Dance, social to raise funds for Karlee's medical expense

A very special area-wide fund-raiser is planned for Friday, July 6.

R&R Connection will have a benefit dance and ice cream social at the Texico Community Center, 215 Griffin St., for Karlee Luscombe, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Luscombe.

Karlee is undergoing cancer treatments in Lubbock.

Her father, Richard, is a coach and teacher at Texico High School. He coached the Texico Wolverines to a state championship this year.

Her mother, Joann, is a Bovina Elementary School teacher.

Benefit organizers stress that the dance and social are open to everyone in the area.

The dance cost is $3 for a single, and $5 for a couple. The dance will be held from 7 p.m. to midnight mt.

Major changes are expected in the city of Friona due to redistricting of the four Parmer County commissioners' precincts.

On June 27, a meeting was held at the Parmer County courthouse that included Bobbye Hill, of Wheeler, Texas, an attorney hired by the county to honcho the redistricting; County Judge Bonnie Clayton; County Commissioners Raymond McGehee, Kirk Frye, Ed Corn and Tom Ware, and redistricting committee members and others - Richard Carpenter, Joe Santellano, Jim Roy Daniel, Elizabeth McLellan, Leon Schilling, Lois Norwood, Ben Rejino Jr., Nancy Edelman, Esther Steelman, Kay Williams, Gary Gober, Dale Gober and County Clerk Colleen Stover.

Mrs. Hill explained the redistricting process and here is what appears will happen and why:

The county's four precincts need to be redistricted due to the 2000 census and the Voting Rights Act. The census showed Pct. 1 (Frye) losing 70 persons; Pct. 2 (Bovina) gaining 226; Pct. 3 (Corn) losing 22; and Pct. 4 (McGehee) losing 134.

A formula is then used to calculate the deviation between the four precinct populations. If it's more than 10 percent, then the rule of thumb is that redistricting must be done in order to get U.S. Department of Justice approval, explained Mrs. Hill. Parmer County's deviation was 14.38 percent.

Justice Department approval is needed for nine states - Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia. This is due to the Voting Rights Act and the Civil Rights Division that oversees minority voting.

Taken into account are federal guidelines that mandate that at least one precinct in Parmer County contain a majority of minority (Hispanic) voters. For the past decade this has been Pct. 4 - the Lazbuddie area precinct. This will continue.

Since the census showed 10,016 county residents, the "ideal" population for each precinct would be 2,504. But the current populations are:

- Pct. 1 -- 2,434.
- Pct. 2 -- 2,730.
- Pct. 3 -- 2,482.
- Pct. 4 -- 2,370.

Thus, it's obvious that the Pct. 2 total must go down and the Pct. 4 and Pct. 1 totals go up. The easiest way to achieve this is to change the precinct boundaries within Friona.

There is a second reason to make the changes in Friona, which obviously has a heavier population than the rural areas.

The commissioners want to keep the totals of their roads on a close basis because precincts get tax money based on how much mileage their roads have. Thus, changes within Friona won't affect the road totals as much as if lines were redrawn in rural areas.

During the discussion on how to redraw the Friona map, it was noted that part of the west side of Friona which is in Pct. 2 probably will be put into Pct. 3, and Pct. 4 which also enters into Friona will move even further into the city.

As a sidenote to the redistricting, Corn said that what also may happen to help equalize mileage in each of the four precincts is for Pct. 303 (which votes at Ridgelea School in Bovina) be moved from Corn's precinct (Pct. 3) into Ware's precinct (Pct. 2).

In looking at the precinct map, Mrs. Hill said it's very likely that Pct. 3 will "pretty much stay the way it is."

Also discussed was the redistricting for the three Justices of the Peace, located in Bovina, Friona and Farwell. This redistricting, if done at all, is not covered by the Voting Rights Act and is completely up to the county commissioners to do, or leave alone. Thus, lines can be drawn without taking into account minority voters. And these lines can be redrawn at any time.

Mrs. Hill noted that the state believes that if there are under 50 registered voters in a precinct, it should be closed. The rationale for this includes that if only a couple of people vote, then their ballots are not really that secret since you can figure out who they voted for. Also, the cost involved in keeping a polling place open for just a few voters was noted. On the other hand, if closing a polling place makes it difficult for voters to go to another polling place (say, 20 miles further away), then it may be best to keep it open.

Parmer County has two small polling places: Pct. 203, which votes at the Rhea Community Center. In last year's general election, there were 64 registered voters, with 42 actually voting.

Pct. 303, Ridgelea School in Bovina, had 66 registered voters and 37 actual voters in the 2000 general election.

The county commissioners may take a look at whether to keep these two polling places open, and if closing them would create a hardship for voters.

