated acreage, which accounts for about half of the High Plains' 3.75 million cotton acres, is estimated to be about 70% planted, while non-irrigated acreage is still only 20-25% planted.

Overall, the High Plains is expected to eventually plant between 3.75 and 4 million acres of cotton in 2000.

For the most part growers have lost the battle to stop freshly planted acreage from blowing and will have to wait and see whether or not the damage inflicted was severe enough to warrant replanting.

Many growers have started up irrigation systems in an effort to keep the ground moist enough to sustain newly emerged plants and to allow effective countermeasures to be implemented.

Typically, that means roughening the soil surface through tillage, or the use of sand fighters, to create clods that prevent soil from becoming airborne.

In some extreme cases growers have reported freshly planted fields where the wind has removed so much soil from the top row that it is hard to tell which way the rows were originally laid out.

In these situations only two options exist: replant; or put soil back over the seed and hope for a normal emergence.

will be at the
Farwell Convalescent Center
Wednesday, May 31

Dr. Tseung comes to the Farwell Convalescent Center for out-patient podiatry appointments every other month.

If you are having trouble with your feet, call Elaine Morrow at 481-9027 for an appointment. Podiatry charges can be billed to Medicare or private insurance.

My son was wanting to leave town but because we wanted to go through the graduation ceremony, we must wait. He's not the only graduate who must wait.

Although I was also told this would happen only once, this time only, I very seriously doubt that this is the case. I believe it would be considered "discrimination" if someone with even a different reason asked for a date change and was denied. If it was a one-time-only event, what was so necessary to make this an exception in the first place? The Texas Education Services told me that although graduation was considered extra curricular, changing graduation dates had never been done in Texas and probably nothing short of an emergency would cause a change.

Changing graduation day wasn't considered important enough for all parents' votes and students' opinions weren't considered either. It almost appears that this was done on a rush-hush basis so it would be noted that no one had any arguments to changing the day.

It saddens me that Lazbuddie made this exception. I have always been proud my child was there. He's had opportunities that he would not have had at a larger school, but my child and his graduating class was placed second behind graduation of a college elsewhere. Something that should not, but has affected the Class of 2000 graduation.

None of the class members I have spoken with are happy about this decision, either. Changing graduation day was wrong! Diplomas were already printed with the now incorrect date.

Brown, Seaton get Lazbuddie School's top athlete honors

The annual Lazbuddie athletic banquet was held Saturday in the school cafeteria, framed by the most beautiful decorations imaginable.

The cafeteria was packed, as awards were given out, and the video of the year's highlights shown. Top awards went to: Outstanding athletes -- Scottie Brown and Jeffery Seaton.

Academic awards -- Leah Turner and Garrett Magby.

Spirit awards -- Tobin Redwine and Savannah Black.

Football -- Jason Jesko, most improved; Laramie Wood, defense; and Jeffery Seaton, offense.

Boys' basketball -- Trevor Gartin, Pride, Hustle & Desire; Jake Loudder, JV award.

Girls' basketball -- Scottie Brown, MVP; Laura Jo Via, offense; Staci Foster, defense, and Kelsey Jones, most improved.

Track -- Scottie Brown, girls' MVP, and Monse Melendez, boys' MVP.

Tennis - Lucas DeLeon, boys' MVP, and Kelsey Jones and Kati Mimms, girls' MVPs.

Golf -- Amy Angeley, girls' MVP, and Tyler Gartin, boys' MVP.

Cross country -- Scottie Brown, MVP.

Extra highlights were:

-- Special thanks were given to Lance Loudder, who built the broad jump and pole vault pits, helped by Donnie Coker and Tommie Martin.

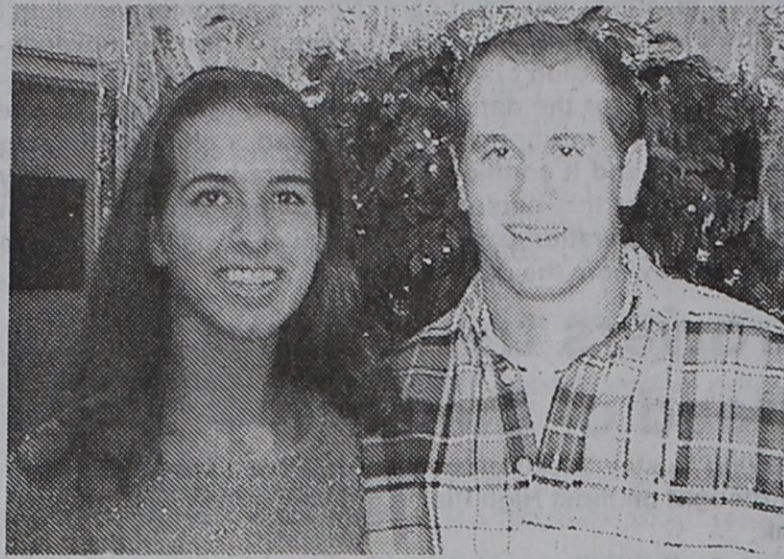

-- The drawing was won by Shonnah Black -- a booster club stadium seat with the school logo. If at least 30 are bought, an order can be placed with the company.