The next steps are to have a mapper come to Parmer County to help the commissioners make their decisions, and also to meet again with the county advisory committee, which has as its purpose "to advise."

The factors to consider when redistricting are: equality in population, equality in area, equality in road mileage, availability of accessible and appropriate voting places, boundaries of incorporated areas, compactness, geography, and sudden increases in population.

And it is essential that the redistricting comply with the Voting Rights Act so that the Justice Department will approve it. If the feds don't okay the county's redistricting, then the Justice Department would file suit -- and a judge likely would make the final determination.

When the county redistricts, the No. 1 goal is to take into account the Hispanic population, said Mrs. Hill.

The redistricting process needs to be completed at least three months before the 2002 primary election in Texas. Mrs. Hill hopes to wrap up the process in Parmer County this fall.

Former Farwell football and basketball coach Rex Cumpton will be coaching next semester in Friona.

Parmer County's law enforcement agencies have picked up another $100,000 thanks to a traffic stop in Friona recently by Texas Highway Patrol troopers.

In a nutshell, an agreement was reached whereby the driver gave the county $100,000, which had been found in cash in the vehicle.

Dora Toscano, of Farwell, is on the 2001 spring semester Dean's Honor Roll at Eastern New Mexico University.

She is majoring in elementary education.

Eight Eastern New Mexico University students from Texico are on the 2001 spring semester Dean's Honor Roll:

Breanne Black, special education; Jake Boazman, business administration; Kelley Fontanilla, elementary education; Steve Kirtrell, business administration; Greg Qualls, communication; Deanne Richardson, elementary education; Kristi Victor, elementary education, and Bobbi Williams, elementary education.

A job well done

I've been a member of Rotary Clubs since 1979. Back in Virginia, before coming out west, I served in various club capacities, including president.

So I know how hard a job it is to be president of a service club. You are dealing with club members who are all volunteers.

Anyway, I joined the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club when I got out here in 1984. Since I've been a Rotarian for 22 years now, I've learned a little bit about the group (although I can't seem to memorize their famed "Four Way Test" if my life depended on it!).

The fella who just stepped down as Rotary Club president did one helluva job during his tenure. His name is Tim Cooper.

Tim likely will be shocked, stunned and vastly surprised to read this column. It's okay, Tim...relax.

I just felt that folks needed to know what a great job you did this year. Yes, I know that the club gave you a nice plaque and a pin or something (can't remember). And, yes, everyone applauded after you gave your speech.

But folks in the community need to know, too, how you helped move this club forward in positive directions.

Border Banter

By Mike Pomper

And, yes, Tim, I know that you couldn't have accomplished zilch without the support of other Rotarians. But you were a superb leader and, as such, you need to get the lion's share of the credit.

(That's an in-joke -- get it? A Rotarian getting the Lions share of credit? Guffaw...guffaw...)

Anyway, Tim & Company had some major achievements this year.

Because of two great golf tourney fund-raisers (thanks to Greg Actkin-son), the club raised enough money to start an annual $1,000 scholarship to graduating Texico and Farwell high school seniors. That's outstanding.

In addition, the club sends four students (two from Texico and two from Farwell) to the leadership Camp Ryla near Santa Fe each July.

Tim has spearheaded this project the past few years, getting other club members to serve as judges, making sure car rides are set up, and all the logistics taken care of. That aint easy, folks!

A membership drive pushed by Tim has resulted in three new club members recruited during the year, with another likely this month.

And, of course, there's the great BBQ put on by the Rotarians (i.e., Walter Hughes & Co.) for Border Town Days each July. It's on schedule again this year, with tickets available from club members, including at the State Line Tribune.

And the club has contributed heavily to renovations at the Farwell Community Center.

Besides those community activities, it has been an extraordinary fun year for Rotary as far as fellowship has gone.

During Tim's tenure, the sergeant at arms was J.B. Barrett, aka Big Dawg. You could not ask for a better fella to keep things light and fun-filled at the meetings.

And the chemistry between J.B. and Tim was fun to behold. I think Tim set a record for Rotary Club presidents this year for the amount of times being fined for various infractions.

And every fine was legitimate!! (just joking, Tim).

I watched Tim take it all with a good sense of humor throughout. Well done.

So when you see Tim (who will be quick to tell you that I got carried away in this column and that all the successes were really due to other Rotarians, etc.), be sure to congratulate him on a job very well done as Rotary Club president.

It was the finest such tenure that I have observed in my 22 years as a Rotarian.

MRI ARRIVAL
1.5 TESLA UNIT

We are pleased to announce the arrival of our 1.5 Tesla MRI unit. This unit is the most sophisticated MR Scanner available and is manufactured by the Medical Imaging Division of the Phillips Medical Systems. This unit brings to Clovis the quality and state of the art MRI Imaging not previously or currently present in Clovis and surrounding communities. This unit will provide the state of the art MR Imaging available in Lubbock, Amarillo, Albuquerque and metropolitan areas (i.e. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, Houston, Dallas etc.)

The arrival of this unit will complete our effort to provide quality major diagnostic imaging modalities at our facility. The unit will compliment our recently acquired state of the art G.E. Spiral CT Scanner, G.E. Color Doppler Ultrasound Unit, and our Easy Compressible Mammography Unit in operation for approximately 10 months. Routine radiologic imaging (plain films, fluoroscopy) is also available at the facility.

MR Imaging will begin on July 2, 2001. We are currently scheduling patients for MRI Scans and other procedures as well.

THE CLASSIFIEDS

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mike,
On behalf of the Farwell Emergency Medical Service, I would like to extend our thanks and gratitude to Manuel and Carlos Garcia for their assistance at a recent EMS call.

Manuel and Carlos were the first ones to see, and offer help, to an elderly man who had fallen off his front porch recently. This man was in dire straits and their help made a great difference to this man and to our medics who were called to the scene.

They helped to calm the gentleman and were of help in holding, moving and loading him into the ambulance. Their concern and caring have shown us that, as citizens of Farwell, we can rely on a helping hand in time of need.

Their citizenship, concern and caring are truly refreshing to those of us who witnessed their act of kindness. We were proud to have these young men as part of our "team" that day and would appreciate it if everyone would thank them for a job well done!

Aloha Fulcher
Director, Farwell EMS

Dear Mike,
My husband, Ricky, has taken a job with the Farm Service Agency in Tahlequah, Okla., which is 60 miles east of Tulsa. I am leaving my extension agent position.

I just wanted to say goodbye on behalf of myself and Ricky. We have enjoyed our time here in Farwell, working with you in agriculture and getting to know many of you personally.

I am sorry we could not get around to see all of you one last time. The hardest part about leaving is leaving our friends, many of whom we have worked with. We will be leaving a piece of our hearts here in this little corner of Texas.

Thank you for being our friends. Thank you for being a part of our lives for one brief shining moment. If you are ever in the area, we'd love to show you the local fishing holes.

May God bless all of you,

Cherinell Riley

You might be interested in the Roth IRA -- particularly if you have college-bound children.

The key advantage of a Roth IRA as a retirement-savings vehicle is that your earnings grow completely tax free, provided you are 59 1/2 and you have had your account for at least five years.

Tax-free earnings growth is a huge benefit in accumulating resources for retirement. With the exception of municipal bonds, you can't find tax-free earnings on any other type of investment.

Also, the Roth IRA is flexible enough to be used for other purposes. For example, you may be able to tap into it to help pay for qualified higher education expenses. You can do this in one or two ways:

• First, you can withdraw your Roth IRA contributions at any time, free of taxes and penalties.

• Second, you can withdraw earnings that have accumulated in your Roth IRA. This money won't be subject to the 10 percent early withdrawal penalty, but it will be taxable. Because of this, you'll need to consult with your tax adviser before you make any education-related Roth IRA withdrawals.

Qualified higher education expenses typically include tuition, fees, room and board, books and other supplies. And there's no dollar limit on the educational withdrawals you make from your Roth IRA. You can withdraw and spend as much as you want.

Also, since the Roth IRA is in your named, as the parent or grandparent, it won't count against your child or grandchild in determining his or her financial aid package.

Despite its benefits in helping pay college costs, there are some potential issues to note. Even if you withdraw only your contributions, and you don't take a tax hit, you still are "paying" for these funds in another way. Specifically, any money you take out for education will not be available to you for retirement, which is the main reason you opened your Roth IRA.

Thus, you have to balance the Roth IRA benefits as a college-funding source against the loss of retirement dollars. Your ultimate choice depends on your individual circumstances. And the more sources of income you have, for both college and retirement, the more flexible you can be in your decision-making.

That's why it's essential to start building your college and retirement funds as early as possible. The more you save, the more attractive your choices are.

Clovis National Bank

"A Dream Come True"

Jim Stone established his ranch headquarters on the Running Water Draw (Ned Houk Park area) in 1896. He moved to Portales in 1900 and opened banks in Portales, Elida, Kenna, Ft. Sumner, Texico and Hereford, Texas. He died in 1913 at the age of 46 before he fulfilled his dream of opening a bank in Clovis, the growing rail center destined to be the leading commercial city in Eastern New Mexico.

In June 2000, two grandsons and five great-grand-children of Jim Stone fulfilled his dream. The CLOVIS NATIONAL BANK is Jim Stone's dream bank. It can be yours. Come enjoy personal banking the way it used to be.