-- Booster Club President Kyle Kimbrough, calling the school concessions stand "No. 1 in District" gave out plaques to Linda Martin and Terri Louder.

-- Named 6-Man All-District academic athletes were Savannah Black, Desirae Brakebill, Scottie Brown, Staci Foster, Kayla Kimbrough, Kendra Gallman, Laura Jo Via, Lacy Loudder, Tyler Gartin, Jeffery Seaton, Laramie Wood, Brandon Randolph, Bryce Ronek, Crystal Scott, Leah Turner, Jason Jesko and Bobby Martha.

-- Named to the 6-Man All-State Academic "team" were Jason Jesko, Bobby Martha, Leah Turner and Scottie Brown.

-- The highlight of the year was the girls' basketball team's sparkling 21-8 record, with Scottie Brown being District MVP.

Scottie Brown and Jeffery Seaton were named Athletes of the Year.

Savannah Black and Tobin Redwine received the Longhorn Spirit awards.

Jake Loudder, JV award, and Trevor Gartin, Pride, Hustle & Desire, got the top basketball honors.

Lazbuddie students cited

Students of the Month for May at Lazbuddie junior high and high school were:

Tray Thorn, 17, son of Garvin and Janette Thorn. He likes to read the Hardy Boys, watch John Wayne movies, eat chips and dip. He doesn't like yelling when he is watching a movie.

Jodie Coker, 16, daughter of Roy Don and April Coker. She likes the book "A Separate Peace", drinking Dr Pepper with anything chocolate. Her pet peeve is when people aren't real.

Chris DeLeon, 12, son of Tommy and Elva DeLeon. He likes the bok "Return of the Evil Twin", listening to Whitney Houston, eating pop tarts and hamburgers. His pet peeve is when people made fun of him because he was elected a junior high cheerleader.

Shawndee Nichols, 13, daughter of Mike and Sherrie Nichols. She likes Scott Caan aka Tweeder, Milky Way cake and cheesecake. Her pet peeve is people who think they are better than you.

More Lazbuddie awards

Scott Brown got a gift basketball for his great support of the girls' basketball program.

The Latest

Aloha Fulcher, Farwell Emergency Medical Services director, contacted the Tribune last week to inform the community that any persons wishing to become EMT Basic certified may do so through a class that will be taught in the Farwell-Lariat area starting the first week of July.

This class will allow for persons to become trained in advanced first-aid and in primary emergency medical assistance.

Tuition costs for this class will be paid for by the city of Farwell for those persons willing to become a member of the Farwell Volunteer EMS and to commit to a mandatory year of service on the Farwell EMS team.

Those wishing to simply take the class for their own personal training may do so without joining the service, but will have to pay the cost of the class without assistance from the city of Farwell.

For more information about this class, tuition costs, location and exact dates, please contact Aloha Fulcher at (806) 825-3483.

Farwell poets published

Seventh graders at Farwell Junior High are involved in a poetry unit each year. They read a variety of poems, explore poetic devices, and finally write their own poetry.

Nearly all decided that poetry wasn't as dry as they had first thought. For the last two years, most seventh graders have entered one of their poems in a poetry contest.

Last year, 14 students had poems published in the anthology, "A Celebration of Young Poets."

This year, 23 students will have poems published in one or both of two different poetry books.

The following four students will find their poems in "A Celebration of Young Poets in Texas": Melissa Howard, Rowdy Mitchell, Adam Pierce, and Lindsay Vandiver.

Six students will be published in "Anthology of Poetry by Young Americans": Christopher Culver, Ryan Fillpot, Shaleena Laverty, Jarod Scott, Crystal Stoverm and Johnathan Vega.

Thirteen students will have poems in both books: Amanda Almanza, Robby Armstrong, Chad Bailey, Amanda Barnes, Danielle Cargile, Micah Christian, Dawson Embry, Ashlie Martin, Briana Martinez, Crystal Morris, Tate Nichols, Robbie Tabb, and Bill Terry.

Farwell Junior High School was also presented the "Poetic Achievement Award" this year. This award is given to schools whose students' entries to the Young Poets Contest are of exceptionally high merit.

Don't forget that Special Graduate! Great selection of Cards and Gifts to choose from.
